HOME DEMONSTRATION NEWS

FROM COPPERAS COVE

HOME DEMO NEWS Dr. John E. Larson, Hort cultur ise-Vegetables, with the Agricul den production in a meeting at Dowding and Mrs. Frank McAuley. Benjamin on March 1.

He discussed the use of organic and plastic mulches applied d'rectly over the garden soil to conserve moisture and to reduce weed growth. He also told of a method of producing tomatoes used by Mrs. Robinson at Troy, Texas in which no irrigation is required.

She chooses her growing site and then makes the bed. First step is to put a sheet of clear plastic on the ground. A 1-foot high frame of boards is placed on the plastic and filled with redwood shavings. (Other kinds of shavings or sawdust will do. Width of frame isn't so important but plastic should be 3 inches wider than the frame.

I'd suggest it be at 'east 2 feet wide for plants to be staked and pruned.) For each plant, a gallon sized hole is made in the shavings down to the plastic and a hole punched in the plastic.. This cavity is then filled with a good rich soil and plants are set. Moisture rises through the hole in the plastic, supplying the plants' needs so they never need extra watering. The p'astic and shavings also pre vent weeds.

One modification of Mrs. Robinson's method which has proved Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lowrey of the satisfactory is as follows Elk City, Oklahoma, spent

1. Fertilize and till the soil in weekend here with his father, manner of good garden procedure Porter Lowrey, Other visitors inbefore construction of a bed. cluded his granddaughter and her

2. Make a small mound of soil family, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown about four inches in height on top of the tilled area where each plant is to grow.

> 3. Lay plastic, any type, on top of the tilled area and cut a four to five-inch diameter hole in the p'astic at each mound of soil. 4. Construct a frame about four to eight inches in height over the plastic and fill with sawdust or other organic material. 5. Transplant or seed vegetables in each mound of soil.

Or. Lawson says that most vegetables can be grown in the sawdust-plastic mulch frames in which the soil under the frame is cooled causing the condensation of moisture to water plants.

Dr. Lawson also discussed soil preparation and sterilization, vegetab'es varities, and answered a number of questions.

LIQUOR BY THE DRINK WILL NOT DECREASE ALCOHOL CONSUMPTION

Liquer interests are NOT interested in selling less liquer

With more availability, people will drink more

Liquor interests are interested in selling more liquor. If the saloon bill passes, the per capita consumption of liquor will go up.* People will drink more. Now, in Texas, one gallon of liquor is consumed each year for every man, woman and child in the state. Nearby states that have liquor by the drink, consume 80 per cent more per capita than do states that have bottle only sales.

According to statistics from Iowa, which has had a 17 per cent increase in alcohol sales each year since legalizing liquor by the drink in 1963, Texas could expect a 20 to 30 per cent increase in highway deaths. (Iowa's population has not increased.) At the minimum increase, Texas could expect 606 ADDITIONAL DEATHS the first year! For the liquor industry, and related businesses, liquor by the drink in Texas would mean more profits. But what about the innocent victims?
