Band Royalty Named

David N. McGaughey was named Knox City Band Beau, and DeLacy Bateman was crowned Band Sweetheart in ceremonies held at half-time during the Knox City-Quanah game Friday night at Greyhound Stadium.

All senior members of the band are candidates for the Band Beau and Sweetheart, with the winners being chosen by secret ballot by the band members.

David, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McGaughey, has long distinguished himself as a fine musician. He has been named many times to positions in the District and Regional Bands. Last year he received the Knox City Outstanding Bandsman Award. At the present time, he is serving as choir president and vice-president of the Band.

As the Knox City High School Band, which was under the field direction of Drum Major Timi Graham serenaded, the candidates entered the field in cars. After walking down an aisle formed by the band members, the candidates were presented to the fans in the grandstand by Knox City Band Director Kelly Glaze, who was master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Mr. Glaze introduced the first sweetheart candidate, Kary Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Kent. She was escorted by Cliff Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ray.

Knox Builders Supply Will Hold Open House

One of Knox City's newer firms, Knox Builders Supply, has slated an Open House this weekend, beginning Thursday (today) and continuing through Friday and Saturday. An invitation is being extended to all area residents to attend by owners Tommy and Lois Richardson.

The Richardsons bought the remaining stock of the Knox County Lumber Company when the firm closed and moved it to property Richardson purchased west of Egenbacher Implement last April. In June, the Richardsons, assisted by sons Tad, and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Derrell Marion, Rance and Mitzi, moved back to Knox City several months ago and he assists Tommy with carpet installation, in addition to the new job he has accepted with the food stamp division of the Texas Department of Public Welfare. Derrell and Cathy purchased a house at 601 East Main and are now in the process of remodeling it.

Sid, and Flint, constructed a new building on the corner lot west of their original location.

Knox Builders Supply has added tremendously to the existing stock, and as will be noted in the display ad in this week's News, customers will find many items not ordinarily found in a lumber yard, plus the stock expected to be found there.

Tommy and Lois have been preparing for this open house for some time and have made special purchases in order to offer customers great bargains for this special occasion.

A drawing has been scheduled for Saturday, October 5, at 2:00 p.m. with $300.00 worth of prizes to be given away. It is not necessary to be present to win. Tommy said, and he invites everyone to come by and register.

Fire Prevention Week Proclaimed in County

BY THE COUNTY JUDGE OF KNOX COUNTY

To All to whom these presents shall come:

I, Sam Clarks, County Judge of Knox County, do hereby declare the week of October 8-12, 1974, as FIRE PREVENTION WEEK in Knox County, for the following reasons:

WHEREAS, according to the National Fire Protection Association - FIRE'S DAILY TOLL... every single day in the U.S. is an average of 35 lives, 1,541 homes, 299 apartments, 61 school and college buildings, 111 churches, 22 hospitals and nursing homes, 82 farm buildings, 131 industrial plants, and 270 stores, restaurants, and office buildings.

WHEREAS fire claimed an estimated 11,900 lives and over $2.1 billion in losses last year as a result of ordinary human carelessness - a failure to observe basic safety precautions;

WHEREAS every year about half of America's destructive fires occur in towns under 10,000 population; and

WHEREAS we feel that rural America should be specifically included in FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, October 8-12, 1974, we urge all rural citizens of this county to be especially careful in using liquefied petroleum gas, gasoline, and other petroleum products, electrical appliances, as well as oil or gas fired space heating systems; and

WHEREAS consideration should be given to protecting all farm buildings from lightning damage, that all trash is burned in an approved manner, that all heating systems are in proper working order, and that good housekeeping is practiced not only during FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, but 365 days of the year because too often people are the "THINGS THAT BURN"; and

WHEREAS the Knox County Farm Bureau, in conjunction with all fire departments in the county have worked together to emphasize fire prevention and protection in rural areas as well as in our cities and towns;

THEREFORE, I urge all citizens of Knox County to join hands in recognizing this special period by working together fifty two weeks a year to more fully realize the benefits of FIRE PREVENTION WEEK.

National 4-H Week Begins October 6

by Nancy Fulbright

Next week, beginning Sunday, October 6, is National 4-H Club Week. 4-H Club members, leaders, and friends all over the United States will celebrate by recruiting new members, sponsoring events, and taking off fund drives for special projects.

Here in Knox County young people ages 9 to 24 are going to try to sell out their entire stock of light bulbs. The clubs in the county began a fund raising project last May with the light bulbs. They have set to bring their sales to a close. During the October 6-12 week, volunteer 4-Hers will complete the project.

On Wednesday, October 9, at 8:00 p.m., a request from several members will attempt to be filled. Square Dancing lessons will be given by Leon Day for a small fee. The lessons are in no way limited to 4-Hers, though. Anyone of any age who wants to have fun and get some exercise is invited to the sessions at the Benjamin Community Center. Of course, everyone concerned with 4-H is following the progress of the State 4-H Center now under construction at Lake Brownwood. Knox County is still working

O'Brien Happenings

CHARLENE BROTHERS

Well, it is fall and I am behind again. Here it is Tuesday morning and no news at the News office. The ladies at the office may fire me this fall if I get late like I usually do. My intentions are good, only I get busy and can not find time to get to it typed and over to KC.

They are ginning cotton again here at O'Brien, and if the weather stays like it is today, they will probably keep bringing cotton in. There has been lots of talk and guessing as to how many bales O'Brien will gin this time. Of course after last year, it is going to seem like a little bit, but I think we will make more bales than some of the farmers around here have been guessing. I surely hope so, they are painting quite a bleak picture of the cotton crop.

HERE AND THERE
Sunday, Sept. 22, Dennis Qualls had quite a surprise sprung on him. This was his 64th birthday and his niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Huliham and boys from Abilene came and presented him with a huge birthday cake. Others enjoying the dinner were his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Wright and family from Childress, Mrs. Loeita Donaldson for Knox City and his son Wayne from O'Brien and his wife, Ophelia.

Visiting in the home of Mrs. Serena Johnston during the weekend were her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Hughes of Lubbock.

Mrs. S.J. Reeves Jr. of Horatio, Arkansas, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Emerson and boys a few days last week. She also visited with her mother, Mrs. Dave Vannoy in the care home in Knox City.

Mrs. James Manning was in Hamlin Monday afternoon to pick up her nephew, Prentiss Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Orval Holland, to spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Stephens of Plainview visited in the home of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Butch Stephens, during the weekend.

The grade school boys played their first football game last week when they went to Benjamin, winning 38-12. James Reid, asst. coach, said they have about 17 boys playing on the grade school team. We are hoping for a very good year for them. Some of these boys will be in high school next year and they are going to be some pretty good players.

O'Brien Wins Over Hermleigh

by Charlene Brothers

It seems like no one can predict just what the little, but mighty team from the O'Brien Bulldogs is going to do. They were picked to lose to Hermleigh 22-6 and came up winners, 22-0.

This was the "fumbling-est" ball game I have ever seen. I do believe. It seems that both teams could not hold on to the football the first half. The game ended at the halftime with the score 14-0. The beginning of the third quarter saw a change in handling the ball. Although no score was made in the third quarter, it was a good game. Lalo Garcia made a very surprising play. I would really call this some quick thinking on his part.

Hermleigh had the ball close to O'Brien's goal line, and while one of the Hermleigh boys was wondering just what to do with the ball, Lalo ran in and caught the ball in the air and ran for a touchdown. (I guess he will teach them to not play around with the ball, tossing it up and down.) Lalo Garcia made all three of the touchdowns for O'Brien with Keith Rowan kicking two extra points.

(NOTE: If these names are not correct for the touchdowns, please correct me. I was so interested in your making the touchdowns that I forgot to be sure who the player was. Also I am not a sports writer, and I may kinda goof up the writing, but any way we are proud of your winning. My friend, June Tankersley, let me down this week. She usually helps with some of the information.)

Energy Crisis: Blessing in Disguise?

By Bernard E. Nash

I don't mean to sound like the ultimate eternal optimist, but calamities are sometimes accompanied by opportunities, and the energy crisis could conceivably prove to be a potential disaster that is really a blessing in disguise.

There is, of course, a big "if"—and that is: IF we respond to the fuel shortage by developing the mass transportation facilities this country has either been allowing to deteriorate or refusing to build for several decades now.

To accomplish this, we're going to have to interrupt—and perhaps even bring to an abrupt end—our love affair with the automobile.

We already know that one result of the energy crunch will be less fuel for private cars. With existing mass transit systems being given priority in the announced allocation of fuel, the basis for the development of workable mass transportation has already been established.

Although they may not have been thinking ahead to this crisis, the delegates to the White House Conference on Aging in 1971 suggested a means for achieving this goal when they recommended that the Highway Trust Fund be converted "into a general transportation fund to be utilized for all modes of transportation."

Bernard Nash

The answer lies in developing transportation systems that are able to go where people want to go, when they want to go, and at a price they can afford to pay. This is not an impossible dream. At this very moment, hundreds of towns and small cities are experimenting with dial-a-ride systems—a very practical cross between a taxi and bus service with the advantages of both.

Today, that suggestion is even more valid. If we are going to have increasingly less fuel for automobiles during the next decade or so, isn't it foolish to continue building more and more superhighways for fewer and fewer cars to use less and less?

For the immediate future, we are going to need more of the kind of mass transportation we presently have. However, if mass transit is going to be more than a stopgap device for the duration of the energy crisis, flexible innovations are desperately needed.

Many people trying to use mass transportation today are discovering that, while there are indeed lots of buses and trains, none are going where they are going within a reasonable amount of time.

In certain areas of New Jersey, for instance, it is impossible to get from town A to town B, a distance of five miles, without taking one bus from A into New York City, a distance of 20 miles, and a different one back to B, another 20 or so miles. And, similar problems can be found across the country!

For the elderly, this situation is particularly distressing. Imagine a 70-year-old woman with a doctor's appointment having to go through that kind of routine—and then do it all over again in order to return home. If she can't afford a taxi (and most can't), the exhaustion and frustration will just add to the problem that made her visit the doctor in the first place.

The answer lies in developing transportation systems that are able to go where people want to go, when they want to go, and at a price they can afford to pay. This is not an impossible dream. At this very moment, hundreds of towns and small cities are experimenting with dial-a-ride systems—a very practical cross between a taxi and bus service with the advantages of both.

On the drawing boards of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and other universities and research centers delving into transportation problems, there are blueprints of systems that could make most people actually want to leave their cars at home.

Why haven't these great ideas been put into practice? The answer, very simply, is that there has been no real incentive to change the way people travel. Now, there is.

Most older Americans can remember the last time this country experienced an energy shortage. Many recall that, although there were the personal hardships of World War II, not having enough fuel for everyone's cars did not mean the end of the world.

"It was no picnic," reflected one, "but it was still possible to get around. We had buses and trains, and they ran real well."

Hopefully, our children and grandchildren will be able to say the same thing to future generations.

(Mr. Nash is the executive director of the non-profit, non-partisan American Association of Retired Persons.)

Steps have been taken to find a replacement for Fincher and the steering committee from the four counties met recently to select the name of a successor, pending approval by the CSTE head offices in Austin.

Nominated by the committee was Ronald (Ron) D. Bingham, 29, of Haskell. Bingham is owner of a Haskell printing shop and publisher of the Haskell County Shoppers' Guide.

Coaches' Comments

by Coach Don Mullins

Offensively and defensively, the Hounds played their best game of the year. We had our highest offensive average in three years which was 77% and defensively we had our highest individual score of the year.

Donald Swearinger had a good night on defense, scoring a total of 62 points. Of this total, he had four unassisted tackles, was first man to the tackle six times, second man to the tackle four times, and recovered one fumble.

Others that played an important role defensively were Robert Taylor with 46 points, Mark Howell who sent two Indians to the side lines, had 40 points. Jerry Stamps had 31 points, Bo Johnson had 28 points, and Joe Huff had 27 points.

We had some high individual grades on offense and it was led by Dale Bloxham with 91%, Jerry Stamps with 91%, Al Bateman with 88%, Charlie Flye with 88% to lead the backs while Robert Taylor led in scoring the linemen, Cliff Ray had an 82%, and Mike Burkham had a 75%.

Joey Swain had a good night running and scoring 22 points, while Charlie Flye led the ground game with 111 yards and scored six points.

Our passing wasn't much to be desired mainly because we only passed on passing situations and Quanah did a good job defending. We are going to have to establish our passing a lot more the next two games, and will spend a large part of this week working toward developing a sound passing attack.

We are now preparing for a strong Windthorst team that has several all-district players back from last year. They have been slow in starting but have won their last two games. They have better than average size and their back field is probably the best we've faced so far. It will be a new experience for us to travel to Windthorst and we will probably need a lot of support from the Hound backers.

JVs Edge By Rule

The Knox City JV won their first game of the season Thursday night defeating the Rule JVs by a score of 6-0. The win was significant due to the fact that Rule had beaten the Bullies earlier 34-6.

The first half ended with no score.

In the second half Tommy Mangis scored from the two yard line. The Bullies played excellent defense throughout the game and the offense improved through good blocking and good running.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

WE ARE SAVED BY THE GOSPEL

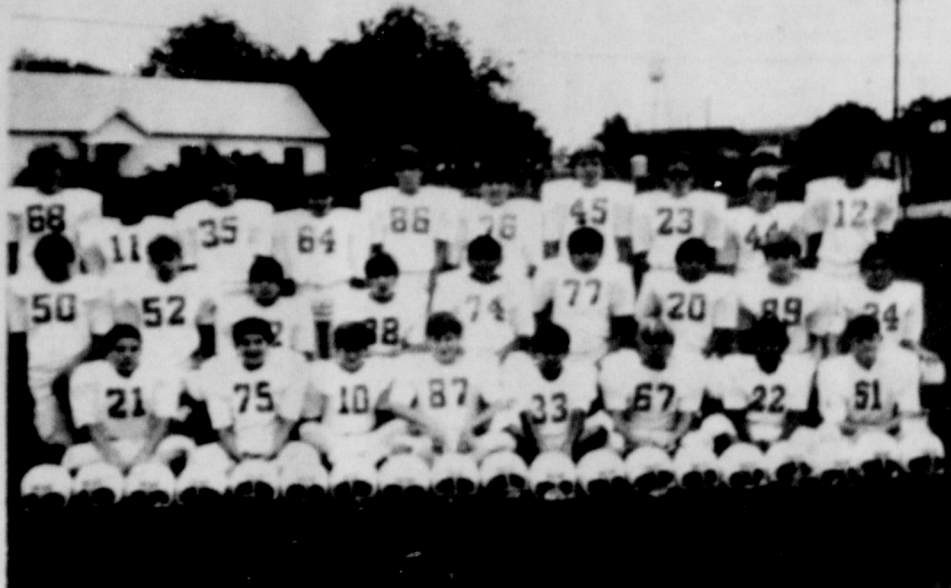

King of the gospel Paul says, "By which we are saved" (1 Cor. 15:2). This means the way of life and salvation through Christ, and is the influence and power of the gospel of Christ; for we are not ashamed of the gospel of Christ; for through it we have obtained salvation to every one who believes; to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile; for there-in is the righteousness of God which is by faith; as it is written, The just shall live by faith" (Rom. 1:16-17). Since, then, the righteousness of God is by faith, and the power of God unto salvation, and the gospel in our possession, we do not shrink from it, for God to send down "SAVING POWER" from on high. We have such power in the gospel, and the disciples in New Testament times upon its power to convert the lost. In the conversion in the book of Acts, which is the New Testament conversions, under the power of the gospel was always preached before any one was converted. The word of truth or the gospel was present in each case. It pleased God to send down such preaching. (1 Cor. 1:21.) People were where the gospel had not gone. (2 Cor. 10:17) They could not be saved by the law of Moses. (Acts 13:39; Gal. 2:16; 3:9-12; Rom. 3:20.) The gospel is the New Covenant, or the Spirit, and is in contrast with the old law of sin and death. (Rom. 8:2). "By the knowledge of sin." (Rom. 3:20). It could not save us. We are saved by the gospel, the law, and not by "The law of works." (Rom. 1:16; 1 Cor. 15:2; Rom. 8:2). The gospel proceeds the new birth is by the Spirit, says, "I have begotten you through the Spirit." (1 Cor. 4:15). The birth is completed by the influence and power of the word of God. It is brought about by miraculous power sent down from heaven to answer to prayer, independent of and apart from the gospel. The gospel is God's power to draw men unto Christ so as to be saved. (Eph. 1:4-5). Note that they are drawn by the Spirit in the gospel. It takes power to draw men unto Christ, but the gospel is said to be "THE POWER OF GOD UNTO SALVATION." (Rom. 1:16) why the Lord said, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." (Matt. 28:19) He wants all men to be drawn unto

Social Security Is For Rehabilitation

Although the ratio has been decreasing in recent years, the social security system saves about $2.50 in benefit payments for every trust fund dollar that goes toward the vocational rehabilitation of disabled beneficiaries. These calculations by the Office of the Actuary showed that the estimated value of trust fund expenditures for vocational rehabilitation for fiscal years 1966 through 1973 amounted to $127.2 million. This compares to an estimate of $316.6 million in the value of savings due to benefit payments terminated during the same period and works out to about $2.50 in savings for every $1 spent. During those 8 years, rehabilitation services (financed by trust fund money) were provided to over 56,000 beneficiaries. Of those, over 14,000 have been rehabilitated and terminated from the rolls. The Social Security Administration is required by law to refer disability beneficiaries for vocational rehabilitation so that as many as possible can be restored to useful, productive lives. The amount that can be spent for this purpose in a year is now 1.5 percent of the total amount of payments made to disability beneficiaries in the previous year. Only 1 percent could be spent for this purpose when the law first became effective in 1966.

Notes From Nancy
 BY NANCY FUHRKEN
 Assistant County Extension Agent

Consumers' rights in today's marketplace has been making the news regularly for some time. It all began when a lawyer, Ralph Nader, struck out against poor quality in the goods marketed by large companies. In 1962, President John F. Kennedy set forth the rights of the consumer. These are: the right to be informed, the right to choose, the right to safety, and the right to be heard.

While consumers are protected by law, with these rights as the basis of those laws, they also have responsibilities to uphold. Some of these are: (1) to study advertisements, read labels, and ask questions about products. (2) To examine products for safety features and follow instructions during use. (3) To make selections wisely in accordance with income and quality of goods. (4) To voice legitimate complaints to proper authorities -- retailer and manufacturer.

Both consumers and businessmen have the responsibility to be honest in marketing a product at a fair price and in using consumer services provided by stores. It is against the law for a Texas merchant to attempt to deliberately deceive customers. When a person recognizes an illegal business practice, he or she should call the Better Business Bureau or the Chamber of Commerce.

For problems with Texas merchants, one should contact the regional office of the Attorney General in Lubbock, or the Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division, P.O.Box 12548,

NEW COOKING SPRAY
 Good cooks know that it is smart to protect hands when kneading yeast doughs, pulling taffy, shaping popcorn balls. A new way to do it is with a vegetable spray-on such as Mazola No-Stick being introduced in this area. The product, which consists of a touch of corn oil and lecithin, a vegetable derivative, adds no odor to food and less than one calorie per average use. Use the vegetable spray-on in myriads of ways. Coat muffin and bread pans for easy turn out. For quick cleanup, spray roasting pans and baking dishes. In cooking sticky foods such as oats, rice, farina and grits, spray the inside of the pan before adding water. speed clean the vegetable pan washing eggs on the kitchen to use with no-stick.
