Preacher Is Presented Car

H. R. Whatley of Haskell pleasantly surprised Tuesday when he received a telephone call from an official of his church in the message received was to the effect that there is a new Plymouth car waiting for your arrival to be driven to the church.

It was a gift to the preacher and we feel sure he is deserving of the gift.

Whatley began a revival here Sunday in the First Church which is to continue for several weeks. He has conducted meetings here and is known as a splendid, explanatory interpreter of the Bible.

Today, due to bad weather services were postponed until Sunday, March 4th. One is invited to her Brother

K C Joins Valley League

The Knox City base ball team has lined up for the coming season with the Wichita Valley League. This league includes the towns Stamford, Haskell, Munday, Knox City, Rule, Aspermont, Peacock and Hamlin. The season will open the first game on April 15.

Schedules for the towns will be arranged at the next meeting which will be in Hamlin on or about the date March 11th.

It is rumored in Knox City that the local team will be sponsored this year by an organization.

O. D. Reid and Earl Cook were in Haskell the first of the week attending the base ball meeting of the Wichita Valley League.

Newly Weds Honored With Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Reeder Smith, newly weds, were honored with a reception given Tuesday evening in the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. S. Edwards.

Guests were greeted at the door by Miss Mary Reeder. At the foot of the stairway they were met by Kenneth Taylor Edwards and invited up stairs for the removal of wraps. There they were welcomed by Misses Florence Wilson, Marjorie Sue Kay and Marilyn Edwards, also Mr. Roy Baker.

Upon coming down stairs they were greeted by Dr. and Mrs. T. S. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Reeder Smith, Mrs. L. M. Kay, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Frizzell and Mrs. M. A. Reeder.

Guests were then ushered into the dining room by Mrs. J. A. Wilson and Mrs. L. L. Davis. Mrs. Roy Baker and Mrs. Chad Wilson presided at the table where a color scheme of pink, silver and crystal was carried out. Cream in wedding bell moulds, wafers, coffee, mints and nuts were served. Mrs. Roy Baker and Mrs. Wilson being assisted by Misses Yvonne Jamison and Wynell Edwards.

Dr. and Mrs. T. P. Frizzell and Mr. and Mrs. E. Q. Warren made the guests comfortable and showed them about the music room where an orchestra from Simmons University in Abilene played throughout the evening.

The Edwards home was attractively decorated with cut flowers. During the evening more than one hundred guests called, among whom were a number of out-of-town guests.

Mrs. J. R. Craig of Truscott died Wednesday, burial being made today, Thursday in Truscott, Mr. and Mrs. Craig are pioneers of Truscott. She was well known in Knox City, all of which friends will be saddened by her death.

Those from Knox City attending the Workers Council of the Baptist Church held Tuesday in Rule were Mrs. E. O. Jamison, Mrs. Press Clarke, Grandmother Withrow, John Coats and Brother Stovall.

Reeder Smith and his bride are happily installed in the Allen house recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Chad Wilson.

Mrs. Press Clarke enjoyed the company of her sister from Wichita Falls over the weekend. She was accompanied home by their mother Mrs. Hutchinson who has been here a few weeks.

SHAVER ON QUEER DIET

With an unusual desire to comply with the rules of the court and the sentence, Ed Shaver allowed himself, the first of the week, shaved off to the Valley where he grew in abundance, to live on a diet of fried watermelon and ch.

Some are of the opinion that Ed Shaver intended to stick close to special diet but just did not want to be watched too closely, and there went to the Valley. Well, what the motive, it is sure that Ed grew either fat or lean on this

COLLISION IN CAR ACCIDENT

Dora Murphy and her husband (colored) were in a car accident Monday night near O'Brien in which Dora received a fractured skull and concussion and is in the Knox County Hospital.

The Murphy couple live on the Bush and Burnett ranch, being among the favorites among the colored hands. They had been to Austin and were returning home. A door of the car came open and Murphy attempting to fasten it, lost control of the car and headed in a ditch. He received only minor bruises but her injury is severe.

After the accident Murphy made several attempts to get help but failed. Finally he built a fire in a field and tried to keep Dora warm. This occurred about ten thirty Monday night. At ten Tuesday morning the two were carried to the hospital by J. M. Craft, manager of the Bush and Burnett Ranch.

Mr. Craft also made a trip to Anson Tuesday to get the daughter of the Murphy couple to attend Dora. Dora Murphy died Wednesday morning about eight thirty o'clock. She never regained consciousness or rallied in any way from her injury and chill of the nights out. Burial is being made today, Thursday, in Anson. Warren of this city is in charge of the body.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Patients in the hospital this week include Mrs. Joe Clarke of New Mexico, G. E. Dennington of O'Brien, Mrs. T. M. Barton of Knox City, Mrs. John Striegel of Munday, Ophelia Leach of Sagerton, Mrs. J. A. Gossterephens of Rule, G. T. Hardberger of Knox City, Winona Pace of O'Brien, Miss Johanne Cowan, Mrs. J. A. Kennebrough of Vera and Dora Murphy (colored) of the Bush and Burnett Ranch.

Mrs. A. G. McReynolds of Needmore was dismissed Tuesday, Mrs. Paul Mansel of Munday and Mrs. Hester of Rochester were also dismissed Tuesday.

Miss Albus of Rhineland is substituting for Miss Cowan, she being ill.

Mrs. John Mansel and Mrs. Hobb Smith of Rochester were visitors in the hospital Monday.

Sheriff and Mrs. C. R. Elliott of Benjamin were visitors in the hospital Saturday night.

FIRE DESTROYS GARAGE AND CAR

While Mrs. Blanche Pope suffered the loss of a perfectly good garage, Guy Glenn figured the price of a new Ford V-8 coupe, when the two were completely destroyed by a fire of unknown origin Monday night about eight o'clock.

The fire started around eight o'clock and the garage and car were both destroyed before the blaze could be extinguished. How the fire started no one knows. Glenn's car had not been run since the day before the fire.

13 Hours Steady Rainfall Here

The trade territory of Knox City was among the section of Texas that received one of the best rainfalls Wednesday night and Thursday that has fallen in some months.

It began raining about nine o'clock Wednesday night and continued slowly for around thirteen hours, totalling two or more inches during the time. The rain came more like the Fall rains do instead of Spring rains. It was slow but steady and not a bit "blowy".

The recent cold wave hit this section Saturday night and continued cold until the rain began, when it began to moderate some. The thermometers registered around 18 degrees above during this cold spell, being the coldest of this winter season.

Mrs. Berryhill Buried Here

Mrs. Lilly Anna Berryhill, born September 2, 1882 in Phillips county Arkansas, died February 23, 1934 at her home in Knox County, near the city of Knox City, Texas. Funeral services were conducted from the Church of Christ, Brother Wilburn Hill officiating and burial was made in the Odd Fellow Cemetery of this city.

Mrs. Berryhill's death came after several months severe suffering. She is survived by her husband and six children. They are Mr. Berryhill, Everett Berryhill of Rochester, Mrs. Claud Richardson, Elvin, Ervin, Exell and little Miss Mary Jane Berryhill all of Knox City.

Mrs. Berryhill obeyed the Gospel in 1903 and was baptized by Brother George Cypert. She was a very splendid woman and her absence will be keenly felt by friends as well as relatives.

Improvements

It is noticeable this week that the Silman store has about completed the improvements being made in the store. The new display windows are finished and give an attractiveness to the store that was not there before. Silman is also doing a bit of modernizing inside the store which you may read about in his advertisement in this issue of the Herald.

W. T. AVERITT HAS EXPERIENCE WITH THE WEATHER

W. T. Averitt had an impressive experience with the weather Sunday night when he froze to the point of being unable to get in the house after a two mile walk against the north wind. Although he was on his job at the bank Monday morning he still suffered with his feet, they being the part of his body most severely damaged by the cold.

Sunday W. T. heard the whisperings of Dan Cupid and drove to Stamford to see the young lady. On his return home Sunday night his car froze before he reached Haskell. Not realizing just how cold it was he left the car and started walking to Haskell facing the north wind. This was about eleven o'clock. Well, some time later W. T. stumbled to the porch of a house and the occupants therein emerged and carried the almost frozen W. T. into the house. He was thawed out and allowed to call his family at Rule who went for him.

As it is, W. T. is all O. K. only that his feet are still not quite normal; however, if the man's house had been one half mile further up the road Knox City and Rule citizens would no doubt be considerably more interested in the condition of a frozen young man.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Davenport of the Thorp community spent the past weekend with his mother in Bellview.

The District Deputy, District number 3, will meet with the Knox City Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star on the evening of March 9th. All members are requested to be in attendance at the lodge on that night.

The Cokesbury party and game book belonging to the ladies of the Methodist church has been misplaced. We need the book and if any one knows its whereabouts, will you please return it to Mrs. H. B. Sweeney.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

With the revival and reorganization of the Odd Fellow Lodge of Knox City comes a very interesting item concerning this lodge of twenty years ago.

Twenty years ago, which was the year 1914, the following officers were elected for the Knox City chapter of the I. O. O. F. number 310:

E. B. Denton, N. G.
D. V. Wheeler, V. G.
W. W. Hyde, Secretary
W. J. Jones, Treasurer
S. W. Almonrode, R. S. to N. G.
I. R. Cypert, L. S. to N. G.
J. W. Smith, Warden
L. C. Everett, Conductor
J. A. L. Wood, R. S. S.
R. T. Turner, L. S. S.
J. W. Reese, O. G.
M. F. Abbott, I. G.
Rev. R. H. Weaver, Chaplain
Vice Grand Appointments: W. E. Thompson, R. S. J. A. Hollwork L. S.

A number of those men who were elected officers of the Odd Fellow Lodge in 1914 are still residents of Knox City. They doubtless can relate interesting tales in the life of the lodge. They would make an interesting set of guests to meet with the boys now pushing for the re-establishment of the lodge.

20 Years Ago

The annual Chamber of Commerce banquet has been postponed indefinitely. A meeting will be held at the usual noon hour Tuesday of next week at which time new officers will be elected.

Why Doctors Favor a Liquid Laxative

A doctor will tell you that the careless use of strong laxatives may do more harm than good.

Harsh laxatives often drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you needn't take a "double dose" a day or two later.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin gently helps the average person's bowels back to regularity. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is little "poisonousness" in any cathartic which is taken so frequently, you must carry it with you, wherever you go!

Its very taste tells you Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. All druggists, ready for you, in big bottles. Member N. R. A.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Rev. Chas. E. Dunn
Jesus' Testimony Concerning Himself.
Lesson for March 4th. Matt. 11 and 12.
Golden Text Matt. 11:28.

Our lesson reaches its climax in the glorious invitation at the end of chapter 11. What comfort this brings to a distracted, disheartened world. There is no music like the music of the gospel, and nowhere does the music sound with a sweeter, more soothing note than in this sublime passage.

Now there are four key words in the charming welcome. The first is "Come!" a beautiful, gracious word. The Master uttered rather frequently. Jesus is the world's greatest leader. Here is the note of a wooer who understands. What we want today is sincerity, and we get it when we come close to Jesus. He extends His arm of invitation to us, who are burdened and broken hearted, and He finds rest in His arms.

The second key word is "Take!" Jesus is the world's greatest Giver. And what are we to take? Christ's love! Now there are two types of love, the golden, Miller yoke that binds the slave to his hateful task, and the kindly, comfortable yoke that binds the oxen together so that they work easily and harmoniously. It is the latter yoke Jesus plainly has in mind. We are to bear His yoke, with Himself in the trail, walking along with us. What a beautiful privilege!

The third key word is "Learn!" Jesus is the world's greatest Teacher. And what do we learn? Nothing less than that life, despite its miseries and failures, is a glorious, magnificent experience, rich in heavenly beauty and joy. We learn further the guiding principles of Christian conduct, renunciation, non-resistance and that personal integrity that includes humility, fidelity, courage, and sincerity.

The final key word is "Find!" Jesus is the world's greatest Treasure-House. And what do we find? We discover the rest that comes through intimate association with the world's supreme character, a rest identical with peace.

Come! Take! Learn! Find! The grace of God in Christ is ours.

THE BOOK

... the first line of which reads, "The Holy Bible," and which contains Four Great Testaments ...

by BRUCE BARTON

AN OLD MAN'S CONCLUSIONS

Whenever some one recommends that you buy a current novel which claims to be ultra-modern in its cynical appraisal of life, save your two dollars and take down your Bible and read Ecclesiastes again. You will find in it everything that the "greenwich Villagers have ever said" and much better said than they ever thought of saying it.

It is the book of an old man, who had sought pleasure in every conceivable form but had nowhere found satisfaction.

Vanity of vanities; all is vanity. What profit hath a man of all his labor, which he taketh under the sun?

One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh; but the earth abideth forever.

The sun also riseth, and the sun goeth down, and hasteth to his place where he rose.

All the rivers run into the sea; yet the sea is not full; unto the place from whence the rivers come, thither they return again.

All things are full of labour; man cannot utter it; the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the ear filled with hearing.

The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done, and there is no new thing under the sun.

Being in a position of power, and with educational opportunities beyond those of other men, the writer set forth to make himself the wisest of all. But I perceived that this also is vexat ion of spirit.

For in much wisdom is much grief; and he that increaseth knowledge increaseth sorrow.

He tried to find satisfaction in mirth and wine, and again in achievement—the building of palaces and gardens, the accumulation of property, gold and silver, servants.

Then I looked on all the works that my hands had wrought, and on the labour that I had laboured to do, and, behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun.

So, disillusioned and old, he continues for eleven gloomy chapters, and then suddenly there comes a change in the tempo. He has found the answer, the one thing that gives satisfaction, the one safeguard against a lifetime of fruitless searching and reiterated disappointments.

Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them.

There are scholars who say that this majestic twelfth chapter of Ecclesiastes does not jibe with the other eleven and must have been added by a later hand. True, perhaps, but improbable. It makes a grand conclusion to a very wonderful book and it belongs just where it is.

From the deep shadows of Ecclesiastes you turn with a sense of relief to the psalms. Then with the grandeur of the mountains, the fragrance of spring air, the vast stretches of the firmament and the joy of the Lord. To be sure, there are other notes, for the psalms are a complete emotional record of human life.

It saw

A merchant in a small town saw his business slipping away and could think of no means of saving it. He was becoming desperate when he hit upon a novel plan.

When an isolated customer dropped in the merchant waited upon him with a wide grin on his face. As the customer turned to leave the store the merchant broke out in roars of uncontrollable laughter. Literally doubling up in his contortions, but refusing to divalve the cause of his mirth.

The customer spread the news and soon the store was filled with curious citizens, the merchant still laughing. Many made small purchases while in the store as a matter of courtesy.

The next day the wily merchant was still laughing but refusing to give out any information.

The editor of the local paper, who on an opportunity, ran a story in his columns that on the following Saturday the merchant would tell all "customers," privately, the cause of his mirthful lumbore, with the assurance that it would convince the town.

Before the merchant opened his doors Saturday morning the street in front of his store was packed with men, women, children, farmers and their wives from the country, all were there to hear the guarded secret, and to make the conditional purchases. Money was passed over the counter in a steady stream, and daylight found it the greatest day in the store's history.

The secret so carefully guarded? It was just an advertising stunt that it worked because a wise-editor gave it the necessary publicity. The merchant is now a steady advertiser and doing a thriving business.

YOUR HEALTH

By John W. Brown, State Health Officer

The warm days of spring will soon be here and the Texas State Department of Health urges everyone to see that their property is cleaned of winter's accumulation of trash. It is only through individual responsibility and effort that one can have a clean and neat appearing city.

In planning your spring cleaning start with the house itself. The attic and work down, not forgetting the basement. Attics and basements are the greatest collectors of refuse and therefore of dust and dirt that the house possesses, and their neglect often constitutes a serious fire hazard. Do not forget to screen against flies and mosquitoes. The better the job of cleaning, and with a garbage can kept tightly covered, the fewer flies there will be, because flies love dirt and filth and breed in garbage and other filth.

Under the C. W. A. seal is a great pit privy and septic tank to be installed at no cost for labor, also private water supplies may be installed. This will be a great improvement in rural sections and towns that do not have a city water supply or sewer system.

We are prone to judge people in a small measure by the kind of yard keepers we think they are. Many times you have heard some one say, "No, I don't know the people next door but they cannot amount to much because their yard is cluttered with tin cans and papers and their garbage can is always open." Do not let your neighbors be able to pass judgement

4-H Pantry Demonstrators Experimenting With New Type Corn in Knox County

Since corn can be grown successfully in Knox County, Dr. P. C. Mangelsdorff, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Corn Breeder has sent samples of a sweet corn to be given to the 4-H pantry demonstrators to experiment with this year.

Dr. Mangelsdorff has contributed a type of corn combining the good qualities of sweet corn and field corn. Because of its long tight shucks it is not damaged as severely by the corn ear worm as the true sweet corn. The ears are of good length, having 12 to 16 rows of plump white kernels. This sweet corn has been named Honey June and is a cross between Country Gentlemen and Mexican June.

Those experimenting with this corn are: Mrs. Louis Cartwright, Munday, Mrs. Clyde Warren, Goree, Mrs. H. L. Cannon, Hood, Mrs. Leslie Melton, Gilliland, Mary Howell, Knox City, Mrs. Marion Rider, Gilliland, Mrs. J. H. McGee, Union Grove, Mrs. J. J. Stark, Benjamin, Mrs. R. N. Smith, Vera and Mrs. R. M. Almonrode, Gillispie.

"With my hotbed, I am sure I will save plenty of plants for my garden," said Mrs. Marion Rider, 4-H Pantry Demonstrator in the Gilliland Home Demonstration Club. "My problem now is to have a garden which I believe I can if I lay some tile. I have had my garden plowed deep and plan to make and lay at least 100 feet of concrete tile sub-irrigation. It is a problem to have enough water for a garden here and what we pour on the surface makes the ground hard, white and seems to burn the plants. Since sub-irrigation takes less water, causes the ground to bake less and seems to be a sure way of raising tomatoes, at least, I must try some of it."

"Mrs. Rider stated also that she was planning to save the wash water and clear waste water from the kitchen to use in the tile.

4-H Bedroom

"I have been making plans for improving my bedroom and I think I am going to like it very much when it is completed," said Bernice Crawford, 4-H bedroom Demonstrator in the Dixon Club.

There is a fireplace in Bernice's room and it is possible for a closet to be built between the fireplace and the side wall, making it have the appearance of being built into the wall. She plans to have a dressing table added to her room as another of the main features. The room will be prepared and the woodwork finished and the entire room will be rearranged making it more convenient and more easily cleaned.

Twelve other girls in the Dixon club are busy improving their bedrooms by cleaning them, adding closets, small pieces of furniture where needed and each one is working toward a standard bed which includes a slat for every row of coils, spring and mattress cover, mattress pads, 3 sheets 3 yards long, light cover and the entire bed made correctly. Each girl in Knox County 4-H club plans to make a bedspread this year.

Miss Irene Rye, teacher in the Knox City high school, is recovering from a serious illness of last week. Her sister Mrs. Hope Lane of Brownwood was here over the weekend returning home Tuesday.

W. J. Jones was carried to Wichita Falls last Thursday to see an eye specialist. For several days Mr. Jones had suffered with his left eye. The first of the week report was received that he was doing well.

Little Misses Dorothy Shaver, Billie Bess Benedict, Ellena Payne White and Bearden spent the past weekend in the Wilson Brown home in Rochester. The girls returned home Sunday via the Doodlebug. Evidently the treat was a most enjoyable one for the four.

NOTICE OF PROBATE

THE STATE OF TEXAS:

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Knox County, Texas:

You are hereby commanded, to cause to be published once each week for a period of ten days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Knox County, a copy of the following notice:

THE STATE OF TEXAS

SENIOR PLAY

On Its Way

"And Mary Died," the senior class play is well on its way, and it won't be long now before it will be presented. However, due to the illness of the Senior Sponsor, Miss Rye, the practice has been of a necessity delayed. But prepare now to see this play. We promise you it will be one of the best ever presented in our city. It has a good cast, and it will be well worth your time and money to see it. So save your date for the play and we know you won't be disappointed. The cast will be announced next week. Watch for the announcement.

WHO'S WHO IN THE SENIOR CLASS

Irene Holland was born December 11, 1915 in Knox City. Having lived here practically all of her life, she has attended the Knox City public schools through both grammar and high school. Irene is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 135 pounds and has brown hair and blue eyes.

Irene has been connected with various sport activities for some time. She has played basket ball three years and was chosen captain for the team of 1931, base ball four years, and volleyball one year. Other activities with which she has been identified are namely five girls two years, girl scouts one year, and a member of the pep squad three years. Irene has also taken voice two years, art 2 years under Mrs. Milton Bradberry in which she won first in art contest and music six years under Mrs. E. Q. Arren, winning a prize the first year for having the highest average.

Irene likes big nickles and plane geometry. Her weakness is "going to Mackfield's Garage," favorite songs are Spanish songs accompanied by a guitar. We aren't positive but we feel pretty sure that after Monday there will be an added incentive for Irene to visit Motehr White.

Everyone should have a fair knowledge of law, at least they should know as much as is offered in this course. We hope that the effort to affiliate it will not be unsuccessful and that Knox City High School will continue to offer it.

WE WONDER WHY

Frances Evans studies so hard. Rowena Wall cut her "bangs" slap off.

Several boys have begun wearing ties lately.

Johnnie Robbins wears a T. E. X. ring so dutifully.

Glover McCarty doesn't walk home with Frances E. any more.

Mary Lou Graham heads the "Dairy Cow" toward Monday so much.

Stella Rex looked so sleepy Monday morning.

Mary Leone Hoge and Lora Jean Propps fight so much.

Mary Belle Rainey wanted "In the Valley of the Moon" so much.

Wynell Edwards chews so much double mint.

So many "westerns" are gathered up in the study hall daily.

Pauline King was so anxious to get to town the other day.

SOPHOMORE PROGRAM

Last Friday afternoon the Sophomore class presented a program at assembly period. The program was arranged as follows:

Extemporaneous Speeches Pauline King and James Dutton

Song Male Octette

Reading Billy Jean Hammer and Emma Jean Shaver

Piano Solo Mary Leone Hoge

Mock Faculty Members of the Sophomore Class

We initiated the members of the high school faculty and also the sixth and seventh grade teachers Miss Reeder and Mrs. Berry.

T. L. Nesbit acted as Mr. King. He came before the study hall and made a few announcements and also a short speech concerning the much wanted gymnasium.

J. L. Bohanan was Mr. Dean. He made a speech concerning football and then we saw him in a geometry class.

Mary Leone Hoge acted as Miss Rye. She was wearing one of Miss Rye's dresses. She made a speech about her basketball girls and also was seen in her history II class.

Miss Gann, played by Inez Costas, made a short speech before the study hall. She had on one of Miss Gann's dresses. She also gave a class room scene.

Mrs. Jamison was acted by Lora Jean Propps. She was shown in our study hall trying to get everyone settled.

Kvetina Clary acted as Mrs. Cash. She made a short speech before the study hall, then she was shown in an English II class.

Mrs. Berry was impersonated by Mornnerette Copps. She wore a dress of Mrs. Berry's.

Mosselle Apple impersonated Miss Reeder.

Every one seemed to enjoy our program immensely.

HOME ECONOMICS I GIRLS DECORATE WINDOWS

The members of the Home Economics - Class decorated some of the show windows in town the past week end. This work was purely original and directed by the girls themselves under the supervision of Miss Gann. This provided them with an excellent opportunity to exhibit their ability to put in practice their knowledge of what they have been studying in class with reference to line, balance and space. The girls received much pleasure from their work and the practice was highly beneficial. In fact, they seemed to attach more importance to these first dresses by being able to exhibit them. The class joins Miss Gann in expressing its sincere appreciation to Whitten, Ameen's, and Malouf's for their help.

FLYING JUSTICE

By Marilyn Herring

"Paper Mister!" asked the boy. The pilot stopped, dug a thumb and forefinger into the change pocket of his jerkin and found it empty. He switched to his trousers pocket and pulled out a twenty-dollar bill.

"Ain't got change for that, Mister. There's the Plymouth Trust over there. The place with the stone

The pilot his name was Geoffrey Preston crossed the street and went up the stone steps. At the top he paused and regarded the bill which he still held in his hand. It was well crumpled, and it represented the total sum of his funds at the moment. He still had sixteen hundred dollars to go before setting his plane down at Springfield, Massachusetts, for the job Bill Jenkins had promised.

He shrugged his shoulders and pushed through the revolving doors of the bank. The teller's cage was empty. Preston leaned against the little shelf in front and waited. There were no other customers in the bank the pilot glanced at the wall clock. It lacked two minutes to closing time. He took a step toward the door but went no farther, a latch clicked, and the teller entered the cage.

Preston slid the twenty-dollar bill under the little brass-barred window. "Change this please," he requested. The teller man in the cage accepted it and flipped it to one side. From a sectioned box in front of him, he drew out three fives and four one-dollar bills. Then he tapped several keys of a coin changer. The silver he placed on top of the bills; then he started to slide the lot under the little brass window. Halfway there his hand stopped short. The money slid from the counter.

The pilot glanced up at the teller's face. It had turned a ghastly white, and his mouth sagged open. Preston started to speak, but didn't. Something blunt and hard was being pressed against the small of his back. He was pushed against the little shelf. Hot breath that reeked of gin fanned his ear.

"Don't try moving!" Came a low voice. And in a slightly louder tone. "You in there, shove it all out quick. And be sure to keep your hands above the counter."

The man in the cage obeyed. The entire contents of the sectioned box was removed and shoved under the little brass door in three separate piles of bills. Then a dirty hand, with the forearm encased in a dark blue coat sleeve, darted before Preston's eyes. Three times it appeared and picked up a pile of bills. Then the pressure at the small of the pilot's back increased. Hot breath fanned his ear again.

"Stay just like that, teh two of you! Get me! And don't move for five minutes, see? I am rather nervous on the trigger."

The pilot stood rigid and stared straight at the teller, the teller started back. The pressure against the pilot's back was removed. Soft foot steps retreated across the marble floor. Then the teller's lips quivered and he shouted:

"Thief! Stop him! Stop thief!"

Preston flung himself flat on the floor. A voice snarled a curse. Feet pounded on the marble. A door was opened, and a second voice called out sharply:

"Here, there, stop! I say stop!"

A revolver shot echoed through the place. A man's voice choked and gasped. Then a body fell heavily on the floor. Preston jerked his head around in time to see a gray hat with a mop of fiery red hair beneath it disappear through the revolving doors. A few feet in front of the trap-door lay the haddled figure of a gray-haired man.

Indian broke loose inside the bank. Office doors banged open; white-faced men and women stared wildly about, then rushed forward. Preston reached the figure first. Dropping to his knees, he turned the body over. Dead!

Preston stood up and grabbed hold of the man nearest him.

"Call police headquarters, quickly," he ordered.

The pilot shouted the order over his shoulder as he made for the revolving doors. Each person he met he enquired if they had seen a man with a gray hat and red hair.

All replied that they had not seen a man of such description.

Inside Preston met teh teller. "Get the police, all right?" he questioned.

"They are on the way down," he said.

"Who's the dead man?"

The teller told Preston that the dead man was James P. Hodges, president of the Plymouth Trust company.

"Good heavens," the man gasped as he finished, "why did I yell?"

At that moment two policemen entered teh bank. Preston stepped up to them.

"In there," he directed, and pointed to the office door.

After a few minutes a policeman came out of the office of the dead bank president.

The two mumbled a few sentences to each other, and presently a tall man with horn-rimmed glasses entered the bank. He walked up to Preston and the group of bank employes.

"My name's Carrigan," he said bluntly. "I'm from the district attorney's office. Who saw this, and how did it happen?"

The pilot acted as spokesman for the group and told all he knew. The teller, who gave his name as Biddle, described the murder as best he could which wasn't much. According to Biddle, teh killer was slightly taller than Preston. He had a hard looking face and wore a dark blue suit. He also wore a gray hat and had red hair. No other employes had seen the murderer. Preston, Biddle and teh dead president had been the only ones in the front part of the bank at the time Biddle estimated the cash loss of about twelve thousand dollars.

The man from the attorney's office eventually dismissed everyone except Preston and the teller. He ushered them into a vacant office, where he motioned to two chairs and took one himself. He started questioning the teller regarding teh movements during the day of himself and of his employer. After a short fifteen minutes he told teh teller to go.

As the door closed behind the official, Carrigan bent his gaze on Preston's face.

"Stranger in Plymouth?"

Preston nodded.

"Yes I have been in California for the last three years." On my way east now."

"Train?" he asked casually.

"No," Preston replied. "By plane. I forced landed in the field up by those car areas north of here this morning. Engine trouble. Had to come to town to get a new plug."

"Did you get it?"

For an answer the pilot pulled a standard sparkstandard spark plug from his pocket.

"What were you doing in California? Flying?" he asked.

"Yes for the movies," the pilot informed him.

"Oh, I see," the other nodded. "And you made an unintentional landing here in Plymouth. Tell me, just how was it you happened to be in the bank when the robbery and killing took place?"

"In detail Preston described his movements from the time he stopped at the news-stand to teh time the police arrived. When he finished the man from teh district attorney's told him to wait, and went outside. In less than five minutes he returned.

"Mr. Holmes wants the watch of the roads and the railroad station doubted if necessary. I guess it will be all right tonight for the to boys," he said. "Be easy on the men."

"Well Mrs. ——— the name?"

Judge the new FORD V8
 on what it will do

Thousands of people who can afford to spend two or three times as much for a car, are today choosing the Ford V-8 for 1934, instead. Here are some of the reasons.

POWER. The Ford V-8 for 1934 gives you better than 80 miles per hour with the quicker acceleration and greater smoothness of an 8-cylinder engine. Power has actually been increased by 12 per cent over last year's model.

COMFORT. The Ford V-8 for 1934 offers more actual body room than many other cars that cost considerably more. It offers you new Clear-Vision Ventilation, with the window in one piece. It offers you live action for all four wheels—plus the comfort of Ford Coilover Springs and the proved safety of a front axle.

SAFETY. With the new Ford V-8 you get an all-steel body, safety glass, welded steel-spoke wheels, exceptionally low center of gravity and more braking surface per pound of weight than any other American-made car we know of.

ECONOMY. Gasoline economy is increased by two or three miles per gallon with the new Ford V-8. Test runs show that the new engine will give 20 miles per gallon at 45 miles per hour.
