

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The other day, while I was out checking my pasture fences, I got to thinking about that argument some Congressmen got in last summer about the typical farmer. I wasn't thinking too deep on the subject. In fact, I wasn't checking the pasture fences any too careful. My old lady was putting out the wash, and I learned a long time ago that it's a good time to check the pasture fences—when the old lady starts talking about gitting out the wash. But the Department of Agriculture said last summer that the average farmer has mice in his kitchen and rats in his barn. Some Congressmen took it up and one of them argued that it was an insult to the American farmer, and another Congressman argued that it was true, and that it only proved that the farmer needed more help and more relief.

It ain't exactly proper, I think, to say that the typical farmer has mice in his kitchen and rats in his barn anymore than it's proper to say that a certain banker who happens to be in the penitentiary is a typical banker. That's like saying that the editor of the Knox Herald is a typical editor. It may be true that a heap of farmers ain't got no more modern standards than I got out here, but I got more confidence in the American farmer than to say he ain't got no more ambition than I got. I ain't offering no apology fer my farm because it suits me, and if it don't, it ain't nothing fer Congress to worry about. But I think Congress would do a lot better just to keep giving the farmers more relief and quit talking about the mice in their kitchen and the rats in their barn. It's embarrassing fer use farmers to have all that stuff in the papers. Last summer when I was reading all that stuff in the papers, I felt like Ed Doolittle's wife felt the time company came and caught her with only two petticoats on.

Well, Mister Editor, by the time I had set on the creek bank fer a couple hours checking my fences and thinking about the typical farmer, I figured my old lady was through with the wash, so I went on home without solving the problem. I'm passing it along to you just as I left it. The next time your old lady gits the wash tub out, check your pasture fences and see what you can do with it.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ben

Streams In Desert Places

By Ozelle Stephens

The Lord asked the question, "Are You Able, Said the Master, to be crucified with Me?" This is the question many people have pondered over down through the ages. It is one of the greatest challenges anyone can face in the Christian way. It will help one to know the extent of his love for his fellow men as well as reveal to him how much pride of self honor he may have in his heart. It will also reveal to one the power of the grace of God. This is the question the poet was pondering when he wrote, Are you Able? Able to suffer without complaining. To be misunderstood without explaining. Able to endure without a breaking—To be forsaken without forsaking; Able to give without any grieving; Able to ask without commanding—To love despite misunderstanding; Able to turn to the Lord for guarding; Able to wait for His own rewarding? —(Author unknown).

Remember the grace of God is all sufficient and as ye believe, so be it unto you.

Marine Recruiter Says Enlistees May Continue Education

T/Sgt Jim Moore, Marine Recruiter from Wichita Falls, said this week that while a person is in the Marine Corps he or she can work toward a college degree. You can do so in your spare time through correspondence courses offered by the Marine Corps Institute.

The Marine Corps Institute was founded over 25 years ago to provide Marines with the opportunity to continue their education no matter where they were stationed.

Every week the mails bring thousands of completed lessons from Marines all over the world to be graded at the Institute in Washington, D. C. At present one out of every four members of the Corps is taking one or more studies.

The Institute offers a complete list of courses for college studies including college algebra trigonometry, history, chemistry, advertising, journalism, French and Spanish and scores of others. The credits given for these completed courses are recognized by leading universities.

The Institute also offers many special courses which prepare Marines for well paid civilian jobs in aviation and other fields.

Sgt. Moore stated that this opportunity is offered free to all marines, and that a Marine Recruiter would be in Seymour every Thursday. Interested young men or women are urged to contact him at the Post office.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, TEXAS — Texas has a fairly new addition to its long and much-vaunted list of "firsts" and "mosts". But this one's no fun to brag about.

Texas has the greatest number of designated potential enemy bomb targets of any state in the union, says State Defense Coordinator William L. McGill.

This, added to Texas long-standing record of leading the nation in natural disasters, puts a heavy responsibility for defense preparedness on Texans, McGill told the annual State Defense Advisory Council conference in Austin.

Officially designated "aiming areas," as they are called, are Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Austin, San Antonio, Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Amarillo, Corpus Christi, El Paso, Laredo, Lubbock, San Angelo, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Others considered possible targets because of nearby military installations are Abilene, Beeville, Big Spring, Brownsville, Bryan, Del Rio, Killeen, Marfa, Pyote, Sherman, Victoria and Wink.

Texas has received a $320,000 federal grant, conferees were told, to draw up a state Survival Plan. Several larger city plans are complete, and the state plan, a massive and complex thing affecting the lives of millions, is due to be finished by December 31.

Rural residents cannot feel themselves invulnerable, the Council was told. In case of a large-scale bombing, it is felt likely that radioactive fallout would cover most of our terrain, contaminating crops, cattle, pasturage and ponds.

Under the present national civil defense plan, considerable responsibility for advance training and preparation rests with the individual family. Each would be responsible for feeding itself for the first two weeks of a post-disaster period. After that, state and local government would take over for two weeks, and after that, if necessary, the federal government would step in.

Persons or organizations wanting to obtain official defense information and study materials may write the State Defense and Disaster Relief Office, Capitol Station, Austin.

PRICE ADS OK AGAIN — In a rare reversal of one of its own rulings, the Texas Supreme Court has held it is not unlawful for optometrists to advertise the prices of their eyeglasses.

Last spring the court upheld a temporary injunction issued by a Beaumont court prohibiting Lee Optical Co. and others from advertising prices. Suit was brought by a competitor, Texas State Optical.

At issue was how to interpret a law passed by the Legislature in 1957 barring optometrists from advertising that is "fraudulent, deceitful, misleading . . . including statements of bait, discount, premiums, price, gifts . . ."

In its more recent ruling the court decided, 7 to 1, that the apparent Legislative intent, or sense of the thing, is only to prohibit price advertising that is false or misleading.

Effect of this is to knock out the injunction against Lee Optical.

HOT POTATO — Atty Gen. Will Wilson is being asked to give an official ruling on a highly controversial question.

It is whether Texas, under present law, can accept additional federal funds to extend the period of unemployment payments. Texas Employment Commission and Gov. Price Daniel are asking for the opinion.

Pros and cons already have been the subject of heated discussion. A recently passed federal law would allocate to the state, funds to provide an additional 12 weeks of $14-a-week payments to persons who had already come to the end of their 24-week benefit period. An estimated 60,000 Texans are in this category.

But, to receive this money, the state must repay the funds to the federal government. If it doesn't get the money by some other means, such as the normal accumulation during high employment periods, it would be pledged to raise the tax on employers after Jan. 1, 1963.

Some argue that this would violate the constitutional prohib-

Birth Certificates Not Always Necessary For Social Security

Birth certificates are not always necessary when applying for old-age insurance benefits, Erton F. Tate, District Manager of the Wichita Falls, Texas Social Security office pointed out yesterday. Tate said that this is a common misconception among those who apply for old-age benefits. Although birth certificates are not necessary, some proof of age may be required. Some of the more commonly used proofs are old family records such as a family Bible, old insurance policies, voters records, and marriage records.

To be used as evidence these documents must show the claimant's date of birth or age; they must be authentic and they should be reasonably old. Since the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance has certain rules and regulations it must follow in considering whether evidence is sufficient to prove the applicant's age, the document should be taken to the local social security office for personal inspection at the time a claim is filed.

If you are planning to apply for old-age benefits in the near future it would be better to look for some record such as mentioned above rather than to concentrate on getting a delayed birth certificate.

Actually, in many cases, Tate said, such a record is preferable to a delayed birth certificate, especially if the certificate is of recent date.

Two who will be on temporary assignment are Clyde Kennelly of Rosenberg and Neal R. Allen of Amarillo. Kennelly is to become Fort Bend County judge next January.

Other two appointees are Robert Hamilton Wells of San Antonio and Richard Owen of Wichita, Kan.

Guild Meeting To Be Held at Ceta Canyon

CANYON — Wesleyan service guild members from throughout the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference will gather at Ceta Canyon Methodist camp near Canyon Saturday and Sunday, July 26-27, for the annual guild week-end. Featured speaker will be E. Louise Nichols of New York City.

Miss Nichols is a field worker for the Woman's Division of Christian Service, The Methodist Church, with special responsibility for the Wesleyan Service Guild. She is a deaconess in The Methodist Church, a graduate of National College of Christian Workers and of Wynners School of Dramatic Art. She has held a number of positions, having done group work at the Philadelphia Home and Settlement and at Ethel Harpst home in Cedartown, Ga. She has also served as church secretary at North Broadway Methodist church, Columbus, Ohio, and for ten years as secretary to the bishop in the Ohio Area office. In the summer of 1955, she attended the ecumenical institute in Bossey, Switzerland. While in Europe she visited Methodist centers of work in 14 countries.

Activities will begin with registration at 10 a. m. Saturday and close Sunday noon. Theme for the session will be "Forth In Thy Name I Go" with emphasis on worship, fellowship, symbolism, fellowship, morning watch and Bible study.

Miss Nichols will speak Saturday night and will give a review of the study, "Isaiah." Also reviewing studies will be Lucile Flowers, Plainview, "Christian Concerns for North American Neighbors: 'The Middle East,' Ethel Terrell, Lubbock; and "Understanding Other Cultures," Catherine Royalty, Lubbock. These reviews will be presented Saturday afternoon and night.

Another feature will be clinics for all officers. Miss Flowers and Mrs. E. T. Pittard, Anson, will be instructing presidents;

Spot Treatment Advised for Control Of Johnsongrass

COLLEGE STATION — The newest, easiest, cheapest and most effective way to control Johnsongrass in row crops is to spot treat with oils or dalapon, according to Fred Elliott, extension cotton work specialist.

Many naphtha oils and oil mixtures are satisfactory for the crown treatment of established Johnsongrass, while dalapon may be applied to the foliage and terminal swirl, says Elliott. Naphtha may be used for cool weather treatment but a 50-50 mixture of naphtha with kerosene or diesel is recommended in hot weather.

Oil-soluble dinitro and other proven fortifiers can be added to diesel fuel oil or kerosene according to the manufacturers' directions to increase the effectiveness of these oils. Diesel fuel oil or kerosene fortified with one percent pentachlorophenol by volume is usually as effective in killing Johnsongrass as the naphtha-type oils used alone.

Several kinds of sprayers may be used to apply these oils points out Elliott. The Texas gravity sprayer is best suited for crown-treatment of 6-inch Johnsongrass sprouts in crops when a free flowing oil is used. The Texas slidegun is for coarse work such as the non-selective spraying of thick stands of Johnsongrass in spots sparse enough for the crop in the spot to be sacrificed.

The Texas jetgun permits efficient, economical and selective treatment of sprouts in row crops with either oil or water sprays. It is a squirt gun and works like a water pistol. It can be used to hit a target varying in size from a dime to a dinner plate.

County agents have full information on spot oiling Johnsongrass, the materials and equipment to use and where they can be obtained.

WATER SPORTS ARE FUN BUT CAN BE DANGEROUS

Texans own a lot of pleasure boats—286,000 in 1957—and their interest in water sports continues to increase, reports Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist. Each year about 10,000 new fishing licenses are bought by fishermen in the State and crowds continue to grow at popular lake, river and seashore spots.

But Cooper advises swimming with another person and in a safe place. Know the area where you intend to swim and before diving make sure the water is deep enough and that no hidden objects such as submerged rocks are present.

Respect the water and don't try to perform beyond your own limitations. Water can be a deadly enemy or a friend. Try to remain calm should you experience trouble while in the water, says Cooper. Don't swim immediately after eating or when overheated or tired and always keep safety equipment available, be cautious.

Learn to swim. It is a good sport and may save your life.

It is wise to wear a life vest when riding in a small boat. Should you be involved in a boating accident, don't leave the boat. Most small crafts will float even when filled with water or overturned.

Finally Cooper advises against overpowering a boat. Motors too powerful make a boat hard to control and may cause upsets or other accidents.

Highway Patrol Plans Death Watch For July Fourth

"Planning for safety is as important in your July 4th trip as the planning for the trip itself," said Major R. A. Crowder, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, in announcing the department's "Operation Death Watch" for the July 4th week end.

"Many July 4th accidents are being planned now," Crowder explained. "People plan to drive too far in a short period, or they plan to drive too long without rest."

"Such plans often mean that drivers must exceed speed limits to reach destinations and return during the holiday period, or drivers attempt to cover those last few miles when lack of sleep has robbed them of the alertness necessary to stay alive," Crowder said.

"We find that carelessness, impatience and fatigue, accompany drivers on poorly planned holiday trips," Crowder continued. "During Operation Death Watch we're putting all available men into an enforcement program designed to reduce traffic fatalities to a minimum."

Crowder said the Death Watch period during the July 4th holiday will see the Highway Patrol backed up by officers of the DPS License and Weight and Motor Vehicle Inspection divisions, working round-the-clock to stop speeders and careless drivers.

Radar speed detection units will be used, along with all other means of traffic enforcement. "The DPS headquarters in Austin has predicted that there will be 28 traffic fatalities in the state during Operation Death Watch," Crowder said. "We're going to do our best to prove that prediction wrong, but we'll need the help of every motorist in the state to accomplish the job."

Captain E. L. Posey, district Highway Patrol Commander pointed out that July 4th "motorcides" in Texas were far lower than usual in 1956 and 1957 because both years had one-day holiday periods. "Our last three-day July 4th holiday was in 1955," Posey continued. "The state recorded 12 persons killed during the July 4th week end that year. "Our worst July 4th holiday period since 1950 was four years ago," the captain said. "There were 33 persons killed in traffic accidents in Texas during the long July 4th week end in 1954."

Operation Death Watch starts this year at 12:01 a. m., July 4th and ends at 11:59 p. m., July 6. As a part of Operation Death Watch, the Department of Public Safety maintains a count of all accidental deaths, homicides, suicides and traffic fatalities.

Mr. and Mrs. Everette Kelley and children, Nancy and Bobby of Austin are here to be with Mrs. Kelley's mother, Mrs. W. H. Benedict, who is seriously ill in the Knox County Hospital. The family was vacationing in California when they were called home to be at Mrs. Benedict's bedside.

Pastures Need Weed Control, Expert Advises

COLLEGE STATION.—Weed control is essential for best returns from productive pastures and meadows.

Weeds often reduce pasture yields by as much as 50 percent. They reduce pasture and hay yields by competing with the desirable plants for plant nutrients, moisture and light. They lower hay quality, harbor insects and diseases and increase labor and equipment costs.

This problem is the theme of a bulletin just released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. It is entitled "Weed Control in Texas Pastures."

The bulletin points out that weed control, under certain conditions which are listed, is not profitable. Chemical and mechanical control is not a substitute for proper fertilization and management of adapted plants and is temporary if proper maintenance is not followed.

The best weed control is through weed prevention, states the bulletin. Weeds are a minor problem in good stands of adapted grasses that are fertilized as needed and properly grazed or utilized.

Anyone confronted with this problem will find much valuable information in this 19-page publication. It contains a section on prevention as well as thorough discussions of mechanical and chemical control. It may be obtained from local county agricultural agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for B-892.

White Claims Major Advances in State Agriculture Dept.

AUSTIN, Tex. — A major advance for the Texas Department of Agriculture was claimed by Commissioner John C. White this week with the announcement that Texas now stands first among 12 southern states in the amount and enforcement of farm legislation.

Since 1951, we have jumped from seventh to first position in modern farm laws," said White. "These legal provisions have enabled us to increase our services in Texas by as much as 300%. As a result, Texas can no longer be regarded as an agricultural dumping ground for inferior products from other areas."

The 33-year-old commissioner, who is seeking re-election to the top farm job in Texas, added that "ten years ago we were a convenient 'garbage pail' for the nation. Today we can put more trust in our own production and know that farm goods shipped into the state must meet certain quality standards."

Commissioner White cited his re-organization of the Department as a major factor in modernizing and increasing farm services. It marked the first big overhaul in its previous 47-year history and helped put many programs on a self-supporting basis.

"Our goal during my past seven years in office has been to increase state services without making constant demands for new tax money," White stated. "The clean-up of the state grain scandals, better seed laws, more effective insect controls and establishment of a market news service are just a part of the accomplishments under this system," he added.
