for their appearance in casual wear and formal evening wear. Miss Hodges was chosen runner-up in the 1968 pageant and the new queen is a spring graduate of Knox City High School.

Her cotton broadcloth casual ensemble, which she made herself from McCall's pattern No. 9412, included a red A-line skirt, a white long sleeved blouse with "button on" lace bib, and a sleeveless hip length jacket of red, white, blue, and yellow plaid which featured patch pockets. For her formal evening wear Queen Betty chose a gown of white lace over taffeta fashioned in Empire design with long slim skirt. The flowing chiffon back lent a Grecian effect and the waist was banded and bowed in satin.

The judges, Miss Ruth Ann Fansler, Haskell County Home Demonstration Agent; Wichita Falls Record News farm editor Joe Brown, and Abilene Reporter News state editor Sam Pendergrast, said that Miss Hodges was judged particularly high for her personality and her delivery of the following speech:

"When I sat down to write my speech for tonight's pageant, I decided to see what cotton really was so I looked in the dictionary. Webster says cotton is a soft, white, downy substance, consisting of fibers attached to the seeds. So I decided against them by Martin and the Attorneys General of other states.

Forms may be picked up at the County Clerk's office in each Texas county. Many newspapers are also printing copies of the form which can be used by consumers.

The drugs involved are Aureomycin, Terramycin, Achromycin, Mysteclin, Panalba, Panmycin, Polycycline, Steclin, Tetracyclin and Tetrax.

If a person fails to file a claim, it will constitute authorization to use the money recovered in his behalf for the benefit of all consumers in a manner directed by the Federal Court.

"Thousands of Texans are eligible to make claims and I hope they will avail themselves of the opportunity," the Attorney General said. "The form is a simple one, providing for estimates of the total dollar amount a consumer purchased and the names and addresses of the drugstores where the purchases were made in the years 1954-66."

Plans For Second Annual TAB Are Now In Making

Plans are in the making for the second annual Teachers Appreciation Banquet. It is the desire of the people of this community to demonstrate their appreciation for the valuable service rendered by the Knox City School faculty.

A visit to any one of the many classes conducted in the local school system would leave no doubt in the mind of the visitor that each teacher on the staff is a dedicated one. The spirit of enthusiasm, which is evident in each one, is rare for the age in which we live.

Reliable, qualified teachers are one of the best investments we as parents can make in the lives of our children.

Let us plan to make the banquet this year even better, larger, and more enjoyable than the previous one. Each community club and civic organization has been asked to help again by sending two representatives to the planning meeting which has been scheduled for Sunday afternoon, August 10 at 3:30 o'clock in Methodist Church Fellowship Hall. All other interested individuals are also invited to help in the planning and may express their desire by attending the Sunday afternoon meeting.

Rev. Dick Myers, pastor of the Foursquare Church in San Pedro, California will present inspirational messages concerning "The Victorious Life," illustrating each message with colorful charts. The public is cordially invited to attend each service.

Mrs. Wesley Hays, wife of the band director at the Knox City Schools, will begin piano and voice instructions September 1 as may be noted in the ad section of this week's Herald.

included marching films, presented by Dean Killion of Texas Tech; a new music clinic, a percussion mallet instrument clinic, presented by Joel Leach; and marching techniques by Bill Moffitt the clinician and Hal Leonard the sponsor.

Mr. Hays was impressed with Ray Robbins, TBA Bandmaster of the year and especially enjoyed the marching band clinic and instructor Dean Killion. He said the clinic instilled in him an urge to "get going" for he feels he will be working with a fine group this fall.

law enforcement, and treatment. "Educating our citizens as to the dangers involved in drug misuse and abuse is a vital approach to solving the current crisis," she explained, "and if effectively carried out, obviously there should be less need for enforcement and treatment in the area of drug abuse."

"Of course, the problems in a small community are minor compared to the problems in the cities, but there is a need for educating our young people about the many dangers of drug misuse because many of them will be exposed to drug use when they enter college or leave the small town to work in some city," she said.

An associate professor in the College of Pharmacy at the University of Houston, she is the daughter of Mrs. H. M. Jones and the late Mr. Jones.

decided to find out just what people around here think of when they hear the word cotton.

When you say cotton to a nurse, she thinks of cotton swabs, which she uses in giving shots, cotton bandages, and cotton sheets. As I was told a hospital could not be run properly without cotton.

When a teenager thinks of cotton they think of the clothes they wear, but I really don't believe they realize how important cotton clothes really are. Last week while I was watching the Apollo II splash-down I was amazed to find out that the annihilation suits the astronauts put on after they reentered the earth atmosphere were made of tightly woven cotton.

Here in our community if the cotton crop isn't good the merchants don't have a good year and sometimes we farmers' daughters don't have anything to wear.

And finally as of the last two months my impression of cotton hasn't been too good. When I think of cotton I see patches of green stocks, large careless weeds, and lots of Johnson grass. In that field I can see two small girls walking around with hoes in their hands to act like they are working. But when I get close enough I can see that the two girls are my little sister and I."

Crowned by the 1968 Cotton Queen Miss June Burnison of Munday, Miss Hodges told the Herald that her original purpose for entering the competition was for the experience and also because cotton is so much a part of her summertime. She said she felt the pageant was a fine way to top that off.

Some of her hobbies are swimming, certain household chores, and working with handicapped youth. "Not to mention 'Cotton Choppin'," she quipped. Future plans include civil service and at the present time, she is taking 14 week training

Motor Vehicle Inspection Act Makes Change Sept. 1

Austin - The most sweeping changes ever to be made in the State's Motor Vehicle Inspection Act will become effective September 1, according to Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Speir said the amended act, recently adopted by the Texas Legislature, will place Texas on a 12 month inspection period. The measure increases the inspection fee from $1.75 to $2.00, and moves the location of the inspection sticker from the right of the windshield to the left. It also adds exhaust emission systems on 1968 or later vehicles, and exhaust systems on all vehicles, to the list of items to be inspected.

Speir said that all vehicles subject to inspection must be taken to an approved motor vehicle inspection station between September 1, 1969 and April 15, 1970. Upon satisfactory completion of the inspection procedure, the mechanic-inspector will remove the old sticker and affix the new one.

"The new stickers will expire 12 months from the date of inspection, and will contain a large number tab showing the month of expiration," Speir noted. "For example, a sticker issued in September will contain a number nine, and will expire on the last day of September, 1970. A sticker issued in January will contain the number one and will expire at the end of January, 1971," he added.

The DPS director urged all motorists to have their cars inspected early to get ready

CPI Opens Cotton Fabrics Library At Fall Meeting

Dallas — Opening of a library where manufacturers and designers can view the latest in cotton fabrics was one of the high lights of the fall meeting of the Board of Trustees of Cotton Producers Institute here today.

The ceremonies at the Dallas Apparel Mart followed a busy day in which the trustees considered recommendations for a wide range of cotton research and promotion activities for 1970.

Representing the Rolling Plains area on the 51-member CPI Board is Charles W. Stenholm, Stamford.

The fabric library is the second to open, following enthusiastic acceptance of the initial unit in New York. With the opening of a third library later this month in Los Angeles, designers and manufacturers and the three major U. S. apparel manufacturing centers will have ready access to the latest in cotton fabrics for the coming year.

According to Mr. Stenholm, "The new library will serve as liaison between mills and the clothing trade and will afford apparel designers and manufacturers the opportunity to see a cross section of all types of cotton that are on the market without sales pressure."

When a designer or manufacturer expresses interest in a fabric, he is given a card indicating the name of the mill, the sales representative, and the mill fabric number of his selection. A similar card is then mailed to the mill to inform them of the visit to the library and the interest expressed in their product.

In addition to special displays of seasonal fabrics, the facility will offer a permanent index and file on all categories of domestically manufactured cottons along with sample swatches to illustrate fabric construction, staple weaves, and treated materials. Some 5,000 fabric samples from the spring lines of over 100 textile manufacturers and mills are included in the library.

The new Dallas facility is only one of the many projects supported by the $10-million program of research and promotion. Trustees indicated significant progress already is being realized through research in controlling insects, diseases, weeds, and other problem areas that cut growers' profits or reduce markets for cotton. Giant strides are being made, they stated, on developing improved consumer products.

Low-cost disability life insurance is available to qualified disabled veterans, reminds the VA.

MRS. RALPH EARL JACKSON, JR.
nee Linda Lavina Coyle

Miss Linda Lavina Coyle Is Wed To Ralph Earl Jackson

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Earl Jackson Jr. are making their home at 508 Twenty-second street in Canyon, following their wedding Saturday evening, July 19 at 6:30 o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arville Coyle of Childress, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Henrietta Smith of Knox City.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Earl Jackson of Phillips are parents of the bridegroom.

Double ring vows were read at Joseph A. Hill Chapel in Canyon by Dr. Newton J. Robinson, minister of the First Christian Church of Amarillo. Pedestal baskets filled with bouquets of orchid gladioli and white daisies, and candelabra, entwined with English ivy and holding cathedral tapers, graced the altar.

Max Mayse, organist, accompanied the bridegroom as he sang the "Wedding Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a gown of chantilly lace over silk mist taffeta. The A-line design featured a bateau neckline and long tapered sleeves. The chapel train was attached to a self bow and coil roses of peau de soie encrusted with seed pearls secured the elbow-length veil of French illusion.

The bridal bouquet, of white orchids, daisy mums, and gypsophila, was held with a shower of satin streamers tied in love knots and the bride carried a handkerchief which belonged to her aunt.

Miss Sally Coyle served her sister as maid of honor and Miss Carolyn Crowmover of Knox City and Miss Carol Bean of Fort Worth were honor attendants. Their identical gowns of orchid moire crepe were fashioned in an A-line design. The Empire waists were accented in orchid satin and brief veils attached to Dior bows formed their headpieces. They carried daisies tied with orchid ribbons.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Floyd Jackson. Groomsmen were J. W. Butler of Borger, the groom's brother-in-law, and Doug Richards of Canyon. Ushers and candlelighters were Robert Elitogue and Bill Shipp of Canyon.

Hunting, Fishing Licenses Shipped Early This Year

Austin — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will ship two million licenses for the 1969-70 season Sunday (Aug. 10), according to C. L. Friou, assistant director of administrative services for the Department.
The licenses will be mailed to more than 3,200 license sales agents which includes most hardware and sporting goods stores, about one-half of Texas county clerks, and all of the Department's regional districts, and field offices. Game management officers for the Department will receive a minimum supply.
The initial shipment will contain 730,000 resident hunting licenses, and 900,000 fishing licenses with a total face value of $4.4 million. There will be 23 types of licenses in the shipment.
Basically, there is little change in the new licenses. The cost and general appearance are the same except for the color and dates. Three new types of licenses were added by the 61st Legislature — fish farm, fish farm vehicle, and salt water trotlines licenses. *****

Working Students Are Urged To Keep Records

Students receiving social security benefits who are working full-time this summer need to keep up with their earnings, according to Edwin Draughon, social security manager, in Vernon.
"This is especially true of students working part-time while going to school. Those students need to add their earnings earlier in the year to what they will earn full-time this summer to determine their total earnings for this year," Mr. Draughon explained.

Students and other beneficiaries may earn as much as $1680 during the entire year and get all their social security benefits. If gross earnings (before deductions) are expected to exceed $1680, a report must be made to the social security administration.
This also applies to students who graduated in May or June and are no longer entitled to benefits, but whose yearly earnings will go over $1680.
Mr. Draughon suggested that students who earned more than $140 a month while going to school and who plan to earn over $1680 this year get in touch with the Social Security Administration.

Study Released Of County Oil Gas Production
Knox County oil and gas wells pumped some $5.6 million into the county's economy last year, according to a study just released by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.
Value of production from oil wells was $5.6 million and from natural-gas wells $31,000 based on the most recent U. S. Bureau of Mines figures compiled by the Association. The county ranked 121st in the state in value of production.
"Output from Knox County is part of this country's domestic oil supply which is endangered by some of the proposals now before Congress," commented Corbin J. Robertson, Association president. "Attempts to destroy percentage depletion provisions of our income tax laws and to nullify present controls over imported oil could discourage further development of Texas oil resources. Eventually oil markets now shared by the county

Last year, the county produced 1.9 million barrels of crude oil and 236 million cubic feet of natural gas.

Of this total, county landowners and others with mineral interests received royalty payments of $704,000.

The state received $260,000 in production taxes with crude oil accounting for $258,000 and natural gas $2,000.

Drilling expenditures were an estimated $553,000. Of the 29 wells drilled in the county, 10 were completed as oil wells, according to Ira Rinehart's Yearbook. The 19 dry holes cost $347,000. There were 12 wildcats drilled.

The Texas Employment Commission lists 16 workers on oil and gas payrolls, which totaled $127,000. *****

Some College Students May Enlist In OCS

The U. S. Army has a new enlistment program for college students. Sergeant Henry A. Butts, local Army recruiter, announced that effective immediately, college students with at least 60 semester hours can enlist in the Army for Officer Candidate School (OCS).

The new program allows young men with either 60 semester, 60 trimester or 90 quarter-semester hours of unduplicated college level studies to enlist under the new program.

Graduates of accredited junior colleges and those having credit hours from an accredited degree granting institution are eligible to enlist for OCS. Prior to this only individuals with a baccalaureate or higher degree could apply for the OCS program from outside the active Army.

The total training period for OCS, from enlistment to commissioning, lasts about 10 1/2 months. The training is divided into three categories, basic, ad-

PREPARE FOR WINTER PASTURES

Highly productive winter pastures can reduce hay and feed costs. With prospects of a limited hay crop, winter pastures may be more valuable than ever.

Mid-summer is the time to make plans for winter temporary pastures. Waiting until the fall rains to plant pastures is one reason livestock producers sometimes have realized little or no return from winter pastures. Seedbeds should be prepared in mid to late summer and seed of wheat, oats, rye, or barley should be planted in September in most areas of the Rolling Plains. Be sure to get a soil test and apply recommended amounts of fertilizer during seedbed preparation.

Army worms and other insects may attack early planted pastures, but these can be effectively and economically controlled with insecticides. The additional growth from early planting largely determines the profit realized from investments in winter pastures.

Avoid grazing the pastures during early season of growth. Permit forage growth to accumulate until late October or November, depending on weather conditions. Early grazing severely reduces the amount of forage produced during the season.

Winter pastures may require considerable investment, but they may be very profitable especially when forage for winter feeding is scarce and expensive.

STURDY WHEAT'S SISTER, CAPROCK, AVAILABLE SOON

Caprock, the second semi-dwarf of "shorty" wheat developed by Texas A&M University plant breeders, will be available to Texas growers after the 1969 harvest.

TAMUS Sturdy wheat, the first hard red winter variety with short stature, was released to growers in 1966. Dr. I. M. Atkins, Small Grains Section Leader at A&M, said more than 200,000 acres of Sturdy are already being grown in Texas and Oklahoma. Caprock and Sturdy, along with many other high yielding, high quality varieties, were developed in the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station wheat research program Atkins said. Among these are Tascosa, Cad-do, Crockett, Quana and Milam, giving growers adapted varieties for all sections of the state. Tascosa alone is now grown on more than 1 million Texas acres.

Caprock and Sturdy are sister strains developed by TAMU Plant Breeders Atkins, Dr. K. B. Porter, K. A. Lahr and Dr. O. G. Merkle in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The varieties were produced from a cross made by Atkins in 1951. Subsequent breeding and selection were done at Denton, Chillicothe and Bushland.

"Development of a new wheat variety often takes 12 to 15 years to test and release," Atkins pointed out.

He said Caprock is best adapted to irrigated areas of the Texas High Plains, where it has out-yielded Sturdy by about 10 bushels per acre and weighed a half-pound higher in test weight. Both do equally well in the Rolling Plains, but Sturdy yields better in Central Texas.

Plant characters are nearly identical in Caprock and Sturdy. Both have, short, strong straw which will stand under heavy grain loads. Many of the head spikelets have three or four grains per spikelet of "mesh."

Plants of the varieties average about 6 to 10 inches shorter than tall wheat types previously grown.

In large scale plantings last year, two fields of Sturdy made 78 bushels per acre, Atkins said. Eight fields, totalling 604 acres, produced more than 60 bushels per acre, and one 300-acre field, 69 bushels an acre.

"When we fully learn how to use these new wheats, we may be able to produce 100 bushels per acre under some conditions," the agronomist said.

Studies by Pat A. Rich at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research Station at Denton show that shorty wheats like Sturdy and Caprock use fertilizer more efficiently than do tall wheats. Plant food elements are used to produce grain instead of straw.

Excessive straw, Atkins explained, is sometimes a disposal problem in preparation for the next crop.

Crop management studies at the Texas Research Foundation near Renner also have shown that TAMUS Sturdy produces top wheat yields.

Caprock and Sturdy are suitable for production of bakery flour. Sturdy was approved by the Crop Quality Council after testing in 25-bushel seed lots, Atkins pointed out. Caprock is equal in all quality characteristics to Sturdy.

He said Caprock and Sturdy seed can be obtained from the Foundation Seed Section at Texas A&M.

Miss Reese In Conference

Denton - Mary Reese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reese, recently participated in the second pre-college conference ever held at North Texas State University.

Aimed at giving prospective freshman a preview of campus life, the two-day orientation period included counseling, testing, registration, recreation and tours of the campus.

Some 173 of the 2,200 students who will enroll at NTSU as beginning freshmen in September took part in the second phase of the 12-session program which began July 17 and will continue throughout the summer.

The group, which was housed in Clark Hall during the conference, represented 31 different Texas counties and Mississippi.

More interesting facts about the 50th State: Water here is, of course, completely pure and safe to drink. As I have said before, snakes are supposedly nonexistent, credit being given to mongooses imported to exterminate them many years ago. The climate is normally sunny, cooled by the incessant tradewinds, but the state contains the rainiest spot on earth, already mentioned above - Mt. Waialeale on Kauai has an average rainfall of 486.1 inches. The state's average temperature is 88 degrees high and a 68 degree low, though dry and wet areas vary throughout the islands.

Hawaii's leading industries are sugar, pineapple, tourism, and fashion. Over a million visitors were here in 1968 with a million and a half expected in 1969, and I can surely believe that figure!

The state flower is the hibiscus with each island having its own official blossom. Bananas, pineapples, mangoes, papayas, breadfruit, avocados, macadamia nuts, and sugar cane grow in abundance.

The missionaries first arrived in Hawaii in 1819 and are credited with introducing Christianity and the muumuu, then known as the Mother Hubbard, which slowly took the place of the then native worn pareu, or, most often, "birthday suit."

Hawaii has excellent foods, of which I'll be writing more about right along, including American, Japanese, Chinese, Hawaiian, Korean, Philippine, Samoan, Indonesian, Italian, and Mexican (although the latter not being as nearly so good as that prepared in Texas). Hawaii has four major TV stations plus an educational station and 20 radio stations, plus more cars per capita than any other state in the Union (and the majority of them are on the streets all of the time, I'll guarantee!) 29% of its population is Japanese, 28% Caucasian (haole), 8% Filipino, 12% Hawaiian (pure blooded), 33.8% includes: part Hawaiian, Chinese, Korean, Negro, and racial mixtures.

It is in Honolulu that Governor John Burns and the state legislature meet in the new fifteen million dollar State Capitol Building (the one they took their time in building - 10 years). Most visitor attractions are in Honolulu or on Oahu, including museums, shops, theaters, shops, the University of Hawaii, shops, and the East-West Center (a school offering studies in both the cultures and societies of the Orient and the Western free world.)

Before Hawaii became a state it was, in this order, a monarchy with its first king, self-proclaimed. He was Kamehameha the Great who conquered the rest of the islands by force and ruled until his death in 1819. It was during the reign of Queen Liliuokalani, last of the ali (chiefs), whose reign became a protectorate of the United States, and was called a "republic". It was formally annexed in 1900 with Sanford Ballard Dole appointed as the first governor of the new Territory. Then came 1959 and the approval of statehood for Hawaii...

Passing comment: While thumbing through the Newsweek magazine of June 30, 1969, I came across a GMAC ad with the picture of a young man with animals all around him, I did a double take - if that isn't the identical twin of my nephew, Kelly Robinson from Rochester, it's Kelly himself! ... Well that's just about pau for now... Aloha from the pearl of the Pacific... Bobby Robinson *****

TONYA STEWARD

Wins Knox County Dress Revue In Vernon

Tonya Steward, eleven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Steward of Goree, represented Knox County at the District Dress Revue, in Vernon, August 1. Tonya placed first in the 11-13 year old group at the County Dress Revue which was Saturday, July 26, at the Munday Chamber of Commerce meeting room. Girls in this age group did not compete at the District Revue, only modeled their garments. Tonya's dress was made of bright red Klopman cotton, trimmed with black daisy lace around the neck, sleeves and at the lowered waistline. The dress had a flared skirt, and Tonya accessorized it with black patent shoes and a little wooden purse.

Each girl participating in the Dress Revue received a blue ribbon to acknowledge her achievement. The theme of the show was Alice in Fashion Land and all participants modeled their garments prior to a luncheon for the girls and their mothers and friends which was sponsored by West Texas Utilities Company. The girls in the 14 and over age group were judged by each other. The four top winners will compete in the State Dress Revue at the State Fair in October in Dallas.

Another participant in the District Dress Revue from Knox County was LaNay Patterson of Benjamin. LaNay provided the music for the style show by playing several lovely popular pieces on the piano as background music.

Congratulations !!! to Betty Hodges on becoming Knox County Cotton Queen for 1969. Betty proved to be very poised and charming in the competition last Thursday night. All the other contestants were also very lovely. As a matter of fact, we did not envy the judges their position - having to decide between five beauties. A special salute to Miss June Burnison, 1968 Cotton Queen, who appeared very regal and charming! And again, Congratulations, Betty!

Your Home Demonstration Agent will be in Amarillo, August 7, 8, and 9, attending an Agents' Association meeting. Hopefully she will bring back many new and useful ideas. Then the following week she will be gone a few days on a "much looked forward to" vacation.

(LAST WEEK'S NEWS)

BOLLWORM POPULATION CONTINUE TO INCREASE IN COTTON

Knox County cotton producers are keeping a close watch over their cotton fields as bollworms continue to show indications of being a major threat to production. Irrigated fields are now showing the fastest build-up and application for control are being applied in most all cases on these.

Other insects have been a real problem in some fields. The cotton fleahopper has delayed early fruiting in several fields, while the boll weevil has caused light damage over most fields to this time.

Producers should be prepared to apply a minimum of 3 to 5 control applications when they start this time of year. One application often only aggravates the situation by reducing the number of beneficial insects and allowing the bollworm to increase.

A copy of L-508, Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects may be obtained from the county agent's office.

SPOT CUTTING OF GRAIN SORGHUM

Many grain sorghum producers in the county have found it necessary to harvest spots in fields before the entire field is ready to cut. This was caused by the early deterioration in many spots over the field due to hot dry weather. These spots are lodging, making it necessary to harvest early to salvage some grain from them.

Average yield prospects from dryland grain sorghum in most cases are light. Many irrigated fields will also yield fairly light as water could not be run over the entire fields often enough to prevent some deterioration.

RANGE MANAGEMENT TO PROTECT FORAGE IN TIME OF DROUGHT

Many things can be done to alleviate shortage of range forage from drought. Some steps can be taken immediately, while others can be taken as insurance against the next drought period.

Drouth is no stranger to the southwest but many livestock men base their operations on the longtime average or the exceptionally good rainfall years. The first step to follow in a drouth situation is the reduction of grazing pressure on rangeland. This can be accomplished by culling the low and non-producers from a herd. This practice reduces the grazing pressure, and offers an opportunity to improve the productive capability of the herd. Many times total production is greater after the low producers are removed.

During a prolonged drouth, supplemental feeding becomes necessary in order to keep a breeding herd intact. This might best be done by putting the herd in dry lot or in a small trap rather than letting the whole range be damaged. Supplemental pastures can help furnish needed grazing in critical periods.

Preventive steps include maintaining reserve forage. A well planned and executed deferred-rotation grazing program can provide one good source of reserve forage. An emergency feed supply should be also maintained. It's best to buy when feedstuffs are abundant and prices are most favorable.

Act now to overcome present drouth problems and make plans for those ahead.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

About 30 or 40 years ago the good tax folks put out statistics of income for each county in the United States. This got to be too big a job for the tax folks because there were too many taxpayers creating too many different kinds of income statistics for the tax people to furnish detailed county by county figures within a reasonable period of time. Then came the computer - and on your tax return you give the computer your name, your number and your zip code. Your zip code not only tells IRS what county you live in, but what corner of the county, or what section of the city. About a year ago Internal Revenue issued statistics of income for the year of 1966. These returns were filed in 1967. Last month Internal Revenue issued statistics of income for the year 1966 broken down by the first three digits of your zip code. In most cases the large cities have a separate three digit zip code for the city and another three digit zip code for the surrounding area. There are 47 different three-digit zip codes in addition to a breakdown of the 47,307 people who didn't put their zip codes on their tax return in Texas. You can buy a copy of the Zip Code Statistics of Income from the Government Printing Office for $1.00. Ask for Publication 649, from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

Drunk Driver Law Is Told

Austin - A free illustrated talk explaining the new Texas law which makes chemical breath tests mandatory for drunk driving suspects is now available from the Texas Safety Association.

Entitled "So, What Do We Do Now?", the talk points out that the past ten years, 68 percent of persons killed in one-car accidents were drunk when they died, as were 43 percent of those killed in two-car accidents. It goes on to estimate that enforcement of the new law can lower those percentages considerably, saving as many as 500 lives a year.

Starting September 1, Texas drivers suspected of driving while intoxicated must take a test to determine the alcohol content of their blood. If they refuse the test, they can lose their driver's license.

"So, What Do We Do Now?" describes each step in the administering of the test to a suspect. The talk is designed to give Texans a better understanding of the "breath test" law and the procedures which will be followed in enforcing it.

Illustrated with 33 color slides, the talk is available at no charge to adult groups throughout the state. Civic and service organizations wishing to see the presentation are urged to contact the Texas Safety Association, 1623 South Lamar Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78704. Telephone Area Code 512, 444-6551.
