The edifice was erected in 1891 and was used until 1935, at which time it was torn down and the present building was constructed on the same site. The only identity of persons in the picture that we have knowledge of are: the late W. H. Benedict, second from left; his brother, the late C. A. Cotton Classing Office Warns Of False Report

According to B. B. Manly, Jr. of the U. S. D. A., C&MS, Cotton Division office, Abilene, Texas, a report is out, mainly in the Munday, Knox City, and Haskell area that "acid killed" or a similar term will be stamped on the green card, making it ineligible for the Government loan if Arsenic acid is used as a defoliant. This is absolutely false. Nothing concerning the type of defoliant or desiccant will be stamped on the green card.

Since we are discussing it, we want to warn that killing immature bolls can be very costly both in production and quality. Around 80% of the bolls on a plant should be open and the remaining bolls mature. Another important caution to observe is to be sure to wait until the plant, including green bolls, is dry enough to gin before beginning to strip. Strip-

Initial Details Of 1968 Cotton Program Are Still A Mystery

J. B. Cooper, Jr., President, Charles Stenholm and Wilber Gruben, Executive Assistant, met with Department officials and Congressmen in Washington last week to discuss details of the program for 1968. The findings of that group are given below.

Initial details of the 1968 cotton program are due sometime this next week and what they will contain is still a mystery. Department officials say no decisions have thus far been made.

A closed session last Wednesday between the Department and the House Agriculture Committee apparently failed to resolve several differences between the two concerning details of diversion rates and payments and skip-row measurement regulations.

The position of the Department concerning skip-row measurement penalties appears not to have changed too much from what has been over the past two years," said Charles Stenholm, executive vice president of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

However, the Department appears to be changing somewhat in its attitude toward the skip-row penalties as they affect projected yields in the Rolling Plains area so much that we are now optimistic that skip-row penalties as they pertain to projected yields will be removed in 1968.

This will mean additional payments to Rolling Plains cotton farmers of more than 3.7 million dollars. We are, of course, still hopeful that all skip-row penalties will be removed in 1968 but chances of this happening appear very slim.

The Department reportedly did assure the committee however that it will not sell CCC cotton at less than 16¢ a pound above the government loan rate for the particular qualities of cotton.

The effect of the Department's decision would be to help move the current crop of short staple cotton through the market at stable prices without

News From HD Agent

Most of us here in Knox County know 4-H. We are especially proud of our 4-Hers during National 4-H Week, September 30 to October 7.

The green and white four-leaf clover is appearing in newspapers, in stores, and other public places. Our 4-Hers are a part of a membership of two and three-quarter million boys and girls, and we salute the work they are doing to make a better America. But our praise does not end there.

We'd like to make sure the adult 4-Hers—the volunteer leaders—get a well-deserved "pat on the back!" Do you know that about 372,000 men and women across the Nation give their time to 4-H club work?

These dedicated Americans give their time and skills not only for 4-H Club meetings, but also for project study, for teaching and individual attention to member, for demonstration teams, for county fair exhibits that must be managed, for recreational projects that are part of successful 4-H program, and for local, state, and national leader training sessions that help them do a better job.

These are just some of the activities of the volunteer leader, and we know many could recite a much longer list of commitments to 4-H.

Our hat is off also to nearly 142,000 junior 4-H leaders who use their experiences in 4-H to assist the adult volunteers. As we look at the achievements of the past 60 years, we salute those in 4-H for A JOB WELL DONE!

4-H is more than champion steers, sewing lessons, cooking schools and blue ribbons, says Mrs. Gail Osborn, Knox county home demonstration agent. It is a way of life for more than 2 1/4 million boys and girls across the country, she states.

Drawing participants from the 9 to 19-year-old age group, 4-H combines the best of learning and fun. It offers a wide variety of projects and activities which emphasize "learning by doing," and rewards the boy and girl for personal growth and achievement.

Young people may choose their own individual 4-H projects from some 50 to 100 offered. These range from the traditional beef calf, poultry, gardens, foods and clothing to automotive, career exploration, photography and baby-sitting.

The young scientist may choose a project in entomology, electricity, conservation or others. And there are projects too, for young owners of dogs and horses.

Boys and girls like 4-H for the many activities and projects it offers groups and clubs, home demonstration agent Mrs. Osborn indicates. Clubs may select such worthwhile activities and projects as—community beautification, safety, health, recreation leadership and conservation. Volunteer adult leaders help guide and advise members of community and neighborhood 4-H Clubs.

Now is a good time for boys and girls to join 4-H says Mrs. Osborn. Clubs throughout the county are being reorganized and new clubs are just starting. To find out how to join 4-H in your own area, contact Mr. Herman Collier or Mrs. Gail Osborn at the Knox County Extension Office at Benjamin, phone 454-2651.

Medicaid Program Approved

Approval of the Texas Medicaid program was announced today by the Social and Rehabilitation Service (SRS) of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Formal approval was given by SRS Administrator Mary E. Switzer and was effective September 1. Medicaid is the Federal-State program of medical care for low-income people.

Texas, the 27th State to operate a federally approved medical assistance program, plans to provide payments for skilled nursing home care for adults; inpatient and out patient hospital care; physicians' services; and a number of other benefits for an estimated 379,000 State residents. The U.S. Government will pay approximately 80 percent of the cost, bringing the estimated Federal share to almost $99 million for the first year.

Each State makes its own decision on the number of services it will offer in excess of the minimum Federal requirements. The Texas program offers more than those required by the Medicaid law. The State estimated that approximately 379,000 persons, or 3.53 percent of the total population, will be served under the State plan during the first 12 months of operation.

TEXAS 4-H MEMBERS TO OBSERVE THEIR WEEK

A four-leaf clover is the symbol of good luck to many people, but to some 76,000 Texas 4-H Club members it is part of the emblem of their organization and a lot more.

The roots of 4-H go deep in Texas. Boys and girls for more than 60 years have been proud members of the organization. As has been the case for many years, they will join with some two and a quarter million members in the nation in the observance of National 4-H Club Week, September 30-October 7.

During the week, according to the state 4-H Club office, Texas members will be out to tell of the past year's achievements and their plans for the year ahead. For boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19, 4-H offers opportunities to develop good character and leadership. Learning to work together and accept responsibility along with exploring career opportunities and learning skills are all a part of the Texas 4-H Club program, the 4-H specialists said.

In Texas and across the nation, 4-H Club work is directed in the counties by the county Extension agents with assistance from both adult and junior 4-H leaders. In Texas, more than 13,000 volunteer adult leaders work with the members of more than 2,500 local 4-H Clubs "To Make the Best Better." Statewide the 4-H program is guided by Texas A&M University, the state's land-grant university. Nationally, the U. S. Department of Agriculture administers the program as the youth phase of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Local county Extension agents invite youths and their parents who are interested in knowing more about 4-H projects and activities to visit their office for detailed information.

Social Security Representative To Be Here October 4 and October 18

One of the main reasons that social security and medicare claims are often delayed for self-employed people relates to the fact that many self-employed people fail to take a copy of their income tax Form 1040 and Self-Employment Schedule C or Schedule F with them when they contact their social security representative three months before age 62 or three months before age 65.

Edwin Draughon, Manager of the Vernon office of the Social Security Administration, indicates that in almost every case the self-employed person will be required to leave a copy of his most recent tax return with his social security representative and that the tax return will have to be retained permanently by the Social Security Administration.

Mr. Draughon recommends that every self-employed person who will be reaching age 62 or 65 between now and December, 1967, have an extra copy made of his 1966 tax return. Three months before age 62 or age 65, take it and the cancelled check to discuss retirement or medicare benefits with your social security representative.

Streams In Desert Places

BY OZELLE STEPHENS

"By faith Moses - refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter." Heb. 11:24.

There are times in life a Christian must say no to the temptations of life. Joseph refused the temptation by the queen and was cast into prison. Daniel's three friends said no and were thrown into the fiery furnace. Daniel would not quit praying three times a day and was put into the lion's den. Moses refused to turn his back on his people and the one true God. It cost him much hardship and suffering. So a Christian must say no even though he has to suffer, but remember there is a great reward for suffering for your Lord. Jesus will help you to master temptation if you will let him master you. You can be placed in the select company of Joseph, Moses, Daniel and his three friends.

was extended from July 25, 1967, to July 25, 1970.

The length of time an individual veteran remains eligible for GI loan benefits depends on his date of discharge and the length of his active wartime duty.

Also, Coker added, all World War 11 veterans discharged for service-connected disabilities will have until July 25, 1970, to use their GI loan benefits. Eligible widows of World War 11 servicemen or veterans whose deaths were due to military service received the same extension.

Any World War 11 veteran may apply for determination of eligibility, but the legislation does not extend eligibility which expired before July 25, 1967.

Crossbred Steers Bring Good Price

MCGREGOR - A study here shows that crossbred steers can bring just as high a price at the market place as straight bred steers.

There has been a stigma associated with crossbreds in the past - and almost invariably they would bring less than a comparable straight bred animal.

But no more, says Walter Kruse, of Texas A&M University's Livestock and Forage Research Center.

Kruse marketed 26 crossbred steers this spring that brought an average of $23.25 per cwt. He sold 30 Hereford Steers that brought $23.24 and 4 Angus steers that brought $22.96.

"There was no significant difference in price whether the animal was straight bred or crossbred," said Kruse.

The highest price paid per pound was for a Hereford steer that brought $24.30 per cwt.; the lowest price per pound was a Brahman cross at $22.10 per cwt.

About the only noticeable price difference was in steers weighing less than 800 pounds. These brought about 50 cents less per hundred.

Kruse points out these steers were sold at community auction in Central Texas - but he believes there is a lessening of price discrimination against crossbred steers over most of the state.

No tolls are charged for the use of any highway facilities maintained by the Texas Highway Department, now in its 50th year.

Each year the graduating Senior Class leaves a gift for the school to enjoy in future years. The Seniors of '67 gave a Thermo-Fax Copy Machine to the school. The machine was received last week. The copying machine is very versatile. It will cut stencils, make transparencies, and do straight copy work. It is made by the 3M Company. It will be placed in the office of the school secretary and the students and faculty will be able to use it as the need arises.

As is customary, a name plate identifying the class giving this equipment to the school will be placed on the new copying machine.

The Greyhounds played their second game last Friday night. Aspermont just proved to be too much for us as they won 54-0. We will play Merkel here tonight (Friday). I hope the score will not be as lopsided as in the Aspermont game. The Freshmen class officers had our pictures taken yesterday. That got the four of us (Mike Newton, Alice Martinez, Betsy Ross, and Rogers Lankford) out of class for a few minutes. But that was all right with us.

 FRIDAY - Turkey and dressing, English peas, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, hot rolls, butter, fruit cobbler, milk.

The Merkel Badgers proved too much of a powerhouse for the Greyhounds last Friday night. The Badgers kept up their scoring momentum all through the game. The Greyhounds could never keep a drive going long enough to score. The Greyhounds were plagued with troubles all through the game. The game ended with the score being 46-0 in Merkel's favor.

Horse And Buggy Measurements In The Space Age

B. R. WINCHESTER
 Science Department

The Chemistry Students in Knox City High School are busy learning basic measurements that students in three-fourths of the world learned in early elementary school.

Yes, our system of measurement is as out-dated as the old horse and buggy. Each of us has learned twelve inches equals one foot, three feet equals one yard, and sixteen ounces equals one pound, and were frustrated in the lack of logic found in this system of weight and measurement.

Over one hundred years ago a metric system was devised that was very simple and logical. This system is used in all areas of science and many areas of industry today. This measurement system is based on units of ten. The basic length measurement is the meter. The basic weight measurement is the gram. Any measurement larger or smaller than these units are 10, 100, or 1000 times larger or smaller.

The Universal Metric System being learned in the chemistry classes will enable the student to park the old horse and buggy English system of measurements and weights and use the Universal Metric System that knows no National barrier in the Space Age.

Plans were also made for activities of the year.

September 20 the Greenhand FFA Chapter met and elected the following officers: Mike Newton, president; Max Spencer, vice-president; Bobby Lewis, secretary; Rogers Lankford, sentinel; Richard Cassilas, treasurer; and Sam Tankersley, reporter. Mr. Leon Burkhart is the chapter's advisor.

Plans were also made for activities of the year.

In 1958, monthly cash benefits were first paid to disabled workers age 50 to 64 and to disabled children of retired and deceased workers. In 1958, monthly cash benefits were extended to dependents of disability insurance beneficiaries. Recognizing the need of disabled workers under age 50, and their dependents, Congress extended monthly cash benefits to this group in 1960.

Probably the most important change in the 1965 social security amendments concerning disability was the new definition of disability.

Under the old law, a person could become eligible only if he was disabled for a long and indefinite period. Now a person can qualify if his mental or physical impairment which prevents him from doing any substantial gainful work has already lasted or is expected to last for at least 12 months, or is expected to result in death.

curity disability program," Mr. Draughton said, "is two-fold. To help replace part of the earnings lost to a family when the wage earner can no longer work, and to encourage and finance the worker's rehabilitation and return to work whenever possible.

"Over the past 10 years, the disability program has helped a lot of people through difficult times in their lives," he said. "When a man becomes disabled through illness or an accident and knows he will be unable to work for a long time—maybe never—his entire world seems to crumble. But when he can count on that check every month, and in many cases on rehabilitation services, too, things don't look so hopeless.

"He can start adjusting to and overcoming his disability without the constant worry about how he is going to support his family."

In the first 11 months of Medicare, covered patients averaged 13 days of hospital stay per claim.

My Neighbors

Most of us know of someone in our own family or circle of friends, or a co-worker, who needs healing. Today let us think especially of these dear ones; let us pray for them in the faith that God's power is with them, mighty to heal and to restore. Let us let go any anxious thought about those for whom we pray; let us see them as beloved children of God; let us see their bodies as temples of the living God; let us see them filled with a new spirit, perfect in mind, perfect in body.

36th Annual Texas Prison Rodeo In October

HUNTSVILLE - A star-studded cast of tough convict rodeo riders, plus the best entertainers from the Texas Department of Corrections, will join a host of "free world" celebrities in the presentation of the 36th Annual Texas Prison Rodeo held here each Sunday in October.

For the opening performance on October 1, Lawrence Welk's famous honky-tonk pianist and accordion stylist, Jo Ann Castle, will be the featured attraction.

On October 8, Norma Zimmer and Larry Hooper, two other Welk favorites will be highlighted in the prison's $1 million stadium, beginning at 2 p.m.

Judy Lynn, a former Miss Idaho, will be spotlighted on October 15. She has made a name for herself as a top-flight musician and personality throughout the nation - especially on the rodeo circuit.

Buck Owens and his Buckaroos will share the October 22 bill with Floyd Tillman, with a gala western music roundup for the enjoyment of Prison Rodeo fans.

Finally, on October 29, Roy Acuff, called the "King of Country Music," will return as one of the Prison Rodeo favorites.

During all five Sunday shows of the 1967 Prison Rodeo series, Candy Barr, a former inmate who is now back on the night club circuit in Hollywood, will take time out between her California engagements to help round-out the fast-moving two-hour show.

After 51 hours of instruction in reading, English, math, and practice in test taking, both passed the AFQT with scores high enough to entitle them to choose a career field in the service," Ohrt points out.

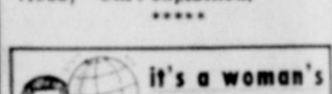

Enthusied over the results of the tutorial program, recruiters for the various Armed Forces in the San Antonio area have begun to refer young men unable to qualify for enlistment to the program. But the real pay-off is the gratitude of a young man finally able to serve his country and, in some cases, to make a career for himself, according to Ohrt.

"My father and mother are so proud of me now," one youth told a TEC VMR unit staffer.

But Garza summed up the value of the program when he said, "Now I can have a real career with a future."

Of the 143 San Antonio youth enrolled in the program to date in addition to Garza and Ramirez, twenty-seven have been placed in private employment, three in NYC projects, and two in MDTA vocational training classes.

"Basically, it is a human resources development and conservation project whose aim is to make productive citizens out of youth who do not measure up to minimum Armed Forces qualifications, whether in or out of the military services," Ohrt explained.

One has only to browse through the loft buildings that are still in use in old industrial sections of some of our cities to wonder at the courage it must have taken for young typists and stenographers to invade man's early business world. And after that, it's only a short step to wondering just how much the feminine invasion of the business world had to do with producing the physical structure and convenience of our modern office buildings.

Around the turn of the century, business was conducted to a very large extent in buildings that many years before had been private residences. Conversion to business use merely meant ripping out walls and partitions and cutting holes in floors through which to hoist the merchandise to higher floors. Tall, narrow windows coated with accumulating dust and grime let in hardly any daylight, and the electric light was usually a string of naked bulbs, strung as strategically as possible, and as likely as not to illuminate the indispensable cuspidors.

The office function in those days was regarded as an expense, if not a source of loss, so it was relegated to the most out-of-the-way and inconspicuous cubbyhole that could be found. Only the merchandise was considered payload, and many a pioneer secretary climbed over crates and cartons each morning to get to her desk, and then to the dirt-coated corner wash-stand, with its roller towel.

Speaking of educational television: our three year-old said to the four year-old while bathing, "Use this soap and you'll have young skin."

While the year is still young and organizations have just elected officers, let me say: Reporters, report. Remember that you weren't elected just to get your pictures in the annual and that you each have a definite job to do for your class or organization! Any project will succeed if people know about it and it's your job to tell them.

I understand there is a way for beauty operators to get rid of annoying customers. When my cousin, Mona Joyce Hudson Cooke was a beautician, one of her clients always came in with the request, "Make me beautiful". After several "make me beautiful" appointments, Mona retorted, "Ifix hair, lady. I don't make miracles!" And that was the end of that.

Pretty soon it will be time to bring in pot plants for the winter and thanks to Lucy Jimenez here's a tip for you: Soak egg shells overnight in water. The next day water your plants then sit back and watch them grow like mad!

Over in Haskell county many women are sad because the Home Demonstration Agent is leaving. Mrs. Barbara Elliott who has been here the past two and a half years is being promoted to a position in Brenham, Washington County.

Barbara helped organize our club in O'Brien and also got the 4-H'ers started, so we feel like chicks who have just lost a wing to crawl under.

The youngsters did their first cooking and made their first dresses this summer, quite an accomplishment for 10 year old kids.

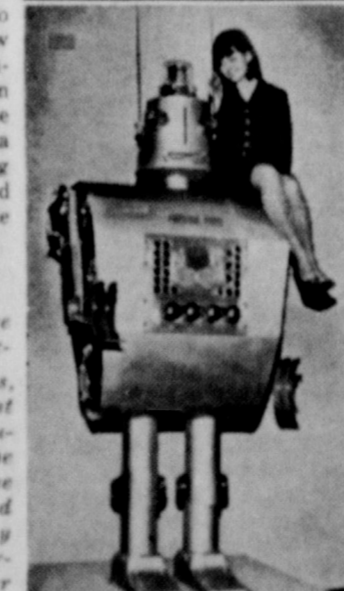

During our two years as the Waldrip HD Club, we have learned to knit, learned to pick

National 4-H Week To Be Observed Sept. 30 Oct. 7

It's a treat this week to read and hear so many good things about hometown teenagers who are members of a real go-go group - 4-H. During National 4-H Week, we join the nation in saluting nearly 3 million of the finest boys and girls anywhere in the world.

4-H'ers are always on the go - both at home and abroad. The spread of 4-H to 75 foreign countries is further proof that the "learn-by-doing" program for youth is sound and successful.

Parents of 4-H members are on the go, too. They volunteer as club or project leaders; serve as judges of projects such as livestock, clothing, safety, health and scores of others. They chauffeur members to meetings, fairs, camp and social events. They "finance" projects that require a cash outlay to get started. They encourage sons and daughters to keep trying until desired results are achieved. They see to it that 4-H is recognized in the community and throughout the country as a valuable experience for the development of Head, Heart, Hands and Health, and the making of responsible citizens.

If you are not yet acquainted with 4-H, we hope you'll make an effort to learn more about this unique youth organization. Then urge your children 9 to 19 to join. The Cooperative Extension Service of the State land-grant university supervises 4-H through its state and county staff.

4-H has something for every boy and girl, no matter where they live.

The slogan for the 1967 4-H Week is "A World of Opportunity - Join 4-H". And this we heartily endorse.

School Drop-outs Are Being Aided By New Special Program

With draft evasion prominently in the news, it might surprise some folks to learn that some American youth are working as hard to get in the service as others are to stay out.

Evidence that the tradition of service to country is not dead has come to light in the experimental Volunteer Military Rejection program being conducted by the Texas Employment Commission in San Antonio in cooperation with the San Antonio Literacy Council. San Antonio is the only Texas city and one of five in the entire country where the program is underway.

"The program offers coaching and tutorial instruction to youth unable to qualify for military service because of educational deficiencies," Neil Ohrt, manager of the TEC Opportunity Center in San Antonio, explains.

In addition to tutorial instruction, regular TEC counseling and job placement services are made available to VMR trainees.

Lt. Col. Channing L. Hadley, commanding officer of the Armed Forces Entrance and Examining Station in San Antonio, was so impressed with the results of the program and the determination of youth to serve their country that he personally administered the oath of enlistment to the first two "graduates" of the program.

"This type of program should be instituted in every major city in Texas," Lt. Col. Hadley declared.

Though the program originated at the Federal level, TEC administrators in Texas under the federal-state partnership role of the state employment services. It is typical of human resources development programs which have been assigned to TEC in recent years. Others include the Manpower Development Training Act programs, Job Corps recruitment, human resources development projects, and selection and referral services to NYC and Community Action projects.

Instruction is given by TEC personnel with the help of Mrs. Margarita R. Huantes, executive director of the San Antonio Literacy Council, and Mrs. Rosemary Stanley, member of the Council, who work in the program as unpaid remedial reading teachers. David R. Bolton heads up the VMR unit.

Ramiro Ramirez of San Antonio completed eight grades before quitting school to work as a cook's helper. He wanted to enter the service, but his score on the Armed Forces Qualification Test was too low.

Richard Garza likewise flunked the AFQT test. Both entered the TEC Volunteer Military Rejection program in April.

"Both were exceptionally diligent in their work and consequently were able to complete the projected ten-week training course ahead of schedule," Ohrt revealed.

Garza worked as a packager and materials handler throughout the tutorial training. Both youth came to an additional Wednesday evening session when it was offered on a volunteer basis.

"After 51 hours of instruction in reading, English, math, and practice in test taking, both passed the AFQT with scores high enough to entitle them to choose a career field in the service," Ohrt points out.

Enthusied over the results of the tutorial program, recruiters for the various Armed Forces in the San Antonio area have begun to refer young men unable to qualify for enlistment to the program. But the real pay-off is the gratitude of a young man finally able to serve his country and, in some cases, to make a career for himself, according to Ohrt.

"My father and mother are so proud of me now," one youth
