

BY AL HINDS

It's great to be a kid in America. Now that school is out. It's a happy world of bikes, swimming, roller skates, cowboys, fishing, ball games, traveling, fishing, and make-believe. Carefree kids today are responsible citizens of tomorrow.

Column writing is kinda' like fishing. "Once you get the hook wet it's mighty hard to quit." Which reminds us of the old saying . . . "old gardeners never die . . . they just spade away."

A letter received by the Herald this week from Otis L. Barnett, Dallas, states this scribe should put in our "four-cents", instead of "two-cents" worth . . . as we were so right in stating the cotton plant in full bloom is a very, very pretty sight to see . . . and should be named the "national flower".

With Tall Texas Tales . . . it's definitely hard to get a Texan's goat. But figures . . . they say, don't lie, and according to information this scribe received while reading a farm paper recently is that Texas is a prolific producer . . . but a poor consumer of goat meat, as well as mutton.

"Know Knox" was not aware of the fact . . . until reading the article that the 5.2 million sheep and 2.3 million goats on Texas farms and ranches constitute about one-fourth of the U. S. population.

Only about 1.6 per cent of the U. S. consumption of mutton and goat is consumed in Texas, however. The state ranks 32nd among the states in consumption per capita.

Speaking of goats . . . reminds this scribe of the time we made a statement we would not drink goat's milk, or eat chevon (goat meat) . . . and then later on by a trick we had to eat our words . . . and goat meat, too!

The Missus, along with our brother-in-law, Jetty Clare, publisher of the Haskell Free Press, framed us . . . and we do mean framed! One day a number of years ago they slipped a glass of goat's milk on the table with our lunch. . . We drank the milk and thought it was good. Of course we did not know that we were drinking goat's milk, or we would have rebelled.

And on another occasion this scribe had remarked we would not touch goat meat with a ten foot pole . . . then we were invited to a big ranch-style barbecue down in Coryell county . . . was served a very delicious barbecue dinner, and more than ate our fill. Then later on in the day we found out we had partaken of chevon. So, the old saying goes, and evidently holds true . . . "that what you don't know won't hurt you."

The farm paper went on to report that the average Texan consumes less than one-third as much goat meat as the average U. S. consumer . . . and that consumption in Texas was less than two pounds per person, compared with five pounds for the nation in 1954.

For Ladies Only!—The latest thing on reducing exercises . . . after one month a lady reports she took three inches off the waistline, and two inches off bust and hips . . . by just sweeping.

From the looks of our yard, we have been wondering, if some way we might put atomic radiation to work to weed it. . . thus saving the wife all that hard work. It nearly breaks our heart to see the better half pushing a lawn mower . . . so the other day we had to get up from our easy chair, while watching a T-V program, and close the blinds . . . shutting off the view of the hard work the Missus was putting out.

Today's Food for Thought!—We need a bigger army to keep bigger armies from requiring us to have a bigger army.

Rev. O. D. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church says . . . the wheel, the atomic bomb, the zipper, and the swimming pool in Knox City should cure us of any tendency to state a thing can't be done!

Harvesting Of Grain Crop Gets Underway

Harvesting of grain in this area officially got underway here Tuesday, and if "open weather" continues to prevail, it should be in full swing within the next few days, local grain dealers say.

Sam White and John Crowover estimate this year's yield will be just about half, or perhaps a little under half, of the 1958 crop.

Porter and White Feed Store received the first load of wheat from the 1959 crop which reached Knox City around 3:00 p.m. Tuesday.

The wheat was grown by Tommy Watson on the Abe Watson farm, about five miles north of Knox City. Moisture content was 14.66, and tested 60 pounds per bushel.

Before the day ended, however, Watson had rolled into Knox City with two more loads. Watson's first load weighed 11,450 pounds.

White said Watson's second and third loads tested much drier than his first load of "flowing gold."

Just before dark, Tuesday, B. F. Cornett and Claude L. Bratcher brought in a load each to

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Texas — There's a "get on with it" mood among House members during this special session.

House was the target of some criticism after the regular session for having made almost no progress in money-raising.

This session the House began processing money bills at a fast clip. Initial action indicated there was less opposition in the House to Gov. Price Daniel's tax program than during the regular session.

Many in the lower house seemed to be in a mood to get as much as possible over to the Senate and "let them worry with it a while." Then, if the finance problem still isn't solved at the end of this session, they hope people won't be saying that the House "sat on its hands again."

Senate attitude toward the various money-raising approaches is largely an unknown quantity. No money-raising bill ever came to a vote in the Senate—either in committee or on the floor—during the regular session.

DEBT-PAYING BILLS—Three bills recommended by Governor Daniel to wipe out the $65,000,000 state deficit received first legislative attention. These measures are:

1. "Bookkeeping bill" designed to lop $28,000,000 off the Aug. 31 deficit by crediting certain money to this year instead of next year.

2. One-year increase in the corporation franchise tax to bring in $17,000,000. Sponsor Rep. Joe Ed Winfree of Houston called it "a donation by Texas business" toward bailing out state government.

3. Abandoned property act, to transfer to the State Treasury, funds unclaimed for seven years. Estimates vary as to how much

Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 17th day of February, 1958. The file number of said suit being No. 5224.

The names of the parties in said suit are: Roy Tankersley as Plaintiff, and the above named parties, as Defendants.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to-wit: This is a suit in Trespass to Try Title alleging the five (5) and ten (10) year statutes of limitation covering the following described property to-wit:

Being out of and a part of Block No. Six (6) of the Bettie G. Davis Addition to the town of Knox City, Knox County, Texas and described as follows: BEGINNING at the Southeast corner of Block No. Six Bettie G. Davis Addition to the city of Knox City, Knox County, Texas; THENCE North 140 feet along the East boundary line of said Block No. Six; THENCE West 150 feet parallel with the North Boundary line of said Block No. Six; THENCE South 140 feet parallel with the East Boundary line of said Block No. Six to the South Boundary line; THENCE East 150 feet along the South Boundary line of said Block Six, to the place of beginning.

it would bring in; sponsors say about $20,000,000 the first year, $2,500,000 a year thereafter. It was re-written after its defeat last session, but bankers still aren't happy.

First two of these bills received quick House approval.

GOVERNOR'S PERMANENT PROGRAM — To cover new money needs for the next two years, the governor is pushing a separate tax program, a "package bill" known as H. B. 7.

It would raise an estimated $161,000,000 in two years.

Affected by the bill would be (1) natural gas, with a reduction from 7 to 5 per cent in production tax and addition of 5 per cent "severance beneficiary" tax, (2) interstate corporations, with a new and complex taxation formula, (3) utility companies, with an increase in the gross receipts tax, (4) cigarettes, one cent per package more, (5) other tobacco products, except snuff, to be added to sales tax fold, (6) liquor, increase from $1.408 (correct) to $2.50 a gallon sales tax, 7. automobiles, with sales tax increase from 1.1 to 1.5 per cent.

In the past weeks the governor has been making a vigorous round of conferences and talks, rounding up support for his program. He launched it before the Legislature with a speech pouring fire and brimstone on the heads of lobbyists. He accused the "third house" of causing expensive delays.

OTHER TAX BILLS — As in the regular session, there is no lack of ideas for raising money.

Besides the governor's bills these have been proposed:

(1) One per cent tax on all manufactured goods, by Rep. Jerry Sadler of Percilla. To bring in an estimated $200,000,000 annually. Businesses grossing less than $25,000 annually would be exempt.

(2) 1.5 per cent general sales tax, by Rep. Frates S. Seeliger of San Antonio. Food, feed and fertilizer would be exempt.

(3) One per cent tax on retail sales, one per cent on personal income and three per cent on corporate income, by Rep. Louis Anderson of Midland.

(4) Five per cent tax on corporation net profits, by Rep. Dean Johnson of Houston.

(5) Five per cent tax on trading stamps, by Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs.

(6) Graduated oil tax, by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston.

Streams In Desert Places

Ozelle Stephens

Man must learn to be still and know that God is God. Then, and only then can he comprehend the highly spiritual things. Man's entire attention has been centered on physical things and outside conditions. His thoughts embrace only this material world. He can learn to "be still", and shut off that outside vision that he might comprehend the spiritual reality behind the things his eyes behold and his mortal hand touch. He can see the Holy Grail—the sacred chalice of the soul which is the container of the pure waters of life. It is only when he lets go of his heartbreaks, his past mistakes, his way of thinking and feeling, and in humble adoration kneels before the divine altar of Almighty God—be emptied completely of self and be filled with the fullness of God. This is the meaning of the great and acceptable sacrifice of the broken and contrite spirit. This is the greatest gift or offering man can give to God—his own being emptied of self and open to receive. Seek and ye shall find the Streams of Living Life.

Sorghum Alum Is Discussed In New A. & M. Leaflet

Sorghum alnum, a tall grass that will grow in most of Texas, is discussed in a new leaflet released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, titled "Sorghum Alnum."

Sorghum alnum, a hybrid between Johnsongrass and a sorghum, is a short-lived perennial similar in appearance to Johnsongrass. It has wider leaves, larger stems, longer and more spreading heads, and the first-year growth is taller than Johnsongrass or Sudan grass.

The primary use of Sorghum alnum is as a grazing crop. The larger stems make it more difficult to cure for hay than Johnsongrass. Sorghum alnum has one distinct advantage over Sudan grass as a temporary summer pasture crop—it makes better regrowth and produces more grazing in late summer and fall. It appears to be more drought tolerant than Sudan or Johnsongrass, particularly on sandy soils.

Although a perennial-type plant, survival the second and third growing seasons have been erratic. In view of past experiences, it will have to be considered an annual grazing crop, or at least a weak perennial for use as temporary pasture, said E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist.

The leaflet discusses the description of the plant, its adaptation, establishment and its management. Copies of the leaflet are available from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station. Ask for L.329.

Corner on Cotton BY BOB COLLINS

What does "competitive price" mean when we talk about cotton ??? ... it doesn't necessarily mean a low price ... but it does mean that cotton must be priced at a level where some other fiber can't be profitably used to displace it ... and competitive price doesn't mean lower profits for the farmer, either ... in fact, nearly everybody we talk to in the industry wants to see the farmer make more money so he'll stay interested in growing cotton ... think what a blow it would be to ginners, merchants, oil millers, warehousemen, spinners and weavers if all the cotton farmers switched to another crop ... all these people are interested in seeing the farmer prosper, but nobody associated with cotton is going to prosper unless there is a growing consumption of raw cotton ... there isn't going to be one unless cotton can do a job as good as any other fiber and as CHEAPLY.

Cotton Vs. Cotton

Now what about U. S. growths competing with foreign cotton? ... other items also enter the picture ... there is certainty of supply and good shipments ... both of these favor the U. S., but the subsidy that gets U. S. cotton down pricewise to meet foreign growths is subject to change ... this may not favor American cotton ... since we have announced that our cotton will compete pricewise with foreign grown cotton and since we say that we will increase the subsidy whenever necessary, foreign buyers are wary ... perhaps by holding off their buying of the U. S. cotton they can cause an increase in the subsidy and thus get the fiber cheaper ... or they think, "what if I buy U. S. cotton at one price and then the subsidy is increased? ... I'll be stuck with a higher priced cotton than if I had waited ..." the trade feels that we should have a subsidy that gets our cotton into the competitive market, but also it should be a firm subsidy, not subject to increase during the season ... while the subsidy CAN be increased, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has just said that it hopes improved textile conditions and world prices will allow a decrease ...

VISIT IN CARLSBAD Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gage of Knox City, and their son, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. (Dub) Gage of Santa Ana, California, visited recently in Carlsbad, N. M. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carlile and sons. Mrs. Carlile is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gage, and sister of R. W.

VISITS NEW ORLEANS Mr. and Mrs. Billy Johnston, his brother-in-law and wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Dozier of Morgan, recently spent several days in New Orleans.

also, the subsidy has never been increased during a cotton season ... this may offset marketing disadvantages of a possible increased subsidy ... all of this to show that making cotton competitive isn't a simple thing and while the main thing is price, there are many other factors.

THE POSTAL SERVICE IS FULL OF SURPRISING STATISTICS

The postal service is full of surprising statistics. One statistic that is little known, but amazing when revealed, is the number of letters deposited each year which bear no signature. Many of these letters are the creations of cranks. Others are the writings of good-intentioned persons who want to object to something or other but who fear that their comments will bring unpleasant reprisals.

Because of the unfairness of anonymous letters to both sender and receiver, postmaster, Jeff Graham would like to appeal to those who fail to take either credit or responsibility for their correspondence to analyze the advantages and disadvantages of their actions. They should ask themselves quite frankly if sending an unsigned letter is the best solution for their problem.

If the author of any anonymous letter attacks a person or a situation in such language that he is afraid to take responsibility for what he has said, he should be aware of Post Office Department regulations which define "any libelous, scurrilous, defamatory, or threatening language, whether written or printed, or which by its manner or style of display is obviously intended to reflect injuriously on the character or conduct of another" as being libelous. Those who intend to be nameless but not abusive might well be concerned about the injustice of their act when they make a contention or offer a complaint not based upon facts and not susceptible to reply.

Before depositing an anonymous letter in the mails, the writer should ask himself these questions:

1. Am I accomplishing my purpose? If the whole end in view is simple to vent wrath, then as much satisfaction is realized as could be had from beating a stone wall with one's fists in a blind rage.

2. Am I being fair either to myself or to the other person? The answer is obviously "no", for the frequently innocent receiver has no opportunity to defend himself, and the writer has no chance to receive an explanation.

3. Do I really have cause to be so upset? Ordinarily, the answer would be "no", but if the answer is frankly "yes" then it is especially important that the writer identify himself and defend his point of view.

Those who plan to take refuge in anonymity should remember that in doing so they will become "hit-and-run drivers" of the correspondence world. They might well "count up to ten" before venting their wrath on paper. And they might well discuss their problems with the Postmaster.

Casebearer Proving Serious Threat To Pecan Growers Here

County Agent, Max Sturdivant, states that the pecan nut casebearer is becoming a serious threat to pecan growers in the county. This insect can be controlled, however, he pointed out.

Sturdivant said that sprays which are effective in controlling the pecan nut casebearer are: 3 lbs. of 50 per cent wettable DDT; or 2 lbs. of 15 per cent wettable parathion; or 3 lbs. of 25 per cent wettable malathion; or 5 lbs. of 40 per cent wettable toxephene; or 1 pt. of 40 per cent nicotine sulphate, plus 2 quarts summer oil.

The county agent pointed out that the above recommendations make 100 gallons of mixture. Sprays are ineffective after the worms enter nuts.

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I was reading a magazine piece where the U. S. Treasury Departments has now got one of them electronic machines that'll count paper money. That's the most encouraging news to come out of Washington this season. A heap of folks was under the impression they had done quit counting it. Judging from the way them Congressmen was sending it, I figured they was just handling it by the pound. And I see where some feller has invented a new dance step called the Washington Glide. He says he patterned it after like's golf swing. If we're going out for things like that I've got a few steps I'd like to suggest, like the Farm Price Climb, the Tax Cut Tango, or the Balanced Budget Boogie.

I saw a piece in the papers last night where the taxpayers is footing the bill for 871 employees to drive them Congressmen and Senators around. I got a hunch the taxpayers would not mind it so much if they knew some of those big boys had any idea where they was going and what they'd do when they got there.

The fellers at the country store Saturday night got to talking about all them alphabet agencies they got in Washington. One feller held out that some of 'em couldn't spell good enough to handle the situation. For instant, he said, the pamphlets he gits from the Agriculture Department always abbreviates "barrel" with "bbi" when anybodys knows that barrel ain't got but one "b" in it. Edd Doolittle allowed as how that's because them Government folks always do everything up to the last notch and that the extra "b" stood for the bung hole in the barrel.

I'm mighty interested in the outcome about this feller in Baltimore that got caught strolling stark naked to the corner store for a pack of cigarettes. When the law got him he said, "This is the way God made me." As technical as our courts is gitting, he might win his case. But I've got a idea that the Judge will convict him on one of them bear traps lawyers manages to git into the statutes. He'll probably rule that God made him that way but God didn't create him with the cigarette habit, therefore and whereas he is guilty ipso facto and E Pluribus Unum.

Speaking of judges, one in England ruled the other day that a wife's value goes down with the years. A feller was asking $700 because his wife run off with another man. The Judge held that a wife gits more troublesome ever year and that this feller was entitled to only $210 due to depreciation. Seems they got mighty fine judges in England. Over here the Judge would rule the husband gits fat, bald and stingy and fer that reason a wife that'll live with him increases in value.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ben

Good Brooder Management Is Very Essential

The first week after hatching is the most critical time in a chick's life. Since dead chicks return no profit, it is very important to take every step to make living conditions in the brooder as ideal as possible, advises Ben Wormeli, extension poultry husbandman.

"The first step is to buy high-quality chicks from a reputable hatchery," Wormeli said. "Have the brooder set up and regulated when they arrive and you're off to a good start."

The brooder, all watering and feeding utensils, and the inside walls of the house should have been cleaned and scrubbed with a solution that will kill external parasites, he explained. The brooder thermostat should be cleaned and adjusted so it will operate within a three-to-five-degree range. About 10 square inches of floor space per chick should be allowed under the hover and the temperature should be set according to the brooder manufacturer's recommendations.

Wormeli pointed out that feed and water should be easily available to the chicks. One inch of feeder space per chick and a broadbase fountain of watering per 100 chicks is sufficient. The lip of the feeders should be no more than two inches above the floor and for the first week or so they should be kept full so the chicks can eat easily.

A draft guard around the brooder will lower fuel costs and keep chicks from wandering away from the hover. The guard should be 1 or 1½ feet high and should be located about 4 feet from the brooder.

Litter should be kept free of dust and mold, Wormeli advises. It should be about 3 inches deep. Wood shavings, peanut hulls, ground corn cobs and cane litter are four common materials.

"Observance of these few simple rules," he said, "can mean higher livability and more profit."

Students Should Apply For Social Security Card

With vacation time here once again, more high school and college students will be seeking part-time and temporary employment. Erton F. Tate, District Manager of the Wichita Falls, Texas Social Security Office, stated that it is very important that such persons obtain social security cards before applying for work and that the names on their social security cards correspond with their present names—especially in the case of married women who have not had their names changed on their social security records.

Tate said nine out of ten jobs are now covered by social security and in most cases, this vacation employment will provide a quarter of social security to the account of the worker, thereby building toward a retirement benefit upon reaching age of sixty-five. If these workers earn as much as $50 during July, August, and September, they will require one quarter of coverage.

Tate went on to say that these workers and the employers have important responsibilities in seeing that the worker's wages are reported correctly for social security, and the only way this can be done is for the workers to have his correct social security card when he begins working.

JUST TALK

By JAMES HILL

While making a few ad calls Tuesday morning we ran into Paul Hoge, and he told us a former resident of Knox City had arrived in town Monday night and that he wanted us to meet him. We are certainly glad we did meet him for he had a lot of interesting stories to tell us. The person is Charlie L. Rice. Charlie was born and raised on a farm east of Knox City, and attended the Knox City schools.

For the past two years he has been the vice consul at the American Embassy in Managua, Nicaragua. He will serve two more years there in the same position. He has been in the American Embassy for the past 14 years. Mrs. Rice is teaching school in Managua, and their 12-year-old son goes to the American school there.

Charlie arrived in the states April 17, after a 2700 mile and 11-day trip through the "worst roads imaginable," from Managua to Eagle Pass, Texas. Charlie made the trip without any car trouble whatever, and no flats.

As an illustration of the type roads one must travel, Paul showed us a recent copy of Time Magazine in which the American Automobile Club of America made the trip to the Panama Canal in February, to make a report on conditions of traveling on the new highway. They had two transmission overhauls, five new tires, 8 shock absorbers, brake realignments, and muffler repairs. Their repair bills were $411.92. They said "don't travel."

Charlie made the trip in a little doodle bug (foreign-made car). He said he was out only $19 for gas. He had a new set of tires in the back of his car that he will take back with him.

Traveling alone through the wilds of South America are still very dangerous he informed us, and there are many places that a flat tire or any delay, could cause serious trouble for the driver or tourist. Robbery and murder are still in vogue in that part of the country, it seems.

We feel certain the 200-pound, six-footer will be a match for anyone though, if he has time to get out, or off his car!

Charlie drove to Washington, D. C., and spent a week in consultation, and then came back by way of the Southern States. At a small town in Tennessee, Charlie had some fun with a local gas station attendant when he stopped for gas. After looking the little car over he asked Charlie where the gas tank was located, and Charlie told him he lost it up the road and was in a heck of a hurry so he guessed he would have to put the gas in the car's radiator, as he had to have gas and was in a hurry. The station attendant said, "you ain't funnin' me are you mister?" Charlie said, "No, just fill her up and I'll be on my way." (The car has an air-cooled engine located in the rear, and the gas tank is located in the front under the hood.)

Tuesday afternoon Charlie departed Knox City for Eagle Pass, Texas, where he will get a check on the roads and some supplies for the homeward trip. He will remain in Managua for another two year stint. He said the rainy season had started in that part of the country, and he may have to leave his car at Eagle Pass and fly home.

He was trying to locate someone to make the trip with him, and act as bodyguard, but no one took him up on the proposition, as far as we know. Rice told us the Herald was three months old when he received it. All mail goes to the Panama Canal Zone, where it is held until they get a big load, then flown into Nicaragua. The earliest edition of the papers are six weeks old. In some quick arithmetic, Charlie surmised that it would cost approximately $150 per week to have the paper sent air mail. That way it would get there in a week or so.

The best of luck to you and your family in Managua, Nicaragua, Charlie, and we are looking forward to seeing you two more years!

Cooperation Needed

Persons who reside within the city limits of Knox City, who have outside toilets are asked to place lime in those toilets.

Several complaints have come in to "city dads" concerning that matter, and cooperation is needed.

ATTEND DIRECTORS MEET

Bruce Campbell, Sr., and Lee Smith were in Vernon Monday, to attend the annual directors and officers meeting of the Santa Rosa Roundup.

Farm Tractor Can Be Killer

Ignorance and carelessness in using farm machinery are sure ways to make the headlines. Records show that more than 1,100 fatalities in the United States each year are caused by tractor accidents. Extension Agricultural Engineer Willie L. Ulich offers suggestions for preventing such accidents.

A child's safety is a parent's responsibility, he says. Teach children the importance of safety and point out dangers involved in the use of machinery. Emphasize that operating a tractor is a job for a mature person.

Tractors are involved in 35 percent of all farm accidents making it the Number One farm killer. Forty percent of all tractor accidents are fatal to the operator.

Chances of an upset, points out the engineer, increase four times when speed is doubled. If possible, lock brake pedals together when driving on the open highway. Use brakes cautiously and keep them evenly adjusted.

Other safety suggestions by Ulich are: throttle down before making turns, do not carry extra riders on either the tractor or on trailers, and avoid climbing steep banks with the tractor since overturns are one of the chief causes of tractor accidents.

Be careful where you work. Often ditches, rocks and stumps are hidden by tall grass or brush and the tractor may overturn with little warning.

Luckless Legion Is Haunted Army

More than 2,800,000 Americans were drafted into the Luckless Legion of automobile casualties in 1958.

In its annual highway safety booklet entitled "The Luckless Legion," The Travelers Insurance Companies pointed out "This is an army of suffering humanity which grows more rapidly each year. It is made up of the injured and the dead, the heedless and the innocent, the young and the old. Since the automobile first appeared on the American scene, these ranks of the crippled and the dead have included more than 60,000,000 persons."

The Luckless Legion is a silent, haunted army. No monuments are erected to it. No grim reminders mar the sleek beauty of the roads and highways which are its field of battle. A newspaper headline, perhaps, marks the induction of the latest recruit. Then silence. Silent suffering. A lifetime of pain. Or the silent memories of those who mourn when the dead are laid to rest.

Statistics, pledges and slogans do not seem to change us. Something more is needed. During 1959, the Luckless Legion will be meeting in our community . . . on a stretch of highway, in a hospital room, in the morgue. The driver alone will know when the meeting time is near. In the temptation to bear down a little harder on the gas, to beat the darkness home, to test reflexes when they are dulled by sleep or alcohol, to jay-walk on crowded streets, to forget caution when the weather and road conditions are bad. During 1959, everytime a person is behind the wheel of their car, they should remember that the Luckless Legion is looking for recruits. Don't be one.

Rot Resistance Is Added To Cotton Fabric

Texas cotton producers and consumers should be interested in a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture announcement with the development of a practical method for producing cotton fabric with outstanding rot resistance and improved weather resistance.

Because of its improved properties, cotton fabric treated with the chemical promises to open new markets for cotton in awnings, tents, tarpaulins and other outdoor fabric items. The treatment method, developed by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service, is based on the use of a water soluble acid colloid of methylolmelamine. This chemical is well known for its resin-forming qualities. The resin, which penetrates the outer portion of the fiber cell wall to become a part of the fiber rather than just a coating, makes cotton virtually immune to rot and mildew as demonstrated by soil burial tests in the laboratory.

Untreated cotton buried in soils containing fabric-destroying bacteria was in shreds after one week. The treated cotton on the other hand, still retained 100 percent of its breaking strength after 21 weeks.

Research by the ARS Southern Utilization Research and Development Division at New Orleans, has shown that the chemical can also be used in conjunction with certain fabric-coloring pigments to increase cotton's resistance to deterioration by sunshine. The treatment can also be applied successfully to many vat dyed fabrics.

And of major importance, said the announcement, cost of the treatment is expected to be relatively low and it can be applied with conventional textile finishing equipment.

Behold the Ant...

• Science tells us that the strongest thing in the world for its size is the common red ant. This marvel of nature can lift 10 times its own weight.

As strong as the red ant may be, it has been proven that the most powerful thing for its size is the little want ad in your local newspaper.

The want ad, which costs only a few cents a day, does a hundred-fold job. This mighty mite of the printed page finds jobs for folks, sells used lawnmowers, rents houses, sells farms, loans money, finds missing persons, locates lost dogs, rents appliances, thanks folks, locates homes for surplus puppies, and performs a hundred and one useful services for the community.
