To Comply With CANDIDATES TO

First Speaking Rally of Year Scheduled at O'Brien

Candidates for office in Haskell county will make their first bid for support from the speaker's platform Friday June 19th when the first "candidate speaking" of the current campaign is held at O'Brien

Although definite plans have not been completed it is hoped to have a public address system available, in order that messages from all candidates can be broadcast to the crowd expected in attendance.

For a number of years O'Brien has been the scene for opening of the political speaking schedule in Haskell county, and this year the schedule was maintained by unanimous vote of a majority of the candidates at a mass meeting held in Haskell

Time on the speaking program will be allotted to all candidates for county and district offices in Haskell county The community gatherings with

O'Brien as the first to be held. are expected to have a more farreaching effect during the present political campaign, with the tire shortage and other war factors preventing candidates from making the usual 'house-to-house' will compare favorably campaign as in previous years. In some counties, political 'speaking dates" have been abandoned for the duration of the war, but in Haskell county a majority of the candidates for office adopta speaking schedule that will take them to all the principal Cream Can. towns and communities in the county during the campaign. Six In Race For Governorship of State of Texas

Three candidates for the Democratic nomination to state office were still unopposed as the dead-line payed for filing ballot places last week, but an unexpected deluge of opposition made the governor's race a six-way affair.

People residing within the city or United States senator were required to submit their names and $100 filing fees by midnight June

New surprise candidates in opposition to Gov. Coke Stevenson, seeking his first regular election to the office he attained by one signation of W. Lee O'Daniel, are Gene S. Porter, Belton insur-ance man; Hope Wheeler, Arlington newspaper publisher; Hal H. Collins, Mineral Wells hotel and laxative plant owner; Alex M. Ferguson, Howe seed breeder; and C. L. Somerville, Dallas attorney and law school head who had asnounced Sunday night. Other candidates reported early

RULE LAWYER IS NAMED ASSISTANT COUNTY ATTORNEY

A. C. Foster Will Serve While Incumbent Is In Service

County Attorney Walter Murchison, who left Thursday morning for an Army induction center to begin his basic training period as a candidate for acceptance in an Army Officers Training School, Monday announced the appointas assistant County Attorney during the time the county official is absent in the officers training school or in the armed service. In making the announcement of this appointment Mr. Murchison stated that it had been done while he was under the impression that Mr. Foster was the only candidate in the race for County Attorney and that he did not desire or intend such appointment to be taken as an indorsement of the candidacy of any person or as an indorsement of the candidacy of any person or as an attempt to influence the election of any party to the office now held by him. To the contrary he wished both candidates the best of luck in their race.

Mr. Foster, prominent Rule resident and attorney, is a veteran of the first World War. After serving during the first conflict. Mr. Foster returned to Rule and has been engaged in the practice of law in that city for a number of years. He recently announced as a candidate for the office of County Attorney.

In his new position as assistant County Attorney, Mr. Foster assumed his new duties Thursday, and will endeavor to carry out the policies outlined by County Attorney Murchison during the latter's absence in service. Mr Foster will occupy the County Atternay's office in the courthouse

Mr. Murchison, now serving his third term as county attorney, early this year announced his andidacy for District Attorney of the 39th judicial district and his name has been filed for a place on the primary ballot for that office.

Farmers Urged To Cooperate In ODT Truck Restrictions

The Haskell County USDA War Board this week urged farmers to comply with the spirit of the ODT order restricting transportation by making he best possible use of their trucks.

The board urged pooling of facilities, best possible care of equipment-especially tires, and elimination of all unnecessary driving.

Farm trucks are exempt from the Office of Defense Transpor-Classified to Date tation Order requiring truckers to tation Order requiring truckers to load on all return trips, John W. Brock, chairman of the board, explained, but farmers are expected county has made the following to comply with the order voluntarily insofar as possible.

"There's no sense in folks living in one vicinity making wise give of their time except separate trips to town when all could have gone together," Mr. Brock declared "We don't intend to force farmers to save their tires and equipment by pooling facilities, but we feel that they will all do their part if they understand the situation.

Transportation on tie-ups would cause serious damage to Haskell County Agriculture, and to the Food for Freedom program. Brock said, pointing out trucks and trailers which bring produce to market certainly are one of the most important parts of our transportation system.

"Farmers in this county pledged greatly increased production of milk, eggs, peanuts, pork, beef and other food products but producing won't do any good unless we can get the produce to market" the war board official said. 'The best way to make sure we'll be oble to get them to market is to keep our trucks running just as long as they will 'go."

Fourteen Cars Grain Have Been Shipped From Haskell

VOLUME 57, NUMBER 23

Harvest of the 1942 grain crop, lowed down during this week by rains, is expected to be in full swing by the first of next week if weather conditions remain favorable, with the yield from this year's crop expected to be the best in several years

Up to Thursday noon, fourteen cars of grain had been shipped from Haskell, with heavy loading also reported from other rail points in the county. Shipments from Haskell included six cars of oats and eight of wheat from the 1942 crop.

Value of the county's grain crop based on Thursday's market is estimated in excess of half a million dollars, that will flow into trade channels as harvest of the crop gets underway.

With an acreage of approximately 25,000 acres in wheat, an exceptionally good yield is reported where the harvest has been started, with a yield of 30 bushels to the acre reported in some instances, running as high as 40 bushels in some fields. Early harvested wheat is testing as high as 61-62 pounds per bushel, indicating the quality of this year's crop. Yield of oats in the county is running between 30 and 40 bushels per acre, with an estimated 10,000 acres to be harvested.

Officer at Camp Barkeley Thanks Local Carpenters

Appreciation for the time and work given by Haskell carpenters in building tables for use in the Day Room of Co. M, 359th Infantry at Camp Barkeley, was expressed in a letter from 1st Lieut. Sherman L. Watts, company commander, to F. L. Peavey of this city. The letter follows:

Mr. F. L. Peavey R. B. Spencer & Company Haskell, Texas

Dear Mr. Peavey, I wish to thank you and your associates, Messers R. C. Roberts, John Decker, Wilson Roberts, Buck Crawford, S. S. Dishough, Floyd Rogers, Leon Pearsey and Gaines Irwin for the time work which you have so kindly given toward the building of ta bles for use in the day room this company,

As you know the Day Room, when nicely furnished, is the most popular place in the whole company area. This is where the men can relax in pleasant surroundings to read, write home. Judicial District: listen to the radio and such other things that soldiers like to do when off duty. I am happy to say that through the efforts of yourselves and others, "M" Company's Day Room is rapidly approaching a very cheery state and as a result it is reflected in the attitude and spirit of the members of this organization. A World Aflame

Since the historians wrote their first lines, there has been no period in the life of the world when the plans of men and mice ever went awry to the exten to which they are doing so today.

No man can predict the future-not even his own.

No position is secure, whether it be that of the ruler of the land or that of the lowliest workman.

In the very nature of things the war will eventually come to an end and when it does, the wreckage will present a scene the like of which has never been known. The job of "cleaning up" will be a job for a Hercules-or nations of Herculeses. Business, industry, and social structures are all being wrecked fast as the ingenuity of vicious men can wreck them. When the reconstruction time arrives, patriotic duty will be as important as it is today; intelligence will be at a premium-for it will take intelligence, education, vision, determination and indefatigable energy to put together again the pieces which destructive forces are scattering from one end of every land to the other.

The best thinkers in the country are urging young people to get ready play their part in this great rebuilding process. No boy or girl of school ag should be out of school-not even during what has heretofore been thought of as a vacation. School should close during the summer only long enough to make necessary repairs and reorganizations. Our own school will be in session throughout the summer. Classes will be given extra and special attention order that the students may complete their work quickly and thus be ready to help in the rebuilding of these war-torn continents.

One of the largest crops of mature onions ever produced at this time of year is now on the market, according to H. B. Atkeison, Chairman, Food Industry Committee, Haskell County. The Garand semi-automatic rifle, which is the standard issue today for the U. S. army, is superior to the old Springfield rifle in many respects. We literally need millions of these fast shooting powerful rifles to equip our army. They cost $85 each and are being manufactured at the rate of one a minute. They fire sixty 30-calibre shells a minute.

Every one of the 40,000,000 employed persons in America could easily buy one of these rifles for the army. Not that we need that many, but the reserve could go into shells and other much needed supplies. Buy more and more War Bonds and top the quota in your county by investing at least ten percent of your income every pay day.

And you can always depend on the freshness and quality of the foods you select at the Clover Farm Store. Too, you have the assurance that prices are as low or lower than you will find anywhere.

Victory Not Yet In Sight

"Neither optimism nor pessimism will win this war," wrote Dorothy Thompson recently, "but merticulous preparation, audacious action, taking advantage of every weakness of the enemy, and the use of every hand, brain, material and substitute material that this energetic and ingenious nation can muster. In a war like this one, we must assume at every moment, from start to finish, that its entire outcome depends upon us. In favorable moments we must not relax; in distressful moments we must pull ourselves together. At no moment must our efforts be affected by our moods."

It is undoubtedly true that many of us have given way to unjustified optimism of late. That is only natural. We exaggerate United Nations victories and minimize Axis victories. A high government official said not long ago that, judging by the headlines in some newspapers, General Mac-Arthurs' forces must be knocking at the gates of Tokyo Even the best of editors succumb to wishful thinking at times, and their papers reflect that

The plain truth is that, unless the completely unlikely occurs, we have barely started our war effort. The maps of the world tell the whole sorry story Japanese dominance in the South Pacific is complete. China is in extreme danger, and Burma has been lost. British Asiatic forces have fought bravely, but they have constantly been overwhelmed and forced into retreat The complete loss of the Philippines has released grack Jap divisions for service elsewhere.

In Europe, Hitler is still supreme The Russians have performed wonders in holding back the Nazi legions. But the fact remains that much of Russian territory is still in Hitler's hands, and it's a long way from the lighting lines to the Ger-

There is no cause the pessimism in all this The Axis was ready for war and the United Natione were not, and serious reverses were inevitable. Nations won't lose the war unless they start thinking that they can't lose it.

The Burma campaign illustrates our difficulties. Lieutenant General Stillwell and the other commanders planned brilliantly and their forces fought brilliantly. They just didn't have the equipment General Stilwell had this to say: I claim we got a hell of a beating. We got run out of Burma and it is humiliating as hell. The Japanese are not supermen. If we go back properly proportioned and properly equipped we can throw them out' The invader, in brief, had the material that a modern war demands. The defenders didn't,

Here at home, as the commentators have been saying we have got over the production hump. Within a few months the production of war materials of all kinds will reach fantastic dimensions. What we still have to do is to win the battle of transportation. The task of supplying forces which are fighting on battlefronts in every section of the world, thousands of miles from the production lines, is staggering. We have not yet solved the U-boat problem. We haven't enough naval craft to keep the convoys going with minimum losses. This is going to take time-and it is going to take stupendous, undivided effort as well.

In short, we are still fighting delaying actions for the most part. We are not yet in a position to start the gigantic counter-offensive which will recapture the many vital positions the United Nations have lost, and carry the war to the home of the enemy. But we are moving swiftly toward the day when that will be possible, and the long-pull outlook grows steadily brighter. In the meantime, it is obviously the part of wisdom to figure on a very long, very ardous war. One thing we can't afford is

Shaking Public Morale

One cardinal principle of our kind of government is that public officials should treat the people with perfect frankness. American citizens are entitled to all the facts, except those which constitute actual military secrets. Are the American people being accorded frankness? The gasoline and automobile situation raises this question.

The American motorist is completely up in the air as to the future of car transportation. He has heard countless varying reports. He has read conflicting statement after conflicting statement from high Washington officials. He is told, on the one hand, that gasoline rationing is necessary because lack of various means of transportation makes it impossible to deliver normal supplies. He then hears that storage tanks are running over with gasoline even in rationed areas, and that civilian consumption is really being reduced to conserve tires and cars. Next he reads an official statement that the government may soon have to requisition his tires and his car. Before the ink is dit on that report, he hears over the radio that such drastic action is not contemplated. Then to top it off, the next news report from Washington says it is hoped that experiments now under way will produce a tire that will keep the cars rolling, etc., etc.

The citizen is lost in a welter of confusion. He doesn't know whether he is going to have gas or even a car next week or next month or next season. He doesn't know whether the synthetic rubber and the hubber-reclaiming programs are going well or tadly. And nothing is harder on public morale than this kind of indecision, because it undermines confidence in leadership and governmental manage-

The American people don't want to be pampered. They are sending their boys to war and financing its cost to preserve liberty at home. They don't want to be treated like children. They don't want to be kept in the dark concerning matters vital to their welfare. What they do want is for their government to tell them the truth, explain the facts, adopt only policies which are in accord with true conditions, and stick to those policies.

Traveler Doubts Value of Missionary Efforts

De Pages found little to praise the enterprises of four mission stations which he found near San Antonio. He described missions as each containing two or three Franciscan monks and a group of Indians, captured in war, on whom the missionaries had conferred marriage and bastism.

The Indians received some education and maintenance in the mission, but De Pages regarded the rules of conduct set down by the monks, and particularly their method of enforcement, as unduly

But the thing that interests me most about Nebraska right now is the very important social experiment the beer people started there several years ago. Beer itself is naturally a bever-

So, the brewers got together to see what they could do about this. They weren't really responsible for their retailers . . . in fact, they're not allowed to control retailers. But the brewing industry worked out a plan by which it cooperates with the public authorities to eliminate bad conditions in the minority of places whose conduct would reflect on the law-abiding majority.

F. Vance, board chairman, pointed out.

Current prospects are that unless special effort is made, fewer combines will "follow the harvest" in the wheat section this summer Labor shortages, desire to save wear and tear on machinery, and lack of tires contribute to this situation, Vance said

The State USDA War Board has been charged with the responsibility of seeing to it that maximum use is made of farm machinery County boards are conducting a survey to determine f machinery shortages exist in the counties and to ascertain needs for additional equipment.

"Texas farmers pledged big in-creases in vital warcrops, and they have every intention of meeting those pledges," Vance declar-ed "But to reach our 1942 production goals will require the fullest utilization of all farm equipment to offset shortages of labor.

Let Me Help You Keep 'em Working

PLAN has been worked out whereby we can offer assistance in helping to keep your electric appliances in useful working condition for the duration, regardless of make or where originally purchased. Our servicemen are now prepared to help you with repairs insofar as parts are obtainable. Small appliances should be brought to our nearest office. In most cases, major appliances can be repaired in the home . . . This type of service is offered only as a convenience to you in communities where such repairs are not elsewhere available or the dealer from whom the appliance was originally purchased has discontinued business.

* The manufacture of most all new household appliances has been frozen as a means of conserving vital materials. With careful usage, making minor repairs NOW, the old appliances in your home will last several years—or for the duration. Call our office—or your electric dealer or "fixit" man—about the cost of mali a needed repairs. By spending a little now, you may save a lot ...
