BOY SCOUT NEWS

The Boy Scouts of both the troops took a hike out to Campbell's Crossing Tuesday evening. The group left at six p. m. and returned at 9:50. The hike across country was finished by a well deserved rest and supper hour. The group gathered themselves a good supply of firewood and proceeded to learn the first principles of simple cookery. The rest of the evening was spent in short hikes over the hills and individual stunts and games. The hike being the group's first and no doubt rather a new experience to many, proved both as a novelty and starter to future, better conducted and organized hikes.

The scouts did not do so well in their church attendance at the church services at the Christian church as had been hoped, but on the other hand was very well considering the number who knew about it and had made plans to attend. No date has been set as to when the next service will be attended by the scouts nor to which church, so each scout is urged to make an honest effort to attend these services.

As nearly as seen possible, next Tuesday will be visitors night for scouts who wish to join in the next bunch. Special recognition will be given to the Day in the meeting of Troop 101. Come out and see what the scout program is and will do.

DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MET TUESDAY

The Democratic Executive Committee of Knox County met Tuesday in the Court House in Benjamin. This was a called meeting to accept the resignation of Chas. Moorhouse, County Chairman who resigned on account of being a candidate for County Treasurer. There were twelve of the thirteen committeemen present, and B. C. Anderson of Knox City was elected Chairman, and LeRoy Melton will continue as secretary.

The Committee will meet again June 20th to assess the candidates and draw names on the ballot. Saturday June 18 is the last day a county candidate can file for a place on the ballot. After the assessment the Committee will meet again and prepare the ballot, and then the machinery will be set in action for the first primary.

Ted Beeder returned home Wednesday from Crowell. Ted has been up there sometime, as he has been employed in a drug store.

O'Brien Secures Cotton Breeding Farm

C. S. Lankhart of Waco, Texas recognized as one of the south's leading breeders and the man who has revolutionized cotton breeding practices will be in charge of the breeding work. His breeding plots are located on the bush farms two miles west of O'Brien. This cotton is known as the Northern Star Variety, and has been bred to take the place of Half and Half as it has a medium thin rind boll and is an early maturing cotton stapling 7-8 in the dry years to 1 inch in wet years. There is 4800 acres under contract and growing in this variety. It is the intention of Mr. Lankhart to produce a cotton here that the farmers will not hesitate to standardize this entire section on this variety. This cotton will be grown on the O'Brien Co-op Gin which is now being prepared to take care of the seed in keeping with the State Plant Board regulations and all seed will be State Certified.

Mr. Lankhart will take personal charge of the planting work at the breeding plots, which will cover approximately three acres. From these he hopes to develop a new strain of cotton which will meet soil and climate conditions of the entire western cotton belt. The Waco Breeder is the originator of the practice of breeding from the boll. A practice espoused by agricultural experts for several years but now firmly recognized and is rapidly winning converts.

The O'Brien Breeding farm is the fourth operated by Mr. Lankhart. The others are at Waco, Shreveport, La., and Elk City, Oklahoma.

A crew of nine workmen were used in planting the breeding plot placing the seed by hand in carefully staked rows. An intricate record of the growth and development of each individual boll in the breeding plot will be kept personally by Mr. Lankhart, who spends his entire time in the field looking after this phase of the work. He will divide his time between his other farms with the O'Brien Farm visiting here as often as needed.

Mr. Lankhart began his cotton breeding work 27 years ago in 1911 in Galia County, Texas. During that time he has kept "life histories of" 47,160 cotton bolls and will have approximately 7,000 under his care this year. If he obtains 100 bolls from the 7,000 which show improvement he will feel he has made good headway, Mr. Lankhart revealed.

Early Experience
When Mr. Lankhart first began his cotton breeding work experts claimed the cotton plant should be regarded as a unit. Mr. Lankhart who was farming with his father, found that pure bred cotton would "throw back" with variations among the bolls on any stalk and he set out to learn the cause.

He decided that the boll should be the unit rather than the plant. And for this radical idea he became a virtual "outlaw" among cotton breeders. Thus he became the founder of the single boll system of breeding and already many breeders have come to accept his idea.

The seed is watched from the day it is placed in the ground to determine percentage of germination, length of time required before the first plants push through the ground, growth under various conditions and every detail of the plants development.

Lint Percentage Determined
The bolls are studied individually and when matured they are selected for percentage of lint, with attention also given

NOTICE.

The Knox County Herald will publish a special edition known as the Candidate Edition on Thursday, July 14. This will be only one week before the first primary election. There will be 300 copies published and mailed to every tax payer in this county, we having secured a correct list from Tax Collector Earl Sams. This issue will be in the homes of the people one week before the election and this will give the voters plenty of time to study the qualifications of the different candidates.

This edition will be limited to twelve pages and only sixteen quarter pages will be offered for sale. Letters have been mailed to all county and district candidates informing them of our intention and already eight have responded asking for space in this issue. All ads must be in our office by July 1, and after that date no one will be accepted. It is quite a task for a country weekly to publish and mail a twelve page paper with three thousand circulation in one week, therefore we must have all copy in our office not later than the above mentioned date.

This editor will not write any copy for a candidate, the only thing we contract to do is to publish your message and see that it reaches every voter in the county. To all merchants who desire to take advantage of this large circulation we will have a split amount of space to sell at the regular rate if they desire it.

This is the first time in the history of Knox County that this has been undertaken and we ask the co-operation of all candidates who desire space in this issue to see us at once as the space is going fast.

To Keep Improving

Increases from the breeding plot here will be planted outside to keep a constant flow of improved seed to the farms. Mr. Lankhart recognizes the need of a variety of cotton adaptable to soil and climate conditions. It isn't possible to fit every foot in America with a No. 8 shoe neither is it possible to fit every soil with one variety of cotton he declares. For this reason it is the intention of Mr. Lankhart to develop the variety of cotton that will make the farmer more money to grow.

A Tedious Job

It is a long tedious job to develop a cotton strain. Mr. Lankhart revealed that his Waco strain from 11 selected bolls from a single stalk. Seed from each boll was put back in breeding plots and the second year only the increase from four bolls was selected. The other increases reverted back to old types. The year following only the increase from two stood the test, and after five years only the increase from one of the original bolls was left. That was Waco strain. This experience is used by Mr. Lankhart in defending his single boll method of breeding. Had he followed the old custom of selection by plants, the strain might have been lost or it might have taken 10 to fifteen years to develop.

Slow But Sure

The single boll method is slow and tedious, Mr. Lankhart admits but he has found that it keeps uniformity. The breeding farm here is attracting wide attention among cotton growers (Continued on page four)

ELECTRIC KITCHEN TO BE HERE ALL DAY FRIDAY

An educational tour of the territory served by the West Texas Utilities Company will bring a 27-foot all electric kitchen-studio-trailer to Knox City for exhibition Friday, according to G. I. Glenn, local manager for the company, who said the trailer would be open to the public for inspection and would be parked on main street.

A feature of the visit will be an amateur contest at night when all the local musicians and singers will be invited to play over the trailer's broadcasting system. A broadcasting studio is equipped with piano and microphone. A street audience will be asked to help decide the winners, who will be awarded substantial prizes. Loud speakers will make the program audible for several blocks.

The trailer, which is being demonstrated by J. A. Muir working under District Sales Manager T. W. McCoy of Quanah, now has been inspected by over 100,000 persons. A few weeks ago it served as the official speaker's stand at the Rat Snake Derby in McCleary. A week previous, it served as a rostrum for a Sunday sermon in Lubbock.

Many thousands of women have learned for the first time that "the average home now can have all-electric kitchen." A space eight by ten feet in the center of the trailer is constructed as a model kitchen. It contains electric range, refrigerator, water heater, dish washer, and the numerous smaller appliances designed to eliminate kitchen drudgery.

At the front of the trailer is a lounge, eight by eight feet. The studio at the rear end also is eight feet by eight feet. The studio is air conditioned. Indirect lighting is a feature throughout.

Gossett After Gin Trusts

During the week end Ed Gossett, candidate for Congress made four speeches in Wise County, in all of which he attacked Farm and Gin Machinery Trusts.

"These monopolies are hurting the farms in this country more than any others," stated Gossett. "We must bust the Farm and Gin Machinery Trusts and prevent profiteering in such machinery. Our country cannot be stable, or secure, until farmers of our country are able and secure. We must have a 'Back to the farm' program in America. A program that will enable farmers to live on the land in security, and to rear and educate their families decently."

In addition to an attack on Farm and Gin Machinery Trusts Gossett also condemned dishonest political practices, and the abuse of patronage.

Gossett further stated, "Government must protect small business men; shall merchants and small farmers, from unfair competition and ruthless extermination, and that all discriminations against them must be prohibited. It is not the function of Government, however, to monopolize business, but simply to write the rules of fair play, and then to enforce them."

Gossett spoke in Decatur at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon; in Boyd at 4 o'clock and in Bridgeport at 8 p. m. Saturday night. He advises that he will conduct an active speaking campaign from now until the Primary, and expects to cover all parts of the District in the course of his campaign.

Rep. Tennyson Here Saturday

Representative Charles H. Tennyson of Wichita Falls, who is a candidate for State Senator from the 23rd district, of which Knox County is a part, spoke here last Saturday night at 8:30 before a large crowd. He was introduced by Dr. Wallace J. Masters formerly of Knox City. In introducing Mr. Tennyson, Dr. Masters referred to him as a man "whom we all admire as a citizen and as a legislator. He has six years of experience as a member of the Texas House of Representatives from Wichita County. It is six years marked by a record of achievement."

"Mr. Tennyson outlined his record in the House of Representatives from the time he took office to the present time. He is now Chairman of the Committee on Education in the House. He told of his fight in the Legislature, to secure a fair regulation of all utilities in the state, pointing out that he secured the passage of a measure which gave all cities and towns in Texas the right to regulate utilities, and that the same measure lowered the rate of return allowed.

"Mr. Tennyson pleaded for fair play to the farmer and the stockmen, and pointed out that he had always voted and worked for all measures in the interest of the farmer. Born on a small Texas farm where he spent the first 20 years of his life he understands the problems facing agriculture in Texas. He stated he had always been an active champion of lower taxes on farms and homes."

"He concluded his address with the statement that when we collect from the taxpayers of Texas around $150,000,000 per year I feel that is enough. We need to use more business like methods in our state government, reduce expenses in agencies, cut out some useless bureaus, and give to the people of Texas a dollar's worth of good for every dollar of the people's money we spend. We can do that and take care of the aged needy who are not now on the rolls, and provide for those phases of state government now neglected."

Nothing is so bad but that it could be worse. For instance, if you have a corn on the bottom of your foot, you know that no one else but you can step on it.

Speaking of dam projects reminds us that the head knocker of the Brazos project, with headquarters at Temple, gets a neat salary of $15,000 a year. He has several helpers who have to limp along on salaries of $5,000 or more.

The world's greatest strutters are Hitler and Mussolini, who are at present putting on a Damon and Pythias act. It is hard to believe that Europe is big enough for two big strutters, and there will be lots of fun when they eventually bump into each other and the fur begins to fly.

Merchants generally believe that business lost on account of a rainy day is not recovered later. This may or may not be true. This business is transacted at a later date, but the purchases are not always made from the same merchant. For this reason it behoves a merchant to constantly keep his name before the public.

Some candidates continue to mail us free dope done on mimeograph machine. The return on the envelope is done with a rubber stamp. Any publisher caught running such stuff in this Panhandle domain should be sentenced to a long stay in the Dust Bowl. — Clarendon Leader.

A good thing can be said of Charley Lockhart and his candidacy for re-election as state treasurer. He is not burdening the mails with free propaganda which he wishes newspapers to print free for him. We had one letter this week from a candidate that took nine cents postage, and we get plenty of them with six, all of which were promptly dumped in the waste basket. We believe a saving of postage for a few weeks would pay for a nice little announcement in most of the papers, and one thing sure, all the country papers would not be sore at them.

United States has, in effect, stopped the sale of certain German securities in the United States. The reason is that accurate information cannot be obtained as to the financial condition of Germany, which is indirectly responsible for the obligation. Herr Hitler, for reasons best known to himself, is extremely coy about revealing any information concerning Germany's finances. This is a matter that citizens are required to know, which no doubt is the reason for the law requiring political bodies to publish financial statements, and officials being subject to fine for non publication.

An example of how well organized crime escapes the penalty of its wrongs is illustrated by the instance of two police characters in a certain large mid-western city. One of these men had been arrested 25 times in four years and the other 40 times in ten years. Though there has been ample evidence to convict in a number of instances, and though the offenders were caught in the act by police in two instances, there has been but one conviction in the 74 arrests. It must require a pretty sturdy character to retain his respect for the law and live in a community where the law is flouted to this degree.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

F. M. Gwin, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Odessa, used to live in Cross Plains, where he was quite active in civic affairs, as can be judged by the stories they still tell on him.

It seems that an oil man went to Cross Plains and, when he inquired as to who knew most about leases, he was referred to Gwin. Later, the operator decided he wanted to rent a house and was referred to the Chamber of Commerce secretary, who turned out to be Gwin. That night, the stranger imbibed too freely, was taken tary, who turned out to be carried before the mayor. His request was granted and, you guessed it, the mayor was Gwin.

"Can't a man turn around in this town without seeing you?" the oil man asked. "I never got so tired of one face in my life."

If you happen to be driving along the Stephenville—Dublin highway, you will observe an oddly beautiful building about three miles out from Stephenville. It is the office of Ross Wolfe, nurseryman, and is made from hundreds of different kinds of rock, gathered in all parts of Texas and even in foreign lands. There are crystals, shells, petrified wood, fragments from Carlsbad Cavern, all blent into symmetry of form and harmony of color. Mr. Wolfe's son, Hugh, is the University of Texas' contribution to the All Southwest Conference team for three seasons, incidentally.

Texas has many entertaining columnists. One of the most amusing is Russell Bryant, who conducts "Here, There and Everywhere" in the Howe Messenger. Commenting on the fact that Judge Ralph Yarborough, candidate for Attorney General, earned his first dollar by turning a hand-press in a newspaper office, Bryant writes:

"We don't know what it is but there seems to be something about a man who has had newspaper experience that makes him a good official."

"You seldom hear of a printer doing anything wrong, excepting typographical errors of course. There is only one printer in the state penitentiary at the present time and it is reported that he was sent up for a crime he did not commit and that efforts are now being made to obtain a pardon for him."

"There are some newspapermen in the legislature and we have never heard of them doing anything wrong. In fact, lots of people will tell you that they didn't do anything at all!"

Texas newspaperdom lost a brilliant and genial member when Monty Montford passed away a few days ago in Austin hospital. Behind his boyish good nature and his golden smile, there was serious ambition. Half shyly, he showed this columnist some time ago a manuscript on which he was working. It was to be a book telling of the activities that centered around "headquarters"—the pathos, excitement, pranks and romance that make up the life of members of the city police department. Monty could have handled the theme superbly for he "broke in" as police reporter in Fort Worth and was the favorite reporter of the police, all of whom called him "Cub" even after he had become a star reporter. Why fate snips the thread of life when the morning sun is just drinking the dew from the grass and flowers and so much of achievement seems to be ahead is one of the questions to which human philosophy has found no answer. Monty will live in the memory of those who were privileged to hear his naturally and never with a trace of malice to strain the humor.

John Ingram of Munday was here Tuesday on business and called at the Herald office. He is a candidate for County Superintendent and informs us that he is now active in canvassing the county. He expects to see every voter in the county personally if possible.

Mrs. Dee McStay spent Monday and Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. A. M. Armstrong and family and Mrs. Jack Spikes and Mr. Spikes. Mrs. McStay whose home is in Vernon is a member of the teaching staff of the Vernon schools and was enroute to Lubbock where she will enroll in summer school.

Miss Marylene Herrington who has been attending Sal Ross College in Alpine returned home Sunday.

Mrs. C. C. Wright and Mrs. Jack Jones of Pecos, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Reagan of Spur, and Mrs. Etta Webb of Munday spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Webb.

Mrs. Holt Mosely and Mrs. Lee Smith left Sunday for Lubbock where they went to attend graduation activities of Texas Tech. Mrs. Mosely's daughter, Miss Claudia Sue accompanied them home Wednesday. Other Knox City people who attended the exercises were Mrs. Lois Paulsell, and sister Mrs. E. F. Branton; and Mrs. Leone Thomason and son George; and Mrs. Uldric Lee, Darrell Branton, nephew of Mrs. Branton and Mrs. Thomason, was a member of the 1938 graduating class with a major in textile engineering.

Grady Benedict presented the editor with another nice cat fish from Lake Kemp Monday. Grady always gets his share of the fish when he goes after them.

Frank Mabe of Crowell was in Knox City Sunday visiting with friends.

Mrs. E. L. West and family of Wichita Falls, returned to their home Tuesday after spending from Sunday until Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. L. E. Hamm and Mr. Hamm. Other guests Sunday in the Hamm home were Mrs. Z. Powell, of Big Springs, and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Roberson of Vera.

R. V. Burton who resides six miles east of town and who is a candidate for County Treasurer called at our office yesterday after receiving our letter in regard to our special candidate edition and said count on him for one quarter page.

About 6:15 on last Saturday evening Ed Shaver, Loyd Davis, and Ben Farmer were taken suddenly ill. The news came in over the radio that the New York Giants of the National Baseball league had suffered their 5th consecutive defeat. A physician was called and after a thorough examination pronounced the case as a nervous break down. At this writing the boys are resting very well. —Except Ben, he has left town.

We have been informed by a close friend of Lee W. Coats, that he is about to enter the race for State Senator of his respective district with only one plank in his platform: To wit: that the government of the United States pay the farmers monthly. Lee believes that the one plank alone will win the election.

Tom Loper who has been on a diet for the past six years, recommended by his local physician consisting of English sparrows and jay birds has recently been ordered to change over to corn bread and mush. Tom tells us that he has been benefited by the change as it does not require any grease to prepare the cornbread and mush.

RESUME OF P. T. A. YEAR

The humblest citizen of all the land who is clad in the armor of a righteous cause is stronger than all host of "Errors."

Those who missed the night programs really missed a treat. This is just a few of the many things that were given them: "Good Citizenship Requirements" Mr. E. C. Jones; "Citizenship Implications" Mr. Underwood, of the Sunset Schools; "Recreation in our Church" Mr. J. Smith; "Safe at School" A. M. Whittis; "Children's Allowances"—C. C. Hoge; Visitors Day was observed and very instructive reports of the school program were given by some of the association's talented mother Health week brought Dr. T. S. Edwards, Dr. O. J. Emery, and Mrs. Vernon Harwell from the hospital and clinic for a panel discussion on the child or pre-school age. The largest production of the year excepting circus and carnival week was given in observance of national music week with 115 school children participating. "THE BLIND SPOT"

"Incitement of Edsel Ford, Walter P. Chrysler and Alfred Sloan, Jr., on charges of conspiracy to violate the anti-trust laws can mean out one of two things.
The outward explanation, naturally, must be that the Third New Deal is making a broad gauge attack upon monopoly wherever found.
"But whether this states the case fully depends less upon what happens to Messrs. Ford, Sloan and Chrysler than upon what Administration does in connection with another, less publicized charge of illegal monopoly.
"For a year and a half, Representative W. D. McFarlane, of Texas a Democrat who understood with Mr. Roosevelt more than often against him, who has a reputation for independent, intelligent liberalism, has been trying to cause an investigation into the radio industry.
"Only recently he appeared before the House Rules Committee, after repeated efforts to obtain attention from the Department of Justice and the Federal Communications Commission, and made statements of astounding importance, if true, and of such nature that if false he should be exposed as at least a crackpot.
"Among other things he notified the committee that he has in his possession affidavits to the effect that a consent decree dissolving a monopoly of communications between the Radio Corporation of America and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company was obtained by fraud and with the paid support of two members of the United States Senate.
"He offered a financial analysis of the Radio Corporation made by accountant now in its employ which has almost incredible significance.
"It is safe to say that if Mr. McFarlane had offered the Rules Committee any such evidence concerning the newspapers of the United States there would have been rapid action in the White House.
"There would have been more of the assaults upon the integrity of the press that have characterized Mr. Roosevelt's prize of radio and the movies.
"In a few days Congress will adjourn.
"If it does so without appointing a select committee of the House to investigate Mr. McFarlane's charges of radio monopoly and corruption of officials in public office, we must revise our estimate of the Third New Deal's intentions with respect to monopoly.
"Ford, Chrysler and Sloan are not running forward to furnish the Administration with facilities for "informing the people about the functions of government."
"Radio is."
Editorial of Washington Herald, May 29, 1935.
