

Farmers, Ginners Pleased With Yields

COTTON GINNING IN FULL SWING--Antonio Lopez, left and Ralph Marines are employed at Bailey Gin Co., west of Baileyboro and were busy Thursday morning at the suction, sending cotton into the gin. Most area gins are reporting very good yields of cotton this year, despite adverse weather conditions in June and early July. Many farmers are harvesting three bales an acre this year. Dryland is typically one-fourth to three-fourths in yields. (Journal Photo)

Bailey and Parmer County farmers and cotton ginners continue to be amazed, and more than a little pleased, at the cotton harvest this year. Where little to no cotton had been predicted earlier, because of extreme weather conditions, some yields are reaching to more than three bales per acre.

Earlier, Charles Moraw at the Muleshoe Co-op Gin had reported that his gins would break all previous records this year in cotton ginning.

Now, Claude Gregory, the owner and operator of the North Lazbuddie Gin, is also saying the North Lazbuddie Gin will break all previous records this year.

He said they have already ginned 7,000 bales, and have tagged in 12,200 bales at this time. Their previous record was 9,100 bales, and he expects to gin above 13,000 bales this fall.

At a rate of 250 bales per day, the gin is seeing yields of 1,200-1,300 pounds of cotton per acre, with an average of two and a half to two and three-quarter bales, with some farms producing above three bales per acre.

Gregory said the gin contracted 4,300 acres, and presently are 1,900 points over their contract. Some of the farmers are receiving 66 cents, with most getting 60 cents per pound and that's with the current price dropping.

This will bring more than $3 million from the North Lazbuddie Gin back into the Lazbuddie community, added Gregory.

Peanut Hawkins, manager of the Bailey Gin Co. at Baileyboro says they expect to gin approximately 5,000 bales. As of Thursday morning, they had ginned 3,700 bales, and about half the bales have been from dryland crops.

He said dryland is making from one-fourth to three-fourths a bale, with irrigated land turning out one and a quarter to three bales per acre.

Hawkins said this is expected to be a good year for cotton farmers.

From Enochs in Southern Bailey County, the Farmers Co-op Gin reported "Good yields." They said the yields are better than expected, but added that the price is dropping right now.

As of shortly after noon on Friday, 4,565 bales had been ginned.

Evelyn Davis at Maple Co-op Gin told The Journal that they are ginning and will finish

DHS Asking Contributions For Clients

The Texas Department of Human Services is asking individuals, clubs, organizations, businesses and churches to donate items to help make special holiday baskets to be delivered to the needy, elderly and disabled of Bailey County.

Community Care for the Aged, Blind, and Disabled Program of Texas DHS is designed to enable aged and disabled citizens to continue living in their own homes.

"The holiday season is upon us," said Debbie White, social worker for the Hereford office of DHS. "For many of the Community Care clients, Christmas will be very uneventful without the involvement of the community."

"Our clients must use their limited income for food, rent, utilities, medicine, medical bills and so on. For them, obtaining items for good hygiene and laundry is a luxury. There is little left to pay for non-food items or special articles."

White stated that it is the goal of DHS to have a holiday basket for each Community Care client. "This will be possible with your help," she said.

Following is a list of the items most needed: Canned foods, non-perishable foods, razors, shaving cream, denture cream, mouthwash, bath soap, shampoo, deodorant, baby powder, moisture cream, sore muscle cream, facial tissues, bathroom tissue, adult diapers, blue bed pads, laundry soap, dish soap, spray disinfectant, liquid disinfectant, powdered cleansers, bed sheets, and light bulbs.

Donations for Bailey County can be made at the office of Community Services located in the courthouse in Muleshoe.

For additional information, contact Sharon Plott at 272-3647, in Muleshoe; or Debbie White at 364-1266, in Hereford.

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Muleshoe Area Hospital District was scheduled for Thursday, November 29, at 7 p.m.

This meeting was postponed due to the illness of Administrator Richard Murphy, according to Mechele Edwards, administrative secretary.

She said a tentative date for the second week in December has been set.

Educator of the Week at Watson Junior High School was Alice Arguello, teacher assistant in computer lab.

Principal awards for the week went to Jennifer Patterson, sixth grade; Raul Del Toro, seventh grade and Angela Crawford, eighth grade.

James Foster of Muleshoe was named an outstanding student in welding technology for November at South Plains College, according to Frank Hunt, division dean.

Nominees also must maintain a minimum 2.50 grade point average.

Three students from Muleshoe are among 211 candidates who will complete graduation requirements from Eastern New Mexico University this fall. They will be eligible to participate in commencement exercises on May 10, 1991.

Muleshoe students include: Carol Diann Evins, bachelor of science in education with a major in elementary education, magna cum laude; Joyce Faver Islas, bachelor of science in art with emphasis in 3-dimensional design and Melissa Sanchez, bachelor of arts in education with a major in elementary

Is there a recipe for a successful life?

Take hard work and a desire to do the best job possible, add a liberal amount of love for family and community, and sprinkle the whole with faith. Mix well.

That is the recipe for success Judge Glen Williams continues to use. Even in retirement, he remains involved with church work and writing.

As Bailey County Judge for six terms, Williams was the presiding member of the County Commissioners' Court as well as hearing criminal, civil, probate and juvenile cases. After 24 years on the bench and many thousands of cases, Williams was reversed only twice.

Williams became county service advisor in 1983 as well as working with the indigent health care program and acting as veterans service officer. Through these jobs, he worked closely with the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) from 1983 until his retirement in August.

Williams first became involved with SPAG while he was still on the bench. SPAG, working through elected officials, offers a vehicle through which state and federal governments can help local governments to set up and fund programs on criminal justice, aging, alcoholism, police training and so on. For example, SPAG helps fund Meals on Wheels and the Senior Citizen van in Bailey County.

Williams continued his association with SPAG when he became county service advisor.

Although his formal job description called for him to help administer special programs and offer information to senior citizens as part of the Texas Aging and Health Care Program, all ages came to him for advice.

While Williams was county service advisor, 10 to 20 people a day came to the Bailey County office for help.

From marriage counseling to advice on the stock market to help with medical bills, Williams had a reputation for never turning anyone away. He helped when he could or he directed the person to someone who

Refunds Due For Rural Electric Rate

Golden Spread Electric Cooperative reduced wholesale power rates by 10 percent and paid $6,233,485 on October 29, 1990, in refunds and interest to 11 of its member systems. Bailey County Electric Cooperative received $533,614.18.

The rate reduction and refunds are the result of an agreement between Golden Spread and its power supplier, Southwestern Public Service Company, that settled a complaint which had been filed by Golden Spread with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission in August, 1989. Golden Spread had charged that SPS' wholesale rates were excessive.

As a result of the settlement agreement, SPS has reduced wholesale rates to Golden Spread and paid refunds on wholesale power purchased by Golden Spread since January 1, 1990. Golden Spread has passed the refunds and lower rates on to its member systems.

The agreement also extends the contract between Golden Spread and SPS to December 31, 2004, and permits Golden Spread to obtain a portion of its wholesale power supply from other sources beginning January 1, 1997.

Golden Spread purchases wholesale power from SPS for 11 rural electric distribution cooperatives including Bailey County, Deaf Smith, Greenbelt, Lamb County, Lighthouse, Midwest, North Plains, Rita Blanca, South Plains, Swisher Electric Cooperatives in Texas, and Tri-County Electric Cooperatives in Oklahoma.

Christmas Projects Seeking Donations

Christmas Card

You still have time to get your donations in to the Muleshoe Area Healthcare Center for the annual Christmas Card Project.

This annual project is conducted by the Muleshoe Healthcare Volunteers, who use the proceeds to purchase items to help make life 'easier' for residents of the nursing home.

This year, the funds will be used for landscaping around the new dining room of the nursing home.

Sammie Ethridge of chairperson of the project, and she reminds that you can get your donation in until 5 p.m. on Friday, December 14.

Your name (family, business, organization, etc.) will be included on a full page Christmas Card which will be in the Christmas issue of The Journal.

It is suggested that you donate what you would spend for Christmas cards, postage and time to the project, and join many, many others on the Community Christmas Card.

Toys For Kids

For the past several years, the members of the Bailey County EMS Organization have worked very hard to see that every child in this area has a Christmas, and receives gifts.

This year, there will be no exception. Your donations of new and used toys will be gladly accepted at the Bailey County EMS building located at 715 West Second St.

Also, this year, a new method is being used to apply for one of the gift packages.

You cannot nominate your own family, it must be done for you by a third person. And, the application must be made in person at the EMS building.

If you know of a family who needs the Christmas package from the EMS, make the application at the EMS building before the December 8 deadline to be considered.

All applications will be subject to review by outside persons, and this year, there is no guarantee of acceptance into the project.

SCENE FROM THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS, 1990--This is a typical scene from The Night Before Christmas which will be presented in the Muleshoe High School auditorium on Monday, December 10. A group of professional actors and actresses will be in Muleshoe to present the updated Christmas traditional play. (Guest Photo)

State Farm Bureau Commends Agriculture Committee Chairman

The president of the Texas Farm Bureau today commended House Agriculture Committee chairman Kika de la Garza for his efforts to adopt a generally favorable Farm Bill despite criticism from some areas in agriculture.

"Recognizing the severity of the situation regarding prices for several farm commodities, Chairman de la Garza engineered an Omnibus Farm Bill which accomplished the demands of the majority of Congress and helped to secure farm income for the 1990s," said S.M. True, a grain, cotton and cattle producer from Plainview.

True said the "realists" in agriculture recognize the public's demand for reduced federal spending and specifically the attack on farm program spending. "The 1990 Farm Bill represents the best that could be crafted and passed with a majority vote of the Congress," True said.

"Contrary to some thinking, the Office of Management and Budget and the Congressional

ENMU Teachers

Recieve Grants

Dr. Betty Lyon, associate professor of mathematical sciences, Dr. Mercedes Agogino, professor of physics, and Dr. Andy Sae, professor of chemistry at Eastern New Mexico University, have received a $45,896 grant from the New Mexico Commission on Higher Education for the second "Hands-On Science/Math Summer Institute for Teachers."

Elementary school teachers (grades four through eight) from all over New Mexico will be selected to participate in three different workshops during the summer of 1991.

Dr. Lyon will conduct a "Hands-On Mathematics" workshop, June 10 through June 21, in which teachers will develop geometry and probability applications to be used in their classes. State math competencies will also be covered.

Dr. Sae's "People's Chemistry," June 24 through July 6, will use safe, inexpensive, and fun materials for teaching chemistry while emphasizing the importance of chemistry in our product-driven society and dispelling the fear of chemicals.

Dr. Agogino is a certified instructor of "Operation Physics," a nationwide effort to improve the teaching of basic physics in grades four through eight. The workshop, July 8 through July 19, is designed to enhance teachers' understanding of physics while providing them with low-cost methods for teaching students about light, electricity, simple machines and other physics topics.

For more information and application materials, contact Dr. Betty Lyon, director, Science/Math Summer Institute, station #18, Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, NM 88130; or call (505) 562-2334.

Budget Committees dictated the required cuts in agricultural programs," True pointed out, adding that it was "de la Garza who obtained the latitude to reach those reductions, in as painless a manner as was possible, given the circumstances."

True said that through adoption by Congress of a complicated law, farmers will receive a combination of benefits that will allow them the "opportunity for profit through the market system as well as to maintain a 'safety net' of farm programs."

That combination in the new Farm Bill includes:

- The Triple Base plan which provides producers with a minimum of 15 percent flexibility in their planting base, while allowing farmers continued participation in farm programs.

- The lack of cross-compliance allowing producers to participate in one crop on a farm and not participate in others.

- The 0-92 provisions on wheat and feed grains and 50-92 provisions on rice and cotton further provide opportunities for producers to maintain a safety net of programs. The "oilseed provisions" have been recognized as a possible new market opportunity for producers.

- The opportunity for additional price supports in the event of a complete failure of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

"Certainly," said True, "these provisions didn't happen by accident and were not created by someone who has deserted agriculture or farmers and ranchers."

"While there are others who also deserve credit for the adoption of the 1990 Farm Bill," True said, "the name 'de la Garza' is prevalent throughout the new law. And, without his leadership, the bill would have, most likely, been unacceptable."

The TFB president called it "unfortunate" that organizations that claim to represent agricultural producers chose to attack Chairman de la Garza in the press. These groups, True said, show little recognition of reality, and give farmers and ranchers the unfavorable reputation that many urban citizens think they deserve.

"The Texas Farm Bureau is proud of the efforts of the Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and salutes Kika de la Garza's leadership," True said.

Fifteen Kiwanians, three honorary Kiwanians, Robbie Clapp, Jon Keith Turner, and Chad Johnson, and Sweetheart Marsha Wilson, met this brisk Friday morning at the La Placita Cafe.

President Glen Morris called the meeting to order. R. A. Bradley led the club in the pledge to our flag and the invocation was given by Robert Montgomery.

It seems that Jon Keith Turner was playing 'footsies' with Lyndon Huckaby's legs, so Huck took his handcuffs and footcuffed Jon Keith around the leg on the table. Huck said that Jon Keith was mighty young to assault a peace officer.

We thought that we would have to leave Jon Keith at the La Placita because Huck's handcuffs had not been used in so long that they were rusty and the key slots were full of sand and they had trouble getting the keys to work.

We were not sure that Huck could get them off. Jon Keith, we hope this does not go onto Santa Claus' good and bad list and will be a mark against you. You are going to need all of the help you can get.

Since Lyndon has had two weeks to find a friend and R. A. Bradley had brought some quiz's to test the mind for members to work on -- Huck decided that since I had brought a new questionnaire for an entrance into the Kiwanis Club, that Brad needed a friend, so Huck gave the friendship coin to Brad. So, for the next week, he will be taking applications for a friend. I may have to offer a reward to find a friend.

One of our Kiwanians was chosen as Citizen of the Month by a very special group of young ladies and men -- the SCAC Club. Randy, congratulations. We think that the SCAC young people made a good choice. Our Sweetheart, Marsha Wilson, is a member of that club. Marsha, as always, it was good to see you. Marsha, have you been good so that Santa will come to see you? Hope so!

Robert Montgomery had the program and he introduced Nancy Kidd, who is manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce. Nancy did a good job of explaining what the CoC is and what it consists of and a lot of the purposes of the Chamber and why we need it.

The Chamber consists of professional leaders, men and women, businesses and individuals of this community. It is a voluntary organization. It is, and should be, the public relations of this community.

The Chamber is only as good as you and I make it. Our input, ideas and help are always welcome and needed. The Chamber consists of members from all walks of life.

The Muleshoe CoC has 12 board members, manager, secretary, and 10 teen ambassadors and ambassadorettes.

If you are not a member of the Chamber of Commerce, you need to be. Let us not sit back and gripe about things not being done in our community, let us join and be a vital part of this fine organization.

The Chamber can always use your help. The office is open to every one -- member or non-member. Stop by and tell Nancy Thanks for a good job or if you think the Chamber needs to change in any way -- tell her and help her make these changes.

To put all of this in a nutshell -- "The Muleshoe Chamber promotes Muleshoe - and when it promotes Muleshoe - it promotes you and your business!"

Since there are only 25 days before Christmas, Santa, I sure hate to squeal on some of my fellow Kiwanians, but there were quite a few of them absent this morning. I guess you can put a check on the naughty side of your naughty and nice list because the guys were absent --

Oscar Hernandez, Lonnie Merriott, Merlyn Neel, Howard Watson, Hugh Young, Mickey Merriott, Julian Dominguez, Chris Lopez and Herb Langfitt.

You guys need to be present for the next three Friday mornings to get your name off of the naughty list.

Nancy, thanks for getting up early and explaining the Chamber to all of us.

Let us all pray the crisis in the Middle East can be solved peacefully and that all of our armed personnel can be home safely soon. Let us tie a yellow ribbon on everything in this community until our young people come home.

MERINGUE KISSES
2 egg whites, at room temperature
pinch of salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup of superfine sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
1 tablespoon fruit-flavored liqueur

1. Preheat oven to 250 F. Butter and flour a cookie sheet (or use a nonstick cookie sheet).
2. Begin to beat the egg whites with an electric mixer; when they are foamy, add the cream of tartar and salt. Increase the speed to high, and when the egg whites begin to hold soft peaks, gradually add the sugar. Continue beating until egg whites are stiff and shiny. Add liqueur and vanilla and blend.

3. Drop the egg whites onto the prepared cookie sheet, using a tablespoon and making dollops in a "kiss" shape by pulling the spoon up quickly to make a point. Bake in the preheated oven for 1½ hours. Cool at room temperature on rack. Store in an airtight container in a cool, dry place for up to two weeks. They can also be frozen for up to 2 months.

There's not a speck of fat in the recipe, so they are low-calorie.

Facing Surgery, Get A Second Opinion

Sometimes you have no choice about surgery--an emergency appendectomy for instance. But, other kinds of surgery are not necessarily emergencies. In these cases, many people are taking the extra time to get a second opinion. This step gives you a chance to ask a second doctor if the surgery is necessary, or if there are other non-surgical, effective methods of treatment you can try instead. And, today many health insurance policies pay for and may even require your getting additional advice.

To help you know when and how to go about getting a second opinion, the Department of Health and Human Services has a free booklet entitled Facing Surgery: Why Not Get A Second Opinion? (Item 545W, free). The booklet provides you with questions to ask about surgery plus tips on how to find a specialist to give you a second opinion. For your copy of Facing Surgery: Why Not Get A Second Opinion?, just send your name and address to Consumer Information Center, Department 545W, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

If your doctor recommends non-emergency surgery, there are several ways to find a surgeon or another doctor who specializes in the treatment of your medical problem.

•You can ask your doctor to give you the name of a specialist. Don't hesitate to ask; most physicians encourage patients to seek a second opinion;

•If you prefer to find another doctor on your own, contact your local medical society or medical school for the names of doctors who specialize in the field of medicine you need;

•You can call Medicare's toll-free number: 1-800-638-6833 (in Maryland call: 1-800-492-6603) to get help in locating a specialist near you;

•If you're eligible for Medicaid, you can call your local welfare office.

Some people don't feel comfortable letting their doctor know that they are getting a second opinion. However, if you tell your doctor, you can ask that your records be sent to the second doctor. In this way, you may be able to avoid the time, costs and discomfort of having to repeat tests.

When you get a second opinion, tell the second doctor what surgical procedure is recommended and also what tests you've had. If the second doctor agrees that surgery is the best way to treat your problem, you can choose which doctor you'd prefer to do the surgery. If the second opinion disagrees with the first, you'll have to weigh the facts and make your own decision. Or you may want to talk to a third physician.

Get your copy of Facing Surgery: Why Not Get A Second Opinion? (Item 545W, free) by sending your name and address to Consumer Information Center, Department 545W, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. You'll also get a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, the free Catalog lists over 200 free and low-cost federal consumer publications on a wide variety of subjects.

Christmas Tree Growers

Looking For Big Harvest

By Sandra Avant

Texas Christmas tree growers are looking at their best harvest in five years, but initial sales will be sluggish because of an early Thanksgiving holiday.

Consumers will have a good supply of excellent quality, Texas-grown trees to choose from, said James Chandler, a forester for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Overton. "There's a good possibility of selling more than 400,000 trees."

Previous marketing surveys by the Texas Christmas Tree Growers Association show that growers sold almost 319,000 trees in 1986, about 262,000 in 1987, 230,000 in 1988 and 278,000 in 1989.

Chandler still expects business to be good. "I really look for everyone to have a good year," he said.

The estimated value of this year's tree crop is about $8 million, up $1.5 million from last year.

As many as 182 farms in 80 counties are expected to market Christmas trees this year, Chandler said. Forty-two percent of the trees are expected to be marketed wholesale and about half will be sold by the "choose and cut" method. Another seven percent will be sold on grower-operated retail lots.

The Virginia pine, grown primarily in the eastern half of the state, and the Afghan pine from western Texas are the two most popular varieties. Both trees have needles two and one half inches long.

could help them, as in the case of recommending a reputable stock broker to help one person with financial matters.

One day a woman came into the office and asked Williams for help with her taxes. She had not been able to send in her claims because she was having trouble sorting her bills. Williams agreed to see what he could do.

The woman put a large, bulging handbag stuffed with hundreds of tax receipts and medical bills on the counter.

"Although she was willing to trust me with this fairly complicated and personal business, I noticed she removed her wallet from the bag before handing it to me," Williams recalled laughing.

Williams came to Bailey County with his parents and two brothers from Oklahoma in 1929. As an adult, he continued the Bailey County farm and took his first public job for one term on the school board. He served three terms on the county school board and two terms as county commissioner before

She said she did not know where the gin stands at this time, nor the yields. She also said she did not know how many bales had been ginned.

From the Needmore Co-op Gin came a report that the yields are real good, with some farmers getting 900 pounds per acre.

They said they have ginned around 3,500 bales and are on "the downhill side of ginning" for this year.

If the weather holds, most gins will be almost through with the 1990 cotton crop by Christmas.

Don't Blame Your Age For Poor Hearing.

Chicago, Ill. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest hearing aid Beltone has ever developed will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

It's yours for the asking, so send for it now. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. The actual aid weighs less than an eighth of an ounce, and it fits completely into the ear canal.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Although a hearing aid may not help everyone, more and more people with hearing losses are being helped. being elected to his first term as county judge in 1955. Williams ran for office 12 times, had three contested races and one run-off election.

"I think it was kept in such a mess, no one wanted to fool with it," Williams said.

From there, the list of Williams' public service grows: For 17 years, Williams was on the Board of Trustees of The MHRM Center in Plainview which serves a nine-county area.

Williams served as chairman of the Regional Advisory Committee on Aging Services.

For 10 years, Williams served as chairman of the Criminal Advisory Committee.

Williams was a board member of the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation as well as secretary for a year or two.

Although retired from these other activities, Williams continues to serve on the Regional Council of the Department of Human Services, a position he has held for the past six years.

Bailey County and Muleshoe have grown and prospered through the years thanks to the leadership, guidance and planning provided by people who care about their community, Williams said.

When Williams was county commissioner and in the years that followed, nearly 200 miles of Farm to Market roads were built in Bailey County. Highway 84 was extended to a four-lane highway across the county. The courthouse was remodeled and renovated with revenue sharing from the federal government, a program that was terminated in the early 1980s.

MISD Schedules

Christmas Play

On December 10

Muleshoe ISD is sponsoring an original stage play, The Night Before Christmas, 1990. The one hour musical by Penguin Productions will be performed by professional actors who will be touring the state of Texas during the months of November and December.

It will be here at Muleshoe High School auditorium on Monday, December 10 for performances at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Admission is $1.50 per person.

Penguin Productions is a touring theatre company whose staff say they are dedicated to bringing wholesome, quality entertainment to children. Since 1979, the company has produced 27 tours, performing for hundreds of thousands of excited school children. Actors chosen to tour with the company go through an extensive audition conducted before each production.

The original The Night Before Christmas, 1984 was such a success that the producers decided to continue this show as a Christmas tradition.

The storyline remains unchanged, but each year the script is updated to depict the trends and fashions of that year. The play takes place in Santa's workshop and the characters include Mrs. Claus, Rudolf, elves, and, of course, Santa himself.

In order to please the striking elves and reindeer, Santa must convince two modern children to enjoy their childhood and not to be in such a hurry to grow up.

He succeeds in a funny and very touching 60 minutes that bring out the holiday aspect in everyone, and make a memory that will last a lifetime.

men to have structured training for a specific number of hours threatened to leave Muleshoe and other small communities unprotected, Williams called a meeting in Plainview with all the county judges from the area. Together they were able to get a federally-funded grant for "floating seminars" to train their law enforcement officers, as well as creating a juvenile probation office and officer for Bailey County.

Later SPAG helped set up adult probation offices. The government set up a district court and a court reporter, but no secretary. Williams got the funding for a secretary.

At the request of George Mahon of the National Association of Governments, Williams testified about the necessity for funding for criminal justice before the House Appropriations Committee in Washington after they had deleted a $60 million appropriation. The appropriation was reinstated in the budget before Williams left to go home that same day.

Years ago, in response to an official study of city government, Williams recommended one change: to remove cases of imminent domain from county court to district court, since a conflict of interest could exist.

As Williams explained, in a case of imminent domain, when the county needs a piece of property and a settlement cannot be reached with the owner, the county commissioners can file condemnation proceedings against the property.

If the owner does not like the award, he must appeal it like any other civil case, through the county court.

In 1978, Williams was appointed to the Texas Department of Community Affairs as the county programs specialist to supervise and direct these programs in all the 200 rural counties in the state. Williams declined the appointment which would have meant moving to Austin.

Williams is the author of "Here Comes the Judge," a book about how county government works that also includes many anecdotes from his years on the bench.

In one DWI case, the defendant pleaded guilty. When Williams asked him if he had a drinking problem, the defendant replied, "Well, I can take a drink. And, then I get an overwhelming 'compunction' to get drunk."

Most of Williams' books and pamphlets are on theological subjects, from a pamphlet for newly-weds entitled "When Wedding Bells Ring," to a comprehensive volume on baptism.

Williams is currently working on a new manuscript which will be titled "Live and Salvation."

Williams and his wife have three children, eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Water Commission

Calls Meeting

The Texas Water Commission announced today that it will call a special agenda meeting to address the current status of environmental issues that are under the state agency's regulatory umbrella and the policy implications for the future. The meeting will be titled, "Texas Water: The Environmental Mark," and is scheduled for Thursday, January 17th, 1991, in Austin. Attendance will be open to the public and free of charge.

Among the topics to be presented to the three Texas Water Commissioners will be surface and ground water quality, hazardous waste management, oil spill response, and other matters of environmental significance. ## Report From Larry Combest

A delegation of 19 House Members left last Monday for a weeklong visit to look into Operation Desert Shield.

The delegation, chiefly of members of the House Armed Services Committee, is being led by Rep. Nicholas Mavroules (D-Mass.), chairman of the Armed Services' Investigations Subcommittee.

Excluding the Thanksgiving visit to the troops with the President, this is only the third House delegation to review Desert Shield since the operation was launched in August. The other two delegations visited early in September.

"The deployment is much more advanced today and we come armed with many more questions," Mavroules said.

He said members' queries would include such issues as: Who's in charge if there's a fighting war? and Will the logistical strains of the last few months become smaller or greater now that we are adding still more manpower?

Mavroules said the delegation would also be looking closely at personnel issues. "In September, House members found that the latrines lacked the required chemicals to maintain sanitary standards, that there were no postage stamps so the troops couldn't write home, and that some soldiers weren't being issued ammunition even while they were being put on guard duty and told to watch out for terrorists.

"This time, we'll be on the lookout for any similar gaps that could be a blow to morale, not to mention health and safety."

The delegation has also asked to meet with foreign contingents mobilizing in Desert Shield. No previous congressional delegation has met with any foreign forces. They comprise slightly less than half of all the ground troops committed to Saudi Arabia.

The Democratic members scheduled for the weeklong visit are: Reps. Mavroules; Marilyn Lloyd of Tennessee; Mary Rose Oaker of Ohio; Dennis M. Hertel of Michigan; Solomon P. Ortiz of Texas; Lane Evans of Illinois; Jerry F. Costello of Tennessee.

The Republican Members are Reps. Larry J. Hopkins of Kentucky; Robert Lagomarsino of California; Robert W. Davis of Michigan; Robert K. Dornan of California; John R. Kasich of Ohio; Larry Combest of Texas; Curt Weldon of Pennsylvania; Jon Kyl of Arizona; Arthur Ravenel Jr. of South Carolina; Ronald K. Machtley of Rhode Island; and Ileana Ros-Lehtinen of Florida.

Schools Finding Water Programs Aid Students

The Story of Drinking Water and Water: The Basis of Life help public school students learn where water comes from, how it is used, and how they can help conserve this vital resource. These two educational comic books are distributed free of charge by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 to school districts within its 15-county service area.

At the beginning of each semester, the Water District's Information/Education Section sends notification to principals and teachers in the school districts within the Water District that the educational materials are available.

"Our fall semester mailout received an immediate response from teachers, science curriculum coordinators and principals in 29 of the 48 school districts contacted. Within a seven-day period, requests for educational materials surpassed those of the 1989-90 school year," says Carmon McCain, Information/Education Director.

He adds that 1990 teacher requests received to date have also surpassed the total number received during the 1988-89 school year.

As of October 31, 30 school districts had requested 13,880 copies of The Story of Drinking Water, compared to 11,044 booklets requested during 1988-89 and 9,418 during the 1989-90 school year. Approximately 351 primary teacher guides, 270 intermediate teacher guides and 75 advanced guides have been requested.

The Story of Drinking Water introduces basic water concepts including the hydrologic cycle, waste water treatment, and household water use to students. Teacher guides for primary (grades 1-3), intermediate (grades 4-6), and advanced (grades 7-9) levels contain lesson plans, student exercises and classroom activities.

In addition 9,507 copies of Water: The Basis of Life and 372 teacher guides have been requested for use this year. Approximately 5,842 copies of this educational comic book were requested during the 1989-90 school year.

Water: The Basis of Life follows students on a field trip where they learn about groundwater, surface water, and ways that they can conserve water resources. An accompanying teacher guide also contains lesson plans and classroom activities.

"Unfortunately, we have learned that the Soil and Water Conservation Society has discontinued production of Water: The Basis of Life. The Water District supplied instructors with this comic book and teacher guide this year on a first-come, first-served basis until our inventory was exhausted," says McCain.

Water District officials are pleased with the reception these educational materials have been given by students and teachers alike.

"The Water District would like to thank area school administrators and instructors for their willingness to incorporate these educational materials into their classroom curriculum."

By Nancy Kidd

Everything comes to he who waits- if he works while he waits.....

This glorious season of the year is one that gladdens the hearts of us all. It is a time when we give thanks in a particular way for all the blessings that are ours. I would like for each merchant in town, not only on Main Street, to take a little special time and effort to decorate their business. For all to have white lights around the windows to outline the beautiful display inside the store would be very attractive. Also, there are some vacant buildings on main street, and it would be great for organizations or businesses to adopt one of these empty buildings and decorate for the holidays. The local realtors can help with contacting owners, if out of town.

The late sales have been very successful. We have three scheduled for December. Dec. 1st after the Bazaar, one for Sat. Dec. 8 and Thurs. Dec. 20. These will be from 7-11 p.m. Look for particulars in media and in store fronts.

The Chamber of Commerce has the world's largest Christmas stocking. If you would like to win this, you may purchase a ticket at the Chamber office for 50 cents.

There have been contacts recently regarding participation in our effort to obtain new Christmas decorations for our town. We greatly appreciate the support in this endeavor. There appears to be a great deal of enthusiasm on this project as shown by the tremendous generosity.

Our original plans were for the purchase of the new decorations to include not only Main Street, but also American Blvd. and First Street. We felt that we had the necessary permission for placement along the additional route. It has now come to our attention that due to circumstances beyond local control, existing utility poles are not available for this purpose on American Blvd. and on First Street.

We are pursuing alternatives to this situation, but because of time limitations, new decorations will appear only on Main Street for this Christmas season. Whether or not a solution to this situation can be realized remains to be determined.

We regret that the original plans could not be completed for this season, and wanted to advise you of this. If you have any questions or comments, please let us know. We appreciate these contributors (listed below) and your support and interest in making Muleshoe the "BEST."

Student Council, Irrigation Pump & Power, Williams Bros., David Coleman, Fry & Cox, American Valley Inc., Farmers Co-op Elevator, First Bank, Barrett Produce, Muleshoe State Bank and Muleshoe Co-op Gin.

Also, Texas Sesame Growers, Wes-Tex Feed Yard, McCormick Seed, Inc., Five Area Systems, Five Area Systems Cellular, Calvin and Lona Embry, Merlyn Neel, Muleshoe Motor, Cliff Black and Bobo Ins.

It always amazes me how fast investors can turn on a particular group of stocks.

Take the bank stocks-- please!

The drop in banking stocks reflects weak financial positions, bad loan losses, and dividend cuts.

It's no secret most analysts have felt there are too many banks around. Too many companies chasing business means dumb decisions in order to generate business.

But Wall Street has thrown out the good with the bad.

Good stocks in the group are many of the smaller, regional issues that didn't invest heavily in commercial real estate or leverage buyouts.

Fish, Wildlife Service Bird Expert Wins Yeager Award

A lifetime of pioneering work in the study of birds and their habitat has won U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service biologist Chandler S. Robbins the 1991 Chuck Yeager Award, sponsored by the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation.

Robbins received the award, along with a $15,000 grant, from Service Director John Turner during a November 19 ceremony held in Washington, DC.

The Yeager Award, named for the famed aviator, is presented to a wildlife management or research professional who demonstrates exemplary fieldwork on behalf of fish and wildlife populations. Robbins is free to apply the grant to any conservation project he believes worthy of support.

"We at the Fish and Wildlife Service are fortunate to have Chandler Robbins on our team," said Turner. "His career has spanned more than four decades, yet his work with birds continues to set the standard for others to follow. He is a great asset to the Service and to the people and wildlife resources of this country."

"The Chuck Yeager Award recognizes individuals who make a difference on the ground," explains General Chuck Yeager. "The award honors success in fish and wildlife conservation efforts. Mere bureaucratic service or survivorship won't do it--we want to recognize people who make it work in the field."

Robbins, a 44-year veteran of the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service, is known widely for his studies of birds and development of a nationwide bird population monitoring system. He has co-authored numerous popular field guides and handbooks, and has published a host of scientific works on birds and their habitats. Robbins recently turned his attention to studies concerning the decline of birds that migrate to neotropical areas such as Mexico, the Caribbean, and Cuba.

As part of his latest endeavor, Robbins is working with the Foundation to bring together experts from around the Nation for a workshop to develop a plan to reverse the decline of these forest-dwelling neotropical birds. The workshop, scheduled for December 10-14 in Atlanta, Georgia, will focus on cooperation among Federal, state, and private interests in order to stem this decline.

The National Fish and Wildlife Foundation, headquartered in Washington, DC, is a non-profit organization created by Congress to foster cooperative partnerships for the benefit of the Nation's fish, wildlife, and plant resources. The Foundation, which receives funds from Congress to match non-Federal donations, supports a wide variety of wildlife conservation projects in the United States and other countries.

SPC Schedules 1990 Bluegrass Fair

Billy Joe Foster, former fiddler with the Ricky Skaggs Band and Bill Monroe and the Bluegrass Boys, will be the special guest for South Plains College's Fall Bluegrass Fair, set for Dec. 8.

Festivities will include open house, informal jam sessions, workshop sessions on banjo, guitar, mandolin and fiddle from 1-5 p.m. in the SPC Country and Bluegrass Music Building and a bluegrass concert at 7:30 p.m. in the facility's Tom T. Hall Recording and Production Studio.

Admission is free to all events. "Foster is an excellent musician who has performed with Country Gazette in addition to Skaggs and Monroe," said Alan Munde, leader of Country Gazette, one of the top bluegrass bands in the nation and an SPC bluegrass instructor. He is coordinating the bluegrass fair.

If You Have No Will You Have No Way To...

...CONTROL the distribution of your estate to family, friends, and charitable organizations that have meant so much to you during your lifetime

...AVOID the distribution of your estate according to legal formulas rather than your own wishes

...PLAN for decreasing your estate and inheritance taxes, and...

...HELP others less fortunate than you through bequests to charitable organizations.

If you DO have a Will, has it been updated recently? Does it reflect the exact way you want your estate to be shared? Have changes in your family or financial situation or changes in the tax laws made it wise to consider changes in your Will?

For more information on how having an up-to-date Will benefits your family...and how a bequest to The Salvation Army helps those who come to us in time of need, send for our free brochure...TODAY.

WINTER'S MAJESTY

All delight in the beauty of snow... how it clears the air, cleans and gives the earth a pure white blanket. David in his worship of God said...

"Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean; wash me, and I shall be WHITER THAN SNOW."

Attend church, worship God and know the joy of a free spirit, whiter than snow.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Dear Louisa,
 My sister who is a divorcee is being married again and has asked me to give her a shower as she would like to get some nice linens for her house or gifts for her trousseau. She had lots of showers when she was married the first time and I do not think that this is the proper thing to do. She agreed to abide by what you said so I am writing to find out what you think about it.
