Fourth of County's Bond Quota Raised

Purchases of $155,000
Added Up To Wednesday Night

Quota of $666,900 to be met by the end of September in the War Loan Drive, total purchases in Haskell County tallied almost one-half amount Wednesday evening to reports received by C. Couch, county war chairman, from communities and workers in the towns and precincts in the county.

Received Wednesday afternoon approximately $155,000 of Bonds have been in the current drive," said, in pointing out tremendous task faces meeting the quota as Haskell county. "Every man and child in Haskell must shoulder their fair share to make every sacrifice to purchase War Bonds."

War Bond purchases Wednesday night amounted $50,000, reports made to chairman indicated. Sagerton precinct had sales amounting to $10,000 at that time, while from Doren Brown, Rochester, that the community's quota of $100,033 is mighty close to the goal.

Sections of the county were getting underway and by the end of the week it is expected that the figure will double the figure reported, Rond Drive.

to the drive is expected given Friday when a Bond Rally will be held in which Army and equipment from the city will take part.

Small Damage Is Caused By Fire
At Sanders Gin

Damage which was estimated at several hundred dollars was caused by fire at the Sanders and Son gin in this city Monday morning, before quick work of firemen and gin employees prevented spread of the blaze to the main gin plant building.

The fire, starting in the engine room of the gin, was confined to that section of the plant, although for a time the blaze threatened to spread through the entire gin. Origin of the fire was attributed to a defective gas fuel line, Lewis Williams, fireman at the gin said. Only slight damage to machinery in the plant resulted from the fire, and the gin was back in operation within a few hours after the fire.

Selective Service
Board Announces
New Office Hours

The office of Selective Service Board will be closed each afternoon beginning September 30, 1943, for the purpose of taking inventory of all files in their office. Anyone having business in this office or desiring information please call between 9 A. M. and 12 Noon each week day. If emergency phone 132.

Pfc. James H. Robertson of Camp Pickett, Va., and Mrs. Robertson and son, James Douglas, of Fort Worth are guests in the home of Pfc. Robertson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Robertson and other relatives and friends here.

12,000 to 15,000 Acres of Cotton Open and Ready For Pulling

With from 60 to 70 percent of the cotton crop now open and ready to be picked, Haskell County farmers are facing a very severe shortage of cotton pickers. It is estimated by County Agent G. R. Schuman that from 12,000 to 15,000 bales of cotton are open in Haskell County fields ready for pulling.

A survey of Haskell County areas made this week by the County Agent reveals that all areas of the county badly need pickers. A few trucks of migratory workers have come through the county this week. A few stopped in this County and are now working on Haskell County farms while others passed on through the county en route to other cotton growing areas north and west of Haskell county.

The County Agent estimates that 2,000 pickers could be used immediately in this county. In some sections, cotton is beginning to fall out of the burl and much of it is being wasted. Bad weather consisting of rain and wind would probably destroy from 5,000 to 10,000 bales of cotton, Mr. Schumann stated.

Labor reports from other sections of the state indicate that cotton picking is rapidly progressing in the area south and east of Haskell County, and Mr. Schumann hopes that as picking is finished in these areas, migratory workers from those sections will move into this area. A slight increase has been noted in the number of migratory workers coming into the county this week, and our only salvation in saving the cotton crop will be an increase in the number of workers coming into the county during the next few days, stated Mr. Schumann.

The urgent need for cotton pickers in this area has been brought to the attention of Extension officials and U. S. Employment Service Representatives, and their full aid in bringing more pickers into this area is being solicited by the local County Agent's office.

F. M. Robertson
Promoted to Major
In Army Air Corps

F. M. Robertson of this city, former Haskell lawyer and County Attorney who entered the Army Air Corps last summer, recently received his commission as Major, being advanced from the grade of Captain which he had held since entering the service.

Major Robertson is stationed at Venice, Fla., where his wife and their children are making their home. In addition to the practice of law while living here, Major Robertson was interested in oil development in this section, and controlled extension holdings in Haskell, Jones and other Central West Texas counties.

CAPT. JAMES A. ISBELL, JR.

CAPT. JNO. E. FOUTS, JR.

Two Haskell Fliers Are Awarded Coveted DFC

Two Haskell fighter pilots, Capt. James A. Isbell, Jr., and Capt. John E. Fouts, Jr., both veterans of combat action over a long period with U. S. Army Air Forces in widely separated theatres of war, have been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross recently, press dispatches last week revealed.

Capt. Fouts was awarded the DFC for participating in more than 50 combat missions over Burma and China. Awarded the air medal earlier in the summer, Captain Fouts was also commended for shooting down Japanese bombers in an allied air raid on a base in Northeast India in February. He is a graduate of Haskell high school and enlisted in the AAF in August, 1940. He saw active service in the Puerto Rico area, and was on duty in Florida a short time before going to India.

Capt. Fouts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fouts, Sr., and is married to the former Polly Price of Childress, who is attending college in Fort Worth.

Capt. Isbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Isbell, saw active service with Army Air Forces over France, in North Africa, and Sicily, returning to the United States several weeks ago after completing more than 90 combat sorties over enemy territory. Before being awarded the DFC,

Capt. Isbell had been awarded the Air Medal with nine Oak Leaf clusters. Citation accompanying award of the DFC to Capt. Isbell was as follows:

"For extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flights in the European and North Africa theatre of operations as pilot of a Spitfire type aircraft. While leading his flight of 6 Spitfires on reconnaissance on March 20, Capt. Isbell observed four JU 87's escorted by eight ME 109's, in position to attack our ground forces near Gafso. Capt. Isbell immediately led his formation into attack, and even though his ammunition soon was expended in the unequal combat, he continued to fight and to dive upon the enemy aircraft, frequently breaking up attacks on his hard-pressed comrades. Through his skilled and courageous leadership the enemy aircraft were dispersed, and our troops saved from attack. All of our planes returned safely. On many combat missions, his conspicuous gallantry and sound judgment as a flight leader have reflected great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

Following his return from foreign service, Capt. Isbell married the former Louise Pierson of this city, and they are now in Florida, where Capt. Isbell is stationed at an Army air base.

Revival Meeting At Fundamental Church Underway

The revival in the Fundamental Baptist Church is progressing nicely, with a growing attendance and mounting interest, with a number saved and a number of additions, Rev. C. Jones, pastor of the church, said this week. The meeting continued on through Sunday night with Rev. Ben A. Eihersedge, of Oklahoma City as evangelist and Rev. Mike Schepis of Fort Worth as singer.

"You will want to hear these evangelists preach and sing," Rev. Jones said, in calling attention to the following sermon subjects during the remainder of the meeting:

Thursday night subject: "Going to Hell in Great Droves and the Reason Why."
Friday night, Special Young People's Night. Subject, "The Waste of Sin."
Saturday night, The Devil's Night. Subject, "What Is the Devil Doing in Haskell?"
Sunday morning, "What Kind of Homes and Churches Will Our Boys Find When They Return From War?"
Sunday night, "The Wall of a Lost Soul."

Former Resident Here Dies In Ft. Worth Sept. 13

Word has been received by friends here of the death in Fort Worth on Sept. 13 of H. C. Cate, former resident of Haskell for a number of years who moved to Fort Worth about two years ago.

Mr. Cate, who had been seriously ill for some time, died at the family home, 780 Hughes St., Ft. Worth, at 7:30 Monday evening. He is survived by his wife and their two daughters.

Funeral for Mr. Cate was held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and interment was in a Fort Worth cemetery.

Former Haskell Boy and Stamford Youth Victims of Plane Crash Sunday

Edgar Kirkpatrick and John
Culp Killed When Plane
Crashes and Burns

Two Stamford youths, one a former resident of this city, were burned to death Sunday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock after the plane in which they were riding crashed several miles east of Stamford.

Victims of the crash were Edgar Kirkpatrick, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kirkpatrick, Haskell residents until a few years ago and John Culp, 16, of Stamford.

The plane struck a highline about seven miles east of Stamford, broke the line, and exploded, according to Hugo Birger, Lester Sgt. Arnold Peterson, and S. S. Connell, who witnessed the crash. The witnesses reported the accident.

The crash was investigated by Lts. Warren B. Tayman, Stamford CAP commander and C. B. Gray of Stamford's CAP squadron. Culp, the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Culp, is survived by a younger sister, Kay, and a brother, D. H. Culp, Jr.

Kirkpatrick is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kirkpatrick; three brothers, Frank, Harold and Bobby; and two sisters, Mrs. M. E. Lemons, Hobart, Okla., and Anna Mae Kirkpatrick.

Double funeral services for the victims were conducted Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from St. John's Methodist Church in Stamford. Rev. Cal Wright, pastor; Rev. H. F. Whately, pastor of the Baptist Church at Haskell; and Rev. Miles B. Hays, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Stamford officiated. Interment directed by Kinney Funeral Home, was in Highland Cemetery for Kirkpatrick and at Mt. Hope Cemetery in Anson for Culp.

Culp had taken flying lessons during the summer and had won his solo license in August. He rented the plane in which the two boys were flying at the Stamford Municipal Flying Field earlier in the afternoon.

Rita Theatre Adds Sunday Monday Shows

Mrs. Carrie McNulty, manager of the Texas and Rita theatres in this city, announced this week that the Rita Theatre would be open on Sunday and Monday each week in addition to the regular shows on Friday and Saturday.

"Until further notice we will bring to the Rita Theatre each Sunday and Monday, a special selected program of feature attractions," Mrs. McNulty announced.

Attraction at the Rita Friday and Saturday will be "Rangers Take Over" and the attraction for Sunday and Monday will be "Oklahoma Kid".

Singing Will Be Held at Mattson
On Sunday Night

A singing will be held at Mattson Sunday night, Sept. 19th, and singers and music lovers of this section are invited to attend and bring someone with them. Sponsors of the evening's program are expecting singers from Throckmorton and other towns and communities in this section, and have made arrangements to have plenty of song books for all who attend.

New Minister

New minister of the Church of Christ in this city is Floyd J. Spivey, former minister of the Greggton, Texas, Church of Christ. Mr. and Mrs. Spivey have already moved to Haskell, and the new minister occupied the local pulpit last Sunday.

Hugh W. Sanders Is Promoted To Grade of Major

Hugh W. Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Sanders of Haskell has just been promoted to the grade of Major in the Army Air Corps.

For the past nine months, Major Sanders has been stationed at Washington, D. C., assigned to the Statistical Control Division, Office of Management Control, Army Air Forces. This division was established early last year by General H. H. Arnold, Commanding General of the Army Air Forces, as a move to place air training and air warfare on a business basis. Under the able direction of Brigadier General Byron E. Gates and Lt. Colonel Charles B. Thornton, its effects have been felt in every theater where American airmen are fighting.

Upon his entry into the Army, Major Sanders became a member of the famous all Texas 36th Infantry Division. He entered the armed services in November 1940 and on April 1, 1941, received his officer's commission. On December 24, 1942 he was sent from the field to Headquarters, Army Air Forces and assigned to the Statistical Control Division.

Previous to his induction into the army, Major Sanders conducted his law practice from Haskell. He became a member of the Texas Bar Association in 1938. At present, he is living with his wife and two month old son in Washington.

929 Bales of Cotton Ginned Here To Date

Cotton ginned at five local gins from the 1943 crop had almost reached the 1,000 mark Thursday noon, with cotton coming in at a steadily increasing rate, ginners reported.

A total of 929 bales had been ginned up to Thursday noon by five of the six Haskell gins reporting, and it is believed that receipts of the remaining gin which could not be reached would push the total to the 1,000 mark for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Crawford and children Katherine and Horace and Mrs. R. L. Reavis visited in Abilene Sunday with Reda Barber.

Lawton Smith of Lawton, Oklahoma who has been visiting in Haskell with his sister, Mrs. W. H. Crawford left Tuesday for Fort Worth.

Two Film Stars Will Make Personal Appearance During Program

Sponsored locally by the Haskell Lions Club in the statewide "Stars Over Texas" Bond-selling drive during the Third War Loan a county-wide Bond Rally will be held on the courthouse lawn in this city Friday from 12 until 2 o'clock, which will be highlighted by the personal appearance of two motion picture stars from Hollywood, Jim Newill and Guy Wilkerson.

Also to be on display during the two-hour program will be some of Uncle Sam's most modern and potent implements of war—numerous tanks, jeeps, prime movers, guns and other units—from the 11th Armored Division at Camp Barkeley. The military units will be in charge of officers and personnel who will bring them to Haskell for the program. The caravan of Army vehicles is expected to arrive shortly before noon, and will be accessible for public inspection in giving citizens of this section a first-hand knowledge of what their War Bonds buy and equip for their fighting men.

The two hours program will include talks by speakers in addition to the appearance of the two famous Western film stars. In order to permit everyone to attend the program a majority of Haskell business houses will be closed during the two-hour program, a spokesman for the Lions Club said Thursday.

FINAL RITES FOR J. E. CLOUD HELD IN RULE TUESDAY

Prominent Pioneer Resident of County Died Monday Afternoon

Funeral for J. E. Cloud, 74, pioneer and prominent land owner of Rule and Haskell county, was held Tuesday afternoon in the First Baptist Church in Rule with the Rev. C. A. Powell officiating. Mr. Cloud died at his home there Monday afternoon after an illness of several years.

He is survived by his wife; three sons; daughters, Mrs. J. E. Geer and Mrs. B. W. Ingram of Rule and Mrs. C. E. Leon of Roton; ten grandchildren; and three sisters, Mrs. John Roach of Abilene, Mrs. Charles Guggoiz of Gatesville, and Mrs. Ambros Roach of Eldorado.

Son of Former Resident Dies In Plane Crash

Staff Sergeant J. E. Linam of Cisco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Linam, former residents of Haskell, was listed among the twenty-two members of crews of two Flying Fortresses killed following a collision over the Gulf of Mexico last Friday, according to a press dispatch credited to the public relations office of the Alexandria, La., air base.

The two great planes were on routine flights when they crashed 40 miles southeast of Galveston. Navy craft and Army planes searching the area failed to find any survivors.

Parents of Sgt. Linam were residents of Haskell for many years, and until a few years ago Mr. Linam was employed on a large ranch east of Haskell.

Farmhouse Is Destroyed By Fire Tuesday

A farmhouse on the Ed Fouts farm several miles northwest of Haskell was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning about 10 o'clock together with some household effects and furniture belonging to a family of Mexican cotton pickers who were occupants of the house. The fire is believed to have been started by sparks from an open fire under a wash pot near the house.

Miss Frances English of this city spent the week end in Abilene with Miss Margaret Bredlove who is teaching there.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove
WNU Service.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—Edward Thomas Marion Lawton Hargrove, feature editor of the Charlotte (N. C.) News, receives notice from his draft board that he is to be inducted into the army. Before he begins an accounting of his actual experiences in training camp he issues his quota of free advice to prospective inductees. After his induction Hargrove, with his new buddies, leaves for Fort Bragg, where he is to receive his basic training.

CHAPTER II—Private Hargrove tells of the physical exam, the first few days of army, how he was outfitted with his uniform, and how on the sixth day he received his first KP duty. He is classified as a semi-skilled cook.

CHAPTER III—Hargrove relates his conversation with his sergeant who is trying to find out why he spends so much time on KP duty. He also reports on the session the trainees are put through by the exercise sergeant. He has trouble learning how to handle his rifle and is given plenty of special attention by the sergeant and corporal.

CHAPTER IV—Private Hargrove relates some of the incidents surrounding the advancement in rank by some of his friends. Why he fails to go as far as he is a puzzle to his sergeant, who inquires about it.

CHAPTER V—Hargrove is given a review of his faults by his sergeant who tells him to snap out of it and start working for his corporal's stripes. He also gets a lesson in the art of goldbricking.

CHAPTER VI—Private Hargrove lists a series of army slang definitions for the enlightenment of the civilian population. He also tells how he and two of his pals spoil a perfectly good date for one Private Zuber. Going home on furlough he goes to visit a newspaperman friend who dominates their conversation recounting his experiences in the first World War. He also undergoes another trying experience at inspection.

CHAPTER VII—Private Hargrove continues to relate the incidents surrounding his camp life and tells about being outfitted for an overcoat. A week-end is spent on maneuvers on the South Carolina coast. He gets a good case of sunburn.

CHAPTER VIII—Hargrove gets his first taste of army cooking school reports on his daily activities there. He tells also about the real meaning of army morale and how it affects new inductees.

CHAPTER IX—How the evening bull sessions progress and how much the soldiers enjoy them are the subject of Private Hargrove's next report. He learns he has been reclassified to do public relations work on the camp paper.

CHAPTER X—The old gang, formed in the first days of training, begins to break up and Hargrove tells about a "going away" party or some of them. He releases a supplement to his dictionary of army slang.

CHAPTER XI—Hargrove gets his first ten-day furlough and heads for New York. He meets one of his friends from camp and duly impresses him by buying him a lunch at an exclusive hotel. Back at camp, he goes on KP duty for Thanksgiving Day.

CHAPTER XII—Private Hargrove subdues the expansive bus driver and deflates with a neatly turned phrase. Back at camp he manages to start a fire in his office wastebasket and throws the rest of the public relations staff into an uproar. Hargrove is put on the par by his first sergeant for his failure to attend a series of lectures.

for you, Private Hargrove. I deeply sympathize. I wouldn't think of putting you on KP—"

"You wouldn't?" I gasped eagerly.

"Don't interrupt," the sergeant barked. "As I was saying, I wouldn't think of putting you on KP—if you hadn't committed a breach of etiquette by failing to RSVP the invitation. You didn't tell us you weren't coming. Or why."

I was doing peacefully at my typewriter the other morning when there came a knock on my elbow and a bright young voice shouted "Hey!" at me. I looked up into the impish, cheerful, and unquenchably mischievous face of the boss' daughter, Miss Sidney Winkel, age four. Miss Winkel was dressed like the Navy and looked entirely too energetic for such a drizzly morning.

"Hi, to be the Valentine," she said, "and Johnny's going to take my picture and you're to take me up to the Service Club and carry Johnny's things for him and wait for him to get there so you'd better put on your jacket and cap and let's go."

"I'm going to have my picture taken with Spud Parker," she added. "Spud Parker is the general's son and is considered quite an eligible bachelor by the younger set."

"Is Spud Parker your boy friend?" I asked her sleepily.

"Oh, no," she said. "Johnny and Tom Mulvehill and Lieutenant Meek and Captain Wilson are my four best boy friends but you're not my boy friend at all because you make faces and stick out your tongue and maybe if you could behave yourself you could be my boy friend."

"Pure fiddle-faddle," I told her. "I didn't ask to be your boy friend, anyway. I could have nine hundred girl friends if I wanted to—prettier

"Sergeant, for days I round up news from battery reporters. There is always too much or too little. When there is too little, I have to write what is needed. When there is too much, I have to choose which battery reporter is going to horse-whip me for leaving his copy out."

"The chaplain is right up the street," the sergeant said.

"Then I have to edit all the copy delete all classified military intelligence and take out all nasty cracks at first sergeants. Then I have to write headlines for all the stories and place them in whatever space I can find for them. Then I must draw everything up into pretty little pages. This is tedious and nerve-racking work."

"The chaplain will give you a sympathetic ear," the sergeant said. "I will give you only KP. Does anything you are saying relate to what we're talking about—why you weren't in the mess hall yesterday afternoon?"

"I was getting around to that, sergeant. On the day before the paper is issued, I have to go into Fayetteville to keep a careful watch over the printers, to see that they don't put Third Regiment news on the Fourth Regiment page. If I am not there, they may even mix headlines and put church notices under 'Service Club Activities.' It is necessary that I be there."

The sergeant coughed. "I feel affected. The old indifferent eatment always gets them.

"There's Tom in the cafeteria," she said. "Let's go see Tom."

Thomas James Montgomery Mulvehill, Pfc., was apparently making his morning rounds in search of news. He was, at the moment, engaged in his daily research in the Service Club's toast and coffee.

"Hello, sis," he said. "Hello, McGee. Pull up a chair. Something tall and cool. Such as a chocolate milk. What's the deal, sis?"

"I'm to be the Valentine," she said, "and Johnny's going to take my picture and old Hargrove has to take care of Johnny's stuff until Johnny comes and I don't like him anyway because he makes faces and sticks out his tongue and says sticks and snails and puppy-dog tails that's what little girls are made of and he's not my boy friend anyway."

"No punctuation," I said. I wagged my ears and stuck out my tongue at her.

"The next time I come," she said, "I'm going to bring some soap and every time he sticks out his tongue I'm going to put soap on it because it isn't nice to stick out your tongue." She emphasized her statement by paralyzing my wrist with her fist and sticking her tongue out at me.

"Let's have no unnecessary vibrations, McGee," said the Lieutenthomas, looking up reproachfully over his glasses. "Coffee is five cents the cup." He beamed at her. She beamed back at him.

"I have seven boy friends," she said, raising one forefinger delicately and rubbing the other against it in a highly jeering gesture. "I have seven boy friends and you're not one of them and you're not anybody's boy friend." She hit me this time on the elbow and I made a horrible face at her.

"Myaah," I said. "Who wants to be your boy friend anyway?"

"I wish you wouldn't blow smoke," she said. "It makes me cough and it's not nice to smoke anyway. Old cigarettes!"

I wearily crushed my last cigarette in the ash tray. "Women, the eternal reformer," I sighed. "It wasn't like this in the Old Army."

Miss Sidney Winkel took off her sailor cap and arranged her big red hair ribbon. "You're a nasty old thing and you're not nice like Johnny and Tom and Lieutenant Meek and Captain Wilson and all my other boy friends," she said. After a pause she added, airily, "And Major Long and Captain Quillen, too."

"Myaah," I sighed, wrinkling my nose more violently.

"Oh there's Johnny," she suddenly cried, "and he's going to take my picture and—" She tripped off with a bewitching smile for Bushemi and a running line of babble.

"No punctuation," I said to Mulvehill.

"It's a woman's world, McGee," he said, reaching for another slice of toast.

me already and now he's asking—oh, I can't stand it! I can't stand it! Take him away!"

"My life's blood," he moaned.

"Where's the six I lent you two months ago?"

"That was only five weeks ago," I reminded him gently, "and I've already paid two of that back. Three weeks ago I paid it back."

"Yeah," he protested, "but you borrowed it back the next day." He rose and paced the floor. "What are they doing to me? My life's blood they would draw from my veins? Thirty-six measly little dollars a month I make—and he wants ten dollars! Maybe I'm Winthrop Rockefeller I should lend out ten dollars a clip! Thirty-six dollars, and he wants half!"

"You see, Lieutenthomas, a sad and work-worn creature—an Alice sit-by-the-fire whose only hope for the future is in the faint glimmering hope of a furlough. Day after day, week in and week out, I have worked my frail fingers to the shoulder blade to make things pleasant for you and Bushemi and Bishop. I have patched your quarrels with the mess sergeant. I have saved you from the terrible wrath of provoked Rebels. I have sat here at night, sewing buttons on my blouse so that you wouldn't have to wear it hanging open on your merry jaunts to town. Money could not pay for the things I have done for you and Bushemi. And now this. Ten dollars between me and spiritual starvation—and no ten dollars. How sharper than a serpent's tooth."

"Don't talk like that, Hargrove," he said, his voice cracking. "Put me down for ten."

The mighty Mulvehill walked down the barracks aisle, muttering to himself. "I'm being crucified," he belted and fell, a crushed hulk of humanity, to his bunk.

There was a little note stuck in my typewriter when I came back from prowling for news. It looked like Private ("One-Shot") Bushemi's typing. "The stockholders of the Union of Hargrove's Creditors," it read, "will hold a business meeting this evening about seven o'clock in the latrine of Barracks No. 2, Headquarters Battery. Please be present or we will beat your head in."

It was the day before my furlough, so I got the general drift. The valentines who were contributors to the furlough would probably stand around frowning and figure out some sort of budget for my vacation. I could picture the blue-nosed demons slashing away at my enjoyment.

The meeting had an unexpectedly small attendance: Maury, Sergeant of Battery D of the Third and chairman of the ways and means committee of the Union; Private Bushemi, principal stockholder and president; and Private First Class Thomas James Montgomery Mulvehill, chaplain.

Private Mulvehill beamed. "Sergeant Hart sends his regrets. He has a heavy heavy in Lillington. He is with us in spirit, though."

"Come in, drip," said Bushemi.

Sergeant Sher got down to business. "I've got to hand it to you, son," he said. "Gone through this much of the month and still haven't tried to get any of your furlough money back from the chaplain! We're all proud of you."

"Shucks," I blushed. "Twern't nothin'. I was able to bum a cigarette here and there."

"McGee," said Mulvehill, clearing his throat, "you leave tomorrow for New York, where there are many snares to trap the unwary. Don't buy any gold watches in the park or any stolen furs anywhere. You know, I presume, about buying the Brooklyn Bridge."

"Now, we don't have any restrictions about the way you use your money," said Bushemi. "Only last time you spent too much money on taxicabs. You'll have to use the buses and subway more this trip. All the shows you want to see, all the books you can buy—but taxicabs only for very special dates."

"Somebody has been exaggerating this taxicab—" I began.

"Taxicabs," Sher broke in, "only for very special dates. You may go to the opera once if you sit downstairs and twice if you sit in the Family Circle. You are not to buy more than six theater tickets. In uniform, you can see all the movies you want for two bits each."

"And be conservative in tipping the waiters," said Mulvehill, tipping his glasses on the window sill. "Very

Making Soap At Home
By Cathryn Sands, County Home Demonstration Agent

Making soap at home, long considered an act of thrift is contrary to the patriotic spirit of the times. The question is, whether to save money or lives.

From the economical standpoint it is cheaper to make a good quality of soap at home, but in making soap at home, all the glycerin which is badly needed for war purposes is lost. All glycerin, except about one per cent, is extracted from commercially made soap. That is why soap is of poorer quality than during peace time.

Valuing waste fat at about four cents a pound, home-made soap costs only about half that much, but the appeal now is for glycerin to save lives rather than to save money.

During the month of July, Texas collected less than 40 per cent of its waste fat allotment. This is one of the few war-time programs in which Texans are falling behind, and this failure is reducing the output of explosives.

Many of us believe we do not waste any fat, but we should check ourselves carefully. It is easy to let a teaspoon of fat remain in a skillet and go down the drain or into the garbage. The first principle of the government's fat salvage program is to use kitchen fats as long as they are suitable for food. But as soon as they become old, they should be turned into a fat collection center before they become rancid. The glycerin content is reduced when fats are rancid.

conservative. Short-change them, if necessary."

"Tell him about the budget," said Bushemi, with unexpected impatience.

"As the matter stands on the furlough deal," said Sher, "you owe Bushemi 22 dollars, me 10, Mulvehill 10, Hart 10. That's 52 dollars. Counting the ten you'll owe Bushemi

This Was The South Pasture
War sure changes things fast. Long as I can remember this was the Boss' south pasture—and now look. Almost overnight, instead of cattle, windmills and barbed wire, there are roads and barracks and soldiers as far as you can see.

All over Texas thousands of acres of quiet grasslands have been converted into military camps. Under the capable direction of Army engineers, civilian contractors have rushed to completion the flying fields, army training centers, rifle ranges and navy bases where thousands of our fighting men are being trained.

Essential to the very existence of these military establishments are the streets and highways that form the transportation system within and between them. Petroleum asphalt supplied by Humble has been used for constructing many miles of these strategic roads. Economical, serviceable, and easy to apply, Humble Asphalt is serving in war, as it did in peace, to make all-weather highways, streets, and air field landing strips a reality in quick time.

Road asphalt is but one of the long list of Humble petroleum products that are in the fight on the battle front and the home front. High-octane aviation gasoline, Toluene for TNT, special fuels and lubricants for the machines of war and industry—all come from the same refineries, which for years have supplied you with Esso and Humble gasoline, Esso, 997, and Velvet Motor Oil for your car, your truck, and your farm and industrial machinery.

FOR THE MACHINES OF INDUSTRY: Automotive Lubricants, Cutting Fluids, Greases, Diesel Fuel, Gasoline, Industrial Lubricants, Laminating Lubricants, Motor Oil, Paints, Petroleum Solvents, Quenching Oil, Rust Preventive, Wax. FOR YOUR CAR: Products and service to help you care for your car for your country.

Humble fuels, lubricants and greases have been field-tested and used by successful farmers for years. There is a Humble product for every farm need. Look to our Humble Bulk Agent for advice on your fuel and lubrication problems.

THESE ARE AMERICAN SOLDIERS GOING INTO ACTION. You need not worry about their flinching or failing—no matter what tough going they may meet. You can count on them to do what we're asking of them—to pay, with their lives if need be, the price of victory. But victory cannot be bought by these men alone. We've got to pay our share of the cost too. This month, that share is at least $1.00 EXTRA—over and above all other buying—in U. S. War Bonds, for every man and woman in this country. "Little man," she said, "will you please ask the waiter for more water?"

"I beg your pardon," he said, rather unctuously. "There is a fifteen million gallon shortage in water at this very instant. On the other hand, madame, all supply ships to Great Britain use Scotch whisky as ballast for the return trip. Perhaps madame would like a glass of Scotch whisky?"

The Redhead lifted an eyebrow. "I wonder," she said, "what they use in the finger bowls here—rubbing alcohol? I do not want Scotch whisky. I want water."

"It is as madame wishes," the waiter said, bowing from the knees. He walked away and returned again to lean against a post. The Redhead drummed her fingers on the tablecloth.

"Don't be afraid of him," said the Redhead. "Call his bluff."

It'll cost you an extra Bond

To look him in the eye!

HE'S AN AMERICAN SOLDIER.
Some day, if God is with him, he'll come home.
And when he does, you'll get the biggest thrill of your life if you can look him squarely in the eye and say, "I couldn't help you fight—but I did everything in my power to help you win!"
There's only one way you can say that... honestly say it. And that is to help him win now... when he needs all the help you can give him.
Today's particular job for you is to scrape together every dollar you can—and buy an extra $100 worth of War Bonds! That's your job in the 3rd War Loan!
It's not enough to buy your regular amount of Bonds. It has to be more. It has to be an extra buy—a little more pressure for the shoulder that's against the wheel.
REMEMBER THIS—you aren't giving your money. You're lending it to the government for a while. And you're making the best investment in the world.
Your own flesh and blood is in the thick of the invasion fighting. Every family has a member, close relative or friend in the armed forces. Every War Bond backs up these fighting men. Every War Bond helps to provide a protecting umbrella on the battlefield. Every War Bond plays its part in reducing casualties.

3RD WAR LOAN
BACK THE ATTACK...WITH WAR BONDS

Haskell, Texas, Sept. 14, 1943

To All Chairman and Their Committees:

Remember our time is short. Just two weeks. Please give this your best study and hardest work. Help every man solve his problem where you can. With our cotton, cattle and reserve we can raise this money and be proud that we did so.

Work your territory thoroughly and complete this week. When you have done this make a list of the ones you have missed, other possibilities and the ones who have not properly responded. Call your committees together, select these names according to your ability to approach and start again. However, where right and proper, get increased subscriptions from your committee before starting the second drive. Our quota can be raised and hurt no one.

ITALY HAS SURRENDERED BUT THE FIGHTING HAS JUST BEGUN.
That fight is ours so let's win. This is no time to quit.

Very truly yours,
R. C. COUCH, Chairman

Miss La Verne Guss and John A. Mayfield Married On Sunday

Miss La Verne Guss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Guss, became the bride of Cpl. John Alec Mayfield, son of Mrs. John Mayfield and the late Mr. Mayfield, at 6:30 p. m. Sunday, August 29, at the Mattson Baptist Church in Haskell county. Rev. H. R. Whately, pastor of the Haskell Baptist church, read the marriage ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white brocade satin gown, fashioned with fitted bodice, sweetheart neck line and long sleeves coming to a point over her hands. Her floor length sheer veil carried the same design as her gown. She carried a white Bible with an arrangement of white carnations.

Miss Jeannie Guss, sister of the bride, sang "Always" to the accompaniment of Miss Dorothy Pinkerton of Snyder. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Arlos Weaver.

The bride's attendants, dressed in colonial gowns in pastel shades of taffeta and net, were Mrs. Chan Hughes of Munday, matron of honor; Miss La Verne Guss, maid of honor; Mrs. Vern Derr, Miss Dorothy Pinkerton, Mrs. Clyde Mayfield, Mrs. Bailey Guss, Mrs. Rebus Guss, Jr., and Miss Jeannie Guss, bridesmaids; Ann Derr and Sue Guss, junior bridesmaids; Cauilla Mayfield flower girl; Tiffen Mayfield, ring bearer and Bill Bailey Guss, train bearer.

Sgt. Brantley Massie of San Angelo was best man, and ushers were Bailey Guss, Clyde Mayfield, Rebus Guss, Jr., Bob Guss, Arlie Mayfield and Vern Derr.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The three-tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride and served with fruit punch by members of the wedding party.

Both Cpl. and Mrs. Mayfield are members of pioneer families of the Mattson community. The bride is a graduate of Mattson high school and attended Abilene Christian College and North Texas State Teachers College.

The groom also graduated from the Mattson high school and attended Texas University and Texas A. and M. College.

Following the reception, the couple left on a short honeymoon trip. For traveling the bride chose a green crepe suit with black velvet trim and black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The newly weds will make their home at Louisville, Ky., where the groom is in training.

Baptist W. M. S. Meets For Missionary Program

The Baptist W. M. S. met in the church annex on Monday afternoon for a missionary program and business meeting. The meeting opened by singing "Sweet Hour of Prayer" with Mrs. Jim Fouts, vice president presiding. Instead of the president, Mrs. R. NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC—Any erroneous reflection upon the character, reputation or standing of any firm, individual or corporation will be gladly corrected upon being called to the attention of the publishers.

Silence is the element in which great things fashion themselves together; that at length they may emerge, full-formed and majestic, into the delights of life, which they are therefor to rule.

Beat Inflation by Buying Bonds

The most important of all sources for war financing is you. In the First War Loan you piled up one and one-half million dollars. In the Second War Loan your record was three and one-quarter billion dollars.

Your personal objective must be at least one $100 War Bond in addition to what you are buying regularly through the payroll savings plan or other means.

Seven-eighths of all our current swollen national income goes into your pocket. If you hoard this money or spend it bidding against your neighbors for things you can get along without you will bring disaster to your home as great as a block-buster bombing raid.

Debt That Can't Be Paid

A characteristic of the jungle fighting in the Southwest Pacific is the high proportion of non-fatal wounds. Japanese snipers fortunately are poor shots. Equally fortunate for our men in that area, there are plenty of highly trained medical men to care for wounds immediately.

for this on-the-spot medical service, the horror of infection and death would become almost unbearable. Reporting on the heroism of the Army doctors, a news dispatch from Munda states: "It is a heart-warming experience to watch the young surgeons working night and day, ministering to the wounded Americans in the gloomy depths of the New Georgia jungle. The main responsibility for saving lives rests with them... It has been the aim of the medical corps in this campaign to give every wounded man preliminary treatment within a few minutes after he has been hit... The Corps does its job with the bullets and shrapnel still flying."

These are the same doctors that a year or so ago were striving to build careers for themselves at home. Most of them have families and all of them spent long years of study and privation preparing to practice medicine. They carry with them into battle a wealth of knowledge and the best traditions of the American medical profession.

The parents, wives and sweethearts of the men in service owe the military doctors a debt of gratitude they can never hope to repay.

Decrees Don't Produce Cows

For sometime past the American people have been reading that they can expect butter and milk rationing. They are therefore partially prepared for such drastic steps. The civilian butter reserve is at the vanishing point, which means that our milk supply is below needed amounts.

Farm labor costs, dairy feed, seed and everything the dairy farmer uses, have shown either normal or abnormal rises. No matter how fine our economic planners spin their theories, all of them combined cannot produce a milk cow in less than three years, by law, executive decree, or otherwise.

There is just one way to get more milk, and that is to allow the farmer who produces it a fair and reasonable profit based on the cost of production and the labor involved. Until that is done the milk, butter and cheese supply will grow shorter and there is no use in kidding the American people about the issue.

Better Roads

Talk of post-war planning sometimes leaves a citizen in doubt, but when you bring up the subject of spending money on building public highways after the war, we can follow. The taxpayer knows this kind of conversation, he's been there before! When the Association of State Highway Officials get together to discuss the post-war plans, they spoke for state highway departments and federal roads. In mentioning how ten billion dollars might well be spent which goes to maintain, repair, rebuild the highways, they also spoke of the construction furnishing direct employment for 750,000 people. War has shown us the need for good roads. Much of the work done during this war was hurriedly and not under favor conditions, generally. More will be needed after the heavy traffic of army equipment and travel. But this is just a discussion of things to come and important since the auto stands as an economic feature in our national income.

Always remember, when things look black, that the fellow who wrote "Home, Sweet Home" never had one, in a true sense of the word!

Lesson for September 19

THE SIN OF MOSES AND AARON

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 20:1-13, 27, 28. GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye angry, and sin not.—Ephesians 4:26.

Sin is a serious matter, and even though men in our day may not call it by its real name, it is as much here as it was in the days of Moses—and it is just as awfully sinful as ever.

Sin is universal; it appears not only among the people, but also among their leaders. God's dealing with it is on the basis of "greater privilege, greater responsibility."

No leader, especially in God's cause, can expect special consideration of his weakness. He must meet God and answer for his sin.

I. The Unbelief of the People (vv. 1-3). It is well to bear in mind that the people of Israel who were now at Kadesh-Barnea, on the borderland of Canaan, had been here once before—40 years before. Here they had rebelled against God in unbelief because of the report of the spies concerning the land.

Now they were back at Kadesh—and a new generation shows that the spirit of unbelief and distrust has a hold on humanity, and makes sin like father.

They had run short of water. The spring which had served their fathers on the previous visit to Kadesh had run dry.

One would have supposed that all the mighty dealings of God in their deliverances over and over again, would have indicated the need of faith; but they had only a wailing criticism of God and His leaders.

II. The Answer—God's Power (vv. 6-8). Moses and Aaron, now old men but still God's chosen leaders, took their sorrow to Him (v. 6). It was the right place to go, for power becometh unto the Lord (Ps. 62:11).

Instead of punishing the people for their unbelief, God calls upon His servant Moses to show them that He (God) is able. At a word from Moses, the rock would bring forth water before their eyes.

Is not that the perfect answer to all man's questioning and lack of faith—the revelation of the omnipotence of God?

But God's purpose is defeated (at least in a measure) by the... III. Unbelief of the Leaders (vv. 9-11).

Instead of taking their place as the servants and subordinates of God, Moses and Aaron claimed that they would provide water (v. 10). Instead of showing God's power by speaking to the rock, and His mercy in providing for the people, they uttered a rebuke; and then, by smiting the rock, took to themselves the honor that really belonged to God.

When called upon to act for God, they acted for themselves, and in their own name. They used for their own glory the power delegated to them by God. Let us beware that we do not fall into the same error.

Let us also note that if the punishment seems severe, we should recall that they had broken a type of Christ. Christ was the Rock. He was to be smitten at Calvary, that the water of life might flow forth. But He died once for sin (1 Cor. 10:4) and is not to be smitten again. We need now only speak to Him in faith and receive life.

In Exodus 17:5, 6, Moses smote the rock, presenting the first half of the type foreshadowing the work of Christ; now he was to speak to it, fulfilling the type, and in unbelief destroyed God's picture or type of redemption. It was a grievous sin.

IV. The Answer—Judgment (vv. 12, 13, 27, 28). Moses and Aaron were not to be permitted to enter the promised land, because of their failure. No doubt it was true that their departure was to be with the Lord was in a sense "far better" for them; and yet it cannot be denied that there was disappointment in not seeing the conclusion of their long and arduous labors.

The lesson is clear. We may serve God long and faithfully, but that is not any excuse for "letting down" in our closing years. We dare not presume, as though our intimate touch with God and place of leadership gave us an "inside track," a right to take it easy, spiritually or morally.

Sin is always sin; and it is especially grievous in one who has the privilege of high position and of power with God. God buried His workmen; but His work went on. For Aaron there was his son Eleazar (v. 28). For Moses there was a Joshua, "full of the spirit of wisdom" (Deut. 34:9). It is always so. None of us is indispensable.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To: Ralph Summar, Greeting: You are commanded to appear and answer the plaintiff's petition at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this Citation, the same being Monday the 27th day of September, A. D., 1943, at or before 10 o'clock A. M., before the Honorable District Court of Haskell County, at the Court House in Haskell, Texas.

Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 2nd day of September, 1943.

The file number of said suit being No. 7085.

The names of the parties in said suit are: Louise Summar as Plaintiff, and Ralph Summar as Defendant.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to wit: That she is and has been for a period of twelve months a bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas and has resided in the County of Haskell, Texas, for at least six months next preceding the filing of this suit; that on or about the 15th day of September 1941, plaintiff was lawfully married to the defendant; that they continued to live together as husband and wife until on or about the 10th day of October A. D. 1942, when by reason of cruel and harsh treatment and improper conduct of the defendant toward the plaintiff she was forced and compelled to permanently abandon defendant since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife.

Plaintiff alleges that the defendant was quarrelsome and often accused her falsely of improper relations with other men much to her humiliation. That he was extremely jealous and he would get angry and stay away from home as long as a month at a time.

Plaintiff alleges that no child or children were born to this union and that no child or children were adopted by plaintiff and defendant. Plaintiff further alleges that there is no community property to be adjudicated.

"Sorry- I'VE DONE ALL I CAN"

Don't Tell THAT to the Men from Haskell County Who are Fighting for YOU!

3RD WAR LOAN

15 BILLION DOLLARS
(NON-BANKING QUOTA)

AMERICA is proud of the way you answered her call for help. In the First and Second War Loan Drives you opened your hearts—and your purses—and invested generously.

But this is no time to say, "Sorry, I've done all I can."

Not when our troops are smashing ahead. Not when the cry from every front is for more tanks . . . more guns . . . more planes to strike the knockout blow.

Today, everyone who possibly can, must invest in at least one extra $100 War Bond. More if you possibly can. That's in addition to your regular War Bond subscriptions.

A big job? Yes! But INVASION is a big job, too! And that's what the 3rd War Loan is for—INVASION!

And it's for your loved ones, too . . . for the sons and brothers, sweethearts and husbands who are doing the fighting.

Can you look into your heart and say to them, "I've done all I can"?

Can you tell that to the Invasion Troops?

Of course you can't! No true American could! So NOW . . . when America needs your help as it never has in all history . . . make up your mind to do MORE in September. Invest in the safest way in the world! Invest out of current income, out of idle or accumulated funds. Back the invasion with at least one extra $100 War Bond this month.

Safest Investments in the World

• United States War Savings Bonds Series "E"; gives you back $4 for every $3 when the bond matures. Interest: 2.9% a year, compounded semiannually, if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000. Redemption: Anytime 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969; readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral. Redeemable at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated September 15, 1943; due December 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $100,000, and $1,000,000. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other securities: Series "C" Savings Notes; ¾% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1951-1953; United States Savings Bonds Series "F"; United States Savings Bonds Series "G".
