Indians on the warpath, defeat Ranger 50-0

by Michael Lindsey
 Well Haskell fans two games down, and the Indians are 2-0 after a huge win over Ranger 50-0. The Haskell defense had a big showing, shutting out the Bulldogs, led by Alec Roewe with 13 tackles. The Indians also had a very impressive showing on offense putting up 50 points, and averaging more than 11 yards per carry on the night. Anytime you can be that efficient on offense it's going to be tough to have a bad night.

On offense, Haskell had a very balanced attack with 249 yards rushing and another 201 yards through the air. On the ground QB Dylan Hanson had six carries for 80 yards and two touchdowns to lead the team in rushing yards. The ground attack wasn't limited to just Hanson though, with Lane Burson carrying the ball six times for 55 yards and two touchdowns.

The Tribe put on a show through the air as well. Hanson completed 10 of 14 passes (71.4%) for 174 yards and two touchdowns. Alec Roewe completed his one pass attempt, a 27 yard touchdown. Haskell had a total of three passing touchdowns to three receivers, Kellen Parks, Sam Fouts and Rocky Haggard.

Any time your running game and passing game has this much success there has to be a ton of credit given to the offensive line. When the line opens up the holes for the running game, and protects the passer when it's time to throw the ball, everything works out just a little smoother.

Saturday morning Coach Benton had this to say about his team, "I am really proud of my guys approach Friday. We got off to a fast start and put them in a hole early. That was a great team win. We played solid in all three phases. Now it's who's next, and that will be the Baird Bears who will have to travel to Indian field for the home opener in Haskell. Come join us in support of our Indians as they continue the warpath."

The JV Indians defeated Cross Plains 30-26.

INDIAN TACKLE—Haskell Indian #54 Colton Wright Indians took the win, 50-0. The Indians will play Baird Fri., Sept. 11 at 7:30 p.m. in Indian Stadium.

9-11 memorial service on the square

It has been fourteen years since nineteen militants associated with the Islamic extremist group al-Qaeda hijacked four airliners and carried out suicide attacks against targets in the United States.

Like many others held across the nation, Haskell will hold a 9/11 Memorial Service. Fri., Sept. 11, residents are asked to meet at 7:30 a.m. at the flagpole at the Haskell County Courthouse, for a time of remembrance for the more than 3,000 people killed during the attacks, to support our armed forces engaged in combatting terrorism, as well as to show pride in our great country.

The short ceremony, sponsored by the county will include a welcome by Justin Cox, music, flag raising by the Haskell Volunteer Fire Dept., 21 gun salute by American Legion members, Taps by Kim Bassett and a closing prayer.

As a country and individually, it is important never to forget the lessons learned on that fateful day in 2001.

City of Rule to hold city wide clean up

The City of Rule will have a city wide clean up Sept. 14-18.

Constipation

Constipation is a term for difficulty in eliminating stool; it usually is associated with hard, dry stools.

Should everyone have a bowel movement daily?

The frequency of bowel movements varies greatly. It is not necessary to have a bowel movement every day, some healthy people have bowel movements every 2 or 3 days, whereas others may move their bowels twice or more a day. Bowel movements are considered normal as long as the stool is soft and easily eliminated.

What causes constipation?

Constipation may result from a number of conditions, but the most common causes are constipating diets, constipating medications, poor bowel habits, and inactivity. Constipating diets are low in fiber, or roughage; lack of fiber contributes to hard, dry stools that are difficult to pass. Inactivity and pain medications contribute to constipation, because they slow the bowel down and result in delayed passage of hard stools.

Poor bowel habits involve failure to respond to the urge to have a bowel movement; delay causes increased absorption of water from the stool, which makes the stool harder to eliminate. Painful anorectal conditions such as hemorrhoids also result in constipation by causing the person to delay bowel movements.

What are the complications of constipation?

Prolonged constipation can result in impaction, or being unable to empty the rectum. This may be accompanied by paradoxical diarrhea, in which watery stool is passed around the mass of hard stool. Impaction requires medical treatment.

How is constipation treated?

Treatment of constipation depends on its cause. Any painful condition, such as hemorrhoids, must be relieved. A diet containing plenty of fiber should be followed, and breakfast should be a meal of adequate bulk. Fiber can be found in cereal bran, the skins of fruits and potatoes, whole grain breads, and vegetables such as beans, peas, celery, and broccoli. Fiber, or roughage, is important to your diet because it provides the bulk your large intestine needs to carry away body wastes.

If you are unable to eat enough high-fiber foods, you may need a bulk laxative or a bran mixture. Bulk laxatives are available in powder form, capsule form, and wafer form; the dose must be individualized according to your response (the goal is to create soft stools that are easily eliminated). A suitable bran mixture is made from 1 cup of millers' bran, 1 cup of applesauce, and 1/4 cup of prune juice. You should take 1 to 2 tablespoons of this mixture daily; you may increase the dose if needed to create soft stools.

It is essential that you get adequate fluids when adding bulk to your diet; you should drink at least 8 to 10 8-oz. glasses of fluid a day. This prevents clumping of the bulk laxative and helps keep your stools soft.

You should also increase your activity as much as possible; a simple walking program is very effective in stimulating normal intestinal activity. Another very important step in preventing constipation is to establish regular bowel habits and to respond promptly to the urge to defecate.

A common approach to constipation is routine use of stimulant laxatives or enemas; this is not recommended, because chronic use of stimulants creates bowel dependency, a state of reduced intestinal activity.

Explanatory Statements for the November 3, 2015 Constitutional Amendment Election

Proposition Number 1 (SJR 1)

SJR 1 - Current law provides an exemption of $15,000 from the ad valorem taxation for public school purposes of a residence homestead. The proposed amendment would increase this exemption to $25,000, starting in the tax year beginning January 1, 2015. In order to reflect the increased exemption on the homestead of a person 65 years of age or older or a disabled person, the proposed amendment would provide a reduction to the current limitation on the total amount of ad valorem taxes. The proposed amendment would protect school districts from all or part of the revenue loss by authorizing an appropriation of funds according to formulas set by the legislature. In addition, the proposed amendment would authorize the legislature to prohibit a political subdivision from reducing or repealing a homestead exemption adopted by the political subdivision. Finally, the proposed amendment would prohibit the imposition of a tax on the conveyance of real property, but would not prohibit the imposition of a business tax measured by business activity, a tax on the production of minerals, a tax on the issuance of title insurance, or a change in the rate of a tax in existence on January 1, 2016.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment increasing the amount of the residence homestead exemption from ad valorem taxation for public school purposes from $15,000 to $25,000, providing for a reduction of the limitation on the total amount of ad valorem taxes that may be imposed for those purposes on the homestead of an elderly or disabled person to reflect the increased exemption amount, authorizing the legislature to prohibit a political subdivision that has adopted an optional residence homestead exemption from ad valorem taxation from reducing the amount of or repealing the exemption, and prohibiting the enactment of a law that imposes a transfer tax on a transaction that conveys fee simple title to real property."

Proposition Number 2 (HJR 75)

HJR 75 - In 2011, voters approved a constitutional amendment to allow a surviving spouse of a 100 percent or totally disabled veteran an exemption from ad valorem taxation from all or part of the market value on the disabled veteran's residence homestead, as long as the surviving spouse had not remarried. The amendment did not apply to surviving spouses of veterans who died before 2011. This amendment would extend the exemption in such cases. The proposed amendment would apply only to ad valorem taxes imposed for a tax year beginning on or after January 1, 2016.

The proposed amendment would appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to provide for an exemption from ad valorem taxation of all or part of the market value of the residence homestead of the surviving spouse of a 100 percent or totally disabled veteran who died before the law authorizing a residence homestead exemption for such a veteran took effect."

Proposition Number 3 (SJR 52)

SJR 52 proposes a constitutional amendment to repeal the requirement for the Comptroller of Public Accounts, the Commissioner of the General Land Office, the Attorney General, and any other officers elected statewide to reside in Austin, Texas, the state capital. Under current law, these statewide elected officers are required to reside in the capital of the State of Texas while in office. This amendment would not apply to the residency requirement for the Governor.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment repealing the requirement that state officers elected by voters statewide reside in the state capital."

Proposition Number 4 (HJR 73)

HJR 73 proposes a constitutional amendment that would grant the legislature the authority to pass statutes to allow a professional sports team charitable foundation to conduct charitable raffles under the terms and conditions imposed by general law. The laws passed under this authority may provide that the professional sports team charitable foundation may use proceeds from such charitable raffles to pay reasonable advertising, promotional, and administrative expenses. Any law enacted by this provision only applies to entities defined as professional sports team charitable foundations on January 1, 2016. Additionally, any law enacted by this provision may only allow charitable raffles to be conducted at games hosted at the home venue of the professional sports team associated with a professional sports team charitable foundation.

The proposed amendment would appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to permit professional sports team charitable foundations to conduct charitable raffles."

Proposition Number 5 (SJR 17)

SJR 17 proposes a constitutional amendment which would increase from 5,000 to 7,500 the maximum total population threshold of a county that is allowed to construct and maintain private roads as long as the county imposes a reasonable charge for the work.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to authorize counties with a population of 7,500 or less to perform private road construction and maintenance."

Proposition Number 6 (SJR 22)

SJR 22 proposes a constitutional amendment that would add the right to hunt, fish and harvest wildlife, including by use of traditional methods, in the Bill of Rights of the Texas Constitution. This right would be subject to laws and regulations intended to conserve and manage wildlife and to preserve the future of hunting and fishing. The proposed amendment would establish hunting and fishing as the preferred method of managing and controlling wildlife in Texas. The proposed amendment is not intended to affect any law or provision related to trespass, property rights or eminent domain, and would not prevent the legislature from authorizing a municipality to regulate the discharge of a firearm in a populated area in the interest of safety.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment recognizing the right of the people to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife subject to laws that promote wildlife conservation."

Proposition Number 7 (SJR 5)

SJR 5 proposes a constitutional amendment to dedicate a portion of revenues from (1) the state sales and use tax, and (2) the tax imposed on the sale, use, or rental of a motor vehicle, to the State Highway Fund (SHF). Under current law, these funds would be deposited to the General Revenue Fund. Money deposited to the SHF is intended to be used only to construct, maintain, or acquire rights-of-way for public roadways other than toll roads; or to repay certain transportation-related debt.

The proposed amendment would appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment dedicating certain sales and use tax revenue and motor vehicle sales, use, and rental tax revenue to the state highway fund to provide funding for non-tolled roads and the reduction of certain transportation-related debt."

Food manager training course deadline is Oct. 5

by Jane Rowan
CEA/FCS, Taylor Co.

Statistics indicate that foodborne illness continues to be a health issue in the United States. Each year, one in six Americans will become sick, 128,000 will become hospitalized, and 3,000 will die due to a foodborne illness.

If under the Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS) jurisdiction each food establishment is required to have one certified food manager on site.

Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service in Jones, Taylor and Nolan Counties, is offering a professional food manager certification training course. This two day program will be offered for $125.00 on Oct. 19 and Oct. 26 at the Taylor County Extension Office. Cost includes training, materials, and the ServSafe food manager certification examination. The food manager's certification will be valid for five years. Registration deadline is Oct. 5.

This program is designed to not only prepare foodservice managers to pass the certification examination; it will provide valuable education regarding the safe handling of food. Almost 50 cents of every dollar Americans spend on food is spent on meals prepared away from home. Therefore, careful attention to food safety will help keep customers safe and satisfied.

Foodborne illnesses are estimated to cost thousands of dollars in lost wages, insurance, and medical bills. With these statistics, knowledge of how to prevent foodborne illness is essential. The benefits of improved food safety include:

- Increased customer satisfaction
- Improved relationships with health officials
- Prevention of bad publicity and law suits due to foodborne illness
- Identifying potentially hazardous foods and common errors in food handling
- Preventing contamination and cross-contamination of food
- Teaching and encouraging personal hygiene for employees

- complying with government regulations
- maintaining clean utensils, equipment and surroundings
- controlling pests

Foodborne illnesses can be prevented by following simple food safety practices. For more information about the Professional Food Manager Certification Training course of Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service, called "Food Safety: It's Our Business," call Jane Rowan at 325-672-6048. This Week's Devotional Message:

Grandparents stay young longer than ever before

Thanks to better living habits, advances in medicine, and a wider variety of appropriate activities, people are not only living longer but staying active longer. The so-called 'generation gap' is a lot narrower than it used to be, because Grandma and Grandpa no longer sit at home in their rocking chairs. They go to senior citizen lunches, play bingo, and organize political action groups to secure better health care, insurance, etc. Some continue working, or even find new careers for themselves. In any case, we can learn much from their ability to enjoy and make the most of every day that remains of their lives. At our house of worship, our children will learn to love, respect and communicate with their elders; a rewarding experience for all.

Seed testing laboratory service providers for Texas agriculture

by Dr. Calvin Trostle
Extension Agronomy
Lubbock

Many Texas producers are interested in having planting seed tested for various crops. This is particularly important for wheat and other small grains seed, which farmers may save for their own planting use (unless they have a variety that requires a signed agreement stating you are not permitted to do so).

Texas A&M AgriLife Extension recently updated our annual document outlining seed testing certification standards as well as possible seed labs for your testing needs. Historically, many Texas producers turned to Texas Department of Agriculture, which had three public seed labs. Since 2011, however, TDA has limited seed testing services available only at their Giddings lab.

This updated document

(same title as above) is now posted on the main page at <http://lubbock.tamu.edu>. Contact information is provided for the following seed labs:

- Texas Department of Agriculture (again, limited services)
- Public seed testing labs from all four surrounding states
- Private labs that regularly service seed samples originating in Texas. These four listed labs are provided courtesy of Texas Seed Trade Association, with whom Texas A&M AgriLife has enjoyed a long partnership in assisting producers with seed and other agribusiness issues in Texas. TSTA shares these suggested labs as their membership uses these labs for much of their seed testing needs.

Texas A&M AgriLife does not endorse or recommend nor do we imply any criticism of any lab not listed, and we do assume no responsibility for seed testing lab choices or laboratory results.
