A. Yes. Bascom Giles, Commissioner of the General Land Office says the muster rolls list one "Cattfish, a Cherokee Indian" as having served 30 days. NO USE, ADOLF— You Can't Shut Out That Hum!

Adolf: Dot humming—vot iss it?
Reddy: That, Adolf, is the hum of power by which you will meet your doom. Power in the air... power afoot, on tap to build more planes, more tanks, more guns, more ships. It's the hum of American men and machines at work—twenty-four hours a day!
Adolf: Ah, but I haff power, too!
Reddy: Listen, Adolf! America has more power than you and all your stoooges and conquered countries put together. Free men and women are using that power, turning out weapons of war in thundering quantities, because they want to stay free.
Adolf: Yes, but I haff men and women working for me, too.
Reddy: Slaves, Adolf. They toil with bayonets at their back. They have no spirit for the work. They are slowed down by hunger. The machines they work are worn by years of war. Manpower can never do the work of electric power!
Adolf: Sure, but I got the jump on you! I command everything—
Reddy: That's where we differ, Adolf. Your system is based on state slavery and political control and operation of all natural resources, industry, religion and education. In West Texas... and in all America... we respect the rights of the individual and the institutions he has created. Over here, we believe in free enterprise under government regulation... a system under which men and women know they'll be rewarded for initiative, ambition and production.

It's a powerful incentive, Adolf, and it's helped make America power-full. Consider electricity, for example. It's helped give West Texas homes about twice or three times as much electric service for their money as they used to get ten or fifteen years ago.

American business management is behind that hum you hear, Adolf, and its success depends on giving more for less cost. It's a hum that will beat upon you until freedom is restored to the earth. It's the hum of fate, Adolf!

GEMS OF THOUGHT

I have never been able to conceive how any rational being could propose happiness to himself from the exercise of power over others.
—Thomas Jefferson

They Deserve Notice

The consumer has many problems. And so has the retail merchant. The draft has taken thousands of store workers, and others have left their jobs for the big pay offered by war industries. It is increasingly difficult to obtain new equipment, and to keep old equipment in repair, especially that of a mechanical nature. The price of practically everything the retailer sells is frozen, and in many instances the ceiling price allows little or no profit. It's a tough job to keep his shelves filled, as more and more brands and products go off the market.

The Final Test

The people of this country are face to face with the most critical of all tests that can be exacted of our form of government—inflation. It is more difficult to understand than war. It is intangible. Dr. Paul F. Cadman, leading economist, has pointed out that it will take a lot more than laws to fight inflation. The present policy of one group blaming another group in seeking a scapegoat for the rising cost of living, will prove disastrously futile. If continued, it will offset all tax measures, forced savings, price regulations, wage stabilization, rationing and credit control.

Haskell County History

20 Years Ago—Nov. 10, 1922
The Magnolia Petroleum Company is building a branch whole sale warehouse here located just south of the Wichita Valley depot. Included in the warehouse facilities will be two 12,000 gallon tanks for gasoline and additional storage for oil. The warehouse will be in charge of C. D. Bailey, local Magnolia agent.
The old Opera House building just west of Spencer Lumber Company is being torn down this week. The building has been unused for years.
The City Council this week purchased two new one and one-half ton Dodge fire trucks for the Haskell Fire Department. The new equipment is the most modern to be had. The new equipment is expected to arrive in about 60 days. The fire department has also placed an order for a large electrically-driven siren. This equipment, costing about $400 will be paid for by the fire department, without cost to the city.
Walter Nanny, farmer of the Post community stated this week that his crops had turned out about twice as good as he thought possible. He has made plenty of good feed and has pecked 22 bales of cotton.

by either legislation or compulsion.
Most of us have occasionally been guilty of unconsidered attacks on industry, labor or politics, as if each group was a separate entity. We need all three groups and the sooner we realize it, just so much sooner will leaders of each group moderate their policies.
It is a mortal certainty that if the irrelevant disputes don't cease, we might as well abandon the hypocrisy of having the American flag and consoling ourselves in our discontent with brass bands. It is inconceivable that we cannot live up to the ideals of freedom and opportunity that made this nation. However, the test is before us, final and irrevocable. Everything heretofore has been preliminary, with plenty of cribbing. Not so now. You cannot crib in a test in which natural law is the judge.
Only production, thrift, economy and honesty in public and private life can stem the tide of inflation now.

She Can Do It

The passing of the new and drastic tax bill does not mean that there can be any letup in War Bond sales if 12 billions, the estimated quota for the fiscal year is to be met. Chain store systems have shown a splendid spirit in making it easier for the American housewife to include War Bonds and Stamps in the family budget. The housewife has a sensitive finger on the pulse of the family income and has developed a keen sense of values.
In her capacity of homemaker, she represents the shopping and saving strength of the nation. The retail stores are giving their time and ingenuity in showing her the value of War Bonds and Stamps. By holding prices down to the lowest possible level, they help her accumulate dimes and dollars for our country's cause.
The need for her financial cooperation is increasing as we step up our war plans. The women of America have never failed the men of this nation, and they will not do so now.

Keep 'Em Rolling

Solving the rubber problem demands maximum cooperation on the part of the government, industry, and the public at large.
In the brief period in which Mr. Jeffers has had charge of the rubber program, he has cut a great deal of the red tape that delayed and blocked progress in the past. His office, working with the Office of Defense Transportation, is aggressively pushing or results. It is to be hoped that politics is kept out of the way—and that the defeatists who say this country must reconcile itself to doing without motor transportation will keep their mouths shut.
The industries which are involved in the rubber program are doing an excellent job. The oil industry has vastly expanded its facilities for the production of synthetic rubber, and has simplified improved and accelerated the manufacturing process. The tire companies are now making casings of reclaimed rubber and synthetic rubber which give fair service if properly used. And chemical companies are increasing their production of synthetic rubbers from coal, grain alcohol, etc.
The experts are convinced that American ingenuity, American chemical genius, and American production methods can provide enough rubber to keep our vital automobiles rolling. In the meantime the obligation of the public is clear. We should cheerfully accept the 35-mile-an-hour speed limit. No one should waste rubber on unnecessary driving. And every car owner should have his tires periodically inspected, and switched about on the wheels so that maximum mileage may be obtained.
No nation on earth is so dependent on individual transportation. Our cars will be kept on the road if the synthetic rubber program is freed of the dead hand of bureaucracy, and the public will practice rigid conservation.

Senate Hears Bill for Drafting 18-19 Youth

On The Home Front

The Government's rationing plans have taken precedence over all other news on the Home Front the past two weeks, and as the winter weeks roll by, the consumer will feel more and more the pinch on civilian production.
Uppermost in the people's minds in the Southwest, naturally, is mileage rationing registration which gets into full swing next week. Application blanks are being made readily available in every county and parish this week in preparation for registration which will be held on Nov. 12, 13 and 14th in Texas and Louisiana and on November 9, 10, and 11 in Oklahoma. Schoolhouses will serve as registration sites. Motorists who have not disposed of passenger-type tires in excess of five are urged to sell them to Uncle Sam in order to be eligible for the basic "A" books. The Railroad Express Agency is the authorized collection agency for excess tires.
Gasoline rationing was not alone in the spotlight—there was coffee too. OPA officials, in order to sound an early death knell to foolish rumors, announced last week that coffee rationing would begin on November 29. Officials were quick to add that the early announcement should not be any reason for hoarding and they put a hasty okay on plans by stores to puncture cans of coffee to prevent hoarding.
The individual coffee ration will be one pound for five weeks, which is at the rate of 10.4 pounds per year. Adding the amount of coffee consumed by the public through restaurants and other institutions, the average American coffee drinker under rationing will use at the rate of about 13 pounds per year, which is about 38 per cent less than the amount he average over the five - year period from 1937 to 1941. The coffee ration of course, may be changed from time to time to meet the varying condition or supply.

will give consumers information on how to dispose of excess sugar. Local board members have been advised to check later registrants carefully, however, to see that no one person gets two books.

OPA spokesmen, meanwhile, pointed out several ways in which consumers can get greater "mileage" out of their coffee. Here are some of the suggestions: (1) Use fresh coffee, buy less each time and more frequently. (2) Keep your coffee in a tightly covered container. (3) Keep it in the refrigerator or some other cool place. It deteriorates less rapidly when cool. (4) Keep your coffee pot immaculately clean. (5) Have your coffee ground as fine as possible for the pot you intend to use. (6) Use accurate measurements instead of "heaping table spoons." (7) Don't boil coffee. (8) Serve the coffee as soon as it is made. (9) Make only the exact amount you want to use.

The nation's "New Years gift" from Uncle Sam may be America's first all purpose ration book. OPA officials announced that the printing of 134,000,000 such books is underway. The book contains 192 coupons equally divided into two color blocks, red and blue.

which can be used for either the point system of rationing or straight coupon rationing. It could provide rationing control for two major lines of commodities for a minimum of six months.

After reports reached him from several sources that migratory farm workers in the Southwest were leaving their jobs for fear of being caught away from home without gasoline, Regional OPA Administrator Max McCullough urged such workers to remain on their jobs, because mileage rationing regulations will take care of them. He pointed out that they could register at any local board—not just their own—and apply for supplemental rations just as anyone else. He said that the regulations permit them to apply at local boards for "special" rations, and the boards would allow them enough gasoline to return their automobiles to the place where they are normally garaged. He said that it was very important that such workers harvest the crops and ignore rumors and they would be taken care of. Gasoline is being rationed he said, on the basis of essential mileage and is aimed solely at saving the nation's rubber supply.

Wage Freeze Questions Answered
With wage and salary increases now restricted by the President's Wage Stabilization program, the War Labor Board, which will administer part of the program has announced plans to open offices in the field. Working with the WLB, the Dallas regional office of the Wage and Hour Division, Department of Labor, has announced that it will answer questions concerning wage stabilization problems. By November 10, district Wage and Hour offices in Oklahoma City, San Antonio and Houston will be qualified to answer questions. No date has been set for opening the WLB office in Dallas.
