

Langford resigns at Midland College

Dr. Al G. Langford, president of Midland College since its founding, today announced plans to resign his post to enter private business.

In a letter read to the Board of Trustees during a special board meeting at 10 a.m. today, Dr. Langford said he would leave the office Aug. 31, and asked release from the remainder of his contract, which runs through August 1986. He said that, after more than 30 years of public service to education in Texas, he wanted to enter a different field.

As the letter was read, Langford slid back his chair from the board table, removed his glasses and wiped away tears. Langford said he will become an independent oil operator in Midland.

"For the past 30 years, I have devoted my life to public service in the field of education in the state of Texas," Langford said in the letter. "The climax of this career has been the period since I was selected to become president of Midland College at the time of its founding. The past 12 years have been rewarding, exciting and wonderful for a career educator. But I now feel it is time for me to enter new fields.

"I MUST COMMEND the trustees of Midland College, both the current board members and those who served earlier," he continued. "These trustees have given firm and steady guidance during the emerging years of this institution. They are, I feel, responsible for the creation and design of what has become one of the finest comprehensive community colleges in the state and in the nation."

"When Midland College was created in 1969, as part of Odessa Junior College, Dr. Langford was selected as the ideal person to become president of the school," commented Jack Huff, president of the Board and a former trustee of the joint board. "At that time, there were many people who felt Midland College would not survive its first few years. But, largely due to Al Langford's unflagging enthusiasm and efforts, Midland College did survive. Its stature today is first-rank locally, in the state and in the nation. Midland College has grown tremendously and Dr. Langford has been in the forefront of all the planning and all the effort."

"It's almost needless to say that the Board of Trustees accepts his resignation with the greatest regret. We appreciate his devotion to the task of building Midland College and we will always be grateful to him for his leadership. We wish him great success in the future."

"IT'S JUST A very sad moment," Langford said after the meeting this morning. "It's not easy to walk away from the finest thing that has happened in your life. I have mixed emotions about it," he continued. "These have been 12 of the finest years of my life... however, I look forward with enthusiasm to the coming years."

Langford said he had been investing in oil ventures during the last three to four years and decided he wanted to do it full-time.

"I've had 30 years of public service," he said. "For 30 years I have been responsible to the entire community. I think that's long enough. I want to do some other things with my life."

Langford said he decided to make his decision public to give the board "the opportunity to find a replacement before the new school year begins."

Huff said that a search committee would be appointed immediately to begin seeking qualified applicants for the Jury tampering suspected in Shanks trial

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

A bizarre murder trial became shrouded in suspicion for the second time this week when Judge Pat Baskin on Thursday afternoon placed lawyers and other court officers under the no-comment "gag rule" and one-by-one queried the 12 jurors to ascertain if they had been tampered with by anyone interested in "the outcome" of the Rex Shanks murder trial in 142nd State District Court.

The court had imposed the "gag rule" on an unspecified "legal technicality" Tuesday on the opening day of testimony in the trial of Shanks, a 27-year-old Abilene man who is charged with slaying 46-year-old James David McPeters of Odessa in a murder-for-hire trial.

Following a meeting in the judge's chambers with state and defense attorneys, Baskin confronted the 10-woman, two-man jury and cautiously explained his reasons for suspecting that one or more persons may have tried to influence a jury in the outcome of the case.

"INFORMATION has come to the attention of the court," Baskin said, "that suggests that there may have been wrongful or unlawful contact or attempt to contact a member of the Jury."

The judge was careful not to indicate which side — defendant or prosecution — any alleged and suspected jury tampering may have tried to influence.

Any confirmed jury tampering could result in a mistrial and in the criminal prosecution of anyone trying to influence the outcome of the trial by threats or coercion or by talking to a juror.

But after 35 minutes of questioning each juror in open court, the judge came up with nothing from the jurors to suspect any tampering, directly or indirectly, before or after the jury was selected Monday afternoon.

"IT IS MY INTENT and expectation that this trial will continue to a verdict," Baskin said before he directed Bailiff Roy Merket to lead the jurors to the hallway and then, one by one, to call the jurors into the courtroom and to query them.

Questions the judge asked each juror were essentially the same: Had anyone approached the juror in person, by telephone or letter and "indicated an interest in the outcome" of the trial or "expressing some interest in the outcome of the trial or indicating anything that would give rise to suspicion," or did anyone contact a

County road crew finds human bones

By BILL MODISETT
Staff Writer

Investigators for the Midland County Sheriff's Department are hoping forensic analysis will reveal more information about a human skull and bones unearthed Thursday afternoon by county road workers.

At the present time, investigators say there isn't too much to go on. They're proceeding on the basis that the bones may have come from a homicide victim. But even that isn't certain.

A county road crew was working on the extension of Industrial Boulevard near Holiday Hill Road when the bones were discovered about 3 p.m. According to Capt. Robert Settles, workers were bringing dirt from about 100 yards away to the site when the bones were found.

The bones and skull were not buried deeply and were easily unearthed.

The road crew had located the skull and one or two other bones when the sheriff's department was notified.

Lt. Pat Fuller and Sgt. Buzz Cupp from the sheriff's department, District Attorney's investigator Jim Atwater, city police officers, Department of Public Safety troopers and Texas Rangers converged on the scene to probe the unusual find.

Their efforts yielded several other bits and pieces of bone over a quarter-mile stretch of road, Capt. Settles noted. But answers were still elusive.

"At the present time," noted the captain, "we are unable to make any determination of whether it's male or female or how long it's been out there."

Not knowing the circumstances surrounding the bones, investigators treated the scene of the find carefully.

Draw plan dropped

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
Staff Writer

A plan suggested Thursday for relieving county residents' problems concerning Midland Draw has been dropped because those same residents opposed the idea.

Mayor G. Thane Akins confirmed this morning that the temporary solution involving a drainage ditch down Midland Draw filled with secondary treated effluent for farmers to use as irrigation water is dead.

The plan was suggested by County Commissioner Charlie Welch and was taken from an engineering firm's 1969 recommendation. However, county residents opposed the plan then, and the Texas Water Resources Department wouldn't allow it to be put into action.

Residents are objecting to the plan this time around on the basis they don't want any type of sewer water running through their land.

The City Council and County Commissioners approved starting action on that plan once a temporary permit had been issued by the state water board. However, for that temporary permit to be issued, according to County Judge William Ahders, all the landowners next to Midland Draw had to agree to the plan.

Also approved by the two government bodies was a long-term study to be conducted by Ed Reed and Associates, a local hydrology firm. Tom Sloan, city councilman, said the city will proceed with its part of the study.

However, Ahders said the county is up in the air over its share. The commissioners approved the study Thursday, contingent upon this immediate plan to help the residents.

"We're back at square one," said Ahders.

Court rules Pickett qualified to hear Permian case

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

Judge Perry D. Pickett, whom The Permian Corp. of Midland has sought to expel from a multi-million-dollar class-action suit in which Permian is the defendant, was deemed qualified to continue presiding over the case.

"The court finds Judge Pickett qualified...to continue sitting as presiding judge" in the Walter R. Davis vs. Permian Corp. suit, Special Judge Ken Spencer of Crane ruled Thursday in Midland's 238th State District Courtroom.

Permian was contending that Pickett, who recently retired from the 142nd State District judgeship after serving 26 years on the bench, was "acting in excess of his authority" by appointing himself to continue as the authority in the case after his retirement from the bench.

However, Pickett is administrative judge of the 39-county Seventh Judicial District of Texas and as such has authority to make court assignments, including that of special judgeships.

DAVIS' CHIEF attorney, Cecil Munn of Fort Worth, viewed Permian's anti-Pickett stance with contempt.

"It's about the most outrageous thing I've seen in the courtroom in a third of a century," Munn volunteered moments after Spencer had rendered his decision.

Munn said the Permian suit to exclude Pickett from presiding over the case was an affront to the judge.

"Perry Pickett is an outstanding and honorable man in the courtroom or outside the courtroom."

Davis, a Midland oil producer and former owner of Permian, filed the class-action suit in 1979 and alleged that Permian since Oct. 1, 1973, has "short-changed" thousands of oil operators and producers and has "fraudulently" concealed that it has been "taking from Davis and other sellers more crude oil than it has paid them for."

Permian, which may stand to pay between $50 million and $100 million should it lose the case, denies the allegations and says that it has "properly paid" Davis and others "for all oil purchased according to custom and usage in the industry."

PERMIAN FILED a suit to bar Pickett from presiding on grounds that "there is neither a constitutional provision nor a law of this state which authorizes a retired or former district judge to do so (to preside over a case) when the regular district judge is present."

In this case, the "regular" district judge is Judge Pat Baskin of the 142nd State District Court. Baskin was sworn into office on Jan. 5 and succeeded the 65-year-old Pickett, who had presided over the judicial district for Midland County since 1954.

Pickett, who has been hearing the Davis vs. Permian suit since it started, on Jan. 9 appointed himself to continue hearing the case. His authority was vested in his duty as administrative judge of the 39-county Seventh Administrative Judicial District. Baskin concurred with Pickett's appointment.

In 1977, then Gov. Dolph Briscoe appointed fellow Democrat Pickett to the four-year term as the administrative judge. The term was to have expired last Jan. 5, but since Republican Gov. Bill Clements had not yet named a successor, Pickett remained in the judgeship. Clements did name a successor for Pickett on Thursday, appointing Judge Ray L. McKim of Odessa for the post.

Permian's spokesman-lawyer Ed Clover of Houston admitted that Pickett is the administrative judge.

"WE SEEK TO restrain (Pickett from serving in the Davis vs. Permian litigation)," Clover said. "We are not saying he is disqualified to act" as the administrative judge but contend that Pickett "acted in excess of his authority" by appointing himself over the case.

"This is not a question of his qualifications of the office," Clover said.

"The suit (to exclude Pickett) does not involve the ouster of any public official," Clover said. "It does not inquire into the motives of Judge Pickett. It is merely a matter of stat-

From their initial observation, sheriff's department officials don't believe the skull and bones are from a recent death, Capt. Settles said.

Hatfield has been in the sporting goods business in Midland since 1967.
According to a release from Hatfield, he has been a volunteer in all phases of youth development by working with football, baseball and basketball teams and as a member of the YMCA sports committees.

Man killed in Stanton crash

STANTON — A 51-year-old Cisco man was burned to death in Stanton early this morning when the tractor trailer he was driving went out of control, rolled 1 1/2 times and burst into flames at the Lenore intersection, according to a spokesperson from the Martin County Sheriff's Office.
Raymond Earl Watson of Cisco was traveling on Texas Highway 176 in his 1971 Peterbilt tractor trailer loaded with fertilizer when he apparently tried to make a turn onto the old highway road at the intersection of Texas Highway 136, locally referred to as the Lenore intersection, the spokesperson said.

2,000 Alpine residents evacuated following fire at butane company

ALPINE — About 2,000 residents of this small mountain community are back home today after being evacuated for six hours Thursday night following a fire at Alpine Butane Company that started after one of the trucks developed a leak.
According to Alpine Assistant Chief of Police Ruben Melgoza, the Texas Railroad Commission ordered the evacuation after the fire started about 9 p.m. The residents returned to their homes when the flames were extinguished at 3:22 a.m.
A woman and her son living across the street from the company are listed in good condition at Big Bend Memorial Hospital in Alpine this morning with first and second degree burns on their face and hands. Janet Harvey and Mike Harvey were injured as they were leaving their home by the front door after her husband noticed the butane settling around the fence by the butane trucks, said Melgoza.

Two members of Alpine's Volunteer Fire Department, Curt Wise and Bill Rhodes, were treated and released at the hospital for smoke inhalation, according to Melgoza.
Melgoza would not speculate on the cause of the fire. He said all that was known right now was the truck was leaking and that anything from static electricity to a lighted cigarette could be responsible for the flames. Melgoza said four members of the Railroad Commission flew into Alpine during the night to help extinguish flames and determine cause of the fire.

A damage estimate had not been given by press time. However, it is known that three butane trucks and a ground tank were extensively damaged and the company's building received light damage from the fire. The company is located only a block from century old Brewster County Courthouse.
Melgoza said the fire caused no interruption of service for Southern Pacific trains which run through Alpine. The railroad tracks are only a block from the company and, on a regular basis, a good portion of the cargo carried on the train is hazardous material, according to Melgoza.

Pickett can stay on Permian case atory authority.

"We are not seeking to oust him from that (administrative judgeship)," Clover told the court. "We are not seeking to oust Judge Baskin."
However, what Permian, through Clover, was objecting to was Pickett's self-appointment, which, Clover said, "was in excess."
SO FAR, PERMIAN apparently has not been favorably impressed with Pickett's rulings. Permian, one of the nation's largest oil purchasers, also had sought to have Pickett's rulings negated should he be barred from presiding over the case.
In appointing himself to continue hearing the case, Pickett reasoned that such an appointment "would be in the best interest of justice" since he already is familiar with the case.

Jimmie D. Oglesby, Pickett's attorney, claimed that the judge was being "constantly harassed" by the Permian lawsuit.
"It is a legal attack upon Judge Pickett's credentials," Oglesby told the court.
"The question is whether or not Judge Pickett can act as an administrative judge and appoint himself," he said.
Judge Spencer ruled that Pickett could and did.
"THERE ISN'T another administrative judge" to make the appointment, anyway, Spencer said. "Judge Baskin is coming on the bench as a new judge and is occupied with the docket.

"The court finds no reason for Judge Pickett not to preside over this case."
Spencer was tendered a letter from Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Greenhill in which Greenhill congratulated Pickett on his decision to remain in the administrative judgeship until the governor picked his successor.
Pickett was placed on the witness stand as an adverse witness even though Bill Browder, a co-counsel with Munn in representing the Davis interests in the suit, objected.
"I object to the calling of Judge Pickett as an adverse witness in this case," Browder said. "I don't think he is subject to cross-examination on an order he has made and which Judge juror in "trying to influence your view of this case?"

In each case, each juror said "no."
Prosecutors David Joers and Jim Rex, defense attorney Michael McLeaish of Odessa and other members of the court were expressly placed under the gag rule by Baskin and were told not to talk to anyone, including reporters, about the issue or underlying reasons for imposition of the rule until Baskin cuts them loose of the gag law.
McLeaish, for at least the sixth time in the criminal proceedings, moved for a mistrial and apparently had objected to the hearing on any alleged jury tampering.
But much of the court talk between the judge and the attorney was in whispering tones and out of earshot of those, including reporters, behind the bar of the third-floor 142nd State District Court courtroom in the Midland County Courthouse.
Before the trial's spectators, including reporters and the family of the defendant, were made aware of any suspected jury tampering, District Attorney Vern Martin had requested that the press be cautious in its reporting of the suspected jury tampering for fear either side's case might be jeopardized and a fair trial might be prevented. But an open hearing was conducted and no legal recourse, if any, was made to bar the press from the court's inquiry into suspected jury tampering.
None of the court's officers, including the attorneys for prosecution and defense, indicated what caused the court to suspect any tampering with the jury.
The inquiry came shortly after the state's 15th witness and an eyewitness to the McPeters stabbing on July 28 had broken into tears under the aggressive and sometimes unrelenting cross-examination by McLeaish.

That witness was 22-year-old Tammy Jennings, who has been granted immunity by a Midland County Grand Jury in exchange for her testimony in the case.
She represented herself as a hapless, unbelieving and detached witness — not a party to — to the alleged murder plot, which was in the planning stages in her and her husband's Wichita Falls apartment on July 26.
Mrs. Jennings testified that Patricia "Patty" McPeters, 27, wife of the victim, and Shanks, with whom Mrs. McPeters apparently was consorting, had offered her husband, Willie Wayne Jennings, 20, $8,000 to help kill McPeters. Mrs. McPeters supposedly was "unhappy" with her husband, who reportedly had abused and mistreated her and their 3 1/2-year-old son, D.J.
Last December, a jury found the widow guilty of murder in the ambush stabbing of her husband on an isolated area off an Interstate 20 service road between Midland and Odessa, assessed her punishment at 50 years in prison and fined her $8,000.
Both Shanks and Jennings are under murder indictments.

ONLY MRS. Jennings was granted immunity.
"You thought they were planning a game?" McLeaish had asked Mrs. Jennings about the murder-for-hire talk.
"Everytime Rex (Shanks) talks about money, it was a lie," she cried.
Mrs. Jennings said that she loathes Shanks but nevertheless went with her husband, Patty McPeters and Shanks on a drunken binge to Odessa. With them were the McPeters' child, D.J.
Testimony indicated that the hapless murder plot called for Patty McPeters feigning a car break-down and summoning her husband to the roadside, where Shanks and Jennings were to attack him with knives.
"I was hoping he (McPeters) wouldn't come to the planned murder site," Mrs. Jennings cried. "I did not, I didn't care. I just wanted to go home."
At that point, the court was put in recess, and later, the suspected jury-tampering allegations surfaced.

Midland College president resigns president's position.

"We anticipate that this will be a difficult task," Huff said. "But the post also should be extremely attractive. The Board would like to have a replacement named well before the beginning of the 1981-82 term."
In the meeting, he told board members he wanted a new president approved and installed by Aug. 1, so Langford could work with his replacement for a month before Langford's resignation goes into effect.
"Words are difficult to come by at this time," Huff told Langford in the meeting. "We will miss you perhaps even more as a friend than as the true educative man in adult education that you are. We have profound sadness in passing this item (accepting the resignation)."

FOR THE 1968-69 school year, he was an instructor at Texas Technological College, which awarded him the Doctor of Education degree in August, 1969.
He came to Midland on June 1, 1969, to serve as president of Midland College which then was being created.
A believer in civic and professional involvement, he has served as president of the Lamesa Lions Club, director of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, president of the Dawson County Chapters of the Texas State Teachers Association and National Education Association, member of the Boy Scouts of America district executive committee and recipient of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce "Top Hand" award in 1965.
He is a past director of the Midland Downtown Rotary Club, the Midland Chamber of Commerce and the Museum of the Southwest. He is a member of the Board of Executors and Chairman of the Personnel Committee of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame.

and as a member of its executive committee. He has been a leader in efforts to obtain adequate and equitable state funding for public community colleges, especially during the current Legislative term.
In 1975 he was named a "Distinguished Alumnus" by Howard Payne University. In August, 1960, he was selected as one of eight community college representatives to visit Taiwan for the Community College Cooperative for International Development.
Under the administrative leadership of Dr. Langford, Midland College has grown rapidly. It operated in temporary quarters from 1969 to 1972, when it was separated from the Permian Junior College System by the Texas Legislature after a lengthy effort by Midlanders.
A $5.1 million bond issue provided for purchase of the 115-acre campus site and construction of seven buildings. Another bond issue of $6.3 million was approved in 1976 for expansion of one building and construction of two others. Enrollment has increased from 688 in 1969 to its fall all-time record of 2,699. An additional 7 to 9 persons each year enroll in one of the many adult and continuing education programs offered by Midland College. The college offers additional credit course instruction at extension centers in San Angelo, Big Lake and Fort Stockton.

Since its inception, Midland College has received several million dollars for additional enrichment, landscaping programs, specialized equipment and teaching personnel, endowments and scholarships from public, private and corporate gifts.
Langford and his wife, Nancy, reside at 902 E. Sorrel Lane. They have three children: Al, Jr., a former Midland College student; Lance, a Midland High senior; and Lee Ann, a Midland High junior. They are members of the First Baptist Church of Midland.

EXCUSES! EXCUSES!

Jesus turned to His host. "When you put on a dinner," He said, "don't invite friends, brothers, relatives, and rich neighbors! For they will return the invitation. Instead, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, and the blind. Then at the resurrection of the godly, God will reward you for inviting those who can't repay you."

Hearing this, a man sitting at the table with Jesus exclaimed, "What a privilege it would be to get into the Kingdom of God!"

Jesus replied with this illustration: "A man prepared a great feast and sent out many invitations. When all was ready, he sent his servant around to notify the guests that it was time for them to arrive.

"But they all began making excuses. One said he had just bought a field and wanted to inspect it, and asked to be excused. Another said he had just bought five pair of oxen and wanted to try them out. Another had just been married and for that reason couldn't come.

"The servant returned and reported to his master what they had said. His master was angry and told him to go quickly into the streets and alleys of the city and to invite the beggars, crippled, lame, and blind. But even then, there was still room!

"Well, then," said his master, "go out into the country lanes and out behind the hedges and urge anyone you find to come, so that the house will be full. For none of those I invited first will get the smallest taste of what I had prepared for them."

Hypertension more prevalent in blacks

Dear Dr. Solomon: When is a person considered to have high blood pressure? I am a black male in my mid-20s. At my last physical examination, my doctor told me my blood pressure was 140/90, and he suggested I begin restricting my use of salt and lose some weight. Following these instructions would not be any great hardship for me, but I do not consider my blood pressure to be high. What is your opinion — Mr. F.T.H.

benefit from a reduction in both their weight and their intake of salt.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Over a recent weekend, my father (who is 74 years old) began complaining about feeling weak and dizzy, and I finally decided to take him to the local hospital's emergency room. By the time he got there he was feeling better and after an examination showed there was nothing wrong, he was told he could return home. Now I'm wondering if I let my anxiety get the better of me. Was it premature for me to have taken him to the emergency room? — Gene

Dear Gene: "Better safe than sorry" is still a good motto. While feelings of weakness and dizziness may be transient symptoms as in your father's case, it is better to seek medical care when it is not needed, than not to seek it when it is needed. Moreover, in patients your father's age, there is a greater possibility that an organic condition, which can be identified and treated, is causing the symptoms.

To avoid the need for future trips to the emergency room, why not check with your father's doctor? He may be able to pinpoint the reasons for the feelings of weakness and dizziness, and thus spare you the anxieties you experienced recently. For example, if your father is on medication, as many elderly people are this alone may have been responsible for his symptoms. If his doctor is made aware of the incident, a simple change in dosage might prevent future emergencies.

Dear Mr. H.: The World Health Organization defines hypertension as a reading of 160/95. As you may know, the condition is much more prevalent among blacks in the United States than among whites. In addition, blacks tend to develop more severe high blood pressure than do whites, and show a greater tendency to go from relatively low pressures to relatively high pressures within a fairly short period of time.

Dr. Jarone W. Johnson, who is chairman of the hypertension training clinic at the Martin Luther King Hospital and the Charles W. Drew Postgraduate Medical School in Los Angeles, has suggested that treatment for blacks with hypertension should begin sooner than for whites with similar blood pressure levels. In fact, he advocates redefining hypertension in blacks under 30 years of age as a reading of 140/80.

Your physician probably is following the old adage about an ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure, but without going to the point of prescribing drugs. I might add that many of my patients, even those for whom hypertension is not a problem,

Senate passes bill to outlaw payroll deductions of union dues

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A bill that would outlaw payroll deductions of union dues for state employees was finally approved 19-9 Tuesday and sent to the House.

There was no debate before the final vote. The measure, by Sen. O.H. "Ike" Harris, R-Dallas, had been tentatively approved by a 20-8 vote on Monday.

The bill was declared an emergency by Gov. Bill Clements.

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said Monday that Clements was trying to use the bill to punish organized labor.

The measure would let Comptroller Bob Bullock deduct from state payrolls only such items as expressly authorized by the Legislature. Currently deductions are made for Social Security, state retirement and government bonds.

Bullock said recently he would deduct union dues for any of his employees that authorized the deduction. Attorney General Mark White said that was legal but an Austin district court said only the Legislature could authorize deductions. The case is still on appeal.

The slow approach

Gone are the days when an American president will fall to the ground, drooling and uttering unintelligible sounds simply because the Soviet leader voices "promising" statements for improved relations between the two superpowers.

We know the meaning of "détente;" we've been down that road recently and, plainly speaking, we know about the chug-holes.

It's refreshing, in fact, to see that President Ronald Reagan is not rushing blindly into the embrace of Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev, who did a nice and nifty reprise early this week to the old Russian favorite, "You Know I Wouldn't Do A Thing To Hurt You."

Apparently President Reagan realizes and recognizes the difference between Soviet rhetoric intended primarily for the hometown audience's consumption and realistic and constructive rapport with the United States.

To put it another way, President Reagan has bought used cars before and he's indicating right from the start that he's not in the market for a lemon currently.

That doesn't mean that there cannot be an improvement in the relationship between the two nations; we've just been burned on more than one occasion and we're not itching for a repeat anytime soon.

So the president is viewing this olive branch with a jaundiced eye. Experience is a good teacher of Soviet tactics. Americans are all too familiar with the way the Soviet Union initiates fighting in one region to camouflage their subversive activities elsewhere.

But President Reagan is taking a good "go slow" approach to President Brezhnev's statement. We think that's the correct approach.

Another forward step

If you study the history of cities in the United States, you'll find that a city is only as vigorous and progressive as the transportation facilities serving it, generally speaking.

That's why we are taking this opportunity to welcome American Airlines to Midland Regional Airport. The airlines announced earlier this week it will begin service to Midland June 11. That's another progressive step for Midland.

When American begins its three flights per day, it will bring to 27 the total number of flights per day at Midland Regional Airport by the five air carriers serving the Tall City: American, Continental, Texas International, Braniff and Southwest Airlines.

Those airlines bring an average of 40,000 people to the Tall City each month, according to Midland aviation director Col. Wilson Banks. And they also take an average of 40,000 people out of here each month. In fact, reliable and timely air transportation is extremely important to Midland and its residents.

Noting the increasing cost of operating an automobile, Col. Banks said, "This airport is our main means of communication with other parts of the country." Midlanders will see the advantage of having another air carrier to choose from when they realize that more flights will become available to more points throughout the country. To put it another way, Midlanders should reap the benefits of the "new kid on the block" at Midland Regional Airport and it should be easier to get from here to there when you want to or need to.

I feel personally that with 27 flights in our area here, we're in an extremely good situation," Col. Banks said.

We couldn't agree more. Welcome aboard, American! We're glad you're here.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Friday, Feb. 27, the 58th day of 1981. There are 307 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Feb. 27, 1900, the British defeated the Boers in the battle of Paardeberg in Africa, a development that led to the creation of the Union of South Africa.

On this date: In 1598, Boris Godunov was formally named the czar of Russia. In 1861, the "Warsaw massacre" occurred when Russian troops fired on a crowd protesting Russian rule.

In 1889, a railroad was opened in Burma from Rangoon to Mandalay. And in 1939, the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed sit-down strikes.

Family caused Wallace to kill Haiti probe

WASHINGTON — The television hit "60 Minutes" fully deserves its reputation as a bold investigative show that specializes in the butchery of sacred cows. It has championed the abused against institutionalized greed and violence.

Yet one of the program's superstars, Mike Wallace, killed an expose of conditions in the poverty-stricken dictatorship of Haiti because he has in-laws living there. His wife, Lorraine, owns a home in the hills above Port-au-Prince. Her first cousin, Nancy Chenet, lives on the island with her Haitian husband and their three children. The family also owns a small Haitian arts and crafts store, called "Ambiance."

Over his wife's objections, Wallace did a tough, no-punches-pulled report on Haiti several years ago. But when he learned that his co-star, Morley Safer, was planning an update a few weeks ago, Wallace protested to his colleague and the story was dropped.

In a 1972 edition of "60 Minutes" Wallace treaded fearlessly on the toes of the late Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier, and his son Jean-Claude "Baby Doc" Duvalier, who became his successor. There were some "unlovely facts" that needed reporting, Wallace said. And he went on to report them. He used words like "savagery" and "bloody" to describe life under the Duvaliers.

Then, a few weeks ago, Safer prepared a prospectus for a new report on Haiti. He planned to go to Haiti himself to film the show. Wallace learned of his colleague's proposal and implored Safer not to do the show.

As Wallace remembers the incident, his wife had told him: "I beg you, don't do one on Haiti. Because of my family. You have the rest of the world. Lay off Haiti." He said his wife's relatives were subjected to "pressure" from the Haitian government after his 1972 show. "I can't ask you not to," Wallace said he told Safer, "but the family asked me not to." He said Safer replied, "No contest. Forget it." Wallace told my associate Les Whitten that the family problem was "the sole reason" for his appeal to Safer.

Safer would not comment, but it is understood he felt he had been "leaned on very hard" and had been "put in a difficult position" by Wallace. Safer also told friends that Wallace seemed concerned about his wife's family's business interests and his own liking for Haiti vacations, saying "I would never be able to go back" if the show were done. There the matter stands. The proposed expose of Baby Doc's Haiti is in limbo. CBS network officials are keeping hands off, but would be willing to run such a report if "60 Minutes" schedules it. Safer is reportedly pondering whether to let the sleeping dog lie, or revive it despite Wallace's objection.

CHARLEY REESE

'Conspiracy' theory fails because facts don't add up

I don't believe in the conspiracy theory. I think it is wrong and furthermore it has the negative effect of breeding a defeatist attitude.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Trilateral Commission, a Council on Foreign Relations, and an Eastern Establishment and, yes, they are run by the monied class and, yes, they have tended to dominate American foreign policy for most of this century.

But that is not to say that the events of the last 81 years have all been planned and programmed to bring about a desired result. The trouble with the conspiracy theory — that the world is run by big bankers who use communists in order to bring about a world government which they will control — is that it is too neat.

Years ago when I was on the court beat an old Southern judge used to charge a jury in circumstantial murder cases this way: "To find the defendant guilty, you must find that all of the circumstances are consistent with guilt — and inconsistent with any other reasonable explanation."

It is against this rule that the conspiracy theory falls apart. Most of the facts on which it is built are correct, but what the conspiracy buff does is assume motives and connections which the facts do not support. To put it another way, the facts are often taken out of context.

A good example is the support given by some Wall Street investment bankers to Trotsky and other Russian revolutionaries. This fact, which is correct, is often presented as a startling revelation. You see, the conspiracy buff says, the Russian Revolution was really a creation of Wall Street!

All you have to do to understand this misinterpretation is take a little trip in your mental time machine and look at the fact in the context of the times.

Czarist Russia was at the time the most viciously anti-semitic nation on the globe. It was also at war with Germany. Furthermore, communism was at that time existing only in theory and in theory it looked very benign and idealistic.

Not all Wall Street bankers supported Trotsky. The support came principally from the Warburg family who were: (1) Jewish and (2) German. There's nothing surprising about a wealthy German Jew supplying financial help to an idealistic Russian who promised to overthrow a hated anti-semitic regime and take the country out of the war against the banker's home country. Conspiracy buffs usually neglect to mention that while the Warburgs in New York were helping Trotsky, the German Imperial Government was packing Lenin onto a train with a sack full of money and sending him to Russia for the same reasons.

In other words, the men of those days were not planning the creation of a Soviet state to harass Americans ten generations later. They were doing just what we do, taking actions to accomplish short-term political goals that were burning issues in their day.

They were viewing the world through their eyes from their standpoint of background and knowledge and like us, they were not looking too far into the future. When the U.S. overthrew one Iranian government and re-installed the Shah in the early 1950s, it did so to accomplish one short-range goal: get rid of a government it viewed as not in our national interests. Nobody in the early 1950s was plotting the future of the 1970s and 1980s.

It is simply unfair to look at the people of the past and judge them by hindsight. Every human being does what he does within the context of his own times based on the knowledge he has at the time.

In hindsight, we can see many mistakes, but if we put ourselves in the places of those people and if we are fair, we would be forced to admit that quite probably we might have done the same thing. It is all well and good to say Franklin Roosevelt should never have aligned us with the Soviet Union in World War II — now, but what American politician in 1941, facing a victorious German Army, would have spurned the help of the Russians? The Red Army killed three million Germans. If the American Army had had to kill those three million German soldiers, the outcome of World War II would certainly have been different.

Unless we are prepared to proclaim our omniscience and clairvoyance, we should be careful about assigning evil motives to the actions of previous generations.

MARK RUSSELL SAYS

Who else but our president and genial host could stand before Congress unfolding a tale of misery and desperation — while being affable at the same time?

We have nothing to fear — and darned if it isn't fear itself.

The Democrats are accusing the Republicans of oversimplifying their economic goals. Actually, both parties are pretending that they understand what somebody means when he talks about the contra-Keynesian supply-side Kemp-Roth Reaganomics Laffer Curve concept.

The only one who understood it was Roth, an unknown senator who learned it from Laffer, a guy who scribbles diagrams on napkins. Laffer drew his curve for Jack Kemp who looked at it and said, "I get it — the quarterback fakes to the wide receiver."

Kemp explained it to Reagan who then explained it to us. At the end of the speech, the Republicans gave a big round of applause to the napkin.

INSIDE REPORT:

Reagan's asserting new, hard-line policy in Caribbean

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — After getting word from a top adviser that "El Salvador was arranged in Moscow with the Cubans in a starring role," President Reagan made his first national security decision: Naval force will be used to prevent Cuban subversion from overthrowing the governments of its neighbors.

The Cuban quarantine, though not yet precisely spelled out, amounts to a decision that Fidel Castro can no longer supply and finance insurgency in El Salvador and elsewhere. It remains to be seen whether U.S. sea and air power would be called upon to stop boatloads of munitions. But Reagan is determined that El Salvador will not become a Marxist state as a result of intervention from Havana.

Encouraging Reagan to take this new hard line are confidential signals from Moscow that the Soviet Union will not help Castro if he gets himself in trouble with the U.S. in the Caribbean. What's more, there is evidence that Castro himself is beginning to squirm as a newly-aroused U.S. brandishes a new Caribbean doctrine warning Cuba through the press and trusted intermediaries that the easy days of American entreaties to "please behave" are over.

The evidence suggests internal security problems within Cuba. Castro is known to have summoned about 1,000 crack Cuban soldiers back home from Ethiopia without replacing them. That is unusual enough to have been brought up at a recent National Security Council (NSC) meeting.

Evans

The first operation of the new policy came into play when the U.S. sent word to Castro not to unleash another illegal torrent of immigrants, criminals or otherwise, to the shores of Florida. If he does, Castro was informed, it will be taken by the U.S. as an "act of war."

U.S. diplomats see the imprint of that warning on Castro's hard-nosed handling of would-be immigrants who seized the Ecuadorian Embassy in Havana. Castro's line to the occupiers, who are bargaining for export visas: Give up, or I will take you by force.

The State Department is also demanding a commitment from Castro to take back hundreds of criminals and other undesirable Cubans whom he encouraged to emigrate to the U.S. last year. Reagan intends to enforce that demand, insiders confide, adding that if Castro continues to refuse he will be punished.

At home on his sun-drenched island, Castro's economic problems are mounting. Almost all consumer commodities are rationed, with no improvements in the offing. But Reagan's decision to get tough with Castro has no connection with his domestic tribulations. It is aimed at insulating El Salvador and future Castro targets in Latin America from Cuban arms and agents.

Secretary of State Alexander Haig has been telling senators and foreign diplomats in confidential briefings that not only is Cuba the preferred springboard for tons of Soviet (mixed with captured American) weapons; he adds that Cuba has also been giving special training to Salvadorian guerrillas on the Isle of Pines off Cuba's eastern coast.

The NSC concentrated on the Cuban-Caribbean crisis at several of its early Reagan administration sessions. The president pressed two points: First, despite new Soviet superiority in both strategic and conventional arms, the U.S. has to make a public stand somewhere to show both friends and adversaries that American policy really has changed; second, the Caribbean offers the best of all targets.

What the president wanted was widely-publicized selection of a "target" area where the U.S. holds a "clear advantage," and where there was an unambiguous threat. The drawback to this had to be accepted: It would let the Soviets off the hook. That is regrettable in light of the fact that Moscow is known to have cooked up the El Salvador intervention, to have helped find the arms which went to Cuba and then to the anti-government guerrillas and to be using the Cubans and Nicaraguans as its surrogates for troublemaking in Uncle Sam's backyard.

But Reagan's hard line in the Caribbean, a restatement in milder form of the once-treasured Monroe Doctrine, is a judicious first step toward restoring U.S. credibility. At the least it raises the curtain on a very different Caribbean stage than has been viewed from the Kremlin the past four years.

In a recent column, an error in transmission had President Reagan and Rep. Jack Kemp talking over the telephone for 50 minutes; it should have been 15 minutes.

Labor leader testifies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the International Longshoremen's Association, Thomas W. "Teddy" Gleason, swore to a Senate subcommittee today that neither he nor his union has fallen into the hands of organized crime.

The ILA's accusers "have misrepresented the facts, have misled the Congress, and have slandered both the International Longshoremen's Association, myself and the entire shipping industry," the 80-year-old union chief asserted.

"Since some of these tall tales are directed against me, I naturally feel a personal hurt," he continued. "I welcome the opportunity to set the record straight."

Gleason was subpoenaed to testify before the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee on the final day of a series of hearings exploring East Coast waterfront racketeering.

He was to read a written statement submitted to the committee in advance of today's session. A copy was obtained by The Associated Press.

Before Gleason's scheduled testimony, a parade of other witnesses appeared and all refused to answer questions.

Dallas newsman to speak

Dallas television newscaster Michael Brown will appear at the National Engineers Week Banquet and awards ceremony at the Inn of the Golden West in Odessa Saturday.

Sponsored by the Permian Basin Chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, the dinner begins with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and dinner is served at 7:30 p.m. Awards for the Engineer of the Year, Young Engineer of the Year and certain scholarships will be presented at the banquet.

Brown, a native of Hugo, Okla., and a graduate of Oklahoma State University, is a 10-year veteran of television, having worked as a newscaster, reporter and talk show host. Having interviewed more than 5,000 people on television, Brown speaks to groups all over the country on behind-the-scenes television happenings and patriotic addresses. He previously wrote an essay entitled "What is an American?" which has won a national award from the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

Other groups participating in this year's banquet will be the Permian Basin Section and the Trans Pecos Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of A.I.M.E., the Permian Basin Section of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, and the West Texas Branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Last year's winner of the Engineer of the Year Award, begun in 1954, was Ray Finch.

Trinity students take awards

Several Trinity School French students won awards in the eighth annual Foreign Language Quaternion held recently at Odessa High School.

More than 300 students from 16 schools in West Texas competed in French, Spanish, German and Latin.

All seven French students placed first in at least one of the two events entered. Trinity was the only junior high competing in high school French, winning a first place trophy, nine first place ribbons, three second place ribbons and one third place ribbon.

In high school, French level I, Trinity winners were sixth grader Amy Black, first place, Dictation I; seventh graders Burton Baldrige, first place, Skit I, and second place, Culture and Civilization; Sharon Graham, first place, Vocabulary I, and second place, Dictation I; and Millard Kimery, first place (tie), Poetry I, and first place, Skit I.

Eighth grade winners were Dean Preston, first place, Sightreading I, and first place, Skit I; Laura Renick, first place (tie), Prepared Speech I, and second place, Vocabulary I; and Holly Williams, first place (tie), Poetry I and third place (tie), Translation I.

The Trinity students were accompanied by Marjorie Kozak, upper school French instructor. Mrs. Kozak is chairman of the department of foreign language at Trinity.

Singer, pianist performing

The First Christian Church is holding the first of a three-part concert series at 8 p.m. today.

The recital will be in the church sanctuary, 1301 W. Louisiana St. It features mezzo-soprano Sue Arnold with Darryl Knapp as accompanist.

Mrs. Arnold, a former soloist with Robert Shaw, has performed under the direction of Leonard Bernstein, Aaron Copland and Pierre Boulez. The concert will feature oratorio arias, spirituals and Appalachian folk songs.

A special workshop will be conducted by Ms. Arnold from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday at the church. The workshop fee is $5.

Knapp is the organist and choirmaster at First Christian. The public is invited to attend. Ticket donation is $3 and may be purchased at the door.

The second concert will feature the Jamestown University Chorale, directed by Richard Harrison Smith, on March 19 with the Palm Sunday concert featuring the Chapel Choir on April 12.

Democrats choose new chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Los Angeles lawyer Charles T. Manatt took over as Democratic national chairman today, pledging to bring the party back "to its senses" and overcome Democrats' embarrassing 1980 election losses.

New York committeeman Joseph Crangle, the only other remaining contender for the job, withdrew on the eve of the vote to give Manatt election by acclamation in a show of party unity.

Manatt, chosen at the first post-election meeting of the Democratic National Committee, warned that Democrats must struggle to overcome last year's Republican gains that saw Ronald Reagan elected as president and a GOP takeover of the Senate.

"We have been out-conceptualized, out-organized, out-televized, out-coordinated, out-financed and out-worked," Manatt said in his acceptance speech.

"So what are we going to do?" Manatt asked. "We are going to bring the greatest party in the history of the country to its senses — to recapture the initiative in ideas and organization and planning."

"We are going to set aside ego, turf and private personal demands that divide us from our common grounds and common dedication," Manatt said. "We are going to renew this party from top to bottom for the challenges of the 1980s and the 1990s."

Manatt, the party's chief fund-raiser for the past two years, succeeded John C. White, who was hand-picked for the post by former President Jimmy Carter in 1978. White did not seek re-election. Manatt pledged to pick up the pieces from last year's defeats and rebuild a winning coalition. "Let's do it together," he implored.

Under new rules adopted Thursday, the party will have three vice chairmen.

One of them is expected to be Mayor Richard G. Hatcher, of Gary, Ind., who won endorsement of the party's black caucus.

Hatcher, current chairman of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, defeated party Vice Chairman Coleman Young in a narrow caucus vote. Young, mayor of Detroit and a strong backer of Carter, then withdrew as a candidate for re-election to the party office.

The second vice chairmanship is considered an Hispanic post and was expected to go to Polly Baca Barrigan, a Colorado state senator.

The third vice chairmanship, the preserve of Democratic women, was being fought over by Iowa national committee member Lynn Cutler and Pennsylvania committeewoman Dotty Zug.

The new rule requires that two of the top party officers be men and the other two be women. The other racial and ethnic allocations are unofficial but traditionally honored.

Unopposed for party treasurer was Kansas City businessman Charles E. Curry, who had run briefly for chairman but withdrew in favor of Manatt.

ON THE ROAD

There were over 2,500 accidents in 1980

By SUE ALFORD
Traffic Safety Planning
Midland College

Everyday, Midlanders face hazards and emergencies on streets busy with cars, trucks, cabs, pedestrians and, now, buses. Through November of last year, over 2,500 unsuspecting Midland motorists didn't react in time to some emergency or hazard and had accidents.

We drivers have to be aware of potential accidents in order to exercise driving skills for avoiding accidents. Since one-third of all accidents occur at intersections, it is probably appropriate to discuss three points for safely approaching an intersection:

(1) Never assume the other driver will yield the right-of-way; when in doubt, slow down and tap your horn;

(2) Before going through an intersection, whether you have the right-of-way or not, look first left, then right, then left again;

(3) Make a serious check of traffic at your "decision point" ... the point at which you must decide whether to stop or proceed on through the intersection. At 30 mph, your "decision point" is 90 feet from the intersection, or about the length of one and one-half front yards on a residential street.

On streets in a commercial area, we've all got to remember that hidden intersections exist throughout in the form of parking lot entrances/exits and loading zones. These "intersections" make it especially important we're on our toes because of essence each point we pass on such a street is a "decision point."

As common sense on these pointers may seem, they are not followed by most drivers and, yet, they should be. These pointers can allow us to detect potential problems and then react with all our driving skills to avoid being that very common intersection accident statistic.

A specific skill I'd like to share is: Don't turn your wheels before you actually start to negotiate a turn at an intersection because if you are struck from the rear and your wheels are turned, you'll be knocked into the path of on-coming traffic or pedestrians.

JUST FOR THE FUN: Question — what's a toroidal shaped flexible membrane pressure vessel composed of long-chain macromolecules?

Answer — a tire!

TRAFFIC TIPS: Midkiff, from Illinois to Storey ... If not already open, should be open any day.

Midkiff, from Andrews Highway to Golf Course ... will close the day the Illinois/Storey section opens. No time table yet for rebuilding this stretch.

Garfield Ditch ... work still progressing well. As you detour through Midland College keep in mind the barricades at Chapparral Center are up to guide traffic along the safest route. As of last week, we taxpayers had lost over $2,000 in smashed barricades, cones and signs to people who thought these guides were really targets!

BELIEVE IT OR NOT: Drivers of red cars have more accidents than drivers of any other color car. A recent study suggests the reason may lie in common personality traits shared by people who drive red cars — carefree spirit, slightly more risky and reckless.

Dunaway to convert to Catholic

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Faye Dunaway is taking instruction in Catholicism so she can convert before marrying photographer Terry O'Neill, the father of her child, the New York Daily News reports.

Miss Dunaway gave birth to a son last year and plans to marry O'Neill, a Catholic, in June, the newspaper said Tuesday.

O'Neill's long-delayed divorce has just become final, the newspaper said.

"Faye has always wanted a baby," said a spokesman for the actress, who is currently filming "Mommie Dearest" and starred this week in a TV movie as Eva Peron.

"They're very happy, and she's glow," the spokesman said. The baby, named Liam, is "adorable."

If The Human Body Was Straight Up And Down Like A Pencil . .

THEN YOU COULD sleep on the flat surface of a conventional box spring and mattress, and every inch of your body would have equal support.

BUT THE FACT IS — there is not a straight bone in the Human Body, and the small of your back (spine) gets virtually no support. What results is PRESSURE POINTS: cutting off blood circulation, tossing and turning, numbness in arms and legs, lower and upper back soreness.

A SHALLOW WATERBED™ conforms equally firmly to every inch of your body eliminating PRESSURE POINTS, and symptoms common with sleeping on a box spring. The results: A deep rejuvenating sleep.

Pope 'mushes' in Alaskan snow

By RICK GLADSTONE
Associated Press Writer

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A beaming, rosy-cheeked Pope John Paul II forgot the exhaustion of a 12-day Asian tour long enough to kiss babies and drive a dog sled — behind a husky named Satan — in a 4½-hour stopover in the land of the midnight sun.

Roughly one-tenth of Alaska's population turned out in near-freezing temperatures Thursday to cheer the pontiff during a whirlwind trip from airport to cathedral to Delaney Park and back to the airport again.

There were greetings from dignitaries, secular and ecclesiastic. Between stops, Eskimos performed traditional songs, dances and a blanket toss. Costumed Polish-Americans waved hundreds of red and white balloons and a sign that read, "Sto Lat," or "long life."

Skydivers formed an airborne cross above an outdoor altar. And apartment dwellers draped a hand-painted banner on their balcony reading "Howdy JPII. Welcome to Anchorage."

The visit ended with the 60-year-old pontiff taking the reins of a dogsled pulled by nine huskies for a 30-second ride to the steps of his plane. His passenger during the ride along the snowless runway apron was 76-year-old Norman Vaughan, a veteran dog musher who accompanied Adm. Richard Byrd on his Antarctic expedition in 1928-29.

"This was great," said the pope with a broad grin before boarding a Japan Air Lines DC-8 for a 9½-hour flight to Rome.

Arriving at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci Airport at 6:05 a.m. EST today, John Paul said he does not consider the Vatican's diplomatic relations with China broken. "The Holy See never broke relations with China. China just expelled our apostolic representatives."

HE MADE THE statement when he was asked if he would consider severing diplomatic ties with Taiwan to normalize relations with Peking. He had spoke of rapprochement with China several times during his trip.

When John Paul first stepped from his plane into the 30-degree air, welcoming Eskimos draped him in a traditional knee-length parka lined and trimmed with hare and wolverine fur.

The first papal visit in Alaska's history began with airport greetings from 500 people, including Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan, as President Reagan's representative. Cardinals John Cody of Chicago, John Krol of Philadelphia and Humberto Medeiros of Boston represented America's Catholic leadership.

As the pope's motorcade headed for downtown Anchorage, the only dissident voices were from groups of feminists, waving placards that read "Jesus was a feminist" and "Sexism is a sin — repent."

At Holy Family Cathedral in downtown Anchorage, John Paul held an ecumenical prayer service with Alaska's clergy and visited with 125 handicapped people, many of them elderly and confined to wheelchairs. "You are very near to us, very near to me in Christ," he told them.

Outside the cathedral, like a politician on the hustings, he headed to the waiting crowds for close-up greetings, from handshakes to hugs.

Later, 40,000 to 50,000 people — more than the total number of Catholics in the state — jammed downtown Delaney Park for a 90-minute outdoor Mass.

John Paul rode through the crowds to the temporary altar in a converted pickup truck dubbed the "popobile," fitted with a protective plexiglass cubicle, carpeting and space heaters.

"Here native Alaskans — Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians — join people from all parts of the United States to form one ecclesial community," the pope said in his homily.

WITH THE SNOWY Chugach Mountains serving as a backdrop for the outdoor congregation, the pope said Alaska's rugged natural splendor demonstrates "the presence of God's spirit in the manifold work of creation."

He distributed communion to 100 people selected from parishes throughout the state.

His visit was a marked contrast to previous stops in Pakistan and the Philippines, Guam and Japan, where he confronted such issues as nuclear disarmament and human rights.

"It has been a joy to spend these few hours in your midst, to meet the people of Alaska and above all to celebrate the Eucharist with my brothers and sisters of the Catholic faith," the pope said in his farewell remarks.

Rare letters stolen

FARMINGTON, Conn. (AP) — A letter from Thomas Jefferson to George Washington was among five handwritten letters stolen from a private home here, police say.

None of the letters was dated, but Jefferson's letter was written when he was secretary of state and Washington was president, police said Thursday. Jefferson served as secretary of state from 1789 to 1793.

The five letters, stolen over the weekend, were valued at "well in excess of $10,000," Detective Paul Denio said.

Two of the letters were composed by Daniel Webster, and another was written by Benjamin Franklin while he was U.S. minister to France. Franklin served in that position from 1776 to 1785.

Denio said each Webster letter had an estimated value $3,000, while the remaining three letters had an undetermined value.

Daniel custody case set

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Vickie Daniel, widow of former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., has lost the battle to move the scene of the legal tussle over custody of her two youngest children.

After the Texas Supreme Court rejected a plea that the case be moved to Tyler, Mrs. Daniel and attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes made plans today for a Liberty courtroom appearance — Round 1 of the custody tug-of-war with Daniel's sister, Jean Daniel Murph.

Mrs. Murph, executor of her brother's estate, claims Mrs. Daniel is an unfit mother because of psychiatric problems and an uncertain future.

Mrs. Daniel, 33, is charged with the Jan. 19 shooting death of her husband. She has admitted the shooting, but claimed it was self defense.

Haynes has asked State District

Judge W.G. "Dub" Woods to postpone the civil custody case until Mrs. Daniel's murder trial is over. He also filed a motion Wednesday to have the report of a psychiatrist's examination of Mrs. Daniel permanently sealed.

Meanwhile, Daniel's father, former Gov. Price Daniel Sr., lashed out at Haynes' implications — made in a Monday court hearing — that his son used marijuana, preferred the company of young boys and had "compelled" Mrs. Daniel to have an abortion.

Mrs. Murph denied any knowledge of such information and the elder Daniel accused Haynes of "smear tactics and repeating untruths."

"As the father of a son who was killed by his wife and the grandfather of two boys, I think this custody case should be tried in court instead of the newspapers," said the former Texas governor.

Reagan ignores Israeli fears

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is notifying Congress it intends to go ahead with a controversial sale of F-15 jet-fighter gear to Saudi Arabia, despite opponents' fears of increasing the Arab threat to Israel.

To offset those fears, Israel is to get $600 million in credit to buy an additional 10 F-15 jets. House and Senate committees were told in closed briefings Thursday.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, predicted the Senate will approve the sale "when all the evidence is heard."

Approval of either house of Congress is enough to clear such arms sales. They can be blocked only if rejected by both the House and the Senate.

The stiffest opposition to the Saudi deal came after the briefing to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, where members said they were told Sidewinder missiles and long-range fuel tanks are to be sold for the Saudi jets. Sale of bomb racks for the planes remains in doubt, members said.

"What we're doing is increasing the scale of the balance of military terror in the area," said Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., an outspoken supporter of Israel.

He said the equipment would increase the Saudi planes' operational range 40 percent to 60 percent.

"We're seeing the exact same scenario that we saw in Iran — dumping a vast amount of highly sophisticated American equipment into an area where the stability of the government is highly unpredictable," Rosenthal said. He asserted that nearly all members of the House committee had reservations about the sale.

Reaction from the Senate Foreign Relations

Committee, however, was milder.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., said the Senate committee's Democrats are concerned about increasing the Saudi jets' potency "even though we recognize the new dimension presented with the Iran problem and Soviet Union."

A six-year old Amarillo girl, her mother and a man fleeing police were killed Thursday morning ending a wild chase that at one time involved 10 police cars. The mother and her child were thrown from their car upon impact. (AP Laserphoto)

Chase ends in tragedy

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A high speed chase ended in death for a woman, her young daughter and the driver of a stolen car that raced through a red light at an Amarillo intersection and slammed into three cars.

Jeanie Morris, 32, of Amarillo and her daughter Teresa, 4, were pronounced dead at the scene Thursday. Both had been thrown from a car hit broadside by a stolen vehicle driven by Kennard Harris of Palestine, said police spokesman Stan Kruljack. Harris died en route to a Amarillo hospital, Kruljack said.

The chase began when officers spotted a Thunderbird which had been reported stolen earlier Thursday.

Kruljack said several police cars pursued the Thunderbird which raced through downtown Amarillo at speeds exceeding 70 mph.

The chase ended when the stolen vehicle hit the Morris car, careened into two parked cars and hit a utility pole, Kruljack said.

He said the stolen vehicle was "pulling away" from police at the time of the collision and that officers "were within department policy" concerning such pursuits when the accident occurred. No police officer was injured in the chase.

Lennon's estate leaves $5.5 million

LONDON (AP) — John Lennon, the ex-Beatle shot dead outside his New York apartment Dec. 8, left an estate in England and Wales valued at $5.5 million, according to his will published today.

In the will, dated Nov. 12, 1979, Lennon left half his estate to his wife, Yoko Ono, and the remainder to be held in a trust fund. Details of the trust fund were not disclosed, but Lennon's 18-year-old son Julian by his first wife, Cynthia, was believed to be the main beneficiary of the rock star's British estate.

Probate has been granted to Yoko Ono, 47, who still lives in Lennon's home in Manhattan.

The will stipulated that if any beneficiary petitioned to increase their portions of the estate they "shall receive nothing whatsoever."

Lennon's British estate is only a small fraction of the fortune. Estimates have put it at $275 million, most of it abroad.

However, Lennon's U.S. will, published last December, valued his American estate at $30 million.

The Lennon fortune is believed to swell by $220,000 a day from record royalties amid a boom in Lennon's solo records and old Beatles' albums following his murder.

These sales were expected to mushroom when Lennon's last album, which he was recording at the time he was slain, is released in the spring.

Boone to be host

Singing star Pat Boone will host the 1981 National Easter Seal Telethon to be broadcast locally March 28-29 on KOSA-TV, channel 7. In its tenth year, the telethon has raised more than $52 million for Easter Seal services for disabled people. Along with Boone, composer/pianist Marvin Hamlisch will appear on the telethon as host in New York.

Country singer Con Hunley will be performing at Chaparral Center Sunday at 8 p.m. He is the backup entertainer for The Oak Ridge Boys who will also perform that night. Hunley's most recent hit is "Don't It Break Your Heart." Tickets priced at $7.50 and $8.50, depending on the seat, may be purchased at the door.

Diana Ross, who has limited most of her career to personal appearances and recordings, says she enjoys the role of producer because it allows her "to get inside the show and be a part of the creative process." (AP Laserphoto)

Ross producing new TV special

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Funny, she doesn't look like an executive producer. You don't often find executive producers sleekly dressed in leather and silk, with long black hair pulled tightly against the head.

But there was Diana Ross convincingly portraying an executive producer as she watched producer-director Steve Binder cut snippets before a computer-editing console in a darkened room of a tape processing plant in deepest Burbank.

During the lunch break Ross repaired to another editing room and talked about her new duties:

"This is the first time I've been executive producer for a television special. I did it for my show on HBO (Home Box Office, pay-TV), but that was just a matter of putting a concert on tape.

"This show is different. We started out with a concert at the Forum (in nearby Inglewood), where I did some numbers and introduced the guests: Michael Jackson, Quincy Jones and Larry Hagman. Their numbers were done in a studio, and they'll be integrated into the show.

Alcoholism a disease

DETROIT (AP).—Former first lady Betty Ford, who underwent treatment for alcoholism nearly four years ago, says alcoholism is "not a lack of willpower or moral fiber," but a disease.

Mrs. Ford told the Economic Club of Detroit on Tuesday that many public figures become alcoholics because of public pressure.

Seay tells MC students to preserve way of life

By PATRICK DEAREN
Staff Writer

In praising the free enterprise system as a solution to many national problems, William H. Seay, chairman of Southwestern Life Insurance Company of Dallas, told some 75 students gathered Thursday at Midland College that "we must act in a manner and perform deeds that will preserve the American way of life before it's too late."

The remarks came during the keynote address at the second annual Free Enterprise Day, a symposium for selected high school and Midland College students.

Seay, who has served as president of the vast stock life insurance company since 1958, was adamant in his belief that capitalism — with its stress on competition and profit — is to be applauded rather than disdained.

He felt three basic reasons demand that he stress the private enterprise system.

"Number one, the many social responsibilities that business is engaged in...is dependent on our economic system — and that is dependent on profits," he said.

Secondly, he expressed fears that "our economic system is being eroded," while "attacks on profits and profit motives are never being defended."

Seay dismissed the concept that capitalism is inherently corrupt. "We practice capitalism and yet we're reluctant to preach it," he said. "There's no conflict between public welfare and making a profit."

"Profit motive and freedom go hand-in-hand. Without profit motive, some sort of (control) would be forced upon us."

The University of Texas graduate noted that basic misconceptions exist concerning private enterprise. "Most of us are fully knowledgeable about those things which we're opposed to, but not for things for which we stand, such as private enterprise."

he said. "Private enterprise is a total culture. Economics are only one part."

Seay believes that such a system is beneficial to everyone, in some capacity or another. "In the private enterprise system the individual is exalted...rather than the state," he noted. "And how important that is to your future, your freedom and your happiness."

A basic point which needs to be established concerning private enterprise, Seay added, is that a direct relationship exists between pay and productivity, between investment and reward.

"But through it all, profit must remain a basic goal, not the basic goal," he said. "Without profit, business organizations cannot survive, for (there is) a life-giving relationship between profits and business."

The Dallas native explained that without business being a profitable venture, such problems as ecology and social welfare "become purely speculative matters. But we have scoffed so much at profits that often (it is viewed) as immoral."

Seay addressed the intrinsic relationship that exists between a nation's business enterprise and its own welfare. "If government pursues policies good for the nation in general, it's good for business," he noted, adding that likewise effective business policies are beneficial to the government.

Seay expressed his belief that unnecessary government regulations are a hindrance to the growth of business, and thus adversely affect the nation as a whole. "It's not my purpose to ridicule the government," he said. "It's just that I oppose the assumption that you and I as Americans lack the basic judgment to make decisions concerning (items) for sale."

"There's no surer way to depreciate the ambition of a man than to remove all his thinking from him."

The answer, he told the group, lies in the private enterprise system, which he pinpointed as "the only solution."

"Profit motive and freedom go hand-in-hand. Without profit motive, some sort of (control) would be forced upon us." — William H. Seay

Woman hurt in mishap

Patricia F. Garner, 30, of 2407 Maxwell, was listed in critical condition this morning in Midland Memorial Hospital after sustaining injuries in an 11:18 p.m. Thursday traffic accident at the intersection of Garden City Highway and FM 715.

Ms. Garner was driver of an eastbound vehicle on Garden City Highway that was in collision with one operated by 21-year-old Paul E. Judd of Star Route B, who was traveling north on FM 715.

Police, Fire Roundup

Ms. Garner underwent surgery this morning for head, pelvis and arm injuries, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Judd was not injured in the crash, which knocked the Garner vehicle into a metal pole.

Midland Fire Department, meanwhile, battled an 8:20 p.m. fire Thursday at AC Drilling Specialties Inc. approximately 10 miles west of Midland on U.S. 80.

When firemen arrived, scrap lumber was ablaze, most probably as a result of a welder's torch, according to MFD reports. No monetary loss was sustained.

Lubbock newspaper employees wounded by shots from sniper

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Two employees of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal were wounded when a sniper opened fire on a home where a party was being held in this West Texas city late Thursday, police said.

Wounded were Bryce Cockerham Jr., 23, and Shannon Kennedy, 19, both employees of the newspaper's advertising department. Cockerham was shot twice in the back and Miss Kennedy was shot in the throat.

Cockerham was listed in serious condition at a Lubbock hospital early today and no condition report was immediately available on Miss Kennedy.

Officers said the two were among 16 persons attending a party at the home of Carl Cannon, the newspaper's advertising director when someone apparently fired two or more shots from a high-powered rifle through a picture window of the home. Officers said they believed the shots were fired from a passing car.

Police said Cockerham was seated on a couch with his back to the window and Miss Kennedy was seated across from him on a love seat at the time the sniper opened fire.

Officers were searching today for a late model luxury automobile sighted in the area of the Cannon home at the time of the shooting, but no arrests had been made by early today.

A police spokesman said no motive has been determined for the shooting, but said it apparently was not connected with earlier sniping incidents at Lubbock. Teddy Glyn Floyd, 36, was arrested and jailed in connection with four earlier sniping incidents at Lubbock.

Midland's labor force hiked, but so is unemployment rate

Midland's civilian labor force jumped past the 50,000 mark in January while the employment figure also climbed, according to a report from the Texas Employment Commission.

Although the unemployment figure of 4.9 percent was higher than the 4 percent in December 1980, the number of people working also increased to 48,710. This is a 1.5 percent increase over the December figure of 47,980 and 9.7 percent above the number a year ago of 44,410.

The 4.9 percent unemployment, however, is below the 5.4 percent recorded in January 1980, according to the TEC figures.

The state and national unemployment figures for January were 5.6 and 8.2 percent respectively.

The 51,240 persons eligible to work in the county is 2.5 percent higher than the December number of 49,980 and 9.2 percent above the January 1980 number of 46,940.

The number of people listed by the TEC as unemployed last month, 2,530, was the same amount as that a year ago. The number in December was lower with only 2,000 persons without jobs.

The TEC noted that wage and salary employment in Midland County rose to 43,790 persons in January. This is a 2 percent rise over the December figure and 9.3 percent higher than the January 1980 number of 40,080.

The manufacturing sector reported a 4 percent growth. Total non-manufacturing increased 9.8 percent with individual sectors reporting expansions as follows: mining, 15.7 percent; trade, 7.6 percent; finance-insurance-real estate, 13.8 percent; services, 18.7 percent; and government, 3.3 percent.

The TEC office noted that Midland continues to be one of the lowest areas in terms of unemployment in the state and nation.

It pointed out that "the labor force, total employment, nonagricultural jobs and unemployment statistics appearing in this release have been revised and are not comparable to prior estimates. The current estimates, utilizing the most recent data available, reflect a refinement of previously published estimates.

The Midland TEC office reported it is looking for applicants for jobs such as oil and gas bookkeeper, framing carpenter, bricklayer, collector, plumber, machine operator, security guard and machine shop hand.

Midland's office has been moved to the Triad Terrace Building at Midland Regional Airport. Telephone number is 563-2666.

Six bodies recovered

SUBIC NAVAL BASE, Philippines (AP) — Six bodies have been recovered from the South China Sea after the crash of a U.S. Air Force plane carrying 17 American servicemen and seven others from three allied countries.

The Navy said the only body identified so far was that of Tech. Sgt. Stephen A. Blyler, 32, of Cupertino, Calif. It said one American was rescued after the crash Thursday and he was in serious condition. The Navy identified him as 1st Lt. Jeffrey Blohm, 27, of Hamburg, N.Y.

The plane, a modified transport, went down shortly after taking off from Cubi Point Naval Air Station on Subic Bay.

...A barbeque dinner sponsored by the Rainbow girls here, some of whom are shown right, will be Saturday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. in Dellwood Mall.

Tickets are $3 a person and will include the barbeque beef brisket, cole slaw, red beans, bread and drink. Dessert of cake, pie or cookies is twenty-five cents extra.

Hosted by the Midland Assembly No. 193, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, the dinner will provide funds for members' expenses to Grand Assembly in Dallas this June.

Order of Rainbow is an organization for teenage girls from Masonic and Eastern Star homes, as well as friends of Rainbow members.

"The organization is a character building institution which stresses the giving of one's self," explained Susan Warfield, worthy associate advisor. "Besides fundraising projects, we also participate in charitable work and social activities," she said.

The organization is led by an advisory board selected by the sponsoring body, Chapter No. 23 of the Eastern Star order...

At both pageants, they have won a combined total of 39 first place trophies, nine second place awards and three third place awards. Together they hold titles of Miss Golden Spread, Miss Tri-State and Miss Sweetheart...

DEAR ABBY Monikers return to haunt her

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I can't remember names! When introducing friends, I panic and draw a total blank, and just want to crawl into a hole.

Could this be inherited? For years, whenever my closest friend visited me, my father would come to my room and say, "THAT GIRL is here." (He couldn't remember her name.)

Don't suggest the technique of association. My neighbor, Mrs. Glassey, whose name I associated with "glass-eye," I once called "Mrs. False Teeth."

I've even tried making up little rhymes to help me remember, like: "Maggie, Maggie, her pants are baggy." Or, "Mary, Mary, her lip is hairy."

Help! It's embarrassing! — GRACE IN FLORIDA

DEAR GRACE: Try this: When you are introduced to someone, if you didn't hear the name, ASK immediately. Then address the new acquaintance by name immediately after you've met. And keep using his name every time you speak to him. When you depart, use it again. When you see him again, if you have forgotten the name, don't agonize over it, simply say, "I'm sorry, what is your name?"

This failing is not hereditary, it's universal. And the reason one "forgets" a name is usually because he didn't hear it in the first place.

DEAR ABBY: I've been happily married to a man who was married before. That marriage lasted for 14 years. The problem concerns his mother, who insists on calling me by his first wife's name. Afterward, she is embarrassed and apologizes. I can understand how this could happen early in our marriage, but, Abby, we've been married for three years, and she's still doing it!

This gives me the feeling that she doesn't really recognize me as her son's wife, or perhaps she wishes he was still married to his first wife. I was told she was very close to wife No. 1, but hasn't seen her since the divorce.

I'm sure other second wives have had this problem, too. What's a good solution? — NO. 2 AND HANGING IN

MIDLAND SOCIETY OF PARLIAMENTARIANS

"Privileged Motions," was the program given by Mrs. W. H. Franz, professional registered parliamentarian, at the meeting of the Midland Society of Parliamentarians.

The meeting was held at Midland Woman's Club with Mrs. Paul Smyres as hostess.

The annual salad luncheon will be held will be at 12:30 p.m. April 12 at the home of Mrs. J. Harvey Herd, 806 Canonero. Mrs. Ben Johnson, professional registered parliamentarian, will give a program on a comparison of the 1980 edition of Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised, with the 1970 edition.

MIDKIFF EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB

Members of the Midkiff Extension Homemakers Club answered roll at their recent meeting with their favorite flower. The meeting was held at the home of Viola Holliman.

Final plans were made for the meal members will serve for the Elanco Chemical Co. at the Midkiff Community Center.

District Horticulturist Austin Stockton of Fort Stockton presented the program. He presented material and showed slides on planting and caring for roses.

MIDLAND OPTI-MRS. CLUB

A report was given on the Opti-Mrs. involved in the Optimist Clown Troop which performs at various places it was announced during a meeting of the Midland Opti-Mrs. Club held in the home of Mrs. Gary Hopper.

The clown troop has performed at Midland Park Mall, Midland Memorial Hospital and for Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Midland. Any proceeds from the program goes to the Midland Optimist Club.

A program was given by a representative of the Rape Crisis Center during the meeting. It was also announced plans are being made for a March 14 social. All Optimist and their wives are invited to attend the '50s sock hop and to bring friends. Music will be provided by a local deejay. Those planning to attend are asked to wear '50s dress.

DEAR NO. 2: Accept it as a 14-year habit that is hard to break, and try not to read anything negative or unkind into it.

DEAR ABBY: I am practically a hermit at the age of 32 because of underarm wetness (perspiration). I have tried every anti-perspirant advertised, but nothing has helped. I'm not complaining about odor; it's the wetness that drives me crazy.

Please, Dear Abby, can you give me some hope? I am so embarrassed. I'll do anything! — BRITISH COLUMBIAN

DEAR B. C.N.: See an endocrinologist about your overactive sweat glands. And inquire about the new surgical procedure that prevents excessive underarm sweating. Don't give up. Not all can be helped, but many can.

Electric drill a useful tool

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The portable electric drill has long been considered the most useful of the power tools that make household projects easier and more enjoyable.

With its bit-holding ability and wide assortment of accessories, it has been the real workhorse of the real-tool field, but only within reach of its electric cord and, sometimes, an extension cord. In recent years, cordless drills have come into their own, since they can be utilized in hard-to-reach places far from any electrical outlet.

Although I have been using electric drills for many years, I had an opportunity for the first time, at a tool-testing center recently, to try my hand with one of the cordless types. It was in the heavy-duty category, yet weighed only 2.3 pounds and was easy to handle. As I used it, I thought of the dozens of times it would have come in handy when working in the yard or far from the house. I remembered, too, the times when I worked on a wooden boat at a dock where a dozen boat owners had to take turns at the two available electric outlets.

What should one look for when purchasing a cordless drill? I asked that question of Mike Naravage, consumer product manager for Skil Corp.

"There are certain features one should seek," he replied.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Mend sweaters with gray hair

DEAR HELOISE:

Last year, while taking out the hem in a new dress of angora and nylon, I accidentally clipped two tiny holes in the fabric.

My hair is a mixture of brown and gray and long enough to wear in a page-boy style. So, I pulled out a gray hair—it has to be gray unless it exactly matches the fabric—threaded a needle with the hair and sewed up the tiny holes.

Today, I mended a tiny hole in the front of an almost new, expensive sweater the same way. The gray hair served as invisible thread.

Imagine! "Home-grown" thread which can be used for certain kinds of mending!

I might add I didn't knot the hair, just ended at the same place I started and tied the two ends

Chimp learns sign language

By PATRICK CONNOLLY

Associated Press Writer ELLENSBURG, Wash. (AP)—Dr. Roger Fouts, a psychologist and resident doctor Doolittle at Central Washington University, says three chimpanzees who "talk" in elaborate sign language prove "humans aren't as special as we thought."

Humans no longer are the only animals who can use language, says Fouts, 37, an animal behaviorist. "Language was the last human uniqueness, but now we are finding chimpanzees are capable of language," he says.

The chimps "talk" to each other and to humans by using American Sign Language, the communication of the deaf, the researcher says.

They don't just make random gestures, but specific, well-defined, recognizable signs. Deaf people have been captivated by their precision.

Washoe, a 15-year-old chimp, knows 240 signs, and 8-year-old Moja knows 180, Fouts says.

Importantly, Washoe has taught her 3-year-old "adopted" son, Loulis, 18 signs without the intervention of humans, says Fouts.

Fouts says his research, currently funded by a $61,000 National Science Foundation grant, shows that an adult chimp can pass the new communication form on to its young, much the same as humans pass down culture through language.

A gorilla in California named Koko is said to have an 800-word sign vocabulary. But there are detractors, like Columbia University psychologist Herbert Terrace, who taught sign language to a chimp and concluded that almost all so-called responses are simply imitations or memorized repetitions of what the teacher is doing.

But Fouts says, "Chimpanzees are not lower forms of life. They are just different in degree of sophistication. It didn't take me long to see that Washoe was a person with her own feelings, motives, desires and opinions about things."

Fouts, standing near a chimp playroom decorated with a poster of movie personality Bonzo and co-star Ronald Reagan, adds, "The difference between Washoe and me is less than the difference between me and a 2-year-old human." He began working with Washoe 13 years ago at the University of Nevada. Two years ago, while Fouts was at the University of Oklahoma, Loulis and Moja joined his research troupe.

Fouts says, almost apologetically, "Washoe signs with a chimpanzee accent." For instance, the human sign for "baby" is a gentle rocking of arms in front of the body. But when Washoe rocks, it's a bit like she's pulling a stump out of hard ground.

Washoe has strung together nine signs, but usually chats in three-to-five-sign spurts, Fouts says.

Student volunteers monitor the chimps for four hours a day and record the manual chatter.

Washoe could learn more signs, but researchers aren't teaching her any now for fear of intruding on her tutoring of Loulis, Fouts says. Her mental capacity is unknown at this point, he says.

Mixed-breed dogs trained to hear for deaf masters

By PETE JACOBS
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When Mary Williams snapped off the living room light, opened the door and headed out for the evening, her dog, Melody, saved her from a wasted trip.

Melody nudged Mrs. Williams' leg and led her to a ringing telephone, where she heard a friend cancel the appointment she was on her way to keep.

Mrs. Williams, who hears through an amplified telephone, is profoundly deaf. So is her husband.

Melody, a 2-year-old Chihuahua mix, is one of several hundred mixed-breed dogs gaining distinction nationwide for providing cues for those with hearing impairments, says Ralph Dennard, who directs the Hearing Dog program for the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

SEVENTY DOGS HAVE been trained in San Francisco's program since 1978 to "announce" sounds around the home by making physical contact with their guardians and leading them to the source of the sound, Dennard said.

It may be the sound of a telephone, an alarm clock, a smoke detector, a knock at the door, a doorbell or a baby's cry.

And while hearing dogs are not specifically trained as guard dogs, they can be trained to signal that a prowler is afoot, a reaction that also comes naturally to some animals determined to protect their territory, said Dennard.

Although Melody was trained to meet the specific needs of the Williams, such as alerting them to a knock at the door or a ringing telephone, she often provides bonus service, Mrs. Williams said.

"She licked my face one night, woke me up and led me to the door. I didn't know what she was trying to tell me, but the next morning I found the hood of my car up. Someone had cut the cables and was trying to steal my battery. When I got up it scared them away.

"SHE'S A WONDERFUL dog," she said. "We treat her as you might treat a child, but it's a working arrangement, and she works enthusiastically for both of us."

Mrs. Williams, who lives in nearby San Leandro, said she thought Melody would be invaluable as a traveling companion, allowing her to know someone is knocking at her motel door, for instance. She has begun to experiment with taking Melody to public places and on public transportation.

Similar programs are sponsored by the American Humane Association in Englewood, Colo., where the program began in 1976 and in Henderson, Colo., where it is operated by Hearing Dogs Inc. Others are under way in Milwaukee and Boston.

About 35 states have laws allowing "hearing dogs" to accompany handlers in areas where dogs normally are not permitted, said Kris Winship of the Englewood program.

The dogs are selected for training from among animals abandoned at the SPCA, Dennard said. They must be healthy, intelligent and good-natured.

FEW OF THE dogs, ranging in age from 6 to 18 months, flunk the four-month program, which includes obedience training and voice-and-hand-signal training, Dennard said. The few who have failed had a better chance to be adopted because they had obedience training, he said.

Computer farming

NEW YORK (AP) — By 1990, owners of three-fourths of all mid-sized farms in the United States are expected to be using computers or programmable calculators in making management decisions, according to MIS Week, a management-systems weekly.

The same publication also predicts that by 1990 some 90 percent of all U.S. County Extension offices will have terminals providing instant access to data on market trends and prices.

More people carrying handguns for protection

By FRANK GREEN
Copley News Service

LOS ANGELES — Maria V., petite and mild-mannered, packs a handgun — illegally — and says that if it ever came down to a choice between being mugged and raped or shooting an assailant, she would shoot — to kill, if necessary.

Thelma B., a grandmotherly type in her early 70s, inherited her husband's pistol collection when he died six years ago. She decided last summer to start carrying one of those pistols in her purse when she leaves her house once a week to go to the market. "Too many hoodlums in this part of the woods," she explained.

Dennis I., a doctor, totes a pistol because he worries that "some hopehead might think that I had drugs or money here in the office and come in ready to get it."

Even Nancy Reagan, wife of the president, has admitted to carrying "a tiny little gun" for protection.

All of these people are part of a growing trend.

BY MOST ACCOUNTS, thousands of Americans — including secretaries, doctors, lawyers, teachers and businessmen — are arming themselves with handguns for protection.

Gun shops report increasing handgun sales. They report 25 to 35 percent of these sales are to women.

"It's a sign of the times, man," said a gun shop owner, who added that the bulk of his handgun clientele consists of "the average, everyday family type of person and a lot of little old ladies."

"These people are tired of being hit on and ripped off. They're to the point where they're ready to stand up for their rights, even if it means killing their attackers."

Obtaining any type of handgun in California — from a $75 Saturday night special to a $500 high-powered magnum — is fairly easy. Anyone of legal age without a felony criminal record or a history of serious mental problems is allowed to carry an unloaded handgun in plain sight without a permit.

TO CARRY A loaded, concealed handgun without a permit is a misdemeanor in California on the first offense and a felony on the second offense. (Handgun laws vary from state to state.)

"You know that a lot more people are walking around with guns in their purses or pockets than the police suspect," said a clerk at a gun store. "It's an epidemic," moaned one police officer. "You encounter people with guns on more and more calls now."

days." "I keep mine in my purse during the day and on my nightstand by my bed at night," said Maria V., casually handling her Smith and Wesson revolver as if it were nothing more lethal than a squirt gun.

"It gives me security that I never had before. I've been raped twice. I vowed that they wouldn't get me again."

MARIA, A SECRETARY at a medical clinic, was standing on a police pistol range taking her hour-long, twice-monthly target practice. After enduring her last attack she was advised by her psychiatrist to get a gun if it would make her feel better, a suggestion that at first made her squeamish.

"I've gotten used to it now," she said, firing her pistol at a target on the grassy range 100 yards away.

"At first, I could barely pick it up without squealing," said Maria. "I'd pick it up with two fingers at the handle. I was afraid it would go off. Now it has become kind of an extension of my right hand. Actually, in three years I've become something of a pretty good shot."

Maria, who does not have a permit to carry a concealed weapon, said she began regularly taking her gun to work with her last September.

"I'M DIVORCED AND live alone in a big house," she said. "When it started getting dark early at night, I figured I'd better start carrying the gun. Even with it, I still get the chills walking into the dark house at night."

She said she never tried to get a permit because she was afraid her application might be turned down.

"You need a good reason to carry a handgun," she said. "Protection might not be a good enough reason for the police. They might think a woman with a gun would do more harm than good. So I just never bothered."

Thelma B., a frail, gray-haired woman and grandmother to 10 children, advocates a gun in every house for every adult.

"That's the only way we're going to eliminate a lot of the scum taking advantage of people," she said in her small, two-bedroom home.

"They've knocked me down and taken my bag twice. This," she said, holding up a snub-nosed revolver, "is all there is between me and them. If I have to, I'll use it."

THELMA SAID her husband, who collected handguns for 50 years, taught her how to use a pistol after they got married.

"He took me up in the hills and I shot at cans and rocks," she recalled. "In those days, there was no need to walk around with a gun — there was nobody to hurt you. Things have changed now. All you hear on the radio anymore is about somebody killing somebody else."

"Well, I don't intend for them to get me. I've taken my share of bruises and I'm not going to take anymore."

Dr. Dennis I. is another gun carrier who has yet to get around to applying for a permit. He used to keep a gun in his desk drawer at his office. Now when he leaves his office, he tucks it under his belt and takes it with him.

"The neighborhood I work in has gotten increasingly dangerous over the years," he said, scanning the bleak urban landscape from his fourth floor office window. "A lot more drug-users and violent types walk the streets now. I've been accosted a few times on the way to my car. Some of these people are really like animals — it shows in their eyes. The only thing they'll respond to is this," he said, pulling out his 9-mm. pistol.

Dennis, a short, balding man in his early-50s, said he has yet to find cause to use his weapon, but is worried that he could become a target of drug addicts thinking he had drugs in the office.

LIKE MARIA V., he regularly visits the police pistol range.

"If it ever came down to a situation where I had to shoot someone, it would probably have to be at point-blank range," he said. "So practicing at the range isn't going to help me there."

"Generally, I take target practice just to keep familiar with the gun's feel. And I have to admit, it's kind of fun using it. Maybe viscerally, I'm taking my rage out on the targets instead of the people who have mugged me in the past."

Jack D., a bottled-water distributor, is another gun owner who readily admits to occasionally carrying his weapon without the required permit. He bought his gun — a $250 .35 caliber Browning automatic — originally to keep around the house. But lately, while on his route, he has felt the need to have it in his truck's glove compartment.

"I was finishing my work one afternoon last summer when a guy walked up to the truck and stuck a gun right through the window," he recalled. "It was a Friday and I'd just cashed my paycheck. He got the whole thing — every cent of it."

THE NEXT DAY, Jack took the gun to work with him. Now, he uses the police pistol range every weekend, along with his wife.

"I bought her her own gun, too, to keep around the house," he said. "We've had a couple of burglaries on our block and I want to make sure that if she encounters someone with a gun or even a prowler in the house, she knows how to react."

Jack said he plans to get a permit for the gun soon ("I'm a good citizen — I obey the law"), plus an umbrella insurance policy to cover every possible use of the weapon.

But for now, he has no qualms about carrying the gun. "If criminals know I'm carrying one, they'll think twice before they jump me. It's my feeling that good citizens should be allowed to protect themselves. Out there on the streets, it has become Wild West-time again.

Bus crash injures 63 in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Preliminary reports by police and the Municipal Railway differ sharply on the cause of the collision of a crowded city bus and a gravel truck, in which 63 people were injured.

Police blamed the Thursday morning accident on the speed of the bus, while the operators of the city transportation system blamed the driver of the truck, which was loaded with 23 tons of gravel.

The impact sent screaming passengers hurtling through the bus "like kids' dolls," according to one of the victims.

The most seriously injured person, Arturo Guevarra, 61, was paralyzed by the wreck and was at San Francisco General Hospital. Most of the other victims were reported to have suffered minor injuries.

Reed Jordan, head of the Muni claims department, said it appeared the truck was to blame because the driver, Jeff Hayes, turned left and hit the bus.

Police traffic officer Jerry Cassidy said in a report he estimated the bus was traveling "in excess of 35 miles an hour." He noted the speed limit at the accident site, 3rd and 16th streets, is 25 miles an hour.

Cassidy said he based his speed estimate on the damage to the bus and an interview with a passenger on the bus.

The bus driver, John McGee, 41, had been driving for Muni 18 days. He was hospitalized with suffered severe face cuts and a broken leg.

Witnesses said the bus crashed broadside into the truck, wrapping its front end around steel fittings between the gravel load and the diesel cab. Hayes, 25, was unhurt.

"The bus came out of the blue," said Hayes. "I didn't even see him. I was at a green light, slowed down, and was making the turn when for some reason I looked up and saw a bus. He was coming just like a train and plowed into me. He had to be coming fast."

Firemen held an unidentified injured passenger through a bus window after a packed Municipal Railway bus collided with a truck near downtown San Francisco. Up to 30 people were injured, four seriously. (AP Laserphoto)

Latest victim disappeared from same shopping center

ATLANTA (AP) — The latest victim on the list of 21 missing and slain Atlanta children was last seen at a shopping center where another child disappeared and knew at least two of the other black youngsters, officials and relatives say.

The latest victim, 16-year-old Patrick Rogers, disappeared Nov. 10, and his body was found Dec. 7 in the Chattahoochee River in Cobb County north of Atlanta. Medical examiners said he died from a blow to the head.

Cobb County authorities have been investigating the case, but Atlanta Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown announced Thursday that it was being turned over to the special 35-member task force investigating the other 18 slayings and two disappearances.

Rogers was last seen in southeast Atlanta at the Moreland Shopping Center, the same place where 9-year-old Aaron Jackson was last seen 10 days before Rogers disappeared. Jackson's body was found Nov. 2 on a riverbank in southwest Atlanta.

Stevie Rogers, a sister of the victim, said her brother knew two of the other 20 child victims, including 10-year-old Aaron Wyche, who lived on the same street as the Rogers.

And like at least 12 of the victims, Rogers earned money by doing odd jobs or running errands in the neighborhood, his sister said.

The boy's family has maintained since his disappearance that he was killed and dumped into the river because he knew no one in Cobb County and would have had no reason to go there on his own.

But until Thursday, his case had been kept separate from the ones being investigated by the special task force.

Brown said he assigned the Rogers case to the task force "after consultation with Cobb County Public Safety Director Robert Hightower."

The Atlanta Constitution reported in its editions today, however, that the assignment of the Rogers case to the task force was one outgrowth of a meeting Wednesday of top-ranking officials from law enforcement agencies throughout the metropolitan area.

The newspaper said the result of the meeting was a decision to give the task force the primary investigative authority for all cases of missing and slain children, regardless of the jurisdiction in which the bodies have been found.

Judge throws out plea bargain

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — A city councilman who agreed to plead guilty to a misdemeanor in exchange for dismissal of four felony charges may face the original charges again because of comments he made to reporters, officials say.

"You can't plead guilty, then turn around and profess innocence," U.S. Attorney William Shaheen said of John Upton, who had been charged with defrauding a federal job training program of about $1,800.

U.S. District Judge Shane Devine threw out the agreement Thursday after reviewing Upton's comments in radio and newspaper interviews following the Feb. 17 plea bargain.

Upton pleaded guilty to willfully misapplying the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act money, a misdemeanor. The plea involved the filing of time sheets for his CETA job.

Oak Ridge Boys attribute their success to 'longevity and stability' in group

By GEORGIA TEMPLE
Staff Writer

"She played tambourines with a silver jingle, and she must have known the words to at least a million tunes. But the one most requested by the man she knew as Cowboy was the late night benediction at the Ya'll Come Back Saloon."

— Sharon Vaughn recorded by The Oak Ridge Boys

Zero hour was 4:30 p.m. At 4:10 p.m., I walked into the office and immediately sensed something out of the ordinary. The city editor's mouth was upwardly stretched across his face and, behind his glasses, his eyes were grinning. In fact, he appeared to be glowing all over. Now, this is most definitely not his normal expression.

Before I had a chance to say anything, he said, "I just talked to one of the Oaks. He had a little free time and thought he'd see if he could do the interview early. Don't worry, he's calling back at 4:30 p.m."

Country and pop music lovers know that an oak is not a tree, but rather a member of the popular singing group The Oak Ridge Boys, who have had 12 hits in a row since the release of the song "The Ya'll Come Back Saloon."

The phone interview had been set up days in advance of their 8 p.m. Chaparral Center performance this Sunday. Tickets, whether purchased in advance or on the day of the concert, are priced at $7.50 and $8.50. They are available at area record stores or at Chaparral Center.

The group has been around much longer than most realize because for many years they were strictly gospel singers.

Their crossover to the contemporary country field has resulted in songs that are popular on the pop as well as country charts. And they have experienced a phenomenal rise in popularity since the recording of "The Ya'll Come Back Saloon" and are now holders of five gold albums.

Members of the group include bass singer Richard Sterban of New Jersey, tenor Joe Bonsall of Philadelphia, Penn., lead singer Duane Allen of Paris, Texas, and baritone William Lee Golden of Brewton, Ala. Their producer, whom they credit as being responsible for much of their success, is Ron Chancey.

Sterban's call was right on time. His voice was pleasant and friendly. He explained that he did most of the phoning (telephone interviews) because he likes to talk. He attributes the Oaks' success to "longevity and stability in our group."

Golden is the oldest Oak in terms of longevity and age. He has been an Oak for 17 years and is the only single member. Allen has been a member for 16 years. The shortest tenure with the group is eight years for Bonsall. Sterban is a nine-year veteran.

"The real reason we crossed over was because we simply wanted to expand our outreach. We were singing to a small market of people, and although they were very loyal, we needed to reach a mass cross section of the population."

"We took what we were doing and expanded on it. Now that we are in country music," Sterban said, "we still all believe like we did when we were in gospel. It's possible to be religious and hold down a secular job."

Today, the Oaks are "not concerned if the song is country, gospel or popular. The song has to be a good song before we will do it."

For "two or three years after crossing over from gospel, we were floundering, looking for a direction."

Then in the spring of 1977, the Oaks found Sharon Vaughn. Her song, which they recorded, was "the song that made people sit up and take notice."

Thus the "Ya'll Come Back Saloon" was the "turning point in our career."

A few years ago success "seemed a dream." Today it "feels great. It's almost mind boggling."

"We're doing exactly what we'd like to do. It's great to be able to say we enjoy what we are doing for a living."

"People do treat you differently," Sterban said, remembering when the Oaks used to have to "beg radio stations to play their records. We were often the best kept secret in town when we came to town."

Now "it's hard for the four of us to go any place together. We stay to ourselves more."

Although it can "get old, wanting to have some privacy and some peace, it's a good problem to have."

Sterban said he realizes that "the fans are the ones that make success possible." Records and television have played a large role in spreading the Oaks' popularity and familiarity with audiences, but group members feel their stage shows are "one of the real keys to their success and longevity."

As Sterban explained, "Some entertainers never really have a tour to back up their hits. We spend a lot of money on our shows. When an audience comes to see the Oak Ridge Boys, they get their money's worth."

The show includes quality sound and lighting. The group also uses smoke machines. The program is "family oriented with no profanity because we want parents to feel free to bring their children. Yet, it is slick and sophisticated." Sterban, who used to be part of the vocal backup for Elvis Presley and was in the last movie ("Elvis on Tour") Elvis made, said the reason he went with the Oaks was because he believed in the group's "future and potential." And, so far, he hasn't been wrong.

Ten arrested during public demonstration

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A confrontation between police and a Roman Catholic priest outside a courtroom led to the arrests of 10 people during a demonstration on behalf of eight anti-nuclear activists, officials say.

Police Chief William Bambi said the incident Thursday began when a policeman told the Rev. Michael Doyle of Camden, N.J., and Sister Anne Boniface of Philadelphia to stop blocking the sidewalk in front of the courthouse when the eight defendants, including Philip and the Rev. Daniel Berrigan, are on trial.

Bambi said they were arrested when they didn't move. Several demonstrators were taken into custody after they allegedly grabbed and hit arresting officers, and others were arrested when they lay in front of a police car, Bambi said.

Among those arrested were two of the "Plowshares Eight" defendants, John Schuchardt, 41, of Baltimore and Elmer Maas, 45, of New York City.

All 10 demonstrators were given civil citations charging them with disorderly conduct and then released. They may pay fines of up to $300 or appeal the summary offenses within 10 days.

A crowd has gathered daily at the courthouse in support of the "Plowshares Eight," a group of anti-nuclear activists accused of breaking into a General Electric Co. plant in nearby King of Prussia and damaging the nose cones of nuclear missiles.

most constant bickering between the defendants and the judge.

The other defendants are the Rev. Carl Kabat, 44, Baltimore; Daniel Berrigan's brother, Philip, 57, a former priest from Baltimore; Molly Rush, 45, a Pittsburgh peace activist; Dean Hammer, 26, a New Haven, Conn., Protestant chaplain, and Sister Anne Montgomery, 54, of New York.

They adopted the name "Plowshares Eight" from the Old Testament proverb by Isaiah that swords should be turned into plowshares and the world committed to peace.

Offshore discovery reported

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A group of oil companies has announced what they call "the first significant discovery of oil" from an offshore well along the central Gulf coast of Texas.

"Until we drill some more wells out there, we really won't know what we've got," said Nancy Davis, regional public relations manager for InterNorth Inc. in Houston.

The well was drilled in water 100 feet deep and 30 miles off Matagorda Island on property leased from the federal government. Oil was discovered at a depth of 10,190 feet.

The site is about 50 miles northeast of Corpus Christi.

In tests conducted last week, the well flowed 1,030 barrels of oil and 3 million cubic feet of gas per day, she said Thursday. A well flowing 100 to 200 barrels of oil a day in that location would be considered commercially productive, she added.

"As far as production is concerned, we're probably looking to late 1982," Mrs. Davis said.

Other companies involved are McMoran Oil & Gas Co. of Metairie, La., Transco Exploration Co., Natamco Offshore Exploration Inc. and Getty Oil Co.

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — An El Dorado police officer, taking a lesson from the days of the Wild West, shot the gun out of the hand of a man who was threatening to commit suicide, officials say.

The officer, an expert marksman, managed to lodge a bullet between the hammer and the firing pin of the would-be suicide's gun, officials said.

JOHNSTON-MACCO Schlumberger

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT
Johnston-Macco, an oil field service and manufacturing division of Schlumberger Limited, is currently looking for a qualified individual to fill the recently established position of Administrative Assistant to our Central Region Manager.

The responsibilities of the position include:
-Acting as the primary financial and administrative liaison between the Central Region field organization and our Houston, Texas headquarters.
-Preparation and analysis of monthly financial and operational reports pertaining to profit center and product line performance.
-Development and implementation of improved reporting procedures in connection with a decentralization of accounting, administrative and data processing functions from headquarters to the region office.
-Budget preparation and control.

The successful candidate should have an accounting degree and 1 to 3 years experience in either an accounting or financial capacity. In addition, the individual should be a self-starter that can work effectively with top management. Good analytical and communicative skills and a working knowledge of EDP are also required.

The position offers a competitive starting salary and benefits package and represents an excellent career opportunity in a rapidly growing, progressive company.

Many Customers Think It's Just Sound Business To Buy A Used Car.

Year in and year out, we have certain steady customers who buy nothing but used cars. To them, it makes good business sense to buy a good used car. In many cases, aside from the mileage...the only difference between a new car and a late model used car is the price! And if you'd like to pay hundreds of dollars less, we'll be glad to show you how. Here are just a few examples:

Pack overcomes scrappy Lee for 17th in row

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Sports Writer

Midland Lee's scrappy Rebels clawed, scratched and ran with the Midland High Bulldogs Thursday night at Chaparral Center, but the District 5-5A champion 'Dogs still came out on top, 85-76, running their winning streak to 17 games and completing a perfect 14-0 district wipeout.

The nine point margin for the No. 9 ranked Bulldogs was the closest anyone had come since they defeated Abilene Cooper by two points nine games ago. In fact, Odessa Permian lost to the Bulldogs by a 16-point margin and that was the closest anyone had come in second half play until the Lee showing Thursday.

The way the Rebels played this one, it makes one wonder just what it would take to beat the Bulldogs. The Rebs, who finish the season with a 14-20 record, probably played their best game of the year and still found themselves trailing by 11 and 13 points on numerous occasions.

Hopefully, we will never find out what it will take to defeat the Bulldogs as they now set their sights on the state playoffs. MHS will meet the District 6-5A winner either March 9 or March 10 in a bi-district match. Denton, 19-12 on the season, can win the 6-5A title tonight with a win over 10-22 Lewisville. If Denton loses, the Broncos would have to face Dennison in a district playoff game. The winner of that bi-district match will return to Midland, March 13-14, for the Region 1 playoff tournament.

THE BULLDOGS, now 31-3 on the year, put the Rebels away with much the same formula they have used all year. Herbert "Magic" Johnson pumped in 27 points, hitting 11 in the third quarter. That's always a good start, but Mike Velasco and Horace Brown added 13 each while Justin Morrett came off the bench for 10 more in a four-pronged attack. They also displayed their usual defensive skills with a full-court press that has done in many opponents.

"I thought we played OK," was the only assessment MHS coach Jack Stephenson would give, but it was obvious that he was pleased that regular season play had ended on this note.

However, guard Michael Feldt, who had six points, said, "I thought we played lousy, and we need to work hard next week. I thought Lee played a good game."

Johnson was his usual loose self saying, "Well, I guess we can go back to school now. But I think we need some hard work — Yea, we need a lot of hard work and we'll be ready for the playoffs."

But Lee couldn't feel bad about losing this one. They also had four players in double figures and gave of what they had. They could have beaten anyone in the district if it hadn't been the Bulldogs on this night. Andre Van Buren scored 17 of his 19 points in the second half to keep the Rebs in the game. Alvin Dunson hit for 15 points and Randy Pepper had his bomb working for 14 markers. Center Kenneth Brown 10. All four are juniors and return for Lee next year.

"OUR KIDS didn't play a game this year that they didn't give a good effort," said Lee coach Paul Stueckler. "The only thing we need to learn is how to put the ball in the hole. The effort is there. We may have played the best team in the state tonight and they only had one more field goal than we did. I hope they (MHS) can go all the way."

It was evident that Lee came to play in the first quarter. The Rebs led four times and Midland High six. The score was knotted at 16 and 18. But Preston Robertson broke open an 18-18 tie with a basket for MHS and the Bulldogs went on to score seven unanswered points to end the period with a 25-18 lead.

Feldt and Don Sharnowski opened the second period with buckets for an 11-point margin, but Lee kept clawing back. A Dunson bomb started an eight-point surge for the Rebels as they cut the margin to three. With 3:42 left in the half, a Dunson free throw closed the gap to 34-33.

But every time things got close, the Bulldogs turned on the old skills and pulled away. Feldt hit two free throws, Morrett hit a layup and Johnson slammed home a dunk for a 40-33 margin. MHS went on to lead by 11 points at the half.

VAN BUREN went wild early in the third period with nine quick points to pull the Rebs to within six. But Johnson ended the period with 11 points and Velasco hit for six and led by 11 again heading into the final period.

Lee won the final quarter, 18-16, but the war had been waged. Van Buren hit for eight more, but Horace Brown had six for the Bulldogs.

Midland High hit on 33 of 78 shots from the field for 44 percent while Lee connected on 32 of 70 for 46 percent. However, the Bulldogs outscored Lee from the charity line with a 19 of 36 showing. Lee hit 12 of 21 free throws.

The MHS junior varsity also ended the season on a winning note with an 81-51 romp over Lee's Brigade. Scott Sears led the Bullpups with 14 points while Jerry Johnson had 11. Sylvester Johnson led Lee with 10 points.

The Lee sophomores, however, overcame a 20-plus point lead by MHS to take a narrow 76-74 win over the MHS sophs in a game played at Midland High. Mike Barton led Lee with 16 points while Todd Brown had 11 and David Holmes 10. Blake Liberty led MHS with 12 points.

Chaps beat Westerners 28-2 MC heads for regional next

SNYDER — The Midland College Chaparrals put the finishing touches on the Western Junior College Conference championship here Thursday night with a 97-87 win over the defending national JC champion Western Texas College Westerners.

Former Midland High star Charles Johnson paced the victory with 26 points, heading a list of five Chaps to hit in double figures. Puntus Wilson hit for 18, Raleigh Freeman 14, Kevin Willingham 12 and Lance McCain 10 as the Chaps improved their nationally ranked record to 28-2. WTC fell to 15-14 on the year. MC ends the conference campaign with a 16-2 mark while WTC is 6-12 and without a berth in the regional tournament they won a year ago in Midland on the way to the national championship.

WTC made a run at the upset as Caesar Scott hit for 25 points and Darren Lee 20 more. The Westerners also got 11 each from Troy Stevenson and Charles North.

The Chaps started the game like they were going to run the Westerners out of their own town, jumping to a big 49-29 margin with 2:10 left in a half on a 20-foot shot by Freeman.

But WTC was not dead. They closed the gap to 49-35 at the half and then came back to make a run at victory. With 13:58 still left to play, WTC had cut the margin to 61-57 when Lee hit at pair of free throws. With 7:02 left in the game, a Clarence Cephas bucket cut the MC lead to 73-69 and the Chaps looked as if they were losing ground.

Puntus Wilson converted a steal into three points and Johnson got a steal and a layup as the Chaps ran to an 80-71 margin with 4:38 left to play. That was enough to nail down the victory.

The Chaps now travel to the Region tournament in Brownwood next week.

Midland College (97): P. Wilson, 8-2-18; McCain, 2-0-10; Tutwiler, 3-3-8; Slay, 2-2-6; Freeman, 7-0-14; Johnson, 10-4-28; Thompson, 1-1-0-3; Willingham, 5-2-12; Tate, 1-0-4-2. Totals: 28-19-24-87.

Judge's IX ruling starts flash flood

An AP Sports Analysis
By DOUG TUCKER

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Word spread slowly at first, like a trickle of water on hard-baked clay. By late Thursday it was a flash flood.

Telephones were jangling everywhere on the desks of coaches and athletic directors who could hardly believe their ears. Has a judge in Michigan, or some place, ruled against Title IX?

Yes. And it is a landmark decision.

Federal District Judge Charles W. Joiner ruled in Detroit Monday that public schools do not have to provide equal athletic opportunities, which is to say equal money, for men's and women's sports unless the sports in question get federal money.

Cleveland and author of a book on Title IX.

But the point to bear in mind is the decision is only one battle in a long war. It quite likely will be appealed. And there are other cases pending around the country dealing with the same point of law.

"But now a precedent has been set," said William Kramer, a Washington-based NCAA attorney. "It's a landmark decision to the extent that it's the first decision that addresses the question."

Reduced to their simplest form, the complex Title IX interpretations hold that if a school has, say 200 male athletes and is spending $400,000 on mens programs, then it must allocate $200,000 for every 100 female athletes it has.

The argument of athletic directors has been that football and basketball, which pay for themselves and everything else in an athletic department, should not be counted in the proportionality ratios.

AND THERE'S the rub — virtually all big-time athletic departments are self-reliant and receive no government assistance. That's the precise argument put forth by the NCAA in a class action suit now awaiting docket assignment in federal court in Kansas City, Kan. — That the federal government should not dictate how an athletic department spends its self-generated funds since it gets no federal money.

"The judge's ruling could almost have been lifted verbatim from the brief filed by the NCAA," said Steve Hatchell, assistant commissioner of the Big Eight Conference.

If you're a zealous crusader for women's rights or a female athletic administrator seeking to upgrade the quality of your program, you have been dealt a frightening defeat.

If you're a budget-weary athletic director chaffing at what seems like an unwarranted intrusion of federal bureaucracy, you are celebrating.

"This has put a smile on the faces of athletic directors across the country," said Charles M. Neinas, executive director of the College Football Association.

"I THINK the ramifications will be disastrous," said Chuck Guerrier, director of the Womens Law Fund in

"THIS COULD give the institutions the power to mold their programs as they see fit," said Tom Hansen, an assistant executive director of the NCAA. "I don't think you're going to see a great backing away from financial support for womens programs. Granted, there will be some who say, 'Oh, boy, now we can cut 'em back to where they were in 1970.' But there wouldn't be many who take that attitude, I don't believe."

The long-range results of the Michigan ruling cannot be known without a crystal ball. But a few immediate affects can. The Office of Civil Rights even now has investigators throughout the country checking athletic departments to see if they comply with the equal expenditure dictates.

"If you're an athletic director sitting out there somewhere and OCR investigators show up you can say, 'I don't think you have any standing because a federal judge in Michigan has ruled that you do not.' Besides, the Reagan administration has been saying they want to get government out of our lives, so reduce regulations.

Indiana, Iowa, Utah, Wyoming, Irish post victories

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Indiana's offense had slowed to a halt — but fortunately for Coach Bobby Knight's Hoosiers, their opponent, Ohio State, wasn't going anywhere, either.

"At 41-37, either team could have gotten control — and neither team did," said Knight, after watching both clubs struggle through a scoreless four-minute stretch of the second half Thursday night.

Two minutes after that dry spell ended it was the 16th-ranked Hoosiers, led by unheralded-reserve guard Jim Thomas, who took control with a 17-6 burst to lock up a 74-58 Big Ten college basketball victory that kept the Hoosiers one game behind front-running Iowa in the Big Ten race.

THE EIGHTH-ranked Iowa Hawkeyes had their problems with Michigan but managed to pull out a 69-66 triumph over the Wolverines. Iowa Coach Lute Olson said he thought his team showed the effects of looking ahead.

"Everybody's concerned with what (NCAA tournament) regional we're going to play in and saying we've got the Big Ten title wrapped up," said Olson. "Either you're emotionally ready to go out there and play or you're not — and we were not. If you think people are going to give you the title you're dead wrong."

Illinois, ranked 14th, which had been tied for second in Big Ten race with Indiana, fell two games off the pace by dropping a 76-59 decision at Minnesota.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 5 Arizona State whipped Stanford 79-54, No. 6 Notre Dame breezed past St. Francis, Pa., 87-71, No. 7 Utah trounced Colorado State 73-50, Wyoming upset No. 15 Brigham Young 86-84 and No. 19 Wichita State beat Bradley 70-57.

IOWA, WHICH led by 10 with 11:40 to play, saw Michigan rally to pull within one on two occasions. But Kevin Boyle scored a basket with 1:10 to play and Vince Brookins and Kenny Arnold sank two free throws apiece in the final 36 seconds to keep the Hawkeyes on top.

Michigan Coach Bill Frieder was frustrated by the loss.

"We shot 62 percent the second half, we had three more rebounds, we only had one more turnover than they did and we didn't miss a free throw," he said. "I don't know what to say. They are one of the five best teams in the country."

Brookins led Iowa with 21 points, 17 in the second half. Mike McGee topped Michigan with 29 points, 25 after halftime.

Trent Tucker scored 22 points and Randy Brewer added 21 for Minnesota, but Gophers Coach Jim Drutcher credited his team's defense for the victory over Illinois. Minnesota held Illini guards Derek Harper, Perry Range and Craig Tucker to a combined nine points.

Arizona State built a 21-point lead over Stanford during the first half, saw it dwindle to eight at halftime and six during the second half, but recovered to beat the Cardinals and raise its record to 21-3.

"I'm totally disgusted by the way we played in the final minutes of the first half," said Arizona State Coach Ned Wulk. "We showed no patience whatsoever. We took foolish shots and (7-foot senior center Alton) Lister never touched the ball in the final seven minutes."

LISTER FINISHED with 18 points to pace all five Arizona State starters in double figures.

Notre Dame jumped to a 7-0 lead over St. Francis in the first 3:13 and was never caught in raising its record to 21-4. Orlando Woolridge scored 11 points and grabbed nine rebounds for the Irish, who enjoyed a 40-29 rebounding advantage and shot 56 percent from the field.

Tom Chambers scored 17 points and Danny Vranes added 13 as Utah whipped Colorado State to clinch at least a tie for the Western Athletic Conference title.

The victory raised the Utes' WAC record to 13-1 and overall mark to 24-2. Wyoming, which beat Brigham Young 86-84 in double overtime Thursday night, is the Utes' closest WAC pursuer at 11-3 with two conference games remaining.

Mike Jackson, who sent the game into overtime by sinking two free throws with 24 seconds remaining in regulation time, put Wyoming ahead to stay with a long jumper to start the second overtime and the Cowboys went on to upset Brigham Young.

Antoine Carr scored 20 points as Wichita State raised its record to 21-4 by beating Bradley, which lost at home for the first time in 30 games.

Bruins win 5-1 in record brawl

By HOWARD ULMAN

BOSTON (AP) — The charges afterward flew as furiously as the fists during the most penalty-filled game in the 64-year history of the National Hockey League.

"We all know what their game plan was," Boston Coach Gerry Cheevers charged after the Bruins' 5-1 victory over the Minnesota North Stars Thursday night. "They came to play that way and we obliged them."

Minnesota Coach Glen Sonmor fired back that Cheevers "was yapping at our players, asking about the heart (center) Bobby Smith ... If he wants to check the heart of anybody in our organization start with mine."

"We've got a corridor right down by our dressing room in Minnesota. Come right down there and I'll gladly accommodate him. And tell him when he does come to bring a basket to carry his head home. I've had it up to here with him."

Boston General Manager Harry Sinden said he was surprised at all the fights because, "among hockey people, Minnesota has gained the reputation as the most chicken team ever developed."

The brawls that inspired all that bombast broke six league penalty records, including most penalty minutes in a game. The total of 406 was 26 more than the old mark set on March 11, 1979 when Los Angeles played at Philadelphia.

Before Boston's Mike O'Connell scored the first goal midway through the opening period, 336 penalty minutes had been whistled and seven fights had taken place on the ice. The first was between Steve Kasper and Smith seven seconds into the game.

There were no full-scale brawls, but the biggest fray broke loose at 8:58 of the first period. Boston's Keith Crowder, already in the penalty box, punched Minnesota's Greg Smith in the aisle between the penalty box and the Bruins' bench as Smith was walking toward the locker room after being penalized.

North Stars raced across the ice from their bench. When the melee ended, 210 penalty minutes were called and seven North Stars and five Bruins had been ejected with game misconducts.

After the chaos, Jean Ratelle scored to give Boston a 2-0 lead after one period. Minnesota's Mike Polich and Boston's Ray Bourque traded second period goals and Rick Middleton notched two short-handed goals in the final period.

Elsewhere in the NHL, it was Montreal 6, Colorado 0; Pittsburgh 7, Washington 5, and Los Angeles 4, Vancouver 3.

Sonmor got into a scuffle in a corridor after the game and he raised his fist at an unidentified man on the floor. It was unclear what precipitated the confrontation.

"What is our alternative?" Sonmor asked later. "Stand back there and take that and be sneered at and laughed at? No sir. It's over."

Other records set were:

—Most penalties by both teams in a game: 84 (old record 64).

—Most penalties by one team in a game: 42 by each team (old record 40).

—Most penalty minutes by one team in a game: 211 by Minnesota (old record 194).

—Most penalties by both teams in one period: 67 (old record 52).

—Most penalties by one team in one period: 34 by Minnesota (old record 31).

Canadiens 6, Rockies 0—Rookie goalie Richard Sevigny notched his second shutout of the season and Mark Napier scored three times to extend Montreal's unbeaten string to 11 games. Colorado is winless in nine contests.

Napier now has 27 goals for the season, two more than he hoped for — and a lot more than he seemed likely to get back in October, when he sometimes didn't dress for games.

Penguins 7, Capitals 5—The Penguins moved one point ahead of Washington in the overall standings as the Caps, who haven't won in 10 games, fell to 16th place — the last playoff spot. Greg Malone had two goals for Pittsburgh, while Mike Gartner and Jean Pronovost each scored twice for Washington.

Kings 4, Canucks 3—Los Angeles overcame a 3-0 first-period deficit, built on goals by the Canucks' Thomas Gradin, Bobby Schmautz and Harold Snepstis within a 1:51 span. Kings goalie Doug Keans was lifted after surrendering the three goals on four shots and was replaced by Mario Lessard, who played spectacularly as he recorded his 28th triumph, tops among NHL goaltenders.

Collins set for right after Braves swap flops

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Now that the deal to trade Dave Collins to the Atlanta Braves for Gary Matthews has fallen through, the Cincinnati Reds are talking about moving Collins from center to right field.

Reds Manager John McNamara said Thursday that regular right fielder Ken Griffey has already agreed to try the switch when the full squad reports next week. Pitchers and catchers reported Thursday.

Collins won the job from former Cincinnati player Cesar Geronimo last spring, but Reds President Dick Wagner wasn't pleased with Collins' defensive play.

Wagner singled out Collins' fielding and throwing in successfully arguing the club's side in a salary arbitration this winter. Collins took the Reds to arbitration the last two years.

The Braves wanted Collins in exchange for Matthews. Atlanta owner Ted Turner said Sunday that Matthews could accept a trade to the Reds or sit on the bench in 1981. Matthews consented.

But Wagner said Thursday that the two teams didn't agree on terms of a trade.

Garcia optimistic

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Some toes will likely be stepped on, some egos deflated and, perhaps, some careers temporarily stalled during the Cleveland Indians' spring training session this year.

And it's a dilemma that has Manager Dave Garcia more pleased than ever.

"That's a good problem," he said. "In fact, it's not a problem at all."

In other words, Garcia would rather have to tell, say, rookie hopeful Von Hayes that there's no room for him on the club than be forced to have the Class A minor league sensation jump into the big leagues prematurely.

The "problem" Garcia faces is simply a matter of depth — a word not associated with Cleveland baseball for two decades.

Take the outfield, for instance. Joe Charboneau, the 1980 American League Rookie of the Year, finds himself fighting for a starting job with defensive ace Rick Manning, productive veteran Jorge Orta, .341-hitting Miguel Dilone and possibly Hayes or another promising rookie, Karl Pagel.

Have bat will travel

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Have bat will travel.

That's the newest sign hung out by Atlanta Braves outfielder Gary Matthews, who first rejected a trade to Cincinnati, then said he would accept it.

The trade fell through finally on Thursday, and Matthews remains a member of the National League Braves under orders from owner Ted Turner to ride the bench.

"I'm anxious to go, anywhere," Matthews said Thursday. "Elsewhere, I at least will be able to play. That makes more sense than sitting and watching guys play who are not as good as I am."

Houk enthused over Sox

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — Maybe it's just adrenalin flowing again after a two-year hiatus from baseball, but New Manager Ralph Houk says he is enthusiastic about the Boston Red Sox' oft-maligned pitching.

"I think we can surprise a lot of people, our pitching can be a lot stronger than many think," Houk said Thursday as he sent 19 hurlers through a third day of conditional drills.

"This is the best group of arms I've ever seen," said Houk, who managed the New York Yankees for 11 years and the Detroit Tigers for five before going into his two-year retirement. "It's very early, but everyone is throwing surprisingly well and as of now we don't have any arm problems."

Midland Lee and Midland High both placed two players on the District 5-5A All-District girls basketball team released today, which was picked by the district coaches.

Gale Wilson and Melinda Hohenberger, both seniors, were honored as All-District choices for Lee while Janice Littlefield and Lucy Miller were the picks for Midland High. Miller is a senior while Littlefield is a junior and will return to the Purple Pack next year.

Lee's Yshun King was picked as Sophomore of the Year by the league coaches. San Angelo's Jeanne Bryant was named as the loop's Most Valuable Player and Bobcat coach Sylvia McClure was tabbed as Coach of the Year.

Other first team choices were Jana Davis, Odessa Permian; Deanne Hamilton, Odessa High; Tracy Hubbard and Sonya Roberts, Abilene High; Renee Morgan and Carla Seldon, Abilene Cooper; and Elsa Ornelas, San Angelo.

Davis, Hubbard, Ornelas, Roberts and Seldon are all juniors on the youthful selections. All the others are seniors.

Midland High's Diane Hogan, a senior, was an honorable mention choice as was Lee junior Suzanne McGaha. Other honorable mention choices were senior Myana Smith of Permian, junior Karen Wallace of OHS and junior Elise Wheat of Big Spring.

Spurs close in on NBA Midwest title

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs, edging closer to wrapping up the Midwest Division title, have yet another goal as the National Basketball Association playoffs approach: passing the Los Angeles Lakers.

"We're trying now to catch Los Angeles and get the home-court advantage," Spurs Coach Stan Albeck said Thursday night after his team ran its record to 44-24 with a 123-113 victory over the Seattle SuperSonics.

That put the Spurs just one-half game behind the Lakers in the race for the best record in the Western Conference. In each playoff matchup, the team with the better record gets the home-court advantage.

The win also reduced San Antonio's magic number to six. Any combination of six San Antonio victories or Houston losses would clinch the Midwest Division title for the Spurs, whose record is their best ever after 68 games.

In the only other NBA game of the night, the Kansas City Kings edged the Dallas Mavericks 105-102.

Kings 105, Mavericks 102

Scott Wedman scored 30 points and Otis Birdsong 26 as Kansas City posted its ninth straight home-court victory.

Dallas, which has lost 17 of its last 18 starts, rallied from a 15-point deficit early in the fourth quarter but could come no closer than the final three-point margin.

Newly acquired forward Clarence Kea led the Mavericks with 19 points.

Insurance poses problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball club owners are having problems with strike insurance policies, a development which could help the players get coverage for a threatened walkout, The New York Times said today.

Quoting insurance-industry sources, the Times said some of the underwriters involved in the owners' $50 million insurance plan had until recently been unaware that baseball's bosses could unilaterally implement a free-agent compensation plan.

Once the underwriters learned of the provision, the Times said, some became skittish, and this could threaten $40 million worth of strike coverage. Of the threatened amount, $15 million in coverage had not even been placed with underwriters by insurance brokers, as of Thursday, the paper said.

The Times also said that the players' association had tried to line up its own strike insurance, but had not succeeded.

"The owners did a good job of making it hard for the players to get insurance," an industry source said. "They took out their insurance last October and used up the market."

Has fabled Riviera lost its zip?

Los Angeles Times

It was shocking to old-timers. Sacrilegious. It was almost as if someone were taking a chain to Man O'War, scratching matches on the Mona Lisa.

On Saturday afternoon, the leader board at the Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open looked like an explosion in a ketchup factory.

At golf tournaments, they put up sub-par numbers in bright crimson. Many people thought Riviera Golf Club was blushing for itself.

Riviera is not one of your palm-and-irrigation footholds of South Texas or East Arizona. It is 55 years old, and its scoreboards have tended over the years to basic black. Par used to win its tournament handily. Five-over won it one year as late as 1952. Twelve-over won it another year.

WHAT HAS happened? Has the old girl lost her zip? Is she just another round-heeled pushover for the young college boys of the tour now? Has time passed her by?

I think not. You measure the greatness of a golf course not by the fact nobody can break 80 on it. Low scores do not always mean you've got a billiard table with pins.

You check the quality of a golf course by how bunched the leaders are after three rounds, and by who those leaders are. You measure a great course by who's on the leaderboard, not what. Plus, you don't count the birdies, you count the bogeys. There were plenty of those at Riviera last week, even by guys shooting 66s, to say nothing of guys shooting 90. One player, Ed Snead, even had a bogey with a 64. You can stand on the toughest hole of some of those "desert classic" tournaments for four days, and never see a bogey.

Any golf course, even the storied English ones, need an assist from the weather. Even Carnoustie, a wild beastie of a course when the winds boil in the Firth of Tay, is an old bawd when the fairways dry up and the sky is windless.

RIVIERA IS laid out to have a prevailing wind blowing off the ocean into the golfer's shots on eight of its 18 holes. When it does not, the golfers are shooting at an unarmed adversary. A high-pressure ridge sat like a great load over Southern California all last week. Temperatures were in the 80s and scores were in the 60s.

But, when you looked up at the leaderboard Saturday night, it was the Who's Who of golf, not the Who's He? When you have the likes of Johnny Miller, Ben Crenshaw, Miller Barber, Tom Weiskopf, Bruce Lietzke, Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino within a few shots of each other, the course is doing its job, taking care of business.

Even when the eucalyptus limbs are still and droopy, and the sea in the distance is glass, it's interesting that Riviera yields most readily to the blooded player, the shotmaker, the veteran, the man who has learned through the years to do more than just bust the ball out to the horizon and then take a wedge out to bump it onto a green. Sam Snead very nearly won this when not only his scores were in the 60s, so was he. Last year, the venerable Don January positioned his way carefully into second place and this year, it was Miller Barber, on the threshold of 50. None of them won, nor is anyone 50 or over likely to, unless they make 18 at Riviera downhill instead of up.

NO, RIVIERA can be played as it lays. Your tournament is not disgraced when back-to-back winners are Tom Watson and Johnny Miller. They're going to play the '83 PGA there, and maybe the '86 Open. I hope they just roll the ball out there and yell "fore!" I hope they don't trick it up. They've been tricking up the U.S. Open of late and getting some highly dubious winners, guys who have never won a tournament since. And, last year, recall, it took Jack Nicklaus to keep the tournament from being won for the first time ever by a Japanese player, and a little known one, at that.

Low numbers do not mean a poor golf course. High numbers do not mean a superior golf course. Quite the opposite. I remember the Open at Minnesota one year, won by seven shots by a golfer not that good, where Jack Nicklaus shot an opening round of 81 and other rounds of 75 and 76. When Jack Nicklaus shoots 81, and 75 and 76, it doesn't mean he's bad, it means your course is. Red numbers don't always add up to a deficit.

When Bill Carthel hooks a bass, he brings him to the boat without hesitation. Here, he skims a little keeper at Lake Guerrero.

KENNY REDIN'S Fin & Feather logo featuring a fisherman and a bird.

A good fishing friend, John Adams, Plainview, made this superb cast, long, accurate and on target. His target was the top of a huge submerged tree in Mexico's Lake Guerrero. Our fishing guide Anselmo said, "No fishy in tree. Fishy in water."

Adams' next cast was next to the tree and came back with a two-pound Mexican largemouth hooked. Meanwhile, Bill Garthel and I were trying to snag a scrappy largemouth foreign bass on grape plastic worms, but this was Adams' morning. All he had to do was toss out his wild-colored worm, wait for the tap-tap, set the hook and reel in the mean mouth.

After a couple of hours, Anselmo said, "Lisfo," which means he was ready to move. DOROTHY MALBERG, Alta Vista customer service director, said business had been excellent at the lodge and the fishing has been good all winter with more large bass taken than in previous years.

Guerrero has to be one of the premier bass reservoirs in the world, covering 144,000 surface acres and stretching some 70 miles with 900 miles of shoreline. Before the lake flooded, hundreds of acres of fruit orchards, native timber and creek and river channels were covered. With all this and now a thick stand of hydrilla, Guerrero offers varied bass action. The lake is almost a perfect "10".

Although TOWA members enjoyed the fishing, services that rate next to none. The beautiful lodge overlooks one of the lake's most scenic views. All the boats are 18-footers, powered with 50 horsepower outboards and all boats sport an electric trolling motor. Whatever the occasions, a family outing or two avid bass anglers camping, Lake Guerrero and Alta Vista are "numero uno" in our books.

OUR GUIDE had one secret place in mind as he eased the boat into a thick stand of drowned fruit trees. "No tell anyone about this place, it's secret." We thought every bass hole on Guerrero was secret because we picked up fish just about every place we tried. But our guide knew whereof he spoke.

We went into the "secret" spot with 10 bass and came out with 36. Anselmo advised, "Use Speener". Adams tossed a white single-bladed spinner. I did the same and Carthel cast his rig with some off-colored, faded spinner-bait. We immediately began catching bass.

Your horoscope

By JEANE DIXON

Saturday, February 28, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Lively actress Bernadette Peters shares this birthday with you, as did the Zero Mostel who was famous for both his tremendous acting talent and his unique art collection. In the months ahead, an interest in art and culture could enhance both your popularity and your bank balance. Financial situation shows decided improvement. Travel may be possible later in the year. You get maximum return on the time, energy you invest in self-improvement activities. Share your interests, enthusiasms with family members. New contacts can open up new vistas for romance. Make sure that any causes you decide to champion are worthy of your support.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Try a different tack in bringing family members closer together. True affection is the key to a bright marital future. Use both intuition and imagination when handling complicated financial matters.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Early in the day you are able to concentrate on family matters. Much is accomplished. Mate is likely to go along with almost anything you suggest. A feeling of well-being brightens your weekend.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Love and artistic talent are in the spotlight throughout the day. Studies can help you advance at work: You may be in an unpredictable mood this weekend. Show consideration for the feelings of others.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Keep your secrets to yourself to avoid future embarrassment. An unexpected encounter could bring good news. Collect your thoughts before saying whether or not you will make a new romantic commitment.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Go over bills twice before sending out checks. Errors are possible, and attention to detail could save your money. Entertaining at home can be fun without breaking the bank. Telephone call brings heartening news.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Run any errands early in the day. Family member may try to goad you into an argument. Reasoning with this person might not work. Acting indifferent might be your best tactic.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Do everything in your power to reach a better understanding with mate or partner. Mail can be very important to your career goals, social aims. Mend any broken fences at earliest opportunity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Bring accounts up to date. Pay more attention to matters related to insurance and/or real estate. Romance may not live up to your expectations today. Play waiting game.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): New course of study can improve your skills and boost your earning power. Seek mate's understanding of what you hope to accomplish, however. You could have less time to spend with the family.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Beware of someone else's bad temper. Listen carefully to what others are saying. Body language is very revealing. Check your insurance coverage to be sure it is adequate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): To avoid future embarrassment, confide only in those people you are certain you can trust. You must be willing to compromise in order to keep domestic peace. Ask direct questions to prevent confusion.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You may hit on a nifty money-making idea today. Jot it down! Romance is particularly happy for older people. Spend the evening in an out-of-the-ordinary setting.

to find the defender who held the queen of trumps with three hearts as well. If not, that defender would ruff the third heart and cash a diamond trick. Therefore, declarer should have tackled his long side suit—hearts—before playing the shorter suit.

If both defenders follow to three rounds of hearts, declarer temporarily abandons hearts in favor of cashing three rounds of clubs, to take his first diamond discard. Then he can take his second discard on the thirteenth heart while West ruffs. However, when East shows out on the third heart, West is marked with four hearts, so declarer can safely discard one of his diamonds on the fourth heart before turning his attention to clubs.

West can make no more than his queen of trumps, and the slam rolls home.

Dr. Benjamin Hall, professor and chairman of the University of Washington Department of Genetics, explains the potential for a faster, cheaper method of producing interferon Thursday on the UW campus. (AP Laserphoto)

Yeast may lessen cost of interferon

SAN FRANCISCO and now have yeast cells that produce human interferon. It's apparently the first time yeast — one-celled plants used to make bread rise and ferment beer — has been genetically changed to produce a human protein. Experimenters usually work with bacteria, which have been genetically altered by concerns such as Genentech, a prominent member of the gene-splicing industry, to produce insulin, human growth hormone and other potentially valuable proteins normally produced by the body in small amounts. The new gene orders the organism to use its own chemical stores to produce the specific protein.

Fighting rages in El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Government troops killed at least 10 leftist guerrillas in a battle to recapture a strategic rebel-held bridge northeast of the capital, as the bodies of 32 victims of this Central American nation's political bloodbath were found scattered around the country.

Military sources said government forces battled guerrillas for several hours Thursday before recapturing the key bridge at Tecoluca, about 45 miles northeast of here.

The clash came amid reports by army sources of continued fighting in the central and north-eastern regions of this strife-torn country between government troops and guerrillas attempting to topple El Salvador's civilian-military junta and replace it with a Marxist government.

Hitzeman said the yeast interferon seems to be virtually identical to that produced when the same gene is put into bacteria and "it does inhibit viral infection in human cells." Interferon, the body's natural defense against viruses that cause many diseases, has been widely publicized as a possible cure for viral illnesses and possibly for some cancers. Charles Weissman of the University of Zurich, the first scientist to make interferon through gene-splicing technology, told a conference here Thursday he thought interferon "I have a very profound belief that this whole technology is going to be revolutionary."

The American Cancer Society is spending $2 million to test the substance — extracted from human blood at great cost — on 150 cancer patients. A Genentech team led by Hitzeman and Franklin Hagie worked on the yeast project, along with Benjamin Hall and Gustav Ammerer of the University of Washington in Seattle.

Hitzeman, who conceded some excitement following the announcement first at a Seattle news conference and then at a symposium in San Francisco on recombinant DNA technology, said it's possible yeast may one day replace bacteria as the preferred organism for gene splicing.

"But it's probably more likely that some valuable proteins will be as the best bacteria and in (bacteria), depending on where they will function. We don't have to spend all the time and money we are now spending" to grow the huge colonies of bacteria needed to produce commercial products. He said the first altered yeast cells already are yielding at least a tenth as much interferon made in yeast and some "we think we can increase that many fold."

Genentech's publicly traded stock, meanwhile, increased $7 a share Thursday, to $43, before trading was halted shortly before the official announcement.

Daring escape works

PARIS (AP) — Two gunmen forced the pilot of a hijacked helicopter to pluck two inmates from a soccer field inside a high-security prison near Paris during a match between two groups of prisoners today, then escaped with police choppers in hot pursuit, authorities said.

Prison officials said the helicopter landed on the field of the Fleury-Merogis prison near Evry, and picked up Gerard Dupre, 33, and Daniel Beaumont, 40.

Dupre is regarded as one of France's most dangerous men, officials said. He is suspected of a series of holdups, some involving hostages. He was arrested last Jan. 7, while allegedly preparing a holdup at the Gare du Nord railroad station in Paris, authorities said.

There were no immediate details on Beaumont. The helicopter, chased by police helicopters, set Dupre, Beaumont and the two hijackers down on a sports field on the edge of the inner city of Paris, and the pilot then flew the craft back to its base in western Paris. The inmates and the gunmen apparently made good their escape from the sports field.

The two men who organized the escape had rented helicopters twice in the past two weeks to take passengers to Orleans, past Evry to the south of Paris, said Yves Benzaken, a spokesman for the helicopter rental company Helicap.

The men said Friday's run would be for the same purpose, but 10 minutes after take-off they pulled out pistols and a hand grenade, Benzaken said.

They told pilot Claude Fourcade, 46, that his wife and daughter were being held hostage — which was false, according to Benzaken — and forced him to carry out the escape.

Benzaken said the door of the helicopter bore the mark of a bullet, apparently fired at the craft during the chase.

Accused brothel madam Theresa Brown Thursday was sentenced to five years probation on her conviction for aggravated promotion of prostitution. Her attempt to withdraw her no contest plea was overruled by District Judge James Barlow at the end of an all-day hearing in San Antonio. (AP Laserphoto)

Brothel madam sentenced to five years probation

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Theresa Brown, the convicted brothel madam who kept a list of 3,000 customers beneath her bed, has been sentenced to five years probation and her attorney promises an appeal will be filed.

District Judge James Barlow pronounced sentence Thursday after Ms. Brown's attorney, Pat Maloney Sr., called 12 character witnesses — including a Catholic priest and several people who live near the alleged brothel — who described the 46-year-old woman as an ideal mother and good citizen.

Ms. Brown showed no emotion when the sentence was announced.

In granting probation, Barlow noted that Ms. Brown had been arrested only three times and that one case was dismissed, she was found innocent in another and had only one assault conviction on her record.

Maloney said he would appeal the conviction to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, claiming his client had not operated the brothel for three years prior to her arrest on Oct. 2, 1980.

"She's not guilty on the date and time in question. For three years, she didn't do that kind of thing. She's a terribly good madam, but not on that date and time," Maloney told reporters.

During the hearing, Maloney lashed out at the attorneys who had represented Ms. Brown on Feb. 3 when she entered into a plea bargain, pleaded no contest and was convicted by Barlow.

"Not only did she not have effective counsel, it was prosecutorial," Maloney told Barlow.

Ms. Brown and three other witnesses testified that attorneys Rick Woods and Tony Ferro, both of whom she said were on her notorious list, pressured her into the plea bargain against her will. Woods and Ferro both took the stand, denied Maloney's charges and said they were never customers of the brothel, which operated for 16 years in a north San Antonio neighborhood, according to police.

The auburn-haired Ms. Brown, 46, however, testified that Woods "badgered" her into the plea on grounds that Gene Canavan, a city councilman, threatened to withdraw an offer to pay her $10,000 legal fee if she pleaded innocent.

Both Woods and Ferro denied that Canavan ever made an offer to pay the legal expenses.

Canavan's attorney, Jack Pytel, has said his client was considering a libel suit against the monthly newspaper El Pueblo, which published the names of Canavan and 18 other men from the alleged trick list.

"The real problem with this case is that all the 'Johns' should be here and be prosecuted," Maloney told reporters.

"I was tired of the badgering. I signed everything," Ms. Brown testified Thursday, explaining why she signed the plea bargain agreement, including a statement swearing she was not coerced into the plea.

"He (Woods) sat down and said 'if you insist on pleading not guilty, Canavan is going to withdraw his fee,' and he (Woods) said he would no longer represent me," she told the judge.

Maloney said he ordered Ms. Brown to keep a "low profile" and not discuss the case with the news media while it is being appealed.

Meanwhile, editors of El Pueblo called a news conference for today to say whether they intend to publish any more of the names on the list they said Ms. Brown gave them, through a third party.

Reagan to name Gavin ambassador to Mexico

DALLAS (AP) — Actor John Gavin will be appointed as U.S. ambassador to Mexico by President, according to a report in a Dallas newspaper.

The move, if carried out, would mean the president is rejecting the idea of appointing a career diplomat for the assignment in Mexico City.

Gavin is a personal friend of the president and served as an adviser to the Organization of American States in Washington from 1961 to 1965. The 48-year-old actor has had a longtime interest in Latin American affairs.

The Dallas Times Herald says Gavin's expected nomination could add "an unpredictable element to already delicate relations between the United States and its southern neighbor."

Unrest in Central America and the Mexican government's recent overtures toward Cuba heighten the sensitivity of the relationship between the two countries, the Herald said.

A former diplomat familiar with U.S.-Mexican affairs told the newspaper, "The fact that Gavin is a friend of Reagan's will help him, but it is really difficult to say exactly how they (the Mexican government) will react."

The announcement of Gavin's nomination had been held up pending other top-level State Department appointments, the newspaper reported.

Former President Jimmy Carter also rejected a career diplomat for the ambassadorship, instead selecting former Wisconsin Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, a political ally who could not speak Spanish.

Gavin speaks Spanish fluently and his mother is of Hispanic descent.

Gavin, who speaks Spanish fluently, was a member of the board of directors of the Screen Actors Guild and served as president from 1971 to 1973. Reagan was president of the guild during the 1940s and 1950s.

Gavin was named a permanent OAS special adviser to then secretary Dr. Jose P. Mora, who later became foreign minister of Uruguay. Officials of the OAS contacted by the Herald said they had no information immediately available on his service with the OAS. However, officials said Gavin primarily worked on cultural affairs.

Gavin, who could not be reached for comment, currently lives in Beverly Hills, Calif.
