Farmers and Landowners Receiving AAA Checks This Week

REPRESENT PAYMENT FOR COMPLIANCE IN 1938 FARM PROGRAM

Checks Totalling $91,608 Being Distributed To Farmers

Seven hundred one checks for a total amount of $91,608.82 were received this week at the office of County Agent Schumann for distribution to Haskell county farmers and landowners in payment for compliance in the 1938 agriculture conservation program.

The checks received this week, delayed for several months, will account for practically the entire sum due farmers and landowners under the 1938 compliance program, records in the county agent's office indicate.

To date, including the checks received this week, 3,115 checks have been distributed in the Haskell county 1938 AAA program, aggregating a total of $459,391.20, which has been paid to farmers, Mr. Schumann said.

This sum does not include the total of checks sent directly from Washington to cotton growers who stored cotton in government warehouses last year, and in which the grade and staple has been in dispute, it was explained. Payments to these borrowers are made through the AAA office in Washington after deductions are made for the loans.

Transfers For Students Must Be Filed Soon

A reminder was issued Thursday by county superintendent Matt Graham that Monday July 31 is the final date on which applications can be made for transfer of school children from one school district to another.

Transfers are necessary to children of school age who have moved from the district where they last attended school, or where a pupil in one district intends to attend the school of another district. Parents will be required to pay tuition in such cases if the transfer is not properly made, the county superintendent explained.

The Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Whitley are in Leuders where the former is conducting a revival.

LOCAL RACETRACK TO BE IMPROVED FOR FUTURE MEETS

Track Will Be Oiled This Week To Eliminate Dust Hazard

Encouraged by the reception of auto race fans given the two events staged at Fair Park on the last two Sundays, promoters of the "Junk Car races" would be continued as a regular Sunday afternoon attraction during the remainder of the summer.

Plans were also announced for improving the five-eighths mile track and making the speedway as near dustless as possible. Three thousand gallons of oil will be sprayed on the track this week, and treatment will be continued as long as necessary, sponsors said.

In last Sunday's races, Fay Andrews of Stamford in a V8 speedster, took top money in each of the three events staged. Eight cars and drivers were entered for the events.

Nerves of spectators were kept on edge throughout the afternoon by mishaps in each race, with the drivers somehow escaping injuries in the crashes. In the first race Hilton Perdue, under the wheel of Wilburn Green's V8 entry, crashed into a guard rail and embankment on the south end of the track. In the second event, Paul Dunlap's Chevrolet racer crashed into the track fence. Neither driver was hurt. In the last race of the day Frank Hilscher of Stamford lost control of his car on a soft turn and the machine plunged over the track embankment to crash into the outside fence surrounding the track, but the driver was uninjured.

Program for next Sunday afternoon will include the usual time trials, to begin at 2:30. First race will be a five mile event (8 laps). Second event will be a 7 1-2 mile contest (12 laps) with the third and feature event a 12 1-2 mile race (20 laps).

PAINT CREEK TO SHOW BIG GAIN IN ENROLLMENT

Additional Schools Are Contracted to Rural High School District

Students in the Ward and Ericsdale common school districts will attend the Paint Creek rural high school during the 1939-40 school term, according to a contract approved recently by trustees of the three districts. The contract will affect approximately 26 scholastics in the Ward district, and an estimated 56 in the Ericsdale district, based on the 1939 school census.

Enrollment in the Paint Creek rural high school is expected to be in the neighborhood of 367 students, an increase of 112 pupils over the last school year, records in the county superintendent's office show.

In order to provide transportation facilities for the increased enrollment this year, an additional school bus has been purchased, giving the district a fleet of five buses to be operated during the coming term.

C. E. Boyd is superintendent of the Paint Creek school, and ten members compose the teaching faculty.

FSA Workers Meet, Plan For Better Help To Farmers

Plans for giving more effective service to Texas low-income farmers will be made July 31 to August 4 in College Station at the annual state conference of Farm Security Administration workers. R. E. Skipworth, Haskell county supervisor said today.

Theme of the meeting is "Helping Worthy Farmers Help Themselves."

Mr. Skipworth estimated that 107,500 state farm families are receiving incomes of less than $500 a year, including all feed and other goods produced for home use. "Nearly half of this group had annual family incomes of less than $250," he said, "which means that they are trying to exist on about $1 a week per person, and this dollar is not in cash but partly in home-grown products."

"FSA has made 56,500 small loans in Texas to these farm families to help them buy seeds, tools, livestock, canning and other equipment needs to give them a 'toehold' on the land. A recent survey showed that these farmers had increased their net worth by $266 per family and at the same time are paying off their loans."

The Haskell office, which also serves Stonewall county, will be open with one Clerk on duty to take care of regular business while Mr. Skipworth and other members of the staff are attending the meeting in College Station.

Church of Christ Revival Meeting Is Well Attended

The biggest attendance for years is being enjoyed by the church of Christ in the gospel meeting on the lawn of the church. Many people from other churches are attending, and the crowds are increasing each night. The local minister, Mr. Malphurs, estimates that from a third to half of the attendants are non-members of the local congregation.

The evangelist, Mr. Prewatt, is endeavoring to get people to fall in love with Christ, and to obey Him rather than glory in doctrine and teaching of a denomination. His kindness to those who have different religious views makes them want to come back.

There were four additions Wednesday night, and many more are expected as the meeting progresses. The meeting will continue through next Wednesday and perhaps longer.

Dates for Annual Four-Days Event Set for Oct. 18 to 21

In a meeting of business men and leaders of agricultural work with directors of the Central West Texas fair Tuesday morning, a definite decision to stage the 1939 exposition was unanimously adopted and committee assignments were made that will immediately set in motion active work on plans for this year's Fair.

Consensus of opinion expressed by those present was that the 1939 exposition could be staged on a par with previous Fairs, despite the adverse weather conditions during late spring and summer crop-growing seasons which may curtail quality agricultural exhibits.

Dates for the 1939 Fair, set by directors several months ago for October 18-21 inclusive will remain unchanged, it was announced following the meeting. The T. J. Tidwell carnival attractions have been contracted for the entire week of the Fair.

A steering committee to direct immediate plans for the coming exposition, including improvements to grounds and buildings, securing of major entertainment attractions and other preliminary work was named at the meeting. With John A. Couch as chairman, the committee includes R. L. Burton, T. C. Cahill, A. C. Pierson, G. R. Schumann and Sam A. Roberts.

Work of revising the premium list and preparation of the 1939 Fair catalog was delegated to the following group: G. R. Schumann, R. E. Skipworth, Homer Neal, H. T. Sullivan, Ed McMinn, A. B. Cowan, Miss Mildred Vaughan and A. C. Pierson. The catalog will be printed and distributed to exhibitors during the coming month.

TRAFFIC RULES DURING FIRES TO BE ENFORCED

Penalties Will Be Enforced Against Violators Officer Warns

City and fire department officials announced this week that an ordinance regulating traffic during the time of a fire in any part of the city, would be rigidly enforced in the future, and asked that motorists cooperate in observing the necessary regulations.

The ordinance, enacted several years ago but never fully enforced, provides penalties when any person parks an automobile within 300 feet of a fire, or fire apparatus, or driving across fire hose, and also prohibits driving within a distance of 300 feet to fire apparatus while the equipment is answering an alarm of fire or otherwise hindering progress of the fire trucks.

In explaining necessity for enforcing the ordinance, fire department officials cited recent instances when work of firemen had been impeded because cars were parked so close to the burning buildings that trucks and hose lines compelling wait for traffic to be moved before equipment could be used in combating the fire.

City Marshal Britton stated that when an alarm of fire is sounded, motorists park as near the curb as possible and remain there until all fire apparatus has passed.

Increased Number of Scholastics In County Indicated

For the first time in a number of years, the scholastic census of the county indicates an increase of approximately 200 children of school age over the total for 1938, according to records in the office of county superintendent Matt Graham. Estimated enrollment in Haskell county schools for the 1939-40 term will be 4,564 students, as compared with a total of 4,365 for the 38-39 term.

For the past several years a decline of approximately 200 scholastics annually has been reflected in the census report for Haskell county.

Household Hints
Here's a simple way to wash windows. Dip a chamois skin into hot water and wring it quite dry. Rub it over the window quickly. Wait several minutes, then wipe the window with a clean, soft chamois skin.

To clean those smart looking transparent raincoats, spread them on a flat surface and rub them gently with a sponge or soft brush dipped in warm water and mild soap suds. Sponge with cloth dipped in warm water and then wipe as dry as possible with soft cloth. Shake and let dry in room of moderate temperature. Do not near a radiator or register or the coat will stiffen.

Before you put on your furniture summer slip covers see that the furniture has been well aired and cleaned to remove any traces of moths.

Coffee cream may be used instead of whipping cream in many frozen desserts.

Bunker Hill 4-H Champions Get Higher Education, A&M Leader Says

Records indicate that entrance in institutions of higher learning is around 35 percent higher in the case of 4-H club boys and vocational agriculture students than in young men who did not belong to one of these organizations, according to L. L. Johnson, state boys' club agent of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Around 45 percent of the rural boys of the United States belong to a 4-H club before they reach maturity.

Johnson said some of the increase in college attendance among former 4-H club members was accounted for by money accumulated through demonstrations in the various fields of agriculture, but that he believed that the incentive provided by taking part in club work was the more important factor.

Word has been received here that the three members of the Menard county 4-H livestock judging team, which won top honors at the 1938 International Livestock 4-H Club Judging Contest, will enroll at A. and M. next September. The boys are Billie Kidd, Harold Mogford and John A. Powell. They plan to follow up their practical livestock experience and 4-H demonstrations with a course in animal husbandry.

Making the Most of Pastures

(By T. C. Richardson, Associate Editor Farm and Ranch, Breeder-Feeder Association.)

The mower is conceded to be the best pasture-growing implement, and this applies sometimes to planted summer pastures (Sudan grass, etc.) as well as to permanent pastures where the mower keeps down weed competition with the grass. Both on permanent and temporary pastures the use of the mower cannot be dated by the calendar, but must depend upon the conditions to be met. In most of the Southwest the spring growth of weeds has already been mowed before now, or has been permitted to seed. Certain other weeds, however, come along later in the season and should be mowed about the time they begin blooming.

Briars and sprouts of various kinds, and seedlings of certain trees, also yield to the mower's persistent use. It is generally conceded that July and August are the best months in which to cut sprouts, robbing the roots of the sustaining foliage before the storage of food in the roots is completed for the season. This operation is hard on the mower, but worth it, and an old mower which is past its usefulness for cutting grass will still cut weeds and sprouts. Many farmers who have no hay to cut are buying second-hand mowers to use on the weeds and sprouts in the pastures.

There are times, however, when the mower is also important in the temporary pasture. Everyone knows that when Sudan or other hay and pasture grasses begin to get "stammy"—that is when they shoot up the coarse seed stems and get making seed, they are less palatable to livestock and also less nutritious. We have all seen such a pasture where the foliage has been eaten off and the bare stems left standing.

If the pasture gets amaid of the animals which graze it—that is when they do not keep it grazed fairly close—the mower comes into play to cut back the seed stems and throw all the growth into new foliage instead of seed. Fresh growth has a higher protein content than old growth, and is more palatable besides. It will pay to run the mower over the temporary Sudan grass pastures even though there is not enough hay to rake and cure, whenever stock do not keep the seed stalks down.

After corn is laid by grass and weeds often spring up and grow luxuriantly. This late summer growth can be turned into cash by grazing the corn fields with sheep. Fencing off such temporary grazing has been greatly cheapened and simplified by the invention of the electric fence, which, with one or two wires properly installed and energized (by battery or power) keeps the animals within bounds quite effectively. The sheep may destroy a small amount of corn, but the gains from the grass and weeds will more than offset the loss in grain, and the corn ground will be in better condition than if the weeds and grass were permitted to grow unmoistened, and seed the ground for next year.

Temporary summer pastures will also furnish more and better grazing if they are divided and the divisions grazed in rotation. Here again the temporary fence electric or otherwise, pays well for the trouble and the moderate expense of installing. Dollars are lost every year on many Southwestern farms through failure to take advantage of the grazing available, when it is available. There must be animals to graze and fence to confine them, but there is no form of wasted opportunity so common, and which offers so great a promise for extra farm income.

The new agriculture which is growing out of the cotton crisis is a balanced agriculture, of which both crops and livestock are essential parts. We have too long thought of "agriculture" as crop raising, and "animal industry" as a thing apart. True agriculture includes both, for nature's own laws demand that plants and animals be kept together in that God-given reciprocal relation by which each feeds the other and the residue returns to the soil—nothing lost.

Household Hints

Here's a simple way to wash windows. Dip a chamois skin into hot water and wring it quite dry. Rub it over the window quickly. Wait several minutes, then wipe the window with a clean, soft chamois skin.

To clean those smart looking transparent raincoats, spread them on a flat surface and rub them gently with a sponge or soft brush dipped in warm water and mild soap suds. Sponge with cloth dipped in warm water and then wipe as dry as possible with soft cloth. Shake and let dry in room of moderate temperature. Do not near a radiator or register or the coat will stiffen.

Before you put on your furniture summer slip covers see that the furniture has been well aired and cleaned to remove any traces of moths.

Coffee cream may be used instead of whipping cream in many frozen desserts.

Control of Rabies Outlined by State Health Dept. Head

Rabies is increasing in prevalence in many parts of Texas, although it may be controlled and even could be exterminated by intelligent measures, according to records of the State Department of Health. Unfortunately it has been the practice to wait to apply control measures until the disease is widespread.

The dog is the chief source of rabies infection in man, but all warm blooded animals are susceptible. Contrary to a widespread belief, rabies is not a warm weather disease. It occurs just as frequently in the cold months. The most logical procedure in the control of rabies would be to vaccinate all dogs. Where this is impossible the stray dog should be immediately impounded, for the stray dog is chiefly responsible for the spread of rabies.

Public health authorities are handicapped in their fight against the spread of rabies because rabies in humans occurs only frequently. However it must be remembered that rabies is 100 per cent fatal once the disease has developed. Treatment is only preventive and must be taken in time.

Do not kill the dog that is behaving strangely or immediately after it has bitten some one. The animal should be captured and kept under observation for ten days to determine whether it has rabies or not. The confinement should be amply secure, for a dog in the frenzy of furious rabies required a much stronger collar and chain or enclosure than a non-rabid dog.

When the rabies virus is put into the body by a biting dog the virus travels slowly from the wound along the nerves until it reaches the brain and spinal cord. Thus if the bite is on the face the virus does not have far to travel to reach the brain. Consequently bites on the face are the most dangerous and immunization must be started at once.

It is possible to control rabies, but, owing to the large territory included in Texas, it will take extra efforts on the part of public health workers and the cooperation of the people of each town and county to carry on an educational program for this control.

Tile Irrigation Increases Yield From Farm Garden

"I have produced enough vegetables the last two months to almost pay for my tile irrigation system," was a statement made by Rice Alvis, Cooperator of the Soil Conservation Service and Farm Security Administration in the California Creek Water Facilities Project.

Mr. Alvis has recently installed 600 feet of tile in his garden, and along with a well, windmill, overhead storage tank and distribution system, has a complete water facility. His farm is located between Haskell and Rule, Texas.

Having recently constructed one-half of the 3.0 miles of level, closed-end terraces, Mr. Alvis is rapidly putting into effect a complete soil and water conservation program. His terraces are protected by strips of sorghum and contour cultivation. On the land where the remaining terraces are to be constructed, 40 foot strips of sorghum have been planted, which will enable him to start construction earlier this fall and receive some protection from wind erosion, as well as serving as base lines for contour cultivation.

Because there is no native pasture on Mr. Alvis' farm, sufficient sudan and small grain will be planted to supply needed summer and winter grazing. A trench silo will supply succulent feed to his dairy cattle when not available from other sources. Feed produced will be held in reserve, Alvis said.

145 New Charters Granted Business Concerns In State

Cisco District of WTU Tops in Spring Merchandise Sales

A summary of the annual spring merchandise campaign conducted by the West Texas Utilities Company throughout the 45,000-square-mile territory it serves this week revealed that the Cisco District had exceeded its sales quota by 261 per cent, thus placing it foremost among the company's nine districts.

H. H. Monk, district manager at Cisco said he had been advised that other districts ranked in the following order: Quanah, Stamford, Abilene, Childress, McCamey, San Angelo, Ballinger, and Dalhart. Quanah and Stamford were tied for second place.

Results of the campaign, he added, indicate that business conditions are exceptionally good in West Texas compared with other parts of the country. Highlight of the campaign was sale of a total of 1,684 electric refrigerators during a 90-day period.

Special awards for outstanding accomplishments in the campaign go to Monk, C. C. Rosamond, district sales manager, O. J. Russell,

Large Sum Loaned Last Fiscal Year By FSA In County

Low-income farmers of Haskell and Stonewall Counties, numbering 112, received loans totaling $81,314.04 from the Farm Security Administration during the fiscal year which closed June 30, according to County Supervisor R. E. Skipworth.

Mr. Skipworth said that in Texas loans of $7,190,995 had been made for the fiscal year just closed compared to $4,279,952 last year. "The FSA is serving more and more farmers every year," he said, "but rehabilitating our rural population is a big job. We have just made a good start on the solution of the problem."

He explained that farmers who are unable to get adequate financing from any other source are the only ones who may receive loans from FSA. "Loans are made," he stated, "only to those who work out an 'improved farm and home plan', raising as nearly as possible all the family's food and all feed for the farm animals. They must also develop more than one source of cash income."

Personal guidance in good farming practices is furnished by FSA field workers.

L. C. R. A. To Sell Surplus Load To Power Companies

Austin, Texas—Swinging into the actual delivery of low-cost public power to Texas citizens, the Lower Colorado River authority this week had announced two important steps in its operating program—the sale of blocks of surplus electricity to the Texas Power and Light company and the Houston Lighting and Power company, and near completion of preparations to begin service to municipalities in a 16 county area adjacent to the Authority's plants.

The prices charged the power companies, the Authority said, under both contracts are the same as those paid by the municipalities and public agencies for similar power.

The two contracts will bring the Authority a revenue of approximately a million dollars yearly.

The sale of power beyond that which will be needed presently to serve municipalities and other purchasers by the Authority to private companies drew national attention when President Franklin D. Roosevelt took notice of the sale in lauding both the utilities and the public agency for their cooperation.

The president's recognition of this new example of cooperation between government and private business came in the form of a letter to Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson, congressman from the Tenth Texas district.

Johnson, in whose district the generating plants of the Authority's four mighty flood control, water conservation and power generating dams are located, is the staunch congressional advocate of the Authority.

His efforts in Washington have been largely responsible for the success of the Authority's financing and progress.

The president's letter to Johnson said: "I was glad to receive your letter telling of the progress of the Colorado River Authority. It shows that it is possible for a neighboring private utility to cooperate with a public power development to the advantage of both and the public."

"I hope this cooperation will be manifested in other areas where similar problems arise."

In explaining the power sale contracts, Max Starcke, operating manager of the L. C. R. A., said that they, coupled with the nearly completed preparations for the Authority to take over the 16 county area it agreed last January to purchase from the Texas Power and Light company, mark an important step in the Authority's plan to bring the benefits of low cost public power to Texas consumers.

The consumption of electricity in the area being acquired by the Authority, Starcke said, is not sufficient at the present time to afford a market for all the electricity which will be generated at the Authority's four dams.

The contracts for sale of power to T. P. and L., and H. L. and P. he said, were negotiated to market a part of the system's present surplus.

Starcke made it plain that the Authority has made adequate allowance for power to serve municipalities, governmental agencies and other purchasers it now serves, as well as to serve those in an area economically feasible to serve which may hereafter request service from the Authority.

If these resources, he said, should prove insufficient for such purposes, the Authority, under power sold to the companies.

The contracts provide for the purchase of low-load-factor power which can be utilized only for handling peak loads of short duration and which an isolated city or town, needing a power source during all hours of the day and night, would find it difficult to use. In addition to providing a market for low-load-factor primary energy, the power companies will also utilize a substantial amount of "flood-water" production, this being electric energy generated in the control and handling of flood waters through the reservoirs, and which energy ordinarily has little value except to large power companies with huge reserve, steam plants that can be shut down to make use of it.

Under the terms of the contracts, the Authority will be assured of sale of a large block of its power. With its contracts with private utilities, it will have secured a market for all of its power at prices sufficient to liquidate its indebtedness, serve all municipalities in an economically feasible area which may apply to it, and maintain reserve storage for flood control.

The Authority, Starcke said, could have started marketing power some time ago to private interests, but that in compliance with its policy of making it available first to municipalities which desire it, the Authority had waited to give municipalities and rural electrification cooperatives an opportunity to secure L. C. R. A. Power.

"The easy way for the Authority," he said, "would have been to sell its production to private interests, but it has been the thought of the board of directors that the benefits of this power should be available first to the people if they desire to take advantage of them."

"A number of cities have signified their intention of taking advantage of this power and the Authority has made ample provision for them. The Authority simply is selling to Texas Power and Light company and Houston Lighting and Power company surplus power that it has available outside of this amount."

"Under the terms of the contracts, the Authority can recapture power for sale to other municipalities in an area economically feasible to serve which might later decide in favor of municipal ownership, and to meet any increased load demands that already have not been provided for in its area."

The Authority's surplus will make available to the companies a supply of electricity energy to meet their growing loads and avoid the necessity of immediate construction of additional generating plants. At the same time, Starcke pointed out, it will obviate expensive and unnecessary duplication of facilities.

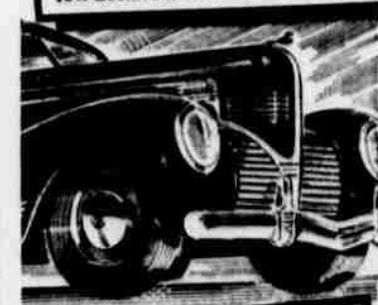

Upon acquisition of the 16 county area, in the next few weeks, the Authority will offer distribution systems acquired by it to the municipalities in the area.

The Authority plans to sell on a wholesale basis only.

A Cordial Welcome for All Who Attend

State's Supply of Granite and Marble Untouched

To the neglect of its own "back yard" supply — largest in the nation — Texas imports 90 per cent of its granite and all of its marble.

G. A. Parkinson, University of Texas assistant testing engineer, has disclosed.

For 25 years attached to the University's Bureau of Engineering Research, as Texas building materials expert, Mr. Parkinson exhibits within the testing laboratory a collection of 300 different types of granite, marble, limestone and sandstone in rough blocks and polished slabs. The stone was collected over the state during a seven-year joint project with the University's Bureau of Economic Geology.

"Of these 300 samples, 100 can be quarried on a profitable basis," he explained. "But they aren't. With an inexhaustible supply of this building stone inside our own frontiers, Texas is actually Newcastle buying coal."

He said some work was being done with Texas stone in production of terrazzo chips, multi-colored marble chipped for ornamental flooring.

The most accessible fields for both granite and marble lie in the 100-mile-square plateau belt west of Austin, he said. Termed the Central Mineral Region, the section includes Llano, Burnet, Gillespie, Mason, San Saba, and Blanco counties.

As an example of the section's unexploited resources, Mr. Parkinson cited the "enchanted rock" formation — one solid block of granite 700 feet high and two miles wide at its base.

To probe and test the state's building stone supply, the two University bureaus launched in 1932 their collection, Fretze and absorption tests designed to predict the lifespan of the stone are carried on inside the huge laboratory daily.

The completed display counts approximately 1,000 different stone designs — "depending on the direction of the cut" — ranging all the way from blood red and jet black marble to granites tinted with green, silver and blue.

Mr. Parkinson said that the bureau had been queried recently by "several firms" interested in establishing Texas granite or marble quarries.

The most forceful weapon in the control of diphtheria is prevention through immunization, rather than care of the disease after it has developed. Children can be protected against diphtheria by the use of what is known as toxoid. Young children are particularly susceptible to the disease. Accordingly as soon as a baby is six months old, the parents are advised to take it to the family physician and have it immunized — protected, by the use of toxoid. Older children in the family who have not had the protective treatment, should be immunized also, and this should be attended to now before the school season begins. This immunizing agent is absolutely safe to administer, and practically no constitutional or troublesome after effects. It confers a life time immunity in the majority of cases. To be certain that immunization is complete, however, the child should be taken back to the physician six months after the toxoid was administered, and given the Schick Test.

It is within the power of the parents of this State, cooperating with their physicians and public health departments, to eliminate diphtheria from Texas.

Immunization of Children Against Diphtheria Urged

Austin, Texas.—The State Department of Health urges that all parents of children from six months to ten years of age, who have not been immunized against diphtheria, take them to their family physician and have this done at once. It will take some time to establish immunity to this disease, so the child should be given this preventive treatment now before the advent of cold weather when diphtheria is more prevalent.

It is a generally accepted fact among public health authorities that any community may control its death rate from diphtheria. Immunization has been proved a safe and effective preventive measure. Wherever immunizing treatment has been extensively used, diphtheria has steadily decreased.

Haskell Child Is Injured While On Visit In Lubbock

Little Miss Doris Jean Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Phillips of this city, was painfully injured Sunday in Lubbock, where the little girl is visiting an aunt, Mrs. Warren Henry in that city. She was carried to the Lubbock hospital for treatment and will remain there for several days. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips drove to Lubbock Sunday night after being advised of the accident.

465 Acre Tract Is Set Aside As Refuge for Quail

AUSTIN, Texas.—Another project designed to increase the Bobwhite and Scaled Quail population of the lower plains of Northwest Texas has been gotten under way by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission through the cooperation of interested sportsmen.

A 465-acre tract several miles southeast of Lubbock along Buffalo Lake is being used by Charles E. Friley, Jr., game manager of region 9, it was announced by Phil Goodrum, director of research and education for the department.

The tract is believed to be very adaptable for the raising of quail, it being tableland, ravines, gulleys and steeply-inclined land. A 100-acre lake is centered in the area.

The area, to be known as the Yellowhouse Canyon Game Refuge, will not need restocking, but Game Manager Friley is confident that the few birds there will be increased many times over.

Ten small food patches will be planted. Trees and shrubs to provide shelter for the birds will be planted on the tableland and on the steeply-inclined ground.

The area, located on the eastern edge of the south plains, will be used to demonstrate proper quail management practices and their application in pasture lands. Game experts will also be able to determine the relationships of Bobwhite and Scaled Quail when occupying the same range.

It is believed that not only the land in the project, but that surrounding it will be restocked naturally within a few years.

Friley a year ago instituted a similar project on a 2,000-acre tract near Abilene and a survey is being conducted at this time to determine the rate of increase of quail in the area.

A Political Puzzle

Entirely aside from partisan considerations, the appointment of Paul V. McNutt, former governor of the Philippines, to head the important new Social Security administration is quite puzzling to political observers.

This is especially so because McNutt has not been considered a stalwart New Dealer; in fact, he has not been in high favor with President Roosevelt's closest advisers, nor with the chief executive himself.

McNutt was the only Democrat to appear to be seeking the 1940 nomination for President regardless of Mr. Roosevelt's wishes until a short time ago. He later intimated that he would not oppose the President if he sought a third term.

It appears to be understood that Mr. McNutt will go on with his campaign for convention delegates, with the reservation that he will step aside if Roosevelt finally decides to run. In that event, many believe McNutt may be favored by Roosevelt for the vice-presidential nomination.

The situation appears to leave several Democratic aspirants such as Farley, Wallace, Hull and others, who have been staunch administration supporters, out in the cold. Anyway the appointment of McNutt to such a powerful post in the administration has left the politicians gasping.

It is the most surprising appointment by President Roosevelt since he named Hugo Black to be associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Money Disappears

According to officials of the U. S. Mint in Washington, an enormous amount of money issued in 1913 or otherwise disappears so that the Treasury never has to redeem it, but is that much ahead.

It is estimated that five billion pennies have been misplaced since the government began making them. Of the old-time 2-cent pieces, of which more than 91 million were coined, more than 57 million are still missing, while less than one-third of the 94 million 3-cent pieces minted more than a half-century ago were ever returned for redemption.

But it is not only small coins that get lost. More than 10 million of the old large-sized $1 bills, the issue of which was discontinued about 10 years ago, never got back to the Treasury, and the same is true of many large-sized bills of higher denominations. Of course, a considerable amount of this old money is probably hoarded away and may come to light some day.

Incidentally, by reducing the size of paper currency by one-third it is estimated that the Treasury has saved about 18 million dollars in cost of paper, ink, labor and storage space in the last 10 years.

However, with spending going on at the rate of more than 9 billion dollars a year, such a saving is only a drop in the Treasury bucket.

Haskell County History

As Revealed by the Files of the Free Press 20, 30 and 40 years ago.

40 Years Ago—July 29, 1899
Miss Ethel Alexander returned Tuesday from a visit to Graham. Dr. J. M. Moore and wife of Wayner were over last week trading with our merchants. Messrs. W. L. Cason and I. T. Farmer are attending the Fifth Sunday meeting at Aspermont. Mrs. J. S. Rike and daughter, Miss Lillie went to Graham Monday on a visit to Mrs. Hall Morrison. Mrs. Rike's daughter. Dr. A. B. King of Throckmorton was called over to see Capt. Kilbough, but arrived only a few hours before his death, and could do nothing for his relief. From the size of the crowd that attended the Mollie Bailey show Tuesday night we are warranted in saying that Haskell was "show-hungry". Mr. Jim Hale of Eastland, who has been visiting relatives here for several weeks and doing some cattle trading to make the time interesting, left Thursday for his home. G. M. Clayton of Wilbarger county, who bought 1076 acres of land a few miles north of town about a month ago, is here improving the property and preparing it for occupancy. If you don't think things are growing out of sight in Haskell county just step into Mr. Robertson's store and see those pea pods that actually measures 32 inches in length. Messrs. F. M. Morton and Joe Lee Ferguson, who have been in partnership for a number of years in an extensive ranch venture, have dissolved their partnership. Mr. Grisby Mathis while riding out last week saw a large rattlesnake out of a dog hole and a large acreage of oats to thresh

American Republics

Improving relations among Latin-American republics are pointed out in a recent Washington dispatch, as well as indications that on the whole a better feeling toward the United States is in evidence.

Bolivia and Paraguay, after their long war over the Chaco area appear to be getting along quite peacefully. The threatened clash between Nicaragua and Honduras over a boundary dispute seems to have been averted, and the president of Honduras recently paid a visit to the president of Nicaragua. Tension between Ecuador and Peru over their boundary differences has lessened, and no immediate threats to peace are seen in any of the Central and South American countries.

Relations between these nations and the United States, were not all that might be desired in some cases, are generally better than formerly. Friendly visits of high officials of these countries in recent months have been notable.

These include visits to Washington of Col. Batista, Cuba's most powerful political and military figure; President Somoza of Nicaragua; Brazil's foreign minister, Aranha; General Monteiro, chief of staff of the Brazilian army and lesser officials of the various countries. The Chilean minister of finance will visit Washington this autumn.

Next year several other Latin-American leaders are expected to visit the United States, and all these gestures of friendship will inevitably tend to promote peace and solidarity among the nations of the western hemisphere.

Mars Near on July 27

From a maximum distance of approximately 248 million miles, Mars will approach to within about 36 million miles of the earth July 27, the nearest it has been to us since 1924. Astronomers will take advantage of its nearness to make further study of conditions on that planet.

Despite its relatively close approach, however, Mars will not outshine Venus in brightness, although the latter is much farther away. The distance of Venus from the earth ranges from 25 million to 161 million miles.

Much discussion has been indulged in concerning the so-called canals on Mars, but most astronomers do not believe these are real, or that there is any life on the planet capable of constructing works of such magnitude. In fact, if there is life on Mars at all it must be very different from anything we can imagine.

Scientists estimate the temperature on Mars to range from 40 degrees at noon to 100 degrees below zero at night. There is very little oxygen in the thin atmosphere of the planet, perhaps not more than one per cent of that contained in the atmosphere of the earth, according to Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of Mount Wilson Observatory.

The air we breathe is about four parts nitrogen to one part oxygen, with minute quantities of other gases. The atmosphere of Mars is believed to be principally carbon dioxide and very little of that.

Thousands of fish were saved for sportsmen early this month through the quick thinking of Game Warden John Taylor of Marble Falls. Flood waters of the Colorado River, which had been checked by the huge Buchanan dam, were being released in an orderly manner and water from one of the flood gates emptied into a small creek, which otherwise is dry.

Fishermen were quick to find out that the small creek offered wonderful bass and crapping fishing. Then, without warning the Lower Colorado River Authority closed the gates feeding the creek, since enough of the flood water had been let out. Taylor chanced to be on the creek bank when the water started going down. Realizing what had happened, he jumped into his car, raced to the forman in charge of operations and explained the situation. The forman agreed to let enough water keep flowing through the creek to save the fish.

Beaver are being trapped in east Texas by the game department.

Warning Against Effort To Socialize Industry Is Given

MENARD, TEXAS—A warning against "power socialists" and an alleged attempt to socialize industry was sounded here by N. H. Pierce, publisher of the Menard News and chairman of the Texas Press Association's legislative committee, with publication of an editorial criticizing the federal-state power program.

"Very recently rumors have been heard of a new political war against the utilities," the editorial reads. "And what that amounts to is a war against the utilities," the editorial reads. "And what that amounts to is a war against the taxpayers who pay the bills; against the armies of workers with good jobs in the private companies; against the tens of thousands of people of small means who own utility securities, bought out of savings; against a tremendous number of businesses, little and big, from which utilities buy, and which share directly or indirectly in utility spending. It's a war primarily against the 'little fellow'."

The politically manipulated power program, Pierce charged, is designed to "blanket the country with tax-subsidized, politically-managed power plants and transmission systems in the next five years."

He named Texas among several states which, he said, "are being 'blessed' with socialized power, at the expense of private savings, private investment, private opportunity, and private employment."

"In every case," he continued, "the areas have been long and adequately served, at reasonable cost, by heavily-taxed state regulated systems. In every case where possible deficiencies of power existed, the private companies were prepared to expand to make up for them—given assurance that they would be allowed to stay in business. In every case, all the taxpayers of the country have been taxes to pay for the unnecessary government projects—and the total bill of the projects planned runs past the $2,000,000,000 point. Furthermore, the 'power socialists' are not satisfied. They frankly want to destroy or absorb the entire private industry."

"Such a program is insidious. It grows without our knowing it. And it leads us inexorably toward that totalitarianism the very politicians who are today promoting socialism in this country, profess to detest. The people of this country have long been asleep—and the future of democracy will be dark indeed if they don't awaken soon."

Workers Who Quit Without Cause Are Subject to Penalty

Workers in Haskell County this week were advised not to walk off a job and expect to draw all their unemployment benefits.

H. H. Rumph, supervising examiner for this district, said, "Quitting without good cause may result in a claimant's being assessed one of the stiffest penalties of the unemployment compensation law."

He explained that the penalty for quitting without good cause ranges from the loss of one benefit check to the loss of all benefit checks. "The intent of the law is to help the worker who is unemployed through no fault of his own," Rumph declared, "and it is not to be confused with old age benefits or relief."

LETTERS

Courtney Hunt Answers W. B. Arnold's Letter

In answering Mr. W. B. Arnold's letter in The Free Press of July 21st I want to state I have no thought or intent of starting a political argument through the press. It would not result in any good. My friends do not demand an explanation of my acts. My enemies would not be changed. If you convince a man against his will, he's of the same opinion still. In my letter to the FREE PRESS of June 30th I gave only a few of my reasons for voting against submission of S. J. R. No. 12. I thought my letter timely as one side of this controversial matter had been given weekly over the radio. I knew that some good people had been misled, and had been prejudiced, and I felt fair minded people would weigh both sides. I think my reason given were based on sound thought, and the facts as actually existed, and was well received by the greater majority of the thinking readers.

In Mr. Arnold's letter of July 21st I quote him as follows, "I WISH TO SAY I AM A DEMOCRAT: SIRED BY A CONFEDERATE SOLDIER, ROCKED IN A DEMOCRATIC CRADLE, TAUGHT FROM CHILDHOOD UP TO STAND ONE HUNDRED PERCENT FOR EQUAL RIGHTS TO ALL AND SPECIAL PRIVILEGES TO NONE." If my friend Mr. Arnold actually believes in the above clause of the constitution, he should be behind Courtney Hunt 100 per cent in voting against S. J. R. No. 12. If Mr. Arnold has not read and studied S. J. R. 12, he should apologize and admit he was writing about something he knows absolutely nothing about. If Mr. Arnold has read and studied S. J. R. 12 he should readily see the resolution gives absolute protection to the Natural Resource Special Interests, and puts additional burden on the masses and the poor who are least able to pay. It does not provide equal rights to all, but does provide that "THEY" the Special Interests can not ever be taxed any more for Social Security. It also provides that only a certain amount of all taxes raised under this resolution can be used to pay Social Security, that future legislatures may reduce the tax placed on them, but can never raise it. It also provides that any amount of revenue raised under this resolution over and above twenty million dollars must be applied on Ad Valorem taxes. So, since 60 per cent of the Ad Valorem tax are paid up by Natural Resources and public Utility Corporations, their Ad Valorem tax would be considerably more than they would pay taxes to the Social Security Program. I ask Mr. Arnold is this not special privileges to the Special Interests who are exploiting our natural resources, to live outside the bounds of Texas, and who seek to put the burden on the masses and the poor of Texas, and demand that it be written into the constitution where they will be safe from it being changed?

"If" Mr. Arnold believes in this clause of the constitution; "If" he believes in free speech; "If" he believes in a man worshipping according to the dictates of his own conscience; "If" he believes in a man voting the honest convictions of his heart; he will not blame me, a born democrat, a man who was taught it was a crime to scratch a democratic ticket; for voting my honest convictions and refusing to follow the dictates of a born Yankee—Kansas reared, who boast of the fact that he paid his poll tax one time, in order that he may vote a Republican ticket. "If" Mr. Arnold believes in the State Constitution he believes in a representative Government "If" Mr. Arnold believes in the Constitution of Texas, he believes that all Revenue measures should originate in the House of Representatives.

Mr. Arnold, in his letter seeks to put me on "THE SPOT". He seeks from his question to convey to the old people that Courtney Hunt went back on his promise; that I failed to keep faith. Will state this is not in the least true. I make it a point to never be put on "THE SPOT". I have never promised more than I can do. I was asked through the Free Press, and by a good friend, to give my stand on OLD AGE PENSION, I gave my answer through the Free Press in the next issue, same addressed to my good friend, and I told him in my letter through the Press and through a letter and card sent through the mail. "I FAVOR PROVIDING FUNDS TO PAY OLD AGE PENSION WHERE QUALIFIED UNDER NATIONAL AND STATE ACT, THE FULL AMOUNT THAT WOULD BE MATCHED BY THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT. AND THAT, WHETHER OR NOT THEY HAD CHILDREN ABLE TO SUPPORT THEM." If Mr. Arnold is posted, and everyone else know that the latter clause is now a fixed law in Texas, and a fulfillment of my platform. "I DID MY DUTY, I KEPT THE FAITH". I voted for, and worked for the passage of two Statutory bills, either of which would have paid the old people, the Teachers, the needy blind and the Crippled Children; but what became of these two bills? They were killed in the Senate committee. We were told by the RING-LEADERS the Senate would not pass anything but a Constitutional Resolution. We didn't have a Chinaman's chance to pass a constructive pension bill because the Senate would not consider anything else.

Who wanted a Constitutional Tax measure to pay Social Security? Was there ever anything said about a constitutional amendment to pay pension during the campaign? No, this was sprung after the legislature convened, this was worked out last summer, and for whom? Who fostered the S. J. R. 12. I tell my friends it was fostered by the most powerful lobby of the combined special interests ever known in Austin.

We were told in no uncertain terms that if we voted against submission of S. J. R. 12 we would not go back to the legislature. We were intimidated, we were threatened with defeat, we had every pressure known to modern lobbyists to force submission of this unfair, unscrupulous resolution to the people. Why? Because if it had failed to carry it would mean people didn't want to meet our Social Security Program, and practically meant repeal; if it carried, the Natural Resources would be protected against any further tax for Social Security, and their Ad Valorem tax would be reduced more than they pay in on Social Security. It was a cunning scheme that would have doublecrossed the old people, and would have wrecked the entire Social Security program.

Mr. Arnold says in his letter that he feels the voters of 113th district has had a slap in the face and been treated dirty; and asked me the question if I feel the voters have not sense enough to vote intelligently. I will say this, I think the average voter has sense enough to vote intelligently. I also know there are a few who vote their prejudice instead of their better judgment. It is not a case of the people voting, the people have already spoken, they have already voted to pay pension, Teachers retirement, aid for the needy blind and crippled children. The question is, how to raise the revenue. It was my duty, and I accepted that responsibility. I would have been a weakling to pass this responsibility back to the people. I made every effort, to provide the revenue but was blocked by a majority who in reality do not favor paying pension. "26" members of the majority group voted against every Statutory bill, and stated freely they were against pensions in any form. The leading proponents of S. J. R. No. 12 spoke freely against pensions, and offered a resolution to repeal the Pension law, and said it had become a racket, but they are on the "HONOR ROLL" because they voted for S. J. R. 12; because it afforded protection to the Special Interests and Natural Resources, which many of them were representing.

Mr. Arnold asks in his letter if I favor the Governor calling a special session of the legislature. I say "YES" in no uncertain terms, and I have written the Governor to this effect, and not because I want more "PIE" as Mr. Arnold suggests, but because I want this matter settled NOW, and I venture the assertion that if the Governor does call a Special Session and gives us nothing but the Social Security in his message, the House of Representatives will pass a good constructive bill within seventy two hours; and I firmly believe the Senate would concur. If they failed, the blame would be placed where it rightfully belongs; 16 Senators will up for re-election they want to be elected the same as Representatives, the only difference there are fewer of them, and they have more backing. "If" the Governor fails to call a special Session, it will be the same thing over in 1941. It will be a Constitutional Resolution or nothing. The only way the Social Security program will ever be worked out in a satisfactory way will be in a call Session where a Constitutional Resolution cannot be considered; I think any fair minded person can see this.

I want to say to Mr. Arnold, and to others who think as he does, the 56 members whom you condemn were the best friends you had in the 46th legislature, they saved you from being double-crossed. You should take them by the hand and congratulate them on their courage to stand pat under such pressure. You are in better shape now than when the legislature met. You know now who is eligible, we will know in a short time how many we will have on our pension rolls, and as it now stands it can be changed from time to time as needed to meet the situation; under S. J. R. No. 12 if it had carried it could not have been changed except by Constitution, and should the Connelly Bill become a law, with the Johnson Amendment, Texas would not have been able to participate, in fact Texas would not have been eligible for Federal aid without another election, and that could not have been possible before 1941 and then 11 men in the Senate could block it. It is a dangerous procedure and I have got to find one student of Government or a judge of law and Government who favors writing a Revenue bill into the constitution.

I will say to you Mr. Arnold, and to others who think as you do, that it has become a custom with some people, and generally by people who know the least about legislative procedure to criticize and lambast the legislature most critics blame all members for what one member may do, or blame one member for what 181 members may or may not do. It is hard to get good men who want to go to the legislature and stay there, because of criticism. The member who is getting pay or being retained doesn't care, but the position is not worth being insulted when you have done your sworn duty.

I will say in conclusion that "I SACRIFICED NO PRINCIPALS TO GAIN THIS OFFICE, AND I SHALL SACRIFICE NO PRINCIPALS TO KEEP IT. I DID MY DUTY, I KEPT THE FAITH. I FOUGHT AND LIVED UP TO EVERY PROMISE. I made you a good representative, I filled the place with honor to myself and my district. I was not a rubber stamp to be used by any one, I thought for myself, and I voted my honest convictions. I AM PROUD OF THE FACT THAT I AM ONE OF THE 56 GENTLEMEN WHO HAD THE COURAGE TO STAND UP AND FIGHT FOR A PRINCIPAL. NO FINER GROUP OF MEN EVER GRACED ANY LEGISLATIVE HALL. THEY ARE A GROUP OF HONEST CLEAN MEN WHO FOUGHT TO SAVE TEXAS from the grasps of the special interests who are bleeding Texas white of our God given sources, and not willing to pay their parts of the Taxes, and seeking protection through our constitution, and to unload the burden of taxation on the poor people of Texas. "56" honest clean Men voted to preserve and protect the Constitution, and the people of Texas. "56" honest clean men said by their vote, "I WOULD RATHER BE RIGHT THAN REPRESENTATIVE." Respectfully, COURTNEY HUNT.

Picnickers Should Take Precautions Against 'Chiggers'

Summer time brings along that grand old family institution, the picnic, and R. R. Reppert, entomologist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Services, takes out time enough from his control of grasshopper and other crop insects to give a word of advice about the little pest that has taken the pleasure of many a picnic—the "chigger" or "red bug."

Chiggers, says Reppert, are the first or larval stage of a large, red, velvet mite which is entirely harmless when mature, but gets in lots of licks as it grows up. In the first place, it's well to dust the body with flowers of sulphur before starting out into chigger-infested areas. Back home again, apply kerosene lightly to the skin in places where chiggers usually gather—and that, as everybody knows, means the ankles, wrists, and under the knees, for a starter. Follow with a hot bath and scrub well with a coarse wash cloth or brush. If you have time and can stand it, lather freely with a medicated soap and allow it to dry on the body for about 15 minutes before it is washed off.

The idea that chiggers burrow into the skin is incorrect, says Reppert. Also incorrect is the idea that they don't begin to hurt until they die. Actually they merely attach themselves to the skin and suck blood. The persistent itching that follows is due to a poisonous material the organism injects in the wound. If you neglect precautions before exposure and treatment after until the chiggers begin their work, ammonia water, strong salt water, soda water, or cooling ointments will alleviate the pain somewhat.

Sixteen Million Expended on WPA Projects in State

Cities, counties and independent school districts of Texas expended $16,280,417 on WPA projects during the fiscal year which ended on June 30, according to a report issued by State Administrator H. P. Drought.

This amount represents an increase of 68.3 per cent over the $9,671,469 contributed by sponsors to Works Progress Administration projects during the fiscal year 1937 and represents an increase of 55.5 per cent over the $10,472,922 contributed by sponsors during the fiscal year 1938. Drought attributed the increase in sponsor's contributions to an increased total program during the fiscal year 1939 and to a constant improvement in the quality of WPA projects over the three year period. Pointing out that Federal expenditures for other than labor purposes are restricted by law, he stated that an increase in sponsor's expenditures means not only that a large proportion of Federal funds may be used for the payment of wages to project workers but also that the quality of the finished project is enhanced.

During the fiscal year 1939, approximately 85 per cent of sponsor's expenditures represented materials, equipment and other non-labor items necessary to the operation of projects. The remaining 15 per cent represented wages paid to supervisory employes and skilled labor which could not be obtained from the local relief rolls.

Twenty-five years ago, on July 28, 1914, Austria promulgated a declaration of war against Serbia to precipitate the World War, which eventually aligned practically all the major powers of the world in two fighting groups. We all know of the tremendous waste of property and millions of lives lost in the War... and yet today the nations of Europe are very near the brink of another conflict.

Despite the enormous property destruction caused by war, fire and storms exact a greater toll throughout the world. Your surest protection is sound, dependable insurance—the kind we provide.

Mr. Merchant:

TO SELL 'EM YOU'VE GOT TO TELL 'EM

Each Week The Free Press Reaches 2,000 Families Waiting to be Told and Sold

The headline to this advertisement isn't merely a catchy but meaningless jingle—the thought it expresses is really based on the soundest logic and soundest merchandising, as a moment of reflection will prove. For it stands to reason that before a merchant can make a sale to a customer he must attract that customer into his store.

Every merchant knows the value of location — he knows that if his store is situated on a street which has considerable sidewalk traffic his business will vary in proportion to this traffic. He knows, too, that this takes place because potential customers are attracted by his offerings displayed in his windows. He sees to it that his windows tell passersby that he has money-saving values for them.

Free Press advertising offers all the advantages of an ideal "traffic" location and more. It is the modern magic carpet which transports more than 2,000 Haskell families on a tour of Haskell advertisers' stores each week. It is the medium by which the greatest number of potential customers can be told at the least cost.

And Free Press advertising sells 'em as it tells 'em! Haskell families have found that it is a reliable index to authentic values. That it gives them a chance to compare price and quality... that it saves them time and trouble and money... that it enables them to do their marketing in an easy chair. It sells 'em, furthermore, because it finds them in a receptive mood... at home.

Mr. Merchant, 2,000 Haskell County families are waiting to be told and sold. Use the Free Press—the most efficient and most economical advertising medium — to tell 'em and sell 'em!

The Consistent Advertiser Gets The Best Results!

It pays to advertise consistently! Regular insertions add to the prestige and reputation of the advertiser, for they indicate that he has day in and day out values for Haskell shoppers—values that are important enough to be publicized.

Lack of advertising creates a negative impression—it implies that the merchant has no values worth advertising. Advertising in the Free Press every week to attract Haskell shoppers every week!

Maybe IT'S the HEAT

... but anyway, we're thinking that a lot of folks are going to find it mighty comfortable to break their vacation trips this summer with stops at Humble Service Stations... What with the two fairs and all, we're expecting a lot of vacation travelers, and we've provided everything we can think of to make their trips more comfortable... You know what a Humble Service Station is: you've heard how clean the rest-rooms are—maybe a neighbor told you, if you haven't found out for yourself; anyway, they're reason enough to plan your stops where you see the Humble sign... But they're not everything, not by a jugfull. There's an abundance of refreshing ice water waiting for you. There's cool shade, a stretch of green lawn, a glimpse of bright flowers... And last, but far from least, there's a friendly greeting and a cheerful goodbye from a neatly uniformed, courteous station salesman who renders you a service that's prompt, trained and genuinely helpful... So, when you plan your vacation trip this summer, also plan to stop and stretch your legs where you see the Humble sign!

Carson County Farmer Fined In Motor Fuel Case

Farmers and others who transport motor fuel on which the state tax has not been paid, run the risk of heavy penalties, according to officers of the State Comptroller's office.

In a recent case tried in Austin, as reported in the Austin American, O. R. Meaker, farmer of Panhandle was found guilty by a jury in 53rd district court and given 30 days in the Travis county jail and assessed a fine of $100 on a charge of transporting motor fuel without a state permit showing the state tax had been paid, last December in Carson county.

Texas Farmers Show Interest In Market Aid

One hundred and six organized cotton improvement groups in Texas have already applied to the Agricultural Marketing Service of the United States Department of Agriculture for free classing of their 1939 cotton crop, according to word sent to G. R. Schumann, County Agent, by E. A. Miller, Extension Agronomist. Among the groups that have applied in Texas is the Rule One Variety Cotton Improvement Association under the leadership of A. W. McBeth, President, and W. H. McCandless, Secretary. The application filed by the Rule group shows a membership of 115 farmers with over 7,000 acres planted to the variety of cotton adopted by the group, and less than 1,000 acres of cotton planted to other varieties.

Other group in Haskell County which are carrying on cotton improvement work are located at O'Brien and Rochester. The Farmers in the O'Brien area have been carrying on their work for two years, and at Rochester for one year. The O'Brien group is headed by D. R. Brown.

The 106 applications places Texas far in the lead in the use of this service, according to Mr. Miller. Arkansas has filed 32 applications, Mississippi 16, Arizona 13. Samples of all cotton ginned for grower members of each approved organization will be classed free for grade and staple length by government classifiers. Also there will be market news reports.

The purpose of the service, Miller has stated, is to help farmers get definite and accurate information on the grade, staple, and current market value of the quality cotton they produce.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hays of this city, accompanied by Claude Maxwell of Harlingen, who is visiting here, spent the first of the week in Greenville with relatives and friends. They were accompanied back to Haskell by Eulis Hays Jr., who had been in Greenville for several weeks.

WHEN PASTURE NEEDS HELP

St. Louis, Mo.—It is calculated that a cow weighing 1000 pounds and producing 12 quarts of milk daily—and getting pasture only—requires each day 100 pounds of grass. This is a great deal of grass—especially when it has to be grazed. On pastures good enough to yield 100 pounds of grass per acre per day, this cow would need a muzzle four feet wide and would have to push it over two miles every day to obtain enough grass to satisfy her needs.

Grass is Great Feed
"There's no question about the milk stimulating properties of green, juicy grass," says D. H. Van Pelt, Purina Dairy Specialist. "When cows are first turned on grass, milk production spurts to a higher level. No wonder dairy farmers are tempted to quit feeding their milk-making ration!"

"What they don't take into consideration is the fact that pasture stays at its best only a short time. As its quality deteriorates, milk production gradually falls off. This is vividly confirmed by the following typical experiment, conducted at the Purina Experimental Farm—

"Cows 338 and 117 of the Purina herd were as near alike in condition, freshening period and producing ability as was practical to select. Cow 338 was on grass alone for 5 months. At the end of that time she had lost 190 pounds in weight and gave 138 gallons of milk in July, August and September. Cow 117 was on grass, along with which she was fed grain that had been balanced out with Purina dairy concentrate. After 5 months she had gained 45 pounds and her July, August and September production was 189 gallons of milk.

A Costly Practice

"It would be a shame to let a cow like No. 338 go through the spring and summer on nothing but grass, then freshen with her body weight down right ahead of the fall and winter lactation period. It would cost far more in feed and care to bring her back into better production and condition," Van Pelt says. "Common sense and long experience dictate that it pays to feed a supplementary grain ration with pasture, right from the start."

"On flush pasture the regular winter grain ration should be cut in half," recommends Van Pelt. "As the season advances and grass loses more and more of its stimulation, the grain ration should be increased enough to hold up production. In the long run this method uses less feed, is less costly, and contributes greatly to the life and milking capacity of the cow."
