Rochester Student Attends WTU 11th Annual Science Symposium

Twenty-two outstanding students and teachers from the area served by West Texas Utilities Company attended the 11th Annual Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas in Austin. The conference got underway Monday, June 7 and ended Thursday, June 10.

Among these area students and teachers were Sharon Foster and Mrs. Louise Chambers of Rochester.

The Symposium was jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. West Texas Utilities is one of the sponsoring companies for TAERF.

Some 500 selected high school science students and teachers who attended the session enjoyed the rare opportunity of hearing lectures by some of the nation's outstanding nuclear scientists.

The Foundation was formed for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest privately financed research effort in the field of nuclear energy. Currently, the Foundation and General Dynamics Corporation are jointly sponsoring a program in nuclear fusion research aimed at controlling thermonuclear reactions for the production of electric power. Fusion is the energy process of the sun and the stars.

Research alone is not the aim of the Foundation. The goal of the Foundation and WTU is to assist in the advancement of the knowledge of nuclear science in Texas schools. Of special interest to the sponsors is bringing to students and teachers a realization of the privileges, responsibilities and opportunities which scientific discoveries in the field of nuclear energy present.

WTU has paid all expenses for the 22 students and teachers attending from schools in the area served by the company. Lecturers at the Symposium were chosen from top men in their field. They are from various colleges and universities throughout the country, as well as Maxfield Clinic and Radiological Center, Dallas, Texas; Bell Telephone Laboratories, Murray Hill, N. J.; The Methodist Hospital, Houston, Texas.

The Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas and the field trips through the various laboratories was designed to broaden the mind, encourage the study of nuclear science for peaceful purposes, and give qualified students their first taste of university life.

In the state of Texas there are over 1,000 accredited senior high schools. Rochester can be justly proud of its high school for having been chosen by the University of Texas as one of the 150 high schools in the state invited to send a student and teacher to the Symposium.

Series E And H Savings Bonds Draw Interest

County Chairman M. L. Wiggins reminds Knox County residents that all outstanding Series E and H Savings Bonds and all Freedom Shares continue to draw interest, as a result of action recently taken in the Treasury.

The Treasury has granted additional 10-year maturity extensions to Series E Savings Bonds purchased from May 1941 through January 1957, and to Series H Bonds issued from June 1952 through January 1957. Also, Freedom Shares, sold May 1967 through June 1970, have been given a 10-year extension beyond their original 4-1/2 year maturity.

"This means Savings Bond owners can continue to count on their older Bonds as part of their long-range financial planning for retirement security, children's education, and new homes," M. L. Wiggins said.

FROM PANAMA

Our seagoing home - the USS BLUE RIDGE - departed Callao, Peru, on the morning of March 23, headed for the U. S. Naval Station at Rodman, Panama Canal Zone. About a day out of Callao we received an urgent request from a Nationalist Chinese freighter, SS FLORENCE, en route from Taiwan to Panama, and located several hundred miles southwest of Mexico. The request was for BLUE RIDGE to provide medical assistance to a crew member aboard with a crushed and mangled hand. The FLORENCE had no medical supplies, while BLUE RIDGE was fully equipped with a medical officer and supplies.

Immediately, we set out at full speed to rendezvous with the freighter at a point about 500 miles west northwest of Panama. BLUE RIDGE's top speed is greater than FLORENCE's 12 knots, allowing the rendezvous to take place within 36 hours. Upon arrival at rendezvous point, our medical officer and team sailed over in one of BLUE RIDGE's boats to render emergency treatment, after which the injured man was brought over to our ship for further transfer on to Panama.

Our arrival in Panama was delayed for one day, leaving only a half day for sightseeing, with a good many hands making the most of the time off. Two friends and I hired a taxi to take us on a whirlwind 3-hour tour of the area, including the Americanized Canal Zone and American community, the "New" Panama City, and the Old Panama City, which consists mostly of 16th century ruins left by pirate leader Henry Morgan's rampage of looting and burning back when looting and rioting was confined to uncivilized parts of the world.

The currency in Panama is the Balboa, which is equal in value to the American dollar (and their coins are silver and copper sandwiches, also). So, we had no trouble in agreeing on the proper fee.

Some of the biggest attractions here are the duty-free goods available. Cameras, for example, are almost half the price of what they would be at home, yet not as cheap as they are in Japan and Germany. Our taxi driver took us to a duty-free shop in which cameras, watches, dolls, leather goods, jewelry, and many other items were offered at bargain prices.

Many historic sites were available to us on our whirlwind taxi tour, but we didn't have the time to really appreciate them. Magnificent churches such as the El Carmen Catholic Church towered above the landscape and busy streets of New Panama City. The statue of Vasco Nunez de Balboa, who discovered the Pacific Ocean in 1513, looks out over his discovery from a plaza in the city. The modern Bridge of the Americas, the span linking North America and South America along the Pan American Highway, stretches out over the waterway leading into the canal.

All these attractions and more were available to the sightseer and tourist, but the most popular of all was not available to us because of the lack of time. We didn't make it down to the famous Panama Canal, but went instead on a tour of the ruins of Old Panama City. Panama City boasted one of the finest cities in the New World in the 1500's and 1600's. It apparently boasted too loud, for Henry Morgan sailed in with his band of pirates to see if these boasts were for real. He set fire to the entire city, looting as he went. The city was left in a rubble, with only stone ruins, and the blades of grass and flowers growing out of the stones several feet off the ground. The ruins, nonetheless, are picturesque, and visitors enjoy photographing their sons, daughters, wives, or friends against a background provided by the ancient stone walls.

Balboa, the Americanized sector of Panama, resembles Hawaii in many respects. The weather in Panama is just like Hawaii - hot, humid, and trade-windy. The palm trees and coconut trees sway in the breeze and fan the fine honed below, homes with their verandas enclosed by screens to keep mosquitoes out and the cool night breezes blowing in. Tropical flowers grow in colorful abundance here, too, as they do in Hawaii. There is all the difference in the world between Balboa and the Panama City that we saw. Just a rubber-ink fence and a four-lane highway separates them.

New Panama City - the part built after the burning of Old Panama City - not only contains its glorious churches, but it also possesses its narrow streets and crowded living conditions. We were told that many Panamanians dislike the presence of Americans in their country. But then again, we heard that Panama owes much to the United States for the revenue that flows into their country as a result of the Canal's influence, so they welcome Americans and their dollars.

We were greeted with scornful looks at several places in Panama, but that could be said of any of the ports we visited. I can't say that the majority of the people were friendly, either. We were there on a Sunday, and most stores were closed, or we might have spent more money than we did. We weren't able to move around as much as if we had been able to remain for a couple of days. But then, next stop is Acapulco!

Lowry-Josselet Vows Exchanged In Saturday Evening Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Josselet will be making their home at 106 North Second in Haskell following their marriage here Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the First United Methodist Church. She is the former Vickie Lea Lowry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Lowry. Parents of the bridegroom are M. C. Josselet of Weisert and Mrs. Lois Josselet of Round Rock, Texas.

The Reverend R. J. Foster performed the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Melvin A. Lowrey, organist, accompanied soloist Bob Hamilton of Jayton who sang "More," "One Heart," "One Heart," and "Love Story". Misses Gwen and Stacy Angle sang "The Lord's Prayer".

White tapers in candelabra entwined with greenery flanked the white prie-dieu forming the altar setting. Greenery also trailed from tall candle posts accented with hot pink bows, illuminating the bridal aisle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length Empire gown of white shimmering satin. Lace over satin encrusted with tiny seed pearls was used on the bodice and long sleeves and the attached train was adorned with appliques of satin rosettes, each centered with a tiny seed pearl. A headpiece of rose petals outlined with seed pearls held her veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white and pink carnations containing a six-pence wrapped in blue.

Miss Rebecca Howell of Spur was maid of honor and chose a formal dress of pink with an attached train at the Empire waist. Her headpiece was of rosebuds and she carried long-stemmed roses.

Miss Paula Terrill of Haskell was bridesmaid and she was dressed as the maid of honor except her gown was of hot pink.

S&S Property Tax Service Is Organized

S & S Property Tax Service, Inc. P. O. Box 64, Wichita Falls, with its Farm and Ranch Service, was organized specifically to aid the real property owner in obtaining reasonable Assessed Values on ranches and farms before Tax Boards of Equalization.

This service specializes in suggesting conditions that represent value. It points out how values decline under certain conditions which should be made known to the Equalization Board in order to correct values.

S & S outlines a way and sources of information to use which will insure a more complete and businesslike presentation before the Board. This factual presentation should also simplify the Board's work.

Their specialized publications are prepared in simple, uncomplicated terms. As a result of S & S Service's invaluable assistance, the farmer or rancher will, as an owner, be able to "make a more factual and forceful presentation".

S & S works for the taxpayer and not the tax collector.

West Central Texas Awarded Grants For 1972

West Central Texas Council of Governments, Abilene, is one of 21 regional councils awarded criminal justice planning grants for Fiscal Year 1972 by Governor Preston Smith Friday. The amount is $19,900.

The 21 awards, totaling more than $545,000, were approved on recommendation of the Texas Criminal Justice Council, which oversees state law enforcement planning and administers funds from the U. S. Department of Justice under the Omnibus Crime Control Act.

The West Central Texas grant will be used in implementing action projects outlined in previous plans and in updating the comprehensive five-year criminal justice plan for the 19 counties of the West Central Texas State Planning Region.

Areas of special emphasis will include police education and training, youth services and law enforcement communications.

Professional criminal justice planning services will be furnished each unit of local government in all 19 counties, with the council serving as a regional clearing house.

These counties are Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Kent, Knox, Mitchell, Nolan, Runnels, Shackelford, Stephens, Stonewall, Taylor, Throckmorton, Comanche and Scurry.

To supplement the $19,900 grant, the council will contribute $2,211 to the criminal justice planning budget.

SS Reports

"If you're a student receiving social security benefits and you work after school or during the summer, be sure to let social security know if your earnings will be more than $1680 for the year," said Wayne Klipping, social security manager in Vernon.

Although benefits are still payable for any month when earnings are $140 or less and the student doesn't work in his own business, some benefits may not be payable for other months if the total yearly earnings exceed $1680, he continued.

The student and the person receiving benefits on his behalf share responsibility for keeping the Social Security Administration aware of earnings that will affect benefit payments, Klipping stated.

You should telephone your nearest social security office when you take a job, if you expect your earnings to be more than $1680, he said. Another report to verify those earnings is due between January 1 and April 15 of the following year.

Calls may be placed with the Vernon social security office at 552-9346 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:45 p.m., each week day.

Printed Carpets

The carpet industry created printed carpets in 1967, and now carpet designers think that 50 per cent of all carpets will be printed eventually. TDA Seed Lab Now Located At Giddings Giddings - The new 10,000 square foot Texas Department of Agriculture Seed Laboratory at Giddings is now open for business, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Commissioner White and Seed Division director Bill Staffel said persons formerly using the TDA Seed Laboratory in Austin, should now send seed samples for purity and/or germination testing to the Giddings facility.

The move from the expensive Capitol area complex in Austin to Giddings will save taxpayers nearly $3000 monthly in rent and utilities.

A new concept in cooperation between state agencies coincides with the lab construction. The TDA will provide training programs for youths under detention at the Texas Youth Council in the lab, greenhouses and 95 acres that will be used for seed testing, explained White.

TDA seed analyst John Metcalf will head laboratory operations. He will have about 20 employees, most of whom transferred from the old lab at Austin.

Streams In Desert Places

BY OZELLE STEPHENS

"I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sins no more" Jeremiah 31:34

God forgets. How wonderful it is to have the assurance of complete forgiveness. How wretched people can be without it. There are people that can't sleep at night nor efficiently do their work in the day, because of a deep fear that certain sins of their past are beyond remission.

Just take God at His word. He said, "I will forgive and forget." Ask Him to help you forget and He will give you His peace and assurance. Have you thanked God for completeness of His forgiving grace? When you can do this with faith, blessed assurance like a river will stream into your being. *****

Letter To The Editor

(Editor's Note: The following letter was received when the writer was confined in the City Jail waiting transfer to Montana. He was one of the two boys who stole Paul Hoge's car in February. He thought by writing his own experience that he might keep some other young person from making the mistakes he made. He wrote the letter of his own accord and it is printed herewith as received by us. Authorities came for them a few days afterwards.)

My name is Scott Davis. I live in Billings, Montana. May I offer my personal experience in hopes it might help other young persons not to make the mistakes I made.

The everyday criminal unintelligent, lazy, and lacks common sense. Unintelligent, most criminals have had little education and are forced into crime by everyday life because they can't get a job.

Lazy: A good percent of criminals are to lazy to work for a living and can't hold a job. Since stealing is easier, that's the road they take to avoid excess work.

Lacks common sense: Some are mentally ill and are easily persuaded into crime because they can't make their own decisions and have to have someone make them for them.

These are three types of criminals I have had the chance to meet and live with. But these are just a few types of criminals.

I think the most common is an insecure person who is looking for kicks and wants to be noticed by his friends.

In this last type I will class myself. I started my life of crime when I was very young to attract my parents attention. So many young people don't know their parents and want to be noticed. They try many ways at first, first they steal small things to get noticed but some don't get caught and steal larger things until they are big time thieves.

This is how I started. In the last five years I've been behind bars about 2 1/2 yrs of it. I would steal to be noticed in front of my friends and it made me feel tough when I got away with it. My habit increased in getting a group of other inmates and having a contest seeing who could steal the most cars and do the most vandalism to public property. We would have knife fights just to prove we weren't chicken and that we could handle any situation. We use to shoot cherries off of cop cars and when one would drive by we would yell pig, fuzz, and ostentiously and every now and then one of us would get up enough guts and flip one the bird when he was looking. But all of this was done to prove we were tough.

I guess it could be said that we were rebelling aginst everyone for them having fun and us not.

I have had 10 1/2 years of school and I can't say that I'm proud of myself. I found the school was for the ones that wanted so I got into fights with the teachers and got kicked out of school.

Well, out of school I really was bored so I went to stealing cars again and foraging checks for money, well I got caught and sent to Pine Hills School in Miles City Montana where I was put out of the public to become a better citizen. After 17 months I was released and sent home to my parents on an after-care system (like probation) and had rules to follow. I broke these rules and was sent back to the school. I ran from the school and got out of town, the temperature dropped to 30 below zero and I was running along the river bank on ice when the ice broke I found myself in waist deep water that was so cold my legs went numb almost immediately. I got out of the river and walked the train tracks until a freight came by and stopped on a side track to let another train pass. I guess I could say the track saved me from a silent death out in nowhere. I left the train in Glentville Montana and stole a car. I drove the car to Perryton Texas and was picked up for no driver's license and was thrown in jail. The next day I was released after giving a fictitious name to the Officers in the office. I walked about 21 miles trying to hitchhike a ride but no one would pick me up. The night got cold and I didn't want to face another night like the one in Montana so I stole a ranchers car and drove to Knox City and stole two more cars and drove one to Albany Texas and got caught there. The authorities from Perryton came and got me and took me back for trial on the stolen car from there. I was placed with guys who have been in the pen before and I talked to them a lot about the pen and I found out that that isn't the place for me because I found out that a guy really after getting out of the pen hasn't a chance in life. Well all I want is to settle down and marry and lead a good life. Stealing isn't for me or anyone as far as that goes unless a guy just don't care which many don't. They need help but I really hope that they can get it.

At the present I'm in the Knox City Jail waiting for trial. Well this was my life of crime and supposedly fun and I'm glad to say I finally seen the light before it was too late. I hope that anyone who feels he is left out will speak up so he won't have to go through what I did.

Sincerely yours,
Scott Davis *****

Circus Will Benefit West Texas Rehabilitation Center

Coming to Abilene from Malison Square Garden where it is now showing, Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus, which will bring its special brand of excitement and color to Abilene for the first time in nearly 20 years June 22 and 23, will benefit the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Bobbo Sayles, president of the WTRC Board of Directors, announced the Center's participation in the four Abilene performances of the 100th birthday edition of the Circus Wednesday.

He said that the Center will receive 20 per cent of the gross proceeds. The Circus will receive the first $60,000 and the Center the next $15,000 with the balance to be split on a 20-80 basis.

Center officials noted that their profit depends on the success of the show, adding that the event is in keeping with the Center's policy of sponsoring wholesome entertainment and striving to produce at least two outstanding shows per year for the Big Country.

The WTRC arrangement with the circus was not on a guarantee basis of any kind and the Center will not be out any expense, officials said.

The Circus will arrive in town June 21 by old-fashioned circus train. After unloading, an animal march from the train to the Taylor County Coliseum grounds will take place.

The Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus has been acclaimed for its attempt to bring back the original spirit and showmanship of the Circus.

Matinees will be held both show days at 2:30 p.m. The two evening shows will begin at 8 p.m.

All seats will be reserved. Tickets will be $4.50, $3.50 and $2.50. Children under 12 may get in for a $1 discount at the matinees.

Center officials here say they anticipate sell out crowds.

CATTLE GRUBS EXPENSIVE

Cattle grubs cost the Texas livestock industry several million dollars each year. Losses to this pest are an important economic consideration in Knox County.

Losses occur at all levels in the production and marketing chain, he says. The cow-calf producer is concerned about reduced milk production by the mother cows and resulting reduced weaning weights of calves. The feeder suffers losses as a result of reduced gains and lowered market price for grubby animals. The packer who buys and slaughters grubby animals realizes hide losses, carcass trim, increased handling costs and lowered carcass value. Therefore, cattle grub control deserves the attention of the entire beef industry.

Cattle grubs can be effectively controlled through the use of systemic insecticides. Depending upon the operation, systemics can be administered as dips, sprays, backline pour-ons, mineral mixes or feed additives. Cost of these treatments vary with the method and chemical selected, but generally, ranges less than 50 cents per animal in most instances.

A listing of chemicals and methods of treatment for systemic cattle grub control is available at the county agent's office. He invites beef cattle producers to call or visit his office for the recommendations. Before purchasing and using livestock insecticides, I strongly recommend that labels be read and particular attention be given to the precautions and restrictions listed. Also follow to the letter, slaughter intervals as clearly stated on the label.

TRACTOR SAFETY

Seven-tenths of a second isn't long. But it is all the time available to a farm tractor operator whose unit has started to rear backwards under full throttle to do something, about it.

Within that time, you can still de-throttle your engine to stop rearing. Beyond that fraction of time, there is no stopping the rearing and ultimate upset. And unless the operator is thrown clear, or can possibly jump clear, he is pinned or crushed to suffer serious injury or death.

Of a national annual toll of about 1,000 lives due to tractor accidents, some 600 result from tractor overturns. Many of these fatal accidents can be prevented through the exercise of sensible driving practices.

Sidewise upsets occur when tractors are driven too close to ditches, holes or embankments. Backward flips occur when tractor-implement hitches are set at a point higher than the center of the rear axle, or when the load exceeds the tractor's power to move it. At such times, the tractor employs its own power to create

The Truscott Church of Christ will hold a Vacation Bible School June 21 to the 25 from 8:30 to 10:30 every morning.

Darlene Meek has been awarded a two and a half year nursing scholarship to Midwestern University by the Wichita Falls Optimist Club. She will start classes the twelfth of July.

THE REARING AND BACKWARD FLIPPING MOTION

Dealers often find it difficult to sell safety attachments for tractors. The tractor buyer, some believe, dislikes identifying himself as the victim of a potential accident and as the cause of it.

A rollbar, sometimes called a protective frame, can be designed to serve as a crush-resistant cab to provide the operator from serious injury in the event the tractor flips.

Many capped tractors can be prevented from tipping more than 20 degrees. If they have roll bars to stop them. Many tractor operators have escaped serious injury because they were strapped to the tractor seat and a roll bar tore the weight and bulk of a tractor that reared and fell over backwards.

Safety specialists estimate the yearly toll of 600 lives lost to overturns can be reduced by some 450 through the use of roll bars.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Elston, Anna, Laura, and Greg enjoyed a trip to Fort Bliss at El Paso last week where they visited their son and his family, Sp'5 and Mrs. Dwight Faulk and daughter, Celeste, who celebrated her first birthday June 4. Anna remained there for a longer visit.

En route home they toured the Carlsbad Caverns and visited friends in Denver City, before returning to Knox City last Saturday.

The Elstons' youngest daughter, Lisa, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. King A. Green, in Monahans and did not accompany the family on the trip.
