ROUND UPS

by "The Wrangler"

No matter who wins the election in November, a very tired man is going to occupy the White House for the next four years. He has little to look forward to and much work ahead of him with the responsibilities of steering forty-eight states through a period of considerable distress, in maintaining peace with European countries, and in keeping the people of the United States happy and prosperous. Whoever he is, he will need the deepest sympathy of everyone.

The historic old covered bridges of New England, objects of quaintness and charm, are nearly things of the past. Demanded speed of the succeeding generations has caused the erection of steel girded spans, forcing these picturesque landmarks into obscurity. These ancient covered spans are said to be steeped in tradition and the object of many a legend. Their gloomy interiors were the legendary rendezvous of highwaymen and a likely gathering place for ghosts on nights when the winds was high.

Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who wants to cut a dash in Washington society, still criticizes her cousin Franklin Delano for every move he makes. Now she disapproves of cousin F. D. wearing a suit with a patch at the elbow while visiting the drouth area. Joseph, the most noted crop conservationist, wore a coat of many colors, which some antiquarians interpret as a garment of many patches. Mrs. Longworth suggests that the President adopt some of the Biblical agriculture measures. Whether the President wore the patched coat or not, there is an admirable characteristic in Mrs. Longworth's cousin in keeping on the same elevation with his people. Maybe Mrs. Longworth has forgotten that her father, Theodore Roosevelt, was once running for the office of President too and that he found worn clothing very charming garments to wear while meeting his "dear public."

Ear trouble among women, say modern physicians, is frequently traceable to the fact that they do not adequately expose their ears to light and sunshine. They said that it is advisable for a woman to dress her hair so that ears were exposed to both light and air when possible.

Glory oftimes is misplaced. Lindbergh was not the first man to fly the Atlantic. On May 31, 1919, the United States navy plane NC 4 flew from Newfoundland to Portugal. On June 14, 1919, the first non-stop flight across the Atlantic was made by Alcock and Brown of Clifton, Ireland. It was eight years later that Lindbergh flew from New York to Paris and said "Are there any mechanics here?" Likewise Paul Revere would never be quite so famous had Longfellow not written the poem, "The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere" so that so many of us had to memorize in elementary school.

Personal nomination for the best book of 1936: Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind", a most vivid story of the Civil War and Reconstruction written with a rare sensitiveness and skill from the standpoint of woman and how the war affected the lives of the people of the South. "Gone With the Wind" is the type of book where the reader puts himself into it and by the time the fifteenth chapter is finished, the reader feels as if he has actually been in the war himself. The book is well written from the first to the last of the 1000th page.

Professor G. E. Hickman of a Nebraska college, proved to his psychology class that most people have wonderful imaginations. He stood before his class, took the cork from the bottle, and asked that the first student who smelled chloroform raise his or her hand. With a stop-watch in hand, he timed them. After a few minutes elapsed, the first smellier reported. Within the next forty seconds, all but four of the thirty students smelled chloroform. About the time that the entire class felt as if they had been given an anaesthetic, he told them that the bottle contained water.

Mrs. Buddy Mullins, nee Miss Mary Belle Raney, was complimented with a shower of miscellaneous gifts presented Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. B. J. Osborn.

A handsome array of miscellaneous gifts were artistically arranged and after viewing them guests registered in the brides book and went to the lawn where punch and cookies were served.

Miss Ellena Fayne White favored guests with accordion numbers. Miss Mary Lou Graham with piano numbers and Miss Florence Wilson with a clever reading.

Streets to Be Graveled Over 34 City Blocks

AN ERROR CORRECTED

The report concerning the faculty of the Knox City school for the ensuing year, as appeared in the last issue of the Herald was erroneous in two respects. First, the person elected for Study Hall and Business Administration was Mr. Jim Crowder and not Mrs., and second, since the publication was issued last Thursday Mr. Jim Crowder resigned. The place is now unfilled.

5 PEOPLE HAVE NARROW ESCAPE IN CAR WRECK

California Car Collides With River Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Edwards of California with his mother, brother and sister of Dickens, collided with the north river bridge about ten thirty last Thursday night and barely escaped death.

The California couple made the trip to Texas for a visit to the Centennial as well as to see relatives. They were returning to Dickens after having visited Dallas and drove into the river bridge north of Knox City. One section of the bridge banisters was torn away and the new Terrapine car hung on the bridge by a rail that jammed through the fender and under the side of the motor. But for the jammed rail, the car and its five occupants would have toppled into the river bed.

As it happened, no one was seriously injured, all just bruised, however, the car was considerably damaged. All five continued on to Dickens and the car remains in Knox City for an appraisal by the insurance company.

Miss Mildred Dutton newly elected piano teacher for Knox City public schools is asking all piano and accordion students to enroll Monday and Tuesday, September 14th and 15th at her home.

BRANDING DANGEROUS CARS

In a European country, the cars of motorists convicted of flagrant violation of traffic laws are painted with an emblem, as a warning to other drivers. It is said that this practice newly started, has caused an appreciable decline in dangerous driving, as motorists naturally want to avoid the embarrassment and publicity the emblem gives them.

A great many thousand American motorists should have their cars so branded.

The worst class of offenders consists of those who push the throttle to the floorboard as soon as they get out of sight of a traffic officer. Excessive speed—and there are times when 15 miles per hour is excessive—is responsible for more deaths than any other driving violation.

Passing on hills and curves and "meandering" through traffic are also potent causes of death, injury and destruction. On a myriad tragic occasions, a driver has tried to save a needless minute—at the cost of a life.

Driving on the wrong side of the road, jumping traffic lights, passing at intersections—are practices dear to the heart of the Dark Angel. They

Yes, it might be a good idea to adopt the branding practice in this country. A suitable emblem would be skull and cross-bones.

Miss Mary Moore of Munday has been the guest of Miss Wynette Farmer this week.

A local man who has reached that point in life when according to normal expectancy he will begin to lose his hair and his waist line, was overjoyed Sunday when he dug out his last summer's seersucker trousers and belt and found that they fit perfectly. LIQUOR AND PENSIONS

Editor Star Telegram: One must wonder at the inertia of the ministers, the prohibitionists and other keepers of morals in Texas that they seem incapable of being aroused over the idea that the citizenship of this great State is literally to be driven in to the gutter that the aged may be pensioned.

The Old Age Assistance Act provides that pensions shall be paid from money received as a tax on the sale of liquor. It naturally stands to reason that to receive this revenue there must be sales of liquor. Does not further reasoning suggest that liquor which is purchased will be consumed? Have we stopped to figure the enormous amount of liquor which must necessarily be sold in order to raise these many millions of dollars which will be necessary to the payment of these pensions?

Under the pension law the State receives in tax 5 cents from every pint of liquor sold. In order to pay one pension of $15 for one person for one month there must be 300 pints of liquor sold, or 3,600 pints must be sold to pay a pension in this amount to one person for one year.

Assuming that only 200,000 of the more than 300,000 who are entitled, under the Constitution to receive pensions are benefited by this law, the liquor sales must total 60,000,000 pints per month, or 720,000,000 pints per year. This means that every male and female in Texas over 14 years of age must consume more than a pint of liquor every day in the year.

Is there any law of nature which exacts such a sacrifice of man that his fellowman may survive? Is it not contrary to the law which makes "fitness" a condition of survival? Heartbreakingly appalling is the apparent apathy of the beneficiaries to be concerning this sacrifice which is to be made in their behalf. This raises the question or whether the person who closes his or her eye to this self-destruction of their fellowman for that is what it will amount to, or that they may receive unearned benefits, is worthy of the sacrifice.

Have the ministers of this State been seized with paralysis of the vocal chords? Greatly in contrast to this silence where the loss will be one which can not be computed in dollars is their continuous preachments on the evils of horse racing which becomes more intensified every time a horse goes to the post in Texas. The worst thing that can happen to a person who wagers his money on a horse is that he may lose his money. According to the records the greatest amount of money to pass through the mutuels in any one year since racing was legalized in Tex. was $21,000,000. If the maximum price of liquor were only $1 per pint there must be $720,000,000 passed over the bar each year in order that the terms of the pension law may be met.

The argument against racing is that the money (precious metal) is lost and that betting on a horse is "gambling." So will the money which is spent on liquor be lost in the sense that money bet on the wrong horse is lost—that is, it will pass from the hands of one to another, for money in spite of what the anti-racing group will tell you just does not evaporate. The gamble in wagering on a horse, however, is negligible as compared with the chance you take when you put your money in liquor and the losses can not be compared. When you bet on a horse you know you will either make some money. When you put your money in liquor you know your money is gone. A checkup on your mind and morals later will reveal to just what extent you lost there. And you can't beat the bottle. The more you take out of it the more it takes out of you!

SEIBERLING

Vapor-Cure Process

MAKES TIRES WITH NO WEAK SPOTS

All tire manufacturers, with the exception of Seiberling, vulcanize their tires in molds where rubber is pressed against blistering steel. Since rubber and cotton are vegetable products, heat burns the life and strength out of them. All Seiberling tires are cured by the exclusive Vapor-Cure process as shown in the photograph shown above. This process of gentle steam vapor preserves the life of the cotton and rubber and makes a tire with No Weak Spots.

Let us equip your car today with genuine Seiberling tires. We make you a liberal trade-in allowance on your old tires.

THE COLD GERM IS WAITING FOR YOUR DEFENSE TO BE LOWERED!

Don't give a "common cold" an even break! The fact that this is good advice is emphasized by the report of leading doctors who point out that fifty per cent of all disabling diseases start with a "common cold."

It is well known that sudden chilling of the body after over-heating will often cause sneezing, watery secretions or nasal obstruction. Of this, there can be no doubt from the experience of generations of people everywhere. Any sudden change in bodily temperature during winter months such as going from a warm room into a cold one disturbs the heat regulating apparatus of the body and lowers your defense against the insidious attack of the cold germ.

If you heat only one or two rooms . . . if you "huddle" in these warm rooms while the rest of the house remains cold, sudden indoor temperature changes are unavoidable. It's good health insurance as well as good advice to provide adequate heat and a proper circulation of pure warm air in every room of your home during the coming winter months.

LONE STAR GAS SYSTEM

Soon the cold germ will marshal his forces for his health wrecking winter attack.

If you should catch cold, consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health.
