

Heavy Vote Eliminates New Regime

New faces will be the official county family in January, following Saturday primary election. One of the heaviest votes on record changes in at least four precincts.

City led the county Saturday in one of the heaviest votes on record in Knox County. Unusually the Monday box counted a total of 601, by far the largest at any time here. Mungistered about 350 ballots, and a light vote for their boxes.

Official tabulations show a wide total of 2481 ballots with a 1945 poll tax list of 0. Ex-service people made up a large percent of this year's voting, as indicated by these figures.

Winners in the county races only slight margins, except one or two instances. The closest contest was for County Judge, with Griffith beating out the incumbent, J. C. Patterson, who was seeking re-election to the office. The final count was 1246 votes for Griffith, and 1170 for Patterson.

Sams, county tax assessor, lost to Buddy Bumpas in a photo-finish. Munday ran up 1243 votes to 1200.

Mer T. Melton, running for sheriff against the incumbent, Floyd, and E. J. Cude, went into the run-off with Melton. Melton polled 1211 votes, Floyd 1011, and Cude 1170.

McGaughey, seeking reelection as County School Superintendent, had a clear margin. Jack Qualls, 1344 to 1170.

Opal Harrison was elected district clerk for Knox County, S. S. Kilgore. The vote was for Mrs. Harrison and 844 for Kilgore.

Cheney was elected County Clerk over the write-in candidate, T. W. Templeton. The vote was 1890 to 512.

Going down to the local precincts, if there ever was a dope, it was kicked to the winds Saturday in this precinct. Tom Stogner and Pete Knight, running for commissioner of the local precinct, away from their running mates, Barney Arnold and John Smith, to go into the run-off. Heavy favorites, Stogner carried the field with 281 votes, Knight having 237, and Arnold left to Arnold and Stogner led in the Sunday election and was only four votes behind in the Knox City precinct.

precinct 3, C. A. Bullion out over G. E. Ryder and Eagan. Bullion polled 164, 85, and Reagan 42.

Reeder, Jr. had a wide margin over Tommy Glover in district Attorney's race. Joe Reeder, Jr. had a wide margin over Tommy Glover in district Attorney's race. Joe Reeder, Jr. had a wide margin over Tommy Glover in district Attorney's race.

The Winnah!

It will be Hizzoner the Judge for Wm. Griffith, successful candidate for County Judge in the Democratic primary held last Saturday. Mr. Griffith had a clear victory over his opponent, J. C. Patterson, who was seeking re-election to the office. The final count was 1246 votes for Griffith, and 1170 for Patterson.

In a post-election statement Tuesday, Mr. Griffith was high in praise of the reception he had at the polls.

"I am genuinely grateful to the fine people of Knox County for the confidence they have expressed in me. I wish I could thank each one individually, but since that is impossible at this time, please accept this method of my gratitude.

"I will accept the office to which I have been elected with malice toward none, and with the interest of every citizen of the county at heart. We have a fine group of people, a fine county in which to live, and we will work constantly to the betterment of the good things we already have. Thank you again for your consideration," Mr. Griffith said.

Pete Knight Offers Thanks To Voters

To the Voters of Precinct 1: "I am highly gratified for the large number of votes cast in my favor last Saturday, and want to thank each and every one who voted for me.

"I will be a candidate in the run-off election on August 24, and am asking further support and consideration for the office of commissioner of this precinct. I will endeavor to see as many of you as possible before the run-off, but in the meantime, accept my thanks for what you have done and remember me on August 24."

Respectfully,
O. L. (Pete) Knight

Sheriff Floyd Asks Continued Support

To the Democratic Voters Of Knox County: I take this means of thanking all those who voted for me in the first primary and ask their continued support in the run-off, as well as the support of all others who believe that my record as sheriff entitles me to another term. If elected I will make you just as good a sheriff as I know how.

L. C. (Lewis) Floyd

County Winners Thank Voters for Consideration

"I hardly know how to express my appreciation for the splendid support I received as a candidate for Sheriff of Knox County in last Saturday's primary. I humbly thank each and every voter of the county for their support, and wish it were possible to express my thanks to you personally.

"While receiving the highest vote in a field of three candidates, I will go into the run-off on August 24, needing your continued support at the polls. Your vote on this day will be deeply appreciated.

"I have conducted my campaign on a fair and square basis, and will continue to do so, offering the voters my candidacy on merits and a fair administration of the sheriff's office.

"Thanks for what you have done for me, and may I further warrant your support in the run-off."

Sincerely,
Homer T. Melton.

Buddy Bumpas Highly Pleased With Victory

I take this opportunity to express to you my deep appreciation for electing me your Tax Assessor-Collector in the primary election last Saturday. I want to thank everyone from the bottom of my heart for the confidence you have in me.

I am glad that my opponent received a good vote too; for he is a fine person, and ran a very clean race.

I promise you that the office will be conducted in an energetic, efficient, and courteous manner. I will consider it a privilege to be of service to you at any time as your Tax Assessor-Collector or as a friend and neighbor.

Your sincere friend,
Buddy Bumpas

Tom Stogner Thanks Voters

I want to thank the voters of Precinct 1 for the support they gave me Saturday as a candidate for commissioner of this precinct. It was due to the loyalty of my friends at the polls that I received the highest vote in a four-man race for this position.

"Being placed in the run-off election to be held on August 24, I am asking the voters to give me their final support and consideration in the last stages of the campaign. I have conducted a fair and unbiased race for this office and I will continue to seek your support on the merits and experience I offer for this office.

Don Civvies

Milton Gene Bradberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bradberry, was discharged July 27 at the Norman, Oklahoma Separation Center and is now at home with his parents.

Milton Gene was Storekeeper 3rd class and served in the Navy operating base on Guam since last September. He completed boot training last August and was shipped overseas in September.

He plans to take a few days rest as a civilian, and then will take employment here.

Lee Ward, son of Silas Ward of Knox City, arrived home Tuesday after an 18 month tour of duty in the Navy.

Lee held the rating of Storekeeper, third class when he was discharged early this week at the Separation Center in Norman, Oklahoma.

He entered the service in February, 1945 and was sent overseas in July of that year. After a month's duty at Pearl Harbor, Lee was transferred to the N.O.B. on Guam and was stationed there until his return to the States for discharge.

Lee plans to attend college this fall if an opening can be found.

His letter to Horace follows: Dear Horace: I was delighted to see the Knox County Herald announcing your official opening day. I would have enjoyed being present.

You are convinced of the future for Knox City and Knox County and demonstrated your faith.

City Voting On Bonds Today

With only light voting reported up to noon today, Knox City property owners are having their say about a proposed $110,000 water and sewer improvement bond issue.

Thirty votes had been cast at 1 o'clock, but election officials expected heavier voting later in the day.

Two propositions are offered the voters, both dealing with water and sewer improvements, and facilities for handling the proposed bond issue.

Opinion has favored the issue to pass.

Benedict Motors Host To Many At Opening

"We had a big day last Friday, and we want to thank the good people of this community for giving us such a good hand on our opening day," said Horace Benedict, owner of Benedict Motors, Knox County Ford dealers, who formally opened their place of business last Friday.

"We would like to thank the businessmen and others who were so kind in congratulations and words of appreciation. It was a big day for us, and we appreciate the public's reception," he added.

Crowds visited the new enterprise throughout Friday and Saturday, to see the newly constructed building and the modern facilities.

In tune with the round of congratulations coming to Horace Benedict on the opening of his new Ford enterprise in Knox City, is the following letter from E. O. Jamison, who with Mrs. Jamison, is now spending the summer in cool Colorado.

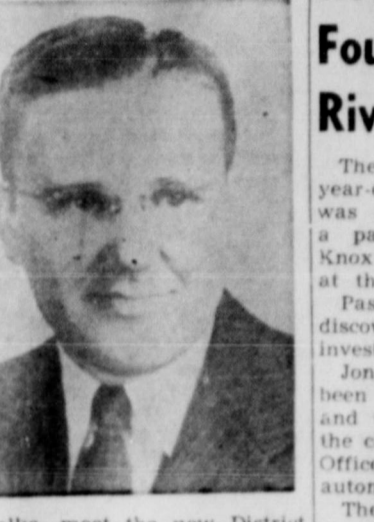

Mr. Jamison can easily qualify as the "believingest" man in this territory, having staked out his claim here when most of it was a prairie. He went through the good and bad years in the same stride, always with an optimistic outlook that has matured to his fullest expectations.

He Dood It!

Folks, meet the new District Attorney. Reeder is the name, Joe Jr., that is. He won a nip and tuck battle last Saturday against Tommy Glover of Seymour, in which the outcome was not decided until the last box was in.

Joe carried three counties of the four-county 50th Judicial District, conceding his opponent only his home county, Baylor. In Knox County the count was Reeder 1578, Glover 821; Cottle county, Reeder 1107, Glover 631; King county, Reeder 158, Glover 237; Baylor, Glover 1531, Reeder 602.

Mrs. Ross Griffith To Visit Parents

Mrs. Ross Griffith will leave August 17 by plane for a visit with her parents in Brooklyn, New York.

Mrs. Griffith came to Knox City a year ago as the bride of Ross Griffith, well-known Knox City news dealer. She and Ross met at the Seeing Eye Institution at Morristown, N. J., where they had both gone to train for privileges of using a Seeing Eye dog.

Mrs. Griffith was reared in Brooklyn and her trip to Texas last year was her first migration from the large city. Her father has been in failing health lately and she will return for a long visit with her parents.

Her Seeing Eye dog will accompany her on the plane trip.

Red Cross Meets Next Monday

The Knox County Chapter of the American Red Cross will have their annual election at a meeting in Benjamin, Monday, August 5. The meeting will be held in the courthouse.

Officers for the ensuing year will be elected, and a program has been arranged. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Green had as their guests this week Mr. and Mrs. Burke Parsons, John Roland and Oma B. of Sweetwater. Mrs. Parsons is their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warren and Patricia of Andrews spent Sunday here with relatives. Patricia Ann stayed for a longer visit with her cousin, Freddie Mann.

Rochester Man Found Dead At River Bridge

The body of Jeff Jones, 30-year-old citizen of Rochester, was discovered Wednesday in a parked automobile on the Knox City-Benjamin highway, at the Brazos River bridge.

Passing motorists reported discovery of the body, after investigating the parked car.

Jones, an ex-serviceman, had been shot through the head, and was found lying down in the car, which belonged to him. Officers found a pistol in the automobile.

The car had been parked for several hours, as passersby later reported seeing it there several hours before the body was found.

At an inquest held in Knox City Wednesday afternoon, a verdict of "death by gunshot wounds at the hand or hands of persons unknown" was rendered.

Carroll Graves Says Fishing Good In East Texas Lakes

The Herald is in receipt of the following letter from Carroll Graves, former principal of the Knox City school, but now evidently spending the life of a country gentleman, especially on weekends. We suggest a trade to Bro. Graves—some of our good western sunshine and pure air, for some of his 45 inches of rainfall. At any rate, he is living up to local traditions when it comes to telling fish stories. More luck to him, and regards from this section of the gallery. His letter reads: Dear Charlie,

Just a note to let you know I am getting the paper and am enjoying it a lot. It sure helps to keep me posted on the situation, because most of 'em out there seem to have forgotten how to write. Guess I shouldn't complain, tho, since I'm no champion correspondent myself.

I have a good job for the summer, here in the lumber business and am enjoying it a lot. I am working in the office which isn't a bad job at all. I guess you would call me general flunkie since I do just about everything. I answer the phone, keep the trucks routed and moving, figure invoices, help figure footage on lumber brought in from our out of town mills, run errands, keep up with what the planing mill is running and so on. Keeps me pretty busy but not too much so.

From all reports you all are having plenty of hot weather. I notice the reports in the local paper and in the Knox City paper, too. I am amused when I compare your rainfall with ours. We have had about 45 inches so far this year compared with your ten. You cry for rain and we cry because of it.

Our mill was almost closed down the whole month of May because the river bottoms were flooded and we couldn't get the logs and lumber out. We are just now beginning to see daylight on the lumber situation because of it.

You can tell those big fishermen around there that they can just quit talking because I found a place that beats 'em all. The first week I was home my uncle and I went to a lake below Shreveport, and did we knock 'em dead. Six of us stayed down there two and a half days and came back with 187 white perch, bass and crappie. The first day my uncle and I came in at noon with our limit of 20 perch each. It was really fishing deluxe. We had a four room cabin, ate our meals in the camp hotel, had a guide that got our boats and minnows ready for us in the morning, ran the motor and rowed for us while we fished, and when we came in at noon and in the evening he took the fish and cleaned and packed them on ice for us. If I had a place like that ten miles from here I would never get anything done. All those fish were caught on a line too—no trot lines.

It's about time to close this place up for the day. I'll be better wind this up and tell 'em all be. Yours truly,
Carroll Graves

McGaughey Pays Voters Thanks

I would like to express my appreciation to the voters of Knox County and pledge them the best service that I can give during the next four years.

I would also like to take this opportunity to express my esteem and admiration for my opponent and the clean manner in which the race was conducted.

Walter Humphrey
Writes Good Things
About Our Section

By WALTER R. HUMPHREY
In The Fort Worth Press

It's a terrible time of year to ride, especially when you pick the afternoon, but let's ride, anyway.

I don't know why I picked two of the hottest afternoons in the summer of 1946 to drive to Knox City and back, but I did. And the friendliness of my reception out west more than paid me back.

It was roughly a 400-mile trip—west via Jacksboro, Olney, Seymour, and back via Rochester, Rule, Stamford, Albany, Breckenridge, Mineral Wells and Weatherford—and points between!

The country is generally interesting and beautiful, although the hot winds have soared off much of the green—the courthouse square at Jacksboro was one of those typical hot spots, but five old-timers there under the very thin and doubtful shade of a single mesquite didn't seem to mind at all.

I stopped at almost every soda fountain along the route. At the Johnson ranch west of Jacksboro, I stopped again and sat on the terrace with Mr. and Mrs. Johnson for a cold coke—and almost let them persuade me to stay right there until sundown before moving on west.

Mrs. Johnson has the urge to vacation again in Mexico, so we talked about the cool climate of Mexico and Colorado and Yellowstone until we just about ruined our resistance to our own fine Texas climate!

Followed the route of the old abandoned GT&W quite a way—at Megargel, beyond Olney, one of the old settlers confided that things weren't quite the same since the tracks of the "Get Your Ticket and Walk" had been torn up—he said the old railroad dump was the dividing line between the watersheds of the Trinity and Red—if you want a good business location, you'll find at least half a dozen good empties in Megargel (named, by the way, after the brothers who built the railroad).

I never think of Seymour and I'll never go there that I won't think about Bob Baskin, who was a great citizen of that section and a fine Texan before his untimely death—Bob was a great conservationist, a forward-looking citizen of his state—and he had more of the Will Rogers in his personality than any other man I've ever known.

But this time Knox City was my goal. A brilliant red sun was slipping behind Buzzard Peak when I pulled down the sandy lane along the Campbell shelter belt—to a cool house, an excellent dinner, and a cool night's rest.

And my host, who has a lot of the Chamber of Commerce spirit in him, wanted me to get up at 4 o'clock to start sight-seeing, etc. We didn't make it. There's absolutely no point in overdoing the rural atmosphere!

Off toward Buzzard Peak on the west and looking over the Salt Fork of the Brazos, just north, was an empire of hills and mesquite—but south and southeast and all around Knox City, the land is fertile and productive, and sells for $125 to $150 an acre and never goes begging.

Knox City, (named after Gen. Henry Knox, Washington's first secretary of war) is located on the Knox prairie, and its sandy loam seems made to order for milo maize and cotton—its dry all right but here and there showers have fallen lately, but not quite enough to count.

About 2000 pounds of maize per acre is generally expected, although one good rain a week or two ago might have doubled that in many instances—the maize, with its golden yellow heads, is a pretty sight—the harvest will start in about two weeks and continue through the fall. The $3 per 100 pounds is 50 percent better than last year.

Cotton looks good, too. Sam Reed, who operates the Northern Star seed farms, says "We are only one good rain away from a bumper crop." Sam's a big operator and an optimist.

He sold 130,000 bushels of cotton seed last year.

The Knox City area looks prosperous and its hopes for the future are high.

The Ross and Bateman oil fields are just 20 and 30 air-line miles away—and 20 miles is just a good walk by West Texas comparisons.

But many factors contribute to the stability of this territory, not the least of which are the Reed seed and ginning enterprises at O'Brien, three miles south of Knox City and just over the Haskell county line.

Maybe, however, we'd better

Family Reunion In Ida Wilson Home
With 105 Present

Plans were made in the year of 1940 for a reunion of the descendants of the Franklin families, early pioneers of Knox and King counties.

The time and place were set for the last Saturday and Sunday in July, at Mrs. Ida Wilson's, and when the decided time rolled around, there were 85 present from Oklahoma and Texas.

At this same place in 1941, the reunion had 117 present, from New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas. In 1942, the reunion was held at the home of H. F. Franklin, Willow, Okla., with 50 present. In 1943, the time was changed to July 9-11, in order to celebrate the Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blankenship of Brownfield, Texas, former residents of Knox County, both nearing 80 years of age, and having missed only one of the reunions in the seven held.

In 1944 the gathering was held at W. L. Bolinger's in Dimmitt, Texas, with 60 present from Texas. Here most of the group saw their first irrigation well, and harvesting of Irish potatoes.

In 1945 at Mrs. Ida Wilson's, with 73 present from four different states, it was voted to make this a permanent place for the reunion.

This year we had 105 present, which are the following:

Mrs. Iva Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spencer, Fred Franklin, Mrs. Mary Hight, Mr. and Mrs. Lan Hight, Mrs. Maybelle Hensley and Leon, all of Guthrie; Mrs. Clyde Perry, Clyde, Jr. and Sybil, San Diego, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blankenship, Mrs. Bill Blankenship and Billie, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Blankenship, Cecil and Dwayne, Tom H. Franklin, all of Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. Onnie Chennault, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gipson, Karol Ann and Jimmie, of Peryton, Texas; Mrs. Lorena Houston, Nola, Patsy, Claudie Lee, Trela and Reuben Dale, all of Gladiola, New Mex.; Edwin M. Franklin, Odessa; Johnnie Franklin, Sour.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston Littlefield, Dickens; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Couthary and Bobby of Bomarton; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Franklin, Paducah; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hight and Johnnie Faye and Mrs. Biddie, of Paducah; Mr. and Mrs. Oran Driver, Benjamin; Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Reynolds, James Arlan Fredetta, Ronald D. and Jackie Sue; Mr. and Mrs. Bain Greenville and Baynette, of Ozona; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Franklin and Jimmie of Marysville, Calif.; Mrs. Dale Franklin, Yuba City, Calif.; Mrs. Minnie Gipson of Crosbyton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bolinger, Minnie Lee, Edwin, Jesse Ray and Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bollinger, Louise, Noreta and LeRoy, all of Dimmitt; Mrs. Sam Stradley, Glen Rose; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blackwell of Meridian; Mr. and Mrs. Delton Lewis, Garry and Bobby, of O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tackitt, Mrs. Myrtle Whatley, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Fitzgerald and Donna Gayle, Buck Propps, turn back four years to the soundest contributing factor—the introduction of combine maize.

During the days of "pocket knife" maize harvest, the crop was nothing to brag about. But when the new varieties were developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the change came rapidly.

The maize is of a sturdier, disease-resisting quality, and it can be harvested by combine just as wheat and oats can.

And the lower half of Knox County is a two-crop country—so combine maize becomes a very considerable factor.

The Lions Club of Knox City is its chamber of commerce and all, and a lively organization headed by the editor of the Knox County Herald.

The Methodist ladies turn out each Thursday the kind of luncheon you wish you could have everyday.

The West Texas spirit was alive at Knox City last week when two local boys, Bobby and Charles Reese, were injured in an airplane crackup.

The Herald carried a notice which said: "Everyone interested is asked to come or send someone to help hoe on the C. J. Reese farm Friday, starting at 7 a. m. For further details, see Shirley Park."

So the workers flocked to the Reese farm to help out the father of the two boys who were hurt and who still are in serious condition. It was a typical gesture of neighborliness.

Community interests here are tied into weather, good roads, oil, those two big crops—and the Bob Baskin dam which will some day be built under the sponsorship of the Brazos district 20 miles southwest of Knox City on the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos.

This dam, a reclamation unit, will provide 35,000 acres of irrigation which will add heavily to the productivity of the land which can be benefited.

In a country where water is so very important, this dam will be a contributing factor to prosperity and stability in many ways and for several communities besides Knox City principally Rochester and Rule.

My trip to Knox City included a very interesting detour to King County and its capital, Guthrie.

Harrell Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson, Mrs. Ida Wilson and Alice, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lankford, Charles Raye, Jackie Wayne and Ross Edd, all from Knox City; Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Juanita Sue and Sammie Face, Texas.

See that tread mark! See how much area—wears less at any road it covers! It's the mark of a new B.F. Goodrich tire made by its wider, flatter tread surface. Because it is wider and flatter, it hugs the road better—spreads the wear more evenly over a greater area—wears less at any even at high speeds. Come in. Perhaps we'll have it in stock. ROCHESTER-WEINERT FARM TO MARKET ROAD CONTRACT AWARDED

A low bid of $93,064.75 for construction of Farm-to-Market Road No. 617 from Rochester to Weinert was announced last Tuesday by the State Highway Commission. Hugh McMillen of El Paso submitted the low bid for grading, soil asphalt base and seal coat on the 11 mile section of road serving a rich agricultural area in the northern part of Haskell County.

Construction is expected to begin within 30 to 60 days, provided formal contracts are approved by the State Highway Commission and concurrence obtained from the Public Roads Administration. Specifications will require that the projects be completed within 100 working days after construction begins.

Highway Commission Chairman John S. Redditt announced that thirteen farm-to-market projects involving 99 miles of road had been completed in Texas since the current program got underway earlier this year.

The Haskell County project is among twenty-two farm-to-market projects in the State on which the Commission received bids Tuesday and Wednesday. If contracts are awarded on all these there will be a total of 1,234 miles of farm-to-market roads on 131 projects that have been placed under contract since last January.

All are a part of the State Highway Department's three-year program which will bring a paved road to within one mile of 62% of all Texas rural dwellings and within two miles of 74% by the end of 1948.

Every dog may not have his day, and every cat may not have his night; but we firmly believe that every road hog has his Sunday afternoon.

FARM NEWS

(This is the seventh of twenty-two articles that will appear in this news paper on the need of soil conservation, the amount of soil conservation being carried out, crop insurance, commodity loans, marketing quotas, and other programs of interest to farmers.)

Western Region
(Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming)

The 13 states of the Western Region comprise more than two-fifths of the area of the United States. Soil, climate, and farming enterprises vary greatly. The lengthy list of AAA conservation practices carried out in the Western Region reflects the variety of its agriculture and conservation needs.

Approval of maximum farm allowances that may be earned is based on conservation needs and the practices on which the farmer requests assistance under the program. Thus available funds are concentrated directly upon the most important conservation problems. Practical suggestions and justified demands of farmers regarding practices enable the program to expand to meet the needs and to shift its emphasis as practices become generally used by farmers.

Program flexible—The development and use of practices providing conservation assistance for irrigated farming illustrates the flexible nature of the program. As recently as 1943 only 15 percent of the regional funds were used on irrigation practices. By adding new practices and adapting others to the need, 8 percent of the region's 1944 program funds went to assist farmers in carrying out irrigation practices.

AAA Progress—The expansion of the lime program in Kansas illustrates the program's influence in getting farmers to adopt better farming methods. In 1940 Kansas farmers spread only 31,000 tons of lime under the program, although the need on much of the State's soil has been recognized for years. In 1944, Kansas farmers spread 528,000 tons of lime, with the assistance of the agricultural conservation program.

Much of the money available to assist Western Region farmers in maintaining and building their soil is used to prevent heavy losses in soil fertility through erosion. For example, 21 percent of the regional funds in 1944 were for protecting summer fallow and for strip-cropping. Such practices helped to turn the Dust Bowl of the thirties into one of the leading areas in increasing food production to meet war time demands in the forties.

As a result of wartime demands on the soil, Western Region farmers and ranchers have an increased appreciation of the importance of maintaining and building our soil and water resources.

Looking Ahead In Cotton Farming

By George G. Chance

(The following article is the first installment of a speech made by Mr. Chance, President of the Brazos River Reclamation and Conservation District, and a large cotton plantation owner at Bryan, Texas. Mr. Chance made the address before the Seventh Annual Cotton Congress in Dallas, July 9, 1946. Subsequent installments will be published in later issues.)

To answer the question, "What do you see ahead for Texas Cotton?" it is good practice to look back and see what has been happening to cotton. In the last fifteen years Texas land planted in cotton has been reduced from about eighteen million acres to about six million at present, and the crop has shrunk from about five million bales to less than two million bales.

Of course, these big figures are impressive. However, of late so many large figures are in use that many of those who use them are confused. The figures do not mean much to them when we often hear billions when millions are intended and vice versa. I would rather take some figures off my own farm; they are definitely concrete. My farm is certainly not like everybody's, but it is a part of Texas cotton and the same economic factors are at work.

This farm is what is called a "plantation", a large scale operation closely supervised and the owner, frankly, would like to stay in the cotton game. It is a pretty crop to grow and money can be made from it. Before the AAA, my farm was planted entirely in cotton and made a profit all through the depression.

In 1935, 2,692 acres of cotton were allotted and planted, some worked for wages, that is, day labor, but 60 families farmed most of it and produced a total of 1,965 bales. I had to count the total number of people on the place that year and there were 464—big, little, old and young.

In 1939, the figure was 2,482.3 acres for cotton and 55 families farmed most of that. A total of 1,858 bales of cotton was the crop that year. In all of these years, 30 to 40 hands were used on the place to raise feed crops and for general upkeep—fences, fence rows, Johnson grass, etc.

The cotton acreage has shrunk during the war years until the set-up this year, 1946, is about 1,500 acres in cotton. 26 families are farming crops and there are 16 day hands working—or were when I left. This is a shrinkage of one-half in the labor on my farm in 10 years, most of it in the last three or four.

This shrinkage in cotton acreage and the number of people working to produce cotton indicates that something is wrong. This is a problem that is worrying all of us. If this shrinkage had occurred in a period of overproduction or low prices, it would be understandable. If this farm were submarginal, with low production, that would be the answer. However, the reverse is true.

In this connection, twelve of the families who were farming with me in 1935, are farming there today. In this period half of that twelve moved off, worked a year or more on other farms, and have since come back. This indicates rather clearly to me a dissatisfaction with farming conditions in general rather than with those on my place.

Uncle Sam Says

None of us will ever celebrate D-Day in the spirit of a gay holiday. On the contrary, June 6 is forever remembered as a day of sacrifice. Two years ago, on the beaches of Normandy, all our hopes for a peaceful happy future were in the balance of bloody invasion. The best observance you can make of the first peacetime anniversary of D-Day is to make sure you are buying as many savings bonds as ever. You backed the attack—now back your own future.
