WASHINGTON BRANDED CATTLE

Connally, who has the greatest cattle state has made, according to the George Washington Commission, an expert in producing and selling cattle.

While chatting on this subject with a group of Senators in Washington, Connally declared that Washington in his day had his cattle just as do the men of Texas and other sections of the West at the present time.

Representative from the East in this statement and said he would like to have a little proof that he could swallow any Washington story.

He showed the handsome six-year-old Lone Star State, "1760," a man from the "Little Jug" of his breakfast table, and said he had no knowledge of the "Little Jug" brand.

He then took to his bookcase a volume of Washington and read the following recorded by the hand of Mount Vernon farmer:

"I, 1760—Sent one bull to the Doeg Run and branded on ye buttock 29 yearlings and the Mill, which with 47 head in all viz. 5 calves and yearlings on the right shoulder GW. The Fredrick cattle made the Neck up to 10 head on the right buttock and cattle branded on GW."

Senator Connally was a problem with the fact that several hundred pastures it was for him to buy from his diary that of 1760 he was an important article he writes: "As a keg of butter being quite out the next day he more butter but then to this: 'My two hogheads andria, arrived of sole leather, two kegs of for Colonel Fair's of salt.' It is remembered butter in they did not put a piece of bread generous quantity convinced was in cattle as the present time that in 1760 by ap-

Lynn Waldrip Star for Senior Boys

The fact that Knox City scored high in the Track and Field events of the Interscholastic League held Saturday at Benjamin makes the days contests interesting for citizens of Knox City. The star of the events of the day goes to honor a Knox City boy, Lynn Waldrip. Each boy entering the events was limited to five events only. Lynn entered five and won first place in each of the five. He made the largest number of points during the day of any one boy, a total of 25 points with his nearest opponent totalling eighteen and one fourth points.

It is hoped by Knox City patrons that the Knox City school will stand high in these total points.

All the boys and girls entering declamations went to Haskell and delivered their declamations before Haskell Judges. The winners are as follows: Senior girl, Mary McAuley; senior boy Herbert Finley; Junior girl Florence Wilson; Junior boy, Lloyd Huntsman.

MONEY

There is a little more than forty-three million dollars in the Commonwealth Fund, established a few years ago by Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness. Nobody knew there was anything like that much money in the Harkness family until she casually announced one day that she had placed some what more than $50,000,000 in a fund to be used for humanitarian work in relieving distress and discovering means of preventing human misery.

LIGHT

Bright colors, make people healthier and happier, says Dr. M. Luckeish, who is a well-known authority on light. The present tendency toward brilliant colors in everything will some day be reflected in men's clothes and other articles which are now conventionally dull.

Most interesting of Dr. Luckeish's predictions is that before long people who want to be healthy will not waste daylight hours in seeking sunshine but will sleep under artificial ultra-violet rays which will give them a coat of tan while they sleep and fill the system with health-giving vitamins.

WORDS

Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, who knows more words than anyone else in America, since he is the editor of the largest dictionary, has begun to teach the proper pronunciation of common words of the men and women who use those words over the radio.

That is an excellent thing to do, especially when the teacher is as broadminded as Dr. Vizetelly. He does not wish to mold everybody's tongue to some self-selected provincial standard. To the New Yorker it is as unnatural to speak with a Southern accent as it is for a Middle Westerner to avoid rolling his r's, but there are certain standards of good taste in the placing of the accent, and in clear enunciation of the essential syllables, which can be spread to everybody more quickly and easily over the radio than in any other way.

Americans generally speak their own language more clearly than do the people of any other tongue, he says. It is certainly true that any

The Senior play, which was given last Friday night, was vrey good. The star of the cast, Lyn Waldrip, was well worth the price of the show.

Miss Carlisle, english instructor in high school, sponsored and coached the play. She is to be congratulated for her work.

As a result of oversight, our comment on the Junior play, which was only recently given, failed to appear in the columns of the Herald. We liked that play. It was good; and we feel that it is not too late yet to express our opinion.

Miss Moorhouse sponsored and coached the Junior play did it well. She chose the characters with unusual ability and the play was staged with much satisfaction to the crowd in attendance.

We understand that Dr. Frizzell's greatest ambition is to catch one ten pound fish on a hook with a line attached, after which accident the doctor pledges himself never to fish again.

Lloyd Waldrip is much concerned about the fact that he is now an uncle.

It seems that cheap stoves will sell fast in Knox City now. S. E. Youngblood is trying to heat up a field sufficient to grow early cotton. Suposep he wants a second crop this year.

There is no doubt now as to whether or not the fruit crop is killed. It is, and every other living green vegetable. The fruit is now on ice.

Some happenings can well be called coincidents but when the same things happen so many times it seems that it is just naturally done on purpose. For the past year, every time the lady editor leaves Knox City to be gone over the night, it rains. Up to this week we were somewhat of the opinion that probably the fact that we chose Mrs. P. B. Baker as our companion for each trip, the combination caused the ill effect in the weather. However, we are convinced differently now, for it was not Mrs. P. B. Baker with us this time, and it rained. As a matter of fact, we, Mickie and I were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Nations for the quick trip to Dallas Sunday, returning home Monday night.

And rain was not the whole of it. It snowed and stormed over a number of states. However, we had the best of luck throughout the entire trip and are thankful that our portion of the state has suffered so little damage as compared with loss of lives etc, elsewhere.

We understand that Victor Pyeatt has made application for membership into the Sheep and Goat Association for protection against theft.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
BUREAU OF THE CENSUS
WASHINGTON

Financial Statistics of the State Government of Texas for 1929

Washington, D. C., March 31, 1931. The Bureau of the Census announces a summary of the financial statistics of the State of Texas for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1929. The per capita figures for 1929 are based on an estimated population of 5,792,980. These statistics were compiled by Mr. Vann M. Kennedy.

Expenditures

The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of Texas amounted to $48,418,689, or $12.00 per capita. This includes $25,164,954, appropriation for education to the minor civil divisions of the State. In 1928 the comparative per capita for operation and maintenance of general departments was $12.54, and in 1917, $4.59. The interest on debt in 1929 amounted to $76,993; and outlays for permanent improvements, $24,379,823. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of general departments, interests, and outlays were $92,827,317. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues.

Of the governmental costs reported above, $24,289,927 was for highway, $12,151,564 being for maintenance and $22,148,363 for construction.

Revenues

The total revenue receipts were $94,729,956, or $16.61 per capita. This was $26,234,268 more than the total payments of the year, exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, and $1,854,623 more than the total payments including those for permanent improvements. This excess of revenue receipts is reflected in purchase of investments, not shown in this summary. Property and special taxes represented 29.7 per cent of the total revenue for 1929, 30.6 per cent for 1928, and 36.6 per cent for 1918. The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 104 per cent from 1917 to 1929, but there was a decrease of 1.3 per cent from 1928 to 1929. The per capita property and special taxes were $4.93 in 1929, $5.09 in 1928, and 3.10 in 1917.

Earnings of general departments, or compensation for service rendered by State officials, represented 4.1 per cent of the total revenue for 1929 4.8 per cent for 1928, and 16.7 per cent for 1917.

Business and nonbusiness licenses revenue for 1929, 44.6 per cent of the total revenue for 1929, and 44.6 per cent of the total 1928, and 12.5 per cent for 1917.

Receipts from business licenses consists chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies, of occupation taxes, and of sales tax on gasoline, while those from nonbusiness licenses comprise chiefly taxes on motor vehicles and amounts paid for hunting and fishing privileges. The sales tax on gasoline amounted to $16,006,660 in 1929, $19,211,576 in 1928, a decrease of 16.7 per cent.

Indebtedness

The total funded or fixed debt outstanding August 31, 1929 was $4,367,200.

The net indebtedness (funded or fixed debt less sinking fund assets) was $4,367,200 or $0.77 per capita. In 1928 the per capita debt was $0.76, and in 1917, $1.07.

Assessed Valuations and Tax Levies

The assessed valuation of property in Texas subject to ad valorem taxation was $4,219,535,987; the amount of State taxes levied was $28,690,799; and the per capita levy $5.03. In 1928 the per capita levy was $4.57, and in 1917, $3.86.

Texas in 1930 produced 289,000 ounces silver, 176 ounces of gold, 109,699 pounds of lead and 120,569 pounds of copper all decreases resultant from the closing of a mine at Shafter, which is to be reopened this year.

Jim Stevenson was a recent visitor in Longview.

A CHICKEN DINNER WITHOUT THE DINNER

Thursday at noon the Herald family was much elated over the invitation to have chicken dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Nations. Elated for two special reasons, first because of the invitation itself and second, because we knew the menu was to include a barbecued chicken. Well, at the last moment things began to happen. The chicken was not done.

Now if that was a trick intended to save the chicken for the "League of Nations" it failed, for as a matter of fact, as the Herald goes to press this afternoon, the Herald family is planning big on eating the barbecued hen at Nation's home tonight.

DR. CALDWELL'S THREE RULES

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not habit forming.

The Doctor never did approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headache, and to break up fevers and colds. Get a bottle today, at any drugstore and observe these three rules of health: Keep the bowels cool, the feet warm, the bowels open. For a free trial bottle, just write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. EE, Monticello, Illinois.

ROOT

Elihu Root celebrated his 86th birthday the other day. A few days before he had been arguing with a Senate Committee in Washington on behalf of the "Root formula" under which the entry of the United States in the World Court of International Justice would not be held as binding on this country to take part in any of Europe's quarrels.

It is hardly likely that Mr. Root will be able to perform any more important services for his country. He has been doing little else, however, for more than thirty years. Since 1899, when he became a member of McKinley's famous "onesyllable Cabinet," which included Day, Hay, Gage, Root, Knox, Smith, Long and Bliss, he has been in the very first rank of American statesmen. Literally born in Hamilton college, where his father was professor of mathematics, Mr. Root got his college degree in 1864. He earned enough money in the next thirty years as a lawyer to permit him, at the age when most men think of retiring, to throw himself into public service without regard to compensation.

And he says he is going to keep on working.

CIRCUS

All over the civilized world there is mourning for Lillian Leitzel. When the news came from Copenhagen that the beautiful little trapeze performer had died from a fall in the circus ring, the big city newspapers gave columns to the story. Millions who had never seen her under the "big top" shared the universal regret at her untimely passing.

There is a glamor about the circus which clothes all of it people with a fringe of romance. Perhaps it is because most of us had our first experience with the world of entertainment at the circus. At any rate, circus performers always see, to most people, to be more interesting than mere movie actors and theatrical stars.

Lillian Leitzel, like most other circus people, had been in the show business from infancy. She was probably the most skillful, as well as the most graceful and personally attractive young woman ever to perform the dangerous "acrobats" which she did with such apparent ease. Her fearlessness caused her death; she never would perform over a net, and when a trapeze ring broke and she fell 100 feet to the floor it cost her her life.

It was a good many years ago that Deacon Callahan took his wife to the races.

Just as the horses were lining up at the barrier, Mrs. Callahan grasped the deacon nervously by the arm and in a voice which was filled with emotion asked him for a safety pin, while grabbing frantically after some thing that seemed to be slipping around the knees.

"Just then some one nearby shouted, 'They're off!'"

And Mrs. Callahan fainted.—Buffalo News.

YOUNG AND OLD

From "The Water Babies"

By Charles Kingsley

When all the world is young, lad,

And all the trees are green;

And every goose a swan, lad

And every lass a queen;

Then hey for boot and horse, lad,

And round the world away;

And every day his day.

When all the world is old, lad,

And all the trees are brown;

And all the sport is stale, lad,

And all the wheels run down;

Creep home, and take your place

there,

The spent and maimed among;

For 'twere you had one face there

You loved when all was young.

GREEN THINGS GROWING

By Dinah Maria Mulock Craik
O the green things growing, the green things growing.

The faint sweet smell of the green things growing!

I should like to live, whether I smile or groive.

Just to watch the happy life of my green things growing.

O the fluttering and the pattering of those green things growing!

How they talk to each, when none of us are knowing:

In the wonderful white of the weird moonlight

Or the dim dreamy dawn when the cocks are crowing.

And in the rich store of their blossoms glowing

Ten for one I take they're on me bestowing:

Oh, I should like to see, if God's will it may be,

Many, many a summer of my green things growing!

But if I must be gathered for the angel's sowing,

Sleep out of sight awhile, like the green things growing.

Though dust to dust return, I think I'll scarcely mourn,

If I may change into green things growing.

Like Color . . . the best Gasoline is Blended

THE artist stands before his canvas with color-laden palettes. Blues, greens, white and touches of warmer tones are blended by his inspired brush as the waves of the seascape take form. His genius tells him that only through the blending of just the right colors is the ideal result achieved. Otherwise his most painstaking effort could only result in a monotone, wholly lacking in brilliance.

Artistry and genius have their place in the making of CONOCO Gasoline. CONOCO engineers long since have found that the ideal gasoline is a balanced blend of the three types containing the elements most desired in a motor fuel. There is highly volatile Natural Gasoline, to give quick starting. There is Straight-run Gasoline, to give power and long mileage. There is Cracked Gasoline with its well-known anti-knock quality.

Like the artist with his colors, CONOCO refiners take these three types of gasoline in balanced proportions and blend them. The result is as pleasing to the car owner as is a Rembrandt to the art connoisseur. Of course the genius of "knowing how" is the vital element and it is here that CONOCO refiners excel.

Convince yourself of the merit of CONOCO Blended Gasoline. Try it today. You will find this triple-test motor fuel wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle.

THE BALANCED - BLEND GASOLINE

The Way of Life
By Bruce Barton

OFF THE FRONT PAGE

I was talking recently with Ted Clarke who was secretary to Mr. Coolidge at the White House. He told me about one of the famous Gridiron dinners, at which a character was made up to represent the "Front Page". The poor fellow was emancipated and despondent, he complained that Coolidge had ruined him by making so little news.

Ted said: "I think that one of the best and truest tributes that could be paid to Coolidge would be to say: He took the government of the United States off the front page."

He went on to tell half a dozen dramatic incidents which might easily have become national issues if Coolidge had been minded to make a fuss about them. But he handled them so quietly that the public knew nothing about them.

The newspapers are the greatest single educational influence in our lives. By throwing the fierce glare of their search-light in all directions they have been a powerful aid in abolishing secret diplomacy. They have encouraged big business to come out into the open, and they are a constant and tremendous deterrent to crime.

But under our system of government they put an unwilling premium upon the performance of the self-advertiser and the demagogue.

Our Senators are no longer chosen as they used to be, by responsible party organizations in the state legislature. They are nominated in popular primaries.

The easy way for a Senator to keep his voters from forgetting his name is to make them think he is important in Washington. And the easy way to achieve this seemingly importance is to attack something, or investigate something, or become otherwise noisy and conspicuous.

But be not discouraged.

I have stood in the laboratory where Edison worked so many years to give the world electric light. I have seen the old shed where Kettering first began the experiments which culminated in the self-starter for automobiles. I have visited the tiny village where, in a modest house Charles Darwin wrote the book that changed the trend of scientific thought. On the gate post is a tablet with this inscription:

"Here Darwin lived and thought for forty years, and here on April 19, 1882, he died."

We can put up patiently with quite a lot of Senators, so long as know that in ten thousand quiet homes and shops and offices, there are Edisons and Ketterings and Darwins.

One of the loveliest socials given recently in Knox City was the given Monday night by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith. They entertained a few of their friends with a dinner, games following. The guest list included the following, Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bridges, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Holt Moseley, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Davis.

Leslie Acker left Knox City last Friday for Alpine to continue his work in Sul Ross.

Your Crazy Crystals have been a great blessing to me. I have suffered with indigestion and rheumatism for years, could not get any relief at all until I got your Crystals. Now I am eating anything I want and feeling much better than I have felt for fifteen years.
