Reagan rests, works while in California

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) -Ronald Reagan, as expected, named Ernest W. Lefever and William Francis Baxter to key administration posts on Friday, then put aside presidential chores to go horseback riding and chop firewood at his mountaintop ranch

The only official duties on Reagan's schedule as he began the first full day of a four-day California vacation were a national security briefing, transmitted in written form from Washington, and telephone calls to congressional leaders to plug his economic program

As the president relaxed, White House aides announced a half-dozen presidential appointments and said Japanese Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki had accepted Reagan's invitation to visit Washington May 7-8. The prime minister will also visit other cities during his U.S. visit. In connection with Suzki's visit, White House Deputy Press Secretary Larry Speakes said the United States will urge Japan to play a bigger role in its own defense.

- D. Lowell Jensen, district attorney in Oakland, Calif., to be assistamt attorney general in charge of the criminal division.

- Rudolph W. Giuliani, a New York lawyer, to be an associate attorney general

Theodore Bevry Olson, a partner in a Los Angeles law firm, to be an assistant attorney general and legal counsel of the Justice Department. - Judith T. Connor, 41, director of international affairs for Pan American Airways, to be assistant secretary of transportation for policy and international affairs.

Arlene Triplett, 39, a former official with the Republican National Committee, will be assistant commerce secretary for administration.

Raymond J. Waldmann, 42, a Washington lawyer, to be assistant secretary of commerce for international economic policy

- William H. Morris Jr., 51, president of a management consultant firm, to be assistant secretary of commerce for trade development.

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) - Kidnappers holding Chester A. Bitterman will kill the American linguist at midnight Saturday, a man identifying himself as a guerrilla said in a telephone call to a local radio station Friday Bitterman, 28, of Lancaster, Pa., is a Bible translator for the Colombian branch of the Summer Linguistics Institute. He was abducted Jan. 19 by men who later identified themselves as guerrillas of the April 19 Movement, Colombia's most notorious urban guerrilla group. The movement, also known as M-19, takes its name from an election in 1970 that the organization claims was fraudulent.

Bitterman's kidnappers initially threatened to kill him Feb. 19 if the institute had not left Colombia by then, but later modified their demand to publication of a guerrilla manifes-

A Bogota newspaper, El Bogotano, published half the 21-page manifesto Thursday, and promised to print the other half after Bitterman's release.

The guerrilla statement read by telephone to the Caracol radio station and to an international news agency said the kidnappers planned to kill Bitterman at midnight Saturday because "of the stubborness of CIA agents, officials of the political section of the U.S. Embassy, the Colombian minister of defense and minister of government, and complicity of directors of the Summer Linguistics Institute'

The institute sends people to live with tribes of primitive Indians, learn their language and teach them about the Bible. Bitterman's kidnappers have called it "a mask for the CIA."

'The weight of revolutionary justice falls upon all and upon each of the officials of the Summer Linguistics Institute, starting with Chester Allen Bitterman," the statement said.

'The people will know to be with us in the fight against the Summer Linguistics Institute and imperialist groups until national liberation."

Police have set up checkpoints at all roads leading out of Bogota and searched passing cars in hopes of finding clues that would lead them to the kidnappers' hideout.

Earlier, a Bogota publisher said she received a telephone call from one of the kidnappers who said Bitterman would be killed in 48 hours

"The person said that Mr. Bitterman would be executed in 48 hours if the institute didn't start talking with them," Consuelo Montejo of El Bogotano newspaper told The Associated Press.

"I was told that the kidnappers also had told the institute, too, that Bitterman would be killed in 48 hours if the institute didn't start negotiating Bitterman's release," Mrs. Montejo said.

"It was mentioned that Bitterman apparently has been trained very week in handling a knife, and this has made the kidnappers suspicious."

"The person who called me said that the institute has offered money. But these people don't want money.

In the two telephone calls of about three minutes each, the caller did not say exactly what the kidnappers are now demanding, she said.

Earlier Friday, the Bogota daily published a letter that Bitterman had written to his wife Jan. 24, five days after he was abducted.

The published letter to Bitterman's wife said "I am fine. As unnatural as it may seem, please do not - or at least try not to worry about me. I have not experienced physical hardship to the present - including gall bladder attacks," Bitterman said in the letter to his wife, Brenda.

Bitterman was in Bogota for a gall bladder operation when he was kidnapped.

The kidnappers have said that Bittermans's chances of being freed will be enhanced if the institute declines to talk further with reporters.

"We will encourage the Japanese to continue making steady, significant improvements in their defense forces as well as economic and diplomatic contributions to problems tional concern.

Permian wants Pickett barred from presiding in suit

By ED TODD Staff Writer

The Permian Corp., a Midland-based crude-oil buyer which is the defendant in a multi-million dollar class-action lawsuit, is seeking a court injunction to preclude retired 142nd State District Judge Perry D. Pickett from presiding over the court case.

The suit, which alleges Permian deliberately "short-changed" numerous oil operators and producers who sold crude oil to Permian, was instigated in 1979 by Midland oil operator Walter R. Davis. Davis has claimed that since Oct. 1, 1979, Permian has "falsified business records" and has "taken other steps for the purpose of fraudulently concealing the fact that it has been ... taking from Davis and other sellers more crude oil than it has paid them for."

Permian denies the allegations.

THE PERMIAN CORP. contends that Pickett, 65, is "without authority to preside" over the hearings. Too, the judge reportedly has made rulings and orders adverse to Permian's interests.

Pickett, who had been on the bench since 1954, retired from the 142nd State District Court judgeship at the end of 1980 and was succeeded on Jan.

5, 1981, by Pat Baskin. Judge Vann Culp of the 238th State District Court has ordered a hearing at 2 p.m. Wednesday for a temporary injunction to bar Pickett from presiding over the Permian vs. Davis case. Retired District Judge Ralph W. Caton of Big Spring is to preside over the hearing in Pickett's old court-

Pickett has conducted hearings on the case since it was filed in the room, the 142nd.

District Clerk's office in May 1980. He still is acting as the presiding judge of the 39-county Seventh Administrative Judicial District. As such, Pickett, with the approval of Baskin, "appointed himself to the 142nd Judicial District Court for the express purpose of presiding over Davis vs. Permian," according to a petition filed this week by Permian's Houston lawyers.

Permian contends that Pickett's administrative dutes expired on Jan. 5 and that on Jan. 9 the Pickett-Baskin order was issued.

However, Texas's Republican Gov. Bill Clements has neither reappointed Democrat Pickett to the administrative judgeship nor has he has named a successor. Accordingly, Pickett is still carrying out duties of that judgeship.

"...THERE IS NEITHER a constitutional provision nor a law of this state which authorizes a retired or former district judge to do so (to preside over a case) when the regular district judge is present," Permian's petition claims.

But Pickett, who already has much time invested in the case, last January notified Permian that he "intends to preside over all proceedings in Davis vs. Permian and instructed counsel for Permian and for Davis to agree upon a hearing date for all pending motions."

That hearing, initially scheduled for Feb. 13, has been reset for Thursday

Pickett's order last January noted that he had "conducted numerous hearings, decided many points of law and otherwise familiarized himself in general and in detail with (the) case

"It is apparent that that action is a complex case which will require a disproportionate amount of continuing study and supervision by the judge presiding over it," the order stated. "(Pickett and Baskin) are of the opinion and find that it would be in the interest of justice for Judge Pickett to assist Judge Baskin by continuing as the judge presiding over that action." Some of Pickett's rulings reportedly have been more in favor of Davis than Permian. And Permian wants Pickett to be disqualified from the case. Too, Permian apparently wants previous court orders negated.

"SINCE PICKETT is without authority to preside over Davis vs. Permian, all orders issued by him will be for naught and will have to be duplicated," Permian contends.

Davis, whom the defendant says is a former owner of the crude-oil purchaser, claims that he has made "repeated requests" of Permian to obtain accurate tank strappings" to compute tank tables and thereby gauge volumes of crude oil purchased by Permian. "Permian repeatedly refused," Davus alleges.

Davis contends that Permian intentionally paid crude-oil sellers such as himself "substantially less than the actual volumes of crude oil taken by Permian." Too, Davis claims that Permian used "erroneous tank tables."

PERMIAN, however, holds that it has been fair to the sellers.

"Defendant (Permian) has properly paid plaintiff (Davis) and others for all oil purchased according to custom and usage in the industry."

Throughout the years, Permian has purchased crude oil from thousands of buyers. And the amount of money in litigation could amount into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Currently on file in District Clerk Madge Wallis's office are 12 boxes of letters from crude-oil sellers who either want to join in the suit or who wish to be excluded.

Voluntary SS being considered

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Presi-dent Reagan has said he is thinking about a possible revision of the Social Security system to make it voluntary, the Philadelphia Bulletin reported Friday.

Reagan, who has been dogged in the past by comments he made about Social Security, made the statement about voluntary participation at a White House breakfast Thursday, the Bulletin said.

'I've been wondering if you couldn't reform the system in such a way that, if you could prove you are providing for your own retirement, you could waive participating in So-cial Security," the president was quoted by the Bulletin as saying.

Reagan hosted about 125 newspaper editors at the breakfast, but the statement about Social Security was not part of his general remarks.

Bellune sat next to Reagan at the breakfast.

"Please don't put me all over the front pages with this one," Reagan said. "But I've been talking about the need for Social Security reform as far back as when Barry Goldwater ran for president.'

Reagan was at his California ranch on Friday. In Washington, White House officials had no comment.

As an example of how Social Security has fallen on hard times, Reagan cited the minimum benefits plan, the Bulletin said.

"You can qualify for the minimum $122 a month if you've only been paying into the system for six quarters," he said.

In 1964, when he campaigned for the unsuccessful presidential candidacy of Sen. Barry Goldweater, Reagan raised the possibility of a voluntary Social Security system.

On Oct. 27, 1964, Reagan said, "Can't we introduce voluntary features that would permit a citizen to do better on his own, to be excused upon presentation of evidence that he had made proivisions for the non-earning years?'

19 receive Addy awards

Advertising agents packed the Petroleum Club Friday night to watch as 19 competitors received some 65 awards for outstanding work at the Eighth Annual Permian Basin Ad Club Addy Awards ceremony.

The PBAC is an affiliate of the American Advertising Federation (AAF), a national trade association representing design in a horizontal configuration to include the media. advertiser, suppliers, agencies and academia.

With some 21 members submitting more than 175 entries in the local competition, the advertising representatives awaited the culmination of a year's work — and the achieve-ments of professionalism.

"There are more than 20,000 entries from across the nation at the local levels," awards committee chairman Kenneth F. Karr said Friday. "By the time it gets to national (competition), there are only a 1,000 (entries) left." He added the number then decreases to only 70 winners.

Karr, agent for Midland National Bank, said this year's competition produced the "most awards ever" on the local level here.

Goodman, Dannenbaum, Littman and Wingfield Advertising Agency in Houston; and Phil Price, District 10 second lieutenant governor and president of Phil Price Advertising Agency in Lubbock.

Winners of the local competition will move to the District 10 regional competition - which includes Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Lousiana to be held in April in Monroe, La. After that contest, winners will move to the national level in competitions later this year.

In previous years, the PBAC has won a national gold award (first place) and a national merit award (third place)

After noon, Bill Allen at 200 S. Tyler St. reported the burglary of some $2,300 worth of goods from his home. According to police reports, entry to the home was gained through a bedroom window, while the suspect is believed to have left through the kitchen door. Taken in the burglary was a color television set and a stereo and speakers.

And Mrs. Tim Trott of 2818 Goddard Place reported again that a burglary occurred at her home sometime between Dec. 27 and Jan. 15. The previous report had been misfiled as a lost article. Items taken from the home include a diamond drop gold necklace and a gold bracelet, together valued at $1,000. According to police reports, someone entered the home through a window on the rear of the residence.

Registration time running short for vote

Midlanders who are not yet registered to vote in the April 4 cityschool-college-hospital elections have less than two weeks in which to register, according to Janeice Builta, Midland County's deputy voter registrar.

To date, 43,756 Midland Countians are registered to vote.

Midland County residents who are 18 or older may register on weekdays from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. in Ms. Builta's office. It is located in the Tax Assessor-Collector's Office in the basement of the Midland County Courthouse. Too, registration boothes will be in operation from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. today at Furr's Supermarket at Scharbauer Drive and Big Spring Street and at the M System Discount Food Store at 1200 Rankin Highway. Voter advocate Isabel Rey is helping coordinate the registration at those sites.

Elections coming up here include a school bond election for construction of two new elementary schools and improvements on others and for election of officials to the Midland City Council, the Midland and Greenwood Independent School Districts' boards of trustees, the Midland College board of trustees and Midland Memorial Hospital's trustees and directors.

However, a spokesman for the 50year-old Wagner said Friday he has a herniated disc. It is believed the actor injured himself last week while jumping rope at a benefit for the American Heart Association and then aggravated the injury doing a stunt on "Hart to Hart.

"He threw his back out early last week," said spokesman George Cur-"By Wednesday it was really vey. very bad. He was in bed until this past Monday. It seemed to be getting progressively worse, so the doctor took him into the hospital. The only thing they can do is just relax those muscles

Production on the top-rated TV series went on as scheduled last week, but was held up this week without its star on the set, said Curvey. Wagner was expected to be back in action by the end of next week.

New course

ODESSA — A new, noncredit course on the geology and natural history of Big Bend National Park will be offered March 5 through April 5 at Odessa College.

The short course will include instruction on the developmental history of Big Bend and the surrounding area, including the formations and rock types, fossil life, and mineral resources which have been mined, according to Brent McAfee, OC associate professor of geology who will teach the new class.

The course, which will conclude with a two-day field trip to Big Bend. also will include a study of ecology and the different types and distribution of plants and animals of the region, McAfee says.

Classes will meet 7 to 10 p.m. Thursdays in Wilkerson Hall, room 230

Fee for the noncredit course is $35. Interested persons may contact Lea Taylor or McAfee at OC for registration information.

Therapist bill gets final OK

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - The Texas Senate Wednesday gave final approval to a bill by Midland Sen. W.E. "Pete" Snelson that would allow local school districts to hire occupational and physical therapists.

The Senate suspended the constitutional rule requiring that a bill be considered on three separate days, and approved Senate Bill 185, sponsored by Snelson.

Snelson said the bill will not result in additional cost to the state, but will allow local school districts to obtain the services of those therapists.

The bill now goes to the House of Representatives for consideration.

Suspect arrested after seven years

HOUSTON (AP) - Mark Hamilton says it was like a dream when four sheriff's deputies awoke him and arrested him on a murder warrant that was more than seven years old.

"I asked them why this was happening after all this time and they didn't have an answer," Hamilton said Thursday.

Hamilton was surprised in that he has lived in the same house throughout the seven years and tended the same yards for residents in two west side affluent areas.

It was on June 23, 1973, that Hamil-, ton went to the sheriff's office and reported he had shot his wife to death a backlog of 21,000 unserved warin self-defense. He was released without charge, the case to be referred directly to a grand jury. After being questioned, Hamilton said, detectives took him to a daughter's home, where he has been residing ever since.

Several weeks later, a grand jury refused to act and then, several days later, changed its mind and voted a murder indictment.

County officials were at a loss to explain the delay but sheriff's Capt. C.R. Gaines said the late arrest resulted from renewed efforts to reduce rants.

Residents whose yards Hamilton has been maintaining are paying attorney Robert Shults to defend the gardener.

"It's a bizzare set of circumstances," Shults said. "A guy thinks he's OK, lives and works in the same place for years and all of a sudden they come to arrest him.'

Hamilton was released under 10,000 bond two days after his Jan. 29 arrest.

Fire poses explosion threat

DALLAS (AP) - Several railroad cars burning out of control Friday night on a trestle near downtown Dallas posed a threat of an explosion and sent clouds of black smoke drifting over the city, firefighters said.

Authorities said that among the cars was one loaded with 3,000 gallons of alcohol that could ex-

"It would be just like throwing a gasoline can into a fire," said police officer E.B. Tabbert.

The trestle over the dry bed of the Trinity River partially collapsed at one point, sending a wall of fire sideways and prompting officials to warn reporters to move back.

It was not immediately clear if the cars were moving when they caught fire or if they had been parked on the trestle, in an unpopulated area about two miles south of downtown.

Because of the threat of explosion, firefighters stayed about 2,000 feet from the fire and were not fighting it.

"To be in the city limits, this is the best place something like this could happen. It is right in the Trinity River bottom and there is nothing over there behind it but swampland," said Tabbert.

Officials said one burning tank car contained sulphur residue and two others contained some form of plastic.

Tris-treated sleepwear sold

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government charged two companies Friday with selling children's sleepwear treated with Tris, a substance banned because it is believed to cause cancer.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission said it is seeking penalties of up to $500,000 against the A & B Wiper Supply Co. of Philadelphia and Crown-Tex Co. of New York City.

A & B allegedly bought more than 700,000 Tris-treated garments to cut into rags but then sold about 210,000 to other distributors without telling the safety agency.

Because of this, about 100,000 Tris-treated children's pajamas and nightgowns were made available for sale to consumers in the Philadelphia area and to consumers in nine southeastern states, the commission said.

Officials of both companies were unavailable for comment. An employee of A & B told a reporter, "No one will be able to help you until Monday."

avoid purchasing garments made from acetate, triacetate or blends of the two fabrics. It also cautioned consumers to be wary of children's sleepwear being sold at bargain prices without labels.

Tris was introduced to make children's sleepwear comply with government flammability standards and became widely used. After findings that the chemical could cause cancer, the commission banned it in 1977. Since then it has been trying to keep track of remaining stocks to see that none is used for children's sleepwear.

Crown-Tex was charged with violating a commission order by failing to notify the agency that it distributed Tris-treated fabric. The company allegedly distributed more than 18,000 yards of Tris-treated fabric to an exporting firm that sent it to the African nation of Ghana.

The commission staff said Tris-treated garments were made available for sale through the Philadelphia chain of Value Stores, a factory outlet and four

Pacific forces due increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Countering the Soviet Union's expanded military might will require "a substantial and permanent increase" of American conventional forces in the Pacific, the region's U.S. commander-in-chief told Congress Friday.

Adm. Robert L.J. Long testified before the House Armed Services Committee that the military balance in the Pacific between this country and the Soviets has now become "too close to call."

He said increased U.S. conventional forces should include two to three more aircraft carrier battle groups, along with additional attack submarines and logistic support and amphibious assault ships. At present, six carriers are assigned regularly to the Pacific command.

Long noted that last year he had told the committee that the United States still appeared to enjoy military superiority over the Soviets in the Pacific by a "thin margin."

But he added: "I must report that I no longer believe the margin we need still exists. It's frankly too close to call."

Long's testimony came a day after Army Gen. Bernard W. Rogers, commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in Europe, expressed concern over NATO's willingness to meet the challenge of a continuing Soviet and Warsaw Pact military buildup.

Rogers told the House panel that "in my opinion, NATO has now been surpassed - or soon will be - in all categories of forces necessary to implement its strategy: strategic nuclear, theater nuclear and conventional."

"Despite the sizable sacrifices by some members of the alliance, too many security commitments have become overdue promissory notes," Rogers

The 35-year-old truck driver, dressed in a blue velvet suit and white open-necked shirt,-was not asked to plead and said nothing at the 15-minute hearing. The magistrates committed the slightly built, bearded man to stand trial at Leeds Crown Court. No date was set but it could begin next month. Prosecutor David Kyle said police will produce at the trial "drawings, maps and photographs made by the defendant ... and eight physical exhibits.'

Police sources said the exhibits will include a screwdriver, a round-headed hammer and several knives.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Francis Coppola's Zoetrope Studios, faced with a crisis because of a loss of financing on "One From the Heart," has received a large anonymous gift "to tide us over for the week," a studio spokeswoman said Friday.

"The donor wishes to remain anonymous," said Jocelyn Zaretsky, who said the amount was "in the hundreds of thousands." She declined to say if the gift was from a company or an individual.

"We all got paid this week," she added. This is the second windfall in as many weeks for Coppola, the director of "Apocalypse Now" and "The Godfather" films, who has pledged $1 million of his personal holdings, including his San Francisco real estate, as collateral for bank loans to keep his fledgling studio operation afloat.

Paramount Pictures on Feb. 9 invested $500,000 in an upcoming Zoetrope production and made a $500,-000 personal loan to Coppola.

Zoetrope staff members have been working for half-pay and union film workers on "One From the Heart" agreed to work for no pay earlier this month until the Paramount money came in.

In court were some 100 reporters representing the world's press. So was Assistant Chief Constable James Hobson, the veteran detective promoted to lead the hunt for the mass murderer after 20-yea-old Leeds student Jacqueline Hill, became the Ripper's 13th victim Nov. 19. John G. Walker, presiding on the bench, ordered Sutcliffe held without bail.

Prostitutes were among the Ripper's first victims but he then turned to killing "respectable" women and girls, police said. The two oldest were 47 and the youngest 16. He is nicknamed after Jack the Ripper, the never-caught killer of five prostitutes who ter-rorized London's East End in 1888. Sutcliffe and his wife live in the Bradford suburb of Heaton. He was arrested Jan. 2 in Sheffield, 30 miles south of Leeds.

The charges detail six murders and three others attempted in Leeds, three murders and one attempted in Bradford, two murders in Manchester, one murder and one attempted each in Huddersfield and Halifax, and one attempted in Keighley.

The earliest attacks in the charges were on Anna Rogulskyj, 34, battered in Keighley on July 5, 1975, and Olive Smelt, 46, beaten the following month on Aug. 15 in Halifax. Both survived.

The first to die was Wilma McCann, a 28-year-old prostitute, killed in Leeds Oct. 30, 1975.

Volcano victim files $1 million suit

LONGVIEW, Wash. (AP) — An Oregon logger burned during the May 18 eruption of Mount St. Helens has filed a $1 million claim against Cowlitz County, alleging the county was negligent in allow-ing him to get near the volcano without warning. James E. Scymanky suffered third-degree burns over 80 percent of his body during the eruption, according to a letter to the county from his attorney, William Wyllie of Salem, Ore. "He's barking up the wrong tree here." Ben Bena.

"He's barking up the wrong tree here," Ben Bena, Cowlitz County emergency services coordinator, said of the claim. Bena said the logger was working outside restricted areas on May 18. "We had no responsibility for that," Bena said.

Scymanky referred questions about his condition and the claim to Wyllie, who was unavailable for comment Thursday.

Scymanky was one of four men thinning trees about 10 miles from the summit, northeast of Camp Baker, the morning of May 18. After the eruption, the four ran several miles through gas and ash before Scymanky and two others stopped to drink from the Toutle River.

Three of the men were rescued by helicopter and eventually taken to Emanuel Hospital in Portland, where a spokesman said they were burned right through their clothes.

Scymanky was listed as critical and received extensive skin grafting to replace skin on his arms and legs. The other two men died within weeks.

The body of the fourth man, who wasn't picked up by the helicopter, was found July 9 dangling from a tree, several feet above the high water mark of the mudflow. Gordon Sively of the county prosecutor's office said Wyllie had been told the letter he sent isn't detailed enough to meet legal requirements for a claim.

The prosecutor's office hasn't determined what action to take on the matter, Sively said. A claim is filed directly against the county. It must be filed before a lawsuit can be started in court.

Penthouse found guilty

Kim Pring, Miss Wyoming of 1978, and her lawyer, Gerry Spence, leave the federal courthouse in Cheyenne, Wyo., earlier this week during her libel suit against Penthouse magazine. Miss Pring has won a judgement of $26.5 million in her suit. (AP Laserphoto)

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) - A jury awarded $26.5 million Friday to a former Miss Wyoming who claimed she was libeled by a fictional story in Penthouse magazine that told of the sexual exploits of a baton-twirling beauty queen.

"This is a great victory for the First Amendment," said Gerry Spence, at-torney for 26-year-old Kimerli Jayne Pring, who was Miss Wyoming of 1978. "It means you can't wrap yourself in the American flag and smear people

A three-man, three-woman federal jury deliberated about six hours before finding the magazine and writer Philip Cioffari liable for damages in an 11-part verdict.

Miss Pring claimed that a story in the magazine's August 1979 issue entitled "Miss Wyoming Saves the World" libeled her, invaded her privacy and constituted outrageous conduct

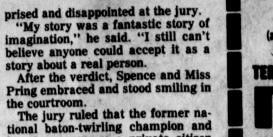

The story depicted a baton-twirling Miss Wyoming who levitated men by performing oral sex with them at a national beauty pageant. Spence had originally asked for $7.6 million in actual damages and $50 million to $100 million in punitive damages. The jury awarded Miss Pring punitive damages of $25 million and punitive damages of $1.5 million from Penthouse. She was awarded $25,000 in punitive damages from Cioffari and $10,000 in actual dam-

Penthouse attorney Paul Cooper said Spence had "obviously inflamed the jury. We will file motions to set aside the verdict before we appeal."

In New York, Bob Guccione, editor and publisher of Penthouse, said the decision "is not worth the paper it's written on."

"It is the product of misplaced passion and prejudice, not of reason or law," Guccione said. "And because of its chilling effect on the normal constitutional protections of the press, neither we nor our legal advisers have any doubt that it will be reversed on appeal." Cioffari said he was "certainly sur-beauty queen was a private citizen and that the Penthouse tory wasfalse and defamatory. "I just felt so relieved that I'm just an ordinary private person," Miss Pring said. "This saves my reputation somewhat, but people will never let me forget about this."

"I have every hope and conviction that an appeals court will see it dif-ferently," he said.

Witnesses for Penthouse testified that Miss Pring was a public figure and the magazine is not liable for damages because it did not publish the story maliciously or with reckless disregard for the truth. They also said the "Miss Wyoming" story was fic-tion and intended to be humorous.

"They said it was humor," Spence said Thursday in his final argument. "It was about as funny as running over Kim Pring with an automobile. Why not just run over her and let her eyes pop out and her baton bust out through her mouth. It was that funny." Miss Pring has been at the plaintiff's table throughout the two-week trial and cried twice during Spence's lengthy closing statement.

She and other witnesses testified that she was not a public figure in 1979 although she had competed in national baton twirling events, performed at University of Wyoming football and basketball games and competed in beauty pageants including the Miss America Pageant.

According to Spence, there were 15 similarities between Miss Pring and the Miss Wyoming in Cioffari's story, including the facts that both were the only baton twirlers at the pageant, both wore blue warmup suits and blue chiffon dresses and both had lived in Laramie.

Jurors want reinstruction on Harris verdict

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP) — Jurors deliberat-ing the fate of former girls' school headmistress Jean Harris indicated Friday they still were considering the gravest charge against her — that she killed Scarsdale Diet Dr. Herman Tarnower in rage over another woman.

Westchester County Judge Russell Leggett said jurors sent him a note asking to be reinstructed on a possible verdict of second-degree murder and "all definitions pertaining to it."

The jurors also asked Leggett to repeat his reference to controlled substances during his formal instructions Tuesday when he offered a choice of possible verdicts against Mrs. Harris. And jurors asked to rehear Mrs. Harris' testimony about her activities on March 10, the day Tarnower was killed.

Tarnower had prescribed for her for 10 years. Mrs. Harris stayed away from the courthouse Friday with her brother and sister at an undisclosed site. Her lawyer said she was exhausted after the lengthy trial.

The eight-woman, four-man panel began its work 10 minutes before the 10 a.m. EST starting time jurors set for themselves. They spent their time in a 10th-floor jury room surrounded by more than 400 exhibits entered into evidence during the trial.

Leggett said the jury could find Mrs. Harris guilty of intentional murder or reduced homicide charges that carry no mandatory prison term upon convicra School for girls in McLean, Va., is accused of slaying her lover of 14 years in an upstairs room of his Purchase estate last March 10. The prosecution alleges she killed him in a jealous rage over Tar-nower's affair with Lynne Tryforos, his 38-year-old office assistant.

During her eight days on the witness stand, Mrs. Harris tearfully told the juryshe intended nly her own death that night and that Tarnower was shot accidentally as he tried to grab the gun away during her suicide attempt.

She denied that jealousy played any part in the shooting but acknowledged that in her last letter to Tarnower before his death she referred to Mrs. Tryforos as a "thieving slut" and a "psychotic

The jurors, debating whether the killing was intentional or accidental, re-heard some portions of Mrs. Harris' testimony, interrupting the court stenographer several times for repeats of her account of the struggle she said she and Tarnower had over her gun.

Layton wants charges dropped

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former Peoples Tem-ple cultist Larry Layton, claiming he's being made a scapegoat for the 1978 tragegy in Guyana, asked a federal judge Friday to dismiss conspiracy charges in the death of U.S. Rep. Leo Ryan at a jungle airstrip.

Layton's attorneys told U.S. District Judge Robert Peckham at a pretrial hearing that the government has no jurisdiction over Layton because he was out of the United States last October when he was indicted by a federal grand jury in San Francisco.

Layton, 34, was in a Georgetown, Guyana, prison at the time after having been acquitted of murder charges there in connection with the Nov. 18, 1978, death of Ryan and four others at the Port Kaituma airstrip. Layton was extradicted to the United States soon after.

"Larry feels he will be vindicated," Tony Tamburello, Layton's attorney, said in an interview Thursday. "He feels that he's being made a scape-

AMC reports loss

DETROIT (AP) - American Motors Corp. reported a loss of $197.53 million last year - a record loss for the company — as worldwide vehicle sales fell 27 percent and revenues dropped 20 percent from 1979 levels.

The loss included a deficit of $29 million for the final three months of 1980, the company said.

The full-year loss amounted to $6.00 a share. In 1979, AMC earned $70.6 million, or $2.24 a share. In the fourth quarter of 1980, AMC's loss was 81 cents a share, compared with a profit of $12.81 million, or 35 cents a share, in the same period a year earlier.

AMC's revenues fell to $2.55 billion last year from $3.19 billion in 1979 and were 17 percent lower in the fourth quarter at $657.95 million, down from $789.33 million a year earlier.

AMC was the third automaker to report results for 1980, the worst year in the industry's history. Ford Motor Co. lost $1.55 billion, a record for any U.S. company, and General Motors Corp. had a $763 million deficit. Federal authorities expect Chrysler Corp. to top Ford's mark with a loss of $1.77 billion.

Chrysler's red ink would swell the losses of the four U.S. auto companies that publically report their results to about $4.3 billion.

On each dollar of sales, AMC lost 7.7 cents, compared with 4.2 cents for Ford and 1.2 cents for GM. If the projections for Chrysler are accurate, the nation's No. 3 automaker will have lost 20 cents on every dollar of sales.

AMC's previous record loss was $156 million for the 12 months ended Sept. 30, 1980. The automaker's worst fiscal year before 1980 was 1967, when it had a $75.8 million loss.

AMC's worldwide vehicle sales to dealers, excluding imported Renault models, fell 27 percent for the year, to 290,016 from 398,026, and 29 percent for the final quarter, to 68,856 from 96,654.

Gerald C. Myers, AMC's chairman and chief executive officer, said in a statement that high interest rates, fuel costs, a recession and Japanese imports had hurt the market for American cars.

For a time, he said, it appeared AMC, "with its emphasis on smaller, fuel-efficient automobiles, might buck this trend and remain profitable. Even-tually, however, the negative external factors proved insurmountable.

Peckham took the request under advisement and promised a ruling next week. Layton was accused of conspiring to murder and aiding in the murder of Ryan, D-Calif., who had traveled to Guyana to investigate the Jonestown temple settlement established by the Rev. Jim Jones. nations for Vickie Daniel He also was charged with conspiring in an attempt and her two young sons. Mrs. Daniel free under to kill Richard Dwyer, a State Department official, at the Port Kaituma airstrip. Layton faces the possibility of life in prison if convicted.

Specifically, the indictment says Layton conspired to kill a U.S. congressman, conspired to kill an internationally protected person and aided and abetted in a conspiracy to kill an internationally protected person, Dwyer.

Hours after the ambush on Ryan and his party, 913 members of the Peoples Temple, including Jones, died in a mass murder-suicide at the nearby temple settlement. Layton escaped.

Peckham also withheld a final ruling on another defense request to release testimony given to the grand jury during its investigation of the death of Ryan and four others at the jungle airstrip.

As the gray-suited Layton sat silently, Tamburello argued that the defense faces an "overwhelming task" unless it knows the identity and location of grand jury witnesses.

"There is no need for secrecy in this case," said Tamburello. "All of the principles are dead. This case demands truthfulness and openness."

Peckham did agree to strike portions of the indictment against Layton, including allegations that Layton conspired "to prevent the disclosure of condi-tions at Jonestown" and a charge that Layton had conspired to kill members of Ryan's party.

Carradine wants to direct film

PARK CITY, Utah (AP) — Actor David Carradine wants to direct himself in the movie version of his most famous role — the itinerant Caine in the long-running television series "Kung Fu." But there are obstacles, not the least of them Carradine's oddball reputation with the studio types who decide such weighty matters. Hunched over a glass of wine at the recent U.S. Film and Video Festival, Carradine admitted he's been bitten hard by the directing bug. His first film, "Americana," had a quiet premiere at the festival and may never be widely exhibited. But he said he believes "Kung Fu" would be a box office natural.

The actor who has appeared in such films as "Bound For Glory" and "The Long Riders" wants to make "Kung Fu" on his terms, with location shots at the Great Wall in the People's Republic of China.

Molinaro film funny

By BOB THOMAS Associated Press Writer

LA CAGE AUX FOLLES II deserts the exquisite farce of the original and opts for all-out slapstick, even pastry in the face. The laughs of this sequel fall short of the sustained hilarity of "La Cage I," but there is enough wild action to satisfy general audi-ences. Aging sweethearts Ugo Tognazzi and Michel serrault get caught in the middle of a spy plot and flee to Tognazzi's home village in Italy. Serrault plays most of the film in drag, and variations on "Charlie's Aunt" produce diminishing returns. Still, director Edouardo Molinaro knows how to keep things moving and can milk a comic situation, no matter how thin. The R rating, apparently because of the homosexuality, seems severe.

By PETER J. BOYER AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For a year now, ever since "The Rockford Files" went off the air, there has been a bleak gap in that period between the after-work beers and "Dallas." Waiting for "Dallas," in fact, carries a very heavy price if you pass the time watching TV.

William "Green Bar Bill" Hillcourt talked of his many years with the Boy Scouts and announced his latest book on scouting during a press conference Friday at the Boy Scout Headquar-ters, 1101 W. Texas Ave.

Hillcourt began authoring scouting publications in 1929 when he wrote the first edition of "The Handbook for Patrol Leaders." Since then, he has written a number of scouting books, including the "Scout Field Book," "The Handbook for Scoutmasters," and the latest edition of the "Official Boy Scout Handbook.'

He also has published several reference books on nature and conservation and a biography on the Boy Scout organization's founder, "Baden-Powell: Two Lives of a Hero." Altogether, more than 15 million copies of Hillcourt's books have been printed.

Since 1932, he has published columns on scouting, camping and the outdoors in "Boy's Life" magazine under the pen name of "Green Bar

No charges Harrison may join McCartney as guest on new record album

PLYMOUTH, Montserrat (AP) -Ex-Beatle George Harrison may be a guest musician on a record album starring Paul McCartney, according to the manager of a Caribbean studio where McCartney and Ringo Starr already have made tapes.

McCartney insisted the recordings by the three former Beatles definitely did not amount to a reunion or a tribute to John Lennon, slain fourth member of the history-making rock group. Lennon was shot to death Dec. 8 in front of his New York City apartment.

The manager, Steve Jackson of Air Studio left it unclear whether Harrison - if he participates - would do so at the studio here or at another, perhaps in England. McCartney has said Harrison is not coming to this Caribbean island

"It certainly is not a tribute album to John Lennon," Jackson said. "The whole albun was conceived long before John Lennon's death and it is not a re-forming of the Beatles. It is Paul McCartney's solo album with various guests.

Jackson made the comments in an interview at this Caribbean island's airport as Starr was leaving the island Thursday. Starr arrived last Sunday to perform his share of the album, helping fuel speculation that a Lennon tribute was in the works.

Jackson pointed out that other mu-sicians had been performing as well and another is expected next week. "We are looking forward to the arrival of one more person but we don't know as yet who it is going to be," Jackson said. "It may be Stevie Wonder or Michael Jackson. That has yet to be decided."

"I believe that George Harrison may be in the future recording some of the tracks on the album," he said. "John Lennon may well have been on the album as well if he had still been alive."

Jackson said that the reason Air Studio was set up in this isolated British colony - an island of 15,000 people on the northeastern edge of the Caribbean - was the opportunity it

Two balloonists seek helium to renew flight

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - American balloonists Maxie Anderson and Don Ida plan to continue their roundthe-world voyage if they can secure a new supply of helium for their craft, the "Jules Verne," within the next few days, Anderson said Friday.

"My office is trying to round up some more helium," Anderson told The Associated Press. "We're checking all the major centers around here. But if I can't get my hands on it in the provides for privacy. "Obviously, Paul and Ringo have traveled with security men after what happened to John Lennon. That's only natural, "Jackson said.

He said they had traveled freely around the island and added that he believed McCartney had gone to a local night club for impromptu sessions with other musicians.

"That's why the studio is built here. Montserrat people ... they are not bothered by stars and celebrities and all that ... The whole idea is to let people go about their business," Jackson said.

On Wednesday, McCartney showed his displearure at two photographers on assignment for The Associated Press by ramming their parked car

He later told the photographers his trip here was part of an attempt "to start a new life," in which "I want to be on a low key life style not a high

"I want to bring up my children normally and I can't do that with all the photographers popping out of the bushes," he said.

At the time, McCartney also gave a description of the album which was similar to Jackson's. "Ringo is here as a guest star for a few cuts for my new album ... that's all," he said. "This is definitely not a Beatle reunion," he added.

"George is not coming and besides, John's not with us any more. So there can never be a Beatle reunion ever again."

Supreme Court upholds state-fina nced abortions

GE INERAL NEWS

BOSTON (AP) — The lives of Mas-sachusetts' women welfare rec lipients will no longer have to be in jet) pardy before the women can quality for state-financed abortions, the state Supreme Court has ruled.

The court decided Wednesday that a state law restricting publicly fund ded abortions unfairly discriminant tes against therapeutic abortions sinche : it does not apply similar restrictions in administering other non-mandata ad health care, such as pregnancy-relia ted treatment.

Gov. Edward J. King said his fir: 31 t reaction to the controversial class action decision was to "proceed to) amend our constitution so the abortion issue is properly handled."

"I'm opposed to the taxpayer paying for any abortions. We're already paying plenty, and personally I'm opposed to any kind of abortions," said the governor, who campaigned on an anti-abortion platform in 1978. The state laws limiting public expenditures for abortions to life-threatening situations were challenged by three unidentified pregnant welfare recipients and by Dr. Philip Stubblefield, a Boston gynecologist and obstetrician who also performs abortions.

They contended the restrictions violate the state constitution's Equal Rights Amendment, as well as its due process clause.

The court's opinion did not address the ERA issue.

The ruling, written by Justice Francis J. Quirico and released the day he was retiring at age 70, will apply only to abortions eligible for funding in the current fiscal year. The majority stressed that pregnancy-related health services are provided under Medicaid "subject only to a showing of medical necessi-ty. Only subsidies for abortions are conditioned on a showing that the procedure is necessary to prevent death."

The court ruled that welfare women who are pregnant are "entitled to nondiscriminatory funding of lawful, medically necessary abortion services" and barred enforcement of budgetary restrictions.

No definition of "medically necessary" was included in the ruling.

Nancy Gertner, the Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts attorney who argued for plaintiffs in the case, said she interpreted the decision to mean: "As it stands now, and for the foreseeable future, there will be no restrictions on Medicaid-funded abortions.'

The court "comes close to defining" medically necessary abortions as all abortions," she added.

The court determined that the state constitution is broader than the feder-a il. Last year, the U.S. Supreme Court pheld the 1976 Hyde Amendment th arring federal expenditures for a 1 portions if the mother's life was not in i danger.

(Thief Justice Edward F. Hennes-se, y , who concluded the state law was con a stitutional, said in his dissent that the majority opinion "ignores, and largh ely nullifies, the state's long re-cogn. ized interest in protecting potential l'i fe."

The case was the latest in the litigation th at stemmed from the 1973 U.S. Supreı ne Court ruling that a woman had a constitutional right to abortion

Control of Peace Corps may be moved

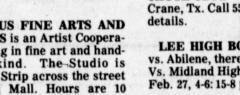

DENVER (AP) - The Reagan administration is considering moving control of the Peace Corps from the federal ACTION agency to the State Department, and that could spell the end of the volunteer program, says the former head of ACTION.

"It is clear that if it goes to State, it dies," Sam Brown, director of AC-TION under the Carter administration, said.

The Peace Corps was founded by President John Kennedy and has been operated as a non-political program. Moving the Peace Corps to the State Department would ruin that non-polit-ical base, 1 3rown said.

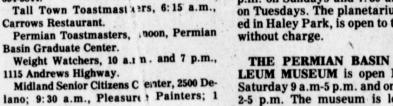

He told the annual winter meeting of Colorado Associated Press Editors and Reportiers that he understood "there have been discussions involving senior 1 nembers of the agency staff, senior people from State and the White House e" about shifting the Peace Corp:s to the State Department

Asked the schurce of his information, Brown said, "There are people who still make calls outside the building."

Eagle to undergo cornea transplant

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) - They're assembling a team of eagle-eye surgeons at Spokane's Deaconess Hospital.

And next week, the team of veteri-narians and ophthalmologists plan to remove a cornea from a crippled golden eagle and transplant it into the eye of another eagle. The operation is believed by those involved to be the first of its kind.

The recipient will be a 3-year-old olden eagle found last October near Worley, Idaho.

Dr. Robert White, a veterinarian at the St. Joe Animal Clinic at St. Maries, examined the near-starved bird and found that its right eye was damaged.

"The eye was possibly cut by a branch or small animal. The cut became infected, then healed, causing scar tissue to form," White said. "With sight in only one eye, the eagle had no depth perception, making it unable to hunt."

He first thought the scar tissue could be removed and some sight restored, but after consulting Dr. Lance Olson, an ophthalmologist with the Spokane Eye Clinic, decided a cornea transplant would be a better choice.

The only thing missing was a donor.

After a two-month search, a gol'den eagle with permanent wing damage was found near Boise, Idaho, White said.

What we're doing is taking two birds that can't make it in the wild and making it possible for one," Olson said.

Tuesda ys and Thursdays. ENGLISH AS A SECOND LAN-GUAGE classes, sponsored by Midland Coll ege, meet 7-9 p.m. Tuesdays and Thur sdays at Christian Life Center, and & luadalupe Center.

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, SAT., FEBRUARY 21, 1981 There is a very sound reason for this fellow to look down at the mouth. He's a hippopotamus and that's exactly how a hippo is supposed to look.

Looking at the lately ?

But what accounts for people looking downat-the-mouth . . . sometimes?

being what they are. They wish life could have given them a different break. If only circumstances hadn't conspired . .

That's no reason at all for looking hippo-like . Man has resources that can overcome his discontent. He has spiritual potential that can alter his life, make him a different person, conquitar every conspiracy of circumstance. Now is an ideal time to start looking up-from-theheart. At church you'll experience a different approach to life. The cheerfulness that can brighten life flourishes on faith.

I SHALL RETURN! ARE YOU PREPARED?

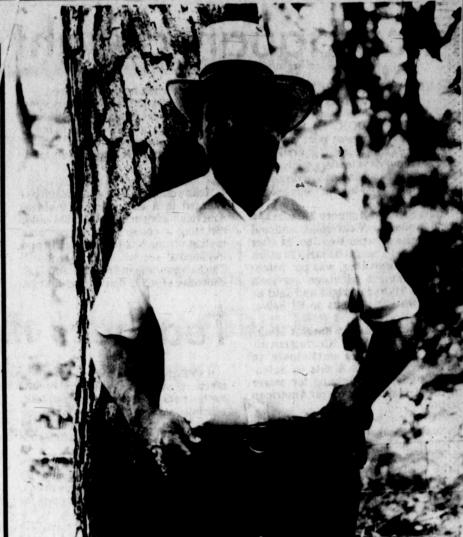

"Be prepared -- all dressed and ready -- for your Lord's return from a the wedding feast. Then you will be ready to open the door and le t Hirn in the moment He arrives and knocks.

There will be great joy for those who are ready and waiting fo r His return. He Himself will seat them and put on a waiter's uniforr n and serve them as they sit and eat! He may come at nine o'clock eit right--or even at midnight. But whenever He comes there will be jo y for His servants who are ready! Everyone would be ready for Him if they knew the exact hour of His return--just as they would be readly f or a thief if they knew when he was coming. So be ready all the tim e. F or I, the Man of Glory, will come when least expected."

Peter asked, "Lord, are You talking just to us or to everyone ?" And the Lord replied, "I'm talking to any faithful, sensible m an whose master gives him the responsibility of feeding the other servants. If his master returns and finds that he has done a good j ob, there will be a reward--his master will put him in charge of all he o vvns. But if the man begins to think, 'My Lord won't be back for a long time,' and begins to whip the men and women he is supposed to protect, and to spend his time at drinking parties and in d runkenness--well, his master will return without notice and re-move him from his position of trust and assign him to the place of the unfaithful. He will be severely punished, for though he kne w his

d uty he refused to do it. "But anyone who is not aware that he is doing wrong will be p unished only lightly. Much is required from those to whom much is g iven, for their responsibility is greater." Luke 12:35-48

Riley Donica to speak at church revival Sunday

The Christian Church of Midland is hosting a revival Sunday through Friday at 2608 Neely St. Riley Donica of the Kiamichi Mountains Christian Mission in Oklahoma will be the speaker. Services will be held Sunday at 10: 45 a.m. and nightly at 7 p.m. Donica has preached in nearly every state and in Rhodesia and South Africa. He led a revival for the Christian Church here in 1980. Raised in the Kiamichi Mountains, Donica says there used to be a still in every "holler." During his childhood days, A.B. McReynolds came to the mountains and started the Kiamichi Mission. Since then a Christian church has been established in almost every community and most of the stills are gone. McReynolds in-fluenced Donica into becomming a Christian and a preacher. Don Hinkle, minister of the Antioch

Don Hinkle, m inister of the Antioch Christian Church of Odessa, is the song leader and soloist for the reviv-al. Hinkle has led singing in churches all over the United States. He also leads singing for the Kiamichi clinic, where 5,000 men gather each May for Christian fellowship. The public is invited to attend.

Julio Santiago Romero Taladera, a mer pilot for Nicaragua's national ine who was arrested Jan. 24 after anded at a secret airstrip 70 miles t of San Salvador, was put before government television service's meras Thursday night and said he ade two arms flights to El Salva-

He said Nicaraguan Interior Minis-Tomas Borge and Nicaraguan air force commanders participate in planning the arms flights to Salva-durean guerrillas fighting for power in this neighboring Central American

There was no immediate Nicara-gran comment. The United States has accused the Soviet Union and Cuba of ising Nicaragua as a staging point for stars deliveries to the Salvadoran effists, but the communist nations d Nicaragua denied that.

Romero Taladera said he flew arms into El Salvador on Jan. 13 in a Nicaraguan air force plane and again on Jan. 24 when he was captured. He said airports in the Nicaraguan capital of Managua and the cities of Monte Limar and Leon were being used for the arms flights, with com-plete knowledge of Nicaraguan lead-

Meanwhile, the Salvadoran leftists charged in a communique that 100 American advisers are in El Salvador directing a counter-insurgency plan to "cut off the head of the leftist and intellectual sectors in El Salvador." The Salvadoran government and U.S. Embassy officials denied the charge.

The 1)emocratic Revolutionary Front, a leftist coalition dedicated to establish ment of a Marxist governngent, s aid the government had turned a small school 20 miles northwe st of S an Salvador into a barracks for the ad visers.

U.S. E mbassy sources said there are 18 An erican advisers in the country, 13 h elping train pilots for six helic opter's given to the government in Ja nuar, y and five advising on "protection for 'the harvest."

"None are combat advisers, none leave the capital, none has ever ac-

President Jose Napoleon Duarte also denied the charge, saying: "El Salvador rejects and repuchates any kind of intervention."

More that 15,000 people, most of them leftists or leftist sym pa thizers, are estimated to have died in the past 14 months in fighting between the guerrillas and the national guard and in attacks on leftists by right-wing death squads.

Teachers may resume talks

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — While a teachers' strike here tied the record for the nation's longest such walkout, officials said negotiations may resume following the release of 17 teachers and a union negotiator from jail.

But the threat of another teachers walkout was looming in nearby Youngstown, and in Mariemont, teachers were walking picket lines for a 28th day today.

The Ravenna strike entered its 54th school day today, matching the length of a strike last spring in Antonito, Colo., which the National Education Association s aid had been the longest teachers strike in U.S. history.

On Wednesday, 17 teachers and a negotiator were released from jail after Portage County Common Pleas Judge Joseph Kainrad allowed them to sign person al recognizance bonds in an effort to "defuse the situation and allow negotiators to resume in a healthier climate.'

The 18 had been jailed Sunday after refusing to sign signature bonds stemming from contempt-of-court charges.

When 6-foot-9 Herbert "Magic" hnson starts the game with a dunk nd turns it into three points with a oul, you pretty well know that the lidland High Bulldogs are off and unning. So you have to look for somehing else to maintain the excite-

Well, the 29-3 Bulldogs were off and unning against Odessa High Friday t Chaparral Center with a 94-67 rout, o Johnson and OHS's Rayford right maintained the excitement with an all out bombing attack in the coring column.

Johnson won that battle too with 36 points while Wright flipped in 30. It vas enough to keep everyone inerested until the end.

Johnson was the dominate figure, however, hitting 15 points in the first quarter. He had the first 11 points scored by MHS and missed a lot of playing time due to the runaway game which allowed coach Jack Stephenson to play every man on the bench. Magic slamed home five dunks, but was called for two technical fouls for hanging onto the rim.

Wright, who had only nine points in the first half, didn't get really cranked up until the third period when he hit for 16 points. He only got five in the fourth period to lose the scoring battle with Johnson, but the fans came out the winner with some dead eye shooting.

MORE IMPORTANT, however, the victory moves MHS to within one victory of winning a state playoff berth. "The way I see it, we would have to lose three games in a row to be knocked out of the playoffs," Stephenson said after the victory. "We would have to lose our last two and then lose a district playoff to stay home. I don't think that is likely right now, but you never know."

Johnson could have gone for the MHS scoring record of 44 points if he had had more playing time, but Ste-phenson said, "I really didn't know how many points he had and I sure don't want to take a chance on him getting hurt. He wasn't really shooting all that well."

Johnson hit 16 of 34 from the field, which is under 50 percent, but he was all over the floor. Wright made some uncanny shots himself and had the large crowd buzzing. It's easy to ad-mire an opponent's effort when you are leading by 23 points at the half.

When Johnson was asked when he was going to get 44 points in one game, he replied, "Probably against Lee. I think I would really like to do that.'

IT NEVER really was a game as MHS jumped to a 13-2 lead with over five minutes left in the first period. Guard Michael Feldt broke Johnson's scoring binge in the first period with a 15-foot jumper.

Horace Brown pumped in 16 points for a good night, but when two others are hitting in the 30s, it's hard to be noticed. No other Bulldogs hit in double figures, but 10 others did score. Steve Miller was the best of the rest with eight points, but all of them came on bombs from the next county. Miller was hot and his shots didn't go unnoticed by the fans.

MHS is now 5-0 in the second half with Abilene Cooper and Midland Lee left Tuesday and Thursday. A win over either of them and MHS is home

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Uni-versity Interscholastic League members have voted to add second-place teams to state playoffs in football, basketball, baseball and volleyball.

The new rule goes in effect for the 1982-1983 seasons.

Members also voted to cut the number of basketball games, reducing the number of non-district games.

UIL Athletic Director Bill Farney, who announced the vote results Friday, said the additional playoff games will add a week to the state tournaments. In football, the week will be taken off the regular season. Teams will play 10 games in 10 weeks, instead of having one open date during the season, Farney said.

IN FOOTBALL, the playoffs will begin with games pitting district runners-up against the winners of adjoining districts. Teams from the same district, if they advance, would not meet until the state quarterfinals, said UIL Director Bailey Marshall.

playoff system says game sites will be selected on an alternating basis for teams which previously have met in post-season play. The team that was the visitor the last time the schools met may insist on playing at its field.

The new basketball and volleyball playoff rules say teams from the same district would not meet until the regional finals. In baseball, teams from a district could meet in the quarterfinals. The proposal to add district runners-up to the football playoffs passed by a 686-242 margin. The vote in the other sports was: basketball, 706-348; volleyball, 411-281; and baseball, 432-234.

MARSHALL said details of the revised playoffs plans have not yet been worked out.

The new basketball rule limits teams to 22 regular season games plus three tournaments. Under current rules, teams could play 24 non-district games, three tournaments, in addition to district games. In districts with 10 teams, and a double round-robin schedule.

Rebels swipe one from Mojo

ODESSA - There's an old saying in sports that you don't stop playing until the final gun has sounded.

Odessa Permian's basketball team stopped playing with one tick left on the clock and as a result dropped a District 5-5A clash to Midland Lee 49-48 in the Mojo gym Friday night. Permian had the ball, a one-point l'ead with six seconds to play when Alvin Dunson swiped the ball deep in the Mojo end of the court. Dunson hurried to midcourt where he launched a desperation shot with two seconds left to play. The ball hit the Latckboard, bounced on the rim and f ei'l into the waiting hands of Berry Eli ickwell as four Mojo players stood rocited to the floor. Blackwell whe eled, arched the ball up, and as the final horn blared the ball nestled throwugh the cords to give the Rebels a much'n needed victory.

CONVEUSION reigned on the sidelines; Permian fans were outraged and Le e fans were relieved. Tempers flare d .and a shoving match erupted between the teams before cooler

The Rebels had won. And the victory raised Lee's second-half district mark to 3-2, 14-18 overall while the Panthers dropped to 2-3 in district action and 16-12 on the season.

Dunson went to work for the Rebeis in the second quarter to widen a five point lead to a 12 point advantage. With 3:57 left in the half, the Rebels held a shakey 15-10 lead. In the next two minutes Dunson tossed in seven straight of his game high 22 points as the Rebels moved the lead to 22-10.

In the third quarter the Panthers started their comeback. Led by Mike Wolley's nine points, Mojo outscored the Rebels 21-13 to trim the Lee advantage to a slim two, 37-35, going into the final eight minutes of action. DURING THE third quarter, Per-

Lewis smashes indoor jump mark

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) -Sophomore Carl Lewis of the University of Houston, who earlier had become the third-fastest 60-yard indoor sprinter in the world, smashed the world indoor long jump record with a leap of 27 feet 101/4 inches Friday night in the Southwest Conference indoor track and field championships.

Lewis, the NCAA outdoor and indoor long jump champ, bested the old mark of 27-6 by Mississippi College's Larry Myricks, set last year.

Lewis knew he had the record the minute he hit the sand, and jumped into the air with his fist clenched. Then he ran back to the tape area to make certain he hadn't fouled. He then celebrated again after officials studied the tape for several minutes to make sure the mark was legal.

Houston McTear has run a 6.05. Lewis, of course, shattered the old SWC indoor record of 6.09 seconds by Herkie Walls of Texas, who finished fourth in 6.18.

"I lifted a lot of weights in the off season, and I'm stronger now, and I can accelerate with the shorter run-ners," Lewis said. "I was third last year.

Lewis got off to a slow start, but caught the pack and passed it at the 50 yard mark, nipping Texas A&M's Mark Richardson, who was clocked in 6.11 seconds.

Several other records fell, including the triple jump of 53 feet 11¼ inches by Southern Methodist's Keith Connor of Great Britain and the 9:51.2 distance medley relay by Baylor.

The old triple jump record was 1-7¾ by Houston's Keith Gilreath. 51-7% by Houston Arkansas owned the old distance medley relay mark of 9: 59.77. The Baylor foursome in the distance medley relay included Kyle Wargo, Bobby Burkhalter, John Robinson and anchor Todd Harbour. "I was happy with my record considering I had a heel problem. I bruised it," Connor said. "I had to be careful because the boards are very hard, and if I hit a support wrong it's all over for me."

With Lee clinging to a 41-38 lead the Mojo proceeded to rip off six unanswered points to grab a 44-41 lead with 3: 26 to go. Darius Berry scored on an offensive rebound and Dunson ripped the cords from deep in the corner to give the lead back to the Rebels, 45-44, with 2:36 remaining.

Could golfers take the pressure?

By MELVIN DURSLAG Hearst Special News Service

A college basketball player crouched at the free throw line the other day, studying a critical shot. The stadium vibrated from enemy voices whose purpose was distraction

It suddenly occurred to Al McGuire, who does commentary on television, that if similar conditions had been transplanted to the golf course, the victim would have developed weird symptoms on his way to bursting his moorings.

It long has been the argument of many who watch golf that the pros who play it have made themselves excessively eccentric over

And since the amateurs who hack on weekends tend to imitate the pros, they, too, have overdramatized the problem.

I MEAN, a guy who shoots 95 is privileged merely to use a golf course, automatically forfeiting any right to temperament.

We recall discussing the problem of noise one day with Mr. Dave Stockton, a longtime member of the pro tour, who told about his experience in Japan. Playing his second shot from the fairway, Dave found himself stalked by a man clutching a portable television camera.

"The guy kneeled about 10 yards behind me," said Dave. "I screamed to the marshals to get rid of him, but I was told the cameraman was authorized to be there. This was part of normal coverage of golf in Japan.

The trespasser made Stockton nervous at first, but Dave said he quickly got used to him, as he did other cameramen flanking the fairways, and he soon reached the conclusion that golfers have made themselves unduly goofy over noise and distraction. possibly hurting the game as a spectator attraction.

"Golf requires a certain amount of concentration," Stockton told u s. "It is delicate work, but so is the work in , other sports. 'Tennis players have no more right to silence than athletes in other spectator games," says Jack. "This hush-hush business in sports is a joke."

OF COURSE, you won't sell this idea to such virtuosos as John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors, but tennis might be more appealing if those who watched it could enter into the spirit of the competition and not sit there under wraps.

Golf hasn't yet come to hard times, but has been shaken noticeably by a recent decision on the part of television to cut back on the number of tournaments it puts on the

This can be ascribed to one of two reasons: (a) TV sponsors are retrenching in a sinking economy, or (b) TV has come to feel that routine events are too dull to capture viewers.

Hibernation ends as birds chirp, spring training begins

By THOMAS BOSWELL (c) 1981, The Washington Post Whenever I want to see the first robin of spring, I just look in the mirror.

It's me.

As soon as February begins, the question comes every day: "When are you leaving? Aren't you gone yet?

My disappearance has, to my friends, become a harbinger. If I'm gone to Florida, can spring and base-ball be far behind?

This is the month when baseball antsiness reaches its peak. Fans have done their best with their own personal hot-stove methadone programs. But patience has limits. November wasn't too bad with its free agents. December's trades were okay. And even in January it was possible to get out the final averages and, red pen in hand, digest the numbers like some statistical cow with nine stomachs.

But by February baseball's news tidbits are of the vilest sort - arbitration, renegotiation and labor rhetoric.

to the proprietor of Hastings' Pharmacy. "The Sporting News is late this week," said Harold Hastings, irrita-

That won't help you, I thought. "I've been thinking about buying one share of Chicago Cubs stock," he continued, a man grasping at straws.

"That's nice. How much would it cost?" I said. "About $1,000," the druggist said.

"What would you do with it?" I asked.

"I could go to a Cubs stockholder: ; meeting," he said. "I've alway s wanted to see how they do it." "How they do what?" I asked, for jl-

ishly. "How they screw us up eve ry year," Hastings said.

MY NEXT clue that the Febru lary doldrums were in full virulence ci ame when I visited my Selbyville cousin, Harry Evans. "Going to St. Petersburg in a coupla weeks," he said. "Let's see. . . the Cards and Mets are in St. Pete, the Phillies are in Clearwater, the Reds are in Tampa. How long would it take to drive over to Lakeland (Tigers), or Winter Haven (Red Sox), or Bradenton (Pirates)? "Not more than an hour to any of them," I said.

"That's good," he said. "I was glad to see Eddie Murray got that $1 million contract. He's gotta be happy if the Orioles are going to win this year." When a man in the Delmarva Peninsula's chicken-and-corn farm country, where every dollar is earned with sweat, comes out in favor of million-dollar baseball contracts, you know it's February.

Since when does cousin Harry go to Florida for spring training?" asked my 93-year-old great-aunt Al-

"Since he sold the restaurant," she said.

Maybe it isn't necessary to sell the family business and head south, but come this time of year, the temptation is there.

EVEN PLAYERS feel it. For nearly a month, the Baltimore pitching staff has been gathering in a grim little cave. under the right-field stands, where the Orioles have found a space 60 feet 6 inches long and supplied it with heaters.

These are not rookies who started gathering three months before opening day, just so they could flick a few three-quarter-speed pitches and hear the ball crack in a mitt. Jim Palmer, Mike Flanagan and Steve Stone, all Cy Young winners, have been regular dungeon denizens, as well as 20-game winner Scott McGregor and 26-game saver Tim Stoddard. Palmer, for instance, can't wait for the season. He's already reported his first shoulder. injury of the spring - a good sign, as all O's know.

Finally, on Feb. 9, Stone could endure subterranean baseball no longer. He walked to the Oriole offices and said, "I'm leaving for Florida today... right now. I'm driving down. Can you arrange to have a catcher down there?'

The Bird rookies aren't due to report until Feb. 25, and the regulars don't have to report until March 3, but the majors' only 25-game winner can't resist that powerful word, "Florida." Who really needs a fivemonth vacation if his work is play? In a profession where your prime is so fleeting, who wants to sit idle and look at winter walls for 20 weeks at a time?

The appeal of spring training's ambience is more powerful in the mind than in reality. Most Grapefruit League towns are blighted little burgs where the fast-food factories outnumber the seagulls and the shopping mall is chic

LUCKILY, in spring training the only state you're in is a state of baseball.

Of all the seasons within baseball's season, the sweetest, without doubt, is the dulcitory fortnight between the time the regulars report to camp and the first exhibition game. Then, baseball is all ballet and bliss. The only people who wander into the park to watch windsprints and batting practice and cutoff plays are those with an umbilical understanding of the game.

"We don't consider our camp in Miami officially open until we see Joe Palumbo," says one Oriole official. "He's a restaurateur from Connecticut who happens to love baseball. Because he comes so early, everybody knows his interest is sincere, and all the players are his buddies."

WHAT GOOD does it do him?

"All I know," said the Bird brass, "is that in the official baseball World Series film of '79 there's a locker room scene after we clinched the American League pennant in California. It's just the players and (Manager Earl) Weaver making fools out of themselves pouring champaigne on each other and spelling out O-R-I-O-L-E-S with their bodies. And right in the middle of the party is one civilian - Joe Palumbo. Don't ask me how he got into that clubhouse.

"I guess if you show up to watch calesthenics in February, people find a way to get you into the champagne celebration when you win the pennant."

The luxuriant tropical grass, the lazy humid air, the salt breeze off the ocean are waiting. The palm trees are peaking over the old-fashioned clapboard outfield fences, waiting. Steve Stone and his appointed catcher are there already, waiting.

Sell the restaurant. Point the car south. Don't ask questions. It's time to be gone.

Dayton defeats Dukes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) - Center Mike Kanieski scored 24 points, including two at a key point in the third overtime period, to lead Dayton past Duquesne 109-100 Friday night in college basketball.

Byrd sunk two foul shots.

Byrd came off the bench in the second half to replace Kevin Conrad and score 18 points. Conrad was one of eight players - four for each team who fouled out.

TED BATTLES Bishop makes rookie team hard way

When you are a No. 1 draft choice and make a contribution that brings your team a divisional championship, it's not exactly earthquaking news when a Junior Miller is named to the All-NFL Rookie team, picked by the Football Digest.

When you switch colleges in midstream, miss your senior season and then are plucked in the sixth round, and are assigned to the suicide specialty teams, you've got to consider yourself lucky to make the NFL, let alone the NFL Rookie team. That's the circuitous route taken by Keith Bishop, who was a teammate of Miller's at Midland Lee and later Nebraska.

While Miller was picked at tight end, Bishop made it at center, although he played more games at offensive guard.

STILL, IT'S rather surprising that Bishop ever got to the NFL in the first place. After transferring from Nebraska to Baylor, he got in a junior season and then suffered a knee injury that required surgery before the first game in his senior year. Keith missed the entire year and managed only a few token plays in the Peach Bowl game, hardly the kind of year to make the scouts sit up and take notice.

"After I got my leg hurt, I wasn't sure I'd make it. I feel very fortunate," admits Bishop who recently moved into a new home in the Denver area. "Despite the injury, they flew me up here in my senior year. I met the coaches and was checked out by doctors. Coach (Red) Miller told me, he was going to try to get me.

Although he started out on the specialty teams, Keith got into the first regular seasion game against the Philadelphia Eagles when the Broncos starting center was shaken up. Later, he played right guard against the Jets, getting his opport unity to break into the lineup when injuries ravaged the offensive line. He did so well he started at guard against Oakland and Seattle. In fact, against Oakland's infamous defensive tackle, Marv Matuszak, he graded out 95, which is about as close to perfect as you can get.

"THE BIGGEST change from pro to college ball is mental, that and learning the assignments. Then, too, you have a certain amount of awe in playing against people you've read about since you were a

"Also in pro ball, it's a business. If you are a starter in college, they do everything they can to keep you out on the field. In the pros, it's differ-ent and keeping your sharpriess through a 16-week

'In Whitey Duvall, Denveir's of fensive line coach, they have one of the best and I was lucky to be playing under him." "After all the stories you hear, anticipation for the rookie is tough and in Denver, the altitude gets yo u for a while," says Keith.

In his first year, Bishop's main concern was just making the team. "But once you gain confidence and realize you can play in the NFL, it's a case of mastering the techniques."

Like holding without getting caught? "Well, you can hold legally by grabbing the inside of the shoulder pads. But, whereas, defense is a maat-ter of reaction, offensive line play is attacking and manipulating your opponent. Like boxing, it's large-ly a case of footwork."

AFTER PLAYING two offensive positions in his first year, Keith labels center as the toughest posiltion. The center is the offensive quarterback in the line and has to pick up the audibles and call the adjustments for blocking assignements. Guard is easier, except for pulling out to lead the block-

"Froin the way they talk, I'll be concentrating more () a guard next serason," says Keith, "But with only elight offfensive lingemen, you have to be ready to play engrery position in an injury emergency."

Dwring the offsession, Keith stays in shape by work ing out four days a week with teammates Kelv in Clark, Odensa-Nebraska, David Stuttard, Tex as, and Arland 'Thompson, Baylor, all of whom live in the Denver area. Right now, it's mostly we'ights. The running will come later.

IN HIGH school, Bishop was leaning toward Bay-ker, but everybod y but Nebraska seemed to lose interest when he injured a foot in his senior "year. "I made so me good friends at Nebraska," but during his sopho nore year he became disillusioned after an injury and dropped out. "I was ready to get a job in Mi dland when David Sledge (a former Midland Lee te ammate then at Baylor) told John O'Hara, a Bayl or assistant and former Lee coach, about me and 'I walked on at Baylor and made the team.'

Then, three weeks after his marriage in July 1979, he hurt his kniee and lost his senior year.

A SKIER, although he has sworn off the sport until after his pro football days are over, Bishop likes Colorado and Denver. He figures the Broncos are not far from being a contender and to attain that status will go into the draft with an eye out for running backs, tight ends and linebackers. "I think we'll go after help at the skill positions and probably offensive line."

The Broncos spend as much time at home as possible. "We take a short workout on Saturdays, fly to the city we are playing that night and come back after the game Sunday. The long trips are New England, Seattle and New York and they take a lot out of you.'

"But I'd rather play at home. Our field is flat. It doesn't have the usual football field hump in the middle, but it's grass with gravel under it and drains well. In fact, they can run hot water through the gravel and regulate the temperature on cold days. But, most of all, I like the grass. It's not haird on the legs like the artificial turf when, after a gaime, your legs ache as though you've been running on concrete."

In his rookie year, Keith didn't even experience one of those traditional football season snowstorms for which Denver is famous. "The worst whether vve experienced all year was our game against the Jets in New York. It was 19 degrees, but no snow." Maybe next season it will snow in Denver.

Save...reload own ammunition said.

The first and most obvious reason why one should reload his own rifle, pistol or shotgun ammunition is economy. Reloaded ammunition runs from one-half to one-tenth the cost of factory-loaded cartridges. This means you can shoot as much as you like, as often as you life for a fraction of the cost. The extra practice will make you a better competitor on the target range or at the trap and skeet club. As a hunter, you will be better able to pinpoint your shots for quick, sure kills. Anther way of looking at it is more shooting on the same size budget.

Though a reloaded round is far less expensive than factory loaded ammunition, it is by no means a second class cartridge-quite the opposite is true.

The wide variety of components available to the reloader allows him to custom tailor his ammunition to suit a particular gun for any particular requirement. As a result, one gets a high degree of efficiency, accuracy and versatility from his shotgun, pistol or rifle.

Recently a shooter established a loads. Shooters competing in the Olympics and other international shooting events use handloads where ever the rules permit. It is a well established fact that carefully assembled handloads are the very best ammunition obtainable.

and volurne of output. For the occasional shooter, who fires only a few boxes of shells a year, there are tools so inexpensively priced that the total investment won't exceed the cost of factory ammunition for an afternoons plinking session or a day long hunt with the family. If you participate in trap of skeet shooting, you may wish to invest in a volume output tool. These automatic tools are more expensive but the initial investment will be quickly offset if you shoot 300-400 shells per week as m any shooters do. JIM MURRAY Al mistaken for pin or 1-iron

Los Angeles Times When the golf world first heard last year that Allen Geiberger had lost even more weight, it feared for his safety. They were afraid someone would run him through a metered mail machine or otherwise pin, staple or bend him. Allen was always so thin the caddy never knew whether to put him in the bag or his 1-iron. In fact, when they were standing side by side you couldn't tell which was which.

Someone once asked if that was Al Geiberger standing by the pin and, when told it was, he said "Okay, but which is which?'

For Geiberger to lose weight was like a pauper losing his shoes. He was 6-2 1/2 and when his weight went down to 137, he became invisible. He looked like a 2-iron with a glove on. It was hard to tell who was swinging whom. Allen was the only guy out there who had to be careful not to fall in the hole. If he did, they'd stick a flag on him. He could take a bath in the ball washer.

EVEN IN his good days, he was the Pro From Blue Cross. He was either on a green or on an operating table. No one was quite sure what was wrong, least of all the doctors, but tour myth had it that it was curable with peanut-butter sandwiches. Allen got more used to playing with pain than Don Shula's backfield. He took it for granted you had to wince at a full

It's hard to make people think there's anything seriously wrong with you when you shoot a 59. On your own ball. No one had ever done that in a tournament before. They may do it again. But it's a bad bet. Allen did it at Memphis in 1977.

Geiberger won 12 tournaments, including the prestigious PGA, the Tournament Players Championship and he Colonial. He finished second in the U.S. Open (by a shot) twice. When you do these things, you belong to the elite of golf. You're one of the 10 or 12 best strikers of the ball and the consensus was, whatever Al Geiberger had, it should only be catching.

GEIBERGER WAS also one of the sunniest players on the tour. A guy whose stomach disputes him should have the nice, snarly disposition of a bear with corns. So, if a guy goes around shooting 59 and smiling at putts that lip out of the cup, he's either a hypochondriac or a saint.

Allen was neither. Actually, he had a condition known as proctitis, an inflammation in one of the worst places you can have it. I mean, it hurts to sit down. Also to walk. Peanut-butter sandwiches do nothing for it. Neither do aureomycin or aspirin. What it does, it bleeds -- and burns. Try that when you're trying to go birdie-par. Among other things, it is a condition which makes you want to check not only the pin location on every course but the portable restrooms location.

played with such a pain in his gut ait the Danny Thomas-Memphis Classic; the place where he had shot 59 thre e years before, that he missed the cut. He couldn't eat, he couldn't sleep, he couldn't even putt. The weight begari dropping off him so fast, if he ate at peanut butter sandwich, you could see

He collapsed in Vail, Colo., at Presi-dent Ford's tournament. "The pain was unbelievable," he recalled as he sat in a press room at the Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open at Riviera Country Club the other day. "I couldn't even breathe."

THE FIRE in his belly was found to be giant polyps blocking the colon. Surgery to remove them provided only temporary relief, as the small intestine wrapped itself around the affected area. Geiberger was flown to Denver in a Secret Service helicopter. And finally that awful word "colostomy" surfaced. The whole colon would have to be removed. Allen Geiberger would no longer have indoor plumbing. The first thing you do when doctors start dealing in catastrophic words like "colostomy" or even "ileostomy" is sell your golf clubs, right? You get rid of all those knit sweaters and hood covers and boxes of balls and, suddenly, you even begin to miss 30-foot putts and even miss being in sandtraps. The tour is no longer a torture chamber but a romantic memory when your best friend is a bag but not one with golf sticks in it.

This was a harder strain on Geiberger's sunny disposition than the 18th at Riviera or a smother hook. But he parred this hazard, too. He got up and down, as the pros say, or, in his case, down and up.

"YOU FEEL you're not going to live a full life. I mean, no more golf. Then, you start hearing from people who have been through it and they all say, 'Hang on, it's not the end of the tournament. You got a lot of holes to play yet.' My doctor had the same problem himself. So he was encouraging. Otto Graham, the old Cleveland quarterback who had a colostomy, called and said 'If you ask me, this is better than the old plumbing system.'

"I actually found I was really feeling better. When I got over the shock of three long (five- and six-hour) surgeries, I found I was really feeling better. Stronger."

GEIBERGER finally walked on a golf course before Christmas and played two holes. He birdied them. His weight moved up. It got so you could see him even when he was between you and the light. He played in a golf tournament in Monterey where they let you ride. But, when what you were riding on is Spyglass Hill, Pebble Beach and assorted horrors like that, it's not all that much of an advantage. Allen shot 70-72-72-77.

TEE TIME

Congratulations, Eugene ... We are having a bit of trouble with the Hogan Park watering system and ask you to bear with us until it is remedied. The system has been out and we have been unable to water for several weeks. At this time, it is in a repaired state and we must have the water going during the daytime in order to catch up and keep the grass from dying. The reservoir is being relined and takes time to do. The water is being pumped onto the course when the tanks are filled. Please bear with us until the reservoir is completely relined and we will try not to get you too wet. We did want you to know the reason behind the water sometimes being on in the daytime so you would understand why it is imperative to water at times other than evenings ... Beavers' Miller begins to believe

CORVALL IS, ()re. (AP) - A month ago: Ralph | Mille r was saying that anyone who th oug ht his Oregon State basketball te am would make it brough the se. aso, a unbeaten was dreaming.

Well, with six gan les left in the regular season, the No. 2-ranked Beavers are 21-0 and ev 'en Miller admits that such dreams sometimes come true

"It's getting closer to a possibility than certainly it was, " Miller said Thursday. "I still con side 'r that a dream attitude. That's just like a cherry on top of the sunda e. I 've been around a long time and it) has n't happened to me yet."

The Beavers are 12-0 in the F'acific 10 Conference and have a tw 70-1 7ame cushion on second-place A riz ona State heading into home g'arnes against Washington State Satura lay night and Washington Monday ni gh't. After that, Oregon State travels 1'0 Los Angeles for games at Southe Til Cal and UCLA before finishing it s regular season in Corvallis against Arizona and Arizona State.

Miller admits his team couldn't be in better shape. He's not sure whether one otherwise meaningless loss would hurt or help his team heading into the playoffs. "There are two ways to look at it," he said. "It certainly is possible for an undefeated team to get through the NCAA. And sometimes if you lose one it takes some of the pressure off and that can be goood. I don't know how I feel, really. I can buy the logic of losing one, but I don't know if it's necessary.

AS FOR the No.1-ranking, Miller and the players maintain they couldn't care less that Virginia had unseated the Beavers.

"All this foolishness in comparing us and Virginia," Miller said. "You're not going to settle it unless we play and I don't know how likely that is to happen."

The only good thing about the con-troversy, Miller said, is that it generates loads of publicity for the

The Beavers are coming off four traight road victories, the latest a stoppy 57-45 triumph over St. John's in Uniondale, N.Y., last Saturday. It was Oregon State's first appear-ance on national television and the players know it didn't go over well. "It's our own fault really," said center Steve Johnson, who saved the Beavers' offense with 26 points. "We knew we were going to be rated on how we played. But anyone knowledgeable about basketball could watch and still see the style we play."

MILLER, however, was pleased with a 12-point road victory - given the circumstances of a cross-country flight following a Thursday night game

Miller said his team is fortunate to have a week without a game. Several players have been sick and Ray Blume was the worst with a bad case of flu.

Blume said he was feeling better Thursday.

Miller doesn't expect a letdown against the Cougars, despite Oregon State's lopsided victory at Pullman earlier this season.

"The kids are practicing well, so it doesn't look to me like they're taking life easy," he said. "It's usually a good sign.

Against Washington, the Beavers will be facing a team that took them in to overtime before losing 87-81 in Sie attle.

"They usually play one good one and one bad one against us," Miller "They certainly played the sai d. pan.ts off us last time so let's hope this is the ir 'off night."

Unclou btedly the biggest game on the hou ize on is against UCLA at Pauley Pavilion - - where Miller has never won a g.am e.

The Oreg on State coach said he would be ex tremely pleased if his team came b, ack from Los Angeles needing only to beat Arizona and make the finale , against Arizona State meaningless as fair as the Pac-10 race is concerned
