Man recalls months of torture

North Yemen officials gave no explanation when they finally released Terrell and William Thomas Jr., 60, an American citizen who lives in Madrid, Spain, on Feb. 8, the State Department said.

In an interview Monday night from Colorado Springs, Terrell said he repudiated the statements he was forced to make about himself and Thomas, whom he described as a salesman. He said Thomas also was tortured while in pris-

Terrell said that before his arrest he had spent about a month in North Yemen researching Yemeni Jews, a subject he became interested in while living in Israel. He said he was arrested Feb. 4, 1980, at the burial site of a Yemeni Jewish poet, Salaam Shabazzi.

He said the Yemenis became suspicious because he had several letters written in Hebrew and addressed to friends in Israel. Even though the letters contained nothing incriminating, the Yemenis refused to believe he was in the country for research, he said.

Terrell, who said he lost 20 pounds during his ordeal, said he was imprisoned for two months in Taiz before being moved to the capital city of San'a

"I was put in a small cell with little lighting and with no other prisoners. My mind went bad on me. I cried out several times. I thought they were going to kill me," he said.

His first contact with the U.S. government was last Novem-ber, when a U.S. consul was allowed to visit him. Until then, U.S. officials were not told why he and Thomas were being held, he said.

Terrell said he went before a tribunal on Dec. 23 and was formally charged with being a spy. "We never heard the verdict," Terrell said. "I did manage to speak up and I did tell the court that I was forced to say things contrary to the truth.

"I showed them scars all over my body as a result of the torture, and they realized they had no case and did not pursue the charges. They probably were feeling embarrassed," he said.

The release of the two captive Americans, culminating months of negotiations by the State Department, came only after U.S. Ambassador George Lane met three times with Yemeni President Ali Abdullah Saleh, Terrell said.

U.S. may complete deal with Iranians

By KEVIN M. COSTELLOE Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - As the 52 former hostages near their first month of freedom from Iran, a highlevel government task force has given President Reagan the legal go-ahead to carry out the last steps of the deal for their release.

Administration officials said Monday night a review of the complex agreement found no legal obstacles that would prompt Reagan to renege on it.

The pact, negotiated by former President Carter, has been chal-lenged in several lawsuits and is under scrutiny today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Reagan and members of his Cabinet are expected to review the task force conclusion and discuss the results with congressional leaders before de whether to Justice Department officials said Monday night they had never changed their position that the pact was legal. Justice officials, along with those from the State and Treasury departments, conducted the task force study.

Reagan has said he intends to honor the agreement, but his aides stressed last month that they wanted to study the terms "very closely" before following through on them.

The next deadline spelled out in the agreement is Thursday.

The United States is obliged by that time to establish an account in the Bank of England that would receive over the next six months $1 billion in now-frozen Iranian deposits held in domestic branches of American banks.

seeking about $3 billion from the Iranian government.

It calls for the transfer of billions of dollars in frozen Iranian assets to special bank accounts, with the money to be held pending settlement of U.S. companies' claims against Iran by a special international commission.

Last week in Dallas, U.S. District Judge Robert Porter ruled that Carter's action in unfreezing the Iranian assets was an "unwarranted intrusion" into the judicial branch of government. The judge, ruling in a suit brought by Texas millionaire H. Ross Perot's computer company, held up the transfer of $20 million to Iran. In a different suit in New Jersey, a federal judge on Feb. 2 barred the transfer of $500,000 to Iran. The pact also has been challenged in federal court in Boston.

Among other things, it bars the former hostages and their families from suing Iran over their captivity and blocks several hundred legal proceedings by American businesses nosta Including some who were held for briefer periods of time have ignored the agreement and filed lawsuits seeking damages ranging from $120,000 to $30 million each from Iran.

An attorney for 11 of the former captives says the agreement presents "a grave constitutional problem."

Reagan's 'straight talk' will call for tax cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan, disdaining any "cutesy acronym" to symbolize his assault on the nation's economic woes, will use "straight talk" in his televised address to Congress to call for immediate action on cutting taxes, the budget and government regulation, his chief spokesman says.

"We have no choice," presidential press secretary James S. Brady said Monday as Reagan and his aides completed a "page by page, line by line" review of the speech in the White House library. "We have to deal with inflation. He is saying the system will work if we let it work."

The speech, to be delivered at 9 p.m. EST Wednesday, will be the centerpiece of a six-part package detailing Reagan's economic program of tax reductions and approximately $50 billion in budget cuts.

The package also will contain:

-His actual budget message revising the Carter administration's fiscal 1982 spending proposal of $739.3 billion.

-A written message to Congress expanding on points in the speech.

-A two-part tax document containing specifics of his proposed cuts in individual income taxes and accelerated depreciation schedules intended to reduce business taxes. The New York Times reported today the administration will propose that highincome Americans - individuals earning at least $42,500 and couples earning at least $60,000 - receive less than the full 30 percent tax cut being considered for most taxpayers over three years.

-A 12- to 15-page fact sheet.

-Proposals to revise government regulations.

'This will be the information base from which we begin the offensive," Brady said. He outlined a multi-front approach that will have top administration officials appearing on television news programs and 125 execu-. tives of major newspapers from across the country visiting the White House to be briefed by the president. Brady said the speech will focus on the budget and tax cuts, the need for a stabilized monetary policy and the regulatory revisions.

"There's a lot of 'making the people a partner' in the plan," Brady said. "It's not simply the Reagan plan. It's going to be 'our plan.'

The speech, Brady said, will be "a clarion call saying it's not going to be 'business as usual.

Reagan "has rejected the thought of a cutesy acronym. These are serious times. It is a serious mission. The descriptive title of this will be as straight as the straight talk" of the speech, the press secretary said. "There will be no 'WIN,' " Brady said, referring to the slogan of Gerald R. Ford's economic program, an acronym for "Whip linflation Now."

He said Reagan, attempting to correct "some misapprehension," will promise "equal treatment for business subsidies as well as other government programs."

This would appear to be aimed at alleviating fears that the president will seek to stem government spending increases by cutting social programs without reducing government aid for business.

Digging out of a sewer trap

Metropolitan Sewer District workers excavate city streets Monday in an attempt to come to grips with the rubble left by a series of explosions that damaged the Louisville, Ky., sewer system last Friday. Some feared unexpected rains would wash away what little of the system remained and city officials ordered the digging of emergency sewage trenches. That work is expected to be completed in about 10 days. See related story, Page 10A. (AP Laserphoto) prison system. "We may have to come back, I don't know" after Justice's final ruling, Estelle told a subcommittee of the House Committee on Security and Sanctions.

Justice has not issued his final ruling in a civil rights suit brought by inmates aganst TDC.

In testimony to the House subcommittee and the Senate Finance Committee. Estelle laid out a point-by-TDC's proposal calls for $33.4 million for medical expenses. LBB recommended only $25 million. Estelle said the money TDC wants would end a medica' system that depends on inmates to distribute drugs and do medical procedures. It would pay for 278 new medical assistants.

"We are vulnerable, and we are liable and we are going to be as long as we have inmates in that area," he told senators.

Throughout Estelle's presentation, Sen. Ed Howard, D-Texarkana, pointed out that the requests were large increases over TDC's current budget. Howard said a "bottomless well" would be needed to meet all the requests.

Estelle laid out a plan to end overcrowding in the 30,000-inmate system. He said a combination of his work-release proposal, Gov. Bill Clements' $35-million plan to build space for 2,880 inmates, and the construction of the Grimes County prison could end overcrowding.

Clements wants the Legislature to appropriate $35 million for new buildings at existing prisons. The Estelle plan calls for the release of 2,500 inmates to work and live at home. Overcrowding would end in November if both programs are initiated, Estelle said

However. Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, was not concerned about overcrowding.

"We've got a lot of people in Texas who never committed a crime sleeping on the floor," Parker said. "I don't know why people get so excited. I used to sleep on the floor.'

Chairman Grant Jones, D-Abilene, suggested Parker speak to Justice. Parker replied, "If we had hired a good lawyer maybe we wouldn't be in this mess."

Dance-A-Thon sets dancing, pledge records

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, TUES., FEBRUARY 17, 1981

Some $17,430.18 in pledges was col-lected during the fifth annual Midland College Dance-A-Thon for the Midland Chapter of the American Heart Association last weekend.

The total far surpasses last year's record of $6,300 and the 19 dancers who made the entire 50 hours also was a record.

Dancers, who were backed by pledges for each hour they danced, started at 7 p.m. Friday and continued until 9 p.m. Sunday with only occasional breaks and rest periods.

The participants now have until 5 p.m. Monday, Feb. 23, to turn in their pledges in order to be eligible for the prizes. First prize, which goes to the couple which collects the most money, is the choice of a Zenith color television set or stereo system for each person. Also included in the grand prize is a dinner for two at Midland's new French restaurant Lionel Daury and tickets for the Oak Ridge Boys concert at Chaparral Center March 1.

Jennifer Neisig and Kevin Sparks have the greatest pledge count, $4,-546,70. Ange Brinkley and Joe Wil-liams have pledges of $2,540, Jodie Hinds and Jamie Brunett have pldges of $2,200.08, Pam Greer and Bill Moore have pledges of $2,147.90 and Kevin Cook and Shannon Kiefer have pledges of $1,949.

Film crew makes pit stop

By GEORGIA TEMPLE Staff Writer

Packing a week's worth of organizing into an overnight trip is not im-possible if those involved know what they're doing.

Such was the case with producer Denis Sanders, cameraman Al Taylor and soundman Chuck Lewis. They made what could almost be referred to as a pit stop in Midland Sunday and Monday before they begin actual filming of the Midland-Odessa Symphony next Monday and Tuesday.

The purpose of their visit was to check out the facilities, be alert to possible filming difficulties and to ensure they bring the necessary equipment with them when they return.

The symphony is being filmed as part of a documentary on the life of Mia Slavenska, prima ballerina assoluta.

"What we film here forms a portion of a much larger project about Mia Slavenska and the restaging of 'A Streetcar Named Desire,' which was a ballet she commissioned many years ago that changed ballet history," said Sanders, who holds two Academy Awards in documentary film making. Sanders is currently the president of SRS Productions.

Valerie Bettis of Houston was the before President Reagan took office and is not affected by his proposed spending cuts. Taylor, who started his career working for J. Arthur Rank Studio in England which filmed the James Bond films and has just recently worked on the "Paper Chase" series for 20th Century Fox, will be in charge of the camera crew. Lewis, who for years did the Bing Crosby and Bob Hope specials and is one of the most important soundmen in the country, is in charge of sound.

The production includes filming American Ballet Theatre principal dancer Yoko Ichino during her performance with the symphony. Miss Ichino is a protegee of Miss Slavenska and will do some of the roles for which Miss Slavenska was famous. The documentary will also include clips of Miss Slavenska at the height of her career.

The Midland filming scenes will include filming the symphony both nights and taking selected segments of both for the actual production. The audience scenes will be filmed Tuesday during the Lee High performance. The filming will not detract from the concert itself.

"This production will be a mix of the art of film and the art of dance,' Sanders said.

In "A Streetcar Named Desire" Miss Slavenska combined American theatre, classical ballet and modern dance. This production will merge film with the other three art forms.

Midlander on trial here for murder

Richard Cornett, a Midland oilfield welder who is practicing his craft in Oklahoma, is being tried in Midland's 238th State District Court for the murder of his sister-in-law last June 30 at his estranged wife's house at 1715 E. Oak St.

Cornett, 26, has contended that his sister-in-law, Norma Jean Loring, 31, was fatally wounded in the hectic moments of tussle in which Ms. Loring was wielding a butcher knife and his wife was handling a pistol. His wife, too, was shot but recovered.

Cornett, who clings to self-defense in the shooting he calls accidental, has contended that he was invited into the house but was assaulted and, according to his defense attorney, was 'set up."

His wife holds that her husband burst into the house on that day, shot her sister and her.

Cornett has held that his efforts for a reconciliation with his wife and children were thwarted by her.

Defending Cornett in the case is H. Thomas Hirsch of Odessa. Prosecuting the case are Assistant District Attorneys David Joers and Jim Rex.

Police have no new clues in weekend shooting death

Police today reported no new devel-opments in the Saturday night shoot-ing death of Adolpho Patino, 218 N. Main Patino, 53, was found lying outside Eddies' Bar, 403 N. Lamesa St., about 11:15 p.m. Saturday. He died shortly before 5 a.m. Sunday at Midland Memorial Hospital of multiple gunshot wounds to the head, chest, hand and side. His body was taken to Thomas Funeral Home, where services are pending.

In other police activity during the past 24 hours, Liz Wells reported a burglary at 4103 Compton. Taken were a dishwasher and a stove top. Total value was placed at $1001.

Four drill bits worth $1000 were taken in a theft at 1803 W. Illinois Ave., while Cindy Thomas of 100 Pecan told officers a wallet containing $40 in cash, a driver's license and two credit cards were stolen from the Handy Hut Grocery, Scharbauer Drive and Big Spring Street.

And a Honda motorcycle valued at $300 was reported missing from the HBF Construction Co., 301 S. Pecos. Three theft reports and one burglary complaint were under investigation by sheriff's deputies this morning, but details were not available at press time.

City firemen reported heavy damage to a stove and vent hood in an apartment fire at 4000 W. Louisiana about 9:30 a.m. Monday.

The apartment was occupied by

Police, Fire Roundup

Becky Dobbs. Overheated grease was blamed for the blaze, which also caused heavy smoke damage throughout the apartment.

Firemen also extinguished a trash fire at 1304 W. New Jersey St. about 5 p.m. Monday and a dumpster fire at East Broadway and Louisiana Streets shortly before noon Monday. The Department of Public Safety was called to the scene of a major accident on FM 1788 about 8:30 a.m. this morning. No further details were available at press time.

SO YOU WANT HAPPINESS?

Jesus turned to His disciples and said, "What happiness there is for you who are poor, for the Kingdom of God is yours!

"What happiness there is for you who are now hungry, for you are going to be satisfied! What happiness there is for you who weep, for the time will come when you will laugh with joy!

"What happiness it is when others hate you and exclude you and insult you and smear your name because you are Mine!

"When that happens, rejoice! Yes, leap for joy! For you will have a great reward awaiting you in heaven. And you will be in good company--the ancient prophets were treated that way too!

"But, oh, the sorrows that await the rich For they have their only happiness down here.

"They are fat and prosperous now, but a time of awful hunger is before them. Their careless laughter now means sorrow then.

"And what sadness is ahead for those praised by the crowds--for false prophets have always been praised.

"Listen, all of you. Love your enemies. Do good to those who hate you. Pray for the happiness of those who curse you; implore God's blessing on those who hurt you.

"If someone slaps you on one cheek, let him slap the other too! If someone demands your coat, give him your shirt besides.

"Give what you have to anyone who asks you for it; and when things are taken away from you, don't worry about getting them back."

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Behavior modification is not full answer to weight control

Dear Dr. Solomon: I am enrolled in a psychology to know how reliable the test is. - Craig course at a local community college. Last night the instructor gave a lecture on the uses of behavior modification. From what he said, this form of therapy is being used in a number of areas, from curbing smoking to curbing appetites. Although I don't smoke, I do eat — and sometimes I eat more than I should. Is behavior modification as a means of losing weight a gimmick, or is there really some value to it? — Mabel

Dear Mabel: Behavior modification can be a valuable adjunct to a program of weight control, but it is not the complete answer. With my overweight patients, I stress the importance of a well-balanced diet limited in calories, but one that provides them with the proper proportions of protein, carbohydrate, and fat, as well as all essential nutrients. The basic 1,200-calorie-per-day diet I generally recommend is subject to modification in accordance with the needs of the individual patient. As I note in my book "Dr. Solomon's High Health Diet & Exercise Plan," I also stress the value of exercise for patients seriously interested in losing weight.

In the same vein, I look upon behavior modification as one part of a total approach to weight control. For example, I recommend that my patients eat slowly. However, this would be of little value for people who continue to eat the wrong foods.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I've heard and read a lot about the purpose of stress tests, but I'm not clear about what they actually do. Can you explain? I'd also like

Dear Craig: A patient undergoing a stress test is hooked up to a machine that measures blood pressure and heart rate. The person then stands on a narrow platform while holding on to a bar attached in front. As the treadmill motor is started, the patient begins to walk at the speed determined by the rate of the treadmill.

After two minutes and continuing at two-minute intervals, the treadmill rate is increased slightly so that the person must walk more rapidly. In addition, the treadmill may be tilted to simulate walking uphill. The machine is stopped immediately if the patient begins to experience chest pain or shortness of breath, or simply begins to feel uncomfortable.

During the time the treadmill is operating, a cardiologist monitors the patient's blood pressure and heart rate, and evaluates how the individual is feeling. After the treadmill is stopped (after from five to 15 minutes of exercise), the patient rests until the heart rate returns to normal.

The stress test is not a perfect means for discovering heart disease; occasionally, often for some unknown reason, a false-positive reading is obtained. Nevertheless, the test generally is recommended for persons of middle-age or older who have led rather sedentary lives, but who want to become involved in an exercise program or some other kind of strenuous athletic activity.

Rita Jenrette writes life story, DJ sets it to music

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) - Rita Jenrette, whose estranged husband John resigned from Congress after he was convicted in connection with Abscam, has written her life story, and a disc jockey has set the couple's troubles to country music.

Mrs. Jenrette's autobiography is scheduled to appear as a Bantam Books paperback about the same time her highly publicized Playboy magazine article about life as a congressman's wife hits the stands early next month, a Bantam editor says.

Meanwhile, disc jockey Billy Smith is entertaining listeners in Jenrette's hometown of North Myrtle Beach with ditties such as "Ode to Rita" and "It Gives Me the Low-Down Blues Ever Since You Found Money Stashed in My Shoe," a reference to recent developments in the Jenrette story

Last October, Jenrette was convicted of accepting a $50,000 bribe from undercover FBI agents in the Abscam sting. He has asked that his conviction be set aside.

His wife, who described what she called Jenrette's womanizing and drinking habits in a Washington Post magazine article last December, coauthored an upcoming article for Playboy's April issue.

Playboy has not confirmed reports that Mrs. Jenrette posed semi-nude for photographs that accompany the article.

The book is not a "quickie" de signed to take advantage of the publicity surrounding the Playboy article, Mrs. Jenrette said.

"I've been working for years on this book," she said. "I've kept a diary for years ... this is not just something I'm doing on the spur of the moment.

Last month, Mrs. Jenrette announced she would divorce her husband of five years, then discovered a shoe stuffed with $25,000 in cash. She locked him out of their Washington townhouse.

During a court hearing on his conviction, Jenrette was served with preliminary divorce papers.

New J.C. Penney's store sets fashionable opening

Fashion and completeness will keynote the new J.C. Penney department store in the Midland Park Mall, according to Walt Sunday, store manag-

The store, measuring about 98,743 quare feet, will mark its grand opening Wednesday. It opened its doors to the public last Saturday.

Fashion will be emphasized throughout the store's 48 departments, and shoppers will be able to select clothing in the latest styles from such buying centers as Dallas, Miami, Chicago, New York, Los Angeles and Europe.

Other new departments include fine jewelry, cosmetics, sporting goods, auto accessories and tires.

Other features of the new store will include a catalog order center where customers can choose from more than 100,000 items in person or by telephone a layaway service, giftwrapping and credit department and a styling salon.

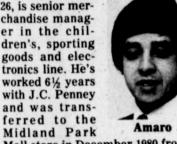

Sunday said the new store represents a major investment in the economic growth of the Midland area.

"The new store will represent more than 79 years retailing experience of the Penney Company and its person-nel," he added. "And, while we continue to grow, the emphasis will remain on quality merchandise and customer service.

Sunday started with J.C. Penney in 1961 in Kansas City. He transferred to Dallas in 1972 and to New York in 1974, where he was on special assignment. In 1980, Sunday was sent to Midland as store manager for the Midland Park Mall facility.

Senate ready to delay drinking age

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Senate has voted to make teen-agers wait an extra year to buy booze or beer in an attempt to cut down on high school drinking.

Senators voted 26-2 Monday to raise the legal drinking age from 18 to 19. They refused to make an exception for 18-year-old military personnel, who can still drink on base.

"I think your motives are noble, but I think the bill may be unconstitutional," Sen. Carl Parker told the sponsor of the proposal, Sen. Bill Sarpalius.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, predicted "some smart lawyer is going to come in and have this (bill) declared unconstitutional.'

"That may be," replied Sarpalius, D-Hereford.

The passage of Sarpalius' bill miffed Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, who admonished him not to "horn in" on legislation that other senators have worked years to develop.

Mengden, a senator since 1973, told the freshman Sarpalius that Mengden's bill raising the drinking age to 19 was approved by the Senate in 1979 after he had spent 18 months on it. The same bill was on the Senate rates falling on loans in agenda Monday, but Mengden did not attempt to bring it up after the Senate approved Sarpalius' measure. If approved by the House, the Sarpalius bill would leave only 10 states with a legal drinking age as low as 18. Texas' drinking age was lowered from 21 to 18 in 1973 when the Legislature voted to endow 18-year-olds with full adult rights.

Parker asked if under Sarpalius' bill an 18-year-old "go-go" dancer "bare as a yard dog" could sell drinks between dances although she could not drink herself.

'That's right," said Sarpalius.

Similarly, an 18-year-old could work in a package store selling whiskey and beer.

Sarpalius said the bill would prohibit anyone under 19 from holding a license to own a liquor store. Otherwise, he said, "There would be noth-ing to keep an 18-year-old from buying a liquor store and selling to his friends.

A bill summary stated that raising the drinking age by one year would be important because a smaller percentage of high school students are

Texans interested in interest

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas financial institutions say they can't lend money under the state's current interest restrictions, so two legislators plan to introduce a bill that could raise the ceiling as high as 30 percent.

Rep. Bill Messer, D-Belton, said he and Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, probably will introduce the measure Wednesday - the same day that several lobbying organizations of lenders plan a news conference.

"The object is to allow people who want to borrow money to have it available to them," Messer said in an interview Monday.

Mortgage loans would not be affected since Texas' 12 percent ceiling already has been preempted by a federal to 7 percent last summer

Messer said he doubted lenders would charge anywhere near the proposed limit.

Among the groups that reportedly will join in pushing the bill are bankers, credit unions, savings and loan associations, auto dealers, retailers and consumer

Fire extinguished

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) - Coast Guard crews were boarding a Greek oil tanker today to survey damage caused by a fire that burned for more than two weeks before it was extinguished.

Firefighters reported Monday they had put out the blaze aboard the 800-foot Aikaterini anchored 20 miles east of Chincoteague.

A week ago Monday, the Houstonbased specialists had said the fire on the Aikaterini was dead, only to have it begin smoking anew a day later for still unexplained reasons.

Bad weather halted firefighting operations for several days, but the firefighters got back on board Friday and spent all weekend pouring foam on the smoldering engine room.

The fire, blamed on faulty wiring in a service generator, began Feb. 1 and forced the 36 crewmen to evacuate.

Open meetings move snagged in committee

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Senate bill to require tape recording of closed state government meetings has hit a snag in committee, and will be changed before it comes up again.

Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, sponsored the proposal to make state government bodies tape record closed sessions, keep the tapes for two years, and make them available as evidence in "any action involving an alleged violation of (the Open Meetings) Act.

"Right now you can't tell whether a meeting was properly closed because there's no way to know what went on behind closed doors," said Austin lawyer Robert Heath, testifying in favor of the bill.

Officials may properly hold secret meetings if they are, for example, consulting an attorney about litigation, discussing personnel or security matters, or buying real estate.

But some senators on the State Affairs Committee, which considered the bill Monday, objected that the measure did not define who could have access to the tapes

Doggett said he believed only a judge would be able to listen to them, but Sen. Betty Andujar, R-Fort Worth, said making pirate copies would be simple.

"You're setting up situation more fraught with danger than the present," Mrs. Andujar said. "I can see these tapes being listened to in back rooms and hotels, and I can see the headlines and everything

Doggett agreed to make changes covering access to the tapes.

The children, aged 10 to 12, were apparently part of Westwood Country Club's swimming team, according to the club manager, who declined to give his name.

Federal marshals backed out of the way Monday as Wayne Cryts and some 500 other farmers used crowbars to pry holes in the sides of the grain elevator, then inserted vacuum hoses and began pumping out soybeans into trucks.

The defiant farmers promised to leave once they had all 30,000 bushels, valued at $250,000, belonging to the stocky Puxico farmer.

John Tierney of the Metropolitan Sewer District said it could take onger than 10 days to complete 30-foot-deep open channels that would carry rainwater and sewage to sewer lines undamaged by an explosion Friday.

However, he said, authorities hoped the estimate was a good one.

Meanwhile, other officials were exploring the possibility of getting government aid for repairing the extensive damage to sewer lines, streets, homes and businesses.

The Friday blasts blew off manhole covers and tore up about two miles of streets, hurling pavement chunks through roofs and walls in the area.

It had been feared that rain, forecast for Monday, might cause serious sewage problems, but only a trace of rain was recorded for the day. Officials had warned that any substantial rain could overload the devastated sewer system and cause sewage to back up, posing a health threat

But MSD's Jack Wilburn said after Monday's light showers, "It's maintaining an even level. In effect, what's been coming in has been getting out.

The battle began eight months ago when the owners of the elevator and four others in southern Missouri - the James Brothers of Corning, Ark. - went bankrupt, leaving an estimated $5 million to $8 million worth of grain in legal limbo.

Howard Safir of the U.S. Marshal's office in Washington, D.C., attempted to block Cryts' convoy, warning the farmer that taking the beans could result in felony charges against him.

"We are here today to carry out our duty and enforce this court order," said Safir, holding an order from the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals directing marshals not to give up the grain.

"I have decided the court order is without weight of law," replied Cryts.

Cryts said he realized the gravity of his decision to

Geologists find phosphate deposites

By WARREN E. LEARY AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Geologists doing research on the continental shelf have discovered major deposits of phosphate, a mineral crucial in making fertilizers and one whose dwindling domestic stocks have spawned fears of American dependence on foreign sources.

The National Science Foundation announced the discovery Sunday. It said the huge phosphate deposits, located about 60 miles off the coast of North Carolina, cover hundreds of square miles and have valuable commercial potential.

"This is a very exciting find," said William Stowasser, a phosphate com-modity specialist for the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

'Some of the very rich phosphate deposits on (American) land will be depleted in the 1990s, and there has been a lot of concern that other countries might attempt an OPEC-type arrangement to increase prices as our supplies dwindle," Stowasser said in an interview.

OPEC, the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, is a cartel that provides about 26 percent of the oil used in the United States. It decided last December to allow its 13 member countries to raise prices to a maximum of $41 per 42-gallon barrel, compared to about $15 in early 1979. Considering the possibility of such foreign control of phosphate, Stowasser said of the new offshore discovery: "It's good to know that there is something we are not going to run out of."

Dr. Stanley R. Riggs of East Carolina University in Greenville, N.C., and Dr. Albert C. Hine of the University of South Florida in St. Petersburg made the discovery while studying how such deposits form.

'Much of the technology necessary to begin to recover these shallow continental shelf mineral resources exists today," Riggs said.

"However, because there is no mechanism set up within the federal government to handle offshore mineral leases other than oil and gas," he continued, "these resources cannot presently be recovered.

Phosphates are necessary nutrients for plant growth, and phosphate fertilizers are an key factor in the productivity of the U.S. agricultural sec-

During two research cruises last year in Onslow Bay, the geologists drilled into the sediments and made seismic studies that led to discovering the phosphate deposits.

The scientists said their initial findings indicate a broad belt of phosphate regions extending almost 100 miles southwest of Bogue Banks to a point off Cape Fear.

The waters in the area range from 50 feet to 130 feet in depth. The phosphate sediments probably were trapped in cracks and basins during periods when the sea level changed, they said.

The richest single deposit tested so far-in the new find is up to 26 feet thick and spreads out over an area of hundreds of square miles, Riggs and Hine reported to the foundation, which funds the research.

"This deposit gently dips into deeper basins below the 30-foot capabilities of our coring equipment," Riggs said. "However, our seismic information suggests that this deposit continues and becomes considerably thicker in the basins."

Stowasser, of the Bureau of Mines, estimated that if the deposit is this large, there could be 650 million tons of phosphate in that deposit alone.

The phosphate-bearing sediment is similar to those being mined today in North Carolina and Florida, where almost 85 percent of the U.S. supply of phosphates for fertilizer is produced. When they made their discovery, the scientists were trying to learn more about the formation, deposition and accumulation of sedimentary phosphorites on the Atlantic continental shelf millions of years ago.

Refineries may slow down

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The United States' rapidly growing reserves of gasoline are so great that refineries may be forced to slow down or shut down and gas prices eventually may drop, an oil industry analyst says. Dan Lundberg said oil-production runs at refineries are at "uneconomic rates" and gasoline stockpiles, fast approaching a record-breaking inventory, are so great that "the industry may have to drink it."

But his Lundberg Letter, a weekly oil industry periodical, stressed that "regardless of surpluses, certain increased costs must get through to the pump, so a decline in prices is not a reasonable prospect at this time."

The letter said consumer conservation of gasoline and continued production of fuel oil for winter heating were combining to create stocks of 277 million barrels of gas at refineries, in pipelines and at large terminals throughout the country. Another oil industry publication official said Sunday that the nation has begun to control its consumption of hetroleum products and could be on the way to easing the energy problem without fully realizing it.

German Chacin, editor of the Energy Detente newsletter, said the U.S. economy has improved its energy efficiency 12 percent since the Arab oil embargo of 1973. He said that translates into a savings of 4.9 million barrels of oil a day.

'Since the petroleum price increases of 1973-74, conservation ... has entered the scene with a vigor that many wouldn't have thought possible back in the 1960s and early '70s," Chacin said.

Energy Detente is a bilingual, twice-monthly publication that studies the energy situation in the Western Hemisphere. It is affiliated with the Lundberg Letter.

The Lundberg Letter, published Friday, said refinery production runs dropped to 72.7 percent of capacity in January from an already low 76.6 percent in December. Refiners, who generally like to run at about 90 percent capacity, are faced with "even greater slowdowns, perhaps shutdowns." the leger said.

Burnham protects folks with Farmer's Insurance

Olin Burnham, owner of Burnham Insurance Agency at 1803 W. Wall Ave., has been protecting people with Farmer's Insurance in Midland since 1963. Serving the public in all lines of insurance, Burnham offers homeowner's insurance, automobile insurance, life insurance, health insurance as well as commercial insurance.

And monthly payment plans are available for all types of insurance sold at Burnham Insurance.

Burnham offers deviated rates on its various types of insurance as well. Automobile insurance, for example, is available in full and partial packages in line with the state requirements of 10/20/10 or greater. Nonsmoking drivers can get deviated rates for their automobile insurance, Homeowners can get up to 30 per-cent deviated from their home insurance rates through Burnham Insurance as well.

Check with Olin Burnham or his assistant Dede Doss about mortgage protection in the event of an untimely death of the head of your household. Burnham can give you rates over the phone, or you can stop by to learn more about homeowner's insurance and discounted rates.

You can renew your current policies through Burnham's by calling 682-5209, as well

BUSINESS MIRROR Vision bows to reality

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - The economics of politics and the economics of reality are different things, and President Reagan, Congress and the American people will soon learn how big the differences are.

A political candidate's economics can include faith, hope, promises, vi-sions and the like, which, if they are communicated well, can induce a listener to suspend critical judgment and vote for the candidate.

The economics of reality, which move into the picture soon after the election, are measured by more sober criteria, harder judgments and a better sense of what is possible or acceptable within a period of time.

Reagan is scheduled to reveal the latter Wednesday, and it's no secret he has scaled down his own expectations about taxes, inflation and gross national product. He is still optimistic, but more realistic too.

A tax cut still seems inevitable, but the effective date may be delayed until later this year. GNP is still expected to grow more than 5 percent next year, but that's down from 7.5 percent. Inflation is projected at about 6 percent by late 1982 instead of 4.3 per cent.

This lowering of expectations was to be expected, but it came none too soon. Having had time to feed Reagan's projections into computers, ecunomic analysts were becoming in-creasingly critical. Few of them could produce numbers anywhere near as rosy as those expected by the Reagan team, and they were beginning to say so with growing assurance.

An acerbic comment by Gardner Ackley, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under President Lyndon Johnson, gives a sense of what was to come unless Reagan more clearly expressed himself

Writing in a university publication, the professor stated that "One feels the absence of any coherent economic policy, or even any coherent conception of a policy, that holds promise of leading us back to stability, prosperity, and progress." Instead, he said, ideas and recommendations appear unclear, contradictory, and often confused.

That critics are beginning to sound off does not mean, of course, that they are more correct than Reagan.
