According to J. C. Yeary, District Soil Conservationist, it will be some time before estimates can be completed.

Lake Stamford caught just over three feet of water from the rains and water was still running into Miller Creek Lake Tuesday afternoon.

Lightening struck a house at 306 S. Ave. H. at about 10:30 p.m. Thursday night. Mrs. Ethel Lou Shelton and her brother and sister, H. W. and Betty Clanton, reside in the house and were all in the cellar of the house along with several of their neighbors.

Mrs. Shelton said they didn't know about the lightening until the storm was over. She said the house did not catch on fire and damage was limited to two TV's, a small table and paneling in the living room was scorched.

The largest amount of rainfall reported to the Free Press was 5.3 inches received by J. R. Perry of Paint Creek. Buford Cox reported 5 inches and Cecil Lewis reported 4.03, six miles northwest of Rule. J. C. New reported 4 inches east of Sagerton and R. B. Bicentennial Plans Continuing

At a recent meeting of the Bicentennial steering committee, held in the chamber of commerce office, members discussed the current status of Haskell's application for a City-County Commission relative to the 200th anniversary of America. Notice was received by the Texas commission that the application had been approved and

Memorial Gifts May Spare Others

When cancer takes the life of someone close to us, a relative or friend, the loss is painful. However many thoughtful persons in Haskell County are turning losses into victories by making memorial gifts in memory of a loved one lost to cancer -- a living memor-

"A gift today may spare others tomorrow", explained Mrs. Evelyn Cobb, Memorial Chairman for the Haskell Unit of the American Cancer Society. The Society seeks in a three-fold way--research, education and service--to fulfill one of mankind's greatest hopes--the ultimate triumph over cancer. Each memorial contribution brings the moment of final victory closer". Mrs. Cobb explained.

Every memorial gift is acknowledged with a dignified white card naming the person in whose honor the gift is made. This card is sent to the person designated by the donor. It does not state the amount.

Mrs. Cobb said that the process of making a memorial gift is simple. The only information needed is the name of the person honored and the name and address of the person to whom acknowledgement should be sent. In Haskell Co., contributions are received by Mrs. Evelyn Cobb at Box 761, Haskell.

forwarded to Washington. D.C. for National approval. It is expected by committee members that this national approval will be made within a short time, and then preparations for the designation of a City-County Bicentennial commission, will be made.

A discussion was held in regards to other projects outlined in the overall plans for the observance, to include the beautification of Spring Creek and the first house erected in Haskell. Those present were of the opinion that the house should be preserved and the current owner to be contacted in regards to this.

Other business was to set the dates for Haskell's Frontier Days Celebration for the week of June 23rd through Saturday, June 28th. The annual celebration prior to this year has been in conjunction with the Jaycee rodeo but due to the fact that this was not staged this year, committee members decided to add other features to the weeks' celebration. These will include the Queen's Pageant to be held on

Over 700 Attend Jaycee Rest Stop

Over 700 people stopped at the Haskell County Jaycees Memorial Day Rest Stop according to Earl Procter and Charles Prewit, co-chairmen.

Those stopping at the Rest Stop represented eight states including Connecticut and Michigan.

The rest stop was open from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. Friday. Saturday, and Sunday nights and from 9 to 12 Monday night.

During that time members of the newly formed Jaycees served over 500 cups of coffee and other refreshments to Memorial Day travelers.

Members of the Jaycees have expressed their thanks to all merchants who donated supplies to the Rest Stop and also to the City and County for their assistance in the project.

RAILROAD MUSEUM The Haskell County Railroad Museum will be open every Friday and Saturday from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. The Museum will open on Sunday by request.

Tuesday night. June 24th. with place to be designated at a later date. The old time square dance on one night and the final big event to be in the form of an old time picnic in the city park with a huge stage show to be presented with a format like the frontier days medicine show.

Present plans call for the weeks' celebration to be centered in the park due to its picturesque setting and to the fact that is where the town of Haskell originated after the Indians, who used it for a camp ground for countless years, had been moved to Indian Territory.

Little Dribblers Attend Reg. Tournament

Haskell's 11 and 12 year old Little Dribbler's all-stars took second place at the regional tournament in Idalou last weekend.

The girls, coached by Delight Jones and Janay Morrison, were defeated by Crowell 36-25 in the first game of the double elimination tournament.

They then defeated Silverton, 29-20; Crosbyton, 41-16; and Idalou, 37-36. Crowell defeated Haskell in the final game of the tournament 38-32 to give Haskell second place. Each girl on the team received a second place trophy

Mills, Motheral Vows Read

Pledging vows in a double ring ceremony, May 24, were Miss Marijohn Mills and Michael Don Motheral. Rev. Derrell Lewis, pastor of Calvery Baptist Church in Canyon officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee Mills of Cotton Center. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ray Motheral of Kress.

Given in marriage by ner father, the bride wore a traditional gown of white silken organza accented in Venice lace flowering dogwood. The molded sleeveless bodice featured a deep picture frame yoke outlined in the lace flowers, extending over the shoulder to form cap sleeves. The full circular skirt was encircled in appliqued lace medallions. The hemline featured a border of the dog-wood blossoms. Her veiling was caught to a Juliet Capulet of lattice work lace and pearls and was edged in Venice lace love-knots. Her bouquet was a cascade of spring color daisies, tiny rosebuds and baby's breath with satin streamers.

For something old, the bride carried a lace and linen handkerchief belonging to her late grandmother, Mrs. C. A. Thomas, Sr. of Haskell. The traditional touch of blue was a lace garter. She wore a special penny in her shoe.

Her attendants were gowned identically in lilac voile with white dots and white Venice lace lilacs. The hi-rise bodices were designed with deep V necklines that was espaliered in the white lilac lace flowers. The trim A line skirts were accented at the waist with lilac satin sashes centered with a tailored bow at the front. They carried white umbrellas filled with daisies and greenery and spilling over the sides. Serving as Maid of Honor was Miss Cherri Fangman of Vega. Bridesmaids were Miss Motheral of Wichita Falls, sister of the groom and

Mrs. Ronnie Rieff of Lubbock. Andy Byrd of Kress, attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Bob Mills of Amherst, brother of the bride, and Mike Moore of Floydada. Ushers were Ronnie Mills of Austin, brother of the bride,

Don Oates Attending Banking School

BATON ROUGE, LA.-Don Oates, Senior Assistant Vice President. Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, New Orleans, is among the 1,232 bankers attending the 26th annual two-week session of the School of Banking of the South being held at Louisiana State University. Classes started May 19 and continue through May 31, covering advanced study in all phases of banking, economics, and finance.

The School, sponsored by bankers associations of 15 southern states, requires attendance at campus sessions for three years, plus extensive home study work during the remainder of the year. An outstanding faculty of more than 100 bankers, businessmen, economists, and educators teach courses dealing with bank management, service, and operations. During their three years at LSU, banker-students receive a total of 180 hours of classroom instruction, 30 hours of review, organized evening study, and written final examinations at the end of each year.

"This program makes an important contribution toward improving and increasing the type and quality of banking services being offered in the South," said Charles Cassidy. Director of the School. Mr. Cassidy is chairman of First State Bank and Trust Co., Bogalusa, La. In addition to class lectures, instruction concentrates on banking and business case studies.

Oates is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Oates of Haskell.

National 4-H Photo Exhibition Scheduled

Famed photographer Henri Cartier-Bresson has called the camera "an extension of the eye." Young camera enthusiasts who use their vision to best capture the image of 4-H on film may have their work selected for display at the second National 4-H Photo Exhibition.

The show will be held Nov. 29-Dec. 4 during National 4-H Congress in Chicago. It is open to all 4-H members from to 19 and is not limited to those enrolled in 4-H photography projects.

The exhibit will be sponsored again this year by Eastman Kodak Company in association with the Cooperative Extension Service, the National 4-H Service Committee and the National 4-H Foundation.

The 1975 show will focus on individual photos and picture series that tell the 4-H story by recording and interpreting the activities and interests of 4-H youth as they "learn by doing." Its goal is to recognize the photographic competencies of 4-H'ers and, at the same time, to improve public understanding of 4-H. Entries can be bla white or color photos made from negatives or slides. Negatives must be provided along with a print showing preferred cropping. When slides are submitted, prints are not necessary. From the negative or color slide Eastman Kodak Company will make an exhibition print, mount it, and affix a gold seal to indicate national recognition. Each exhibitor In Roby will receive a print for his personal use.

On their way to the national exhibition, 4-H members will enter photographs in preliminary selection contests at local, county and state events. Up to four photos per state will be chosen from among these

The 1974 National 4-H photo Exhibition included 230 prints representing the work of boys and girls from 39 states. It was such a success that one set of prints is now traveling to national and regional 4-H events to tell the 4-H story, and a second set has been provided for display at the 4-H Center and the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D.C.

Eastman Kodak Company, the exhibit's sponsor, also underwrites the 4-H photography program. This is a year-round activity conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and designed to develop technical skills and encourage creative expres-

The company also provides incentives and recognition in the form of medals of honor, expense-paid trips to National +-H Congress, and six national scholarships of $1,000 each.

The "Shutter Bugs" Haskell County 4-H Photo Club will meet tonight, Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. at the Haskell Free Press.

FU President To Speak

Tony Dechant, president of the National Farmers Union will be guest speaker at Roby June 2, at 8:30 p.m. in the Agricultural Building.

He will be introduced by Jay Naman, president of the Texas Farmers Union.

Dechant is an official with the International Farm Association and will speak on the World, National and Local Agricultural situation. He will discuss why we lost our farm bill that was recently vetoed and will talk on where we go from there.

The people of this area are invited to attend the meeting.

Rural Land Resources Need Protection During Development

resource planning and management have increasing interest and significance to Texans. There but higher cost water is recognition of major supplies. problems emerging from the rapid rate of growth and development in the Texas coastal zone, near the absolute owner of metropolitan growth centers, and around most inland lakes. These and other land use problems have been studied closely by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station to determine how to both protect and develop essential natural resources without undue costs to either private or community interests.

According to John McNeely, resource economist in the Experiment Station, there are no costless solutions to land use problems. For example, economists and engineers have summarized vast amounts of data about the State's ground water aquifers which presently supply about threefourths of the water used in Texas. It is fully verified that in the High Plains and elsewhere, the water level is dropping and pumping costs are increasing. A Texas Water Plan to provide substitute water could involve costs in the billions of dollars if fully implemented.

Overpumping of ground water by municipalities, industry and agriculture from under the Houston metropolitan area has Jones, economist with the servation and protection Experiment Station. The or preservation clearly water beneath his land unless it is in an underground stream with defined channels, according to Don Levi, Experiment Station legal researcher. He can withdraw for use all the water he wants without regard to its effect upon his neighbors. The surface waters in the state and the aquatic life within them are publicly owned and the public has the right to fish and travel on these waters. But the public does not have the right to cross privately owned land to reach these waters. This limited right of access to public resources is sometimes a problem along the coast's beaches, bay and gulf waters, freshwater reservoirs and lakes, and State's rivers and streams.

Texans are concerned about who will make future land use decisions and what these decisions will be. They want to preserve private property rights while still avoiding hazards to human life and property in such areas as floodplains and strip mines. They want a balance between econocaused serious subsidence mic development and enand millions of dollars in vironmental quality. But flood damages, according the objectives of those fato research by Lonnie voring development, con-conflict. Urbanization is a dom-

nant movement affecting land use in present-day Texas. Four out of every five Texans now live in urban situations, and future population growth will take place there also according to Robert Skrabanek, former Experiment Station demographer. Considerable acreages of land are being converted from crop, range and forest uses to urban purposes. Land use is sometimes changed well in advance of development. Urban effects on rural land ownership and use are complicated further by growing recreational and energy needs in a state with comparatively little publicly owned Competition for productive land and water between agriculture and other uses is already in-McNeely finds that it might be in the public interest to reserve some of the best agricultural lands for this use when a choice is possible. These are by no means all of the land use presures. Recreation scientists point out that more and more land and water are in demand for recreation purposes. Wateroriented activities are the most popular outdoor recreation activities in Texas. Hunting opportunities are also in demand, and the citizens of Texas own the wildlife. It is held in trust for them by the State, but the landowner has the legal right prevent hunters from entering his land. This makes the leasing of hunting privileges a common practice on range lands in

according to fisheries scientists. In terms of yield of living things, these are probably the most productive sites on But they are earth. destroyed as breeding areas by economic developments such as dredging and disposal of spoil, drainage and filling of marshes and disposal of wastes and runoff from urban and agricultural

Looking to the future, Experiment Station scientists believe that accomplishments of specific land use policies can be substantial. Land use policy includes social constraints and incentives affecting the use of private land as well as decisions on the uses of public land and the location of public facilities. It is generally oriented toward guiding the future uses of undeveloped land rather than altering the use patterns of developed land. Fortunately, Texas still has substantial resources for whose development final and irreversible decisions have not yet been made. Guidance in decision making is a happy and useful product of good research.

The Haskell County Development Group met on May 22. 1975 for the purpose of formulating the 1975 Agricultural Conservation Program for Haskell County. Conservation practices selected for cost-share assistance

1. RE-1: Establishment of Permanent Vegative Coverincluding seedbed preparation, seeding operation, dead litter, fertilizer (if needed based on a current soils test). and seed costs. RE-1 applies only to cropland that is being converted to grassland.

2. RE-2: Improvement of Permanent Vegetative Coverincluding seeding operation. seed costs, and brush control by rootplowing, tree dozing, hand grubbing, or chemical methods.

3. RE-5: Water Impoundment Reservoirs.

4. RE-7: Constructing Terrace systems to include standard level terraces and parallel terraces.

5. RE-8: Diversions

6. RE-12: Sediment Retention Erosion and Water Control Structures-Grassed Waterways-This will include grading, shaping and filling; seeding operations and seed costs. Fertilizer will be costshared when needed.

7. RE-14: Reorganizing Irrigation Systems (Underground irrigation pipe).

8. S-1: Land Leveling of irrigated land. This practice will be adopted pending State Approval.

All practices will be costshared at 50% of the average cost except waterways which will be cost-shared at the rate of 75% of average costs.

Maximum cost-shares per farm will be $2500, unless a lower limitation is set by the County Committee based on certain circumstances.

Applications will be accepted by the Haskell County ASCS Office just as soon as approval of the County program can be secured.

GED Tests

The Adult Education Classes for Haskell, Knox and Stonewall Counties have been completed for the 1974-75 year. The Administration and the Instructors have evaluated the year as being very successful. One hundred sixtynine enrolled and fifty passed their GED tests The Rule Basic Education

Class was held in the Rule High School Library meeting two nights each week with four and one-half hours of instruction for six months. Bobby Joe Lusk was the instructor. All the nine stu- Cathey and grandson. Jeff dents enrolled had a goal and each made progress toward their goal. Seven students were reviewing the basic subjects in English, Social Studies; Literature, Science and Mathematics so they would be prepared to pass their General Educational Development test (GED). Four of the students registered for the tests: Paul Lott, Doris Williams, Gerdial Williams and Mary Ann Bagby. Doris and Gerdial Williams and Paul Lott have passed their GEd and will get a high school equivalency diploma from the Texas Education Agency. Mary Ann Bagby had to leave before she finished her five tests. Two of the students came to class to learn English as a second language but did not complete their course because they had to withdraw from the class. If you live in Rule and do not have a high school diploma why not call the office of the Superintendent and tell him that you will be interested in enrolling in a class next fall. and emergency preparedness. The State 4-H Food Show is also part of the overall Roundup activities and will be held June 3, with judging beginning at 9 a.m. The remainder of the competition will be the following day, with some events starting as early as 6:30 a.m. Roundup headquarters is the Rudder Center.

According to Dr. Don Stormer, state 4-H and youth leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension arvice. State 4-H Round , is ne of the oldest annual s. swide 4-H events in the nation. In addition to the throngs of youth, it also brings together some 600 adults, including county Extension agents, 4-H leaders, friends of 4-H. mass media representatives, contest donors and members of the board of directors of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation, the service organization of 4-H in the state.

Roundup activities will officially get under way with an opening assembly at 5:30 p.m. on June 3 in the Rudder Center Auditorium, announces Stormer. A special feature of the assembly will be the introduction of Mrs. Jeanella Probasco of Longview, a national winner in the 4-H Alumni Recognition Program. Awards will be presented to 10 individuals, businesses and organizations that have made outstanding contributions to 4-H. Winners of ten $4,000 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Scholarships will also be announced, and several other scholarship winners will be presented.

Twenty-six outstanding 4-H adult leaders (two from each of the 13 Extension Service districts) will be recognized at a luncheon on June 4. Winners of the various He married Doris McGee contests and demonstrations along with the donors for the particular events will be honored at a special recognition program at 8 o'clock that evening in the Rudder

Center Auditorium.

"4-H Roundup annually highlights the 4-H year in Texas." points out Stormer. It provides an opportunity for youth to grow and develop and to share learning experiences. After all, that's what 4-H is all about.

Oil Production In Haskell Tops 82 Mil.

Haskell County, which has had recorded production since 1929, last year produced 2.860,757 barrels of oil at the rate of 7,838 barrels per day. Production in 1974 boosted Haskell County's production total through the end of the year to 82,679,709 barrels.

In 1974, some 31 counties produced more than 10-million barrels of crude oil, with Anderson and Kleberg counties dropping below that mark and off the list compiled last year. The top seven, all with production in excess of 51million barrels, retain generally the same order as in 1973 with one notable exception: Yoakum County has moved into the No. 2 spot ahead of Ector County. The list in-

Scurry, 94.2-mil. bls., (91.8, 1973); Yoakum, 77.6-mil. brls. (66.0); Ector, 71.2 mil. brls. (72.6); Gaines, 57.8 mil. brls. (61.3); Andrews, 56.2 mil. brls. (60.4); Gregg, 51.6 mil brls. (53.2); Hockley, 51.3 mil. brls. (49.6).

Gregg County, the only Texas county to produce more than two-billion barrels of oil in the history of recorded production, remains the alltime leader with a cumulative production total through 1974 of almost 2.5-billion barrels. Other counties with cumulative production in excess of one-billion barrels include:

Ector 1.9 bil. brls.; Andrews 1.7 bil. brls.; Rusk 1.5 bil. brls.; Scurry 1.2 bil. brls.; Crane 1.1 bil. brls.; Harris 1.1
