Area Farmer Designing A Tailwater Recovery System

Because he was tired of losing irrigation water into the bar ditches and was not able to keep it on his land to use in the growing of a potato crop, Herb Partridge, in cooperation with the Wichita-Brazos Soil and Water Conservation District, improvised a tailwater recovery system on his last crop of potatoes.

Partridge, whose farm is located northwest of Munday, used a dozer-dug pit, a gasoline-powered pump, and portable aluminum pipe to return the used irrigation water to the field to water additional rows. He reported to Wes Robbins of the Soil Conservation Service that he had not realized how much water had been lost in the past by not using it a second time. With technical assistance

ough's Cold War GI Bill sed By 90th Congress

The new bill also includes - for the first time - educational opportunities for widows of servicemen. For many years we've had government pensions for military widows. But we've never given them an opportunity to return to school and become better prepared to support themselves.

Previously, veterans could receive a month of schooling for each month of active duty, so that a man drafted for two years could have two years of education upon discharge, with government support. Now he is guaranteed a minimum of one and one-half months for each month in the service; but every veteran who completes at least 18 months in the Armed Forces now is entitled to a full 36 months in school. That's enough for a high school graduate to earn a college degree, or enough for a veteran who chooses on-the-job training to master a skill.

Our Cold War veterans are finally being treated on a level with the veterans of World War II and Korea. Veterans of those wars returned to school by the millions and became well-educated, wage-earning, tax-paying citizens.

It's estimated that those two bills cost about $15 billion. But it's also estimated that veterans who went to school under the GI bills will have paid $30 to $45 billion in additional taxes from their improved earning capacity.

These six million Cold War veterans - including 300,000 Texans - now can have the same chance to learn - and the whole nation stands to gain from it.

Festive Fruit Bread Is Nordic Yuletide Treat

Christmas is the oldest of Nordic festivals, and the Norwegian celebration is steeped in tradition. All Christmas preparations must be completed before St. Thomas' Day, December 21st. During the next two weeks, Norwegians observe the Christmas peace and only the most necessary work is done. The table is always set during this period, and visitors drop in any time for food and drinks.

A traditional sign of yuletide hospitality is a special Norwegian fruit bread known as Jule Kaga. A cardamon-flavored round loaf filled with raisins and candied cherries. Jule Kaga is covered with snowy frosting and decorated with "flowers" of candied cherries and slivered almonds.

This modern version of Jule Kaga is prepared by the Rapidmix Method recently developed by Fleischmann's Yeast. The "no-dissolve" method, Rapidmix treats yeast as a dry ingredient, adding it with the flour, sugar and salt. In addition, initial beating steps are done with an electric mixer for easier preparation and handling.

Home-baked Jule Kaga, attractively packaged on a bread board and decorated with holiday wrappings, is a thoughtful hostess gift during the Christmas season. To package, cool loaves completely after baking. Let frosting set, then place bread on a board and wrap loosely in plastic wrap or foil. If desired, box and cover with holiday paper.

Norwegian Jule Kaga, attractively packaged on a bread board and decorated with holiday wrappings, is a thoughtful hostess gift during the Christmas season.

JULE KAGA

- 4 to 4 1/2 cups unsifted flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cardamon
- 2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 cup water

- 1/2 cup (1 stick) Fleischmann's Margarine
- 1/4 cup seedless raisins
- 1/4 cup chopped Planters or Southern Belle Blanched Almonds
- 1/4 cup chopped candied cherries
- 1/4 cup chopped candied citron
- Confectioners' sugar frosting

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1 1/2 cups flour, sugar, salt, cardamon and undissolved Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast.

Combine milk, water and Fleischmann's Margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are warm. (Margarine does not need to melt.) Gradually add dry ingredients and beat for 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1/2 cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat on high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead in raisins, Planters or Southern Belle Blanched Almonds, candied cherries and citron until evenly distributed. Form into round ball; place on large greased baking sheet. Cover, let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 to 60 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheet and place on wire rack to cool. When cool, frost with confectioners' sugar frosting. If desired, garnish with Planters or Southern Belle Sliced Almonds. Makes 1 large round cake.

Little Yule Cakes:

Prepare dough as directed above. Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead in fruits and nuts. Divide into 16 equal pieces. Shape each into ball; place 3 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and place on wire racks to cool. When cool, frost with confectioners' sugar frosting. If desired, garnish with raisins, candied fruit or Planters Nuts. Makes 16 individual cakes.

Loans are made through county offices of the Farmers Home Administration serving all rural areas of the United States. All loans are accompanied by technical assistance in farm and financial management. The local FHA county office is located at 1101 East Main, Knox City.

In addition to operating loans, Farmers Home Administration makes loans to purchase and develop farms, to develop community water supply systems, to obtain housing in rural areas, including housing for farm laborers and senior citizens, and to meet the emergency needs of farmers suffering from a natural disaster such as hail, flood, or drought.

Widows May Be Eligible For SS

Many persons in Knox County may be losing valuable social security benefits. Despite recent publicity about changes in the law regarding disability benefits for some widows, we are still finding persons who are unaware of how these changes affect them.

Until this year only disabled workers and persons disabled in childhood could receive social security benefits because of disability. Now a widow who is age 50 and disabled can receive benefits on the social security record of her deceased husband. To qualify, her husband must have been insured at the time he died. The widow must be severely disabled and unable to work because of the disability. There will be a reduction in her benefit up to 50% depending on how near she is to age 60 at the time she becomes entitled to benefits.

Apparently many widows are relying on information they got from the social security office at the time their husbands died. They were told then that widows could not receive disability benefits on their deceased husbands' social security. Because they were told this many believe the new provision does not apply to them.

Any widow between age 50 and 60 who is disabled should check with the Vernon social security office to verify whether or not the new provisions of the law applies to her. The Vernon social security office is located at 1728 Fannin Street, Vernon, Texas.

The last Mexican War veteran survived for 81 years after that war; the last Civil War veteran, Union and Confederate, lived on 90 and 93 years respectively.

Goose Season Opened Wed. October 30

Austin - A fall flight forecast from the U. S. Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife indicates that when the goose season in Texas opened Oct. 30, hunters should have good shooting.

A. J. Springs, Assistant Director, Wildlife Services, says this year's season should be similar to last year's. The Canada goose population forecast for the western part of the State is as good or a little higher than last year's, and in the eastern portion of the State the population should show a slight increase. This increase can be attributed in part to the restricted bag limit last year in this area, and Springs pointed out the reduced bag on Canada geese will continue this year in this area.

Springs says the white-fronted goose population is also still below the desired level, while the snow and blue goose population are about the same as last year's.

The season opened on Oct. 30 and run through Jan. 12. The bag and possession limit is five but with the following restrictions. The daily bag and possession limit west of U. S. Highway 81 is one Ross's goose and, in the alternative, one white-fronted goose; or one white-fronted goose and one Canada goose; or two Canada geese.

East of U. S. Highway 81, the daily bag limit is not more than one Ross's goose and, in the alternative, one Canada goose; or one white-fronted goose. The possession limit is not more than one Ross's goose and, in the alternative, two Canada geese; or one Canada and one white-fronted goose.

The shooting hours for all migratory game birds are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Duck and goose hunters must purchase a Federal duck stamp. One fully feathered wing must remain attached to dressed migratory game birds while they are being transported.

The law requires that a reasonable effort be made to retrieve any killed or wounded migratory game bird.

End-Of-Year Questionnaires From VA To Come Month Early

For nearly two million totally disabled veterans and veterans dependents on the Veterans Administration's pension rolls, the end-of-the-year annual income questionnaire from VA will come a month early this year.

Instead of being enclosed with the pension checks which will go out around Dec. 1, the check-sized income report cards will be sent with the pension payment to be mailed by VA about Nov. 1.

The deadline for returning the questionnaire to VA has also been moved up from Jan. 31 to Jan. 15.

VA is mailing the income questionnaire a month early to insure that the pension checks it will send out at the end of January reflect the new pension rates and income limits that go into effect the first of the year.

The amount of each pensioner's check under the new pension system that starts on Jan. 1 will be based upon the estimated income in 1969 reported by the pensioner on the VA income questionnaire. Without the returned questionnaire containing the estimate of income for next year, VA, by law, cannot pay a beneficiary a pension.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1969, the annual income limitations governing the entitlement to VA pensions and dependency benefits will be raised $200. Further, the present income levels, with three gradations, used in determining the amount of benefits a recipient may be paid, will be restricted to provide a range of 13 to 28 income levels graduated in $100 increments.

As a result of these changes, more than 1.1 million pensioners will receive approximately $120 million in increased pensions next year.

In addition to changing pension rates and income limits, Public Law 90-275, signed by the President last March, also provided that no beneficiaries on the VA pension rolls would have their pensions reduced in 1969 as the result of increased Social Security payments. VA pensions are payable to war veterans with limited incomes and total nonservice-connected disabilities and to widows and other dependents of war veterans who meet established income limitations.

Approximately 575,000 pensioners continue to receive VA benefits under an "old law" in effect prior to July 1, 1960, when the "new law" covering nearly 1.4 million beneficiaries was enacted. However, because it may now be to their advantage to come under the new law, these old law pensioners will be given another opportunity between Feb. 1 and May 1 next year to change over.

If they elect to change before May 1, any additional benefits due them under the new law will be paid retroactively to Jan. 1, 1969.

Information explaining the benefits of the new law together with a sign up card will be mailed to them at the end of January. Meantime, VA will send a notice with the pension check and income questionnaire to be mailed about Nov. 1 advising them in advance of the upcoming conversion opportunity.

Uncle Sam's Draft Board

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q - Recently I received a class II-C deferment for my farming activity. Since I intend to farm indefinitely, why is my deferment for one year only?

A - Class II deferments, including class II-C, are limited to one year. They may be renewed. If there is a change in status during the year, your classification must be reopened and considered anew. No deferment is granted on a permanent basis.

Q - Less than 30 days ago, my draft board mailed notice of my I-A classification, then ordered me to take my pre-induction physical, which I passed. Yesterday I mailed the board written notice of appeal, but today I received my induction order. Is this order valid?

A - No. Draft regulations provide that a local board must not issue an induction order to a man either during the period afforded him to take an appeal, or during the period an appeal is pending. Your order, therefore, is ineffective and must be cancelled by the local board.

Gun Control Law Urges Gun Registration

DALLAS — Anyone having an unregistered machine gun, s-wed-off shotgun, short barreled rifle or other gangster-type weapon, or a device such as a bomb, grenade or land mine, may register it with the Internal Revenue Service without penalty from November 2 through December 1, according to B. Frank White, Regional Commissioner, Southwest Region, IRS.

The Gun Control Act of 1968, signed into law last week, establishes a 30-day period for the registration of certain weapons and destructive devices. The registration requirement does not affect ordinary rifles, shotguns, pistols and revolvers.

The Gun Control Act Law provides that information or evidence submitted in registering a weapon during this period cannot be used against the registrant in any criminal proceeding arising out of a prior or concurrent violation of the law. However, this would not prevent prosecution for furnishing false information.

Firearms and devices covered by the registration requirements must be registered by filing Form 4467, in duplicate, with Director, Alcohol & Tobacco Tax Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D. C., 20224.

"Anyone with a weapon to register," White said, "should write or phone an office of IRS and obtain a copy of Form 4467. Weapons and devices should not be brought to IRS offices for the purpose of registration."

Former servicemen should register any automatic weapon, pistols with shoulder stocks, or other national firearms act weapon they might have as a souvenir of their military days.

Anyone with a bomb or grenade should make sure it is deactivated. The IRS can make arrangements to have the device inspected and de-activated.

The registration requirement for gangster-type weapons dates back to the National Firearms Act of 1934. There is no federal registration requirement for ordinary rifles, shotguns, pistols and revolvers, although certain controls on the sales of these weapons become effective December 16, 1968, as part of the new gun law.

Firearms which must be registered under the act include shotguns with barrels less than 18 inches long, rifles with barrels less than 16 inches long and altered rifles and shotguns with an overall length of less than 26 inches, such as shotguns or rifles cut down to pistol size or shape.

Other firearms covered by the registration requirements fully automatic guns, such as machine guns and pistols that fire more than one shot by a single function of the trigger, and firearm mufflers or silencers. In addition, registration is required of all weapons or devices, except for conventional pistols or revolvers, which are capable of firing a shot and being concealed on a person and weapons formerly classified as "DEWATS" - de-activated war trophies.

Destructive devices, such as explosives, incendiary or poison gas bombs, grenades, rockets, missiles, mines and certain projectile firing weapons, namely anti-tank guns, bazookas and mortars, also must be registered.

White said anyone who possesses a firearm or destructive device, as defined by National Firearms Act, and who fails to register the weapon between November 2 and December 1 as required by the gun control act, will be subject to imprisonment up to 10 years, a fine up to $10,000 or both for each weapon not registered. Under certain conditions, the law provides civil penalties and property forfeitures.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

If you earn part of your income from tips, you are required to report the amount of tips to your employer, who is required by law to withhold Social Security and come taxes on them. If you do not earn enough wages to pay the taxes that should be withheld, you are required to pay the rest to Internal Revenue. A recent court decision upheld an Internal Revenue Agent who assessed taxes, interest and penalties on 10% of the cost of all meals a waitress served. It pays to keep a record of your tip income.

Never resist temptation: prove all things: hold fast that which is good.

- George Bernard Shaw.

Questions And Answers Provided For Taxpayer

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - How do I go about putting in a claim for a refund?

A - Enter your claim on Form 1040-X, Amended U. S. Individual Income Tax Return. Copies of the form and instructions for completing it are available at local IRS offices. Copies may also be obtained by writing to your District Director.

The new Form 1040-X is simpler to complete than previous claim forms or amended returns since only the information that is new or changed needs to be entered. Claims filed on this form are given special attention and, in most cases, can be processed much faster than heretofore.

Q - What conditions have to be met before you can deduct an educational expense? I'm thinking of signing up for a course that will help in my work.

A - For education to be a deductible item it must either be required to keep your present salary, status or employment or it is taken to maintain or improve the skills required in your present work. Education taken to meet the minimum educational requirements of your present job or that qualified you for a new job or business is not deductible.

If you believe the course qualifies, a letter from your employer which states the purpose of the course you are taking will help substantiate your claim for an educational deduction. Receipts, cancelled checks and bills for the tuition, books and other expenses of the night course can establish the amounts you spent.

Q - My father died last March. Will a 1968 tax return have to be filed for him?

A - A return will have to be filed if his income was $600 or more for the year ($1,200 or more if he was 65 or over). If a return is required, it should be filed by the executor or administrator of the taxpayer's estate or his legal representative. It may be helpful for you to get a copy of IRS Document No. 5446, "Decedents." Just send a post card to your IRS district director.

Q - My son has a small scholarship that covers part of his college tuition. Will he have to report this as income or will I since he is my dependent?

A - Most scholarships are not taxable. If your son's scholarship happens to be taxable, however, it will be counted as his income not yours. He would report it on his own return. To find out whether your son's scholarship is taxable or not, check with the person or organization granting it. Information on the tax status of scholarships may also be obtained by sending a post card to your IRS district director and requesting Document No. 5045, "What is Income?"

Q - I just started in business for myself after years with a large company. Would the fact that I'm covered by Social Security prevent me from setting up my own retirement plan?

A - No, a self-employed person covered by Social Security is eligible to set up his own retirement plan.

Q - I just started driving a cab. Is it true I have to pay tax on my tips every month?

A - When tips amount to $20 or more a month, they are subject to withholding tax like other income from salaries and wages. Report them to your employer and he will make the necessary adjustment in your paycheck.

Q - My neighbor told me she was able to deduct the plane fare for herself and her daughter when she took her child to a special clinic for medical treatment. Is that sort of deduction really allowable?

A - If the trip was taken to obtain medical care and not for personal reasons, then transportation costs will be deductible as a medical expense. This provision allows taxpayers transportation or 5¢ a mile if a personal car is used.

For example, if it was necessary to make a weekly trip to the doctor's office or clinic for out-patient treatment and the roundtrip covered ten miles by car, here's how the deduction would be figured. The taxpayer would multiply the ten mile trip by the 5¢ a mile allowance to arrive at a weekly deduction of 50¢. If the trip was made 52 times during the year then the taxpayer could add $26 to his other medical expenses. Any parking fees paid as a result of the trip can be added to this total.

The parent's fare can be deducted when a child is unable to travel alone.

The VA is the world's largest employer in about 10 medical and related professions.

Cotton Harvesting Hints Can Cut Down On Field Losses

College Station, Oct. 24 - Cotton stripping is one of the most efficient means of harvesting, but the amount of lint in the trailer will depend on the operator's ability to cut down on field losses. B. G. Reeves, Extension agricultural engineer with Texas A&M University, says.

To reduce these field losses the stripper should be adjusted properly, taking into consideration the stalk height and texture and the fruiting pattern of the crop. The tension on the stripping rows and pressure on the stripping bars are most important to assure a clean pass, the cotton ginning and mechanization specialist points out.

The speed and travel of the machine should be checked by first making a test run of rows and observing the plants for skinned or barked bases. If they are skinned or barked the operator should see which side is off center and make his adjustments. Plants should also be checked for broken tops which will indicate too much pressure on the stripping rows or too fast a travel speed.

"Large stalks or branches can catch lint which should be processed and adjustments should be made to carry as much pressure on stripping rows as possible without barking. Once again it is important to slow down the speed," Reeves says.

"Skippy" or thin rows of cotton should be harvested carefully to avoid throwing bolls out of the front box. Rubber or chain curtains in front of the box, set about 18 inches down, will usually keep bolls from being thrown out of the front, according to the specialist.

Weedy fields or sections of fields should be stripped separately from the rest of the crop to insure cleaner lint and better prices, Reeves concludes.

PROTECT ANIMALS FROM PRUSSIC ACID POISONING

Frost and freezing weather are just around the corner. The change in weather will affect plant growth. When the growth of all members of the Sorghum family, including Johnsongrass, sudan, milo, forage sorghums and all hybrids, is stopped by frost, they sometimes develop a high prussic acid content and become a hazard to grazing livestock.

Certain chemical changes occur in the frost-wilted plants, and are responsible for the prussic acid development, explains the county agent. The poison acts quickly and can kill an animal within a very short time after the damaged plant is eaten. Whether a poisoned animal can be saved depends upon how soon a veterinarian can get to it.

Frosted Johnsongrass or sorghum should not be grazed until the damaged plants are as dry as good quality hay or for at least a week after the frost, warns the county agent. If it is ready to cut for hay before the frost, it may be cut immediately, provided adequate curing time is allowed. Silage made from frost-damaged plants is safe as soon as the ensiling process is complete.

Young plants or second growth suckers are most likely to cause trouble than older plants nearing maturity. The more luxuriant the growth, the more likely the plants will be dangerous when their growth is interrupted.

Additional information is available from veterinarians and county agents on questions relating to the grazing and/or harvesting and storing of frost wilted plants.

AGRICULTURE STUDENTS INCREASE AT A&M

Total enrollment in the Texas A&M University College of Agriculture amounts to 2,431 students for the fall semester compared to 2,215 a year ago. Dr. H. O. Kunkel, dean of agriculture, said the College of Agriculture is ranked Number 2 in enrollment with the College of Engineering in first place. The College of Agriculture has just above 18 percent of the University's total enrollment.

"I think these figures disprove the idea many people have that agriculture is a declining industry. It also shows that the agricultural industry still offers many opportunities and that career-hunting high school seniors recognize these opportunities, the dean pointed out. Of the 2,431 for all students in the College of Agriculture, 1,661 are under-graduates. At this time last year, undergraduates numbered 1,560. Kunkel emphasized that the

A&M College of Agriculture enrollment figures do not include students enrolled in pre-veterinary medicine. Other land-grant institutions do place such students in agricultural enrollment.

Pre-veterinary students are not in the College of Agriculture at Texas A&M. But Kunkel said that if the current enrollment of 488 pre-veterinary students was added to the 2,431, the College of Agriculture total would be 2,919.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK FOR HOGS

Hog slaughter this fall is expected to be only slightly below last fall's output and only seasonal decline is expected price-wise. For 1969, John G. McHaney, Extension economist, says the spring pig crop is expected to be up around 5 percent. Prices later in the year are expected to reflect the increased production.

ZINC COATING AND WIRE LIFE

Thirty years of testing have shown the value of zinc coating as a means of adding to the useful life of farm fencing. Tests recently concluded at Texas A&M University confirmed that the more zinc or galvanized coating on a wire, the longer it will resist rusting. Farmers and ranchmen should keep this in mind when fencing materials are being purchased. Rainfall and humidity are major factors contributing to rust and the heaviest coatings for wire used in such areas are recommended.

FERTILIZING IMPROVED YIELDS IN MOST KNOX COUNTY WHEAT FIELDS

Fertilizer application showed to be of value in all except one wheat field checked by the county agent in 1968.

Variations checked on League Ranch with Stanton Brown, Operations Manager, cooperating were: Red Creek - Northeast of Rhineland; Fertilizer used Yield per acre
65-65-0 30.8 bushels
18-46-0 28.7 bushels
check 18.3 bushels
North Dutchman Field - Benjamin
18-46-0 33.1 bushels
check 24.8 bushels

These fields were grazed and Stanton feels sure the addition of fertilizer improved the amount of grazing furnished. Barton and Moorhouse top dressed a field southwest of Benjamin with 33-0-0 which checked out with .3 bushel less yield than a check area. This was tightland which has not been in cultivation so many years. Joe Barton aided in this demonstration.

National Farm City Week Proclaimed

COLLEGE STATION - "The quality and quantity of our resources in the 21st century will depend on how well we plan uses for our nation's countryside and how successfully we develop town and country economies."

This statement was made by President Lyndon B. Johnson in proclaiming National Farm-City Week, Nov. 22-28.

Already the American farmer is producing enough food to feed himself and 42 others - far more than the two that the 18th Century Economist Adam Smith dreamed could make the country strong. Now it is estimated there will be another 100 million mouths to feed in the United States by the end of this century.

"Individual lives will be shaped, too, by whether our core cities are restored - and whether suburban growth is translated into durable and desirable forms of community development."

"Our major tools for achieving these goals are an agricultural capacity for abundance never before attained by any nation; and a vigorous economy with a gross national product this year of around $850 billion, the largest in the world; and "... our people's will to... use our prosperity as an instrument of progressive change." President Johnson's proclamation continued.

In calling upon all Americans to join in the observance of Farm-City Week, which is coordinated by Kiwanis International, he emphasized, "The necessity for an all-out attack on the problems responsible for pockets of economic blight in both country and city."

Also... "The continuing need to improve our land planning and land-use practices to preserve unspoiled countryside and make the fullest use of our developed land."

He pointed out the need to curb pollution of land, water and air so that all Americans can enjoy the products of the society.

The importance of further strengthening the economy of the family farm and the... "fact that assuring tomorrow's food and fiber is a concern of every American today" were also emphasized in the proclamation.

Weekend visitors in the home of Mrs. Bertha Trimmier were her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Cassel of Littlefield, her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hudspeth of Rochester, her sister, Mrs. Ruth Dozier of O'Brien, and E. E. Teaff, Mrs. Chock Reeves, and Mrs. Ida Dean Johnston, all of Knox County.

Hot Holiday Cheese Dip

The homemaker who serves "something special" during the holidays lends an added charm to her entertaining. Hot Holiday Cheese Dip provides a "warm" touch to cocktail parties and before-dinner conversations. It can be quickly and easily prepared with the use of an electric blender.

- 1 1/2 cups Swiss cheese cubes
- 1 cup Parmesan cheese cubes, or 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 medium onion, quartered
- 1/2 cup butter
- 2 cups light cream
- 1 teaspoon steak sauce
- 6 tablespoons flour
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1/2 cup sauterne wine

Put half the Swiss cheese into the Osterizer blender container, cover and process at Grind (HI) until grated. Empty into bowl and repeat process with remaining cheese.

Put onion into blender container, cover and process at Stir (Lo) until chopped. Sauté in butter until golden. Put onion and butter into blender container, add remaining ingredients except wine, cover and process at Mix (Lo) until smooth. Pour into saucepan and cook over low heat until thickened. Gradually add grated cheeses, mixing well after each addition. When cheese is melted, add wine and mix thoroughly. Pour into chafing dish and keep hot over water. Serve with shrimp or ham rolls. Yield: 3 cups.

Streams In Desert Places
BY OZELLE STEPHENS

"Praise for the Lord's everlasting mercy." Ps. 136. O give thanks unto the Lord. He is good for His mercy endureth forever. He doeth great wonders, by His wisdom He made the heavens, the earth, the sun, the moon, and the stars. He smote Egypt in their first born and brought Israel from among them. With a strong hand a stretched out arm he divided the red sea into parts. He made Israel to pass through the midst of it. He overthrew Pharaoh and His host in the sea. He led His people through the wilderness. He remembers us in our low estate and will deliver us from our enemies, even the enemy of death. Give thanks unto Him and Bless His Holy name.

Ag Economist Look At Swine

COLLEGE STATION - Since 10 Corn Belt States reported one to two percent fewer pigs in weight groups that will provide the bulk of the fall slaughter, hog slaughter for October, November, and December is expected to be a little smaller than during the same time period last year.

John G. McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, says prices will likely decline seasonally during the rest of 1968; however for the fall months as a whole, they should be a little higher or about the same as those for the last three months of 1967.

Hog slaughter in the first half of 1969 will probably be up from the total during the first half of 1968. Producers in 10 Corn Belt States reported plans to have four percent more sows farrow during the period of September 1968 to February 1969. The 1969 spring pig crop is also expected to increase. Farrowing intentions for the December 1968 to February 1969 quarter only, for 10 Corn Belt States, are up four percent from a year earlier.

The total 1969 spring pig crop could be up five percent from the previous year, says McHaney. If so, summer and fall prices may very well feel the effects of this increased supply.

The hog-corn price ratio, which, explains the economist, is the bushels of corn equal in value to 100 pounds of live hog, averaged 17.4 during the first half of 1968, compared with 15.2 in the same months of 1967.

During the July-September 1968 period, the ratio averaged about 19.6. Some point out that at present corn prices, all costs of hog production in well-managed operations can be covered at a hog-corn price ratio of around 14.5. If this is correct, one can understand why producers have been encouraged to expand production, says the economist.

Medicare Provides Various Types Of Service To Patients

The hospital insurance benefits of Medicare provide for services of three types, according to Edwin Draughon manager of the Vernon Social Security office. Benefits are possible when you are (1) a bed patient in a hospital, (2) a bed patient in an extended care facility (skilled nursing home) assigned there by your physician as a follow-up to hospital care, and (3) a patient at home receiving home health services. Mr. Draughon continued, There has been some thought that because you are covered under Medicare up to a certain maximum number of days, you can automatically count on that number of days regardless of your condition. Mr. Draughon went on to say that this is a misunderstanding and that when your condition improves to the extent you no longer require the level of care provided, then your eligibility ceases.

An example of this misunderstanding is the 100 day maximum eligibility in an Extended Care Facility. We are sometimes asked why a certain person was told Medicare would no longer pay for his stay in an Extended Care Facility when he had only been there 50 days and still had 50 days coming. The condition of the patient rather than the number of days is the controlling factor up to the point that the maximum number of days is reached. Coverage ends when his condition is such that he no longer needs the level of care provided by the Extended Care Facility.

Letters From Our Readers

Imperial, Calif.
Nov. 4, 1968
Hello Folks:

Just finished reading the Knox County Herald of Thursday, Oct. 31 "from cover to cover". My subscription has been up for about a month or so I believe. I received a notice on it but waited till pay-day and checks are not made of enough elastic these days and it didn't seem to s-t-r-e-t-c-h far enough and then - I tried to tell myself that I had been away two years and didn't know much about what was going on and who who who in the paper any more and maybe I would just not renew it again. However the paper kept coming and I kept reading it and realized I just couldn't give it up.

Now I have another (short) pay-day coming up Thursday and I am enclosing a check in the amount of $4.50 to cover another one year subscription, and thanking you for your patience in not stopping the paper.

Say hello to all my friends there - if I still have any there? huh???

Sincerely
Miss Inez Carver

(NOTE: Due to the length of Mrs. Portwood's letter, we choose only excerpts to print.)
Hi Billye Bess if you are still with the Herald staff, Enclosed you will find a check for renewal subscription to The Knox County Herald.

To our friends back there we want to say Hello. To you that have never lived away from that little city of Knox City, you have no idea what the home town paper means till you live away from it.

My husband, R. M. Portwood Sr. is about as anxious to get the home town paper as I am. It won't be many more sun-sets, God willing, that we will be back at our little in Knox City to the winter months at least. A castle in Lathrop mean to us what the home in Knox City means. Sincerely,

Mrs. R. M. Portwood

Bacteria The Smallest Plants

BY JEANA VASSAR

The biology students of Knox City High are looking into the strange, microscopic world of bacteria. In order to study these fascinating plants, the students must grow their own live bacteria. About two days before the students observe the small plants, the students inoculate culture dishes with four types of material in which the bacteria are present. The dishes are then put into an incubator where they remain for about seventy-two hours. After a sufficient period of time, the students are able to take the culture dishes from the incubator and observe the colonies of bacteria.

The students were surprised to learn that there are only three forms of bacteria. They observed each of these under their microscopes. (The students are very fortunate to have microscopes powerful enough to observe the bacteria which are the smallest plants known to man.)

Through studying the characteristics of bacteria, the students are finding out some of the strange facts about them. They have found that these small plants need no sunlight, in fact, sunlight kills them. Also, they have found that these tiny plants are the chief agents that cause disease and infection.

In the process of studying the bacteria, the students observed the effect of several antibiotics on them. One of the things they observed that is not usually considered is the time factor involved to destroy the bacteria by the antibiotics. In some cases, the length of time for the antibiotics to destroy the bacteria is from forty-eight to seventy-two hours.

The biology students are now growing molds and are discovering the relation between bacteria and mold.

The studies of the microscopic world of bacteria and mold will continue for the next few days.

MOST AMENDMENTS DEFEATED - Voters showed they are in an economy frame of mind in their decisions on 14 proposed state constitutional amendments.

They voted November 5 to cut out the state property tax, but they refused to go along with raising the state's public welfare ceiling from $60 million to $75 million a year or to increase legislators salaries from $4,800 to $8,400 annually.

Approved were changes in state employees' pensions system, university fund investment liberalization, removal of the $504 a year ceiling on contributions to teacher pensions, wiping out the property tax and clarifying a legislator's eligibility to run for other office by varying the termination date of his elective term.

Texans turned thumbs down on tax exemption warehouse-stored property, El Paso local government consolidations, Dallas road bonds, tax aid for Texas tobacco merchants, state contract changes, tax benefits anti-pollution equipment purchasers and industrial issues.
