SCS Joins ACC's Agriculture Dept. For Controlled Tests

ABILENE -- Abilene Christian College's Department of Agriculture and the Soil Conservation Service of the United States Department of Agriculture have announced cooperative plans for grass, legume and forb observation areas near Abilene.

The Soil Conservation Service previously had no land in this part of the country where controlled tests of this kind could be done. The experimental plantings will be made on land owned by the college.

Howard Carleton and Dr. F. M. Churchill are directing the work. Carleton is manager of the Plant Materials Center of the SCS in Knox City. Dr. Churchill is professor of agriculture at Abilene Christian.

ACC and the Service have established a joint committee to guide the work. The committee is developing long-range programs to carry out projects with the plants for testing, demonstrating and instructional purposes.

Three separate plans have been outlined, with a fourth one to be considered for future field plantings.

The first one began last week. It will provide a central location where a large number of plants indigenous to Texas can be studied and observed by students of the college, 4-H Clubs, FFA students and others.

An evaluation of bluestems, PMT 587 and 694, will be made in the second project, using K. R. bluestem, Caucasian bluestem and Kleberg bluestem as standards.

Proposed questions in this study are whether differences exist in the attractiveness to cattle during different periods of growth and when each strain is most palatable to livestock and how long.

The third program will evaluate promising new strains of sideots grama and blue grama in a mixture of other grasses.

Results of the studies will be made available to the public.

Abilene Christian has also recently begun a research project on brush control in Nolan County in cooperation with Texas Tech, Treaner Equipment Company and Heyden Division of Tenneco Chemicals, Inc.

Dr. Coats Leaves McMurry; Accepts Kentucky Position

Dr. George W. Coats, assistant professor of religion at McMurry College since 1965, is resigning to accept a post at Lexington Theological Seminary in Kentucky, McMurry president Gordon R. Bennett announced Thursday.

Dr. Coats will become associate professor of Old Testament at the seminary, located at Lexington, Ky. The seminary is 103 years old and is owned by the Disciples of Christ. Twenty percent of its enrollment is Methodist, and Dr. Coats will become the second Methodist faculty member.

Coats is a native of Knox City. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Coats of Knox City. Dr. Coats received his BA degree from McMurry in 1958, his bachelor of divinity degree from Southern Methodist University in 1961, his MA from Yale University in 1963, and his Ph.D. from Yale in 1966.

Dr. Coats has just had a new book published, "Rebellion in the Wilderness." It was published by Abingdon Press and is a scholarly study of the murmuring motif in the wilderness traditions of Israel.

Coats was a teaching fellow at Yale from 1962 to 1964 and has published several scholarly articles, in addition to doing book reviews in the Perkins Journal (Perkins School of Theology, SMU) and the Journal of Biblical Literature.

Dr. Bennett said, "We regret very much the loss of Dr. Coats from our religion faculty at McMurry. He has made a great contribution to McMurry through his teaching and his scholarship, and it has been through his efforts--and those of his colleagues--that we have been able to develop such depth and such strength in our Department of Religion. Our best wishes go with Dr. Coats and his family as they accept this new position of responsibility in Kentucky."

The acceptance of the Lexington position will mean a delay in Dr. Coats' plans for a year of work and study in Israel. He had been appointed a fellow of the Hebrew Union College Biblical and Archeological School in Jerusalem for the coming year. Dr. Coats said this week that the Israel trip would now be postponed two to three years.

Coats will begin his work at Lexington, August 1, although classes will not begin until September.

Coats said, "I appreciate my three years teaching experience at McMurry and the support McMurry has given me during this time, as well as four years of undergraduate education here. Although we are excited about the new position, we regret leaving our close friends and colleagues here."

Dr. and Mrs. Coats have one son, George Andrew. Mrs. Coats is the former Sandra Sue Colley. The family lives at 1726 Meadowbrook.

or read a story, their reply is always the same, "We don't have time." These are the same people who will later ask, "What did I do wrong?" completely baffled.

When there are two parents in each home, when the parents love their children more than themselves, when the children are made to respect their parents, when the children are expected to prove their abilities, when laws are changed to protect the guileless instead of the crafty, when the Supreme Court is un-hypnotized, when the American people get off their flabby, apathetic carcasses and shout "No more" THEN will we begin to see the America where freedom walks in the dark unafraid.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE: I agree that we people who live in these United States should concentrate on being more like our forefathers who fought proudly for their rights and be proud enough to fight literally if necessary to protect what we have materially. And revive our spiritual attitudes to be "doers of the Word and not hearers" only.

My friends, the admonitions start with you and me. We together can accomplish many things where singly we will fail.

SEEDLING DISEASES
DAMAGE COUNTY COTTON
Cotton stands have been damaged in several fields in Knox County. Dr. Robert W. Berry Extension Plant Pathologist from Lubbock came to Knox City and Munday, Friday June 7 to look at some of the infected cotton fields. Cotton belonging to Donald Johnson of Knox City and Joe Lynn Phillips of Munday was checked. According to Dr. Berry, seedling diseases are caused by a number of seedborne and soil inhabiting fungi and bacteria which are most harmful during periods of cold, damp weather. Terms such as damping off, sore shin, and seedling blight are used as collective descriptions. Ascochyta blight symptoms first appear as small, round brown colored spots on seed leaves and young true leaves. The sore shin fungus causes dark to reddish-brown cankers on the stems near the soil surface. In severe attacks, the cankers encircle and stems or penetrate so deeply that the plants fall over and die. The first symptoms of bacterial blight are small, round water-soaked lesions on the seed leaves as they emerge from the seedcoat. These lesions serve to infect the developing true leaves, terminal buds, and the main stem. Whenever possible it is well to delay planting in the spring until temperatures are favorable enough for rapid plant growth. Dr. Berry suggested to cultivate for soil aeration as soon as possible and only replanting if stand was damaged beyond the point a producer would want to leave. A few days of warm dry weather is needed for recovery.

POTATO HARVEST UNDERWAY
The first potatoes harvested the week of June 3-8 in the county were because of hail damage to the vines. Although the quality of some of these are good, the size and overall yield was cut by early harvest. Early blight in wet spots of other fields will likely cause early digging on some other fields and also cut the overall yield also.

PASTURE AND FORAGE SHORT COURSE AT A&M
Five well known forage producers will speak at the Third Annual Pasture and Forage Crops Short Course June 27-28 at Texas A&M University. Dr. J. N. Pratt, Extension agronomist at Texas A&M, said some of the latest research will also be discussed by A&M staff-members.

The short course is designed to attract progressive farmers, cattlemen, professional agricultural workers, and others interested in current information and findings in the area of improved pasture production and utilization, Pratt said. V. A. Clements of Longview and L. J. McNeill of Angleton will speak on "Intensified Pasture Production and Grazing Demonstrations." Lon Cartwright of Beeville will speak on "Ranch Management Utilizing Native Grasses and Coastal Bermudagrass." Sherman Clark of Leon County will discuss "Hay Stacking and Feeding" and Elmer Bechendorf of Harris County, "Year-Round Grazing and Forage Supply."

KEEPING GRASS OUT OF LAWN FENCE
Grass along a chain link fence or under a wooden fence can become very unsightly if allowed to grow too tall. Hand pulling is about the only way to remove grass that has grown up through a chain link fence. This tedious and time consuming task can be eliminated by spraying a six-inch band at the base of the chain link fence with Naphtha. Naphtha is an inexpensive spray that kills plant tissue on contact. Care should be taken to prevent the Naphtha from reaching the base of the trees and shrubs or from contacting the leaf surface of any desirable plants. Using a hand-operated, low-pressure sprayer, the grass and weeds can be controlled by applying Naphtha every four to six weeks. If used before the grass becomes too large, the effect is hardly noticeable, and it maintains a neat appearance in a well cared for lawn.

DO NOT APPLY FERTILIZER TO NEWLY TRANSPLANTED SHRUBS
If the new tree or shrub you set out this spring is growing rather slowly, resist the urge to apply fertilizer until the plant is in an active stage of growth. Due to excessive moisture in most areas of the state, many of the newly transplanted trees and shrubs have had too much moisture for good root development. Unless the root system is well developed, fertilizer will only add to the difficulty. Cultivating or working the top layer of soil around these plants to allow good air circulation and evaporation of excess moisture will be much more effective than an application of fertilizer.

Editorial

For those who know cotton best — it's 100 ton every time. That's improvising a phrase somebody else but it ought to express the attitude of everyone as where a healthy cotton economy plays a mighty part in the over-all prosperity of the region. During the past five years, the average farm from lint and seed on the Rolling Plains amounted to $70 million a year. The cotton crop, furnishes a livelihood for thousands of others who produce and market it and who supply the industry with services. Cotton's markets have been eroded at an alarming rate by competition from man-made fibers. Rolling Plains Growers, Inc., salutes the farmers' campaign to expand their markets. West Texas citizens who produce directly or indirectly on the continued progress of the industry can share in this campaign in a more meaningful way by calling for "comfortable, carefree cotton" and no substitute at the retail counter.

Any town in Texas can be struck by tornadoes. Advance action can save lives and reduce public alarm. You can learn about tornadoes and what to do when tornadoes threaten by reading a free circular prepared by the Texas Department of Public Safety. Seven basic rules of safety now. Streams In Desert Places

BY OZELLE STEPHENS

These days of distress and perplexities we see many who grope their way through darkness. David teaches us to pray for guidance found in Psalms 25. "Unto Thee, O Lord, I do lift up my soul. O my God, I trust in thee—Show me thy way, O Lord; teach me thy path—Let integrity and uprightness preserve me, for I wait on thee."

This prayer expresses David's own experience for he knows times when he could not make decisions alone. When he did not know which path to take, we hear him sing confidently, "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him and he will show them his covenant." There is no better gift than to be shown the promise of our God to keep us in all our ways.

performed at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Coats.

Baskets of white gladioli and greenery were used to create an altar setting.

Mrs. George W. Coats of Lexington, Kentucky provided wedding music.

Given in marriage by her maternal grandfather, G. W. Coats, of Knox City, the bride wore a street-length dress of white linen and lace with a long sleeved lace coat. Her veil of illusion was held by two large white roses. She carried white roses centered with yellow feathered mums atop a Bible.

Miss Jackie Perry, of Throckmorton, who attended her sister as maid of honor, wore a street-length dress of yellow lace with long sleeves. She carried two long-stemmed white roses.

Serving as best man was Brett Bumpas of Benjamin.

Mrs. Driver is a 1968 graduate of Knox City High School where she was chosen junior class favorite.

The groom attended Benjamin High School, and is engaged in ranching in Benjamin.

A reception following the wedding was hosted by the bride's mother in the Coats home. The table was covered with a lace cloth and appointed with crystal. Yellow roses formed the centerpiece, flanked by yellow tapers.

After a wedding trip to Abilene, the couple will be at home in Knox City.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

I and the Father are one.—(John 10:30)

God is life, and we are alive with His Life. His life is our life, so we shine forth in renewed health and wholeness. God is power. The very power to be and to do all that we are potentially capable of being and doing has been given us.

Expenses Available For All Eligible Deceased Veterans

Up to $250 for burial expenses for eligible deceased veterans will be paid by the Veterans Administration if the claim is filed within two years after the veteran's burial or cremation, according to Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco, Texas.

Burial claims may be filed by the undertaker, if he has not been paid, or by the party who paid the undertaker, the VA spokesman explained.

Coker said the VA would reimburse up to $250 in expenses for the permanent burial or cremation of any veteran who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, if the veteran served during wartime or after August 4, 1964.

Coker pointed out that similar burial expenses are also paid by VA for veterans of peacetime service who were receiving service-connected disability compensation at the time of their death, or who had been released from service for disabilities incurred in line of duty.

(Burial expenses for servicemen who died on active duty are borne by the military, not the VA.)

Almost every deceased veteran is eligible for an American flag for his casket, Coker said. Flags are furnished undertakers, on request, by any VA office or post office.

Following the veteran's burial, the flag may be given to the next of kin, or, if there is no next of kin, to the closest friend of the deceased veteran.

Further information may be obtained at any VA office.

4-H CAMPS

Knox County 4-H girls Sylvia Birkenfeld and Marsha Watson were accompanied by Mrs. Gail K. Osborn, CHDA to District 3 4-H Leadership Camp at Lake Brownwood.

One hundred-twenty-three persons attended the three day camp which was held May 27-29.

Scheduled activities included group training sessions in photography, career guidance, electricity, safety, plant life and recreation. Evening programs consisted of swimming, game sessions, square dancing, group singing, and vespers.

Sylvia and Marsha enthusiastically reported having fun while learning new ways to improve the 4-H program.

FREEZING FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Frozen fruits and vegetables spice year round menus with garden-fresh flavor. But the nutritive value and quality of these fruits and vegetables depend largely on the treatment before freezing, storage temperature and method of cooking and serving.

Most fruits can be frozen satisfactorily, according to Frances Reasonover, Extension foods and nutrition specialist.

Select sound, ripe fruit which is slightly ripener than for canning but not soft or mushy. Tree or vine ripened fruits contain more vitamins and a richer flavor than fruits picked green and allowed to ripen before freezing.

In general, fruit is prepared for freezing as for eating, says the specialist at Texas A&M University.

Keep fruit cool until it is frozen. Wash it in cold water but do not allow it to stand in the water. Some fruit loses food value and flavor and some gets water soaked, she said.

Some fruits, such as peaches, apricots, apples and pears, discolor easily. Miss Reasonover suggests ways to prevent this.

Ascorbic acid (vitamin C) is available in tablet, crystalline or powdered form. Use 1/2 teaspoon of this per quart of syrup to prevent the discoloration.

If you don't want to pack the fruit in syrup, sprinkle dissolved ascorbic acid over fruit just before adding sugar. Use 1/2 teaspoon in 1/2 cup cold water to each quart of fruit.

Miss Reasonover said some special commercial anti-darkening preparations are on the market. These materials can be found at drug stores or where other freezing supplies are sold.

Most fruits have better texture and flavor if packed in sugar or syrup. Some may be packed without sweetening for use in special diets, says the Extension specialist.

The way you plan to use the fruit determines the method of packing it. Fruit packed in a syrup generally is better for dessert use; fruit packed in dry sugar or unsweetened is better for most cooking because there is less liquid in the products.

Quickly getting vegetables from the garden to the freezer is a must for top-quality frozen vegetables. During hot weather, harvest vegetables in the early morning before they absorb much heat, advises Miss Reasonover.

Vegetables at optimum maturity will have best flavor and texture.

If you must store vegetables before freezing, the specialist recommends spreading them out loosely in a cool, well ventilated place or packing loosely in the refrigerator.

Prepare vegetables for freezing similar to cooking them. Wash thoroughly in cold water, drain and sort; peel, trim and cut.

Blanch the vegetables in boiling water. Head leafy greens for two minutes, the time varies with the vegetable.

This kills enzyme action in the product. Miss Reasonover says the enzymes help the plants grow and mature but if not deactivated the vegetables will develop off-flavors and often discolor or toughen during freezing.

Place the scalded vegetables immediately into running cold or ice water. When the product is cool to the tongue when tested, it is cool enough to pack.

After the vegetables have been heated, cooled and drained, pack in airtight moisture-vapor-proof containers, leaving 1/2 inch headspace, advises the nutrition specialist. Seal according to type of container you use.

Miss Reasonover recommends cooking all vegetables in the frozen state, except corn-on-the-cob which should be partially defrosted. Cook them only until tender in a small amount of water.

Amendment May Qualify More Children

More children will qualify for social security benefits under a recent change in the law, according to Edwin Draughon, manager of the Vernon Social Security Office. Mr. Draughon explained that the 1967 Amendments removed a requirement that often prevented payment to children when their mother died. No longer is it necessary that she had earnings covered by the law during half of the 3-year period just before her death.

"This change," Mr. Draughon said, "is not limited to cases where death occurs in 1968 or later. Children whose mother died as long as 21 years ago could be eligible for payments now. Those who think they may be affected by this change in the law should get in touch with our office or meet with the representative when he comes to the City Hall in Knox City."

Truscott News

BY RUTH BROWN

About 50 percent of the wheat crop had been harvested by Monday. No wheat was being cut on Monday morning except on Antelope Flat, west of Truscott. That area did not receive the rains of last Thursday which ranged from .8 of an inch here to almost two inches near Gilliland. Jim Cash, Gilliland, reports that while others were seeking shelter from the wind, hail and rain that afternoon, he was combining at his place.

The harvest is returning an average yield. Farmers say it would have been a bumper crop except for the heavy wind storm Friday night, May 31, and the cloudy, damp weather since. Wheat stalks, weakened from rust damage, blew down. Wind damage was estimated as high as one third in some fields. The wheat is ripe and ready now, but high humidity and muddy fields have slowed combining. Very little plowing has been done in harvested fields due to moisture conditions.

One former resident visiting Truscott last week was surprised to see so much acreage in wheat. Cotton is no longer king here. The two gins are gone and have been for many years although the gin at Gilliland still operates. Low cotton prices, shortage of labor and high production costs have caused the change.

Mrs. Elmo Todd is home for the summer from Tyler Junior College.

The Rev. and Mrs. John Woody and children, Pamela, 4, and Stepen, 7, of Abilene, will move to the Methodist parsonage in Truscott in July. The Rev. Woody will be minister to the Truscott and Benjamin Methodist churches.

ing contest. Twenty-four schools entered 3-man teams in the contest.
