Information that should be interest to Haskell county wheat farmers is contained in the following letter to County Agent G. R. Schumann from Frederic T. Dines, director of the Texas Wheat Improvement Association:

"Dear Mr. Schumann: "It has come to my attention hat one of the biggest buyers of Texas wheat has definitely decided to refrain from storing any wheat from any community or county showing in excess of 15 percent of off-quality varieties such as Early Blackhull and Chiefkan in the 1943 season. "Most of the other mills are planning a somewhat similar program, and I felt it necessary to advise you so that you could have this information on hand prior to seeding time. I would dislike very much to see your county not be able to find storage this next year or to find a market for their wheat. Fortunately, since the recommended varieties and especially the Tenmarq variety, yield as well and in some cases much better than the off-quality varieties, we should not experience too much difficulty in encouraging your farmers to produce a recommended variety. I hope that if we can be of any help to you in the wheat improvement program for your county that you will feel free to contact me.'

Warning: Ergot Poisoning

A threat to the livestock indus-try this fall is ergot poisoning which already has brought losses to Panhandle ranchers, Ergot is a fungus disease which often affects the heads of many native grasses, rye and other small grains during wet seasons. Dr. H. Schmidt of the Experiment Station Division of Veterinary Science explains that the fungus not only causes abortion but also may cause sloughing of the hoofs, norns, ears and tail.

Dr. Schmidt, together with other veterinary authorities and pathoegists from Texas and Oklahoma, recently made a range inspection rip to the Panhandle. They found that Canada wild rye, Virginia wild rye and Western wheat grass in the vicinity of Canadian are heavily infested with the fungus disease (ergot). The fungus was also found as far south as Gray County.

Upon the invitation of County Agricultural Agent John C. Stovall of Hemphill County, approximately 50 ranches who had suf'ered livestock losses met with the state and Federal officials.
Since there is no effective antidete or ergot poisoning the distidote or ergot poisoning, the disease must be prevented by stopping consumption of infected grasses. George W. Barnes, animal husbandman for the A. and M. College Extension Service re.

It is imperative that the ship lanes be kept free of ice. With American troops occupying Iceland and the Navy using the northern route for transportation of supplies to Russia, ice breakers are essential to Naval operations. The ice breaker is a specially constructed ship with heavily armored bows and powerful engines that crush the lee floes rather than ram through them

Ice breakers of the Kickapoo class operating in the North Atlantic cost approximately $19,000,000. #### Japan's Strength Underestimated

Before Pearl Harbor, the feeling was generally held in this country that Japan was a third-rate military power that could be soundly defeated in a matter of weeks or months. Alleged experts had long written that Japan's military equipment was inferior, that her navy was in no way a match for ours, and that she was on the verge of economic collapse. Since December 7, we have learned how tragically wrong those experts were. Japanese planes and ships are excellent in both design and construction. Japanese army striking power is very great, and her generals know the art of warfare. The individual Japanese soldier is crafty, brave, cruel, fearless of death and fanatically determined

Up to recently, the bulk of the American people also held another theory concerning Japan. They believed that the majority of the Japanese people were pacific and desirous of peace, and that the nation was thrust into war by a handful of warords who controlled the Japanese army, navy and civil government. Once Japanese forces were given sharp set-backs by the United States, many reason. ed, the warlords would lose face at home and the present military government would be replaced by a popular government which would sue for peace.

That is a heartening theory, perhaps-but, unfortunately, men who are in the best position to understand the Japanese character have small faith in it. Ambassador Grew, who represented the United States in Tokyo for ten years, and who recently returned to this part of the exchange of diplomats between belligerents, has made a number of extremely interesting speeches and statements on the subject. Mr Grew says, in essence, that Japanese leaders have completely "sold" the Jap. arese people on this war. Anti-British and anti-American propaganda has been an official Japanese actituity for many years, and has been carefully nurtured by the controlled Jap press and ra-The unspeakable treatment given captured United Nations soldiers by the Japanese in Hong Kong and elsewhere, is the direct reflection of that propaganda. The ordinary Japanese trooper reflects the point of view of the common people of Japan-and he is as cruel and fanatical as his

The civilian population of Japan has accepted apparently willingly, sacrifices which are almost neredible. In Japan everything is rationed. The clothing and the food available for civilians is qualitatively and quantitatively bad - everything must go to the army and navy. The masses of the people eke out an existence on rations which would ause swift starvation in most countries. But they don't complain. They are convinced that the price is well worth paying for the glorious destiny which their Samurai leaders have promised. They work tremendously long hours, and they have little relaxation and no luxuries. Prices have gone up while wages have remained stationary. Yet they ook forward with confidence and longing to the day when the United States and Britain will be crushed, and Jap leaders will dictate harsh terms in conquered Washington and London.

In the view of some realists, the Jap may, in the long run, prove to be a tougher nut than the German. In the last war, Germany cracked fast once she began to suffer severe defeats. The Teutonic fanaticism is hardly on the same scale as that of the Oriental with his implicit faith that death in battle will be followed by an enternity in the happiest and most abundant of heavens. The Japan. ese people, these authorities argue, will never accept defeat or ask for peace. They will go on lighting and increase their barbaric practices-to the very end Therefore, the only way to beat Jap. an is to scourge her at home. It is important that we take back the territories she has conquered, with their rich resources-but it will not prove decisive.

The Japanese islands are roughly about the size of the single state of Montana. Inside some 1,500,000 square miles are all the Japanese centers of population, all the Japanese factories, all the Japanese facilities of production and transport and distribution. Due to her lack of coal, she has attained an extraordinarily high degree of electrification. and the bulk of her industries are powered from a series of hydro-electric installations in the mountains Before she can be crushed, it is likely that it will be necessary to knock out these installations, and make her industrially impotent. And that will require air raids on an unprecedented scale. It is generally believed that her defenses against raids, in her vital factory areas, are very good.

The Solomon Islands action marked the start our offensive in the Pacific. Before that, we were almost entirely engaged in defensive operations. How long it will be before we can take the offensive on a major scale, either in the Pacific or in Europe, is a question that can only be answered by the High Command-and when the time comes it will speak with deeds, not words. It is a gigantic undertaking, and it will be long and arduous

Rubber or Else!

The nation-wide gasoline rationing program is to be imposed as a means of preserving rubber. In the opinion of some experts, it would have been possible to provide an adequate supply of rubber for civilian use by now if the government had got down to cases when political vacillation that has characterized the handling of the rubber situation in the past must not be allowed to continue in the

The wise course to pursue at this time is obvious. The government must give mamimum cooperation to secure the swiftest and largest possible production of artificial rubber from any practical source. Some kinds of rubber are made from oil. Others are made from coal Others still are made from grain alcohol. All of the processes have merit and all of them should be developed without further bickering and delay.

This country has been largely built on automobile travel. Unless rubber for civilian tires is made available within a short time, we will be facwith a catastrophic national "slow down". American industry and American chemists must be given the "go" signal on rubber-and they must freed from political barriers to

What should be of interest to every soldier on the home front is the government's program for concentration of industry-a program designed to "standardize" products for the consumer and to concentrate prouction of war goods in the major portion of our factories. The "concentration of he demand is abloration industry" to assure that every just how important plant we can spare is busy on war work has spread to the furniture or defeat could ride industry. This industry probably or failure. Guns with will follow the same plan recent. ly put into effect in the manufac. ture of bicycles-a few plants, known as "nucleus plants" will continue to operate, concentrating all civilian furniture manufacture in a limited number of factories. The War Production Board has limited the number of types and sizes of saws, axes, hatchets, light hammers and for all kind of electric lights and electric lamps which for bombs and bullet may be manufactured.

> In a country that has been producing around 25 billion board eet of lumber annually, wood has become a critical material. Great quantities of lumber have used to build cantonments. Ship construction has drawn heavily on supply. Special kinds of wood are needed for aircraft, timbers for vessels, gunstocks and the like. The reason for a shortage of wood lies in another shortage -that of manpower to cut and process lumber.

Manpower shortages are everywhere and growing more critical daily. We not only are desperately short of "front line" war workers -those with special skills-but by the end of 1943 we shall need about 18 million workers of all kinds, partly to replace the millions of men who will be called into service, although chiefly for war production expansion. This means that more women will be employed—by the millions It means that at least five million persons who are not now working at anything will have to go to work. It means that our manpower, in time, must-in one way or another-be "rationed"; that is applied where it is needed most, To some extent that is already being done.

Students Hear World War Prisoner

Hardships endured in German prison camps during the first World War were vividly recounted in assembly last week. The speaker was the Rev. Claude A. Beesley, who is now the rector of the Episcopalian Church in Wichi-

Mr. Beesley had the experience of being captured while fighting in an early engagment of the war, and was kept a war prisoner in Germany for forty-four months, or until after the armistice. During that time, though still too young to be ordained, he served as a chaplain, and said burial services for many who died of starvation and diseases.

In dwelling on the horrors he experienced, both in warfare and in prison camps, Mr. Beesley did not mince words, nor veil the real truth. He explained that we need to keep in mind the grim realities that now confront our men in service overywhere. This point he emphasized by quoting the words of one of his German captors, "Do not try to escape. Remember that every German is a born soldier." Mr. Beesley was particularly impressed with these words, and in repeating them impressed his listeners with their present significance. His concluiding thought, and the keynote of his address, was that we must be more and more concerned about the danger that threatens our freedom today, and the duties that fall upon each American citizen.

Graduate of '42 Makes TCU Band

One day last week the morning edition of The Star Telegram car-ried a picture of the T. C. U. band. If you saw it you're sure to have recognized one of last year's senlors, Bud Pace. A freshman at T. C. U. this year, Bud has qualified for the famed Horned Frog Band. This is quite an honor too, for only a few freshman are able to make it.

During his four high school years Bud played in the school band, and has become quite good on his clarinet or his "licorice tick" as the hep-cats call them. Congratulations, Bud, H. H. S. is proud of you!

The former Governor of Indiana is contributing his full share to wartime farm production on his farm near Marion, Indiana, which he and his son, Max, operate in partnership. This year the farm will produce twice as much corn and twice as many hogs as in 1941, plus a huge crop of soybeans and an increased number of twice-sheared sheep. Townsend is shown here (a) at the wheel of his tractor, (b) examining his soybean crop with his son, (c) at his desk in Washington, D. C.

Field Stunt Is Spectacular

An unusually beautiful field stunt was given last Friday night between halves at the Spur game, Those participating were the Haskell pep squad and band, After marching in perfect for. mation down the length of the field, the two groups stopped in mid-field. Then all lights were turned off, and a formation was made which outlined the American Flag with red, white and blue flashlights. As the colored lights flashed on, revealing the flag, the band struck the opening chords of "The Star Spangled Banner." The national anthem was directed with a flashlight by the bandmas. ter, Mr. Fagan.

The inspiring and stunt was directed by Mrs. Green, the pep squad sponsor and Mr. Fagun the bandmaster.

Seniors Receive Class Rings

The thrill that comes once to a senior is that of receiving his class ring. This year's seniors were most fortunate to receive their rings last week. This is a weeks earlier than previous classes have received theirs. Their early arrival is due to the fact that the order was placed spring. Complimentary from the company were premiums of memory books, or pins, belt buckles or pendants. Everyone who placed an order last spring received one of these premiums.

Evening Pep Rally Precedes Game

Thursday night, September 24 found the loyal Indian supporters of H. H. S. on the high school campus where they met for a pep rally, preceding the coming football game with Spur.
