City Fathers Hear Of Problems

Members of the Haskell City Council met in regular session Tuesday night at the City Hall with Mayor Belton Duncan presiding at the meeting.

Mayor Duncan opened the meeting with the invocation which was followed by the approval of the minutes of the preceding meeting.

Jimmy Crawford, of Haskell Monument Company, met with the council to discuss vandalism on and around his place of business. He requested that the council consider the employment of more law enforcement officers in an effort to halt the vandalism. Following a discussion on the subject, members of the council agreed to consider several possibilities before adding the expense of more law enforcement officers. One of the most promising possibilities was the scheduling of law enforcement officers of City, County, and State levels so that 24 hour patrolling would be provided.

Mayor Duncan reported to the council that the city had received a sales tax check for $2,769.42 for the period of Feb. 18 to April 4. He explained that the city's portion of the sales tax have began arriving on a monthly basis rather than once each quarter.

In other council action, the city fathers re-appointed R. C. Couch, Jr. as a director of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority.

H. K. Henry met with members of the council to request assistance to improve the programming of Cen-Tex Cable Co. in Haskell. Members of the council agreed that individual subscribers to the TV cable service should make their wishes known to the cable company and that council action would be discussed only if requested in the form of a petition from cable subscribers.

Mayor Duncan read a letter from General Telephone to Bryan Sloan regarding the telephone company rate increase request. Mayor Duncan stated that he had not heard from Sloan recently. Sloan, a Certified Public Accountant was hired by the council to study the rate increase request and report his findings back to the council. The letter read by the mayor contained information requested by Sloan for his study.

Over 700 Vote-Approve 2 Amendments

A much larger than expected voter turnout in Haskell County approved two constitutional amendments Tuesday in a special state election.

Amendment number one which would increase benefits to retired state employees passed by a margin of 462 for and 259 against.

Amendment number two, which would increase state legislators salaries by 50% and increase expense money, passed 370 for and 355 against.

They also received six participation awards and each received a special Olympics T-shirt. Also shown is Mrs. Eve Gray, director of the training center. (Staff Photo)

Financing Is Big Problem

In recent weeks, school administrators, school boards, have been very concerned with proposals before the legislature which will affect public schools in the future.

The present plan of financing schools has been institutional. Mr. Dolph Briscoe has proposed plan of school introduced in the House (House Bill 1083, Bill 478) which has the most controversial proposed plans.

Senator R. K. Sams expressed concern about the Governor's and given several reasons why he feels the bill should be passed.

Costs (taxes) would increase in many schools to the point that the schools would be forced out of operation or be hard-pressed to pay enough taxes to maintain the school. The Governor would take the full value on all property at 60¢ per $100.00 whereas the Texas Teachers Association assesses 35¢ and the Education Agency bill assesses 25¢ per $100.00.

The Local Fund (the amount raised from the local school district) would increase from $71,000 to $258,000 for the Haskell Independent School District.

Among those planning to attend the convention are: Mayhall Quartet of Abilene, Key City Quartet of Abilene, Plainview Quartet, the Dustert Trio, the Cisco Quartet, Brazos Valley Quartet and many others.

Several fine directors including: Curtis Shurtlaff of Colorado City, Charley Bollen of Roscoe, Elmer Ray of Abilene, Pete Tyrone of Cisco

A minimum foundation program is the minimum guidelines which state what a school will consist of.

To go to a minimum foundation in Haskell would mean that Haskell ISD would have to pay teachers and have a higher teacher to pupil ratio.

Other things that might happen under a minimum foundation program is the loss of teacher's aides and the resource room concept of special education.

To go to a minimum foundation program in Haskell as in most other rural schools would lower the quality of education according to most school officials.

The TSTA bill would base school financing on about the same system as it now is with only minor changes. The bill would also raise teachers salaries from $6,600 base to $10,000 base.

Most Legislators feel that the state simply cannot afford this salary increase.

In a recent letter to the Free Press State Representative Bill Healy stated:

"...You can readily see it is going to raise our ad valorem taxes considerably and with the price of cattle and cotton as it is, I believe this will put the agriculture industry out of business entirely."

Rep. Healy's comments were directed toward the Governor's proposed plan.

Supt. Sams has indicated that should the Governor's bill be passed during this session of the Legislature it would be impossible to institute the necessary changes before the next school year.

The bills are currently in sub-committee and it is impossible to predict which, if any, will be passed by the legislature and what they will contain at the time of passage.

District Conservationist

Years ago, the country's tremendous problems about by erosion, and damage, and storms. In 1935, a new Soil Conservation Service was created to combat threats that threatened millions of cropland. The Soil Conservation Service began with landowners by using means of erosion, but it became that really effective work was done when landowners led themselves. President Roosevelt recommended that each state enact laws to landowners and to form units to Soil Conservation Rallying to the call, Puerto Rico, and islands, enacted the formulation of Water Conservation districts set out to focus on land and water on all privately-owned, develop annual range programs to solve the problems, list all the appropriate available from private sources. Over 3,000 conservation districts, covering 97 percent of all privately-owned lands, have formed in mutual concern to protect, conserve, and improve the world we live in. Typically, a conservation district has five supervisors, elected by local landowners. The supervisors work with the Soil Conservation Service District conservationist and other agencies in helping the landowner apply conservation measures on his land. More than two million landowners are voluntarily planning and applying conservation measures in local soil and water conservation districts. They are helping to control erosion, improve water supplies, prevent floods, curtail pollution, and develop recreational areas. The National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts (NACD), organized by district leaders in 1946, is the means by which the districts make their cause known and voice heard. George R. Bagley, cotton farmer and real estate developer of St. Joseph, Louisiana, is president of the NACD. "This land is more than a place to live," Bagley said. "It holds our future. How well we treat it will ultimately determine how well we live." "Conservation and wise development of our natural

Reddy's helpful tips for your Room Air-Conditioners

Your air-conditioner will operate inefficiently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint, collected on the filters, restricts air flow to the coils. Clean filters every two weeks.

Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw draperies against afternoon sun.

Remember to keep outside doors, windows, and fireplace dampers closed. If you have window units, close the heating vents near the floor, as cool air falls and can escape through vents.

You purchased fine-home comfort when you bought your air conditioning unit. Properly maintained, it will offer you years of efficient service. A once-a-year check-up by your dealer pays dividends in savings on operating and breakdown costs.

Colonel Red Blank, coach of so many great Army football teams, devised a play featuring the "lonesome end". When the teams huddled, the lonesome end stood near the sidelines, as the team's lined up he remained isolated and almost unnoticed—Far from the rest of the formation. When the ball was snapped he would be downfield and ready for a pass. Frequently catching the opposition by surprise.

The mentally retarded are the lonesome ends of our society. At home, in school, in the community, they are always near the sidelines, watching the action. Never allowed in the huddle.

Sadly the ball is never thrown to them, even though, with great willingness, they are ready to do their best. Simply because society regards them as different, the mentally retarded have traditionally been kept out of the game.

The Special Olympics Program was developed to give these "Lonesome Ends" a chance to belong and to make a contribution.

FIRST: It gives them the chance to develop and test their strength and coordination to learn skills, to follow rules, to stretch the outside limits of their capabilities—physical, social and intellectual.

SECOND: It provides an opportunity for individual competition and for team play. It offers vital experiences in winning and in losing—but most of all in trying. As special Olympics athletes say in the oath that opens all the games: "Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt".

THIRD: It develops confidence and self-esteem not only among the special olympics athletes but in parents, brothers and sisters, friends and neighbors.

In the special Olympics everybody wins. Not only the children but their parents, teachers, coaches, volunteers. The special olympics is a shining example for all who believe that a just and good society is one which cares for those who may be less able, but who are in no sense less worthy.

The lonesome end was the hero of many football games.

The mentally retarded if allowed to get onto the field, have much to contribute, Loyalty, Devotion, Determination, Joy.

If you become a part of the Special Olympics, you too, will know joy—a new kind of joy that comes from transforming a lonely unnoticed outsider into an active, contributing member of the community.

These words of EUNICE KENNEDY SHRIVER seem to put it all in a nut shell.

Thank you for the support you have given Haskell Training Center in the past-Eve Gray.

TP&W Officials Urge Boat Check

Don't be surprised by spring, warn the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's boating safety experts.

In Texas, cold, dreary weather gives way to spring rather quickly, catching outdoor recreationists with their boats totally unprepared for the first outing.

If your boat has sat inactive for the past few months a little maintenance is probably in order. This could range from a few minor checks to avoid inconveniences to very important matters which could make your day in the sun not so much fun.

First, give your boat hull a good cleaning while it is still on the trailer. Be sure to drain any standing rain water if your boat is stored outside and give the interior a good scrubbing.

Wooden boats should be stripped of all old and cracked paint and be repainted.

While you're chipping away at the old paint, check the caulking to see if it is still smooth and doing its job. If it's cracked, replace it with fresh caulking before you repaint.

Fiberglass hulls should be cleaned thoroughly and given a luxuriant coating of wax. This helps the boat slip through the water, producing both speed and fuel economy.

Safety equipment should get more than just a quick nod. For example, your personal flotation devices, by law, must be serviceable. Yank on the straps. If the fabric tears, it's rotten and the device should be replaced. The kapok bags inside should be fluffy and light. If the PFD feels heavy, one of the bags may have ruptured.

Make a quick check of your running lights and horn and replace any bulbs which don't shine. If they all shine but seem dim, your battery probably needs charging and you can consider yourself lucky to have found this out before you reached the lake.

Your fire extinguisher also needs a check for cracked or broken hoses or obstructed nozzles. Check the pressure gauge, locking pins and sealing wires. Recharge if your gauge indicates extinguisher pressure is low.

Having the engine on your boat cough and sputter to the middle of the lake and then die can spoil your day, so it would be a good idea to tune it before your first trip out.

Boat checked out? Then you're ready to go, right? Not quite. If you haven't checked the wheel bearings on your trailer, you should know replacement bearings are hard to find on a Sunday afternoon.

Wheel bearings should be packed with grease at the first of the season. If you find pits or rust on the bearings, replace them.

There are some other moving parts on your trailer which need attention. Lubricate all working parts of the couplers, winch, tilting mechanism, moving brackets and rollers.

Check your tires for proper pressure and wear, and see that the hitch on your car is tight. Hook your trailer to the car and test the lights.

A little extra time taken for these precautions can mean a big difference on whether your first boating trip of the season is a boom or a bust.

Students may also receive six hours of credit by enrolling in a Traveling Seminar to be offered by WTC from June 11-30. The Seminar will take students to eight Southern and Southeastern states where they will visit points of importance in American history and culture. Students may receive credit in English 235, Government 231 or 234, History 131 or Sociology 232. The cost will be about $500 per person. Persons wishing further information are asked to contact Richard Lancaster at Western Texas College.

The regular weekly meeting of the Haskell Rotary Club was held at the City Cafe at noon, Thursday, April 17th. President Ferrell Coston presided for the luncheon get together which was begun with the Invocation by Rev. Bob Brown.

Program chairman Chief Escobedo presented Charles Thornhill, president of Zone III Trap Shooters of Texas, who gave a most interesting program on this fastest growing sport in America. He also defined the difference in Trap and Skeet Shooting and displayed the type of guns used by most all trapshooters and the different classes in which they shoot. The Zone III of the Texas Trap Shooters met in Haskell on Saturday and Sunday of last week for their annual shoot-out at the targets. This was held at the home of Wallace Wooten in Haskell, a long time champion Trap Shooter, who has won numerous meets in several states of the Union. April 27 Is SCS 40th Anniversary

April 27, 1975, marks the 40th anniversary of the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Soil and water conservation districts have grown beside the Soil Conservation Service, bringing a better life and future to everyone," a local conservation leader said.

R. V. Earles, Secretary-Treasurer of the California Creek Soil and Water Conservation District, said the SCS has been giving technical help to landowners here since 1941.

The California Creek Soil and Water Conservation District, organized May 12, 1941, was created to help the landowners of portions of Haskell, Jones, Fisher, Shackelford, and Throckmorton Counties develop needed conservation measures. SCS assists the district under a jointly-signed agreement that dates back to July 24, 1941.

"The California Creek District now covers all of Jones County and about 300,000 acres of Haskell County," Earles said. "The remaining acres of Haskell County are situated in the Wichita-Brazos Soil and Water Conservation District which was organized early in 1942. About 1100 landusers in Haskell County are planning and applying conservation practices on their land with the technical assistance of the Soil Conservation Service," Earles said. SCS conservation professionals assisting both Districts in Haskell County are J. C. Yeary, Jim Boykin and Harry Koehler.

Cox To Compete In Barrow Show

Gary Cox of Rule is one of 33 state residents included in the list of exhibitors who entered hogs in the 1975 Production Tested Barrow Contest of the National Barrow Show. This year's event will be held September 8-9-10, again at the Mower County Fairgrounds in Austin, Minn. Entries in the Contest totaled 1,205, a small increase over the 1,178 hogs entered last year. In 1973, the first year of the Production Tested Barrow Contest, some 843 entries were recorded. Cox's barrow is entered in the Duroc Division of the Production Tested Barrow Contest. This barrow will be delivered to the National Barrow Show Test Station at St. Ansgar, Iowa, in early May and will be fed out in competition with the other 1,200 barrows representing the eight major swine breeds and crossbreeds. In September, the barrows from St. Ansgar will be shown live at the National Barrow Show. This Show, held annually in Austin, Minn., is the Nation's premier hog show. It is expected that nearly 5,000 of the Nation's best barrows and breeding animals will be entered in this year's event.
