Sports Sketches

As most everybody knows, the district track meet at Breckenridge was postponed from last week-end until next week end because of the weather. However, leven boys are planning to carry the colors for H. H. S. next Saturday and show this district that there is a place called Haskell n the competition. We're hoping there will be eleven boys from Haskell at the regional meet the next week-end at Abilene. Of course, this may be too much to hope for, but we'll be for you whether you win or lose.

Plans to start spring training this week are under way. This naturally will be watched with interest because it will somewhat determine our chances for a winning team next year. Some of the so called "experts" have already expressed the opinion that the Indians will be in the cellar again Mystery of the next season; wouldn't we like to Ford throw a district championship or something similar in their faces? After all, teams have done it on was very exciting, but now realiless material than we have. Let's ty has claimed everyone. There is start a campaign right now for not a student in the play who more members on the squad and would change parts with anyone to win more games next year. in high school, but still there are Sports are to be a very important a few squaks. But then, it would part of our war effort, you know. not sound natural if all were

Haskell County Crop Spoilage Can Be Halved

Prevention of waste in food distribution will be a vital factor in the effort of Haskell county's 2,325 farm operators and workers to schieve their wartime food production goals, it was indicated today in a survey by a leading dis-tributor of Texas farm produce.

At least half of the estimated $12,600,000 annually lost from spoilage and damage to Texas fruits and vegetable alone can be prevented by the use of better grading, packing and by better and more direct distribution methods, Earl R. French, marketing director for Atlantic Commission, A&P produce buying affiliate, des clared in the survey's summary He indicated that further savings handling of other Texas farm pro-

"If Haskell county farmers, working with distributors, cut by half the average of 10 to 12 per cent of fruit and vegetable shipments lost through damage and spoilage, they will have achieved the equivalent of a 5 to 6 per cent increase in production without any extra acreage, seed, fertilizer, equipment or farm labor," French said

"Under wartime conditions, use of efficient production methods and efficient distribution channels such as those developed by chain stores is becoming increasingly important," he continued "For example, Haskell county's 1,991 farm family workers will find their job of increasing production made more difficult because of the shrinking farm labor supply, rising farm wages and limited availability of farm machinery and supplies.

"The latest census counted 334 regular hired hands in the county. Since that count was made, farm labor has decreased as much as 49 percent in certain areas and up to 48 percent in some Texas

But despite future labor curtailments, he said, past performance indicates the farmer can approach food production goals. In ten years, covered by recent government reports, the farmer had increased his production efficienby 25.2 per cent. The average armer, the survey revealed, fed 117 persons in 1929 and the years later was feeding 14.1 persons from his fields.

It Really Is Pleasant as Well as Profitable

We know that our students enjoy their work. They enjoy it because they realize that they are doing every day something that will later be of service to them-that they are learning something they can use.

They enjoy their work because the business subjects are intriguing fascinating.

Occasionally somebody says, "I can't learn shorthand; it looks like Greek to me." Of course, it does. Shorthand might be called a sign language. It is read in characters rather than letters, but the characters and the principles governing them are learned one at a time. The beginning student is not called upon to copy or read an entire page of shorthand notes; he is given a sign, a character, or a principle at a time and masters them one by one. Soon he finds himself as interested as he would be in a jig-saw puzzle. He is constantly challenging himself to transcribe his shorthand correctly. He finds exhiliaration in reading what, at first, seemed Greek to him.

And, of course, nobody need be told that typing is interesting-like playing a piano or driving a car. The student can see day by day the development of new skill and the growth in speed; he finds himself measuring his progress, and striving to beat his own record.

What we have just said about shorthand and typing is equally true of bookkeeping. There is a fascination about getting a trial balance-about working out a loss-and-gain statement -about discovering what the resources and liabilities of the business are-about comparing the operating costs of one department of a business with that of another department.

These are some of the things that make school life pleasant, but we also provide a judicious amount of literary, musical and athletic diversion; not enough to district the student's interest in his business subjects, not enough to take time that he should devote to his course. In fact, it is our purpose merely to relieve school work of what might conceivably become monotony if carried on too intensively and without some relaxation.

We seek to provide a palatable combination of work and play.

Don't wait until somebody else takes the position you should have. Accept our suggestion and begin your course of study at once.

Wake Up. America—It's Late!

An editorial in the New York World-Telegram

The nation needs to awaken to the full gravity of the peril that confronts it.

"Production Director Donald Nelson appeals for vastly increased industrial output on a 24-hour, seven-day basis-168 hours a week Maximum production, in short,

'Can we get it? "Not until we quit thinking in terms of less work for more money

'Not while farmer politicians are more interested in higher prices than raising more essentials. "Not while government bureaus - created to meet a depression emergency that is ended- continue to grab for themselves money needed for armaments. "Not while an army of Federal press agents clamors to promote and perpetuate activities that have no present need or value 'Not while Congressmen try to put over useless canals and river schemes and take up the time of defense officials clamoring for factories and contracts as if war were a great gravy train. "Not while the life-and-death need for uninterrupted production is used as a weapon to put over the closed shop. "Not while a man can't be employed on army project or in a war plant until he pay $20 to $50 or more to a labor racketeer "Not while pressure blocs clamor for higher benefits, bounties, and pensions. This is a recital we are familiar with, and which every last mother's son of us should help correct now-not next week, or next month, but

Fire Fights On Axis Side

The rapid growth of volunteer civil defense groups is a fine thing for this country. It is showing people that the responsibility for preventing and dealing with disasters must be shared by all. People who used to think of fire as something which was exclusively the fire department's business, are learning that it is their own personal business.

It is natural and right that fire defense is one of the principal purposes of the entire civilian defense movement. America, like England, may one day be showered with incendiaries from enemy planes. Enemy agents within our own burders will unquestionably attempt sabotage on a wide scale, and fire is their main weapon. Unless the people are trained and ready, those agents will succeedat a terrible toll in American life, American resources, American war production, There is a saying in London to the effect that every house is a fire house". That is the goal we must try for in our own country. And we must not think entirely in terms of enemy-started fires. The greatest present danger lies in the "normal fires"the fires that are the result of human carelessness human indifference, human ignorance, human fallure of a hundred different kinds. These fires strike homes-and labor and materials must be diverted from the war effort to rebuild and repair. These fires strike factories-and the production of vital arms may be delayed. These fires strike farmsand the production of food for our Allies and ourselves is affected.

Almost every citizen can become part of the vast 'fire fighting army" we need. All can learn the simple lessons that will enable us both to prevent fire, and to deal with fire when it breaks out. The gigantic quantities of materials that are deyoured by flame, must be saved. Remember that fire fights on the Axis side!

More Pay for Soldiers

If there's anybody who deserves generosity in these times, it's the man in uniform The United States Senate has passed a bill prepared by its Military Affairs Committee to raise the base pay of privates in the Army and apprentice seamen in the Navy to $42 a month and to increase the pay and firms for the purchase of new or allowances of non-commissioned and commissioned officers in both services

The rise of general costs of living affects to some extent the man in the armed forces, especially for tractor. if he has dependents, even though his food, clothing and shelter are furnished to him. Yet even here the pay increase must be carefully measured so that it may not contribute another fillip to the rising cycle that leads to inflation and to a war cost beyond the Nation's resources.

Another point is worthy of attention by Congress and by the individual soldier. After the close of the war, the enlisted man or officer will have more need of funds than now. He should have have some savings to bridge the adjustment back into civilian employment. If the increased were given in the form of defense bonds or if the soldier were encouraged to set aside in this way a definite amount for a post-war reserve, the benefit in most cases would be greater than from an increase for immediate spending.

Of the vast majority of Texas Germans no doubt can be raised as to their loyalty and devotion to this country. Their settlements in Texas are almost as old as those of the Anglo-Americans who fought for Texas liberty and their own emigration to this continent and to Texas came about through the very desire for freedom that prompted the early settlement of the Thirteen Colonies, the American Revolution and the Texas Revolution. A pointed conversation that rereals the motivation of these eary German settlers who came to Texas in 1844 with Prince Solms, and during the next few years to settle in and around New Braunfels, is related by Frederick Law Olmstead, who in 1857 published 'A Journey Through Texas." Wheat Producers Urged to Vote In Referendum May 2

Put the punch where it counts, John W. Brock, chairman, county AAA committee, told Haskell County wheat producers today. "Farmers have their sleeves rolled up and they'll stay that way until we've done our part in licking Hitler, his Italians and the Japs," the chairman said. Citing a big carry-over, the current crop and shrunken markets, the chairman urged all wheat producers to vote in the national wheat referendum Saturday, May

Total supply of wheat as of July 1942 is 1,423 million bushels of which 630 million bushels represent carryover and 793-million bushels represent the 1942 crop estimate. With this year's domestic disappearance estimated at 670 million bushels, the carry-over as of July 1, 1943, will be 753 milion bushels, or the largest supply on record, he explained.

Supplies of wheat in Argentina and Canada, other major wheat producing countries in the Western Hemisphere, are as large or even larger than the United States supply, the chairman said, pointed out that it would Canadians three years to consume their carry-over domestically and that Argentina is in much the same position with supplies for exceeding markets.

"With our country going blast in the production of materials, we must produce food and feed we need more instead of the products we have plenty of, and wheat is one of the atter," the AAA official said.

Men Between 18 and First Circus of 45 Are Eligible For Officer's Training

Registrants between the ages of 18 and 45 who have been, or are entitled to be deferred by reason of dependents but are otherwise eligible for military service, may volunteer to compete for selection as an officer candidate in the Army, it was announced today by General J. Under a new system just authorized by the Secretary of War, General Page said, such registrants volunteering and accepted for officer candidate training will be inducted into the Army through the Selective Service System and given four months training in the ranks at private's pay to determine their potential prospects for commissions. At the end of the training period any not recemmended for an officer candidate school may request release from active duty and return to his home, and will not again be subject to call for active duty unless registrants having similar dependency claims are being inducted into military service.

General Page emphasized that Class III-A registrants who volunteer to try for a commission must be American citizens with at least four years high school He education, Local Boards, at their take discretion, may reject applications of any who should be deferred as "necessary men" in war production.
