of the Bicentennial Committee. Each gave a report on suggested projects and proposed ways of completing them. Heritage projects will salute our past. Festival projects will be celebrations during the present, and Horizon projects will improve our county in the future. Clubs, groups, organizations, and individuals which are planning projects are urged to contact members of the permanent committee this week and explain what projects they are planning. The planned projects must be outlined and submitted to state and national Bicentennial headquarters before Haskell will be officially recognized as a Bicentennial community. Following the approval of projects a presentation will be made to the committee and members of the City Council and Commissioners Court by the state bicentennial commission. During the meeting Rex Felker urged that committee members solicit written histories of pioneer families in Haskell County. The histories may be completed by families that have lived in Haskell County for 50 years or over. Forms which request the necessary information are available from Felker. Present plans call for the family histories, along with the histories of county churches, clubs and organizations, to be published and bound in book form. Don Comedy explained to those present that the main reason for requesting a combined City-County committee was to give the smaller communities in the county the opportunity to be officially recognized and participate in the bicentennial celebration without completing the multitudes of paper work required to be recognized. Charles Thornhill told the committee members, "We've got some good things going. Let's get together and improve on them." He also said that the possibilities for bicentennial projects are unlimited. Following a round-table discussion and question and answer session, the meeting was closed with the Pledge of Allegiance led by John Wayne McDermott. Persons, clubs, churches and individuals are urged to contact any of the following to suggest projects by next Monday if possible. Members of the permanent committee include: Jane McAdoo, Charles Thornhill, Don Comedy, John Wayne McDermott, Opal Adkins, Odell Bynum, Mattie Merle Felker or Rex Felke.

Fund Started For Haskell Individual

A fund to help the Rev. Ronnie Timms has been started by Royce Williams at Haskell National Bank. Money from the fund will be used to defray expenses of upcoming surgery and hospital expenses when Timms will have his left leg amputated. The upcoming surgery will be the fifth time he has had major surgery on the leg. The leg was injured March 14, 1971 in an oil field accident and has never completely healed. Timms was ordained a Baptist Minister March 1, 1974 and since that time has been pastor of Central Baptist Church in Haskell. He has tried several times to keep jobs in filling stations but was unable to do so because of the injured leg. Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund may contact Royce Williams or see any teller at Haskell National Bank. Williams will be administrator of the fund. Ronnie was raised in Throckmorton and has lived in Haskell intermittently since 1963. He and his wife, Martha, have two children, Keith 9 and Gayla, 4. He became pro-tem pastor of Central Baptist in 1973. He receives no salary from the church which is trying to pay for the church building. During an interview with the Free Press last week Williams said, "We are all asked to give to many things. Some are more worthy than others and I feel like this is one of them."

Rites Held For Longtime Resident

GENE HUNTER

Gene Hunter, 72, longtime Haskell resident and retired merchant, died March 29, at Haskell Memorial Hospital. He came to Knox County as a small boy and moved to Haskell in 1921. He began employment in Haskell at Grissom's Dry Goods Store and later opened his own tailor shop in 1944. Shortly after that, he opened Hunter's Mens Wear Store which he owned and operated until his retirement in 1971. An active civic leader for many years, he had served on the Haskell City Council and the Industrial Commission. He was also a member of the Lions Club and Rotary Club and was president of Haskell County Sheriff's Posse Riding Club for many years. Born April 7, 1902 in Eastland, he was a veteran of the U.S. Army having served during World War II. He married Margaret Tryheart March 6, 1944 in Fort Smith, Ark. Lions Have Roast As Program

Members of the Haskell Lions Club were treated to an unusual and humorous program during Tuesday's luncheon meeting at the Haskell Steak House. Lion President Doyle High was "roasted" by three club members and his wife as a special April Fools Day program. Participation on the program were Lions, Gene Long, Bob Brown and Bill Kemp. Each of the three and Doyle's wife, Roberta, took several minutes in poking fun and making humorous remarks about the Lion President. In return Doyle spoke very briefly and with only a few well chosen and extremely witty remarks equaled the performance of the four written speeches. Several times during the meeting the program was halted because of laughter and on occasion some club members received a portion of the ribbing. Discussion is currently underway to make the "roast" an annual affair in honor of the Lions Club President. Introduced as guests at the meeting were H. T. Melton, guest of Lion Royce Adkins; Mae Herren, guest of her husband, Bud; and Roberta High. Lion Darold Roberson led the song session accompanied by Jo Overton at the piano.

County Women Named C/F Chairpersons

Three Haskell County women have been named chairmen of the Breath of Life Campaign to fight children's lung diseases, according to Chuck Laurent, president of the Lone Star Chapter, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. They are Mrs. Odell Helweg, Haskell, Mrs. Mabel Derr, Weinert, and Mrs. Sam Turner, Rule. They will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and care programs for children affected by lung-damaging diseases like cystic fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, and a condition called "childhood emphysema". Cystic fibrosis, an incurable genetic disease, is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene for C/F. It is believed that one in twenty persons or 10 Million Americans may carry the C/F gene, usually without knowing it. Current research funded by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify these carriers. Because of improved therapy and constant research, many C/F patients are living beyond infancy to their teens and into young adulthood.

EAT WELL FOR LESS

By Barbara Elliott
County Extension Agent (Home Economics)

Sensible food shopping is important to every homemaker, and it doesn't happen automatically.

A plan of action helps get the shopping trip organized. This can include tentative menus for a week, based on the Basic Four Food Guide, and a shopping list based on these menus.

Write out a list and don't rely on memory—the list will help avoid impulse buying.

Watch the newspaper for advertised specials and bargains. And in the store, watch for unadvertised specials. These may cause a change in the menus, so the plan of action should be fairly flexible.

Turning to specific advice, compare quality and prices at different stores. It's usually desirable to pick a convenient, reasonably priced store and stay with it.

Compare quality and prices of store brands as well as national brands. Sometimes store brands may be cheaper and a better buy. Reading the label will help consumers compare nutritional information to determine which is the best buy.

Purchase the right quantity to fit the family's needs. As a rule, larger quantities of staples may be cheaper. But if they spoil before being used, they're no bargain.

One important consideration in making a plan of action is family preference. The plan should be flexible enough to meet the needs of the changing market also.

191 Attend Josselot Reunion

The descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Josselot met for a Family Reunion at the Haskell Co. Country Club Easter weekend.

Honorary Co. Chairwomen were Mrs. Ardonia Josselot Toliver and Mrs. Esther Josselot King, the only two surviving of the eleven Josselot children.

Officers elected were: Bailey Toliver, President; Mrs. Doris Reeves, Sec.; Mrs. Eloise Perrin, Reporter and Mrs. Alma Terrell, Historian.

March 29, the birthdate of Mr. Josselot in 1846, had been an occasion for a get-together for many years during the 1920's and early 1930's. Just before dinner, Bailey Toliver, Master of Ceremonies, ask Mrs. Paul Josselot to give a prayer. Then those present sang "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Paul Josselot and Mrs. Chang Cousins of Huntsville, Texas. Various games, mostly 84 were enjoyed by the group of 161 who attended.

Registration began Sunday morning. At lunch time, Mrs. Ophelia Medford repeated a prayer, "Thanks for the Food" in French. The prayer was the same as the grandchildren had heard Granddad Josselot, prepared by Lewis Thomas, Melvin Josselot, Olen King and others, with all the trimmings were enjoyed.

After a short business meeting, in which the same officers were elected for next year, Mrs. Nancy Toliver reviewed a book of history "An Heritage to Cherish" she had compiled and written.

The Master of Ceremonies recognized the children present of the original nine children: Lydia Turnbow, Felix Josselot, Dave Josselot, Paul Josselot, Andrew Josselot, Annie Thomas, Ardonia Toliver, Esther King and Jesse Josselot.

Pot plants of Easter Lilies were presented to Mrs. Ardonia Toliver and Mrs. Esther King. Others recognized were: Mr. Luther Toliver—oldest person present; Amber Marie Josselot—youngest person present (3 months old) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Josselot, Flatonia; Mr. and Mrs. Bus Medford, Dover, Ohio—longest distance—over 1,200 miles.

Scrapbooks and old pictures were displayed and enjoyed.

Total registration for Sunday was 193.

A prayer by J. L. Toliver Jr. dismissed the group to return to their respective homes in Texas and Ohio.

Naomi Class Has Easter Breakfast

The Naomi S.S. Class of the First Baptist Church met Saturday morning at the Haskell Steak House for their annual Easter breakfast. The tables were decorated with centerpieces of paper mache Easter eggs filled with tiny spring flowers and blossoming tree limbs.

Miss Mildred Manoff, social chairman, introduced Mrs. Georgeann Meadors, who brought a very inspiring devotion. She brought the story "The 20th Century Martha and Mary". She used Mary as an example for our lives today and that Mary had chosen the most important things. Also, she brought out our modern day Marthas and how they go around in circles and accomplish nothing. Her closing thought was we were bought with a price and what a privilege we have to carry out Christ's work in our daily lives. Mrs. Lois Sherman closed the meeting with prayer.

Those attending the breakfast were: Una Pidcoe, Mattie Muriel Felker, Clara Beard, Betty Jo Clanton, Eleanor Wheeler, Ardith Reynolds, Mildred Mancill, Frances Lane, Vivian Roberson, Allene Wheatley, Clytee James, Della Medford, Opal Adkins, Lois Sherman, Ethel Lou Shelton and two guests, Artie May Burkett and Georgeann Meadors.

Will Your Child Be Hungry In 1986?

Editors Note: The following article will be presented as a series in the next several editions of the Haskell Free Press. All statistics quoted in the article were obtained from factual publications.

When beef prices plummeted, they stopped all imports immediately to protect their food producers. They know what hunger is and are not taking any chances on being dependent on foreign governments for food.

When the scarcity of fossil fuel has America on the torture rack and famine is stalking the earth, red meat production is this country's "ace-in-the-hole" for food. There are almost 900 million acres in the United States which are too rough or too dry to produce food fit for human consumption. These do grow grass and browse which ruminant animals can convert into food for humans, fiber to clothe them and leather to shoe them. Beef has every amino acid the body needs—the amount and quality of protein no other one food can provide. The beef, lamb, and other life essentials grown on this vast acreage is produced with relatively small amounts of fossil fuel and no fertilizer.

Where it takes 30 acres to pasture one cow, a small ranch sounds like a vast land holding, contributing to the myths about ranchers. Using a few examples of exploitation and abuse of private land, the news media has made sensational stories of bad, rich, old ranchers living in idle luxury while exploiting all resources for his greedy gain—tarring all ranchers with the same brush and leaving urban America with the impression it would be morally justified to rid the country of such scourges. Most urbanites are unaware of the existence of that mass of hardworking, conscientious, small food producers who were grappling with the practical problems of conservation and the environment when "ecology" was just a word in the dictionary to the rest of the nation. Without realizing they are contributing to the destruction of one of the most vital sources of their food, sincere urban people join in abetting the theoretical environmental and ecological witch hunts.

Now the plague of false information has infiltrated top echelons of government. Cowmen gasped in disbelief when a high official said it takes 8 pounds of grain to produce 1 pound of beef. The truth is 75% or more of all feed consumed by cattle is grass, forage and by-products which are completely inedible to humans. It takes 3 pounds of grain to produce a pound of grain-finished beef and highly nutritious, very palatable baby beef can be produced with almost negligible amount of grain. The dangers to America's food supplies of governmental policies based on fallacious misinformation are incalculable. Only an informed public concerned enough to take positive action to protect their source of food can put a stop to this.

Looking at what has been done to the beef producers, other food producers wonder who will be next. There is no way of knowing what way-out theory or fallacy will be governmentally imposed on them. Many can no longer see risking their financial investments and future to the triple jeopardy of weather catastrophes, economic juggernauts, and the governmental boondoggling of political expediency of the moment—they are quietly leaving the field. NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC, September, 1974, has a realistic account of Iowa farmers—they were vanishing at the rate of 70 per day in 1973. Young people with the genetic stamina, temperament, and desire to follow their generations of forefathers in producing food are leaving their heritage to pursue less plagued vocations.

There is macabre irony in President Ford's telling grain producers to grow all they can. That's what the President told beef producers two years ago. They did produce it and even though the government disrupted beef markets and contributed to the problems in other ways, there was complete indifference about what producers could do with this surplus food produced at governmental request. Grain growers laughingly conjecture about whether they will be foolish enough to fall into the same trap.

Food producers respected and accepted without question all adverse consequences of the supply-and-demand factor essential to free enterprise until they realized foreign governments are being allowed to control and exploit our food markets, i.e. Japan buying our grain to trade for cheap oil, while our own government makes no effort to benefit our lagging economy with the potential value of our food products.

America's farmers and ranchers cannot control international politics or establish order and efficiency in food marketing and distribution systems. These are governmental functions.

Food producers cannot feed a hungry world alone. Responsible governmental action to insure marketing and distribution systems equitable to our farmers and ranchers is essential, too. Without these, asking them to risk over-production by growing all they can is asking them to produce their own destruction and destroy America's source of food at the same time.

It is incredible that this situation can exist in a world where 700 million people are already facing starvation and the world population is increasing at the rate of 70 million per year. The millennial good growing weather the world has enjoyed for thirty years has ended and wide spread droughts have devastated vast areas that had been productive.

Yet our government continues to play games with the most highly productive food producers the world has ever known. They can only be saved by a loud demand from the 98% of Americans who are "eating without raising". "Jawboning" won't grow food—if it isn't turned a complete about-face to protect our nation's food producers at home and promote its value abroad to procure oil and other raw materials we need, our politicians and bureaucrats may well make Samson with his jawbone of an ass look like Tinker Belle.

Teacher Featured In Newsletter

Tom Kutch, vocational ag teacher of Rule High School was featured in an article in NewsScene, March edition. NewsScene is a newsletter of Educational Service Center, Region 14, located in Abilene.

The article spoke of Rule's ornamental horticulture unit which is in its second year of operation and how it came into being because of a desire to expand the vocational agriculture program.

The greenhouse was built without any hired labor. According to Lavon Beakley, superintendent of school, Mr. Kutch performed 99% of the labor himself; the other 1% was done by students in his vocational ag classes. The pipe for the buildings framework was on hand. Sheets of treated fiberglass were screwed onto the pipe using several hundred pounds of screws. The students gained practical experience when they helped mix and pour concrete floors and build storage cabinets and shelves.

After the building was finished and the administration had spent between $2,000 and $2,500, they applied for a grant from the state to put the program into operation. The awarded grant furnished 71 percent of the cost of the operation. This money has been spent on equipment, such as the heating and cooling systems which are electronically controlled, as is the watering systems. Six different water lines can be set, each to water a different amount at different intervals of time. The tables which hold the seedlings and the potted plants were built by Mr. Kutch out of a special wood which is impervious to damage by water or humidity. The lumber alone cost $1,000.

Despite the high cost of setting up the operation (which would have been much higher if the school had been forced to hire the labor), the program is self-supporting. Half of the 28' x 56' building is used for growing tomatoes which is sold wholesale to grocery stores.

In the other half of the greenhouse plants are grown from both seedlings and cuttings. Two rooms have been added at the rear of the building, one for potting the plants, the other for mixing the potting soil and experimenting with different mixtures of soil.

Formerly the school had always bought mums commercially to sell at homecoming games. This year the students in the horticulture unit grew the mums, sold them to the high school girls who in turn decorated the mums with the usual ribbons and etc, and then sold them to be worn at homecoming. With no florist in Rule the nearest is at Haskell. Often the horticulture unit will sell plants to this florist who then sells them to the general public.

The number of students in the horticulture unit is limited to 10. The ideal behind the program at its inception was an interest course for those students who's interest had not been captured so far. Now the popular course is limited mainly to seniors and is open to both boys and girls.

Rotarians View Judicial Film

The Haskell Rotary Club held their regular weekly meeting at the City Cafe at noon, Thursday, March 27, with president Ferrell Coston, presiding.

Rotarian Charles Thornhill, substituting for Bob Brown, who was unable to attend, presented the days program in the form of a most interesting and educational film entitled, "Liberty and justice for all".

The film is one of several made by the Texas Bar Association to educate and inform the people of America's Judicial system. This particular film was the result of three months of preparation by members of the bar association who interviewed 1,387 people from all walks of life in Texas, regarding their thinking on the present system. Statistics compiled as a result of the survey, showed that fifty percent of crimes are committed by persons from broken homes.

District Attorney Royce Adkins was present to answer questions at the completion of the presentation and he explained numerous phases of our judicial system and the why's and wherefores to questions asked from members.

One of particular interest was an example of a person given a fifteen year term in prison. He explained that he was due for consideration for probation at the end of five years but that each inmate of a penal institution was automatically
