Cong. Graham Purcell Speaks At Lions Club

DIRECTORS MEET TUESDAY

Knox City's Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors met at the City Cafe Tuesday morning in regular session. In attendance were President Bob Harrison, Secretary-Treasurer Mrs. Ken Crownover, Hob Smith, Paul Clayton, Zeb Smith and Jim Hill.

PURCELL VISITS here — Congressman Graham Purcell was featured speaker at the Knox City Lions Club Wednesday and accompanied Mr. S. N. Reed and others on a tour of the farms in this area.

Mr. Reed introduced Mr. Purcell to the capacity group for lunch by saying "we are fortunate to have this man who is representing the people of Texas—in fact and in deed."

Mr. Reed said the congressman had "gone all out" in assisting agriculture and businessmen in this area, and that he had no doubt he would continue to befriend us in this area in whatever way he could.

Congressman Purcell said he always had an opinion on everything on earth and that if he didn't know the answer he would try "to get the answers for you."

He confided he had been very busy in Washington the past four years and that it had been extremely hard for him to get back home the past year.

He said he was chairman of the wheat subcommittee, and was on the committee for wheat, grain, and cotton, and was also one of five congressmen and five senators on the National Commission on Feed and Marketing.

Congressman Purcell said the farmers plight was serious and that the trend of his income going down and retail prices going up were hard to get straight.

One reason he pointed out was that today with 180 million people to feed and clothe there are only 2,000 buyers whereas 20 years ago there were several thousand buyers. There isn't as much competition in the country as there once was, he said.

He told the group he did not mean to be critical with retail outlets, but that it was all a way of nature and that it was something that had to be understood.

"I'm not implying this is dishonest . . . is a part of the way of life to get as big as possible and as powerful as you can get," he said.

He said an FHA (Farmers Home Administration) would in a short time have a full time office for people of this area, instead of the one in Seymour.

As for the wheat program, Cong. Purcell said he felt it was the best legislation they had ever gotten for the wheat farmer.

He said the price for domestically raised wheat would be raised. Also next year would see wheat bring 100 per cent of parity. He told the group "we farmers are at the bottom usually," but that next year would be their best in the wheat business.

"The cotton picture did not look very bright," he said, and remarked that the program did not suit the farmer. He said it was imperative to reduce cotton grown by 12½ to 35 per cent.

There will be 14½ million bales of cotton owned and in a warehouse by the end of the year by Uncle Sam. He said the majority of it was like we grow here . . . "nothing really wrong with it but not the kind the manufacturers want the most."

He said it was rough for the cotton farmer now as well as the ginner, and tractor dealer, but said "if we don't reduce it in the near future we won't have a cotton program in the near future."

He said he thought we had to reduce the surplus of cotton, if not we were "going backward."

He said if production didn't cut down there wouldn't be any money at all in the next three to five years, for the farmer.

"It is critical now," he said.

A question and answer session was then conducted.

In the field of Texas education Cong. Purcell said he was not ashamed but was not proud of our advances in education and told the group we do not hold a light to the states who have made big stands on education for years and that have finally come ahead as the best in the nation.

Ninety per cent of the college students go elsewhere for education or to work. In California for years they have spent more money than anyone else and today have some of the finest schools in the world. Everyone in California can go to a junior college he said and universities are within reach of anyone desiring a higher education.

He said the government was trying to decide where to put an Atomic Reactor site. Fort Worth and Dallas as well as Houston are possible sites for the $286 million dollar investment, which would hire 3,500 scientists and take between 6 to 8 years to build. Wherever it is located the town will have to have a strip of land two miles wide and eight miles long at a cost of perhaps $18 million to be raised locally.

Chicago and five border states are bidding on the project which is good the congressman said, for only a large place could handle the large package.

Only Ft. Worth, Dallas, and Houston were possible sites in Texas although Austin, Lubbock, Midland and Sweetwater, had put their bid in.

After other explanations concerning the huge project, Cong. Purcell said his hometown of Wichita Falls folks had finally accepted his reluctance at getting the bid on the project for them, as being unsound.

A standing ovation by the capacity crowd terminated the meeting and the Congressman visited and talked to many of the area farmers before returning to Wichita Falls.

Truscott HD Club Meets Thursday

"Consumer credit-credit to use in family living" was the subject of a Truscott Home Demonstration Club program presented by the agent, Miss S. C. Kinsey, Thursday, Oct. 28, at the Community Center.

She said credit allows us to get many goods and services now and pay for them later. The average credit load per family is eight times more than in 1940.

Since 1951 each year more has been borrowed than paid back for family living credit items. She pointed out that young families need extra income during the early years and often use credit to meet needs of establishing a home. She listed advantages and disadvantages of consumer credit and she said installment buying, bank loans and life insurance were kinds of credit.

Rules to follow in shopping for the best interest rates include making a large down payment, controlling only for the credit needed, using maximum credit only in crisis and learning the total cost of credit ahead of time.

Mrs. W. M. Rake presided at the business meeting preceding the program. Mrs. M. R. Brown led several songs and Mrs. Margaret Corder brought the devotional.

'Emphasis Youth' Well Attended At Christian Church

The Christian Youth Fellowship of the First Christian Church held a two day program this past week end, "Emphasis Youth." The program was highlighted by the talents of five Texas Christian University students who were in Knox City to help with the program.

The program began on Saturday morning with a breakfast for all of the youth, following which a keynote address was given by Mr. Glen Morrison, a Sophomore at TCU. The Saturday evening program consisted of a party, hayride, and hootenanny. The party was attended by some 37 youth and adults. A very exciting evening was spent by everyone. The program closed Sunday evening with a program and closing worship led by the TCU students.

The students from TCU were provided housing by members of the First Christian Church and were provided meals in the homes and at the church prepared by some of the local church women.

Those helping with the meals and housing were Mr. and Mrs. John Crownover, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Atterbury, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Vaughn, Mrs. Bobby Burnett, Mrs. Fuller Shannon, Mrs. Algerine Logsdon, Mrs. E. R. Carpenter, Mrs. Alma Culwell, Mrs. Mabel Pyeatt, Mrs. Jim Burt, Mrs. Arthur Crownover, Mrs. Joe Reeder Jr., and Mrs. Paul Siecke.

The theme of the meeting was "The Great Belonging" and was highlighted by addresses, discussion groups and worship services. The youth from TCU taking part in the program were: Glen Morrison, David Digby, Chuck Pranter, Olivia Brent, and Diane Gambol. Glen and David planned the TCU students part in the program in Fort Worth. Plans for the week end activities were made here by all of the local youth under the guidance of the youth president, Pat Shannon, and the minister, David C. Downing.

The youth group meets each Sunday evening at 5:30 p.m. in the Church Fellowship Hall. All youth are cordially invited to attend any of the meetings and programs.

VISITS PARENTS

Paul Stone and young son, Craig, visited one day last week with City Marshal and Mrs. Bill Stone.

WITNESS STAND JITTERS

Right now, cases are pouring into our legal channels at the record rate of half a million every week. One result is a growing likelihood that you yourself, some day soon, will be summoned to the courtroom to be a witness.

Many people get the jitters at the mere thought. A woman witness was so flustered that, when asked for her age, she gave her bust measurement instead. A man, when asked if he wanted to clarify a point, blurted out that he would "rather depend on the ignorance of the court."

No doubt the very setting of a courtroom helps to frighten the witness. Above him sits the robed judge, majestically representing the awesome might of the law. In front of him, hanging on his every word, sit the embattled litigants and their attorneys. Strangers in the jury box study him intently to see if he is telling the truth.

Yet, if you should be called upon to testify, you might find reassurance in a few fundamental facts:

1. You are a witness, not an actor. You are not expected to give a smooth and polished performance. Remember that the jurors, too, are in unfamiliar surroundings — likely to know just how you feel. Sincerity, not glossiness, will impress them most.

2. You have powerful allies. One is the lawyer who summoned you. And the judge has every reason to be patient and sympathetic. The more he helps you to do your job, the more you are helping him to do his.

3. That big bugaboo, cross-examination, is usually not terrifying. Tell the truth and you have nothing to fear. The slashing, bullying cross-examination, so often seen on TV, is seldom seen in court.

After all, a lawyer's cross examination — like a wife's cross examination of her tardy husband — has one main purpose: to probe for lies. Unless the opposing attorney has good reason to think you are lying, he is not likely to treat you roughly. He would be running too much risk of winding up as a villain in the eyes of the jury.

Why not see for yourself? Before your own day in court, visit a courtroom to watch what goes on. For witness stand jitters, familiarity is the best antidote of all.

The center will approve loans up to $25,000 to private or small businesses, with an interest rate of between 4 and 5 1/2 percent.

First National Bank of Aspermont will act as depository for the office. Local banks will be able to participate in the loans from 10 to 100 per cent. They will be protected by a government guarantee.

Although the national average on such loans is $8,000, the Aspermont center will be authorized to loan up to $25,000.

Counties to be served from the center are Childress, Cottle, Dickens, Foard, Fisher, Hardeman, Haskell, Jones, Kent, King, Knox, Hall, Stonewall, Motley, and Briscoe.

Three board members from each county will screen applicants from their own county before the loans are presented to the entire board. Two of the board members for Knox County are John Smith and Ray Escobar.

Seed Saved May Mean Money Lost

Cotton farmers who save and plant their own or their neighbor's seed — a predominant practice on the High Plains — may well lose lint production worth over $30 per acre at 27 cents per pound.

This is the conclusion drawn by Lavon L. Ray, Assistant Agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center, following comparative yield tests of "farmer-saved" seed lines and a line from the seed producer. Ten lines of a popular variety saved by farmers for planting in Crosby County averaged 505 pounds lint production per acre, compared with 621 pounds per acre yielded by seed of the same variety coming direct from the seed producer. The 116 pound difference, at 27 cents amounts to a dollar-loss of $31.32 per acre.

"And since all seed lines were planted and grown under identical conditions, the inevitable conclusion is that the seed themselves were responsible for the variance in yield," Ray said.

"The production of quality planting seed requires a great deal of technology, and skill and attention to detail," Ray continued, and added that: "Most farmers, even if they have the required know-how and managerial ability, are not equipped to properly handle and process planting seed and cannot give the attention needed for a good job."

In 1963 a 'planter box' survey was conducted in Crosby County by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., with the cooperation of the SPREC, Texas Planting Seed Association and others, and the ten farmer-saved seed lines were among over 80 samples of one variety taken from growers at planting time. All of the 80 samples were of seed saved by a farmer from his own or a neighbor's crop, as were 97 per cent of all samples taken in the survey.

When planted in yield trials in 1963 these eighty samples produced yields varying as much as 300 pounds line per acre, and in view of the wide yield difference, the five high and the five low yielding lines were saved for further testing in 1964. The 621 pound production from the seed producer line in 1964 was 87 pounds above the average of the five 'high' lines and 144 pounds better than the 'low' average.

Ray pointed out that: "Even taking the high average for farmer-saved seed, at 27 cents per pound a farmer is losing $23.49 per acre and that figure applied to the High Plains as a whole reveals a staggering income loss to the area."

Yield losses from farmer-saved seed, Ray believes, is because of the difficulty in maintaining a pure variety under ordinary field conditions. He bases this belief on the fact that most seed breeders agree it is more difficult to maintain a cotton variety than it is to develop that variety originally.

To avoid such losses and achieve maximum lint and dollar production per acre, Ray suggests farmers follow three simple rules:

- (1) Select a good, high-yielding variety that will produce a quality fiber;

- (2) Use sound seed with good germination, avoiding seed which have been weathered in the field or stored at high humidity and temperature, and also of prime importance.

- (3) Make certain that your seed source supplies you with the best and purest available seed of the variety you have selected.

The number of screwworm cases in Texas rose to 14 last week, the highest reported during any one week since August 8-14.

The appropriations bill for the screwworm eradication program passed just before Congress adjourned. The requirement that Federal funds must be matched dollar for dollar by non-federal money was deleted by a conference committee composed of House and Senate members.

Matching funds will still be required in meeting the costs of treating screwworm outbreaks inside the United States. However, the maintenance of the barrier zone along the US-Mexico border has become a Federal responsibility.

Since the eradication campaign got underway in February, 1962, the industry and state legislatures in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana have put up approximately $7,500,000, or roughly half the total funds expended. The livestock industry alone, through the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, raised nearly $4 million on a voluntary basis to carry on the project.

An extra $25 per calf is worth working for, and it looks like this can be realized in many cases.

It is an accepted fact that cattle buyers pay a higher price for lighter calves of the same quality as their heavier cousins.

Even though you might get a higher price for lighter weight calves, you may still be losing money compared to raising and selling heavier calves. A comparison was made of 32 lots of calves sold at the McArthur Feeder Sales of 1962, '63 and '64. These lots consisted of heavy calves and light calves from the same ranch, the calves being sorted for size prior to the sale. Quality in the same lots from the same ranch was similar.

The light weight lots averaged 359 pounds, and the heavy weight lots averaged 473 pounds. The records showed that the buyers paid approximately one cent per pound more for the light weight calves.

Comparing heavy and light calves from the individual ranches, the heavy calves brought anywhere from $12.50 to over $38 more per head than did the light weights. The average difference per head was $24.36 in favor of the heavier calves, even though the light weight calves brought a cent more per pound.

There are a number of ways to increase weaning weights. One method, that is probably the least expensive, is to cull the perennially late calving cows and use better management during the breeding season, to bunch up the calf group and get a greater percentage of calves during the early part of the

Open House At First Christian Planned Sunday

A special "Open House" will be held at the parsonage of the First Christian Church of Knox City. The open house will be given by the pastor and his family, Rev. and Mrs. David C. Downing as an opportunity to meet and get better acquainted with the members and friends of the First Christian Church.

The event has been delayed until the present time because of the remodeling of the parsonage. The open house will be held from 2:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. on the afternoon of Sunday, Nov. 7. All members and friends of the First Christian Church are cordially invited to attend.

The Downings came to Knox City to assume the pastoral duties of the church on Sept. 1, having come here from the First Christian Church of Ranger. Mr. Downing is completing his graduate work at Brite Divinity School at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

Another possibility is a little extra feed to the cows during the poor feed season prior to calving and after calving, so that the cows will produce more milk over a longer period of time. This will cost money, but 200 to 400 pounds of feed at the right time may very well get you back twice the return on calf weight for what the feed cost.

Another sure way is to use only performance tested bulls proven to be rapid gainers, as these bulls will sire rapid gaining calves.

AUSTIN — Texas law enforcement officers are urging Gov. John Connally to call a special session of the Legislature to repeal the controversial new Code of Criminal Procedure before it becomes effective January 1.

Texas Police Association has petitions circulating among the lawmen in 60 police departments, calling on Connally to do something about the code. Many lawmen fear forthcoming changes in the statutes will hinder them in combatting crime in Texas.

They feel new procedures tend to molly-coddle criminals. Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr is continuing a series of sermons over the state to explain provisions of the new code. A conference at the University of Texas on Nov. 11-13 will explore it in depth.

State Bar Association Police Chief Bob Miles, past president of Texas Police Association: "To be perfectly frank, the more we read of the new code... the less encouraged we feel."

POLLUTION STUDIES — Strong moves to abate present pollution of Texas streams and to prevent further contamination are being made by state agencies.

Texas Railroad Commission continued its series of moves to pinpoint oilfield salt water pollution and outlaw it. Latest was an order giving oil and gas operators in Lipscomb County until May 1 to quit using surface pits for disposal of salt water.

Texas Water Pollution Control Board had a show-cause hearing on seven sewer plant operators in the Clear Lake Basin of Harris and Galveston Counties. Plants failed to come up to standards ordered by the Board to protect the NASA center area watercourses from pollution.

They were given until February 1, to comply. Tight rules for the Houston Ship Channel also were proposed by the Pollution Control Board. On Dec. 1, a hearing will be held for suggestions before the regulations are put into effect.

A legislator-citizen committee on pollution, headed by Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo, also held two days of hearings. Committee called in 18 operators of sewer plants in Galveston, Harris and Bexar counties to see what their problems are and what new laws might help improve things.

All of this activity has as its background the new federal law, giving the states until June 30, 1967, to adopt and make plans to enforce purity standards on all their streams. Otherwise, the Federal Government will set up its own anti-pollution measures. INSURANCE RATE CUT — State Board of Insurance approved an average decrease of 2.9 per cent in Texas workmen's compensation rates, effective December 1.

Annual savings on premiums are estimated at $4,500,000 a year. There are about 600 categories of compensation coverage. Some will be increased, some decreased sharply, but the overall average cut will be 2.9 per cent.

TOP OFFICIALS QUIT — 2 top state appointive officials have resigned. Insurance Commissioner J. N. Nutt said he was leaving his post, effective Nov. 1, to return to private business.

Dr. Cyril J. Ruilman asked to be relieved as acting Commissioner of Mental Health and Mental Retardation before January 1. He said he would "pursue a longstanding interest in medical education and private practice."

Dr. Shervert H. Frazier, director of the Houston State Psychiatric Institute for Research and Training, was named to replace Ruilman. MARRIED MEN FACE THE DRAFT — State draft boards in December will be authorized to draft any childless married man, regardless of when he was married, to fill Texas' largest draft call in 12 years — 1,714 men.

New policy pertains to men 19 through 25 years old, according to Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director.

ATTORNEY GEN. SPEAKS — Licensed beauty operators cannot legally work in barber shops shampooing, tinting or styling hair of male patrons, says Attorney General Waggoner Carr.

Barbers and beauty operators, he cautioned, have separate state licensing laws and regulatory boards. In other opinions, Carr concluded that the Dallas Junior College District has no authority to tax intangible assets or rolling stock of railroads; and than a "pour and shake" flour is prohibited from sale because it does not meet standard measures and is not designed for "special or limited use."

SECOND CONFERENCE — The second annual conference of the Central Texas Industrial Development Council will be held November 12, at Baylor University in Waco, the Texas Industrial Commission announced here.

Council is comprised of Central Texas community leaders actively engaged in industrial development programs. It is charged with attracting industry to the area and encouraging the expansion of existing industry.

BUSINESS INDEX DOWN — Texas business activity index dropped six per cent during September from an August high, according to the U. T. Bureau of Business Research.

Index still was 7.9 per cent above September of 1964. Biggest monthly drop was in Dallas (14 per cent). Fort Worth and Houston had small declines and San Antonio a six per cent increase.

Business for the first three quarters averaged 12 per cent above the same period for 1964.

SHORT SNORTS — Agriculture Commissioner John C. White proposes strict enforcement of egg laws aimed at off-quality eggs from out of state.

Attorney General Carr filed suit for injunction and $3,000 in penalties against O. J. McCullough of Houston for building a dam across the San Jacinto River near Conroe.

Biggest library construction program in Texas under matching funds provision of the Library Services and Construction Act ($175,000) got underway at Brownwood Nov. 4.

Bowie, Carson, Crosby, Ector, Garza, Hill, Jackson and Midland counties received distinguished service awards of Texas State Historical Survey Committee for interest in local history and marking landmarks.

Texas Highway Commission will initiate a study of the highway beautification act bill to determine the manner in which its
