Capt. Littlepage Describes Reims Surrender Room

Capt. Clyde Littlepage, son of Mrs. C. W. Littlepage, recently had occasion to visit the SHAEF War Rooms at Reims, France, and sent a few words of description to his friend, Vaughn Gruben.

Capt. Littlepage is with the 79th General Hospital at Reims. "The room in which the Germans capitulated in World War II was partitioned off from what was once a large assembly room on the first floor of the Ecole Professionnelle in Reims. When Supreme Headquarters moved to Reims, it became the War Rooms of SHAEF Forward—the brain center of the Allied forces and workshop of Gen. Eisenhower and his staff.

"With the exception of minor changes in furnishings, the room as turned over to the city of Reims in a ceremony on July 7, 1945, is the same as it was on May 7, 1945, when surrender negotiations were in progress. Maps, charts and figures have been restored as they existed on that day.

"Upon entering the WAR room, one sees on the right a large geographical survey map showing terrain elevations in color. This is called the "Installations Map" and is spotted with small squares of colored cardboard representing supply depots in northern France, Belgium and Luxembourg. It also shows pipe-lines feeding gasoline to the front lines from the Boulogne-Calais coastal area and from Cherbourg.

Another chart is perhaps the most striking of all. It is a grim black swastika with a red thermometer in the center showing the number of German soldiers captured by the Allied Forces. The chart disclosed that 161 German divisions, representing a total of 4,035,061 troops had been captured from June 6, 1944 to May 7, 1945.

"In the center of the chart-filled room is a large oak table, 70x190 inches. During the discussions and signing of the surrender, the three German officers sat facing the Allied officers. Thus, the Germans could see at a glance the hopelessness of their military situation. Here in this room Germany surrendered to the Allied Nations."

FARM NEWS

The re-organization of Department of Agriculture agencies recently announced by Secretary Anderson recognizes the effectiveness of farmer committees by giving them additional responsibilities. The re-organization is strictly administrative. It does not affect farm legislation, such as the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, and the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 which are still on the books to help farmers deal with farm problems.

It will be some time before streamlining of the activities involved can be completely effective, since the new PMA consolidates functions previously performed by 14 agencies of the Department of Agriculture. At any rate, administration of the Agricultural Conservation Program, Commodity loans, crop insurance, and milk, butterfat, beef and sheep payments will continue without change under the elected county committees. Additional functions will be added to the work of county committees as the re-organization plan is perfected.

The principal aim of the new organization is to centralize responsibility for USDA farm programs and actions affecting the production, price, and marketing of farm products. In the future, farmers will deal with only a single office on these matters—the county office of their Agricultural Conservation Program (AAA) Committee. The new plan should give better and more direct service to farmers and to the public.

J. O. Warren, Knox City, expressed deep satisfaction over the tank constructed on his place last week.

Numerous terracing contractors are standing idle. Could it be that all land in Knox County that needs terracing is terraced?

The $64 questions for landowners, "Why is a gully in a field?"

Secretary Anderson recently said: "It is possible, after the war, to maintain employment, a free flow of world trade, a stable price level, and to raise the income of a substantial proportion of the families getting less than $2500 to the $2500 level there will be a small need to worry about agricultural abundance out-running demand in the postwar period."

Farmers are urged to watch the Hairy Vetch that will be planted on the following farms this fall: August Schumacher, Frank Cerveny, Joe Brown, Joe Cerveny, of Munday, C. C. Browning, Truscott, League-Davis, Benjamin.

It is hoped that a larger quantity of this seed will be available next year.

Something else for farmers and ranchers to watch is the eradication of mosquito with kerosene on John Ed Jones, O. L. Patterson, and Earl Sams farms. Mr. J. F. Ross of Llano, has eliminated better than 10,000 acres in Llano County during the past 4 years. He was here Saturday and Sunday looking at the mosquito and agreed to bring a crew of 11 men up here next week and eradicate 500 acres. If everyone concerned is satisfied with the work, he will bring 4 crews of 11 men each back next summer. He is guaranteeing 100 percent kill.

"America can't feed the world. Even if we were to ship across the ocean every pound of food we possess, we couldn't feed the world. We must do what we can for the events of the past few years have made it clear even to the dullest mind that, whatever happens in any part of the world, however seemingly distant, happens finally to us. Underfed distorted minds grow big enough to carry guns, they become a menace to the peace of the world." Sec. of Agriculture Anderson.

Farm land prices have advanced on the average of one percent a month for the past four years and are now higher than they were in the late 20's.

And we wonder where all of the lumber has gone. During the first world war we used six billion board feet of lumber, but this one has taken over 60 billion board feet.

Jesus Guerrero and Marguerite Jimenez were married under the floodlights on Milton Rowan's farm Monday night, Sept. 17. Rev. C. C. Beatty performed the ceremony.

While we're ridding the country of radicalism, socialism, Bolshevism and Fascism, why not include rheumatism?

Small Grain Seed Treatment Helps Combat Diseases

Chemical treatment of small grain seed before fall planting is cheap and safe insurance against losses from disease, says R. O. Dunkle, County Agent.

Wheat, oats, and barley are subject to fungus diseases called smut. Under favorable conditions the diseases often cause reduced yields and further loss from dockage when infected grain is marketed. Accordingly, Dunkle urges farmers to thoroughly clean and treat their planting seed unless they are certain that it is free from infection.

Wheat is affected by two types of smut disease. Stinking smut can be controlled readily by fanning the seed wheat or cleaning it by other methods to remove the smut balls, and then treating it with either two ounces per bushel of 50 percent copper carbonate, or one-half ounce per bushel of ethyl mercury phosphate called "Improved Ceresan."

The grain may be treated in a commercial seed-treating machine or in a homemade container with a tight fitting lid. An oil drum with a pipe soldered diagonally across it and extending about one foot from each end to permit it to revolve easily, will do the job. For small amounts any type of container will do. The important thing is to get the powder well distributed over each kernel.

Barley and oats smut can be controlled by treating the seed with one-half ounce per bushel of improved Ceresan. Another approved method is to mix one pint of commercial formaldehyde with 10 gallons of water at 60 to 75 degrees temperature. Sprinkle the solution uniformly over 40 to 50 bushels of seed while it is being shoveled from one pile to another on a clean floor, or in a tight wagon box. Then pile the seed and cover it with a wagon sheet for at least four hours or overnight. It then should be sown or spread out to dry.

E. B. Holloway Is New OPA Director

Announcement was made in Dallas today by William A. Orth, OPA Regional Administrator, of the appointment of Elbert B. Holloway of Marlin as OPA district director of the Fort Worth district, effective October 1.

At the same time, Mr. Orth announced the appointment of Earl Kerr, present Lubbock OPA district director, as deputy district director of the Fort Worth office. The Lubbock office is being consolidated with the Fort Worth office on September 29.

J. H. Kuligen, the resigning Fort Worth district director, will leave on a two-weeks vacation trip, his first in four years, immediately after October 1. On his return he will again become active in his Waco automobile business.

Wichita County Fair Starts October 15

Wichita County Fair officials reported this week that excellent progress is being made toward completion of the new $5,000 livestock building and that it will be ready for the Wichita County Victory Fair to be held in Iowa Park, Monday through Saturday, October 15-20.

One of the outstanding features of the Victory Fair this year will be the 19 community exhibits sponsored by Miss C. C. Sands and her home demonstration club in the county. Different club groups will build their respective exhibits around certain educational features. They will again be displayed in the main auditorium.

With the war over efforts are being made to secure an outstanding speaker for the opening day program, and Fair officials expect to be able to make an announcement on this in the near future, according to Dr. Gordon Clark, chairman of committee activities.

The thing most important is what we do, not what we say. God's open secret is seen through grace, truth, and love.

Veteran's Benefits

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

L. H. Shelton, Contact Representative, Veterans Administration, 309-7 Federal Building, Wichita, Falls, Texas

Q. Does the widow of a World War I veteran lose her pension if she remarries?

A. Yes, the widow of a World War I veteran is discontinued if she remarries.

Q. Is a pension provided for life of the incompetent child of a veteran?

A. If the child is otherwise eligible for pension and it comes incompetent either physically or mentally prior to reaching the age of 18 years, it will be paid a pension after reaching the age of 18.

Q. What evidence is acceptable as proof of marriage in a claim for monetary benefit administered by the Veterans Administration?

A. Proof of marriage should be shown by the best evidence available. Evidence is acceptable in the order named: (1) a copy of the public or church record certified by the custodian of such record (2) affidavit of clergyman or magistrate who officiated (3) the original marriage certificate, accompanied by proof of the genuineness and the authority of the person who performed the service (4) affidavits of two or more eye-witnesses to the ceremony. It must be told why the prior record could not be obtained in order for the next in order of importance to be accepted.

Q. May a veteran be presumed to be dead when there is no active proof of death and a widow's pension be paid as a result of such presumption?

A. In claims for benefits under laws administered by the Veterans Administration where the cause of death is not a factor and satisfactory evidence is produced establishing the fact of the continued and unexplained absence from his home and family for a period of seven years and after diligent search no evidence of his existence after the date of disappearance has been found or received, the death of such

HEALTH LETTER

Sleep is a necessity of life and health, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, and habitual loss of sleep will tend to retard the body's recovery from the fatigue of the day's activities.

"We may be able to go without sleep for a night or two, but too little sleep for a prolonged length of time will undermine the health of a rugged person and turn a cheerful individual into a cross, irritable one," Dr. Cox said. "When good health can be protected to such a large extent by sleeping, and thus allowing overtaxed bodies and minds to secure the proper rest, it is hard to understand why so many persons are heedless of this important health measure."

Some individuals require more sleep than others. How well we sleep is as important as how long we sleep. A "good night's rest" means a sufficient number of hours spent in sleep to enable each individual to feel well, do efficient work, and to keep in a cheerful humor the next day.

"Some outdoor exercise each day, a comfortable bed, and fresh air in our sleeping quarters," Dr. Cox said, "will help us to sleep soundly at night. Do not mulish over your problems and ideas after you have gone to bed. Make your plans early in the evening for a good night's rest by slowing down from the physical and mental work of your daily life. When you arise each morning, rested and with a feeling of general well-being, you will be amply repaid for your thought in planning a 'good night's sleep.'" person may be considered as sufficiently proved.

Q. May parents who are not eligible to receive pension as dependent parents by reason of income, later, because of financial reverses, become eligible and apply for and receive pension as dependent parents?

A. Yes. If otherwise eligible, application for such pension may be made by parents at any time they meet the requirements for the dependency of parents.

Q. Will a child who receives a pension by reason of the death of its father in service and who becomes mentally incompetent have that pension cut off?

A. Such pension will cease at the age of 18 years unless the child becomes mentally incompetent prior to that time, in which case the child will continue to receive the pension as long as such impairment of mind exists.

Q. Is a dependent parent of a veteran who died from non-service disability entitled to a pension?

Cotton Growers Still Waging War On Costly Insects

No V-B Day was celebrated by Texas cotton growers during August, says the Cotton Production Committee of Texas, for instead of victory over bugs, 1945 brought one of the costliest defeats that cotton has ever suffered from boll weevils and other insects.

"Losses of food, feed and fiber that resulted from insect damage to this year's cotton and cottonseed cannot be regained," the committee says, "but they clearly show the need for the beginning of an immediate campaign to insure victory in 1946."

A scorched earth policy should be adopted immediately to strive out next year's crop of boll weevils so that recurrence of the heavy weevil damage may be prevented next season, according to the committee.

Prompt plowing under of all cotton immediately after picking will do much to starve out weevils, which feed on green cotton, before they go into hibernation, and will reduce the emergence of insects next spring.

"In addition to the money losses to growers, the nation cannot afford to lose next year's needed cottonseed oil for food, meal and cake for feed and other seed and fiber products," the committee adds. "Everything that is done now to reduce future insect losses—and plowing up of cotton stalks is a proven method of control—will pay big dividends next season."

The Family Altar

By Rev. Violet Byers
Co-Pastor Four-square Church

Almost every day as one opens the daily paper one reads of strikes and uprisings, and a general unrest among the people, a feeling of rebellion and revolt that is the true aftermath of war.

Many are wanting to keep their war jobs, while others are striking for better jobs and more pay, while again many have wished that the war would last longer, because they knew that if the war ended they would suffer a material and financial loss.

Altogether throughout the nation there is a feeling of dissatisfaction, and no matter how one tries in themselves to change matters, there is only one answer, and that is for the people of this country to get back to God.

In the Bible we read of a man that ran away from God, one that rebelled against God, and refused to obey the command of God, and we find that he started on a downward path the minute he went on strike. God had called Jonah to do work for Him, told him to go to Nineveh and warn those people that God would destroy their city because of the sin that was in it. But we find in the 3rd verse of the book of Jonah it says, "But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord." And dear friends, that is where Jonah started his downward trail. Jonah ended up in a three-day strike, but at the end of that time he was willing to obey the voice of God. And the moment he cried out to God the scripture says, "God heard him," and from there on Jonah started on the upward path.

Another man in the scriptures that God dealt with was Saul, a great lawyer who had studied at the feet of Gamaliel, one who had persecuted the Jews who were Christians. But there came a day when God called him to do a work for Him but God could not use Saul while he was high and mighty, but the scripture says in Acts 9:4, "And he fell to the earth and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? And Saul answered, 'Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?'"

Dear friends, if God has called you to do work for Him, no matter how small or great, don't go on strike and say "I can't" because if God has called you he will open the way for you, and if you will only put your trust in Him, he will never leave you nor forsake you.

Remember that Jesus loved you enough to die for you. Won't you love Him in return? God bless you all.

Ladino Clover Aids Farm Production

Returns Far Exceed Costs of Handling

NOT so many years ago, Ladino clover was almost unknown except in the irrigated valleys of the western states. Believed to have come originally from Lodi, Italy, the seed was first imported into the United States about 1900.

Ladino clover is particularly valuable for grazing, according to U. S. agronomists, due to its high carrying capacity and large protein-mineral nutritive content, but it is also adaptable for hay and silage and is an excellent cover crop. These characteristics make it especially suitable for the limited farming areas of states such as Vermont and New Hampshire, enabling farmers to grow most of the protein needed for their livestock, dairy and poultry.

The plant is a rapid-growing perennial legume, spreading by creeping fleshy stems that root at the nodes. The leaves, stems and flower heads will grow from two to four times as large as those of common white clover, and about six times as large as those of the English wild white clover. The average life of a good Ladino clover and grass planting is from four to seven years, management and fertilization practices determining the length of time it retains its value.

Despite heavy requirements for fertilizer and special care in management, results from the use of Ladino adequately repay the effort. Its particular value has been found to lie in the handling of dairy cattle and poultry where a high-yielding, nutritious, high-protein feed is needed. This versatile crop is being used increasingly for hay and silage, particularly when grown with other legumes and grasses, although it is primarily for grazing.

Sunflowers New Cash Crop for Farmers

Sunflowers may soon rival corn and soybeans in food value as well as a cash crop. With sunflower oil selling at 14.5 cents a pound and an acre producing a ton of seed, the farmers around Monticello, Ill., expect to produce more than corn or soybeans.

Sunflowers have long been recognized as an excellent source of protein and oil. America imported 120 million pounds of sunflower oil between 1932 and 1936, mostly for edible purposes.

One hundred acres of test planting yielded 1,600 pounds of seed. It was harvested by a clipover combine, self-propelled, formerly used for soybeans. Tests made at the University of Illinois showed that the seeds contained 53 per cent protein and were easily digested. The oil was excellent for salads and cooking.

Someone has said that we're only sure of two things, death and taxes. Anyway, the death rate doesn't increase every time Congress meets.

Conditions have changed. While the old-fashioned girl hesitated to hold a man's hand, the modern girl is afraid to let go.

We can't see what keeps girls from freezing. But, I guess we're not supposed to.

Looks like everything that some people want to do is either illegal, immoral, or fattening.
