Hugh Webb Scheduled for First Bale
Wednesday morning Mr. S. P. Kenny exhibited in his office a cotton stalk some five or six inches more than knee high. It came from the crop of Hugh Webb who is on the Keny-Whitbank farm northwest of the city on the river.

The stalk had a total of two blooms and 24 squares. The stalk was heavy, well developed with a long, substantial root. It promises an abundant crop this fall.

It is remembered that Hugh Webb brought in the first bale of cotton last year. Some of his cotton, planted last year where this exhibit at it was grown this year, made two bales to the acre.

Mr. Webb has 399 acres of cotton the age of that exhibited Wednesday. This acreage is probably the most advanced field in the Knox City territory now. There is other cotton doing as well as this has done, but is not the same age.

Much comment is being made this week in comparison of this and the Stamford crops. Knox City leads in prospects with a good margin. This fact no doubt holds true in other lines of interest here. Soil may be blacker or even whiter than that in Knox City and towns may be larger than Knox City but seldom is the land better or the town our equal.

FIRST GRADE EXAMINATIONS

The physical examination given Monday to the six year old or first grade children were held by Miss Peatrice Lott, nurse from the State Health Department.

The examinations were not completed Monday because of the fact the local doctors were unable to assist Miss Lott. They were kept busy in the operating room at the hospital; however, they are accepting those children for examination during the remainder of this week in their respective offices, who began with Miss Lott Monday. Parents who began the examination with their children Monday are urged to take their children to the doctors office some time this week and have the examination completed as the blanks that have to be filled out, have to be sent in this week.

The number of children on hand Monday morning for the examination was a disappointment to the Parent-Teacher Association. It was hoped that every six year old child in this school district would be there, however, this through response was not made.

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

Beyond a doubt, Dr. Land's whale the largest, most gigantic and what the fish was and think of it! The story that was returned to Knox City was that a 45 pounder that Dr. Fritzell flopped around with at Leuders last weekend.

The doctor seems to be getting to be one of those "hokus pokus" kind of fellows. All a crowd need do when in great want of fish is simply make the disre knock and Dr. Fritzell just wades out in the river and does out a flounder. We don't know whether this one was back under a cliff when the physician administered the aesthetic or not but we do know that the fish was actually obtained.

It has been more than interesting to hear the variety of stories told by those fishermen and fisherwomen who were with the "bambox" fish doctor on this occasion. They vary from the pole and line gag through all the net drags and into the hypodermic.

Oh, well! Why worry about where a fish came from if you are privileged to do away with such amount thereof. (But we weren't given that privilege so that's why we are still worrying, wondering just which market Dr. Fritzell found such a baby fish in.)

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mayne of Seymour were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Keck Tuesday.

Guest Day at Methodist Church

Monday, June 19th is Guest Day of the Missionary Society of the Methodist church. All ladies of the church are urged to be present and to also invite one or more guests. All ladies of the other local churches are cordially invited to attend the program which is to be given Monday afternoon, the hour 2:00.

The main speaker for the afternoon will be Mrs. McCowan of Abilene, the wife of a former pastor of this church and a woman who has many friends here. Another out of town speaker will be Mrs. Morris Randall of Seymour. Mrs. Randall is vice president of this conference and is an interesting speaker.

This guest day program will be held in the basement of the church which place provides ample space for a large attendance.

METHODIST GIRLS TO SELL COFFEE

On Saturday, June 17th the young ladies of the Methodist church will be hostesses in the local grocer stores in the demonstrating and sale of Folgers coffee.

The Folgers Coffee company solicited the services of these girls on the basis of the young ladies for an organization receiving a percent of the proceeds of all the Folgers coffee sold here Saturday.

It is interesting to know that the girls working on this demonstration are those of the Epworth League of the Methodist church and that their goal is the purchase of a piano for their Sunday School division.

These young ladies earnestly solicit your coffee business Saturday. If you buy Folgers Saturday, you will be helping these girls on their piano fund.

The ladies of the Methodist Missionary Society were entertained Monday afternoon honoring Mother Lanier in the home of Mrs. G. D. McCarty. Mother Lanier was presented a beautiful birthday cake, a box of lovely flowers and a collection of attractive birthday cards. Following the social hour refreshments of sandwiches, olives, toasted crackers and iced tea were served.

One of outstanding features of entertainment honoring Mrs. Lanier Monday afternoon was a quartet presented by four Baptist men.

Miss Constance Browning plans to leave the city for points east in a few days.

Miller Herring made a business trip to Truscott Tuesday.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Patients in the Knox County Hospital this week include Mrs. Brooks Campsey and infant daughter Marjorie Lou who arrived Monday, Bruce Campbell of Uvalde, Myrtle Partridge of Sun Set, Mrs. C. T. Paker of Weibert, Mrs. L. A. Wampler of Knox City and Mrs. Epp Wilson of Munday. Mrs. Wilson was formerly Miss Hazel Stubbs.

Mrs. Jim Bridges of Aspermont was here Tuesday and Wednesday for a tonsillectomy. Mrs. Lois Starbuck of Roswell New Mexico was dismissed Tuesday. She is staying here in the home of relatives. Mrs. B. B. Cochran of this city was dismissed Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hudson and Judge Grissom of Haskell were visitors to the hospital Monday.

Mrs. C. P. Baker who is here from Weibert was visited by her two sisters and their husbands from Floydada who were enroute home from Chicago and the Century of Progress. Mrs. Baker was also visited by the two Mr. Weinert's from Weibert the first of this week.

PALMER OF ROBY KILLED BY TRUCK

Mr. Palmer of Roby, a cattle truck driver, was killed instantly Sunday evening late when he fell against another truck that was passing him.

Mr. Palmer had stopped his truck to fix a flat but failed to drive out of the road. Another truck, one of Carl Howell's trucks of Rule, came by. The Howell driver turned out of the road to miss the Palmer truck but Palmer himself alighted from his truck and must have fallen for his head hit the back of the Howell truck. Palmer was killed instantly.

The accident was viewed by a traffic cop who stated the incident was unavoidable. The same occurred two miles west of Albany on highway 15.

WORK BEGUN ON FURNITURE STORE

This week Jamison-Clouts Company began work on what has been known as the Thompson building, making ready for their furniture store which is to be opened some time during the summer.

A large arch door is being made connecting the two buildings, the hardware store with the new furniture store.

Mr. Jamison states that their furniture store will have as complete stock of furniture as is found in larger towns.

Billy Dean Davis is visiting Mrs. Grady Taylor in Forney.

Brock Bridge Repairs Completed

Commissioner Griffith stated Wednesday that work in repairing the Brock bridge would be completed Thursday, June 15th, which is today.

Mr. Griffith states that it has taken considerable more time to do this work than was first estimated, which condition is due to the fact that more work had to be done on the bridge than was estimated. Some six months ago the repair work was estimated and the work was begun but upon getting into the work it was learned that the materials bought were insufficient. More materials were ordered but work on the bridge was delayed.

New sills have been put underneath the bridge and the floor repaired. It is now in A-1 condition. The Commissioners Court is receiving the work today, Thursday.

Mr. Griffith further stated Wednesday that the commissioners court wants no more rubbish thrown around the bridges. An undue amount is there now and is causing a bad condition. He is expecting the rough cooperation from Knox City's precinct, especially in this matter.

Precinct road work has been held up this week because of the fact that W. W. Haygood is courting. He is doing jury service in Benjamin.

BAPTIST WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Members of the Baptist W. M. S. met Monday afternoon at the church for their regular Bible study. Mrs. G. T. Hardberger led the opening song with Mrs. Milton Bradberry at the piano. Mrs. J. W. Hamm led the opening prayer.

Mrs. Hardberger taught the lesson II Timothy chapter 4 in a very interesting manner. Mrs. E. O. Jamison presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Horace Finley will teach the next Bible lesson.

Brother McCowan of Abilene will preach at the eleven o'clock hour Sunday at the Methodist church. Old friends of the McCowan family will be glad to hear him again. The public is cordially invited to the service. Brother Sharp, who is expected to return Friday, will be in charge at the evening hour.

John Smith, Ed Shaver, Holt Mosley, Neal Logan, J. Silman, J. V. Jones, Harry Wittbank, L. W. Swift and Mr. Haygood are numbered among those from Knox City doing jury service in Benjamin this week.

Tri-County Golf Tournament

Jack Wilson Gets Highest Bid

Tuesday the annual tri-county (Baylor, Knox, Haskell) golf tournament began. Knox City has three representatives in this tournament, Jack Wilson, Panny Farmer and Joe Withrow.

The banquet and calcula pool were held Monday night in Seymour with an hundred or more in attendance. Of all entrants into the tournament, Jack Wilson sold for the biggest sum $26.00. Panny was third and sold for $24.00. Joe sold for $13.00.

Those from Knox City attending the banquet Monday night were Panny Farmer, Joe Withrow, Happy Smith, Kenneth Edwards, Donald Withrow, Chad Wilson, J. A. Wilson, and T. P. Withrow.

The try outs were held last week in which Panny Farmer came out Medalist with a score of 73, one above par. Jack Wilson was second.

The championship went to Seymour last year but the defending champion is not in the tournament this year. This fact makes the out come look easier for Knox City. Jack and Panny are both in the first flight and Joe Withrow is in the third.

This annual tri-county tournament has been played for the past four years, this being the fifth year. Of these four years, two years were won by Knox City and the other two by Seymour. Four years ago Alexander of Seymour won the title of champion. Three years ago Cecil Speck won for Knox City.

Two years ago Jack Wilson won for Knox City and last year Tom Nuckles won for Seymour. This year, it remains to be seen, however the finals will be played Sunday.

Knox City has a fair chance at winning this tournament. We have the top and bottom players, Panny being first and Jack second.

Baptist Church

DR. SANDEPETER TO PREACH HERE

Baptist Services Fine Sunday

Dr. Sandefer, president of Simmons University in Abilene, will preach at the First Baptist church here Sunday evening. Everyone is cordially invited to hear Dr. Sandefer.

Brother Weaver preached at both the morning and evening services this past Sunday. He delivered to fine sermons and the congregation of the Baptist church will be glad to hear him again next Sunday morning.

Brother Stovall and family left the city last week on their vacation trip. They will be gone some two weeks, a portion of which time will be spent at Goodnight with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Stovall.

Mrs. Henry Ariedge and Mrs. Veenen ridget were joint-hostess to the members of the bridge club one night last week. They entertained in the home of Mrs. S. E. Youngblood.

MORGAN, MAMMON AND MIDGETS

A man can serve two masters. He can serve Morgan and Mammon simultaneously and right lucratively. These two though are two masters with but a single thought entirely surrounded by dollar marks.

That is, he can serve these two if he happens to be a "good friend" of Morgan Company, and to be such a "good friend" he has to be rather influential in some industrial, commercial or financial field. If he is influential in one of those, he can expect certain "favors" for which by the nobility of big business nothing is expected in return. As the Nation remarks, "George Whitney, one of the Morgan partners before the investigating committee, was especially certain that the head of a big insurance company could not possibly have been influenced by the fact that he had been graciously permitted to buy 2,000 shares of Standard Brand stock at $14 below the current market—an outright gift of $50,000. It was just a coincidence that this man's company happened to have many millions of dollars of other people's money to invest in the sort of securities Morgan has for sale." To show how thoroughly the Mc-gan Company weaves itself into for or with sources of influence. The Nation compiles the following list of Morgan "friends" which the Senate Investigating Committee revealed had accepted underpriced stock which could have been sold immediately on the open market for enormous profits: Alfred P. Sloan (automobiles), Richard B. Mellon (bituminous coal, coke, oil, shipping banks, etc.) Owen D. Young (electric equipment, electric power), Charles A. Lindbergh (aviation), Walter S. Gifford (telephones), Myron C. Taylor (steels), Walter C. Teagle (oil), Sothebos Behn (cable and radio telegraph), Marshall Field (merchandise, stock brokerages), Charles E. Mitchell (banking), O. P. Van Sweringen (railroads), F. L. Carlisle (electric power), P. A. S. Franklin (ocean shipping), F. H. Ecker (life insurance), and so forth. The list also includes politicians and office holders of great prominence.

The Morgan Company has been growing—handled from father to son for the last seventy-five years. J. P. Morgan the elder was dictator of the company. Now his son (with more sons in training) is dictator with practically absolute control. If the Morgan company keeps growing and expanding any school boy can soon figure out how long it would take before the company actually owned the whole country. It is fetched but still conceivable that one company could gain a controlling interest over the basic commodities of a country and thus gain actual control of the whole country.

Morgan's holding the midgets on his lap, as shown in pictures in the daily papers, may have been more symbolic any anyone guessed. If the house of Morgan can grow faster than the United States, it will necessarily own the country. The masses would then be as so many midgets Morgan must be a practical joker.

Today and Tomorrow

By Frank Parker Stockbridge

SANITY comes with work

One result of the depression has been to bring a good many leopards back to a sane outlook on life and the world they live in. That is particularly true among young men and women who never had to think about where the money came from.

I know a good many of that kind, and nearly all of them are finding the kind of life where they have to do things for themselves much more satisfying than an existence in which everything was done for them.

That has always been true, that the only things worth having are the things one works for. But so good many people didn't know that until they were forced to work.

DOUGLAS he can figure

If and when Mr. Woodin resigns, the man slated to take his place as Secretary of the Treasury is Lewis Douglas, Director of the Budget.

Mr. Douglas has had the respect of official Washington for a good many years. He was the lone Congressman from Arizona for several terms, and that made him a much more important figure than either of the Senators from that State. He fought a valiant but losing fight against the Boulder Dam project, which made him a lot of enemies but a lot more friends.

When Lew Douglas gets into action he fights a straight line until he wins or is licked. And when it comes to figures, he can make them behave like nobody's business.

SECURITY a doubtful course

I have just got word that the Association for Old Age Security has changed its name to the Association for Social Security. Having succeeded in getting half the states to adopt old pension laws, the men behind this movement are now starting out to get legislation which will provide as they put it "social insurance against old age dependency, and unemployment."

This is a significant movement, for it indicates, as many other signs of the times do that we are moving toward a socialized commonwealth, such as now exists in England. The burden of taxation of the competent to support the incompetent will steadily increase, until everybody has been leveled down to the same economic status. That is the direction in which we are heading.

Of course, high wages and security at taxpayers' expense can't go together. The justification of high wages is that the worker should be enabled to save something out of his wages, against illness, unemployment or old age. That has been our American idea. The European idea is to justify low wages by providing for public care of the worker in time of stress.

I don't like the European system. It destroys ambition and incentive to good work. Sooner or later it will destroy the nations that adopt it. But I'm afraid that's what we're heading for.

BRAKES and accidents

I got into trouble on the road the other day. For the first time in nearly thirty years of motoring I was caught violating the law! I had just taken my car out of the garage where it had been laid up since last Fall, and neglected to drive over to the inspection station and get a 1932 certificate that my brakes and lights were in good condition.

In Massachusetts nobody may drive a car without a plaster on the windshield certifying that it has had an official brake and light test within six months. I had only last year's sticker, so a motorcycle cop held me up and proved me wrong.

I think the Massachusetts law is a good one. I've just seen a report from the Travelers Insurance Company, which keeps tabs on automobile accidents, which says that in the past year there has been an increase of fatal accidents due to faulty brakes. Part of that is due to so many old cars being still in use, but most of it is due to the failure, in most states, to require periodical brake inspection and to keep cars that haven't been certified off the highways.

TAXES from our pockets

Everybody pays taxes. That is what politicians try to conceal from the voters. In the long run all taxes are paid by the ultimate consumer. There is no way of taking the load, which the rich do not pass on to the less well-to-do. If you rent a house, you pay the taxes. If you buy a taxed article of merchandise, such as cigarettes, playing cards, automobiles or gasoline, you pay the tax. And the customers of a store are the ones who, in the long run, pay the storekeeper's income and other taxes.

If everybody realized that it is not some mysterious, far-off "bigger ups" who pay, but that every dollar spent by the tax-eaters comes out of the pockets of ordinary folks like us, there might not be so much agitation for schemes to have "government do things for everybody that everybody would be better off in doing for themselves or going without."

She was accompanied here by Mr. and Mrs. Hallmark and son who were in route to Hale Center to visit their other son, later to return to Knox City for a visit with relatives here.

PSALMS OF LIFE

(No. 4,678. Deliberation.)

Take living very calmly,
 Develop poise and pace;
 The tortoise, you remember,
 Came thru and won the race.
 Do nothing in a hurry,
 For haste, they say, makes waste:
 The helter-skelter person
 Arouses much distaste.
 A certain sense of timing
 In every deed and act
 Will help achieve perfection
 And make each step exact.
 Don't dash about too swiftly
 As if to break your neck;
 The over-active person
 Becomes a nervous wreck.
 Go slowly and unhurried
 About each task you do—
 (Your boss will then find someone
 To take the place of you!)

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.
 But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.
 Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.
 The reason for this is simple:— a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.
 But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.
 Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:
 1. Volume Production
 2. Taking only one profit
 First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.
 Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.
 There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.
 Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.
 Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.
 It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.
