Haskell Receives $904, Net From Albany Game

Net receipts received by the HHS athletic fund from the Indians-Lions football game played in Albany Nov. 17 amounted to $904.35, according to the financial statement covering the game released by Supt. Roy G. Hathaway of Albany.

Total receipts at the game amounted to $2,232.80 from the sale of 2,680 adult and 557 student tickets.

Federal tax amounted to $380.50, and expense for officials $63.50, making a total expense of the game $424.09.

Insect Damage To Texas Cotton Crop $107 Million

Insect damage to the 1950 cotton crop in Texas amounted to approximately $107,035,000, destroying 11 per cent of the total harvest, according to an unofficial preliminary estimate compiled by the National Cotton Council. Geo. G. Chance, chairman of the Texas unit of the Council, said Wednesday.

"Insects kept approximately 456,000 bales of cotton and an estimated 187,000 tons of cottonseed off the market this year. Based on average prices, this lint would have brought Texas farmers some $91,119,000 and the seed would have meant an additional profit of $15,916,000," the Council spokesman said.

"Through the Cotton Belt," Mr. Chance said, "an estimated 16.5 per cent of the crop, valued at approximately $598,565,000 was destroyed. In dollars and cents, losses in 1950 were second highest on record, exceeded only by 1949 when damage amounted to more than $617 million."

Chairman Chance announced that the National Cotton Council will hold its 4th annual Cotton Insect Control Conference in Memphis, December 7-8, to discuss insect damage in Texas and other Cotton Belt states. This conference at the Hotel Peabody will bring together state and federal entomologists, representatives of the insecticide industry, agricultural education workers, and cotton industry leaders to plan an integrated program of cotton insect control for 1951.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Small businessmen seeking defense contracts in Washington are saying that they are confused.

"But," they report, "as confused as we get, it is nothing compared to the confusion we find in bureaus."

Here is an example of how this feeling of confusion is created. The Defense Production Act of 1950 is quite clear. The Act provides explicitly what agencies should have the power to set up priorities and allocations.

Yet, an agency not given that authority, the Rubber Reserve Section of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has through some unknown means, taken over the allocation of "Camelback," used by small business engaged in repairing and recapping tires.

Justification for this move of questionable legality by which a bureau seizes new powers is based on alleged "know-how" in handling allocation of this material without inconveniencing the public or industry.

But the rule for allocation of this material set up by the Rubber Reserve Section of the R.F.C. is held to be quite elastic, indeed.

For example, for anyone to get an R.F.C. loan, it is necessary for the applicant to establish credit responsibility.

But the reverse is true to secure an allocation of tire servicing materials from the R.F.C. The applicant to qualify for an allocation must first prove irresponsibility and show that his financial position is precarious, or even destitute, to get supplies.

This has led observers to comment that the R.F.C. is writing new social doctrine.

©National Federation of Independent Business

The doctrine is "financial irresponsibility in many lines of business besides haberdashery is now officially recognized as a virtue."

Other examples of bureaucratic fantasy are creating extensive comment; may result in a full scale investigation after elections.

A contract for 100,000 steel lockers has been awarded to a large tire manufacturer with no qualifications for the work. Throughout the nation there are thousands of small steel fabricating firms who could have handled the order as a routine matter.

Other evidence shows that the time-honored American practice on all public purchasing, from local school boards to national bureaus, has been thrown out the window. That practice is the well established one of advertising contracts for the lowest bids.

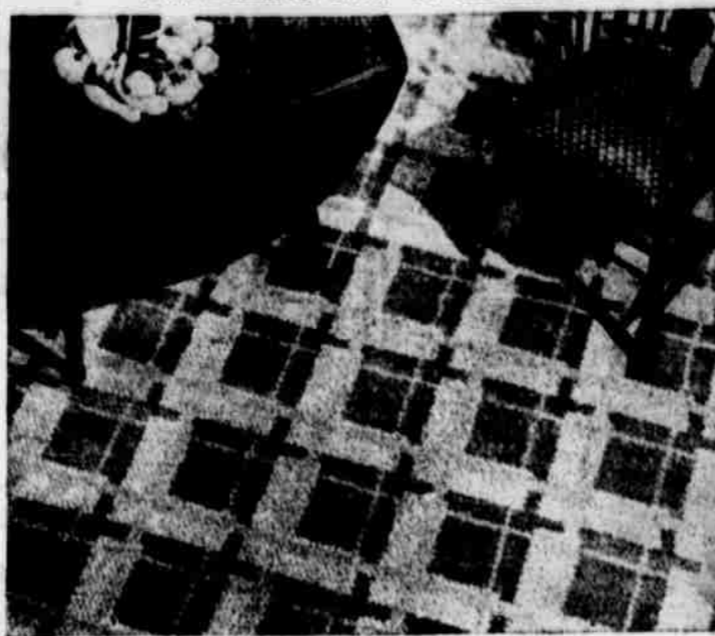

But Hubert E. Howard, Chairman of the Munitions Board, has already gone on record with a statement that 90% of this year's mobilization buying will be done by negotiated contracts. He said there is no need to pamper small business.

This statement, observers say, is very significant. The involved mental processes of bureau policy makers have arrived at the conclusion that securing the lowest possible prices is really, after all, merely "pampering" small business.

But at the same time, wide publicity is being given to the fact that, due to increased costs, the recent defense appropriations will not buy as much as they were intended to buy. In World War II the GI's had a word for it: SNAFU.

SOMETHING NEW IN HOME FASHIONS

This season something new has been added to home fashions. For the first time, figured broadloom rugs have been designed in fine cotton. The new casual cotton broadlooms were designed by Karastan rug fashionists to harmonize with the American informal home furnishings trend. The clear, brilliant colors and luxurious textures of this new group of casual cotton floor coverings are created for modern American furnishings or period designs which reflect the simplicity of the modern trend.

TWO-IN-ONE

This smart, tailored cotton raincoat is a two-in-one fashion, reversing to become a coat of a different color. The cotton fabric is Zelan treated to give protection from rain and snow, the National Cotton Council reports.

Colds Frequently Lead to Serious Sinus Troubles

Among the most frequent causes of sinus trouble are infections of the nose and throat like the common cold, influenza, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough and diphtheria, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Exposure and chilling of the skin, poor diet, fatigue, allergies, infected teeth or tonsils, enlarged adenoids or other nasal obstructions also may cause sinus infection.

Blowing the nose violently, diving or swimming with the nose under water may force infectious material into the sinuses. Frequent use of sprays, oils and antiseptics in the nose may injure the mucous membrane and bring on sinus infection.

General resistance to sinus infection can be built up by observing the rules of good physical and mental health. Get plenty of rest, good food and exercise. Protect your body from sudden changes in temperature and from exposure to extreme cold or heat. Don't expose yourself to infections, since colds and other infections of nose, throat and chest are often forerunners of sinus trouble.

Rest in bed and medical care for respiratory ailments are wise precautions against complications. A stuffy nose is not necessarily a symptom of sinus infection; he may give you medicine to relieve the situation. But you should use nose drops, inhalants and salves only if your doctor recommends them.

Authorities Offer Solution for Flameproofing

Although no "fireproofing" solution for the highly combustible Yule tree has been officially tested and recognized, it is now possible to safeguard many flammable holiday decorations, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

A mixture the fire authorities suggest is one that will make party decorations, children's costumes and even some of their especially hazardous toys fire-retardant. If they should catch fire, they might char a little, but they won't blaze up spreading the fire.

The rinse consists of 9 ounces of borax, 4 ounces of boric acid and one gallon of warm water. Mix the borax and half the water until dissolved, then mix the boric acid with the rest of the water. Combine the two and dip the garments to be flameproofed in the mixture.

Anything that's safe in water can be rinsed in the solution. It should be applied each time the material is washed, since the mixture washes off. For heavy drapes or furniture upholstery, the solution can be sprayed on.

Also available are commercially packed compounds which may be more satisfactory for use on certain fabrics.

Feeding Herd Now Will Pay Off In Spring

"Next spring's calf crop percentage will depend a lot on what's done this fall and winter with the brood herd," a timely editorial in The Livestock Weekly pointed out.

"There are too many beef herds that are hitting well below 50 per cent on calf crops," the editorial added. "In most cases, a protein supplement will go a long way in balancing the ration of the winter cow, and upping the calf crop."

Experimental evidence backs up this editorial advice. Many experiments show that each dollar spent for needed protein supplements returns two dollars in more and heavier calves.

California Experiment Station, in an 8-year experiment, found that feeding a winter supplement, mostly cottonseed meal or cake, produced from 11 to 45 per cent more calves, and calves from cows fed the supplement weighed 21 to 95 pounds more.

The Nebraska Station doubled the calf crop percentage and increased weaning weights by 39 to 77 pounds per calf when cottonseed cake was fed as the winter supplement to prairie hay.

There is a good reason why such supplements as cottonseed meal, cake or pellets increase the number of calves and their weaning weights. Protein is essential for regular breeding, development of strong calves, and milk production. Excellent green pasture contains a lot of protein, but protein drops rapidly as grass matures. Mature grasses usually contain only about one-third as much protein as they had when green.

Then, supplemental protein is needed to maintain good performance in the herd and aid utilization of the available dry forage.

Best results are obtained when supplemental feeding starts early in the season. When cows lose weight they are drawing on their reserves and weight losses are costly to replace with later feeding. Cows that enter the more severe part of winter in good flesh because of early supplemental feeding are easier to maintain and are usually in vigorous condition to calve and produce milk for the young calf.

As grasses become dry in the fall, start bred cows on 1-2 to 1 pound of cottonseed cake, per head daily. As winter progresses, increase the daily allowance to 1 to 2 pounds. After calving, feed 2 to 3 pounds, per head daily, to insure good milk production for the young calf and maintain good condition for prompt breeding when bulls are turned into the pasture.

When plenty of dry grass is not available, some dry roughage or silage is needed. Under usual conditions, feed cows 5 to 10 pounds of dry roughage when grazing is short or weather is severe. When grazing is extremely short or when cattle are confined to lots in severe weather, feed 15 to 20 pounds of dry roughage or 40 to 50 pounds of silage. Cattle raisers in Cotton States find that cottonseed hulls are economical and easy to feed when dry roughage is needed.

A good mineral mixture is especially needed in fall and winter seasons because the phosphorus content of forage drops as it matures. During this season cottonseed meal or cake has added value because its high phosphorus content helps insure sufficient phosphorus consumption by cattle.

RETURNS TO HOME IN PAMPA

More Oil Pay Indicated In Stonewall

Show of gas and recovery of clean oil was reported on a drill-stem test of the Canyon reef time last week in Seaboard Oil Co. No. 1 W. F. Edwards Estate, section 318, block 2, H&TC survey, southwestern Stonewall county.

Covering all of the open hole section between 5,215 and 5,336 feet, tool was open 2 3-4 hours on the test. Gas was at the surface in 20 minutes. Recovery was 1,700 feet of drilling mud and 3,300 feet of pipe line oil, with no water.

Core from 5,336 to 5,376 feet then recovered 40 feet of dense, tight lime, having very slight oil shows. Another drillstem test was under way.

Previously, the section was acidized with 5,000 gallons while hole was bottomed at 5,314 feet. Swabbing tests then recovered eight to nine barrels of oil hourly and deepening was ordered.

Another Stonewall wildcat is reported planned near the common corners of King, Knox and Haskell Counties, with contract to 6,200 feet for a test of the Ellenburger.

Sid Katz, San Antonio, and R. H. Venable will drill the test, with location either 467 feet or 660 feet out of the northwest corner of the Ruthy Campbell survey.

There are several producers in the Juliana pool, 2 1-2 miles east in Haskell, and one Strawn producer four miles west in the recently opened Kiowa Peak pool of Stonewall.

Humble to Sponsor
Broadcast of A&M And U of T Game

The Southwest's annual Thanksgiving Day football feature—the traditional University of Texas-A&M game—will be broadcast Thursday afternoon by Humble Oil & Refining Company.

Senior rivalry of the Southwest Conference, the colorful holiday meeting between the two state schols has added importance this year because of the records of the two teams—as Texas seeks to remain undefeated in Southwest Conference play and among the top handful of the nation's teams finish to its bright season.

Kern Tips will call the play-by-play while Alec Chesser describes color at Austin's Memorial Stadium, with a packed-house crowd of over 68,000. The broadcast time will be 1:50 p. m. on stations KRLD, Dallas; KFDX, Wichita Falls; KRBC, Abilene.

Pre-Thanksgiving
Program Held at Curry Chapel

A Thanksgiving revival, which began Wednesday night, Nov. 22, was held at the Curry Chapel Baptist Church, conducted by the pastor.

Polly Green gave a reading, "We're Glad You Came Tonight," followed by a duet by Melba and Jess Kreger, and the closing prayer by Jess Kreger.

Following the program, a very interesting Thanksgiving message was brought by Rev. Moreland.

How Do You MEASURE a Life Insurance Man?

WHAT we mean is this—if you are about to invest in life insurance, on what basis do you choose your agent? Don't let it be a first-come first-served hit-or-miss process of selection. Measure him, and be sure that—

He represents a financially sound, well managed company.

He understands your particular life insurance needs.

He knows his business well and that you can accept his counsel with complete confidence.

He will provide continuing service in planning and adjusting your insurance program throughout your lifetime.

The confidence of Texans in Southwestern Life and its agency force has been well demonstrated for 48 years. Texans, by their investments in Southwestern Life Insurance, have made this the largest life insurance company in the nation operating exclusively within one state (Texas).

Today a quarter million Texans own more than 800 million dollars of Southwestern Life insurance. These figures are important; they strongly support the conclusion that Southwestern Life agents measure up!

1. First picking, August 23; Second Picking, August 31. Cotton planted April 27, 1950.
2. Lint length expressed in thirty-seconds of an inch.
3. Boll size expressed as number of bolls required to weigh one pound.
4. The difference in yield between any two varieties shown must equal or exceed 38 pounds to give odds of 19 to 1 and 51 per cent give odds of 99 to 1 that such difference is real and not due to chance.
5. Percentage storm loss computed by expressing the number of missing locks as a percentage of the total number of locks before a severe storm of Sept. 10. All varieties were defoliated with a spray defoliant, August 17.

It will be noted that the acreage yield of Lankart 57 cotton was 383 lbs. of lint — the average yield of the varieties was 367 lbs. After storm loss is deducted, the net yield of Lankart 57 is 370 lbs. lint per acre that of the other varieties is 171 lbs. on an average. The storm loss of Lankart 57 was 13 lbs. per acre — loss on the other varieties average 196 pounds per acre. Stormproofness in cotton is insurance that costs nothing. It is also interesting to compare Lankart 57 cotton with the other varieties in Earliness, Grade, Length, Size of Boll, % Five Locks, and Lint Percentage.

In the Asa, McLennan Co. Texas Community insect control demonstration conducted by K. P. Ewing, Chief, Bureau of Entomology, Cotton Insect Control Div., which resulted in producing the earliest average crop, high grade staple and highest acreage yield — many of the growers producing over a bale per acre — in Central Texas. The variety of cotton planted by the growers was Lankart 57.
