GM reports loss; Others likely to follow

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp., producer of 23 percent of the world's motor vehicles, has lost money for the first year since it was making $800 Chevrolets. And the nation's other automakers are expected to do even worse.

The No. 1 automaker on Monday showed a loss of $763 million, or $2.65 a share, for all of 1980. Not since 1921 had GM reported a loss.

However, GM made money in the last three months of 1980, reporting on Monday earnings of $62 million, or 21 cents a share, for the fourth quarter.

GM is the first automaker to report 1980 results. Other companies plan to report next week or later.

Chrysler Corp. expects to show a loss of about $1.7 billion and Ford Motor Co., according to analysts' estimates, will show a loss of about $1.5 billion, making 1980 by far the worst year in the history of the auto industry.

Even in the Great Depression of the 1930s, GM made money, although its $165,000 profit in 1932 was $9 million short of covering dividends on preferred stock.

In 1921, a recession year when the company last reported a loss, GM was just beginning to transform itself from a collection of scattered, sometimes feuding and badly coordinated companies into the tight corporation of later years.

GM, then one of 86 companies building cars, had a 14 percent share of the domestic car market and was relying on pre-World War I designs. Inventories were high, car companies were cutting costs and unemployment in Detroit was twice the national average.

In 1979, GM earned $2.89 billion, or $10.04 a share, including a $326 million, or $1.46 a share, loss in the fourth quarter.

GM's wholesale sales of cars, trucks and buses fell 10 percent for 1980's final quarter, from 2.1 million to 1.88 million. For the year, the decline was 21 percent, from 8.99 million to 7.1 million.

In the United States, the drop was 14 percent in the quarter, from 1.47 million to 1.27 million, and 26 percent for the year, from 6.45 million to 4.77 million.

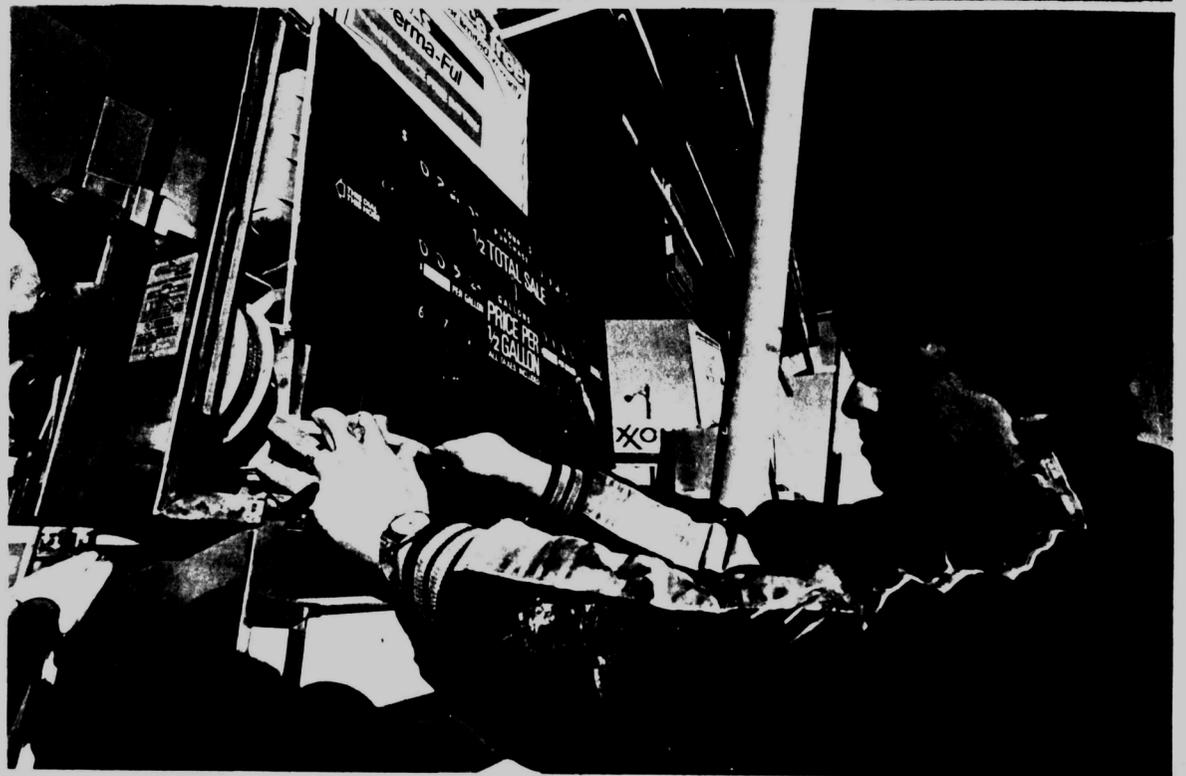

Revenues for the fourth quarter totaled $16.2 billion in 1980, a 0.5 percent increase from $16.1 billion in the corresponding 1979 period. Full-year revenues were $57.7 billion, down 13 percent from $66.3 billion the year before.

The overall 1980 loss would have been $385 million more except for tax credits. Those credits for the first nine months totaled $703 million, but GM said it paid income taxes of $317 million in the fourth quarter, more than expected under statutory U.S. tax rates as a result of losses at "certain overseas subsidiaries where no applicable income tax refund credits were currently available."

Wall Street analysts, impressed by GM's steady market share — 45.9 percent of all cars sold in the United States both in 1979 and 1980 — recently had raised their estimates of the company's fourth-quarter results, with most predicting a small profit.

But Arvid Jouppe of John Muir & Co., said the $62 million earnings figure "does not mean GM has solved the extremely difficult bind in which the auto industry continues.... It does justify their pricing and we should expect more price increases."

GM said its directors on Monday declared a 60-cent dividend on common shares, payable March 10 to stockholders whose names appear on the books Feb. 11. It was fourth straight quarter the company paid out that amount; GM had paid a dividend of $1.15 in the first quarter of 1980.

Gasoline prices press upward

'Gas war' in offing for Midland area?

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
Staff Writer

Gas prices have hit an all-time high in Midland, an action that has been triggered by President Reagan signing decontrol into law last Wednesday. But the service station dealers don't expect to be selling less gas, and one man foresees a gas war in the future as the Department of Energy no longer dictates the price margins.

A survey of various service stations around Midland revealed that suppliers have been the first to raise their prices, and the dealers are passing their increased costs on to the customer.

Johnny Montoya, an Exxon dealer at 3210 N. Midkiff Road, said his Exxon supplier went up 3 cents on the gallon, and he raised his the same amount. This puts unleaded gasoline at the full-service pumps at $1.34 a gallon.

This increase shoots the price of gas to about 10 cents a gallon above what it was 1 1/2 months ago, he said, explaining that Exxon has been raising the prices numerous times in that period. "Before decontrol, I don't know if it was the Middle East giving us problems (on delivering fuel)," said Montoya.

With decontrol, Montoya said the DOE no longer sets the profit margin, which had been 17.7 cents per gallon. "Before I raised my prices, I called DOE and they said I could put it at anything I want to. I don't think other dealers in town are aware that decontrol affected the profit margin."

Dick Johnson, an auditor with DOE's Southwest Enforcement Act of the Economic Regulatory Administration in Dallas, confirmed Mon-

toya's statement. "No longer do the auditors in that agency check the prices of gas pumps all over the state and file cases against those charging too much money," he said.

Dealers can charge "whatever the market will bear," he said with a laugh. "However, I'm sure any increased costs of the refinery will be passed on to the customer. If a dealer can stay in business by charging higher prices than others, he can leave it at that price."

But he feels prices won't skyrocket. "They will only go up a certain amount and have to come down when people stop buying."

Unknown to most people, decontrol is eliminating some employees in the DOE, Johnson said. "We'll lose people, there's nothing for them to do." But there still will be a DOE to grapple with, as Johnson explained his agency uses less than 1 percent of the department's total budget.

A spokesman with Joe Dick Village Gulf, 2110 W. Wall St., said gas prices went up 2 cents to $1.28 for regular and $1.31 for unleaded on the full-service pumps. And he estimated the prices probably will reach $2 a gallon by summer.

An employee at Ray Hollingsworth Chevron, 1101 Andrews Highway, said gasoline from the supplier jumped 6 cents a gallon Thursday night. The station hasn't raised its prices yet, said the employee, but will at the next delivery.

Nor has D.J. Albrecht raised his pump prices. But he got a call Saturday from his supplier that the price he pays is going up 3 cents on the gallon. That will make regular $1.283

Midland park to reap Arco's 'Growing Concern'

Midland's tree population will increase by 800 Thursday when local students, the Parks and Recreation Department and Arco Oil and Gas Co. combine efforts to plant seedlings in Hogan Park.

This is the first year Midland is participating in Arco's national program called Growing Concern, according to Bobby Donohue, local coordinator. "As we all know, Midland is in dire need of more trees," he said.

The planting will start at 9 a.m. in Hogan Park. About 150 students from Midland Christian School and members of the Future Farmers of America at Midland High School will be planting the live oak and red oak seedlings.

They will be assisted by volunteers of the Parks and Recreation Department and Arco, according to Donohue.

After the planting, Arco is sponsoring a wiener roast for the students, and then will give participants a certificate, he said.

After lunch, about 500 balloons will be released — each balloon containing a slip of paper and a seedling. The piece of paper spells out that whomever finds the balloon should plant the seedling and mail the slip back to the Arco office in Los Angeles, which is in charge of the tree program. The slip of paper should contain information as to who found the balloon, when and where and if the seedling was planted.

Through the slips, Arco keeps track of their trees, said Donohue. To date, the trees have a 90 percent survivability rate.

To guide the program here, Gene Owings, Arco public relations director in charge of Growing Concern, will be in Midland Wednesday and Thursday.

Court case also affects bilingual education

DALLAS (AP) — A Reagan administration decision to shelve proposed federal rules for expanding public school bilingual education has brought groans from Mexican-American leaders and sighs of relief from Texas school administrators.

But the status of Texas bilingual education remains clouded by a pending federal court case seeking to extend the programs through the 12th grade in all state public school systems.

"This is but one example that the Reagan administration is trying to disembowel the Hispanic community," said Corpus Christi attorney Ruben Bonilla, president of the League of United Latin American Citizens. "This is a very steep price to pay for having given the Republicans the strongest Hispanic vote in history."

The move was criticized as "a step backward for a viable bilingual education program in this state" by state Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi.

But in Dallas, school board vice president Jill Foster said she was glad the proposed rules were being dumped.

"We've been working a long time...

to develop a good bilingual education program and we don't need a lot of government regulations on us that are very restrictive," she said.

The rules, if adopted, would have required that children be taught in their native languages through grade 12.

That objective was being sought in a Texas federal court by a Mexican-American group. Attorneys in the case have been given until March 2 to try to reach agreement.

The decision "may have some impact upon the case in which we currently are involved," said Texas Attorney General Mark White. "We are waiting for reaction and clarification from the U.S. Department of Justice before we can make any further statement."

State Education Commissioner Alton Bowen said the Texas law, requiring bilingual education through Grade 3 where needed, with grades 4 and 5 optional, "is transitional — as soon as a child learns English he is pulled out of bilingual education," he said. "The federal government had very stringent rules on a child exiting bilingual education."

Troops, more weapons pledged

Reagan revamping South Korea relations

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, taking a hands-off approach to South Korea's internal affairs, says the United States will keep its 39,000 combat troops on the Korean peninsula.

Reagan also is offering to sell additional U.S. weapons and defense industry technology to help South Korea confront "continuing threats to peace."

A senior State Department official said it's even possible U.S. forces there will be strengthened, although probably not with more ground troops, to offset a North Korean military advantage that "could lead to an attack at almost any time."

In a communique following talks here Monday with South Korean President Chun Doo-hwan, Reagan tried to smooth four years of rocky relations between Washington and Seoul, saying the United States will "resume immediately" a full range of consultations with South Korea.

He laid to rest his predecessor's long-stalled plan to gradually withdraw U.S. troops from South Korea, declaring, "The United States has no plans to withdraw U.S. ground combat forces from the Korean peninsula."

He also set aside the Carter administration's concerns over human rights abuses and the military coup that brought Chun to power and aborted moves to make the Korean government more democratic.

Reagan told Chun in a luncheon toast the two nations enjoy "a never-ending friendship" and "our special bond of freedom and friendship is as strong today" as it was 30 years ago.

The communique made no mention of human rights, but the State Department official who briefed reporters said, "It is not for this administration to go into the internal affairs of the Republic of Korea."

"We are not going to look into the past; we are looking toward the future," the official, who asked not to be identified, added. And, if any doubts remained, he said, "security is uppermost in our minds as we approach relations with South Korea."

The developments in Washington were greeted enthusiastically in South Korea. Seoul newspapers gave banner headlines to the announcement that there would be no U.S. troop withdrawal and reported that was only part of broader moves to strengthen Korean-American relations.

"The inconvenient relationship between the old administrations has now clearly come to an end and the relations between the two countries now have entered into an era of new partnership and broad understanding," the Democratic Justice Party said in a statement. The party is the dominant government political organization in South Korea.

Chun had two chief objectives on his trip here, according to another State Department official: to obtain reaffirmation of the U.S. defense commitment and to enhance his image as leader both at home and abroad.

He succeeded in both. At a White House luncheon in Chun's honor, Reagan said, "We are committed to each other's defense against aggression." The final communique also spelled out a joint commitment to "uphold the mutual obligations embodied" in a 1954 mutual defense treaty.

The communique also stressed that South Korea would have to be "a full participant" in any U.S. discussions with North Korea for reunification of the country. Communist North Korea has long opposed talks that would include the South.

The United States has had a large military contingent in South Korea since the Korean war ended in 1953.

Several thousand American troops were withdrawn in 1979 under former President Carter's gradual troop withdrawal program, despite the South Korean government's expressions of concern.

Carter put the plan on hold, however, after encountering strong opposition in Congress and reporting there had been a major and previously undetected buildup of North Korean forces. He had intended to review the policy this year.

By inviting Chun for a visit ahead of major allied leaders, Reagan put a stamp of approval on Chun, who seized power following the assassination of President Park Chung-hee in October 1979, just four months after Carter made an official visit to South Korea.

One man killed, five others injured in two-car mishap

An Odessa man was killed and five other men were injured in a two-vehicle, head-on collision early Monday night on U.S. Highway 80, just east of the Midland-Ector County line.

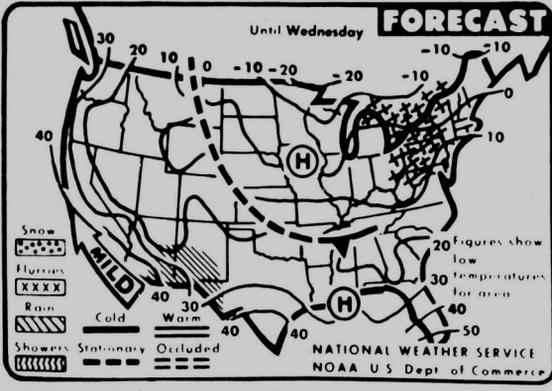

Pronounced dead at the scene by Midland Justice of the Peace Charlie Sprayberry was William T. Fisher, 26, of Odessa. Released from Odessa's Medical Center Hospital following treatment for minor injuries was 35-year-old Sylvester Herrera of Midland.

Also released after treatment were four passengers in the Herrera car. They were identified by the Department of Public Safety as Sam Gutierrez, 29, of Carlsbad, N.M.; Ralph Sandoval, 15, of Midland; Pablo Sandoval, 22, and 16-year-old Edward Alarcon, both of Midland.

According to the DPS, Fisher's 1972 Ford was eastbound on Highway 80 when he apparently lost control of the vehicle, crossed the median and collided with a 1970 Chevrolet driven by Herrera.

The accident occurred at 7:10 p.m., some 100 feet inside Midland County. Fisher's body was taken to Thomas Funeral Home in Midland, where services are pending.

Jane Doe wonders who she really is

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The polite young woman in the South Florida State Hospital says she wonders as much as anyone else who she was before September, when a park ranger found her naked and filthy, too weak to cry for help.

Jane Doe, as she now is known, says she doesn't know how she got to Birch State Park here, or why she was emaciated, dehydrated, covered with dirt and near death when she was discovered Sept. 19.

She also says she wonders who and where her family and friends are and why they haven't visited her.

"No one has stopped by to see me," she said in an interview. "I feel forgotten. I guess life works out that way."

Ranger Elijah Brown said that when he found her, the woman, who appears to be about 30, was filthy and surrounded by flies in a small clearing in the underbrush. She was about 50 yards from a pavilion frequented by park visitors.

Her legs were covered with sores brought on by weeks of exposure. Four white, plastic cups lay near her. There was nothing else. She was hospitalized and recovered her health, but her memory goes back only to September.

Attempts to establish her identity through nationwide fingerprint checks were fruitless, and now, bearing the customary name for female unknowns, she lives as a ward of the hospital.

"This is a fascinating case. A beautiful case for a detective story," said Dr. Cesar Hernandez, a psychiatrist who evaluated her.

"Who brought her there?" Hernandez asked. "What was so traumatic to her that she doesn't even remember, or won't talk about it? Was she attacked? Abused? Abandoned?"

Doctors believe Jane Doe's problem is "conversion reaction," a psychological phenomenon in which a trauma or breakdown is converted into a physical ailment such as amnesia or blindness.

"So the person is more comfortable, but he may be less functional, which is a very bizarre thing," said psychiatrist Dr. Jesse Kaye, who meets with Ms. Doe daily.

"Here's a lady who merely walks along and says, 'I don't know my age, I don't know if I have any family. I just don't know.' So she doesn't have to deal with it. It is a protection against self-anxiety," Kaye said.

The woman, who introduces herself as Jane Doe, is polite and articulate but is described as a loner at the hospital. She is about 5 feet 4 inches tall.

"I guess if I'm meant to have a family and friends, they'll find me," she said. "And if I don't have anyone, I'd like to know that, too."

Jane Doe's body has recovered but her memory has not returned. Last September, a Birch State Park ranger in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., found a nude young woman, emaciated, dehydrated and covered with dirt in a small clearing, only 50 yards from a pavilion area frequented by park visitors.

Prices on local gas pumps reflect decontrol and unleaded $1.333 a gallon on the full-service pumps at his Texaco station at 2200 W. Front St.

"I don't think (decontrol) is going to help me. They (suppliers) will keep charging me more."

Gas could easily go up to $2 a gallon by summer, Albrecht said, but he's not looking forward to it. "People will have to slow down and it hurts my business."

Joe Chatman has operated his Fina station at 2410 N. Big Spring St. for five years. In that time, he's watched the prices go from 38.9 cents a gallon to almost $1.30 a gallon.

He was expecting a 5 percent hike order to come in the mail Monday, he said. Like many others, Chatman expects a gallon of gasoline to cost near $2 by the end of the year. But unlike others, he still expects Midlanders to keep driving those cars.

"It won't bother my business," he said. "To get to work, people will have to pump the gas or walk."

Even though his prices have more than tripled in his five years, Chatman said his business hasn't slowed down. "Some customers I have are still driving gas guzzlers. I have trouble keeping enough gas here."

Without the DOE breathing down the dealers' necks now on the profit margin, Montoya said he could raise his gasoline to $1.50 a gallon. "But I'd be cutting my own throat."

He feels the profit margin should be about 25 cents a gallon, instead of the DOE's ruling of 17.7 cents. Montoya charged that dealers "are being taken advantage of by the oil companies" when it comes to rent for the building. His lease is for $2,000 a month, and it's the oil company who specifies the price.

Competition to bring in more customers could result in a gas war in a few months, said Montoya, who has been at his location for 1 1/2 years. "I think gas may hit $1.50 by summer and be about $1.60 a gallon by the end of the year."

Competition also may see some small service stations going out of business, according to Montoya. The biggest problem today for major dealers is the self-service pumps at convenience stores. While they pay the same amount as dealers for the gasoline, they charge less because the stores sell other items besides gasoline.

Convenience stores are not exempt from decontrol. Their suppliers went up 3 cents on the gallon, and so have the prices on all grades of gasoline at 7-11 stores, said Robert Aalstin, supervisor.

Overall, Montoya welcomes decontrol. "I'm glad to see it. It's good for our economy. Sure, it'll hurt us at first. But I feel the oil companies should be more competitive; we may get lower prices from the suppliers then."

Peat bog fire dying out; Brush fires continue

By The Associated Press

A smoking peat bog fire in south Georgia was dying out today under a spray of 2,500 gallons of water per minute, but brush fires continued to spew smoke over Interstate 95 in Florida.

The Florida Highway Patrol closed a 25-mile stretch of the highway for the second straight morning today as a dense smoke and fog drastically reduced visibility. But officials said they had stopped the spread of three fires.

The Georgia peat bog fire was "90-some-odd percent out," Jerry Stargel, a spokesman for the state Department of Transportation, said Monday night. "There's a possibility of some light smoke, but that's about it."

Smoke from that fire has been blamed for four traffic deaths and repeated highway closings.

Some 2,500 gallons of water a minute from two nearby wells were being pumped into the bog — about 3.6 million gallons each day — and a helicopter was dousing the area from above, Stargel said.

Six bulldozers had pushed land to form a dike around the area, in an effort to swamp the 100 or so acres involved.

A "general soaking rain" of 1 1/2 inches Sunday night also helped the process.

For nearly two weeks, smoke from the smoldering peat bog has menaced drivers along Interstate 75, the main link between Florida and the northern United States.

The problem worsened Jan. 25 when atmospheric conditions caused the smoke to "hug the ground," and winds sent smoke billowing across the highway, reducing visibility to zero, Stargel said.

Before the highway was closed that day, low visibility was blamed for a seven-car pileup that left three people dead and nine injured. A later accident caused another death.

A 10-mile section of I-75 between the Georgia towns of Harira and Adel had been closed daily until last Friday.

Florida state troopers were diverting traffic to an alternate route as dense smoke from brush fires blanketed Interstate 95 along Central Florida's east coast.

The highway was closed Monday night from Edgewater, about 12 miles south of Daytona Beach, to Titusville.

Earlier Monday, there was some light rain, "but unfortunately not enough to alleviate our problem," said Volusia County sheriff's Deputy Joe Nasser.

Two chain-reaction accidents that resulted from the smoke last week left one person dead and 15 injured.

Forestry officials said three separate fires covering some 2,900 acres near the Brevard-Volusia county line caused the smoky conditions.

Firefighters from the forestry service, three Volusia County volunteer fire departments and two timber corporations have been able to stop the fires' spread, authorities said.

Shuttle delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first launch of the manned space shuttle, already more than two years behind schedule, has been delayed until April to give investigators time to find the cause of a fuel tank problem.

The flight had been scheduled for March 17.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Monday that the launch will be attempted no earlier than the week of April 5. The flight may be delayed even further if the cause of the problem is not discovered and corrected soon, NASA said.

Aviation pioneer Douglas dies

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Aviation pioneer Donald W. Douglas, the man credited with designing the first economically feasible airliner and the first airplanes capable of round-the-world travel, has died at the age of 88.

Douglas, honorary chairman of McDonnell Douglas Corp. and the creator of the DC-3 airplane, died Sunday at Desert Hospital in Palm Springs. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

"Donald Douglas Sr. was one of the famous pioneers of the early days of aviation," said Sanford McDonnell, chairman of McDonnell Douglas, based in St. Louis. "His design genius gave birth to the world renowned DC or Douglas Commercial line which revolutionized the aircraft business.

"Mr. Douglas contributed mightily to victory in World War II, when many thousands of his aircraft were produced and performed on all fronts with distinction," said McDonnell.

"After the war, he led the way once again in building fleets for the airlines and in pioneering in space flight. Our nation has lost a great leader and a man with unparalleled vision," McDonnell said.

Douglas graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1914 after resigning from the Naval Academy because it had no aeronautical classes at the time. He taught at MIT for a year, then signed on as chief engineer at the Glenn Martin aircraft factory in Los Angeles.

County parking lot is off limits

Midland County's half-block parking lot at Illinois Avenue and Baird Street is off limits to all but county employees and those having business to take care of at the courthouse.

"There will be an area reserved for county employees, and there will be an area reserved for county business," Constable Tom McGinnis said Monday.

Approximately 100 parking spaces are available at the lot.

Until recently, automobile parking spaces on the far west side of the lot had been reserved for J.C. Penney Co. customers. But with the department store's move from downtown Midland to Midland Park Mall, Penney's has abandoned its right to those westside spaces.

The county had agreed in a contract to lend those spaces to Penney. But last week, the Midland County Commissioners' Court agreed to do away with the "shoppers'" parking spaces and to return them to county- and county-business use.

Limited parking on the north side and west side of the courthouse square for some time has been causing congestion.

Spaces on the north side of the courthouse are reserved for the county's elected and appointed officials. The "20-minute" spaces on the westside are for "county business" only.

Did Garwood collaborate with Viets?

Five-man Marine jury to decide his fate

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP) — Was Marine Pfc. Robert Garwood a "selfish opportunist" who knowingly collaborated with his Vietnamese captors, forsaking his fellow American prisoners?

Or was the emotionally unstable young Marine driven to insanity in jungle captivity, not comprehending that he was doing wrong?

Those questions will be answered by a five-man Marine jury at the conclusion of final arguments in the court-martial of the 34-year-old Marine, who spent 14 years in Vietnam.

The defense was completing its rebuttal today.

Garwood is charged with collaborating with the enemy by acting as an interpreter, informer, indoctrinator, interrogator and guard of American soldiers. He also faces charges of striking another prisoner of war, but three other charges were dropped last week.

Garwood faces life imprisonment if convicted.

In four hours of argument Monday, prosecution counsel Maj. Werner Helmer charged Garwood willingly crossed over to the communists.

The chief defense counsel, John Lowe, began his final arguments by reiterating contentions that the Indiana native, captured at age 19 near Da Nang, "fell in the crack in Vietnam."

"He was not mentally sick enough to die, but he was ill enough to be used by the other side," Lowe said. "He was the unusual one, the one who walked the tightrope."

Garwood returned to the United States early in 1979 and his conduct in Vietnam has been the subject of considerable legal maneuvering since then. Pretrial hearings lasted for months and the court-martial has been under way since Nov. 14.

The government's case was based almost entirely on evidence from eight fellow prisoners of war who, from 1967 to 1969, were in camps with Garwood.

Helmer appealed to the jury, "Let us not forget the prisoners of war's testimony. They saw the acts of the accused. He could carry on a coherent conversation with them. He could joke and play cards. Never did he tell anyone that he was forced to do these things."

Garwood was further characterized as a survivor "who used the Vietnamese when he had to and used the Americans when he needed them." Helmer also asserted that because Garwood had a deprived childhood, he used his special position with the Vietnamese "to play the honcho, to play that role up to the hilt."

The government concluded its final argument by stating that "we have a situation of survival at any cost."

"Garwood took advantage of the situation and that was his choice. He has to answer for that," Helmer said. "He is seeking to avoid responsibility for his actions. You don't forsake your fellow prisoners to make things easier for you."

Lowe attempted to dispel the government's contention that the claim of insanity was simply a "smokescreen."

Conceding that, generally, the defense does not dispute the facts as presented by the POWs, Lowe asserted their testimony helped Garwood because it backed up psychiatric findings of his insanity.

Answering the government contention that prisoners had not noticed any apparent mental disease in Garwood, Lowe said, "We are talking about subconscious things. We feel the POWs could not necessarily know if Garwood was suffering from a mental disorder."

Falwell to sue Penthouse magazine

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — The Rev. Jerry Falwell, who lost a bid for an order banning distribution of the March issue of Penthouse magazine, says he will pursue a $10 million damage suit against the adult publication.

"I think God will have the last laugh," said Falwell, who sought an injunction because the magazine carried an interview with him.

U.S. District Judge James C. Turk issued a temporary restraining order Friday banning distribution of Penthouse until a hearing was held. On Monday, he refused to issue a preliminary injunction to ban distribution until the suit is heard.

Penthouse lawyer N. Roy Grutman of New York said after the hearing the magazine hadn't decided whether to countersue Falwell.

Falwell, 46, is founder and star of the Old Time Gospel Hour and national president of Moral Majority Inc., a conservative Christian political action group.

He also is pastor of the 17,000-member Thomas Road Baptist Church and chancellor of a web of Christian schools here, including Liberty Baptist College.

The minister, who is seen and heard by millions every week, said he granted two interviews to free-lance writers last year on condition they would not sell their interviews to Penthouse or Playboy magazines.

"Penthouse magazine is a very poor package for the gospel of Christ," said Falwell, the only witness at Monday's hearing.

"I've always trusted the media," Falwell added outside the courtroom. "But we've already got a form that they sign from now on that says if an interview appears where we don't want it, we'll have your hide."

Grutman said last week's order against Penthouse was a case of prior restraint of the press and abridged the First Amendment.

While Falwell said he respected Penthouse's rights, the minister added he wanted to exercise his rights to prevent harm to his reputation and fund-raising efforts.

Turk said the public interest and possible financial damage to Penthouse, estimated by Grutman at $14 million or more, outweighed Falwell's concerns.

Reagan's paring knife

Ronald Reagan lost no time practicing as president what he preached as a candidate. He handed his aides a paring knife and told them to start trimming the high costs of government. These were the first four steps of the cutting process:

- 1 — Mr. Reagan's first official act as President was to order a freeze on the hiring of civilian employees in nearly all federal departments.
- 2 — He asked cabinet members and employees to "set an example" by avoiding unnecessary expenses. In other words, don't redecorate your offices just to impress visitors from back home.
- 3 — He issued a stop-order on the purchase of office machines and furniture.
- 4 — And he pointed the paring knife at one of the most wasteful of bureaucratic practices, the hiring of consultants. If he has his way he will reduce consulting and other special services costs by five to 15 percent. That would save millions.

These steps, and others soon to follow, will not magically put the federal budget in the black. But they are an impressive beginning and demonstrate the good faith of President Reagan.

He put his paring-knife moves in the appropriate perspective by saying these first four steps "will help redeem our pledge to the American people of a government that lives within its means ... No single action will get our economy back on the road to full recovery, but we must follow on our commitments ... to restore our economy."

President Reagan is off to a good start. American taxpayers should hope his knife stays sharper longer than that of his predecessor.

The fires in Poland

The people of Poland are no different from other people in their yearning to be free. That's the message the Communist Parties in Warsaw and Moscow are getting from the revolutionary fires set by Lech Walesa and his labor union, Solidarity.

At first it looked as though the uprising might be quickly contained. It mainly involved dock workers and factory hands the Communists thought might settle down if a few bones were thrown their way.

Then the fires began to spread across the Polish countryside.

Farmers joined in. Housewives and assorted consumers demanded more meat and bread at the market place. Students staged sit-down strikes against requirements that courses in the theories of Karl Marx be compulsory at the University of Lodz.

The intelligentsia was not immune from the contagion of the revolutionary spirit. A distinguished writer, Jozef Szczepanski, who was not allowed to publish anything in his native land two years ago, was elected chairman of the Union of Polish Writers. The union further flexed its muscles by changing a statute requiring it to have 17 Communists on its 32-member board. Now it has only six.

The workers Karl Marx asked to unite are surely uniting, but not in the way he had in mind.

The Polish rebels are well aware of the difficulties of dealing with a Communist government. They are well aware they eventually may have to deal with Soviet tank and infantry divisions.

Despite these realities, the fires of rebellion continue to spread. The yearning to be free is hard to squelch.

INSIDE REPORT

Subcommittee missed one of the 'messages' in the election

WASHINGTON — Trying to repeal the 1980 election and preserve Jimmy Carter's human rights policies, liberal Democratic congressmen are plotting to keep control of the House foreign affairs African subcommittee and retain as a symbol of the past a staffer named Steven R. Weissman.

Weissman's 1978 attack on Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) undercover work in Zaire was reprinted in the book "Dirty Work 2, the CIA in Africa." It was published in 1979 with an introduction by Philip Agee, the renegade ex-CIA official now living in exile in West Germany to avoid U.S. investigators.

Weissman was hired two years ago by Rep. Stephen J. Solarz of New York who is about to step down as chairman of the African subcommittee. Solarz then did not know Weissman had contributed to "Dirty Work 2," described in an introduction by Agee as an attempt "to expose and analyze clandestine operations" by the CIA in Africa. Weissman told us he himself was unaware that "Dirty Work 2" would include an introduction by Agee and an appendix listing the names of 385 undercover CIA operatives in Africa.

Solarz is giving up his African chairmanship for what he thinks will be the more lively Asian affairs panel. The powerplay of liberals vs. moderates in the committee's Democratic ranks revolves around Solarz's push for Rep. Howard Wolpe of Michigan, a liberal scholar on African affairs who is backed by the Congressional Black Caucus. Wolpe has given Solarz assurances that if he gets the chairmanship, he will retain the subcommittee's present staff — including Steve Weissman.

Evans

Wolpe's opponent in the caucus of committee Democrats, set for Feb. 3, is moderate Rep. Dan Mica of Florida, who has seniority to become chairman but is regarded as dangerously unsafe on the human rights issue by the liberals. Supporting Solarz and Wolpe is the committee's longtime liberal powerhouse, Rep. Jonathan Bingham, of New York, backed by many junior members (including five freshmen, two of them black and all of them liberals).

"These people are terrified," a committee staffer told us. "They think (President) Reagan and (Secretary of State Alexander) Haig are out of touch with reality, and they are trying to build a barricade around the African subcommittee to keep it safe for human rights."

In fact, it is Solarz, Bingham and Wolpe who seem "out of touch with reality." Their insistence on keeping Weissman as the Africa subcommittee's No. 2 staffer shows a quixotic attempt to repeal the election and restore politics of the '60s and '70s. The role of Weissman, so distrusted by the government of Zaire that he is regarded as an enemy by that U.S.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Power play continues for Persian Gulf oil

WASHINGTON — The removal of the American hostages from Iran unfortunately has not defused the Iranian crisis. The captive Americans were merely pawns in a far more deadly struggle for control of the Persian Gulf. Here are the frightening facts that now confront President Reagan:

— Iran dominates the Persian Gulf, which is the source of most of the western world's oil. Yet this strategic land has fallen into the hands of fanatics who have brought the government to the brink of chaos. Their ruling ayatollah, who looks like the Wrath of Allah, with blazing black eyes and a fierce pontifical scowl, is viciously anti-American. A devotee of purposeful suffering, he has dramatized the vulnerability of the mighty United States before the powerless zealot.

— The nearby Soviets are expected to slide across the great divide into oil dependence later this year. In a desperate attempt to increase their production, they injected water into some oil fields but merely flooded the wells and damaged the understructure. Now the weakening of Iran has presented the Soviets with an opportunity to move in on the Persian Gulf oil region. They have positioned 23 divisions near the Iranian border and are effectively fanning the propaganda fires throughout the area.

— With the Red Army in Afghanistan and surrogate Cuban forces in South Yemen and Ethiopia, the Kremlin has thrown a ring of steel around the Persian Gulf oil region. Thus the Soviets "could curtail access to the oil that is required by the United States and its allies," warns a secret Pentagon study.

— Jimmy Carter established the far-flung, multi-service Rapid Deployment Force to protect our oil lifeline. Yet top military hands warn it not only is crippled by interservice rivalry but could never be a match for the Soviet juggernaut across the Iranian border. Its Marine commander, Gen. P.X. Kelly, had admitted in classified testimony that the Rapid Deployment Force would be no more than a "trip wire" against the Soviets. The contingency plan calls for a nuclear strike to stop the Soviets from annihilating the force.

— According to Kelly's secret testimony, the force might be used to seize oil fields, "most likely in Iran." Yet the Defense Intelligence Agency has warned that any U.S. military operation against Iran would likely trigger Soviet intervention. The Joint Chiefs have added their opinion, also classified, that the Soviets can now be expected "to take greater risks to achieve their goals."

— Indeed, the Joint Chiefs foresee "a period of particular danger to American security interests in the

CHARLEY REESE

Dr. Jones' 'free ride' coming to an abrupt end

How much of a role the Rev. Jerry Falwell's Moral Majority actually played in the 1980 election could be debated, but there is no debate about the fact that the Moral Majority and other conservative Christian groups have cut a strip off liberal hides that smart.

Dr. Tom Jones, pastor of the fashionable Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church in Washington, D.C., wrote an unintentionally hilarious article in "Presbyterian Survey" about the alleged horror on the right.

The article is funny because the good Dr. Jones does to the Moral Majority exactly what he says should not be done and all in one article.

"Character assassination has no place ... malice has no place" in political involvement consistent with the Gospel, the good doctor piously proclaims at the end of his article. But, hey folks, guess what you find at the beginning of his article.

He starts off with the Biblical story of Abimelech, a vile and evil villain if ever there were one. I would say that anyone who compares people to Abimelech is showing malice. If you doubt me, read what Dr. Jones has to say about fellow Christians who happen to disagree with him on political issues.

"The most serious struggle for me comes from a new phenomenon: the political involvement of the far-right fundamentalist extremists ..." Okay, let's pause a moment. To call someone a far-right extremist is to engage in character assassination. Dr. Jones is a professional word-handler. He knows exactly what the connotation of those words is.

He goes on: "... the basic strategy of this movement is to use the airways, pulpits and computerized mailing lists to identify and promote issues which ... appeal mainly to the most base, sinful tendencies toward self-centeredness, self-serving, self-protection, and accompanying individual fears ..."

Come on, Dr. Jones, let's not foam at the mouth. Your hypocrisy is showing. Since he cleverly neglected to tell his readers just what those sinful issues were, let me name them. Well, a strong national defense, an end to abortion on demand, the freedom to pray in public schools, support for other free nations which share our values, a sound economy, and a halt to subsidizing our communist enemies.

You may or may not agree with those positions, but I would hardly call them sinful. As a matter of fact, have we not heard liberals accuse the Moral Majority of classifying political disagreement as sins and is this not precisely what Dr. Jones, the wonderful liberal, is doing? Funny, isn't it.

But there's more, Dr. Jones is apparently unaware that Moral Majority is a secular organization open to anyone, Christian, Jew or uncertain, who happens to share the same beliefs on these issues. "Presbyterian Survey," however, is a religious magazine. Who's using the pulpit for politicking? The same magazine by the way frequently takes strong positions on political issues like the draft and nuclear power. It is against both, of course.

I tell you plainly: the Moral Majority is in better shape on the issues with the liberal churches which: (1) contribute money and propaganda support to such terrorist groups as SWAPO, the Sandinistas and Puerto Rican leftists; (2) actively seek to disarm and undermine American defense and intelligence agencies; and (3) make apologies for the Soviet Union and its bloody satellites while attacking anti-communist nations.

But do you know what bugs Dr. Jones and his ilk the most? For years, the left has tried to pretend it had a monopoly on morality and now the right is challenging them on moral grounds and the leftists hate that because they know they're going to lose. Well, Dr. Jones, nobody gets a free ride forever.

MARK RUSSELL SAYS

This nation is being overrun by restaurants with an 'n' in their names — Beef 'N' Bun, Steak 'N' Brew. High beef prices could lead to an illegal chain of restaurants selling low-grade, uninspected meat — Dys 'N' Tery.

What if law firms employed such corny advertising — Farnsworth, Pickering, Adams 'N' Pennypacker?

Did you ever see an eye, ear, nose 'n' throat clinic?

It's nice to know that this 'n' was never used by one of the greatest food franchisers of them all — Colonel Harlan Sanders. May he baste in peace.

Sandiford planning divorce

HOUSTON (AP) — In an emotional letter written two weeks before his death, Dr. Frank Sandiford told of plans to divorce his American wife and marry a 27-year-old Italian woman, according to testimony in his wife's murder trial.

Giorgio Ortolani testified Monday that Sandiford wrote the letter as he was flying home to Houston from Italy in mid-January, describing the woman he said he would marry. "She is an exceptional girl, she is a doctor, cardiologist and to me she is the most beautiful girl," Sandiford wrote Ortolani. "I intend to marry her and to have children with her."

Sandiford's widow, Kathleen, 41, is charged with shooting her 47-year-old husband five times with a .357-caliber Magnum during an argument at their fashionable River Oaks home on Jan. 29, 1980. Mrs. Sandiford says the shooting was self defense.

Testimony Monday revealed Sandiford and Dr. Maria Grazia Modena met in the summer of 1979 when she came to Houston accompanying a patient.

THE BEST NEWS THE WORLD HAS EVER HEARD!

About this time Caesar Augustus, the Roman Emperor, decreed that a census should be taken throughout the nation. (This census was taken when Quirinius was governor of Syria.)

Everyone was required to return to his ancestral home for this registration. And because Joseph was a member of the royal line, he had to go to Bethlehem in Judea, King David's ancient home—journeying there from the Galilean village of Nazareth.

He took with him Mary, his fiancée, who was obviously pregnant by this time. And while they were there, the time came for her baby to be born; and she gave birth to her first child, a son. She wrapped Him in a blanket and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the village inn.

That night some shepherds were in the fields outside the village, guarding their flocks of sheep.

Suddenly an angel appeared among them, and the landscape shone bright with the glory of the Lord.

They were badly frightened, but the angel reassured them, "Don't be afraid!" he said. "I bring you the most joyful news ever announced, and it is for everyone!"

"The Savior—yes, the Messiah, the Lord—has been born tonight in Bethlehem!"

"How will you recognize Him? You will find a baby wrapped in a blanket, lying in a manger!" Luke 2:1-12

Blacks deeply frustrated

The Black Experience: Frustrations are deep especially in the field of race relations as we face 1981. According to Vernon E. Jordan, it has been a long time since white hostility was so strong or black frustrations so deep.

Sky-high black unemployment figures and the sharp decline in already low black living standards provide a tinder-box atmosphere in many cities. Racism is on the road to renewed legitimacy. People who were once ashamed of their feelings of prejudice now openly parade them.

One of the storm warnings of 1980 was the rise of Klan activity and violence over the nation. The Klan, states Jordan, can no longer be considered a joke, not when some of its chapters attend guerrilla training camps and some of its members shoot blacks down in cold blood. In Atlanta, some dozen and a half black kids have been found murdered and no clues yet as we go to press.

The Klan went into decline when the so-called good people trimmed their support of its ends and became embarrassed at their own racism. And according to one Imperial Leader of the Klan over national television recently racism is becoming legitimized and middle class business men, professionals now feel free to make derogatory remarks about blacks, Jews, Catholics and other minorities.

The flames of national intolerance are further fueled by religious groups who politicize religion and morality and want to impose their narrow interpretation of Christian doctrine on the rest of us. Deepening racial hostility, fed by inequality and economic stagnation, threaten to tear our society apart in the days to come, concludes Jordan. In the meantime, bellringers, let us in 1981 keep ringing the bells of love, peace and goodwill to all men. OK?

Chimes: CBS News correspondent Walter Cronkite, who has been described by Time magazine as the "single most convincing and authoritative figure in television news," has been selected as the recipient of the 16th Charles Evans Hughes Gold Medal of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. NCCJ was founded in 1928.

Another grain embargo may be possible in future

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary John Block says the Soviet grain embargo "will be dealt with swiftly" by the Reagan administration, but Secretary of State Alexander Haig cautions that lifting it is "not so simple as it might sound."

And Block says he can't guarantee farmers there won't be another grain embargo in the future. "I've always thought it was doomed to failure," Block said Wednesday of the partial embargo on grain sales to the Soviets. "We need to be looking toward a way to lift it. I don't know how. I don't know when. But I haven't changed my mind."

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Young men can also self-test for cancer

Dear Dr. Solomon: The idea of an ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure makes so much sense that I don't see how anyone would disagree. My wife follows this practice in regard to breast self-examination. While strictly speaking this will not prevent disease, as least it would help her detect it early enough so that something could be done about it while the chances for success are at their highest. Is there a similar kind of self-examination a man can do? I know about the warning signals of cancer that everyone should be alert to, but I wonder if there's anything more specific. — Mr. T.H.

Dear Mr. H.: Young men from adolescence until about the time they reach their mid-30s might benefit from self-examination for testis cancer. Sometimes a small nodule or a change in texture can indicate cancer and alert the person to the need to see his doctor. Your physician can give you more detailed information about what to look for when performing testicular self-examination. It should be done about every six to eight weeks.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Although I am only 36 years of age, my most strenuous activity of the past few years has been walking from my house to the car, and from my car to the office. I'd like to get into jogging, and I've already arranged to see my doctor for a complete physical examination. But I'm wondering about the possibility of injury. It seems that many of my friends who run regularly are constantly complaining about muscle pulls and other assorted injuries. Is this an occupational hazard among all runners? — Roy

Dear Roy: It has been estimated that from 60 to 70 percent of the 10 million people in the United States who run regularly suffer injuries each year that sideline them temporarily. These injuries primarily affect individuals who run more than 35 miles each week, and occur most often in those with underlying foot disorders. Your physician should be able to tell you whether running is for you, or whether some other form of exercise would be more appropriate.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Many of my friends refer to the excessive use of alcohol as an "addiction," but to the excessive use of cigarettes as a "habit." Is there a difference between the two? If not, which of them — drinking or smoking — is considered more addictive? — Carl

Dear Carl: Since individuals may develop a dependence on either alcohol or cigarettes, both must be considered addictive. Dr. Norman M. Kaplan, of the Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, points out that cigarettes are far more addicting than alcohol or even barbiturates; only a relatively small number of people who drink ever become dependent on alcohol, while only a small number of people who smoke ever avoid becoming dependent on cigarettes.

Furthermore, addiction to cigarettes does not require some prior maladjustment on the part of the smoker. Even a well-adjusted person who starts to smoke cigarettes will likely develop a dependence on them.

Keep mouthwash away from kids

Ordinary mouthwash may contain just as much alcohol as a cocktail and the authors of an article in "Pediatrics" warn that like ant and roach killer, and all medications, mouthwash can be dangerous and should not be kept easily accessible to children. The five leading brands of mouthwash contain amounts of alcohol ranging from 14 to 27 percent, the authors state. Depending on how much is ingested, a young child may become ill, wind up with acute ethanol intoxication or, with a large dose, the potential exists for death.

DEAR ABBY

Wild blue yonder surrounds this man

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: This is for the woman who gets lost a lot, and whose husband blames it on lack of confidence.

My husband can get lost driving out of our driveway. He is completely confused whenever he leaves the main streets of our city, although he was born and raised here. He simply has no sense of direction. And it's not because he lacks self-confidence, either: He's a very successful businessman.

To make this disability more interesting, he was a navigator in World War II, and received the Distinguished Flying Cross and seven Air Medals for GUIDING several groups of squadrons in bombing raids over Italy! — RAY'S WIFE IN WATERLOO, IOWA

DEAR WIFE: During World War II, Ray was flying in instruments, or he'd have met his Waterloo in Italy!

DEAR ABBY: You've printed letters from waiters and waitresses. How about printing a letter from an ex-waiter who is now a customer? If the service is really good, I leave between 15 and 20 percent. But if they just sling the food at me, without bothering to come back to ask if I want more water, coffee or dessert, or if they stand around gabbing with the other help with their backs turned toward customers who may want to catch their eye, I call that lousy service.

And for lousy service I leave two pennies. — CUSHING, OKLA.

DEAR CUSHING: Instead of leaving two pennies, you'd be ahead to leave two complaints: one with the waitress, and one with the management.

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago you printed a letter (enclosed) that had a powerful impact on me. I think it bears repeating. — L.A.B., WALL-KILL, N.Y.

DEAR MR. B.: So do I, and here it is:

DEAR ABBY: I am a plastic surgeon and a very busy one, but I am not too busy to write this letter asking you to PLEASE implore parents (especially mothers) to NEVER — and I repeat, NEVER — allow their children to stand up in either the front or back of an automobile while it is in motion.

These last few weeks I have been called upon to make some heart-breaking repairs on some very beautiful little faces that had been pitifully mutilated from accidents that came about in just this way. All it takes is one abrupt stop for a youngster's face to meet a windshield, dashboard or the back of the front seat with such force as to break face bones, knock out teeth and cause disfiguring injuries.

Today I nearly wept while I worked with an eye surgeon for nearly two hours in a vain effort to save the eye of a little boy who had been standing in the back of his mother's car when she slammed on her brakes. (The child's eye was gouged out as he struck the ashtray.) If you will print this I'll be most grateful. — AN M.D. IN L.A.

Spring hairfashions shorter and textured

CHICAGO (AP) — Hemlines are inching up for spring, and so are hair lengths.

"Fall fashion's wide-shouldered T-shape is narrower, and clothing is more loosely structured. Hair will follow that silhouette with freer, fuller, shorter looks," says Victor Figueroa, New York-based member of the Helene Curtis Hairstylists Advisory Board.

The dozen board members, top professionals from across the nation, agree that the basic hair message for spring is short.

"Everyone has wanted smooth hair and straight page styles," says Peter Friedauer in Denver. "But when hair goes short, you need more volume or fullness. We'll see more height on the short hairstyles for spring."

Rosalie Cantrell in Seattle comments, "We've been doing lots of long hair. But people are getting tired of combs, barrettes and hair in the eyes. My clients want their hair cut. They want texture — a chunkier, wispier, shorter style. We'll layer it, and give it fullness for spring."

This short-hair look is "close and sleek at the sides, and 'lifted' for height at the top with perming or cutting techniques," according to Darleen Hakola in Portland, Ore. "The focus is the top of the head, almost with a '50s, Elvis look."

"On longer hair," she notes, "the fullness will be low, at the ends. Long hair will still be close around the head, and we'll still see simple side braids for control around the face."

In the past few years, shoulder-length hair has been worn up or back, in straight styles. Now, members of the board predict a flowing look of big waves or curves.

John Dellaria, in Boston, calls it "the romance of the curve," and traces it to fashion interest in Art Nouveau. "It's a soft, pretty, romantic look," he says. And it's important for spring, he adds.

Curl has been softening since the mid-'70s, from tight Afro curls to the undulating "S" curves of spring 1981. "We'll see more of an arc than a wave," says Rocco Altobelli, in Minneapolis. "We're looking for lift and volume without curl."

To add that extra volume, bounce and curvy-style support to hair, the experts are using old and new techniques: lacing or backcombing, razoring, layering, cutting spiky height into the hair, hot roller setting, hair coloring to add the illusion of fullness, body perming for wave, and body amplifier treatments for fullness without curl.

"Body treatments add direction and lift, enhance the cut, and create movement without wave," says Michael Swiger in Phoenix, Ariz. "And, like perms, they help sustain the style for weeks at a time. That's important to the client who wants a hairstyle to last."

This look of subtle style support points up the sophistication of new spring hair fashions, board members note. Curl is seldom seen, and curve is barely there. Classic styles are updated in quiet, simple ways: asymmetrical bangs on a pageboy, or a single unadorned braid on one side of long hair. Spring's "fullness" is slight — not a wild, frizzy look of volume, but soft style enhancement.

Classics, she says, are the way to stay timelessly stylish and where you should make your investment in clothes. The simple, uncluttered lines and good-quality fabrics are eternally in style, she points out.

"Fads are the greatest fun in the world," she adds, "but the way to bring some of the trends into your wardrobe is to spark classics by adding an individual touch, to use accessories that you can tack on and then remove."

"Coordination is where you use your own creativity, the first step to igniting your own individuality. You should not be in any way hemmed in by fear if you're working with classics and accessories. This is where you should experiment, mixing separates, adding to clothes with everything from bicycle clips to tiaras.

"Coordination is also the way you make up your face and comb your hair, the way you move your hands and use your body. You don't sit in an elegant dress the way you sit in jeans."

Miss Keith, divorced with three grown children, loves to sew and has made all her slipcovers and drapes. She used to make her own clothes but no longer has the time.

Formerly in the theater, she came by chance into the fashion field. As public-relations director of an advertising agency she developed a program for a laundry trade association. The show explained visually how to create myriad looks with a basic black dress and accessories.

AT WIT'S END Stamp out foot growth

By ERMA BOMBECK
When you think about it, technology has come no appreciable distance in this country. Oh, sure, we have electronic games to amuse us and garbage compactors (a spinoff of party-hose), but we still sit around the campfire and our children still carve on the walls.

Medical technology is even worse. The common cold is still a mystery. No one knows why hot flashes occur in the summer but never in the winter when you need them. And not one member of the medical community has tackled the biggest mystery of all — how to stop children's feet from growing. For years, parents have tried to anticipate the rate of growth. From the time a child is old enough to walk until his final days of college, he never has a pair of shoes that really fit.

I have seen my children's feet through an X-ray machine and have known for a fact that there are a good two sizes to go before he outgrows them. In the two short blocks from the store to the car, there is growth beyond belief and he is saying, "Mom! These shoes are pinching my toe and rubbing my heel."

You could buy 135 pairs of shoes in assorted sizes and not once during the entire year would your child fit in one of them. That's the ways kids' feet are.

There are other mysteries surrounding children's feet. I had a son who took a cab to the bathroom. He never walked anywhere. Everywhere I turned I saw his feet propped up at eye level — on coffee tables, over chairs, on top of the TV set, on the dashboard, on the walls.

I drove him to school right up to his desk. I drove him to ball practice, the library, his friends' houses, to the playground, the activities center, the gym and the drugstore. The kid had virgin feet. Believe me, a piece of lint would have caused him pain. He had his shoes three weeks when he reported there was a hole in the toe.

I figured out once if children's intellect developed at the same rate as their feet, by the time they were five they could speak 15 languages, debate Freud (and win), explain Plato, outwrite Shakespeare, challenge Einstein and make parents obsolete.

You have probably wondered why more children don't run away from home. The truth is, their feet hurt. They go through life with nose tissues stuffed in the toe or their toe stuffed in the toe.

I don't know what the answer is, but until children's feet are given scientific priority, the little toddler with the flipper feet that slap with every step will always be with us.

Man, 24, still in Coleman County jail

SANTA ANNA, Texas (AP) — A 24-year-old Austin man remained in the Coleman County Jail after being charged in the beating of a state highway patrolman, police said.

Nathan Heidelberg was charged with aggravated assault on a police officer, possession of a controlled substance and escape from custody.

Peace Justice Gale Brock set bond at $25,000 on each charge.

Authorities said Heidelberg was charged in connection with an attack on Department of Public Safety trooper Jay Moses, 31, last Friday night after Moses had stopped a pickup on U.S. Highway 283 about two miles south of Santa Anna.

Four members of the Lee High School debate team have been honored by the Texas Forensic Association and the University of Houston with invitations to two championship tournaments. They are, from left, Kenny Jonsson, Bobby Dawson, John Kimberly and Eric Fryar. Fryar and Kim-no trump. Sitting West, Miss Kearse dutifully led her partner's suit. East played low and declarer won the jack.

Declarer had some work to do to set up nine tricks, and at trick two she led the king of diamonds. Had Miss Kearse won this trick, declarer would have been in command. But West played low, and declarer continued with the queen of diamonds. Now West took the ace of diamonds and continued with the ten, and declarer could no longer come to more than eight tricks. The defenders were destined to come to two diamond tricks, two hearts and a spade.

Observe what happens if West wins the ace of diamonds on the first lead of the suit. She cannot return a diamond, because North will end up with the J-8 tenace over West's 10-5. If she continues a spade, she gives declarer two spade tricks, two diamonds and five clubs. And a heart shift simply sets up declarer's game-going trick in that suit.

Your play to the first trick could decide the fate of the contract! A writer once remarked: "There's no such thing as a blind opening lead, only deaf opening leaders!" Welcome includes veterans DALLAS (AP) — Vietnam-era veterans received a belated welcome from Mayor Bob Folsom during a wind-whipped city hall ceremony organized to honor two area military men who returned home last week from a different kind of conflict.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Robert Englemann of Hurst and

Marine Staff Sgt. Johnny McKeel Jr. of Balch Springs, two of the 52 Americans held hostage in Iran, were the honored guests at Monday's noontime ceremony on the steps of Dallas City Hall.

A high school band played "It's a Grand Old Flag" as the men were presented resolutions drafted by local governments in Tarrant and Dallas counties.

But Folsom widened the scope of the ceremony, saying, "This is a chance to provide a welcome for all returning Americans," he said, "and to those we did not have a chance to welcome who served in Vietnam."

Folsom, Tarrant County Commissioner A. Lyn Gregory and Englemann spoke — McKeel begged off, pleading a sore throat — a cold, blustery wind whipped clothes, hair and a battery of state and military flags displayed by a Navy-Marine color guard.

The brief ceremony, the most recent in a series of hostage homecoming celebrations in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, took place in bright sunshine on the City Hall mall before a crowd of several hundred.

Afterward, Englemann, in his Texas first public appearance since the hostage release, thanked "all Texans for your support and prayers."

"We are eternally in your debt," he said. McKeel and Englemann shivered along with the crowd as the Kimball High School band filled the subfreezing air with strains of patriotic music.

As the former hostages emerged from City Hall in dress uniform, a subdued wave of applause and a few cheers swept through the crowd. Englemann wore an overcoat to ward off the cold, McKeel did not.

U.S. should have stood firm: Reagan

By The Associated Press

the Soviets "should be under no illusions" about America's resolve to maintain a strong defense.

Iran committed "an act of war" by taking the American hostages, and the U.S. government should have stood firm with a response that their release was non-negotiable, President Reagan says.

"Let me say that I just believe that we got off on the wrong tack in those negotiations to begin with," Reagan said Monday, referring to the attempts by the Carter administration to negotiate the release of the Americans who were taken hostage in Tehran on Nov. 4, 1979.

"The first reply we made was the proper reply — there would be no negotiations until the hostages were returned. And then we violated that," Reagan said.

His comments came Monday in an interview in Washington with reporters for five publications: The Chicago Tribune, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Christian Science Monitor and Time Magazine.

Reagan also answered questions about the economy, relations with the Soviet Union, the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks and the Mideast.

Reagan said the Iranians were "kidnappers." "They were the ones who broke international law, who committed, actually, an act of war," Reagan said.

The president said the United States should have issued its own demands and told the Iranians "here's the price that we put on your keeping them."

Commenting on his review of the agreement that resulted in the hostages' release, he said, "There were some executive orders applying to our own people and so forth that I want checked out with regard to not only international law, but our own law... How do we give up the right of an individual to sue for damages?"

He was referring to one facet of the agreement in which former hostages were barred from pursuing legal claims against Iran involving their capture.

Reagan reiterated that he favors resuming SALT talks with the Soviet Union "any time they want to sit down and discuss a legitimate reduction of nuclear weapons."

But he cautioned that

U.S. didn't lose rights in Iran deal

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A federal judge says the U.S. government may have been "coerced" into returning Iran's assets to get the hostages back, but that doesn't mean American businesses gave up their constitutional rights.

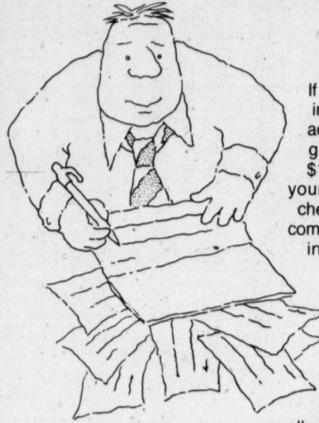

The judge said Behring International Inc. of Houston had a right to $503,000 it was owed under a year-old consent agreement it reached with the government of Iran to settle a civil suit.

U.S. District Judge H. Lee Sarokin told the Treasury Department on Monday it must notify him and Behring if it planned to transfer to Iran funds in a Trenton bank earmarked for Behring.

"The Iranians coerced the United States into surrendering a number of things by their terrorist acts," U.S. District Judge H. Lee Sarokin said. "But that does not include the waiver of rights guaranteed by our Constitution."

He turned down the company's request to immediately release the money, which has remained at Broad Street National Bank under former President Carter's Nov. 14, 1979, executive order.

Uncanny shooting carries Chaps to victory

By TED BATTLES

Puntus Wilson got sick the second half, the Chaps were plagued all night by turnovers and had trouble at times penetrating South Plains' tight-knit zone, so how come they won going away, 90-73, against the Texans at the Chaparral Center Monday night?

For one thing, for every turnover the Green and Gold was guilty of, they forced a Texan turnover in return, but, while South Plains proved hard to shake for the first 30 minutes of play, in the end it was MC's depth, intensity and, most of all, uncanny shooting accuracy that made it look easy.

LED BY Puntus Wilson, who rid-dled the zone from outside with eight field goals in nine attempts, the Chaps kept the lane from getting too clogged and as a result 6-6 Charles Johnson and 6-3 Kevin Willingham worked the inside for 31 points between them.

For the night, the Chaps hit 38 of 62 shots, perhaps their hottest shooting night of the season, but that's what it took because the Texans were 33 of 58 from the field.

The win gives Midland a 21-2 season record and 9-2 Western Junior College Conference mark heading into Thursday's game against New Mexico Junior College at Hobbs.

"They are a greatly improved team over the first time we saw them," appraised MC Coach Jerry Stone. "That little guard (5-10 Scott Ferrell) a ball-handling wizard from Fort Wayne, Ind.,) and that 51 (6-6 B.J.

Jones from Wildwood, N.J.) made things tough for us."

SOUTH PLAINS was a hot team coming into the Center. They brought a 13-9, 6-4 record to the Tall City and had a run of three straight over Western Texas, Amarillo and Frank Phillips going. And they came out acting liked they intended to keep it going.

"We played with a lot of hustle tonight," said Stone. "And while our execution isn't all I'd like it to be, we played with intensity and that's what saved us."

MC led 40-38 at half and SPC still trailed only 60-54 heading into the final 10 minutes, although MC hit eight of its first 10 shots from the field in the second half. But that's when the depth and unrelenting pressure began to pay off. With five minutes left, MC had opened a gaping 78-60 margin with Andrews' Lance McCain, who had 12 points, contributing four free throws to the surge while Johnson had a basket and two free throws and Ernie Tate, Scotty Tutwiler, Raleigh Freeman and Virgil Slay all contributed a couple of points to break it open.

The only Chap who didn't get a rest was Johnson, the sophomore from MHS. "That's right," said Stone. "He's like money in the bank." Johnson, with 18 points, was eight for 10 from the field.

Jones led SPC with 21 points while Ferrell had 13 and Anthony Ferguson, 6-6, scored 10.

But after it was over, Stone was concerned about the possibility that

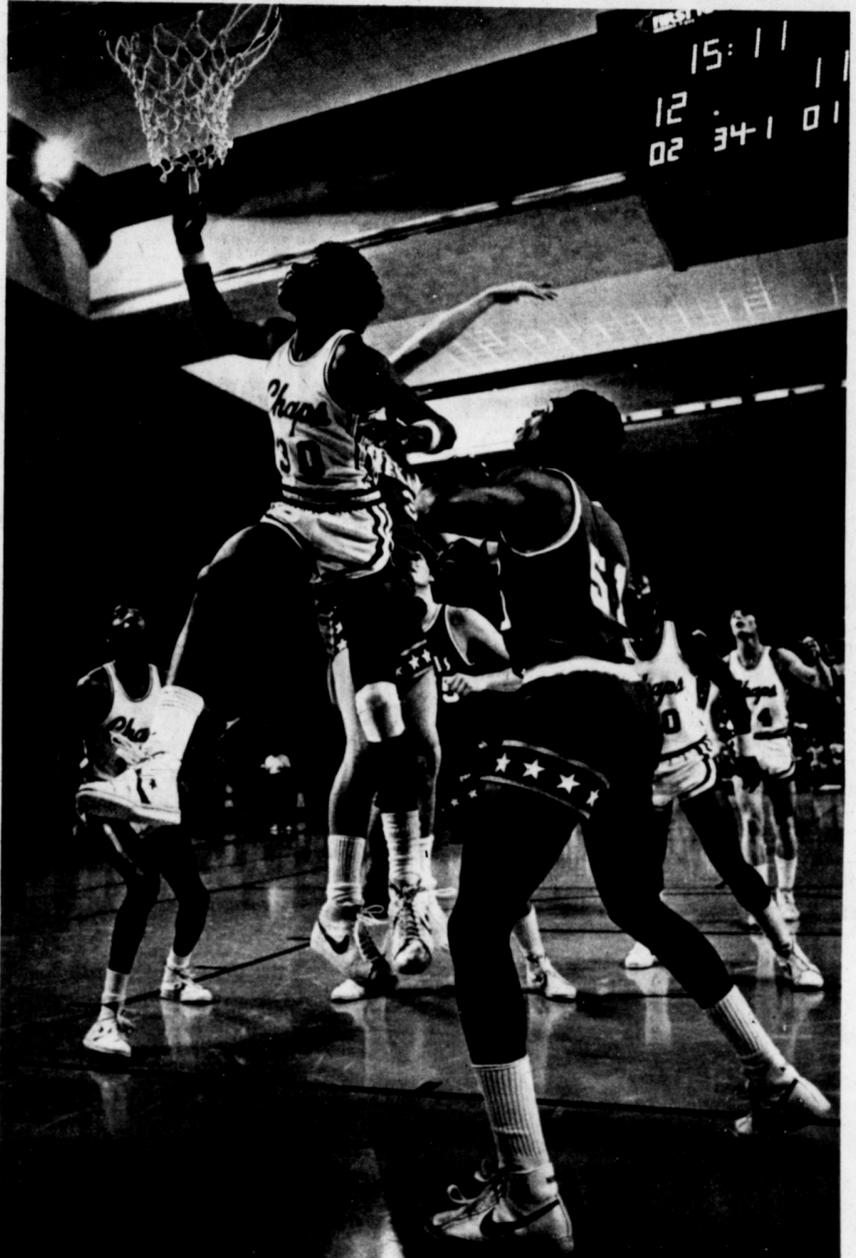

Wilson might have the flu or something. "He threw up in the second half and didn't play much and I'm afraid he may have what has been going around."

CHAP STICKS—Howard College's Harold Wilder, with an off night, was on hand to scout the game and dropped the bombshell, "That's right, we may have to play in our old gym against MC, because they have a concert scheduled for the Garrett Coliseum..." Then looking at SPC Coach Dennis Perryman, "I think we'll play South Plains in the old gym, too, next week..." With an off date in the Missouri Valley, Nolan Richardson, who led WTC to the national title, was on hand to scout the teams and perhaps talent for his Tulsa University team...

Lee guns down Bulldogs

By MIKE CRUVER
SPORTS WRITER

When it rains it pours. Jane Young and her Midland High Bulldogs were seeking a little revenge against Midland Lee for a two-point first half District 5-5A loss to Lee and to ease the memory of Thursday's bitter 45-42 loss to Abilene Cooper when the Bulldogs and Rebels squared off Monday night at Chaparral Center.

UNFORTUNATELY, the Bulldogs turned in their most dreadful showing of the year as Lee drubbed MHS 52-27. The loss dropped Midland to 12-16 on the season and 1-2 in the district race. Lee raised its second half district mark to 3-0 and season record to 16-10 to remain tied with San Angelo Central.

The ballgame opened like a normal Lee-MHS clash — close, fast and no mercy shown. MHS drew first blood when Diane Hogan dropped in a field goal 34 seconds into the game. Gale Wilson sank two free throws to knot the game and the crowd edged to the front of their seats expecting a close contest.

After the first eight minutes, Lee was on top 12-11 and it looked like it was going to be a real barn burner.

So much for appearances: In the second quarter, Lee outscored the Bulldogs 12-3 in the first six minutes to take a commanding 24-14 lead. Wilson tossed to five points and Dana Pinkerton muscled in two buckets underneath to lead the Rebel surge. MHS retaliated with four unanswered points to cut the intermission deficit to 24-17.

MHS' plans of a comeback faded in chilly 2 of 9 shooting in the third quarter. To make matters worse, the Pack hit only 2 of 9 charities and four of the misses were the front end of one-and-one attempts.

While Midland was having trouble finding the range, Lee put in 7 of 13 shots in the quarter to stretch their lead to 41-24 heading into the final eight minutes of play.

Hopes of a fourth quarter rally by the Bulldogs were put to rest early. Dennette Parker hit a jumper from the free throw stripe four seconds into the final period — six minutes went by before the Bulldogs dented the scoreboard again. Midland managed only three points, 1 of 5 from the field and 1 of 4 from the free throw line, to Lee's 11 points as the Rebels easily posted the battle in the win column.

Despite the margin of victory, the Rebels did not play a particularly good game. Lee suffered 21 turnovers and was whistled for 21 fouls. MHS lost the ball 21 times and was called for 15 fouls in the ragged game.

Wilson led the Rebels with 12 points and pulled down a game high nine rebounds. Yshun King added support with 12 points, eight in the final period.

Shelia Christian paced the Purple and Gold with seven tallies. Janice Littlefield was next high with five. High scoring Lucy Miller was held to only four points and Connie Caton had three points, all from the charity stripe for the Pack.

YOUNG said after the game, "I don't know why we were so flat. We were excited during the warmup and really seemed ready to play. I just don't know — this was our poorest game of the year."

Lee mentor Shirley Stevenson said, "We didn't play them much different than we did the first time around. Maybe we shut down their post game a little more and try to disrupt their passes. But really, I don't know why they played so poorly. We didn't play an outstanding game."

In the preliminary contest, Midland romped to a 68-39 win behind 17 points from Rebecca Caton, 13 from Virgie Cooks and 12 by Lisa Bowers. Sally Seal played an excellent floor game and netted seven tallies. Susan Gilles paced the Rebels with 15 points and Glenda Taylor added 10.

In other district 5-5A games, San Angelo Central remained on top of the standings with an easy 62-40 win over Big Spring. The victory boosted the Bobcats to 23-1 on the season and 3-0 in second half league play.

Abilene Cooper, previously unbeaten in the second half, tumbled to Abilene High 46-42 in overtime.

Odessa Permian won its first second half district game in three outings with a 48-45 win over Odessa High. Mojo's season record now stands at 10-17.

The Bronchos fall to 1-2 in district and 7-18 for the season.

MBC boxers nab crown

ODESSA — The Midland Boxing Club won 11 of 14 bouts last week in the High Noon Optimist Boxing Tournament here, including seven of seven in the Saturday night finals while taking the open division crown.

Felix Munoz, who had a 51-8 junior olympic division record, won his first open division title with a victory over Odessa' Barry Scarbrough, another top open division fighter hoping for a Golden Gloves title here in the Feb. 10 tournament.

Joel Avila, 112, won a decision over Danny Gonzales of Andrews in a junior olympic fight which featured two nationally ranked junior fighters.

Other Midland title winners were Benito Banda, 132 open; Edward Bara, 70 junior; Gilbert Hernandez, 70 10-year-old; Benny Long, 130 junior high football; Scott Sims, 95 junior high football; and Johnny Avila, 112 open.

The tournament was the last test for MBC boxers, who have their strongest team in many years, before the Regional Golden Gloves at the Ector County Coliseum Feb. 10. Rick Fleetwood is the team's coach.

"We are hoping to do very well and qualify some people for state," Fleetwood said. "This year's tournament should be a good one. They even have special sections for Permian, Odessa High and Midland fans this year, and teams can have cheerleaders."

Talks with Marchibroda break off

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers Coach Ed Biles said Monday the Oilers have broken off negotiations with former Baltimore Coach Ted Marchibroda, a prime candidate to become Oilers offensive coordinator. Biles said Marchibroda, who is still earning $150,000 annually on his Colts' salary, simply wanted too much money. "I didn't think it would be fair to my other assistants to have one guy making significantly more than anyone else," Biles said. "And there's no way you can keep something like that quiet." With Marchibroda dropping out of the picture, Cleveland offensive coordinator Jim Shofner, who formerly coached at Texas Christian, apparently became the top candidate.

Midland-Lee clash for city bragging rights

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Sports Writer

Midland High has taken some of the luster out of today's 8 p.m. District 5-5A matchup at Chaparral Center with the Midland Lee Rebels by winning the first half title Friday with a victory over Abilene Cooper, but according to coaches at both schools, there won't be a lack of incentive for either team in the Tall City "bragging rights" shootout.

Asked if his 23-3 and state ranked Bulldogs might face a let down tonight after winning the first half title with its perfect 6-0 district mark, MHS coach Jack Stephenson said, "Anytime Midland High and Lee plays you don't have to get the kids up for that game. It doesn't matter what the records are. This is a game where the kids on both sides want to play well, and I should know since I coached with Paul Stueckler at Lee for many years. It is always something you look forward to and I expect our kids to play well, and I know Paul expects his kids to play well."

IN TERMS of the district race, this game has absolutely no bearing on the loop outcome. It's a free ride for the Bulldogs, win or lose. But it may be another story for the Rebels, who need to make something happen for a second half push.

The first half was devastating for the Rebels, who posted a 2-4 mark going into tonight's game. Lee defeated only Big Spring and Odessa High in the first half, and those are teams that have combined for a 1-11 mark in the first half.

But the Rebs feel that they are a competitive unit. The team was hit by the flu bug, which could have helped account for losses to Abilene Cooper and San Angelo by wide margins. They also lost to Odessa Permian with a dreadful shooting night, and despite that they were in the game, 63-60, with 45 seconds left in the contest. They also lost to Abilene High by one point when the Eagles hit a basket at the buzzer.

"It's realistic to say that we are outmanned by Midland High, but we are going to show up," Stueckler said. "We had some bad things happen to us in the first half, but I'm really pleased with the way our kids are progressing each game. We have a young outfit and three of our youngsters (Kenneth Brown, Olen Smith and Barry Blackwell) just turned 16.

"We've lost a couple of tough games and I think that works on our players a little bit. I think if we make a strong showing against Midland High, it would help our team a great deal. I just hope we don't get blown off the court and I don't think we will. But I would feel a lot better if someone could tell me how to defend the likes of Herbert Johnson and Horace Brown. They have a lot of talent."

ONE THING the fans will see tonight from both teams is a lot of hustle. Both have had bodies flying across the court this season. They will go after the basketball.

Midland High has had two close calls in the first half, a triple overtime against San Angelo, and a 57-55 win over Abilene Cooper. However, the schedule favors MHS in the second half since the Pack has only two road games, one at San Angelo and the other at Abilene High. They are both key games.

"I like our schedule in the second half," Stephenson says. "We are going to share the title at least. And we are going to be in a playoff at least. But the past is the past and we just have to keep going and this team will. Playing four games at home in the second half has to be a plus for us."

Lee could make a strong run in the second half race, but the Rebels would just like to see improvement every time out. The Rebs have four returning starters back next year and that may be where the future lies.

"Our goal is to improve every time out because this is going to be a good team," Stueckler said. "But we sure would like to win some this year too."

Walesa to join talks to end general strike

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Independent labor leader Lech Walesa, rushing from one crisis area to another, arrived today in Bielsko Biala to join talks between the government and local union leaders to end a general strike that went into its eighth day.

Walesa earlier attended negotiations between representatives of striking farmers and workers in Rzeszow in southeastern Poland, and a spokesman for the strike committee said that some progress was achieved on a few of the nearly 70 points at issue.

But the foremost problem — the strikers' demand for registration of a private farmers' union — was to be discussed on Wednesday when members of the government delegation, led by Deputy Agriculture Minister Andrzej Kacala, return from Ustrzyki Dolne.

The minister, after talks with strikers occupying the former trade union building in Rzeszow, went to Ustrzyki Dolne to talk to some 20 protesters holed up in the local office of Solidarity, Poland's big independent union headed by Walesa.

A Solidarity spokesman said Kacala was expected to be confronted with complaints about agricultural problems in the mountainous Bieszczady region where most of the protesters are tenant farmers.

The farmers issue appears to be the big remaining obstacle to labor peace in Poland.

Solidarity, the first union free of Communist Party control in the Soviet bloc, and the Polish government reached tentative agreement Saturday on two other roadblocks — the five-day week and greater union access to the media.

The compromise was that Polish workers would get three Saturdays off a month, and work eight hours on the fourth.

Nonetheless, wildcat strikes by Solidarity locals continued, and on Monday an influential Politburo member, Stefan Olszowski, attacked the free labor movement.

Chirac to run for president

PARIS (AP) — Gaullist leader Jacques Chirac announced today he will run for president in the French election in April.

Chirac, 48, who is the mayor of Paris, had been expected to join the race.

He enters a crowded field of nearly 50 candidates in the first round of voting to be followed May 10 by a runoff between the two biggest vote getters.

President Valery Giscard d'Estaing is expected to announce his decision to seek a second seven-year term next month.

Giscard d'Estaing's chief rival is Socialist leader Francois Mitterrand.

Foreign troops supervise cease-fire

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Teams of foreign military attaches patrolled the border battle front between Peru and Ecuador today to supervise a cease-fire agreed to after five days of skirmishing.

The United States, Brazil, Chile and Argentina sent the military observers Monday from their embassies in Lima and Quito, the Peruvian and Ecuadorean capitals, to criss-cross the disputed area in the Condor mountain range by helicopter.

Their job was to make sure that neither army started fighting again at three remote outposts which Ecuador established on territory awarded to Peru in 1942 treaty guaranteed by the four foreign powers.

No fighting had been reported since Monday. Peru claimed it had captured all three posts, but Ecuador said it still held two. Each side said it inflicted heavy casualties on the other, but so far Ecuador has acknowledged only two of its soldiers killed while Peru has admitted to one.

Acceptance of the cease-fire was announced in Lima Monday by Peru's acting foreign minister, Felipe Osterling, and in Quito by Ecuador's president, Jaime Roldos.

Although Roldos said his government sought a peaceful solution to the conflict, he warned it still demands sovereignty over the 70,000 square miles of disputed territory.

"The cease-fire does not signify renunciation of Ecuadorean rights," he told a rally in Quito. "I am conscious of what a long conflict can signify. But I am also conscious that it is an elementary duty to defend Ecuador's territorial integrity."

The Rio de Janeiro Protocol of 1942 delineating the border through the Condor range was signed after a border war in which 500 Peruvians and Ecuadoreans were killed.

Great Lakes hit by sub-zero temperatures

By The Associated Press

Sub-zero temperatures and snow hit the Great Lakes early today as nearly 20 inches of snow piled up along wind-whipped Lake Erie, clogging roads with huge drifts and closing schools in Erie, Pa.

The remains of a week-end Midwest storm made for a rainy Monday along the Atlantic Coast, but the Baltimore-to-Boston area still was far short of the rainfall needed to replenish dwindling reservoirs.

And in Florida's central Gulf Coast area, forecasters said January had been the coldest month in 150 years. Power companies there were being besieged by irate consumers whose bills had doubled or tripled.

In Erie, Pa., three brothers, and possibly a fourth, were believed missing early today on frozen Presque Isle Bay in Lake Erie, and "near blizzard" conditions were hampering a search for them, authorities said.

Four U.S. Coast Guardsmen fanned out across the bay late Monday night to look for the brothers, who were thought to have gone ice fishing at noon.

"We're not that positive they're out there," an emergency dispatcher said. "What we have is a couple of vehicles at the (Presque Isle) state park and a check with their families that shows they're not home."

In the central Gulf Coast area, January 1981 was the coldest month in 150 years, the National Weather Service said.

rain fell on the city on Saturday during a winter storm watch. (AP Laserphoto)

Coast area, January 1981 was the coldest month in 150 years, the National Weather Service said. "More cold air is predicted for the rest of the winter, so it looks like we might have one of the coldest winters in recent history," said a weather service spokesman. The average temperature last month at the Tampa International Airport was 50.4 degrees, 10 degrees below normal. Cool temperatures have caused some utility bills to double or even triple, power company officials say. "People think that all their meters have gone bad," said spokesman Bob South at Florida Power Corp., based in St. Petersburg. "The reason (for higher bills) has not been any kind of price rise in the last month. They're just using more." A rainstorm Monday brought as much as 2 1/2 inches to the Adirondacks in New York, but only a trace of rain parts to drought-stricken Connecticut.

Donovan on verge of filling labor spot

By DAVID ESPO Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Raymond J. Donovan, the full weight of the Senate's new Republican majority behind him, is finally on the verge of taking his place as labor secretary in President Reagan's Cabinet.

The Senate arranged a confirmation vote today for Donovan, the only Cabinet official still awaiting approval.

His confirmation was delayed to permit the FBI to investigate allegations, none of them proven, that he has had ties to organized crime figures.

More than two dozen FBI agents assigned to the case failed to verify any of more than a dozen allegations against Donovan, and the 50-year-old construction company executive denied any wrongdoing in testimony before the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee.

As a result, aides said the only suspense in the confirmation vote was how many of the Senate's 47 Democrats would oppose the nomination because of their concern over the numerous unsubstantiated allegations. Five of the seven Democrats on the labor panel voted "present" rather than go on record favoring Donovan's confirmation.

White congressional Republicans were shepherding the nomination through the Senate, there were several other developments Monday.

The FBI said it sought to discourage Donovan's chief accuser, Ralph Picardo, from granting a live interview last week on the NBC "Today" program. Picardo, who is under FBI protection in connection with other investigations, granted the interview and repeated his allegations that Donovan and his company made illegal payoffs in the 1960s in exchange for labor peace. Donovan is executive vice president of Schiavone Construction Co. of Secaucus, N.J.

—A "Today" program producer reported that Donovan's attorney, Dean Burch, used the White House telephone switchboard to call the network in an attempt to get the Picardo's interview dropped.

—A majority of the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee said "simple and compelling" justice calls for Donovan's confirmation.

A spokesman said the FBI "discouraged" Picardo from doing the "Today" interview "because by encouraging it, it might appear that we were endorsing what he said."

"But any citizen has a right to go on national television and he exercised that right," said the spokesman, Dave Divan.

Divan also acknowledged there may have been "some idle conversation" about withdrawing Picardo's protection. However, he added, "We did not withdraw our security. We kept it there."

"Today" producer Pete Hively said that after the White House operator put Burch on the line the lawyer said, "We're not going for an injunction (to block the interview) because we believe in the First Amendment."

A call being placed by a White House telephone operator could give the listener the impression the call was an official one, even though Burch has no position in the administration.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said he could neither confirm nor deny that the call went through the White House switchboard. However, he said Burch was acting as Donovan's attorney and that there had been no request from the White House for him to call the NBC official.

"It was not done at the request of the White House even though he might have gone through the switchboard," said Speakes.

Burch, former head of the Federal Communications Commission, could not be reached for comment.

Chun considered sure winner in election

By EDWIN Q. WHITE Associated Press Writer

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Chun Doo-hwan is considered a sure winner of South Korea's presidential election Feb. 25, but his image is being greatly enhanced by a media blitz in connection with his visit to the United States.

Since plans for the trip were announced Jan. 22, an intensive campaign has gone on daily to hail what Seoul sees as a new era in Korean-American relations.

The press, free of formal censorship since martial law was lifted Jan. 24 but still under careful government guidance, has devoted much of its front-page space to Chun's trip to Seoul. Stories and pictures have followed the president's every move, accompanied by laudatory analyses and editorials.

On Tuesday, eight of 11 page-one stories in one paper dealt with the visit and Chun's meeting with the U.S. president.

Inside pages also have been filled with stories and pictures on the president and his travels. Over the past week, there have been a number of special supplements devoted to color pictures of Chun and Reagan and articles on the political, economic, defense and cultural ties between the two countries. The supplements have been interspersed with full-page, color advertisements signed by business and industrial firms.

The presidential trip also has dominated TV and radio broadcasts here.

Shortly before midnight Monday, live satellite telecasts brought Chun's White House visit to Seoul.

There has been almost no mention here of anti-government demonstrators who turned out at some points in the United States. However, Korean correspondents traveling with the president reported a speech Chun made in Los Angeles.

Chun, a 50-year-old general until he resigned to become president, came to power in the turmoil that followed the assassination of President Park Chung-hee in October 1979 and was named interim president last August.

He was little known to the public at first but has moved into an active political role since announcing he would be the presidential candidate of the dominant Democratic Justice Party.

Some Korean businessmen praise the trip. They said they hope it will contribute abroad to an image of stability that will encourage foreign investment and loans and help to move South Korea out of a prolonged recession.

Chun has been greeted in the United States by enthusiastic crowds of South Koreans and a newspaper advertising campaign by Korean businessmen that cost more than $300,000. Much of this paid for full-page ads in New York, Washington and Los Angeles.

The businessmen said the ads were good promotion for their companies and also carried out an Asian practice of greeting visiting dignitaries from the homeland.
