Kansas Woman Visits Here

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Marun of Dodge City, Kansas visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Benedict the last of the week. Mrs. Martin was formally Miss Bill Lunsford and graduated from the Knox City High School with the class of 1913. She immediately left Knox City and had never returned. On her arrival in this city she and her husband visited with the Benedicts and called on a number of their old time friends.

The Martins had been visiting Vernon and left their daughter there while visiting here. Of the graduating class of 1913 there were only three boys and Earl Benedict is the only one left. The following girls of the class are still alive. Mrs. H. N. Lyles of winters, was Miss Minnie Warren, and Mrs. Bess Perry, Hagan Thompson Reeves of Munday was Miss Miss Bess Perry. Hagan Thompson died two years ago and Leroy Teague was killed in action in the World's War.

The people of Knox City and vicinity were certainly glad to have Mrs. Martin visit them after twenty five years absence, which proved much of an enlightenment to her. No doubt all her old friends were glad to see her and talk over old times again.

R. V. Burten of Sunset was here Saturday handing out cards asking the people to vote for him for County Treasurer.

John B. Ingram of Munday candidate for County Superintendent was here Saturday meeting the voters.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Swift and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Swift's mother, Mrs. T. A. Park in Stamford.

Elliott Family Held Reunion Last Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Elliott were happy to have all of their children with them on Mother's Day, except one daughter, Mrs. Barney Harton, of Oklahoma City.

Some few days ago Mrs. Elliott had become seriously ill, and several of the children came in. But at no time in fifteen years had the family had a reunion as large as the one Sunday. The group came laden with all kinds of delicious food to grace the family festive board. At the noon hour the table was laid and the group partook of its bounty.

Besides the host and hostess and their family here those from out of town enjoying the most delightful occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Chester Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott, and son Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elliott, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Proctor, Cisco, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Harris, Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Wright and family, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Strickland, and Mr. Dale, all of Munday.

Boy Scout Meeting

Troop 101 of the Knox City Boy Scouts met at the Methodist church on Tuesday evening with twenty-four scouts and two visitors present. The group enjoyed many games and drills on the lawn before the meeting was called to order. After the business meeting in which future work instructions were given Maurice Stapp took charge of several knot tying contests of the patrols.

Some games of scout instruction in requirements were given by a few of the boys. The meeting was closed by repeating the scout oath, laws and benediction.

The troop wishes to announce a proceed of $3.73 on the coat hangers collected and sold last Saturday.

Cream Social

The men of the Brotherhood Class of the Baptist church held an ice cream social for their wives and families in the basement of the church on Tuesday evening.

The evening was most delightfully spent in visiting and talking. At the close of the meeting ice cream, cake and punch was served. If the weather had been favorable, plans had been laid to have the social as an outing in the park.

Sam Pfrimmer who now resides in Borger spent a few days with friends here. He once was a resident of Knox City.

Mrs. Holt Mosley left Friday for Mineral Wells where she will spend several weeks enjoying the baths.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chowning and family were Sunday guests of their parents in Truscott.

M. T. Ward of Iowa Park spent a few days this week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Phillips of Shawnee, Oklahoma spent the week end with Mrs. R. K. Shaver and family.

The Herald is authorized to place the name of J. C. Patterson, the present County Attorney, in its columns this week or re-election to succeed himself. The excellent manner in which Mr. Patterson has conducted this office, is attested by the different officers of the County, together with the City Officials with whom he has worked, giving each his whole hearted support in enforcing the laws of Knox County. He has been fair in his dealings and deserves consideration therefore, as his motto "equal right to all, with special privileges to none" and where prosecution was needed he has prosecuted without the tinge of persecution. He assured the Editor, when he authorized his announcement, that his future dealings with law enforcement would continue along the same lines in the future that they have been in the past. Mr. Patterson has been, and will be, possibly handicapped about making a house to house campaign this year as he has done in the past, due to the fact that his wife is suffering from a serious heart ailment, which necessitates his being held at home during the time he is not actually required to be in and about his official duties, and asks that his candidacy be given due consideration before casting your vote.

Two Brownfield Banks Support Newspapers

The two banks in Brownfield the Brownfield State Bank and the First National Bank used a quarter page ad in the Terry County Herald last week announcing to the people of that section that they were inaugurating a series of ads each week that will appear in both papers presenting facts and figures why the people of Brownfield should patronize that town and section of the state instead of sending their surplus money to other towns. They expect to present to their customers and friends a series of advertisements which will deal with matters concerning the banking business and how customers of a bank may obtain the fullest benefit from his banking connections. These two banks have been running their ads in the local papers ever since they were established and each year both banks show a wonderful growth, not only in deposits but have witnessed Brownfield double in population within the past six years.

WHAT IS PATRIOTISM

Are you patriotic? What is patriotism? Why be patriotic?

In the United States we remove our hats, hold our hands over our hearts, or salute the Stars and Stripes when the flag is passing. There are many ways to convince people we are patriotic. First, we are the first to stand when we hear "Star Spangled Banner," we are the first in the line of waving flags when our heroes are passing by, we hotly defend our President and our country in the course of an argument, we go to the polls on every election.

In spite of all this, are we patriotic? Patriotism begins in the home. These flowering adjectives we hear on November 11, and all of these 4th of July speeches are grand, but a good talk on "How to Rear Children to be Good Citizens" would do as much, or more good, for the future of America. And, is that not what we want to do? That is being patriotic. We do not expect any of our own people to go "Over There" and fight in the trenches, but we do think it is very patriotic. It is not! It is being stupid and foolish and ignorant! If our government and our people are smart and intelligent we should not have war. If they are smart enough they can find a way out of a tense situation.

We immediately demand that the President declare war on any country that harms any one of the citizens of U. S. Had you ever stopped to think of the crimes that are being committed in our country every day that passes that are costing Americans more money, property, and lives than was estimated damage during the war? There have been more lives lost by automobile accidents in the United States in one year than there were Americans killed during the Great War. Imagine that! And yet people yell for their pound of flesh, so to speak.

We should set good examples in our homes. Good citizenship is patriotism. Every good patriot is a good citizen. Loyalty, pride, honor, truth, obedience, and perseverance are the requisites of good citizenship. Do not teach Younger America how to arm and disarm, how to approach the enemy, and such, but rather, teach the essentials of a business career, or success and happiness through marriage. Good profitable business and happy family life can fight war almost as well as tanks and artillery if there were but a brilliant mind to guide the movements.

Forget the fireworks, the poppies, the monuments, and make this resolution: "I will honestly endeavor to be a good citizen and thus prove my patriotism to these United States"

CHORAL CLUB BECOMES ACTIVE AT EXERCISES

The Choral Club will again become active when they sing for the Baccalaureate Service in the High School Gymnasium May 29.

The girls will sing "Praise Ye Jehovah" alone and "Holy, Holy, Holy" with the audience. Also a very clever arrangement will be sung before the benediction.

The girl's costumes have won many nice compliments, and their voices have won many more. The public is invited to hear them sing at this service.

BAND REHEARSALS GOING FULL BLAST

It might appear to the public that the high school band has relaxed since their trip to San Angelo, but if you should venture over toward the band room every day about eleven o'clock you would change your opinion entirely. The band is working as hard as ever before. Each member has handed in all of their old music in return for some new music called the Douglas Band Folio.

This book consists of several new marches and overtures.

The results of the band trip were very successful, but the band feels they can do a lot better next year with a larger instrumentation. Anyone in high school is cordially invited to be in the band. Mr. Dodgen will be glad to give assistance needed in helping to decide on an instrument for those interested. Start now and be ready to help bring back first division next year!

Every member of the band takes this opportunity to thank each parent for waiting on them so long Saturday night and for the nice reception that was held in the basement of the Baptist Church. Although all were tired and sleepy, they seemed to wake up when they saw all that ice cream and cake.

JUNIORS ENTERTAIN SENIOR CLASS WITH ANNUAL BANQUET FRIDAY

Hawaiian Idea Prevails Throughout The Evening

Marking the last few weeks of attendance for approximately fifteen of the Knox City young people in the local schools, the young brothers and sisters of the present Senior Class entertained in the high school gymnasium for the Knox City High School seniors and their numerous teachers in the system now. This banquet is an annual affair wishing the young people well, from their classmates that take their place next year.

The high school gymnasium was decorated on a Hawaiian scheme with streamers, leis, flowers, and much greenery. The table scheme was separate tables seating groups of four at the table. The orchestra occupied one end of the gym and had a background of green shrubbery.

As the guests entered the banquet hall, they were greeted by subdued light. At each place card the guest found leis of different colors carrying out the Hawaiian idea. However, the different classes had leis of their class colors. The members of the Junior class wore leis of royal blue and white; the seniors wore leis of old rose and silver. The menu for the evening consisted of Cherry Mint Cocktail, Molded Lime Salad, Niblets, Roast Barbecued Ham, Buttered Green Beans, Harvard Beets, Baked Stuffed Potatoes, Assorted Rolls, Olives, Pickles, Maple Charlotte Rouse, Lady Fingers and Iced Tea.

Preceding the start of the affair, Mr. D. L. Dodgen, principal of the high school opened with the invocation.

During the dinner soft music and solos gave an Hawaiian background as the guests ate. A Hawaiian Orchestra composed of members of the high school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. E. Q. Warren. "Visions From Dreamland" served as the vehicle for Mary Lou Graham's solo, accompanied by the orchestra.

After the guests had consumed their cocktail course, Mrs. Mary Frances Reeder, president of the Junior Class and Toastmaster for the banquet, arose and welcomed the Senior Class and compared their high school careers and futures to the gloriousness of an Hawaiian Sunset. She in representing the Junior Class gave the Seniors the Junior support in their attack on the world for their futures and livelihood. She, in turn, was answered by Miss Billye Bess Benedict, president of the Senior Class, who expressed the class' appreciation for the loyal support of the Juniors, the banquet, and the thoughts expressed.

Miss Geneva Walker gave the Junior Class's prophecy for the future of the different individuals of the graduating class. The will of the different effects both mental, physical, personal or otherwise was passed down to Juniors attested and recorded by Doyle Walker of the Senior Class. With shouts of "Wuxtry! Wurtry!" young Sam Emory Clonts entered the hall representing an Hawaiian news boy carrying a newspaper full of the news of the present group from their entrance in the kindergarden through the present year of high school.

This was purchased and read by Dorothy Ruby Darden who in turn passed it on to be continued by Ruth McGee who passed it on to John Byroa White, to Marion Clonts, to Juanita Herring.

Miss Annalu Warren of the Junior Class read to the assembly the Junior Class poem which was a prediction for the success of the Seniors. A number of toasts were given to the assembly including classmates, the faculty, and Superintendent A. M. Whitis.

The banquet program was concluded with a short extemporaneous speech made by student A. M. Whitis giving his appreciation for the cooperation of the Junior and Senior Classes and wishing well for the future of the Seniors. To the class and the sponsors Mr. Whitis gave this advice, "—To Always work and strive for the things that endure."

Miss Benedict in behalf of the Senior Class took this opportunity of presenting Mr. Whitis with a gorgeous lounging robe. The basketball girls presented Miss Cherry, the coach, with handkerchiefs and hose. Emma Sue Thompson in behalf of the Junior class presented the Junior sponsor, Miss Delene Reid, who also was in charge of preparations for the banquet, with a lovely negligee.

Immediately following the presentations, Miss Reeder turned the program over to Charles Shumaker, Master of Ceremonies for the floor show. The floorshow consisted of a composed school version of "Thanks for the Memories" sung by Miss Mary Francis Hicks; a graduation skit "The Graduate"; Doyle Graham and Wynette Farmer entertained with a song and dance number, "Hula Lu"; Hollis Warren gave a trombone solo, "Star Dust"; Billie Dean Davis and Margaret Dutton sang "Moon of Man-A-Koora"; Hollis Warren returned to the stage to tap. To the strains of "Aloha" the guests retired from the hall.

HITHER and THITHER

Well, it seems as if the love birds are still cooing in spite of numerous protests and also the gossip column still goes on in spite of other protests. You know, there has been several people who just don't seem to like this column. But this is the first time we have been thanked for putting in something. Andy Doyle Walker thanked us for his publicity.

In spite of wrecks, races, fishing trips, and week-end visitors most people managed to have a good time after the banquet Friday night.

Juanita, did you have a lovely feast Saturday night? You at least had plenty of people if there were only enough cats.

Lillian, don't you think you are gonna have to change the schedule and let Rowena go with you instead of the old manner of procedure.

Roy Lee, you must have caught the fever too. Visiting the east end of town! The very idea! We wonder why you went home so early Friday night?

Dorothy Ruby, was your Tariton trip this last week end as successful as you hoped it would be?

Wanted: A good typist. Preferably a brunette as this is a strictly business deal. Must be able to type seven or eight lessons each forty-five minute period. Signed James Ray Swift.

It seems that Dorothy Shaver has not changed her mind about attracting all of the attention. It seems that the O. A. O. can be managed quite capably at a distance.

Margaret Dutton went to sleep in church Sunday night. I'd be 'shamed'!!

Wynette, always remember in the future that the correct pronunciation of often is of'n.

Mary Helen, don't tell me that your relatives are "stealing your stuff." Maybe you'd better try a new line.

It seems that Annalu and Doris really had plenty of punch and cookies Sunday afternoon. Ruth, were you in on it too, or were you the originator of the entire idea?

Doris, here's to you — pal! For being such a nice girl all week-end. That is, until Sunday week-end. That is, until Sunday night. That was nice too, I hope.

Ruth, why are you always singing either "I See Your Face Before Me" or "My Heart is taking Lessons" now-a-days?

It seems that even a cold can not put Mary Frances "under the weather" any more. Well that is the way to be. Power to you !!!

Geneva, don't you just love medals and things? I'll bet you would too.

It seems that more girls in K. C. H. S. have taken a fancy to out of town class rings. Stranger than every they nearly all in their middle finger. The letter S. could stand for Seymour, Stamford, or even Sunset, you know, and nobody knows just where each one is from.

Some of the favorite hobbies of various students in High School are:

Dorothy Shaver — Moon-gazing and running barefooted across green fields.

Mary Frances Reeder — Day dreaming.

Rowena Hutchinson — Sewing.

Geneva Mills — Eating popcorn.

Faye Heath—Yelling at basket ball games.

Delene Reid — Collecting poetry.

Wynette Farmer — Eating. Mr. Charles Shumaker — Teasing folks.

Ruth McGee — Going places in the rain and writing poetry.

Inaleen Williams — Stamp collecting and swimming.

Dorothy Darden — Goin' places and seein' things.

Mary Helen Evans — Skating and going places.

Doris Apple — Big game hunting?

Lillian Hutchinson — Day-dreaming.

Edna Warren — Singing the song "I'm Thinkin' of You."

Some of the favorite songs and also songs that show just how certain individuals feel are:

Rowena Hutchinson: "Thanks For the Memories"

James Ray Swift: "Tipi Tipi Tin."

Dorothy Shaver: "Please be Kind." Especially the part — "handle my heart with care."

Aldene Huntsman: "Kosalie."

Mary Helen Evans: "On a Sentimental Side."

Faye Heath: "But I can Dream Can't I?"

Marion Clonts: "Goodnight Angel."

Glenn Huntsman: "It's Wonderful."

Edna Warren: "Do You Ever Think of Me?"

Ruth McGee: "Never In a Million Years"

Mary Frances Reeder: "Blue Moon."

Doris Apple: "How'd You Like To Love Me?"

Dorothy Darden: "Always and Always"

THANKS JUNIORS

Friday Night, May 6, the Seniors sat down to a very lovely banquet. In spite of all of this loveliness could not have been, had it not been for the hard work, the cooperation of every Junior and the help and planning ability of Miss Reid. The Seniors are greatly indebted to the Junior class for the wonderful and enjoyable occasion they enjoyed at the Junior Senior Banquet.

At the first of the Fall Semester the younger brothers and sisters entertained the Seniors with a lovely reception. All throughout the year the Juniors have been exceptionally nice and thoughtful to the Seniors. Words cannot say how much they appreciate and thank them for the good times they have shown them this year. They can always remember their last year as being very happy; made so by the Junior Class. Again, Thanks and Bon Voyage!

The Senior Class

Banquet, Friday night, May 6. Ernestine Teaff, Edna Warren, Geneva Mills, Udell Darden, Dollie B. Hodges, Inaleen Williams and Wirtie Mae Nance looked very, very beautiful and tropical in their grass skirts and leis.

For their part on the program the girls sang "Honolulu Moon" and took part in a dance routine.

The excellent service given by the girls was greatly appreciated, as much of the success of the banquet depended upon them. They helped bring Hawaii to Knox City.

SCHOOL REPRESENTED AT GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Wednesday, 1:00 p. m. the assembly program was presented with a new twist of originality. The first grade presented a group of their pupils in the song and dance, "Shoemaker's Dance." A reading, "The Lost Fly," was representative of the Second Grade. The third and fourth grades gave two enjoyable songs, "On The Leve," and "Merry Life." Juneve Malouf played an accordion solo, "Veini, Veini."

Something new and different from the line of entertainment was the group poetry reading of the seventh grade. This group read "America for Me," and "Psalm of Life." The eighth grade had two selections. Billy Dean Davis read and Helen Ruth Marr danced. Ten pretty girls of the Sophomore class sang "Ten Pretty Girls." Wynette Farmer sang for the Junior class number. The Senior class was represented by Ellena Rayne, Billy Bess Benedict, and Marion Clontz with their saxophones and accordion.

This sort of impromptu program was enjoyed by all members of the school.

LIBRARY INTEREST

Librarians have been busy this week re-checking the Books by the accession book, and they find that there are a number of books out. Some of the books are discarded. Many books are in need of repairs, especially the fiction shelf. It is hoped that the school will be able to buy some new fiction books by another school term.

SPRING BASKETBALL TRAINING UNDERWAY

Girls spring basketball training has been in progress several weeks now, and much progress is being made. The boys are beginning their spring training this week.

There is much good material in both groups and Knox City should really have some stellar next year. Every one is interested, and with the encouragement and loyalty of the students and townspeople, high hopes are in the minds of all the aspiring boys and girls.

LAST ASSEMBLY PROGRAM TO BE PRESENTED

Monday, May 17, will mark the presentation of the last general assembly program of the year. The last time the entire student body will gather into one large congregation. The entertainment will be in charge of the band.

Everyone is urged to come and attend for the last time this year.

FISH BOWL

As time marches on, so do the Fish! This has been one big successful year for the class, and everyone has enjoyed it to the fullest extent and strived hard to make it what it has been. Without the rest of the high school the Freshmen would have been a complete failure; they have looked on the year as being the younger children of a large happy family.

As they grow in knowledge and strength may they continue to be as loyal and true part of this family. Throughout the year until the night when, with proud hearts, they receive their diplomas which give them the right to say, "I am a graduate of Knox City High School!" the class will always strive and work for the good of all, and for the best advantage of the entire good of the school.

This is our pledge: "May we profit by our mistakes, make them the world a happier, brighter place to live in, and walk down through life with pride and truthfulness always."

Who Has The Right To Spend Your Money

LIFE INSURANCE consists of TWO THINGS: WHAT YOU PAY, AND WHAT YOU ARE PAID. If you pay more than justly needed, someone else is spending YOUR MONEY. IF YOU FAIL TO GET what you have already paid for, someone else will SPEND YOUR MONEY.

IN BUYING LIFE INSURANCE YOU SHOULD CONSIDER

1. The amounts you pay, 2. the convenience for you to pay, and 3. the time it will take to get settlement when it is needed.

THE MOMENT A POLICY HOLDER DIES
THE BENEFICIARY IS DUE THE INSURANCE MONEY. If the COMPANY and the MONEY are near, and they have a reputation for paying quickly, it makes the policy worth much more to you, by virtue of you having CASH WHEN MOST NEEDED.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN OUR RATES AND OTHERS

IS YOUR MONEY. You make your payments to our Company at the First National Bank in Stamford, and save postage and money order fees, which is YOUR MONEY. When a DEATH occurs, you have someone telephone us COLLECT, and we pay quickly. The saving you make by having CASH QUICKLY, will also be YOUR MONEY. You buy the necessities of life where your money buys most, so why not apply this business method to your insurance?

Call us or write us for rates, and ask ANY FUNERAL DIRECTOR WHO KNOWS, if we PAY our claims QUICKLY.

MAKING THE HOME MODERN

Nothing is more promising than the increased activity in the small homes building industry. New real estate developments are springing up in almost every community. Skilled workmen are finding increased demand for their services. Materials must soon go up because of higher costs. Now, when worthwhile economies and savings can still be effected, is the time to make those needed repairs and remodeling that will give you a modern, up to date home.

Plans, estimates and advisory service from expert craftsmen and builders are yours here without cost or obligation to you.

COPPER ROOFS NOW AN ECONOMY FOR MANSIONS OR SMALL COTTAGES

CENTURIES ago copper was first found by a half savage tribe which inhabited the island of Cyprus which you will find in your atlas is a small island off the Greek coast. This metal was so useful that it became their most cherished possession and they named it in honor of their home, "Cyprian Metal."

In later years the Egyptians from the days of King Menes, their first ruler, learned to fabricate the red metal and to make from it many alloys which are today civilization's most useful materials. Without copper there would not be possible today most of the modern inventions which have made this the greatest age in all the history of all the world. Modern civilization would falter, for copper permeates all modern progress. In everyday life it is the agent of business and industry and the promoter of our comforts.

When many of the historic cathedrals of both the old and the new world and the temples of the Far East were constructed, their architects were most careful in selecting materials that would give centuries of satisfactory service. Copper was used for the roofs and has given and continues to give a satisfactory performance of service. Perhaps the oldest copper roof in the world is that on Hildesheim Cathedral in Germany. Many portions of this roof date back to 1320.

In the past the usual practice wherever copper sheet metal work was to be used in building, was to specify 16-ounce or heavier. Recent years have brought about the realization that conditions of usage and exposure vary, with the result that a new 10-ounce Economy Roof is now being specified by the nation's leading architects and sheet metal contractors for roofs on mansions and cottages. The Economy Copper Roof, when properly applied, will give a lifetime of satisfactory service.

The architectural vision of Federal Housing Administration has approved this new type of roof, and builders or buyers of homes specifying this material can obtain approved mortgages from that Governmental department.

COW THIEVES ARE GETTING ACTIVE

With eight men in jail at Athens and Kaufman on charges of cattle theft, it is hoped that livestock stealing from the farms of Henderson, Kaufman, and Dallas counties has been broken up. One of the accused men is said to have admitted participation in the taking of at least 84 head of cattle from this area in recent months.

Reports of similar thefts have been coming from many parts of Texas, despite the vigilant work of law officers and agents of cattlemen's associations. Col. H. H. Carmichael, in charge of the Texas rangers, declared not many months ago that livestock theft had become more extensive than at any time in the last 70 years. Sheriffs and ranchers give similar opinions.

The two-gun rustler of open-range days has had much attention in Western fiction, but his audacity was no greater than that of today's thief, who backs a truck to a pasture fence, loads it in a few minutes, and the next morning sells his loot at some point two or three hundred miles away. Oftener than not, the stolen beeves are butchered by the rustlers in some nearby thicket and the meat sold at bargain prices to dealers who ask no questions.

Recent livestock thieving has resulted in better branding of cattle, renewed activities by cattlemen's associations and occasional vigilante action. Careful investigations, like that made by the sheriffs of Henderson and Kaufman counties, should result in trapping most of these thieves, who work in small groups. Stiffer sentences at Huntsville may cure the appetite of many of the rustlers for fresh meat. — Dallas News.

THE FERGUSONS DECIDE

The Ferguson decision against entering the governor's race does credit to the family's political sense. It would have been at least an even money bet that Mrs. Ferguson would gain a place in the run-off. The odds against a second primary victory, however, would have been heavy.

Her platform would have been based largely on two planks which the voters would not accept, the sales tax and liberalization of the laws against gambling. There would have been the added handicap imposed by the fact that the movement to draft the Fergusons originated in San Antonio, a place which most Texas voters view with doubt and distaste, so far as politics is concerned. It is hard to understand why an experienced politician like T. H. McGregor committed such a blunder as to identify the movement with that city.

The burden of the campaign itself would have fallen, of course, on Jim Ferguson. He is 67 years old. At that age the strain of travel, of twice-a-day speech making, of maintaining the necessary organization, is a terrific one. The size of Texas and the nature of Texas politics makes campaigning a task for those able to withstand the mental and physical strain. One must be something of an athlete to stand up under the grind. That consideration, as well as the obvious political ones, doubtlessly weighed heavily in the decision.

WHY TAKE A CHANCE ?

In reviewing a hitch-hike slaying, the Texas board of pardons this week issued a warning to motorists against picking up strangers looking for a ride. Said the board:

"Everytime a motorist picks up one of these fellows, he gambles with death. Too many have gambled and lost everything—life. Why take a chance?"

Picking up a hitch-hiker is like looking down the barrel of a supposedly empty gun and pulling the trigger. Perhaps the gun is really empty and nothing will happen; but why engage in such a chancy pastime? Probably there is not one potential murderer among 10,000 persons who ask for a free ride, but who is to know which one it is? He may look down the gun barrel one time too many, or he may be unlucky enough to pick up the one black sheep in 9,999 perfectly honest ride seekers.

The careful man takes no chances. He likes company on long rides and he hates to pass up a stranger who may need a ride, but unless he is willing to do a bit of gambling with his own life and property he will keep on going when a thumb is raised inquiringly in his direction.

Some states prohibit the solicitation of rides. That does not prevent a motorist from picking up a likely looking pedestrian if he wants to; but it does minimize his chances of getting the wrong one, and eases the motorist's conscience if he does not want to issue a free ride.

It is too bad to have to pass up somebody who needs a ride, but it is the safe thing to do. After all, the motorist doesn't owe the hitch-hiker anything.

Carbon Copy Of Any Candidates Platform

Time honored custom has decreed that successful candidates must have begun life as very poor boys and must have managed, in some way, to demonstrate great abilities without acquiring any material evidences thereof. It is not enough for them to start poor, they must remain poor up until the time of putting themselves before the country. Likewise, they must be jolly good fellows and at the same time strict observers of all the conventions, just as they must favor strict economy and liberal appropriations, low taxes and ample funds for all sorts of governmental activities. They should be friendly toward business, but ready to castigate corporations at the drop of a hat; enthusiastic believers in better prices for all producers and lower costs to all consumers.

Texas is happy this year in having so many office seekers who measure up to all the traditional plans and specifications for successful candidacy. Let us all enjoy the parade of poor, struggling boys who became successful—but still poor—men; so inhumanly human, so harmlessly pugnacious and so economically liberal that the likes are not to be found outside the political arena. It will inspire us, amuse us and make us fitter for the less triumphant struggles of real life.—The Austin Times.

We admit that we are not bright enough to understand many things. One of them is how this nation can lay claim to a policy of neutrality and at the same time ship munitions to warring nations. It seems no different than if a man walks into a hardware store and asks to buy a gun to kill his neighbor.

Of courses we expected a howl when President Roosevelt asked that all Federal and State employes be required to pay income taxes. They should not be exempt any more than others. This is a good way to raise a neat sum, as one out of every 8 or 10 in this country is on either a Federal or State government payroll.

In a way, we are not shedding tears over the oil companies who have been deprived of their property in Mexico. Had they invested their money at home, employment would have been given to Americans.

A few nights back the news reels showed a half dozen winners of the sweepstakes. Nothing was said about the thousands who bought tickets and not win.

You may think you are having a heck of a time living on your income. But hard as it is, it's a lot easier than living without it.

Bruce W. Bryant of The State Pardon Board Tells Why You Can't Juggle Human Nature

The article below appeared in the Fort Worth Press last week. This editor has known Judge Bruce Bryant for more than twenty years, and he has served the state well. He was a member of the legislature for two terms and was one of the outstanding members. He also served two terms as District Judge and tried some of the most important cases in the state. The case that attracted the most attention was the one tried at Haskell when Mrs. Collier, of Wichita Falls was tried for the murder of her son-in-law, and was convicted and the case was affirmed. However, she never served a day in the pen, as Ma Ferguson pardoned her. This case was the making of Jimmie Allred, then a struggling young district attorney, who prosecuted the case. He gained notoriety over the state in a short time and later was made Attorney General of Texas. As soon as he was installed in the Attorney General's office he appointed Bruce Bryant First Assistant Attorney General where he served for more than two years and made a wonderful record. He later resigned to enter private practice in Austin.

Last year Judge Cureton appointed him to the State Pardon Board and he was chosen First Chairman. Last year while this editor was working in Austin we came in contact with Bryant almost every day, and we always found him busy at his desk listening to the hundreds of people who came to his office asking that their dear relatives or friends be released from the pen. Bryant always listened to them, but they were never able to sway him from the position that he thought was right. The poorest, humblest citizen had the same consideration as the most powerful politician in Texas.

This editor had rather support Bruce Bryant for governor than any man in the race, but it would be impossible for him to enter the race as he is a poor man, and the man that wins the governor's race must be a man with plenty of money. However, the state is probably better off with Bryant in his present position than it would be if he was in the governor's chair.

AUSTIN, May 6.—You can take pardons out of politics, but because it's always a matter of opinion whether a man has served enough time in the pen, you can't eliminate human nature. That's why the personality of Bruce W. Bryant, chairman of Texas' newly important Pardon Board, counts as much in clemency as the clemency laws.

Mercy in Texas has always depended on human nature, even before May 5, 1937, when the Pardon Board took over almost all clemency powers that belonged to the governor.

With just about the same clemency laws, Pat Neff gave clemencies to only 98 men in 1923 and 96 in 1924, while Ross Sterling released 1538 in 1932 and Mrs. Ferguson gave 1550 clemencies in 1934.

Mr. Bryant, chairman of the present board, is a cigar chewing veteran of many political offices. He served four years as county attorney, four years in the Legislature, and six years as district judge in Haskell county and seven years as assistant under three attorneys general. He was appointed to the Pardon Board by Chief Justice Cureton of the Supreme Court.

Double-Barrel Purpose
Here are some of his comments on clemency, which reveal the philosophy followed generally by the Pardon Board.
"The object of punishment is both to reform the offender and to suppress crime. Suppression of crime includes deterrence. Suppose a fellow gets drunk, drives his auto on the highway and kills somebody. The horror of the result of his action may have such an impression on him that he reforms at once and vows never to drink again or drive another auto.

"How can I tell when a punishment is enough? It's not an exact science. It's a matter of judgement.

Little Sympathy Here
"We have the case of a Ft. Worth man who held up another man on a cold night, stripped him, put him out on the road and left him exposed so that he might have died. He won't get much consideration.

"We have one man 26 years old serving his sixth sentence. He's had too much clemency already. There is nothing we can do for a fellow like that.

"We have a cow thief convicted in 31 cases out of Tarrant and other counties and sentenced so he can serve enough concurrently to get out in four years. A companion convicted in 29 cases is serving four years. We have said they must serve the whole four years. The judges gave them their clemency.

"Dope addicts don't get clemency. Neither do perverts that abuse children."

Somebody phoned to ask a stay of execution to allow a condemned man to prepare himself for death.

"He's had several weeks, which was more time than he gave the man he murdered," Bryant said tersely.

Bryant turned back to tell of a plea presented for pardon of a murderer.

"His friend said the most heartrending thing he has ever seen was when the prisoner said goodby to his family," Bryant said. "He described their grief as they saw him taken away, perhaps never to return. I asked this fellow if he attended the funeral of the murdered man. I imagine there was a more heart-rending scene there, when they laid the murdered man away, for his family knew full well he would never return. People are always talking about the living and forgetting the dead in murder cases.

The Shadow Of The Capitol

By Boyce House
A motto in a Dublin—Texas, not Ireland—drug store reads: "Work hard eight hours a day and don't worry; the maybe some day you'll own the business and can work 12 hours a day and do all the worrying."

Gelett Burgess gained fame by writing: "I never saw a purple cow; I never hope to see one," but if he should visit Refugio, he would see one for there is a cafe there by that name and the window is ornamented with a bovine of purple hue.

And the newspaper in Refugio has an appropriate name: Timely Remarks.

Unusual names' department: Bunk Cloud, Jacksonville insurance man.

Literature is sweeping the country. Even menus and advertisements of drug store sales abound in Ruskin-like "purple patches." Lettered on a grocery store window in Hearne recently was: "Nice, meaty prunes."

A sign which District Judge Ralph Yarborough candidate for Attorney General, reports having seen at a highway junction in Thorndale "Stop—and save $2."

Glimpses hither and yon:
A picture of perfect contentment—a negro in a Galveston office, his long form centered in a chair tilted back at an alarming angle, his heels on a box and his head rested on a railing as he snored. He looked like one of Octavius Roy Cohen's characters.

A big steamship at Port Arthur which, from a distance, seemed stranded on the coastal plain but actually, of course, was in the channel; and the converse to this, an automobile speeding along the very edge of the beach at Galveston, so close to the water that it appeared to be dashing through the waves.

The Galveston News building is one of the most impressive structures in Texas, for the solidity of its bright red brick facade is checked with ornate white stone trimmings about doors and windows and with graceful stone balconies. All in all, it has a touch of Moorish beauty.

Uvalde has a display that no other city in the world can duplicate. In the lobby of the Kincaid Hotel is a huge case filled with gavels that have been presented to Vice President John Garner. The gavels are of every kind of wood, polished and carved, and of gold, bronze, horn and ivory. There is one gavel so huge a full verse of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" has been carved on the red, white and blue hammer. There is one gavel made of wood from the stairway of an old West Texas courthouse and a bullet is imbedded. There is a paper weight made of wood from a tree that stood on the Shiloh battlefield with three bullets in the block. And there is also a paper weight made of wood from Sam Houston's law office in Tennessee. Attached is a note, "Use this to hold down the appropriation bills."

When Fred Allen's "Timmouse" nosed out Jack Benny's Maxwell in the recent annual Fresno, Calif., hack race, it added fuel to the Allen-Benny feud. Ed Vandiver, driving the Benny jalopy, first was hailed as winner, and Jack was set to celebrate. But the judges reversed the decision and awarded first place to Allen's "Timmouse," driven by Jim Pearson. To top it off, Benny's 1923 model was put on the block, since it was a claiming race and the Maxwell presumably was the victor. A Fresno junk dealer made the first bid, $6. Jack wound up buying his own car back for $150. From now on watch for the Allen jibes at Benny and his antique horseless carriage, and Benny's rejoinder, "I wuz robbed!"
