ACT Joins Fight Against Pari-Mutuel Betting

The Anti-Crime Council of Texas will not be disbanded following the May 4 referendum on statewide pari mutuel betting, according to ACT officials. Organized initially to fight pari mutuel betting, the group's membership is drawn from business and professional circles all over the state.

Will Wilson, ex-attorney general of Texas, and Dr. Abner McCall, president, Baylor University, are co-chairmen of the 104-member group which was organized to "formulate a program of action which will provide the layman of Texas with his most powerful weapon against crime - the facts."

Mr. Wilson and Dr. McCall are both former Supreme Court justices.

"Our first, immediate concern is defeat of the referendum to legalize statewide pari mutuel betting on May 4," Wilson said. "However, the tremendous public response to our efforts to keep gambling out of Texas has convinced us that law-abiding citizens of Texas can and will work with us to control crime whenever and wherever it threatens."

Dr. McCall described the Anti-Crime Council of Texas as a completely independent group, composed of business, professional and clerical leaders from all sections of the state, serving on a volunteer basis.

"We have business leaders like Edward Burleson, Jr., of Waxahachie, president of Burleson's Honey, and E. B. Germany, former president of Lone Star Steel in Dallas," Wilson stated. "We have top educators, like Dr. Abner McCall, who serves as co-chairman of the council with me. Roughly ten per cent of our members are practicing attorneys. Our membership includes clergymen representing 15 denominations."

"And we have several nationally known sports figures, including Bill Glass, defensive end for the Cleveland Browns; Byron Nelson, famous professional golfer, and Randy Matson, Olympic star."

Wilson described these men as "having joined in the fight against race track gambling because they know what legalized

Why We Should

ization of pari mutuel horse race betting.

If organized gambling could be limited to tourists, and was provided for their benefit (or detriment) only, then maybe legalized pari mutuel gambling on horse races would be a good thing for Texas.

After all, in tiny Monaco, no local citizen is ever allowed to enter the famous Monte Carlo gambling casino. Not even Princess Grace! The gambling house operators over there are clever. They know what gambling does to bettors, and they don't want any complaints from their neighbors.

But Texas is not Monaco. We could not limit attendance at pari mutuel horse racing tracks to non-Texans whose losses would not affect our homes and our businesses.

The evidence is that pari mutuel betting takes money from local residents, rather than from the tourists. There is no reason to think it would be any different in Texas.

Let's do our tourist friends - and ourselves - a real favor and vote "against" the pari mutuel horse race betting referendum in the May 4 primary elections.

boy, with his family to a location not too far north of the Edge's newly found home. Mr. Farmer's father had run a grocery store in Haskell in 1884 and made the move to a section just north of the old Hutto school about 1885. The Doziers, who owned the land on which old Hutto would stand, were early settlers, west of the Carney section. Mr. Ben Farmer remembers that his family, as most all the settlers, received their mail from Old Marcy, somewhat west of present Rochester. About all the mail the Farmers or any of the settlers received was said to have been the "Old Comfort Magazine" and the "Semi-Weekly Dallas News."

M. S. Shook was owner of a ranch near the Brazos, west of present O'Brien, around the turn of the century. Mr. T. E. Robbins, later a banker in O'Brien, worked on this ranch in 1902.

Somewhere near the turn of the century John Lea settled on land some few miles west of so your return was selected for audit. Well, don't feel exclusive. The Internal Revenue Agents check over three million returns each year. More than 1/3 of the returns audited are accepted without change. Last year 390,000 taxpayers who were audited received $154 million in refunds. Internal Revenue also refunded $94 million to an additional 1 1/2 million other taxpayers who made a mistake in arithmetic and overpaid their taxes. An Internal Revenue audit is a two-way process - you should be businesslike and courteous, and furnish proof of your tax claims.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

If you don't like the decision, appeal.

No other fiber feels so good next to the skin as cotton.

the section owned by Carney. By this time the country was fairly well populated.

It was in 1899 or 1901 when the Dave Johnston family and the Joseph H. Barnard family came to Texas. Joseph H. Barnard (a doctor), having left Texas a year and returned, purchased a section of land east of the town that is now O'Brien. The home of Claudale Barnard is now located on the northeast corner of this section. The Barnards and Johnstons originally lived about the center of this section.

About one-half mile south of the Barnards, the Jacks family settled. Mrs. Jacks brought all the mail of the settlers around her from Marcy and her home served as the mail house. The Pickrell family lived on what is today known as the Alton Hester farm. The Loves and Redwines also settled in this area.

To the southwest of the Barnard place and southeast of present O'Brien the Buddy Smiths settled. (Mr. Smith gave land in the northeast corner of his land for the early rural school, Old Mid). Also settling in this vicinity were the Stanfield family and the Price family.

As one can see there were many settlers, perhaps many unnamed here, beginning to crowd into the area near present O'Brien.

Mr. T. G. Carney, having built a home on his land in 1888 proceeded to build corrals of wood seemingly left by a prairie fire. Mr. Richard Carney remembers his father mentioning the existence of antelope, deer, panther and other wildlife when first moving onto his section. On one cold occasion T. G. Carney killed some 57 turkeys on the Brazos to be sold in one of the towns miles away. Wildlife was plentiful.

Mr. Carney, as many of the settlers, made part of his living from the bountiful game and resources in the newly settled country. Mr. Carney, on at least one occasion, caught and broke some 20-30 wild mustangs, catching them most probably in the breaks of the Brazos. He took these mustangs to Seymour where he loaded them on the train running there. These horses were then taken to somewhere near Paris, Texas or into Louisiana to be sold. Mr. Carney would usually bring back Ribbon Cane Syrup or candy to perhaps be resold. This candy came in 25 pound buckets and the bucket had several divisions with several types of candy within, including creams, chocolates and peppermint. In 1894 Mr. Carney moved from his home somewhat southeast of the present school plant to Haskell, Texas. Here Mr. Carney would remain, running a business on the square, until his return to the newly established town on his section in 1905.

Perhaps the determination of these early settlers, who came to the area before the establishment of the town of O'Brien, can best be illustrated by a story told concerning Tom Pannell and his wife. The Pannels, seemingly settled at an early date, in a half-dugout somewhat northeast of the present water tower. Mr. and Mrs. Pannell, perhaps among other things, gathered buffalo bones left by the buffalo hunters. Mr. Pannell hauled these bones to Seymour by wagon. Times became hard and there was little money. Mrs. Pannell, in need of material, produced her husband a jumper and overalls and herself a skirt from a wagon sheet they possessed. It is this type of staying power which made the establishment of a community, called O'Brien, possible.

By 1903 the country served by present O'Brien had been fairly well settled, not only by these settlers but by others who go unnamed. The coming of the railroad, which is the next topic of discussion, would lay the basis for establishment of a town to serve these settlers.

Attendance Low At Annual PCA Meeting

Fair weather and a backlog of field work on the part of most farmers combined to keep the attendance low at the 34th Annual Stockholders meeting of Rolling Plains PCA, held in Stamford, Texas on Saturday, April 27, 1968.

Re-elected to the Board of Directors were C. G. Burson, Sr., of Haskell, 3 year term; L. M. Bartlett, Wellington, 3 year term; Dean Decker, Childress, 1 year term. W. A. Baxter of Anson won the color TV set which was given as attendance prize. In addition to reports from the Board of Directors and management, the assembled crowd heard addresses by W. H. Calkins, Vice President of Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston and Charles G. Bragg, Executive Vice President of Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

At the reorganizational board meeting held following the stockholders meeting these officers were elected: C. G. Burson, Sr., Haskell, Chairman of Board; Lasater Hensley, Guthrie, Vice Chairman; J. L. Hill, Jr., President; J. R. Gleason, Vice President; R. C. Cobb, Secretary-Treasurer; Joe A. Hanson, Asst. Sec. Treas.

Texas Draft Down In Delinquency

AUSTIN - The number of cases of draft delinquency in Texas decreased from 1,028 to 970 in the first quarter of 1968, Colonel Morris S.
Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Friday.

The number of these cases involving failure to report for induction into the military service also dropped - from 597
to 523.
All these cases were not reported in the first quarter of 1968, as the delinquency list is cumulative. Some of the cases have been reported to U. S. attorneys. Others are being handled under the draft delinquency regulations.

The great majority of the delinquency cases continues to be in the Dallas, Houston-Baytown, and San Antonio area. The number of draft boards with no delinquency cases decreased from 20 to 16 during the quarter. These are located at Lufkins, Pleasanton, Coleman, Mc-Kinney, Van Horn, Fairfield, Sulphur Springs, Terrell, Benjamin, Bowie, Clarksville, Henderson, Abilene, McCamey, Gainesville, and Calvert.

Colonel Schwartz, the state draft director, does not regard the delinquency situation as a major problem. "We have less than a thousand delinquents out of a registration of nearly two million men," he pointed out.
The Selective Service regulations define a "delinquent"
as "a person required to be

Governor Proclaims May 'Senior Citizen Month'

AUSTIN - Governor John
Connally has proclaimed May "Senior Citizen Month" in Texas and urged all citizens to join in honoring fellow Texans
"who have reached a status of seniority and respect."

In his proclamation, the Governor said the State of Texas recognizes both a debt of gratitude to and an obligation for its senior citizens, and called on Texans to include senior citizens into the normal sphere of life.

"Texas of today exists on the foundations laid by these surviving Texans of yesterday.
Their work, their efforts, their very lives stand as an enduring challenge to the future," Governor Connally said, and added:
"If we are to enjoy the full productive capacities of our resources, we must continue to utilize the skills and knowledge of our older citizens in all civic and community endeavors.
Their inspiration and counsel form a continuing asset in the growth and development of Texas."

The Texas observance of "Senior Citizen Month" coincides with the national observance proclaimed by President Lyndon B. Johnson. Texas activities for the month are being sponsored by the Governor's Committee on Aging. Cooperating with the Committee in its statewide programs are the registered under the Selective Service law who fails or neglects to perform any duty required of him under the provisions of the Selective Service law." *****

Texas Safety Association, Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A & M University, and other state agencies and local organizations.

Safety for the aging will be emphasized in both national and state programs as accidents are a major problem among older persons. Over 28,000 persons age 65 and over die each year in the nation as a result of accidental injuries and an additional 800,000 more in this age group suffer disabling injuries.

In Texas, the annual toll is some 1,300 fatalities and an estimated 39,000 injuries, according to the Texas Safety Association. Falls are the leading cause of accidental death for persons over age 65.
Falls account for 43 percent of all the accidental deaths with 77 percent of these occurring in private homes. Motor vehicle accidents rank second with 35 percent of the total fatalities.
Deaths associated with fire rank third with 11 percent.

The Safety Association says persons over 65 have higher accident rates than younger people because they are more vulnerable physically and sometimes mentally to accidental injury and death.

Older persons are less able to perceive danger because of losses in sensory acuity, not only hearing and sight, but also touch and smell. Some are less able to recognize and interpret warning signals rapidly because of impaired intellectual or mental functions, such as comprehension, knowledge, orientation, memory and judgment.

Many others are not able to compensate for physical impairment, or withstand the physical stress of an accident situation, because of muscular or skeletal impairment.

Local units of the Governor's Committee on Aging will conduct safety programs throughout the state and distribute safety materials and other informational brochures prepared by the state Committee on Aging and the other cooperating agencies.

Local citizen groups, church leaders and other interested individuals are urged to participate in observance of "Senior Citizen Month" by presents safety programs on aging to their organizations.

Information on programs for older persons may be obtained by writing to the Governor's Committee on Aging, Box 12125,
Capitol Station, Austin, Texas
78711. Safety promotion materials may be obtained through the Texas Safety Association,

"... knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep; for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed." (Romans 13:11)
 Paul is urging everyone to make their time in this life count. When we stop to think what a critical hour we are living in, it behooves us to wake up out of our sleep, arouse to reality and seek the Lord's will in our lives. This is our day of opportunity which will count for all time and eternity. The government is urging us to utilize our daytime hours to the fullest extent by Daylight Saving Time.
 "The night is forspent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light. Let us work honestly as in the day: not in rioting and drunkenness, not in clamoring and wantonness, not in strife and envying. But put on the Lord Jesus Christ and make no provisions for the flesh, to fulfill the lust thereof, (Romans 13: 12-14).

NEW! For clean Sorghum... spray weeds when you see them! with BANVEL

Velsicol announces Banvel herbicide for control of all hard-to-kill weeds of major importance in grain sorghum. This includes carelessweed (pigweed), sunflower, lambs-quarter, purslane, morning glory and other annual broadleaf weeds. Banvel herbicide is applied post-emergence, so there are no wasted sprays in years when rain is scarce and weeds are not a problem. With Banvel you see your weed problem and then spray—all in plenty of time to give young sorghum plants plenty of opportunity to grow.
 Banvel is sprayed onto weed leaves and translocates to the roots... for new, total control of weeds. Just apply Banvel between the 10th and 25th day after emergence of grain sorghum (approximately 4 to 12 inches tall).
 Banvel is not dependent on soil moisture for its effectiveness, so its results are dependable. And it's a liquid that won't clog your sprayers, nor does Banvel need constant agitation.
 Banvel increases yields. It's excellent for use on grain sorghum, wheat, barley, oats and field corn. Order Banvel herbicide to get full potential from your valuable, high-yielding sorghum seed.
 See your dealer today. You'll be glad you did!

"Favorite Son" Role Asked For John Connally

AUSTIN--Texans who for years have voted for Governor John Connally at the polls have another opportunity to support the popular chief executive this week, even though his name will not be on the ballot.

While the Governor is not seeking re-election, voters can assign to him what could be an even more important job for the state in the months ahead.

In view of the political uncertainty throughout the country at this time, Connally has agreed to become a favorite son candidate for the presidency from Texas and to head the state's delegation to the Democratic National Convention, provided voters throughout Texas support such action in precinct conventions Saturday.

The conventions will be held at neighborhood pooling places, some during the day (primarily in rural areas), and many after the polls close. Any citizen who votes in the Democratic primary that day is eligible to take part in the precinct convention.

Governor Connally this week completed a round of visits with supporters in various cities, urging heavy turnouts at the conventions.

"It is imperative that responsible citizens turn out in large numbers in every precinct," he said, "to prevent a small minority to speak for Texas on matters of grave concern in the months ahead."

Connally pointed out that with President Johnson retiring from office in January, Texas

Cotton Allotment Transfer Vote To Be Held In May

Cotton farmers in Knox County will vote the middle of May to decide whether they want to be able to sell or lease their cotton allotments outside the county, Arnold J. Navratil, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced. The referendum on the question will be conducted during the period May 13 through May 17. Ballots may be returned by mail or delivered by hand to the ASCS county office during that time. Mailed ballots must be post-marked not later than May 17 and must arrive at the ASCS county office before ballots are counted on May 22.

The only question to be decided by the balloting is whether 1969 upland cotton allotments may be transferred to farms which are located in other counties by sale or by lease. Transfers of allotments by an owner to a farm that he owns or controls may be made across county lines without regard to the outcome of the referendum.

will have no representative in the top leadership of the nation for the first time in almost 40 years.

"If Texas is to have a hope of helping shape the course of national leadership, we must be in a position to speak as a united voice in any eventuality," he said.

Connally asked that all who attend conventions vote to adopt the unit rule, and vote to designate the Governor as "favorite son" leader of the Texas delegation to the Chicago convention in August.

In no case may transfers be made outside the State. An affirmative vote by at least two-thirds of the county's cotton farmers who vote will permit such transfers by sale or lease for 1969.

Three similar referendums were conducted in 1965, 1966, and 1967, and growers in 95 counties throughout the Cotton Belt have already voted -- in 1966 or 1967 -- to approve such transfers for the 1969 crop.

The 1965 vote, however, covered only the 1966-68 crops, so the vote this year will be held in counties where such transfers have not previously been approved for 1969, in-

Attend Precinct Convention This Saturday, May 4

It is only by attending a precinct convention that every individual voter has the opportunity and ability to be heard and to make his views known concerning his particular political philosophy and to give expression to those political concepts in which he believes.

The precinct convention is the very essence of "grass roots" participation of political and governmental affairs. At the precinct conventions, you and your neighbors select your delegates and voice your opinions. It is the only place you can have a say in the presidential nominee of your party.

Precinct conventions are open to all voters who participate Saturday in the Party primary elections. They are the first step in a long journey to the national conventions and the nominations of presidential and vice presidential candidates.

We urge you and your neighbors to attend your precinct convention this Saturday.

Tourist: This is a very dangerous cliff--why don't you put up a danger sign?
Native: Well stranger, we did have a sign once, but nobody fell over, so we took it down.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith Winding Up Campaign

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is currently winding up one of the most extensive and far-reaching campaigns for governor of Texas in history.

Finishing with a state-wide tour during the final days of the campaign before the May 4 primary, Lt. Gov. Smith will hit every section of the state.

Since announcing his intention to run back in September, Smith has travelled Texas many times its 1,000 miles north and south and 1,000 miles east and west talking and listening to people.

Pausing now near the end, he commented on the extensive campaign:

"I feel like I've shaken the hands of a million people. I've made about 380 speeches and talks in more than 400 campaign stops in cities and towns over the state in 236 of the state's 254 counties."

The secret (a secret Smith loves to talk about) to his campaign has been the involvement of people. With probably the most extensive organizations in many years, the lieutenant governor has active chairmen in nearly 550 cities and towns over the state.

On top of all the issues, he has stressed his qualifications to be a good governor because of his experience from 18 years as a representative, senator, and lieutenant governor: "All the rest of the candidates put together cannot match my experience in dealing with the problems of our state government."

"I have discussed problems such as clean air and water, government economy, basic values, better government, curbing of crime, aid to education and a host of other matters before our state.

"As we talk about these subjects, of interest in this campaign, I do not have to take a cram course in Texas government and read the polls to see what our problems are. I am familiar with the programs. The problems and opportunities of our people are not merely campaign topics to me, they are the results of a continuing concern while serving my legislative years of working for Texas. "As your Governor of Texas, I will not be an on-the-job cer, Danny Speck, and Sam Tankersley.

Chapter Farmer awards went to Joe Barnard, Johnny Helms, and Jimmy Faulk.

Cities Service Awards made possible by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roy Smith of Smith Liquid Gas in Knox City were presented to the Outstanding Vocational Agriculture Students Rogers Lankford, V. A. I; Joe Barnard, V. A. II; and Johnny Carver, V. A. III.

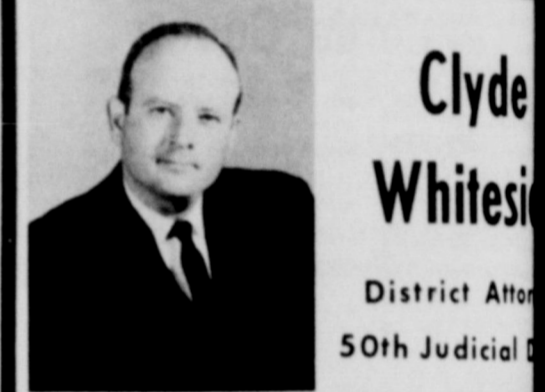

One of the highlights of the banquet was the presentation of 1967-68 Honorary Chapter Farmer Awards to Mrs. Leon Burkham and Joe Roy Smith for the individuals who had done much during the year in the interest of the FFA program.

Paul Graham, on behalf of the local chapter, gave Mr. Burkham a gift in appreciation of his hard work and interest in working with the group.

Providing musical entertainment for the affair were Tommy Kent, Mrs. Pauline Myers, and Connie and Jody McKinney.

Floyd Baker and Diane Thomas related activities of the organizations for the past year, and the FFA closing ceremony concluded the banquet.

B. McNeil To Join IX Education Center

McNeil, who will be 31 years as superintendent of schools in Wichita Falls, will join the Education Service Center as a resident superintendent. The announcement, made by the center, is the result of a long service record in education. McNeil, who has been teaching for 46 years, was one of the best schoolmen in the state's new regional centers.

Under his administration in Wichita Falls, the maximum teacher salary was boosted from $1,500 to $8,136. Also during his tenure as superintendent, the school system has doubled in size from 9,000 to more than 18,000 students. Three senior high schools were built, as were two junior high schools and 21 elementary schools involving an expenditure of some $20 million. Currently, the system is involved in a $7 million building program, bonds for which were voted last summer.

A native of Denton, Texas, Dr. McNeil came to Wichita Falls from Burkburnett in 1926 and rose from the ranks as a classroom teacher to the superintendent's post. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from North Texas State University, a master of arts degree from Southern Methodist University, and an honorary doctor of laws degree from Midwestern University.

DEMOCRACY IS NOT A SPECTATOR SPORT

By ED ERARD

(Ed Erard is the dean of South Texas political columnists, and quotes from his columns, Building Blox and Kicking the News Around, have been re-printed nationally. He is editor-manager of the Kingsville Publishing Company, publishers of the Kingsville-Bishop Record-News.)

Today the United States is the oldest living republic with a written Constitution. Twenty-three other republics have gone down the drain of history. The cynics say, "Democracy carries within it the seeds of its own destruction. America is on the downhill run that leads to the graveyard of dead nations."

Here are some of the symptoms of our nation's senility: Expediency has replaced statesmanship in many high places.

Pandering has replaced patriotism.

Riots have replaced responsibility.

Spending has replaced stewardship.

Inflation has replaced responsibility.

Anarchy has replaced law and order.

Welfarism has replaced private enterprise.

—BB—

We chant of the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave. We hear the National Anthem when we attend a baseball or football game, but the sentiment goes over our heads like a fleecy cloud. Baseball, football and many other sports draw millions of spectators who contribute nothing to the action on the field of contest — except the price of admission.

In these days of an affluent society, too many Americans have come to regard our Democracy as a spectator sport. We sit in the grandstand, and between drinks we boo or cheer.

Democracy was never devised as a spectator sport. It is based on the rule that each citizen should form his own opinions... and express them to the Court of Public Opinion where America makes its decisions.

You and I can no longer ride the Freedom Train. We can't lounge in our cushioned seats and indulge in the vain hope that everything will turn out all right. Prayers have a proper place in our efforts to reform this government before it is too late.

But as one cynic remarked, "God isn't dead; He just doesn't want to get involved."

—BB—

Thomas Jefferson said: Eternity is the price of liberty. Daniel Webster added "God grants liberty only to those who love it and are always ready to guard and defend it. Nothing will ruin this nation if the people themselves will undertake its safety. Nothing can save it if they leave that safety to any hands but their own."

Yet, J. Edgar Hoover recently had to report, "We have become a nation of kibitzers of the game of life. Most Americans seek to avoid the risk of commitment to any cause."

In this age of affluence and apathy more than half the people who seek medical advice have no diagnosable illness. Doctors say most of them are constantly bored and tired because their lives are empty.

We need to put a sense of purpose into our lives. The purpose should be the liberty of the United States of America, which is sorely threatened now. Men and women have always been judged by the things they stand for—not the things they fall for. The history of America, from Bunker Hill to Vietnam, was written by people who backed their beliefs with action — men who said, like Nathan Hale "I regret that I have but one life to give my country."

—BB—

You and I, the informed citizens, have consistently voted against the trends of the times and we must continue to labor for the United States of America, which today is being described abroad as the only nation in all history that passed from infancy to senility without ever reaching maturity.

It is time to erase that blot on our image by coming down from the grandstand and going into action.

"Melanie Meddles"

By Melanie Whitley

If you think that time doesn't pay, consider the whole Saturday afternoon Mrs. James Albus of Knox City spent decorating one cake. Her husband knew she was inspired by a program on cake decorating, but thinking of their five children, he prophesied her efforts would soon be devoured.

It was two full days before the kids could bring themselves to cut the cake that "was too pretty to eat."

Before I finish chopping weeds in our front yard, would someone come over and show me which kind are "lamb's quarters". My grandmother used to pick them along the fence-rows, give them a thorough scrubbing and boiling; they were delicious.

Thoughtfulness and dependability go together. All a person can be judged by are his words, his actions and the end results. If his actions never measure up to what he said he would do, the result is a minus.

For some people it is hard to say no; they don't realize that it is better to refuse to do something in the beginning, than to agree halfheartedly and then not do what they are counted on to do. Eventually even friends lose faith with unreliable people.

Be thoughtful of others; be dependable.

Last week I heard one presidential candidate declare that he favored the guaranteed minimum income for all Americans.

In reply I declared, "Well old boy, you just lost one vote." Since then I've read an article on the subject, "Do We Owe People a Living?" in the April 30 Look Magazine.

It seems that some "far-sighted" people have been proposing the system for years. They say that we have voted the same idea into law in the shape of welfare, public housing and farm subsidies, but that only 1/5 of the money ($33 billion in 1961) voted for these projects ever reaches the people it is supposed to help.

They also argue that people on welfare who did go out and find another job were (and are) taxed dollar for dollar on that money, and finally reach the conclusion that they would have more not to work at all.

If ever adopted, the system will work basically by some people paying income tax and the government taking the checks and mailing them to other people.

Right now a group of 800 poor people in New Jersey are receiving their first Negative Income Tax checks for the next three years.

Economists are checking their every move to determine if this easy money inhibits their working impulses. Advocates of the system believe that these people will react conversely, that when they have money, they will be motivated to earn more. They believe that all the dollars wasted in welfare, etc., programs will now really reach their target and give these people a weapon to fight their own poverty: cash.

At any rate, we all need to read more on the subject and form an opinion, because the Guaranteed Annual Income or the Negative Income Tax, or whatever its name by then, will definitely be an issue in the 1968 presidential election.

SPEED UP RETURNS

DALLAS, TEXAS--Have you filed your 1967 Federal income tax return only to discover that it contained errors? Or oversight? Or both?

Then the brand new, specially-designed, yellow-colored Form 1040-X just introduced by the Internal Revenue Service is tailor-made for you, Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director for Northern Texas, said today.

Not only does this new form make it easier to file amended income tax returns, it also speeds up any additional refunds that may be due on 1967 returns.

The District Director pointed out that the 1040-X has been designed so that if a taxpayer finds the return he filed was in error, he can amend it by correcting only the portion that was in error and supplying certain related information.

Mr. Campbell said that supplies of the Form 1040-X and the instruction sheet are available at all local IRS offices.

Cooking on a gas grill is simple, but different from cooking over charcoals or on a gas range. Factors that can influence grill cooking are its location, air or food temperature, wind and personal preference. Varied heat settings on a gas grill help control these factors. Cool or windy days may need higher settings or longer cooking time. Hot, windless days may mean shorter cooking time or lower settings.

Gas grills are easy to clean. After each use, leave the burner on high setting for 15 to 20 minutes with the hood down. This will clean the briquettes and grid. If particles cling to the grid, wipe off with a paper towel or brush with a wire brush. Periodically remove the grid and wash with warm soapy water. Also periodically, the grill compartment should be washed, inside and out.
