How SMOOTH can a ride be?

THAT'S a question well worth answering before you settle on your next automobile.

For what fun is there—what thrill—in a car that is prisoner to the city streets, slowed down by roads a Buick is built to take in stride?

So we'd like to show you just how much smoothness your money can buy. How levelly you float over cobbles and car tracks—over rutty gravel and wavy black-top—in this stunning traveler.

The car will be any Buick you prefer—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER. You can name the place—pick a spot or a stretch you know so that you can measure Buick's smoothness against your own experience—and we'll promise you a new sensation in riding comfort.

The time can be any time you want to arrange with your Buick dealer—who is ready to show with actual figures that "if you can afford a new car you can afford a Buick."

See him, will you, and treat yourself to some real comfort?

Only Buick has Dynaflow—and with it goes:
HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.)
NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fender, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

YOUR KEY TO GREATER VALUE

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT:

This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

Haskell-Stonewall Farmers Establish Commendable Repayment Record On Funds Advanced By FHA

Through the years the Farmers Home Administration and its predecessor agencies have been in operation in the state the farm families connected with the agency have established a very commendable repayment record, according to State Director L. J. Cappleman. This, Mr. Cappleman states, is despite the fact that many of the early loans were made in the depression '30's and in drouth areas when repayment possibilities of farm families were

The State Director in his report to National officials, states that the collection program continues to bring advanced funds back into the treasury. Since the inception of the various programs to March 31, 1950, operating and subsistence loans to farm families in Texas have amounted to $182,774,302.00 of which $156,467,372.00 has been repaid in principal and interest on matured loans.

The local office in Haskell has loaned to farmers in Haskell and Stonewall Counties $1,016,435.07 of which $979,115.07 has been repaid. Outstanding collateralized loans in the two counties now amount to $80,540.92.

The Farmers Home Administration in Texas makes loans, accompanied by on the farm assistance, to family type operators unable to get adequate credit from other sources. Mr. Cappleman made his report to the State and National officials in a meeting May 22 at Memphis, Tenn., on agency activities since last June. William E. Lawson is the local supervisor and offices on the third floor of the courthouse in Haskell.

What the program has meant by way of assisting farm families on land improvement, production and living levels, helping meet local tax demands, increasing local business and maintaining better nutrition and diets cannot be measured.

In giving further thought to conditions in Texas, Mr. Cappleman said that the large demand for farm housing loans and rapid development of that program, increased insured farm mortgage loans by private lenders, and continued demand for loans to improve farm production through better practices, highlights in this year's activity work of the agency.

The new Farm Housing Loan Program was established when Congress passed the Housing Act last summer. In addition to Farm Housing Loans, the Farmers Home Administration makes both direct Farm Ownership loans and Insured Mortgage loans where credit backed by a Government guarantee is now extended by banks, lenders for farm purchase improvement or enlargement.

The State Director in his report, states that 426 Farm Housing, direct Farm Ownership and Insured Mortgage loans have been made in Texas during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1949, to March 31, 1950, in the amount of $2,942,307.00. Of this amount, 83 per cent of Direct Farm Ownership loan funds went to Veterans to assist in purchasing farms. Repayments made on matured real estate loans during the year amounted to $2,793,021.00.

The local office made 4 Housing loans this year of $14,200 and 3 Insured Mortgage loans for $36,000. Collected on Real Estate loans for this period in Haskell and Stonewall Counties was $134,352.76.

Further highlighting his report to the National officials, since the inception of the Farm Ownership program in Texas, over 6,000 Farm Ownership loans have been made in the amount of $40,971,036.00 of which $26,785,680 has been repaid. The Haskell office has made 93 loans for a total of $855,467.00, of which $543,945.74 has been repaid on the principal.

In closing his report in the Memphis meeting, State Director Cappleman states that the availability of disaster loan funds, enacted by Congressional legislation last year, assisted Texas farmers in the Valley citrus area which was caused by January 1948's freeze, and also the rice farmers in the Gulf Coast area that were hurt by the October hurricane of 1949. Loans to hard-hit farmers in these designated areas in the State totaled $3,347,715.00 during the year. These loans do not refinance farmers but enable them to continue with current operations. The Haskell office has made none of these loans.

In the Production and Subsistence Loan program, some 7,553 family type farm operators have borrowed $8,046,390.00 during the period for current production purposes including livestock, feed, seed, equipment and other operating needs including cost of improving their farm practices. Of these loans, 51 per cent has gone to Veterans who are given preference by the agency. Demand for loans continue to exceed facilities to handle them. Further stressing the point that the collecting program continues to bring advanced funds back into the Treasury, Mr. Cappleman stated that during this same period the collections on matured Production and Subsistence loans was $8,247,379.00. During the same period of time Haskell office has loaned $197,329.18 and during this time collections have run $195,050.00 on matured loans.

Big Loan Supports Lone Star's 5-Year Expansion Program

At a closing held in Dallas, Lone Star Gas Co. concluded a loan of $85,000,000 which will be used to retire outstanding debt and finance a five-year expansion program totaling $81,406,856, according to President D. A. Hulcy. The loan, in which twelve leading financial institutions participated, was closed Friday, June 9, in the board room of the Republic National Bank in the presence of the lending agencies and Lone Star.

Mr. Hulcy said the loan, "probably the largest single financial transaction ever closed in Texas, is evidence that the strong institutions believe in the future of Lone Star and have faith in the vast territory which it serves in Texas and Oklahoma."

"Lone Star Gas Company is experiencing the greatest period of growth in its 41-year history," he continued, "and we are keeping

Josset H-D Club Observes Hospital Day June 13

The Josset HD club met in a regular meeting at the club house on June 13. Mrs. J. L. Toliver, Jr. presided. Three songs were sung one of which was Happy Birthday to Mrs. C. A. Thomas on her birthday.

Minutes were read and approved and committee reports were given. Various members acted 5 pantomime scenes on Glove or not to Glove.

Mrs. Reding gave a very worthwhile demonstration on food value of cereals. The club meeting was set aside as hospital day. Each member brought a cup towel. Other items were 1 bed spread, 1 vase, 1 sauce pan, 3 dozen glasses, 2 bowls.

We have painted 7 ice cream cartons for waste paper baskets. The members worked on putting in door and window glasses which were broken out by hail. We also bought new screen wire for our windows.

Our club has greatly increased its attendance this year with 2 members not having missed any of the regular meetings. We have 2 new members and 3 or 4 prospective members.

In April we sponsored an amateur program and used 15 per cent of the proceeds to buy things the hospital needed. We have had our piano repaired this year also. In the absence of the assigned hostess, Linda Perrin and Nelda Jetton served refreshments to 9 members, 1 visitor and several children.

Willing Workers HD Club Meets With Mrs. S. E. Lewis

The Willing Workers H. D. club of Jud met Thursday night, June 8, at 8 p. m. with Mrs. S. E. Lewis as hostess at the school house. The night meeting was held in order that all members could be present as several were instructing in the Vacation Bible school each afternoon.

Mrs. Joe Mathis led The Eyes of Texas as the opening song. The council report was given by Mrs. Cecil Jetton. The club voted to pay the expenses to 4-H encampment at Lueders June 5, 6 and 7, for Fayma Downey, one of the four girls representatives from Haskell.

She is the 11-year-old daughter of Mrs. Henry Downey, one of the club members. Fayma won second place on the school dress she entered in the 4-H Dress Revue.

Everyone enjoyed a skit, "To Glove or not to Glove," given in pantomime form by several of the members. A demonstration on the food value of cereals was given by the cereal demonstrator, Mrs. H. B. Easy, Casual Living Keys Cotton Fashions To Summer Season

Summertime is the season when the livin' is easy—and the fashion designers are aware of that light-hearted casual attitude in their new summer collections. Playtime cottons are the eye-catching fashions of summer, 1950. The new crop of leisure-hour cottons is a wonderful sight to behold, for there is a smart outfit to star in every sport—or watch the action from the sidelines. This season's beach collections will be irresistible to the girl who is planning a two-week vacation—or longer, if she's lucky—in the seashore. Cotton's in the swim, for many of the most attractive, and also most comfortable, new swim suits are in brilliant new cotton fabrics. One of the outstanding new swim styles is designed by Robby Len in a charming black and white print cotton. The sea nymph who dons this one-piece figure-flattering suit will be ready for action because it is designed to give a maximum of freedom. She will also make a pretty picture when she is sunning on the sand in this glamorous print design. Metallic checked gingham is used by Howard Greer for a beach ensemble in a shade called sea gold. The noted sportswear designer has styled this two-piece mermaid costume with an unusual pleated skirt to tie over the one-piece swim suit. The skirt comes off when milady wants to take a quick dip, or she may leave it on when she is strolling along the boardwalk. For a day of play at beach, lake or what have you, cotton separates are ideal, for the spare parts can be donned or discarded as the activity demands. Frances Sider has used iridescent gingham for a versatile sports ensemble. The iridescent shadow-checked gingham is sparked with glints of gold, green and blue. It consists of a neat one-piece playsuit for sports. The shirt top has the new sleeveless design, and the slim-hipped shorts button trimly down the side. When the sarong-type skirt with its wrap-around drape is added, this pretty outfit can go marketing or to an informal canasta session. Lumina cotton is the fabric chosen by California designer Pat Premo for a glamorous sundress with a full, full skirt. Though the material has the air of luxury, it is sturdy as can be and can take a tubbing as well as the next cotton. The dress is cut low, both front and back, and easily can double for an afternoon party or dancing on a breeze-swept roof-garden. With it comes a rounded jacket with a soft choir boy collar and notched sleeves. Rita Jacobs has served on a la carte menu in her summer sports wear collections. They can be picked out separately and worn together to suit the taste of the wearer. One set of the coordinates is in Bedford cord in a bright banana yellow; another is in one of the season's gayest, most fashionable shades, tangerine.

Farmers Warned Of Possible Heavy Insect Infestation

Cotton insect infestation reports from the Valley and Central Texas point to a heavy infestation all over the state this year. Even though a lot of cotton still remains to be planted in Haskell county, producers are urged to be prepared by having their dusters or sprayers in good condition. Checks for insects should be made from the time cotton has two leaves until it blooms, according to F. W. Martin, county agent.

For early (pre-spray) control of thrips, aphids, and fleahoppers—3-4 pound of technical Toxaphene in 2-1 mixture (2 parts toxaphene and 1 part DDT) to 2 or 3 gallons of water per acre will give good control as a spray. As a dust, 20 per cent Toxaphene, 40 per cent sulfur or 3-5-40 mixture at 7 to 10 pounds per acre will give good control. Both spray and dust should be repeated at 7 day intervals if the infestation builds back up. If Boll weevils are present, the spray mixture will have to be stepped up from 3-4 pound to 1 1-2 pound technical Toxaphene or 2-1 mixture per acre. Normal time of application for early control is at usual chopping time. The individual field or farm receives considerable benefit but, community or county wide action is needed because the larger the area, the more effective will be the control.

SIMPLE . . . as turning on your kitchen light. A flick of the switch and you're ready to cook. Baking, broiling, roasting, surface, deep and pressure cooking are all equally simple.
AUTOMATIC . . . you've got a thrill coming when you can turn the electric cooking's automatic timing will "chef" for you, turning your oven on and off at just the right time, while you are enjoying a game of Bridge or Canasta.

Better for your home

CLEAN . . . you have freedom from combustion. No smoke, no fumes, or odors can come out of an electric coil to make your kitchen walls dark and dingy. This clean, flameless heat helps keep your pans bright, too.
CONVENIENT . . . once you cook electrically, you'll wonder how you stayed so long with horse-and-buggy methods, as old-fashioned flame lamps.
MODERN . . . electricity is as dependable a servant for cooking as it is for lighting your home. Yes, today, the modern way to cook is the "electric way."
LONG LIFE . . . your electric range is built to be a permanent part of your home. You have a right to expect—and you will get—many long years of cooking pleasure.

HEALTHFUL . . . less water is used when cooking electrically; food cooks in their own juices, retain garden-fresh flavor and food values which are so often lost and carried off with the fumes of combustion in other methods of cooking.
ECONOMICAL . . . there's no wanted heat with electricity. Plus, than ever, electric cooking gets the job done quicker and lower electric cooking rates bring operating costs way down.
MORE FREEDOM . . . your electric range requires less attention from you in the kitchen; its automatic features free you to devote more time to your family, more time to the pleasures of life. Its gleaming porcelain is so easy to keep clean . . . you'll be out of your kitchen in a jiffy after mealtime.

Applications will be certified to the County Committee when it meets Monday, Chairman Couch explained at which time the official ballot for the first primary will be made up.

It is estimated that approximately 40 or more candidates will be listed for district, county and precinct offices on the primary ticket, in addition to the list of State candidates.

Water Hearing—

feet for towns to the north of Haskell, Aspermont, Rule, 4,000 for Stamford, Anson, Hamlin, Avoca and Lueders; and 3,000 for the power plant.

City Attorney H. G. Andrews conducted the Stamford questioning of the long parade of witnesses.

Mayor Courtney Hunt of Haskell, speaking as a trustee for a group of cities interested in a Bureau of Reclamation project on Paint Creek, conducted the case for the protesting parties. Haskell's city Attorney Joyce Atkins assisted him. The protest asked that water be allocated to each town involved, not just to Stamford.

Both Haskell and Stamford were backed up by witnesses from neighboring towns and both presented the water board a mass of briefs, resolutions and technical data for and against the application.

Haskell's representatives protesting the granting of all Paint Creek waters to Stamford for municipal-industrial use were joined by representatives from Aspermont, Benjamin, Weimert, Rochester, Throckmorton, Old Glory and Rule.

Supporting Stamford in seeking allocation of the stream's water were Abilene, Anson, Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District, Texas Water Conservation Association, and endorsements from Roby, Rotan, Albany and Lueders.

With Stamford offering to build the lake and sell the water at its site, the question opposing towns asked was: How would pipelines be financed?

The U. S. Bureau of Reclamation has offered to build pipelines as well as reservoir, selling water at city gates at a rate sufficient to retire the cost.

Banker Ralph Riddel, Mayor of Aspermont, voiced his town's position as this:

"If Stamford gave us the water at the lake, we couldn't finance a pipeline to it."

It would be better if the city built its own pipeline, Riddel said, but "unless bonding companies change," the town's tax valuations would not allow.

Benjamin's Mayor J. W. Barker voiced the same opinion, pointing out that his town's population has dropped from 600 to 531 because he said, of the water shortage.

One loss he cited was that of the Humble Pipeline group which moved because the town was without water.

The Bureau estimates it will cost Benjamin up to 82 cents a thousand for water under its plan, the mayor said.

"That's high, but we have no choice. We cannot finance a pipeline ourselves," he said.

Barker said that water at those rates would be cheaper than driving 15 or 20 miles to work in Benjamin such as oil company employees and others now do.

Members of the Haskell delegation pointed out that Stamford already has adequate water allocations and does not need the amount asked at Paint Creek.

Homer Hunter, Dallas engineer, spoke for Haskell.

"Paint Creek is one of the last few available, economical sites for water in that area," Hunter said.

He asked that all the towns have

Shell Pipeline Co. Safety Chapters Meet Tuesday

Regular quarterly meeting of the Safety Chapters of Shell Pipeline Company of Haskell and Hamlin was held in this city Tuesday evening, June 13, in the banquet room of the Texas Cafe.

Wives of Shell Company employees in the two towns were guests at a delicious steak dinner which preceded the meeting.

Interesting and instructive talks on safety in the home as well as on the job, were made by several speakers, and movie film on safety it made available to them. "Stamford," he said, "has water grants of 2,295-acre feet from Clear Fork and 2,000-acre feet from Deadman, three times what the town expects to need in 1980."

"Instead of needing more allocation, it should use what it has," Hunter declared.

State Rep. Clyde Whiteside of Seymour spoke in opposition to the Stamford petition.

"The legislature has been looking to the Board of Water Engineers. We believe you will do what is right. It is unfair to give all this water to one town."

Austin Hancock, Abilene City Manager testified in favor of Stamford saying that Abilene's interest in the application was to be relieved from obligation to release Phantom Hill water to supply Stamford.

The agreement, it was brought out, was that Abilene shall release enough water one each year to fill Stamford's reservoir.

ty was shown by J. H. Reese, area safety engineer. E. M. Owens, Shell division superintendent, presented safety driving cards to several employees.

Attending the dinner and meeting were: Division Superintendent Owens, Safety Engineer Reese, and J. W. Fisher, all of Colorado City; Messrs. and Mesdames, O. G. Harvey, P. D. Harkins, L. M. Sutherland, Noble Greer, W. L. Fuller, V. U. Anderson, C. W. Gold, J. R. McIntire and Billie Winette, all of the Hamlin station; and from Haskell Messrs. R. L. Mesdames H. F. Copeland, R. L.

9 Years In Night School Earns College Degree for Haskell Woman, Executive With St. Louis Oil Company

A Haskell woman, who has carried the responsibilities of an executive position in the oil industry and yet found time to complete requirements for a college degree by attending night school for the last nine years, earning nearly-perfect grades in her studies, was among the 2200 students who received degrees at commencement exercises June 6 at Washington University in St. Louis.

She is Miss Joan Alexander Irby, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Irby of this city, who went to St. Louis to attend the exercises and visited with her daughter a few days.

Miss Irby is advertising assistant for the central region, covering 16 midwestern states, of Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Inc. She received a bachelor of science in social science.

Dean Willis H. Reals of University College, Washington University's night school, said that it is "very unusual for a student to complete all requirements for a degree at night classes in such a comparatively short time." Miss Irby entered University College in 1941 and has attended classes three or four nights a week since.

University authorities were in high praise of Miss Irby, pointing out she had compiled a "nearly straight A" average in her scholastic work. She was the only night school student receiving a degree at commencement exercises and was named a student marshal for the ceremonies.

Roy B. Dill, advertising manager for the oil company in the St. Louis region, was not to be outdone by school authorities in praise of Miss Irby, who has been in the company's employ for 18 years. He said: "That's just another proof she is an extraordinary woman. You know, it is unusual for a woman to hold an advertising position such as she does in the oil industry."

State Democratic Committee Refuses Commissioner of Agriculture J. F. McDonald Place on Ballot

The State Democratic Executive Committee, in session at Austin Monday, voted unanimously to strike J. F. McDonald's name from the July 22 primary ballot as a candidate for commissioner of agriculture. McDonald said he would fight such action in court.

He said he would bring a mandamus action to force the committee to certify his name.

The resolution barring McDonald made a four-point accusation against the commissioner of agriculture.

It said that in 1940, 1944 and 1948 "in spite of having pledged himself to support the Democratic nominee as a prerequisite for getting his name on the Democratic Primary ballot McDonald did publicly announce that he was supporting the Republican candidates for president and vice president."

The resolution charged also that in April, 1950, McDonald visited the Panhandle in Texas and "gave aid and comfort to the Republican candidate for Congress." This referred to Ben Guill, who was elected as the first Republican congressman from Texas in 20 years.

The resolution also said "it is the finding of this committee that having breached the faith placed in him on three successive occasions that he is not acting in good faith at this time even though he is willing once again to take the party pledge."

"We find as a fact that he has over a long period of time violated his pledge to support the nominees of the Democratic Party and by reason of his consistent infidelity to the party, we find that when he takes the pledge at this time that he does so not in good faith and therefore he does not come before this committee with clean hands."

McDonald appeared before the full committee as well as before the resolutions subcommittee. He told the entire committee "I have not broken faith."

He called himself a lifelong Democrat, one who had never scratched a nominee on the state ticket. He admitted under questioning from committee members that he had voted for Republicans for president when he thought their farm programs were better than those offered by the Democratic nominees.

McDonald, an outstanding critic of the new deal and the fair deal, has been elected to office for ten terms and is now seeking reelection for an eleventh term.

The committee also by a close 28 to 24 vote that had to be verified, selected Mineral Wells as the site for the September state convention over San Antonio.

Committee member Penrose Metcalf of San Angelo said that while he agreed with the intent of the resolution on McDonald, he had some doubt as to its legality in view of past Supreme Court rulings. He offered, and the committee adopted, another resolution suggesting that the legislature pass a law making certain in the future that Democratic candidates would not turn upon and oppose their own party.

The double-barrel action was taken after committee member Bascom Gist of Tyler told the committee "let's adopt both resolutions. If the court won't uphold the first, let's follow the second."

Lubbock Future Farmer to Tour Great Britain

Alton Brazell, Lubbock, Texas, has been selected to represent the Future Farmers of America in the British Isles this summer. Alton has served as National Vice-President, State Vice-President, President of the Lubbock Future Farmer Alumni Association, and has recently been elected secretary of the State Future Farmer Alumni Association. He is an Anderson-Clayton scholarship winner. He received the American Farmer Degree in October, 1948.

At a banquet early in 1949, Alton was credited with having traveled more at his own expense to promote vocational agriculture than any other person in Texas during the past three years. He has put a lot into the organization since his initiation as a Greenhand in 1943. This was confirmed once and for all with the selection of Brazell as National Vice-President representing the Southern Region for 1948-49. During this time he spent a total of 162 days in the interest of FFA, and traveled 56,000 miles. Alton left from Chicago June 12 by plane for London. While there he will be the guest of the National Federation of Young Farmers' Clubs of Great Britain. All of his expenses to London will be paid by the Future Farmers of America. While there, his expenses will be paid by the host. He will go to Paris for a brief visit before the return trip home, and will return by air direct from Paris on September 4, landing in New York.

Popular "hardtop" styling has now been made available in Chrysler's New Yorker and Windsor lines. The sleek body style, shown here in the New Yorker Newport, combines the safety and comfort of the sedan with the smartness of the convertible. Open-car effect is accentuated by side windows and window frames which lower completely out of sight. Maximum rearward vision is provided by the "Clearbac" rear window which curves well into the permanent steel top.

Farmers Advised
To Cut and Store
Supply of Hay

Rains of the last few days over most sections of the state have generally been beneficial to the hay meadows and crops that are grown for hay. E. A. Miller, extension agronomist of Texas A.

& M. College, says farmers and stockmen should cut and store a plentiful supply of hay for it is tops among the roughage feeds.

He says there is a best time to cut every kind of hay and it varies with the crop to be harvested. If the hay crop is left too long before cutting, it becomes coarse and loses much of its feed value, especially the protein and vitamin A.

Sudan and Johnson grass should be cut as soon as the first seed heads begin to form, or even a little earlier to get the full feeding value of high quality, protein-rich hay. Cowpeas should be left until the first seed pods begin to ripen. Prairie grass, says Miller, can generally be left until time and labor are available for the haying operation, but it will lose quality if left too long.

Sweet clover should be cut for hay before the stems become tough and woody — before it blooms. He says it is important to

Social Security Man
To Be In Haskell
On June 22

For the convenience of persons wishing to file social security retirement or death claims, or needing information about their social security accounts, Ralph T. Fisher, manager of the Abilene office of the Social Security Administration will be at the Chamber of Commerce office in Haskell at 11 a. m. on Thursday, June 22.

Anyone desiring any of the services of the Social Security Administration is invited to call at that time.

leave a five or six inch stubble on the biennial sweet clover—so that they may sprout again. Alfalfa should be cut for hay when the field is one-tenth to one-fourth in bloom or when the young shoots begin to show up at the base of the plants.

If the alfalfa is a new planting, Miller says, it is a good idea to let one cutting of the crop make seed or at least go to the full bloom stage before cutting. This will give the plants a chance to develop a stronger root system, and thus increase the productive life of the field.

Legume hay, alfalfa, clovers and cowpeas, must be raked into rows before the leaves shatter. Grass hay may be left in the swath until it is fairly well cured. If a pickup baler is not used, it is best to stack the hay in small piles before the leaves shatter. Then bale or place in haystacks when it is sufficiently cured.

Two important changes take place during the hay curing process, says Miller. The water content of the plants drops from around 75 per cent to 15 or 20 per cent and the chemical change is referred to as "sweating" or fermenting. During the sweating process the hay develops an aroma and becomes more palatable, adds Miller.

One of the secrets of producing high quality hays is getting rid of the moisture in the hay as fast as possible and at the same time keeping the bright green color in the humid sections of the state, the use of artificial hay driers make possible the production of high quality hay that contains plenty of vitamin A, says Miller.

Stable Industrial Chemical Is Extracted From Cottonseed Hulls

Cottonseed hulls provide a new chemical which is one of the most versatile industrial products today, industrialists have discovered.

As furfural, the compound is an oily liquid. It is valuable in the manufacture of a variety of products ranging from home to cigars.

Manufacturers now produce furfural at less than ten pounds, according to the U. S. Farmer.

Important use for furfural is in the manufacture of synthetic products, including tires. The earliest uses of the chemical was by cigar manufacturers as a conditioner for tobacco leaves. Furfural also has been found to be of value in leather tanning.

Nylon hose require furfural in their manufacture. At the same time furfural is a useful chemical in road building. Asphalt topping sticks to the gravel and rock bed longer and gives better service when furfural is used.

Furfural penetrates wood rapidly. A process containing furfural has been found an effective method of impregnating wood piling with a potent toxic agent. The foundation of buildings and posts can be treated by this process.

Petroleum refining requires a large quantity of furfural. It is said that more lubricating oil is

Protection Urged For Wild Turkey Hens and Brood

Cooperation of Texans in protecting wild turkey hens, their eggs and their brood was solicited today by the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. Emphasis was placed on not molesting the big birds in areas recently restocked, particularly heavily populated parts of north central, northeastern and eastern Texas.

The assistant director of Wildlife Restoration explained that persons in areas unfamiliar with wild turkeys might innocently cause costly damage. He said the range of house cats and of dogs which suck eggs should be restricted.

Newly-stocked birds were not so evident to the populace before the mating and nesting period because they had been in flocks generally in wooded areas. But when the breeding begins, the birds scatter widely and are found in fields, open pastures and meadows.

"Folks noticing the turkeys are naturally curious," said the assistant director. "If they will restrain their curiosity during this crucial period, many benefits will accrue. Turkey hens are very sensitive to human contact. They don't have to see persons peering into their nests and approaching their young. They can scent them. The hens being wild, oftentimes abandon nests or young in their inherent fear of human beings."

"Touching the eggs is certain to prove disastrous, even though they are left in the nest. Persons placing eggs from 'abandoned' nests under sitting hens or under tame turkey hens are just wasting time. If the eggs hatch, the young usually perish from starvation or common poultry ailments to which they are very susceptible, or run away to become the easy prey of predators."

refined by furfural than by any other single solvent refining process.

Still another use for furfural is in disinfectants. The antiseptic properties of furfural are valuable in this biological field for disinfectant, bactericides, and fungicides.

Other uses for furfural are being found in this scientific field. Recently an agent has been made from furfural which is reported to be most successful in medical cases where antibiotics and sulfenamides have not succeeded.

Trucks supplied by Ford Motor Company are carrying replicas of the famous Liberty bell into every state of the United States to spearhead the U. S. Treasury department's Savings Bond Independence Drive. The bells were given to the Treasury by six United States copper companies. When they arrived in New York they were mounted on Ford trucks and sent to every state in the Union. The above photo shows one of the bells mounted on a Ford truck at the Brooklyn Navy yard, with the New York City skyline in the background.

FLOWERS IN BLOOM

Flowers are in bloom everywhere this spring, even on glamorous cotton formal. Floral prints are popular for fresh, appealing evening frocks for dancing on warm summer nights. This charming evening ensemble combines a dinner blouse of crisp white broadcloth and a dramatic floral print skirt of Bates cotton, the National Cotton Council says.

Science Helps To Lighten Chores of Housework

The present day homemaker can do the house cleaning chores easier and with less elbow grease than in years past because science has come to the rescue. High on the list of modern aids to the job of house cleaning are the detergents. These detergents dissolve soil, especially greasy soil, and they do it more rapidly and effectively than soap and water, says Mrs. Vee J. Howie, county home demonstration agent.

She reports that recent tests conducted by the New York Experiment Station have dug deep into the merits of the detergents for house cleaning jobs and their findings should prove to be time and labor savers for homemakers across the nation.

Mrs. Howie suggests that when you wash walls, woodwork and other painted surfaces with one of the new cleaners or shampoo upholstery and rugs, that you try gently handling instead of using so much energy rubbing and scrubbing. It will save wear on you as well as on the fabrics and finishes. When finishes and fabrics are softened and moistened with alkaline cleaners or other detergents scrubbing may cause unnecessary wear.

She says generally four steps are recommended when cleaning with water. Remove loose dirt by advance brushing or vacuum cleaning; apply the detergent solution to the surface rapidly, and use as little of the detergent as holstery or dripping down painted surfaces; remove the detergent by going over the surface rapidly with a sponge or absorbent cloth wrung out of water and dry quickly by rubbing lightly with a towel.

Directions that come with some of the wall cleaners do not suggest rinsing. She says this is probably because manufacturers have found small amounts of detergents left on the wall surface will do less damage than too much rubbing when the surface is wet.

She says avoid scouring walls, woodwork and all finished surfaces. The good cleaning materials that are available today make scouring unnecessary, even for soiled paint. Strong alkaline substances, such as washing soda or ammonia, should not be used for they are hard on paint—they dry it and in time make it flake off and they may affect the color.

In conclusion Mrs. Howie says that regardless of the cleaner used, all directions should be followed carefully. Many tests have been made with the various materials offered on the market and the recommendations offered by the manufacturers should be followed if you expect to get the best results from the product used.

Stubble Mulching Helps Curb Wind, Water Erosion

Many Haskell county farmers ask every day how they can keep their soil in condition to hold the maximum amount of water and prevent wind and water erosion. One of the answers to this question is "stubble-mulching." The crop residue, made up of stubble left from the previous crop forms a mulch, or cover on the ground and is called stubble mulch.

Stubble mulching is to cultivated land as grass cover is to a range. You have seen how little water runs off grass land where a good cover of grass is found. This run-off not only keeps the soil from absorbing all it is capable of absorbing but it permits the good top soil to be washed away. When rain drops hit the soil directly it causes the soil to run together and form a crust. After the crust is formed very little, if any, water can penetrate into the soil to be used for future crops. When a cover is on top of the ground the impact of the rain drops are absorbed and the water runs down through the mulch into the mellow textured soil which was not crusted over. Not only deeper penetration can take place but less erosion and evaporation. Test runs on land where stubble-mulching was practiced showed that the bare land lost 4 times more water and 19 times more soil than the mulched.

Stubble mulching can be practiced with the use of everyday equipment. Some of the co-operators of the California Creek Soil Conservation District have been using a one-way disk pulled very shallow, a Graham Hoeme plow with 10" sweeps, tandem disk 10" sweeps on tool bar, and dempster plows with 30" sweeps.

Now that wheat and oat harvest is here farmers should be thinking about stubble mulching as a means to increase the water holding capacity of the soil, decrease erosion, decrease evaporation, and improve soil texture which would in turn bring about more profits for the farmer next year. Additional information can be secured from your county agent, vocational agriculture instructor, soil conservation technician and other agricultural agencies cooperating with the California Creek Soil Conservation District.

Insect Damage To Texas Cotton Runs Into Millions

BRYAN, Texas, June 1—Cotton insect damage in Texas in 1949 amounted to an estimated $85,966,172, George G. Chance, chairman of the Texas unit of the National Cotton Council revealed this week in releasing statistics compiled by the Council and based on the final 1949 cotton production report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Losses in Texas last year exceeded by $26,331,172 those estimated by the Cotton Council in a preliminary, unofficial report prepared early last fall before the final cotton production estimate in December.

Boll weevil reduced the full yield in Texas approximately 3 per cent, destroyed an estimated 215,714 bales of cotton and 88,571 tons of cottonseed. The toll exacted by pests in 1949 was greater than damage in 1948 when Texas losses were estimated to have totaled $61,368,000.

Across the Cotton Belt last year insect losses, in terms of dollars and cents, were the highest in history, amounting to an estimated $616,874,186. This topped by $147,763,186 the Council's early estimate and exceeded by $67,269,186 the all time high of $550,605,000 reported in 1927. This was more than triple 1948 damage of $202,264,000. In the 13 cotton producing states in the "Weevil Belt," the boll weevil reduced the full yield 17.5. This percentage has been exceeded only five times since the record losses were first reported in 1909. Yield was reduced 31.2 per cent in 1921, 23.2 in 1922, 19.7 in 1920, 19.2 in 1923, and 18.5 in 1927.

Timely Hints For Digging, Storing Irish Potatoes

Home gardeners will soon be digging and storing their spring Irish potato crop. The length of time they can be stored will depend upon where you store them and the condition they are in when they are dug, says J. E. Hutchinson, associate extension horticultural specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

He says let the potatoes mature before digging them. Potatoes can be dug before the tops died, but they should mature if you expect to keep them in storage for any length of time. Here is a simple and easy method for checking maturity. Press the thumb against the skin of a few potatoes. If the skin is tough and doesn't break easily, the crop is ready for harvesting.

If excessive rainfall has occurred just prior to harvest, you are likely to find the potatoes covered with water blisters (small elevated white spots) on the skin. Hutchinson says harvesting should be delayed until these blisters have dried. If the potatoes are harvested when they are "sappy" or "blistered" heavy losses may result from rotting.

New Taxes Would Hit Low Income Groups

If all personal incomes in excess of $10.00 a year were confiscated by Uncle Sam, it would barely give him the additional money needed to wipe out the 5 1-2 billion deficit and finance the $1 billion first year's cost of the new Federal spending programs proposed in the 1951 budget.

Since the nation faces a choice of submitting to higher taxes or reducing Federal spending if Uncle Sam is to live within his income, the Council of State Chambers of Commerce today pointed out some of the difficulties in increasing Federal revenues.

This study revealed that if, for instance, the Federal Government set $50,000 as the maximum income that could be retained by individuals and took outright all income above $50,000, it would get only about $843 million more than it gets now from present taxes on those incomes. This $842 million would be enough to run the Federal Government only one week.

Or suppose Uncle Sam called $25,000 the most anyone could have and took everything made above that figure. That would give the Government a little over $2 billion in additional revenue. This is just a little less than the Government intends to spend on agricultural activities and subsidies alone in 1951.

But, of course, Uncle Sam would never think of taking such a big tax bite because he knows he would destroy all personal incentives to earn that much again.

The survey showed that in spite of the high taxes on incomes of $100,000 and over, Uncle Sam collected only $1.2 billion from 10,844 persons with such incomes in 1947 which is the latest year for which complete statistics are available. This total was only 6 1-2 per cent of all income taxes paid that year. And tax rates on income over $100,000 that year ranged from 67 per cent to as high as 91 per cent.

On the other hand, 51 million taxpayers reporting incomes of less than $5,000 in 1947 paid $8 1-2 billion which is 48 per cent or almost half of the income taxes collected that year.

The Council said, "There is no getting around the fact that any additional burden of taxes must fall on the lower income groups. They have two choices: submitting to more taxes or demanding cuts in present spending with a halt to new spending."

Insect Control Pays Dividends, Farmers Told

Tests in which higher cotton yields and greater profits have been gained through an effective insect control program prove that money spent for insecticides is a wise investment, the National Cotton Council reports.

Cited as an example was the yield of 700 pounds of lint cotton per acre last year on a Mississippi plantation even though surrounding fields were devastated by boll weevil. Although the cost of 10 to 12 applications of poison amounted to $18.80 per acre, this 2,000-acre operation proved to be a profitable venture at a time when many farmers in the area suffered serious losses from cotton pests. In Mississippi last year cotton insects reduced the state yield an estimated 28 per cent and inflicted damage set at $124,057,350.

Plots dusted for weevil control in one set of experiments in Arkansas last year produced an average of 1594 pounds of seed cotton to the acre. At the same time undusted plots produced only 345 pounds.

The Alabama Extension Service points out that on unspun plots the seed cotton yield was 650 pounds per acre. When application of insecticides was made, yields ranged as high as 1000 pounds per acre. The average gain in yield as a result of insect control measures amounted to an increase of approximately $44 per acre in gross income.

Cotton Council officials have alerted farmers to the need for intensive insect control programs this season because early boll weevil counts show that pest infestation may be the highest on record. Farmers should consult local county agents or vocational agriculture workers and take every precaution to prevent insect damage like the $617,874,186 net loss of last year.

Elms Can Be Grown From Seed To Provide Shade Or Windbreak

Haskell county farmers and landowners who desire additional trees for shade or windbreaks on their land will be interested in learning that native elms and many of the species that have been introduced into this country can be used to advantage around the farmstead. They make large and stately trees and their rate of growth is rapid. Such trees will not only add beauty to the farmstead but will also provide shade.

In the northern section of the state, the Chinese elm is valued as a windbreak tree as well as for its shade. This tree will thrive in other sections of the state, but it is highly susceptible to root rot and for that reason, says Saddle Hatfield, extension landscape gardening specialist of Texas A. & M. College, should not be planted in sections of the state where cotton root rot is prevalent.

The seed of the Chinese elm ripens in the spring and for best results, she says, they should be gathered and planted immediately. By fall, well tended seedlings should be large enough for use in wind-breaking plantings. The seed may be saved for planting the following spring, but she points out that many of the seed may lose their vitality and the germination will be low.

The seed of the American elm ripens in the late summer and fall and should be planted immediately. She says when it is not possible to plant either Chinese or American elm seed immediately after they have ripened, to dry them thoroughly, place them in air-tight containers and store at a temperature of 40 degrees F. until planting time.

She says many seed should be planted for each tree needed for only about one-eighth usually grow. The seed should be planted an inch or so apart in rows that are at least a foot apart. The seed should be covered with one-fourth inch of soil and the soil should be firmly packed. The young trees should be protected from birds and animals. After the trees are a few inches high, they may be fertilized the same as field or garden crops. The American elm, she says, sometimes develops a leaf spot but it can be controlled with bordeaux mixture. Elm seedlings are also susceptible to the fungus that causes damping-off but treating the soil before planting with formaldehyde will control the disease.

Wood from elm is hard, heavy and tough and can be used for many things on the average farm or ranch. Miss Hatfield adds that attractive furniture can be made from it.

Unless the soil where corn was planted this spring was supplied with plenty of nitrogen, yields will be low. The situation can be corrected through the use of a nitrate fertilizer applied now as a side dressing. Two hundred pounds per acre of ammonium nitrate or 300 pounds of sulphate of ammonia will balance the 200 to 300 pounds of 4-12-4 or 5-10-5 that was applied before the corn was planted.

Arrangement Of Farm Buildings Is Important

There are many factors that should be considered by the farm family when plans are made for laying out the farmstead. One of the most important, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer-buildings of Texas A. & M. College, is arranging the buildings for convenience. Time can be saved and inconveniences avoided by placing new buildings, including the house, in a suitable location with reference to buildings already in use on the farm.

One arrangement, suggested Allen, groups the most frequently used buildings around a barn. Plan the locations so all the buildings can be reached easily from the barn and there should be an all-weather walk from the rear of the house to the barnyard. Another suggested arrangement is to place the buildings along a straight walk that leads from the back door of the house. The first building could be a food storage building, then the garage, next the poultry laying house and on to the barn. This building that are visited the most close to the house and at the same time gets the buildings that should not be too close to the living quarters the greatest distance from the house.

The plans for new houses should include the views that can be seen from the windows, roof water disposal, turning facilities for vehicles and practical arrangement of walks. He points out that regardless of how good a house plan may be, if it doesn't suit the spot on which it is built, there is a great loss of convenience and beauty.

He says people who hunt a hill-top primarily for the view the location offers sometimes find too much wind for comfort. Fuel bills are likely to be higher; an adequate water supply is usually harder to find in such places and very often accessory buildings must be located in inconvenient places.

Allen says it is best to plan the entire farmstead just as carefully as you plan the house. Once the buildings are constructed nothing much can be done to correct a bad situation. Moving buildings is always expensive and for that reason, he says every farmstead should be planned before actual construction gets underway.
