School Enrollment Increases

Pictures Presented By Freshmen

The enrollment of the Knox City school has increased this week to a total of 358 against a total of 331 the first day of school last week. The high school has gained only seven while the remaining grades have increased from 229 to 249.

Mr. Cloud, superintendent, states that both the attitude and attendance of the pupils is fine. Most every one is arriving on time and giving attention and interest in the work.

Monday morning, while all the high school classes were assembled in the study hall the members of the Freshman class presented to the school three pictures. There were "Washington's Mount Vernon", "Old Iron Side" and the third is a scene of an English garden. The latter was hung in the English room, Old Iron Side in the history room and Mount Vernon in the study hall. These pictures were greatly appreciated by the student body and teachers alike.

Institute On Oct. 27th and 28

Mr. Cloud announced Tuesday that the institute will be held in Haskell this year on October the 27 and 28th. Three counties, Knox, Haskell and Stonewall, with a possibility of a fourth Throckmorton, will hold their institutes jointly.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Ball have had some improvement made to their home this week in the form of extended weather boarding to the ground.

Among those who renewed their subscriptions to the herald this week were Russel Boyd, C. C. Hoge, L. W. Graham, Joe Reeder, Mrs. L. C. Porter, S. L. White, H. L. White, Mother White and Dr. T. S. Edwards.

We are glad to have T. P. Robinson a new subscriber to the Herald this week.

Mr. C. W. Armstrong is tearing down the Bryant-Link ware house this week and will build a barn on his farm north of town.

Mr. Zohn of Haskell, Mr. Bullington of Goree and Mrs. Bevel of Rochester are patients in the local hospital this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Waller, who formerly lived in the Cliff Community, now of Rule, are happy in the arrival of a new baby in their home.

Mr. George Gabriel of Roaring Springs is here this week helping Malouf move his stock to his new location.

Mrs. W. T. Averitt and Mrs. J. W. Smith of Rule were guests of Mrs. Joe Averitt Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Arledge of Stamford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Arledge Monday afternoon.

Meet Editor Smith

Alfred E. Smith, Democratic leader and presidential candidate in 1928, is now a visitor. He signed a contract late in August to edit the New Outlook magazine. He states that he has long wanted to be an editor and feels he can now give the necessary time to the work.

Cotton Drops $6. per Bale On Govt. Report

Today, Thursday, cotton dropped $6.00 per bale which fact has caused no little excitement among the "cotton kings" in Knox City.

The government report today was 11,310,000 bales as compared with 11,306,000 the first of August.

It is expected the market will reach a new high level by the time the local cotton farmers are bringing in their crop.

WICHITA FALLS "GOLDEN JUBILEE" SEPTEMBER 26, 27 AND 28

Wichita Falls.—Two battalions of Fort Sill artillery, including eight huge howitzers never before exhibited in this country, will participate in daily parades here during Wichita Falls "Golden Jubilee" celebration September 26, 27 and 28. The battalions will include full complements of men, horses, and war time equipment. The movement from Fort Sill to Wichita Falls will be in the nature of an army maneuver. The post band of forty pieces will accompany the troops.

Four hundred rounds of ammunition will be carried. Salutes will be fired daily honoring distinguished visitors.

Among the horses will be twelve which took part in the Olympic contests.

National Guard and veterans organizations will participate in the parades.

Indians, cowboys, pioneers, Stage coaches, covered wagons, pack trains oxen and other things reminiscent of the pioneer days will add color.

Rodeo performers will be given daily. World's champions in riding, bulldozing, roping and other events will compete for $4,000 in cash prizes.

The greatest collection of historical exhibits ever gathered in the Southwest will be on display. A pageant depicting events in the history of this section will be presented. More than 2,000 persons will take part in the presentation.

Each day's program will be opened with a religious service in which outstanding leaders of Jewish Catholic and Evangelical faiths will speak.

Acc speakers in the national political campaign will represent their respective parties.

Thousands of old-timers, who have made history in the Southwest, have already registered and will hold a reunion during the celebration.

Old fiddlers contests, cowboy dances, athletic events, water polo games, pistol matches, style shows and group reunions, will be among the other features of the three gala days honoring the early settlers of North-west Texas and Southern Oklahoma.

Lloyd Pyeatt went to Albany Monday where he will teach school this year, the term opening Monday the 12th. Lloyd has been visiting his brother Victor.

Mrs. Robert Hicks of Fort Worth spent part of last week with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hull. Mrs. Hicks is on an extended visit with her mother Mrs. Moore of Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Moseley and daughter left Saturday for their home in Longview after visiting his brother Holt.

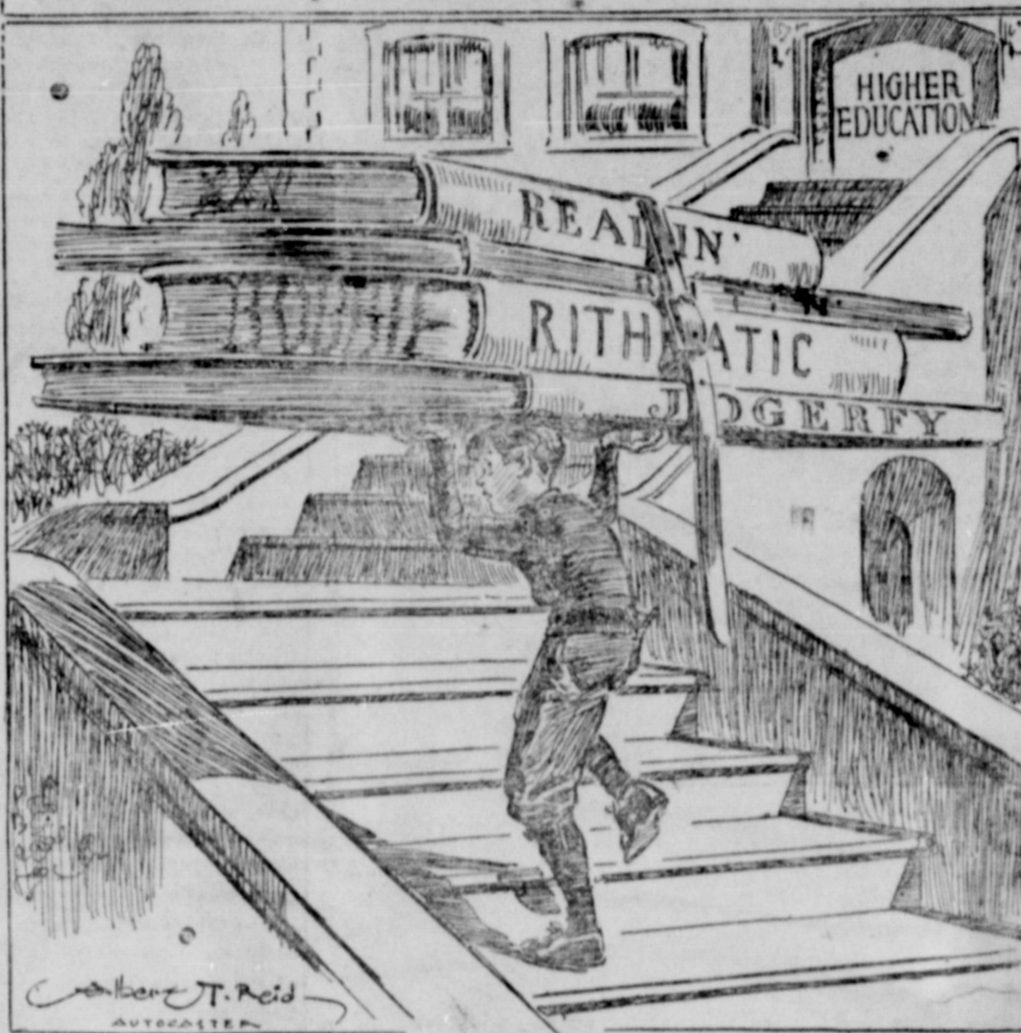

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson White left here Monday afternoon for California where they will probably remain until the first of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Koonsman of Dickens Texas visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Humphries of this city last Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Rowena Lutz and two children left Wednesday for their home in San Antonio after a visit of three week here with her brother Russell Boyd.

Little Miss Wynette Farmer returned home Wednesday from a trip to Galveston with her great uncle Mr. H. R. Gray of Sweetwater.

Mrs. J. A. Wilson had as her guest over the past weekend Miss Croyer of Goldthalte. Miss Croyer was in route to Crowell where she is an instructor in the school.

RECITAL APPRECIATED BY AUDIENCE

One of the finest recitals ever given in Knox City was that Tuesday at the Baptist church. Mrs. Adkins presented Miss Lenora English in reading recital.

In spite of the inclement weather, a good crowd gathered at the church for the recital. As the various numbers were given a sincere appreciation of the art of Miss English was expressed by the audience. It was also noted by the applause of the audience that those assisting Miss Lenora rendered their numbers in a most pleasing way.

The work of Mrs. Adkins in instructing Miss Lenora is deserving of praise. The program Tuesday evening was splendid.

SOPHOMORES ELECT OFFICERS

At a meeting of the Sophomore class on Wednesday of last week the following officers were elected:

President, Vola Daniels
Vice-President, Faye Hyde
Secretary and Treasurer, Ora Sharp
Reporter, Mayme Shaver
Sponsor, Mrs. Finley

Eliza and Ernest Parris of Gililand were Knox City visitors Monday.

The Sun Shines Again

Knox City was glad Thursday morning (this morning) to see the sun shine again, since Tuesday of last week the days and nights have been filled with slowly but unrelentingly falling rain. The total rain fall since Tuesday of last week has amounted to some five or six inches.

Thursday evening the sun was disgusted with the way the cotton market acted and hid its face again.

Convention for Bankers Held Here

Monday, Labor Day, the District Bankers Convention which includes Baylor, Haskell, Knox and Throckmorton counties, was held in Knox City.

Twenty one bankers met in the local City Hall and proceeded with the election of officers and other business questions of the day. The election of officers resulted as follows. President, R. E. Baskin of Seymour Vice-Pres., E. O. Jamison, Knox City Secy. and Treas. D. J. Bailes of Seymour

E. J. Cloud of Rule, retiring vice president of the District Organization, was chairman of the business session. Mr. Cloud also made the annual address of the retiring president.

The welcome address was made by Mayor Roy Smith and responded to by Garland Eubank of Throckmorton. Two Fort Worth bankers, Mr. Walter Wellerick and Mr. Champ Clark, made interesting talks. Both expressed optimistic views concerning present and coming business conditions.

Upon the completion of the business session the convention went in a body to the Methodist church where the ladies of the church served a splendid luncheon. Orchestral numbers were given by the local organization and the convention adjourned to meet again at Throckmorton on March the second.

True Inspiration In Life Comes With The Knowing Of The Joys Of Higher Existence

From every walk of life they come! With an endless number of problems and joys! The banker, the labored, doctor, lawyer and clerk. Their sons and mothers and sisters. Their sons and brothers, too. All seek the light of a newer and finer life while some lighten their burdens of care and others give thanks for the blessings and joys of life. . . . So, too, may you share in the beauty of such reverence. . . . Gathered together in one common purpose, a group of people come to church to worship and through the study of the lives and teachings of great men, to learn the finer and better ways of life. Through the stimulating thoughts of men who have devoted their lives to the interpretation of the teachings of Christ applied to the life of today, you too, may learn the true and the beautiful way of life. Come! Your church will welcome you!

Here at church the distinctions of social and financial positions are forgotten in the common interest in truth and reverent worship. Here all people meet on the same plane. The young business man and the captains of industry. The professional and the laborer. . . . Here they meet in a mutual effort toward an ever finer nobility of character. Here they recognize, each in the other, the qualities of character high in other circumstances of meeting may so easily be hidden from common view. . . . Regular attendance at church stamps men and women with those fine attributes of character that follow a deep and genuine love of the beauty and truth of the teachings of Christ. Go to church Sunday. Go to your church. There you will join in worship with the finest characters of Knox City. There you will find strength and rest and new courage.

Farm Syrup Making Encouraged

College Station—"Texas farmers make 'sorgo syrup' and not 'sorghum molasses', farm syrup makers in scattered counties in East, West and South Texas were recently told by C. F. Walton, of the United States Bureau of Chemistry and Soils on a trip to the State for the purpose of aiding county agents in a program of extending and improving farm syrup making. "Molasses is a by-product of sugar making, whereas sorgo syrup contains all the plant's sugars", he said.

"The manufacture of sorgo syrup in the United States equals that of cane syrup. Sorgo is more widely grown than sugar cane or sugar beets, gives large returns to the acre is easily to cultivate, and contains enough sugar to afford a big yield of syrup, usually at a satisfactory profit. The greatest cleanliness and care are required to produce fine syrup. Farmers will do better to offer their surplus syrup to the public in smaller containers attractively labeled. There is need of working out standard grades and of teaching the public to discriminate between good and bad syrup", Mr. Walton said.

In the sorgo syrup school held, discussions and demonstrations centered on varieties of desirable sorgo cane, soils, fertilizers, culture, equipment, evaporating, canning, prevention of crystallization, and taste preferences. County agents are working to extend farm syrup making for home use by encouraging established syrup makers to work on a share basis, and helping syrup makers in new areas. They are also aiding makers in standardizing their product for sale.

Warns Against Impure Seed

College Station—Citing the Biblical command "Thou shalt not sow thy fields with mingled (mixed)

seed", E. A. Miller, agronomist in the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service warns farmers at the start of the fall planting season to beware of buying seed from irresponsible parties. "The only seed that a farmer can afford to buy is good seed of high quality", he says. "Be sure that the seed is pure and at least carries a tag showing the per cent of germination, per cent of weed seed, etc. There is always a risk in buying seed from any trucker or peddler who happens along and who has no business reputation to uphold.

"In these days of low prices big yields are more important than ever, and they can only be obtained by planting seed of high yielding strains. The handicap of inferior seed cannot be overcome by good soil, good rainfall and good cultural methods, although these factors are very important. Seed that look good may have a poor pedigree or none at all, and may be full of weed seeds or disease germs. Germination alone does not give a true idea of the value of seed, for it often happens that poor seed look good and germinate well. The safest way is to buy only tested seed or seed of known origin."

Gonzales—A saving in seed cost of about $30,000 is in prospect for cotton farmers in seven Gonzales county communities where the pure seed from the one variety cotton block in Schoolland Community is to be sold. The county agent explains that under agreement with the cooperating Greenville Federal Experiment Station, Schoolland farmers are to sell their pure seed at oil mill prices wherever farmers arrange for one-variety blocks.

A 50-gallon barrel of pickles for the market and 20 gallons for her family's use is the disposition Mrs.

C. E. Taylor, Wichita county home demonstration club member, has made of the cucumber crop in her garden.

Making their own wash dresses for 68 cents is one way farm women in Washington county are meeting the farm problem. In a recent contest between home demonstration club members dresses made by 19 women were appraised at $1.98 each.

Feeding 13 people in her own and her brother's family all the vegetables they could eat this season from her 50 by 177 foot garden is the record of Myrtle Maynard, 4 H club girl in the Murph Club in Smith county. The value of the garden products she estimates at $262.20, and her garden cost $1.90, she says.

Living at home has been extended by Potter county home demonstration club women to the cleaning business. They have found that 70 cents' worth of napha will clean 10 dresses and 10 hats.

A community kitchen for the benefit of his tenants and neighbors has been established by John Barton of McDuff, Bastrop county. It is equipped with furnace, two large pressure cookers and two sealers.

The best turkey investment of the year, according to Marcus Schindler of Colorado county, was an early season worming which he says has kept his losses to less than 5 per cent. He is handling his flock by demonstration methods with the help of the county agent and plans to worm a second time using a combination capsule. The average losses in the county this year are said to run from 20 to 75 per cent of the poult.

PRICES ARE GOING UP

The upward movement in commodity prices has begun. That is what all the economic authorities have been saying must happen before prosperity can come back. Cotton is up, wool is up, hogs are up, rayon is up, and silk went up so high and so rapidly on the Japanese Silk Exchange the other day that the authorities closed the exchange to prevent a riot.

With raw materials rising, it follows that the prices of goods manufactured from them must speedily rise, and that brings the matter right home to everybody in this town.

Now is the time to buy.

Commodity prices are not going any lower. They have touched bottom. People who have been waiting to make their purchases until they were sure that the bottom had been reached had better dig into their purses now and buy while the merchants shelves are still stocked with low priced goods. They are not going to remain on the shelves very long, and the next lots which our local dealers buy are going to cost them more.

We have a distinct feeling that we have turned the corner on hard times. We find that all over the country almost everybody shares the same feeling. We all want prosperity back and we want it back as quickly as we can get it. The quickest way to bring it back is for everybody who has an unfilled want and any money whatever with which to supply that want, to spend that money now. Dollars are going to get cheaper, as goods go higher in price. It has been many, many years since the dollar would buy as much in clothing or fabrics or groceries or hardware, in shoes or household goods or furniture as it will today. It will be many years, we hope, before it will again be possible to buy such bargains as are available all around us today.

The people who have been wise enough to hang on to their money during the depression are setting the example for all the rest of us. They are buying in the stock market, they are buying in the grain market, they are buying in the cotton market, they are buying in the silk market. That means that "big money" has got over being afraid, and we think it is time for lesser people with little money to overcome their own timidity and begin to spend.

By buying now you speed the return of prosperity.

HOW WILL THE WOMEN VOTE?

We don't know who is going to be the next President of the United States, but we are beginning to feel pretty sure that the women of the United States are going to have a good deal more to say about it this year than we men.

According to the United States census of 1930, there are just about 35,000,000 women over 21 years of age in this country. We have lived long enough to know that is never safe to predict what a woman is going to do, but we have a strong hunch that most of these girls are going to get out and vote next election day, and that they are going to pay a great deal more attention to the issues of the campaign than to the personalities of the candidate.

Before the days of woman suffrage the opponents of the notion that women ought to have a vote had a favorite argument that women would vote for the handsome boys because they liked their hair or the way they tie their neckties.

It hasn't worked out exactly that way. We haven't noticed any movie stars going into the Senate, and we have seen some of the worst looking specimens of mankind we ever laid eyes on occupying seats in Congress and other public offices.

They used to say that women would vote the way their husbands or fathers or brothers told them. We never did have much faith in that argument. It is our observation that the best way to get a woman to do something is to tell her to do something else.

Seriously, we not only believe, but we hope, that the women's vote is going to be a big factor in the coming election. Almost every woman we know anything about is instinctively while probably the most of the men know would be spendthrifts if they had anything to spend. What is needed now more than anything else is a general housecleaning in government and lopping off of unnecessary expenses everywhere.

Trench Silos for Big West Texas Feed Crop

JUST WHAT ITS NAME IMPLIES, a trench silo is simply a trench dug into the ground into which chopped feed crops may be stored for feeding as succulent ensilage to dairy cows, beef cattle and work stock during periods of dry pastures or bad weather. Cheap, easily dug, easily filled, ensilage easily removed, the big disadvantage of a trench silo is excessive spoilage which may be avoided by properly filling, and by providing drainage. More than 200 were dug in Texas in 1931 and county agent reports indicate a big increase for 1932 especially in West Texas.

College Station—Trench silos for storing the abundant feed crop in West Texas this year are recommended by M. R. Bentley, farm engineer of the Texas A and M College Extension Service. Calling attention to this old practice which has been revived throughout the State in recent years with great success, he gives the principal advantage of this mode of storage as low first cost, and the short time required to dig one ready to use, except possibly in rainy weather. The greatest disadvantage of a trench silo is the danger of excessive spoilage which may largely be avoided by care in filling, he says.

"Recent observations of a number of trench silos indicate that the thing that should be emphasized in reducing spoilage losses are the packing of the silage, the filling of the trench full to running over; and then covering the silage in such a way that rainfall and surface water will not run down through the silage," Mr. Bentley states. "More water should be added to the silage put into a trench than would be required in a pit or aboveground silo.

"The silage covering, whether it be dirt or green-cut vegetation, should be put on so that surface water will not run down the trench walls. While the rainfall that actually falls on the silage does not put enough water in the silage to injure it, the fact that the top of a filled trench is comparatively large in proportion to the total amount of silage, much silage may be tainted by the rainfall water passing down through the rotot covering into the upper portion of the silage. The point is, enough water should be applied to the covering to make it form an air tight covering or down the walls into the silage. A generous amount of covering material is desirable to prevent the loss of silage on the top.

"Several trenches were filled with unchopped stalks last season. Apparently unchopped stalks do not make quite as high quality silage as chopped stalks, but the practice should certainly be continued rather than to do without silage.

"With reference to the size of the cross section of a trench, it should conform to the size of the herd that is to be fed, but a shallow trench, say less than six feet deep, is likely to show a proportionately larger amount of spoilage. The depth will be governed by the convenience of getting the dirt out and the food hauled out, as well as the size of the herd. One cubic foot of silo space should furnish room for about 25 pounds of ensilage.

"There is apparently not advantage in sloping the trench walls except to prevent them from caving. Straight up and down walls are not uncommon. It is suggested that the walls be made as near vertical as practicable when the trench is to be filled immediately, and then a the walls cave after the trench is emptied slope them before refilling."

THE VOICE OF AUTHORITY

Success is always exciting; we never grow tired of asking what then, were the principal elements in Jesus' power over men? How was it that the boy from a country village became the greatest leader?

First of all he had the voice and manner of the leader—the personal magnetism which begets loyalty and commands respect. The beginnings of it were present in him even as a boy, John felt them.

On the day when John looked up from the river where he was baptizing converts and saw Jesus standing on the bank, he drew back in protest. "I have need to be baptized of thee," he exclaimed, "and comest thou to me?"

The lesser man recognized the greater instinctively. We speak of personal magnetism as though there were something mysterious and denied to all the rest. This is stowed on one in a thousand and denied to all the rest. This is not true. The essential element in personal magnetism is a consuming sincerity—an overwhelming faith in the importance of the work one has to do.

Most of us go through the world mentally divided against ourselves. We wonder whether we are in the right jobs, whether we are making the right investments, whether after all, anything is as important as it seems to be. Our enemies are those of our own being and creation. Instinctively we wait for a commanding voice for one who shall say authoritatively, "I have the truth. This was in Jesus supremely that quality of conviction.

Even very successful people were moved by it. Jesus had been in Jerusalem only a day or two when there came a knock at his door at night. He opened it to find Nicodemus, one of the principal men of the city; a member of the Sanhedrin, a supreme court judge. One feels the dramatic quality of the meeting—the young, almost unknown, teacher and the great man, half curious half convinced.

It would have been easy to make a mistake. Jesus might very naturally have expressed his sense of honor at the visit; have said, "I appreciate your coming sir. You are an older man and successful. I am just starting on my work. I should like to have you advise me as to how I may best proceed. But there was no such note in the interview—no effort to become a convert. One catches his breath involuntarily at the audacity of the speech.

"Verily, verily, I say to you, Nicodemus, except you are born again you can not see the kingdom of Heaven." And a few moments later "If I have not told you earthly things and you have not believed, how shall you believe if I tell you heavenly things?"

things?" The famous visitor did not enroll as a disciple, was not invited to enroll; but he never forgot the impression made by the young man's amazing self-assurance. In a few weeks the crowds along the shores of the Sea of Galilee were to feel the same power.

Luke 11th Chapter

The eleventh chapter of Luke is one that is filled with many sayings and incidents that are recorded by some other writers, and we will give much space to reference corresponding to the same scriptures. We hope that every one will look up these various references.

Our Lord's prayer is recorded in Matthew 6:9-13. If the Lord's Prayer was given only once, St. Luke was probably right as to the occasion. In verses 5-8 is peculiar to Luke. The connections with what goes before is suitable and natural. Having given the disciples a form of intercessory prayer, Jesus encourages them to preserve in its use, and also in the use of other prayers, formed on its model by a homely parable, the lesson of which is, if a churlish man can be forced by importunity to give against his will, how much more can preserving prayer bring down from the bountiful Father in Heaven, all good things. As for verses 9-13 see Matthew 7:7-11. In answer to prayer God gives neither what is useless (a stone) nor what is harmful (a serpent or a scorpion). In verse 14, 15 see Matthew 9:32-34. Verse 18 see Matthew 12:38; verses 17-23 see Matthew 25-30. Verse 24-26 see Matthew 12:43-45. Verse 27, 28 a woman calls our Lord's mother, "blessed". Christ does deny that his mother is blessed, but declares to hear his words and obey them, and so to be brought into spiritual fellowship with God, is blessing infinitely greater. Verses 29-32, see Matthew 38-42. Verses 33-35, Christ is still rebuking those who refuse to believe without a physical sign from Heaven. I wonder how true that is with us today? Verses 39-41, see Matthew 23:25-26. What is the use of you pharisees cleaning the outward appearance of your conduct (symbolized by the outside of the cup and the platter) if your soul within is full of greed and wickedness? God who made both the outside and inside of man expects both to be made clean. Let us study this chapter with care and prayer.

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. In a Week

Mrs. Betty Luedske of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast go lighter on fatty meats, potatoes, butter, cream and pastries. It is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drug-store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

While long-tailed monsters lived in PENNSYLVANIA

THE Devonian Age of a hundred million years ago was the source of two wonders: vast inland seas—and the crude oil found in the Bradford-Allegany District of the Pennsylvania field. Sinclair today refines this crude into Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil. Bradford-Allegany crude is so old that it had already undergone millions of years of its mellowing and filtering process when dinosaurs lived in Pennsylvania. Today it is Pennsylvania's costliest crude—a product of the perfect oil-forming conditions in the Devonian Age plus a hundred million years of Nature's priceless treatment. Ask for Sinclair Pennsylvania—the year-round Pennsylvania grade motor oil.
