THE CLOSING SCENE.

Last Days of Stonewall Jackson.

J. J. Carson a prominent merchant of Riverside Ala., related the following bit of his war experience, which happens to be just a degree more interesting than most war stories just at this time.

"I had just returned to Chanellorsville after the partial recovery from a wound and was unable to do field service when I was made driver of an ambulance.

"I was driving along one morning after there had been some skirmishing and promiscuous firing during the night, when I came near a tent where there was a small group of men.

"The ambulance captain was with me, and when we approached the tent we saw a man and a lacerated arm and hand, which had been amputated and was lying outside on the ground.

"John," said the captain "do you know that hand?"
"Yes," I replied "that is General Jackson's hand" and I broke down and wept like a child.

"Next day the doctors called for the most careful driver that could be obtained, and I was sent forward to carry the General and his attending physician twenty-six miles distance to the home of an old gentleman named Chandler.

"General Jackson talked a great deal during the journey; not with standing Dr. McGuire continually urged him to keep quiet.

"His mind was wandering at times but most of his conversation was relative to death. He said he had all his life endeavored to live such a life that when the time came for him to pass over the great shadowy river he could look back upon every part of the journey without remorse. Death, he said, was one thing that had been ever before him, and he had viewed it with calm consideration that belongs to an approving conscience.

"I remained with him through all his lingering illness, and remember when his wife carried to his bedside their infant child. He was too weak to speak, but he gently pressed the soft little hand with his, which had received a wound when the other arm was torn away.

"I well recall the scene at the death bed, the weeping wife, the solemn group of officers around the bed and the attendants standing near. I shall never forget the solemnity of that time. I assisted in putting the remains on the train when they were sent away for burial. I saw it all from Chanellorsville till the coffin was lifted on the train, and I shall never forget the sad event."

Racing With Wolves.

Many a thrilling tale has been told by travelers of a race with wolves across the frozen steppes of Russia. Sometimes only the picked bones of the helpless traveler are found to tell the tale. In our own country thousands are engaged in a life and-death race against the wolf Consumption. The best weapons with which to fight the foe, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This renowned remedy has cured myriads of cases when all other medicines and doctors had failed. It is the greatest blood-purifier and restorer of strength known to the world. For all forms of scrofulous affections (and consumption is one of them,) is unequalled as a remedy.

A pet prairie dog belonging to Miss Frankie Gilliland was sporting in the sunshine on the lawn in front of her residence last Friday morning. A string was attached to a collar around the little animal's neck and the other end tied to a stake. All unconscious of danger it gambled on the green when a huge chicken snake came gliding through the grass, and espying the dainty tid bit proceeded to entomb it in its capacious maw. Miss Frankie had witnessed the frightful tragedy, but was powerless to save her pet. While lamenting its untimely demise, Master Ernest Dixon appeared on the scene, and Miss Frankie entreated him to save, at least, the remains of her dog for interment. The snake, having swallowed its prey, made ineffectual efforts to escape, being held by the string fastened to its victim. Ernest heroically attacked and dispatched the serpent and then proceeded to disembowel it, releasing the dog, apparently dead from its confinement. In a few moments however, it recovered entirely and with a shrill bark and frisk of its tail expressed gratitude for its release. The snake was thirteen feet long.—Childress Index.

SCIENTIFIC DEPARTMENT.

Current Events.

From the Mechanical News we learn there is shortly to begin the erection of another extensive building in Chicago. It is estimated that the structure will cost $1,700,000. Six thousand tons of iron and steel will be used in its frame work, and over 200 miles of iron pipe will be consumed in fitting up the refrigerating rooms. It will be known as the Chicago cold storage exchange, and will be used by the dealers in produce. The site of the building is on the west side of the city, and it will have frontage on Randolph and Lake streets and the Chicago river. Tracks connecting with the entire railroad system of the city will extend into the building for convenience of shipment.

A buggy propelled by a sail recently made a trip from Winchester, Neb., to Venango, in the same state, a distance of nine miles, in less than an hour.

A soldering iron has been invented by a German, which contains a chamber into which and from which fluid solder may be drawn and forced by pneumatic action.

A Tacoma (Wash.) item in the Pacific Lumber of recent date gives the following information: It is stated that Geo. Sims, formerly private secretary of Henry Villard, is en route to Tacoma from London as the agent of an English syndicate to purchase the Port Blakely lumber mill. The consideration of the transaction is not accurately known, but is said to be in the neighborhood of $2,400,000. The Port Blakely mill is the largest in the world. Its per diem capacity is estimated as twice as great as any three mills in the country.

Mechanics and Engineering.

An immense hydraulic riveting plant—the largest ever made—has been built in London for and engineering company in Holland, and is to be employed on marine boilers. The riveter has a gap twelve feet deep, closes its jaws with a power of 200 tons, and is capable of closing rivets up to three and one-half inches in diameter. A traveling crane fifty feet high is designed to raise and manipulate a boiler up to fifty tons. The crane is operated by two engines steam for which and the powerful pumps giving hydraulic power for the riveters' great accumulators, is supplied by two steel boilers, each capable of doing duty equal to about 130 indicated horse power.

Those that believe that horses will presently disappear, not only from the streets our lines but also from the street itself and from the country road, will be encouraged by the announcement that carriages are to be run on gas ovens are soon

THE RAILROADS

The Fort Worth and Albuquerque Scheme in Good Shape.

The Fort Worth and Rio Grande to Push On to Llano—A Road From San Angelo to Henrietta via Abilene.

The outlook for the Fort Worth and Albuquerque road is now so bright that it may be regarded as a certainty that it will be built. The committee appointed by the chamber of commerce committee has been at work during the last ten days investigating the condition of the road, and state that it is in much better condition than they expected to find it. About twelve miles of the grade has been completed, which has cost not over $35,000 and this amount will be subscribed by the contractors as stock in the new company. About $30,000 additional stock has been taken, and there are assurances of $50,000 more. This will leave about $30,000 more to raise in order to put the line in operation to the ten-mile port, after which all will be smooth sailing. A Gazette reporter rounded up Mr. L. Z. Imboden of the sub-committee yesterday for information on the subject, and Mr. Imboden gave all the information that he thought it was proper to give at this time.

"You can say," he said, "that the committee is well satisfied with their investigation, and that it can be regarded as a certainty that this road will be taken hold of by Fort Worth, and there is no kind of doubt that it will be a paying road from the jump. If the first ten miles is completed, there will be no trouble in raising the money to push it on 100 miles to the northwest. Indeed, assurances to that effect have already been given. Our committee will make their report to the committee of this week and then the matter will be submitted to the chamber of commerce for final action. The outlook is all that could be asked for, and I feel that Fort Worth will in a very short time have another railroad in operation.

This road as is well known will tap immense coal fields and granite quarries in the northwest, and will give impetus to the manufacturing movement, and it will haul to this market the products of the most fertile section of Northwest Texas. The country through which it will run is thickly settled by prosperous, thrifty farmers, and beyond it taps the great grazing region. The Fort Worth and Albuquerque is on the boom, and a few days will tell the tale.

The First Step.
Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into Nervous Prostration. You need a Nerve Tonic and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results followed the use of this Great Nerve Tonic and Alterative on my wife's nervous system, good digestion is restored, and the Liver and Kidneys resume healthy action. REAL ESTATE COLUMN.

PRICE OF LANDS.

UNIMPROVED land is selling at $3 to $5 per acre in the country. Land within a radius of five miles of the town of Haskell is selling at $5 to $100 per acre. Town lots bring $100 to $1000.

Realty has made an advance of at least 100 percent in value on figures of Jan., 1889. A great deal has gone many times over and all realty has advanced 100 percent.

Land agents have sold all land they had from first hands, and the demand is growing daily. 250,000 acres of land in this county has changed hands in the last year. This is equal to nearly half the land in the county. The demand for land is growing and recent investors will be able to put their lands on the market this summer at handsome profits.

WHEN your friend writes for a description of Haskell county, buy a Fans Paper and mail to him. I will tell him more than you could tell in a week on paper.

See 4th page for description of Haskell County.

Just as long as you listen to campaign lies just, so long will you vote as some one else says.

WHEN an honest man runs for office he does not circulate tales on his opponents, nor does he encourage his friends to do so.

SOME men never know who they are going vote for until election day. Then they vote against the fellows who could not rustle around and out lie his opponent.

WILL S. SARGEANT of the Rayder Lasso had the misfortune to shoot himself in the foot accidentally with a Winchester rifle while hunting the other day.

THE New York Sun speaking of Gen. Hogg says: "he will be a monument to Jeffersonian simplicity and straightforwardness. His name should be a tower of strength."

The time has come when people should demand that candidates run upon personal merit for office. This thing of getting votes on some little campaign yarn is getting tiresome.

HASKELL county's grand jury found over sixty indictments. It is a self evident proposition that Haskell has a Noodle creek of her own.—Anson Western.

Look here McEachin! you have had a nightmare sure, the grand jury at this place only returned four felony and two misdemeanor indictments. You are off your base, correct this mistake in your next issue please.

The money market of New York has been again manipulated, and the United States Treasury has gone into the market and purchased at exorbitant prices the bonds of the United States.

Millions of the people's money is paid to Eastern capitalists by this scheme every year.

When money goes up securities should have a downward tendency but U. S. Bonds always take a rise, when Uncle Sam goes into the market. J. Gould is honest enough to come out and say that the money market was manipulated. The squeeze was worked and the republican treasurer, who has made many friends in the east has scored a victory with capitalists. The south and west will be forced to fill up the national treasury for another squeeze next year, and if they want any harbors, or new buildings or any internal improvement of any character. They can furnish the means and do the work.

MARKED—On last Saturday morning at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John Rainbolt and Miss Etta Mitchell were happily united in the holy bonds of matrimony; Rev. Mr. Bennett officiating. We join their many friends in congratulation and wish them a long and Happy life.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

The following suggestions are offered to the people of Haskell, (by the board of health at its organization.)

- 1st. That the privies be cleaned and lined thoroughly once a week, and the contents of same be hauled two miles from town either east or west of the city, and that the merchants be requested to build privies at their store houses.
- 2nd. That the scrapings from the yards and stables be disposed of in the same way, and a thorough cleaning around the premises and lining afterwards at least once a month, is absolutely necessary to good health.
- 3rd. That all dead animals be carried east or west of town, at least two miles. Heretofore everything has been hauled south on to the Spring branch. We think this very unhealthy, as we seldom have overflows sufficient to wash the same away, and it remains there to be brought back to us by the wind in the shape of a poison that causes typhoid fever dysentery etc.

THE STATE OF TEXAS, To the Sheriff or any Constable of Haskell county Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon P. Stoniker by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not then in any newspaper published in the 39th Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 39th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the Justice court of precinct No one Haskell County, to be holden at my office at the Court House thereof, in Haskell, on the third Monday in October A. D. 1890 the same being the 20th day of October A. D. 1890, then and there to answer the complaint filed in said Court on the 11th day of August A. D. 1890, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 59, wherein C. W. Lucas is Plaintiff, and P. Stoniker is Defendant, said complaint Alleging that on — day of A. D. 1890, that plaintiff loaned said defendant a certain wagon of the value of fifty dollars that said defendant agreed to return said wagon to plaintiff June 1st 1890 that said defendant has never returned said wagon to plaintiff damage in the sum of fifty dollars. Plaintiff prays judgment for the sum of fifty dollars and cost of suit.

Respectfully, J. E. Lindsey, M. D. Chairman.

Ten Nights in A Barroom.

On last Wednesday night the court house was crowded to its utmost capacity to witness the amateur Haskell dramatic company play "Ten nights in a barroom." The characters were Romaine, (J. E. Glover) Sample Swichle, (A. L. Kirby) Slade the tavern keeper, (S. H. Woods) Mrs. Slade, (Miss Lizzie Donohoo) Harvey Green, (H. S. Post) Willie Hammons, (H. B. Martin) Frank Slade, (Jno. M. Crump) Joe Morgan, (J. D. Warren) little Mary Morgan, (Miss Ella DeFrance) Melitabile Cartwright, (Miss Carrie Rogers) Mrs. Morgan, (Miss Mollie Dewbery). The play was well rendered, and on several occasions the audience were in tears.

The play showed that special care had been taken to assign the parts to those especially fitted to render them.

The entertainment concluded with a negro concert by Geo. Posey Jno Agnew, H. B. Martin and A. L. Kirby. Mess Martin and Kirby, as George and Sarah, danced a Virginia reel to the great amusement of the audience.

The receipts amounted to $68.25 Miss Mollie Dewbery deserves great credit for the success of the entertainment as it required continued effort on her part to keep the troupe organized.

All the parties played their parts with credit, and are much pleased with their success.

They have been requested to play again, and it is probable they will do so.

The money they realized will purchase a bell for the school building and will be appropriated for that purpose.
