Texas Wheat Producers Attempt To Boost Income

Concern over declining wheat harvest prospects coupled with almost record low prices for existing supplies was voiced by the nine-man TEXAS WHEAT Producers Board at their quarterly meeting Thursday, April 27, in the State Capitol in Austin. Mr. Ken Kendrick of Stratford, farmer elected chairman of the group said "We must do more about the wheat income situation than just talk." He was unanimously supported in this attitude by the entire Board as they drafted research, market development and insect control projects that when implemented during the coming year will exceed $125,000, in an effort to raise the price of wheat and bolster farm income.

Projects drafted by the Board include export expansion, insect control demonstrations, wheat food nutrition education, feed education, and transportation services.

"Since 80 per cent of Texas wheat is normally exported," Kendrick said, "the biggest downward pressure on local prices is from losses this year in the export market from the dock strikes and competition from other wheat exporting countries." In an effort to regain these markets and strengthen prices the Board will request membership in Great Plains Wheat, Inc., which will give Texas producers access to staff in several foreign wheat purchasing countries in Asia, Europe, South America and the Caribbean. GPW is a market development organization supported by producer wheat commissions in the Great Plains wheat belt and is headquartered in Washington, D.C. Under the GPW program a team of government and wheat buyer officials from Peru will be in Texas April 30-May 1 to study wheat export facilities at the Gulf ports and to learn more about types, grades and quality of hard red winter wheat available at the gulf.

A wheat feeding nutrition and service program designed to increase the levels of wheat utilized in local feed lots was authorized by the Board. Kendrick pointed out that "The aim of every wheat grower, including every member of this Board, is to work toward prices so high relative to other grains that none will ever be fed. In spite of these lofty and worthwhile aims, 218 million bushels of wheat was fed to livestock in the United States this past marketing year—40 per cent of the total used in this country—and the amount of wheat used for livestock feed is trending upward." The Board will engage a professional animal nutritionist on a staff consultant basis to implement the new wheat feed nutrition program.

A food nutrition program directed by a staff consultant home economist will be implemented in an effort to reverse the per capita decline in wheat consumption. It is expected that this program will allow Texas to join producers in other states in promoting wheat foods use through the "Day of Bread" and "National Sandwich Month" activities which have successfully increased wheat utilization, as well as implement local programs.

Insects have done much damage to dryland wheat—especially in the Rolling Plains area—the last two years, according to W.J. Moore Jr., TEXAS WHEAT Board member from Munday. In an effort to step up use of improved and efficient insect control methods, plans were developed to establish insect control demonstrations in principal damage area counties in the Rolling Plains for the 1972 fall seeded wheat crop. Practices in keeping with new consideration for ecological, environmental, and air pollution guide lines which farmers are increasingly being will be used and demonstrated.

"One of the major cost factors to the wheat producer is the cost of transporting his grain from the farm gate to the terminal market place," N.J. Renner, TEXAS WHEAT Producer Board member from Spearman told the group. The cost of transporting High Plains wheat to export points has risen 21 per cent since 1967—while the price of wheat paid to the farmer has decreased about that percentage, according to the National Association of Wheat Growers recent newsletter. Since increases in freight rates and/or service charges are reflected in lower prices to the producer, TEXAS WHEAT must place high priority on constant surveillance of developments concerning transportation and implement programs to reverse present trends of income eroding practices. Approval was voiced for establishing a transportation program which will include monitoring of transportation developments, liaison with regulatory agencies, carriers and other transportation divisions in government, business and organizations.

The TEXAS WHEAT Producers Board, an agency of the State of Texas, usually holds its quarterly meetings within the 34-county membership area where producers support the research market development and service program through a five-mill per bushel assessment on their wheat production. This meeting was held in Austin—along with similar Boards for grain sorghum, peanuts, soybeans and turkey—at the request of Commissioner of Agriculture John in the Capitol, the Boards were briefed by officials of the State Auditors Office, the Office of the Attorney General and the Texas Department of Agriculture, on pertinent matters relative to the operation of the Boards affairs.

Besides Kendrick, Moore, and Renner, other members of the TEXAS WHEAT Producers Board are: Dwight Hamilton, Olney; John Cogdell, Crowell; Leo W. Kowalski, Hereford; Otis Harman, Tulla; and Delbert Timmons, Perryton; and C.L. Edwards, Panhandle. Members of the Board are elected by producers and serve without pay in directing the Boards affairs. Executive Vice President of TEXAS WHEAT is Bill Nelson who administers the organization's programs from the state headquarters in Suite 600, Bank of the Southwest in Amarillo.

EARLY CONTROL REDUCES BLACK SPOT IN ROSES

For beautiful roses in your lawn or garden this summer, take steps now to control black spot.

Black spot is the most serious rose disease problem encountered by rose growers. It is caused by a fungus which leaves a black spot with an irregular margin surrounded by a zone of yellow tissue. In addition to the unsightly black spots on the blossoms, plants may also shed their leaves.

Begin control measures by raking and burning all fallen leaves in the spring and removing all old leaves from the rose plants. This will reduce one source of fungus spores that can cause new infections. At the same time, prune the tops of infected roses to eliminate over-wintering infection sites on the upper stems.

In spite of cultural methods, chemical protection will also be required for most hybrid teas. Begin fungicide applications at regular intervals according to label directions. Direct sprays so that both surfaces of leaves are covered. The degree of black spot control will be no better than the coverage obtained.

Effective spray materials include Benlate, Daconil 2787, Dithane M-45, Phaltan and Zineb. Other fungicides may also be available at your local garden or supply store. Sulfur dust, an old "standby" fungicide, is still used by many growers and is an effective material. However, its use should be discontinued after temperatures reach 85 degrees F. or the leaves will bronze.

ANOTHER CASE OF HOG CHOLERA

Another case of hog cholera was confirmed March 24, in Lavaca County. That county plus Fayette, Gonzales, Webb, Starr, Hidalgo, Cameron and Willacy counties are under state quarantine while a total of 18 counties are still under federal quarantine, according to Dr. E. L. July, coordinator of the USDA hog cholera eradication project at Harlingen. He urges all producers to report any sick hogs to the local veterinarian, county agricultural agent or animal health official.

BRUCELLESD ERADICATION

Action is needed to "beef

up" the brucellosis testing program so that the dreaded cattle disease can be eradicated, emphasizes Dr. James Armstrong, Extension veterinarian. Although all Texas counties are "Modified-Certified Brucellosis Free" at present, 127 of these have delinquent herds and will lose their status unless certain requirements are met. When a reactor is disclosed at slaughter, the herd must be quarantined and a test date set. A dairy herd with a suspicious milk ring test must be quarantined and blood tested. All infected herds must be retested in not more than 120 days after the last retest.

MORE SCREW-WORMS

Screwworm cases continue to mount in Texas. A total of 66 cases have been confirmed through March 27.

The cooler the home, the warmer the marriage.

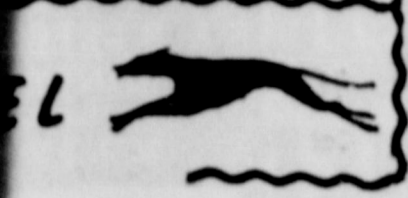

Marriages may be made in heaven, but it's hard to keep them heavenly when it's hotter than blazes. That's where central gas air conditioning comes in. It can bring you together all summer long. As close as you want. All summer long. And it won't cost you much either. In fact, if you have gas heating in your home, you could easily have half a central air conditioning system already. Because you may be able to use the duct work and furnace blower you already have. That saves about fifty percent on installation costs.

That's just part of the savings. Gas costs less to operate than electricity. And you get special low rates during the long hot summer months. But you'll save more than money with gas. You'll save time and energy, too. Because with central gas air conditioning there are fewer moving parts. Fewer breakdowns. Fewer repairs. This summer, have central gas air conditioning installed. For less.

KC Man Oversees Alaska Drilling

After retiring January 1 of this year as field superintendent for Humble Oil and Refining Company, K.S. Bates was asked to go to Alaska to oversee some drilling operations for the Alyeska Pipeline Service Company.

Bates left Midland February 13 and reported the temperature
as a comfortable 72 degrees However, on his arrival in Anchorage the temperature was a minus 25, a difference of nearly 100 degrees.

Before his assignment, Mr.
Bates took a survival course to prepare for survival in an emergency. One night was spent in a snow bank with only sleeping bags for accommodations with a
-35 degree temperature, he said.

Bates traveled by plane from Anchorage to Fairbanks spending one night, then going to work on location 200 miles north of Fairbanks at Prospect Camp, which is known as the coldest place in North America with a -60 degrees. There were 66
people in camp, he said.

All communications were done by radio, and all travel
was by helicopter and airplane.
Supplies and equipment were flown in by airplane and drilling rigs were moved by helicopters.

The Yukon River was used as a landing strip, being frozen
over as much as 42 inches deep, Bates reported.

Bates spent eight weeks in camp where location was north of the Yukon River and Arctic Circle. The coldest temperature at camp was -58 with snow
three to four feet high.

Wildlife such as moose, wolves, and caribou were in abundance. It was too cold for bears, he said.

On his trip home he stopped by June, Alaska, to visit his sister and her husband,
Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Blackwell, also visiting his son,
Wayne Bates, in Dallas.

He reported a very interesting trip and some very interesting experiences in the North Country.

TO THE PEOPLE OF KNOX COUNTY

I am very grateful to you for the fact that I do not have an opponent in either the Democratic Primary or the General Election in November. I greatly appreciate this evidence of the friendship of the people throughout my 15-county District.

Notwithstanding that fact, however, I am hereby soliciting your vote in the Democratic Primary May 6 and the General Election later in the year.

My chief concern is to represent the people of my district and to do all in my power to contribute to their well being. Knowledge of State affairs gained through 18 years of experience in the House of Representatives is available to every citizen of the 101st District. Call on me when I can be of service and let me have the benefit of your views on questions coming before the Legislature.

A Message From The Church of Christ

Three Things to Consider when Studying

There are many interpretations of God's word; some are very close to one another, and others are very far apart. Why shouldn't there be? There are many people with many different experiences and problems.

The differences can be seen most readily in worship practices. Some observe communion each and every Lord's day; others do not. Some take a collection at each meeting; others do not. Some use a choir to sing; others do not. Some use an instrument of music; others do not. Some have women preachers; others forbid this. Some practice baptism by immersion; others sprinkle. Some practice faith healing, while others teach against this, and so the list goes on.

Some people have been misinformed about the Bible and have not taken the time needed to search the scriptures, but they have confidence in someone they think does, so they follow him. Or, it may be their parents have taught them to follow a certain practice, so this is the why and how. It may be that the only zealous people they know have followed a certain practice so it is thought this must be the right way, and without really making a close investigation they invest their souls.

Whatever the situation, there is both the insincere and the sincere involved in misinterpretations of God's word.

How can we know the difference between the misguided and those actually practicing God's word? There is only one way. Contrary to some people's thinking, the Bible is not that difficult to understand. Read Isaiah 55:8. In fact, we are instructed to study by way of commandment to Timothy, 1 Tim. 2:15: Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.) Those who do search the scriptures are praised, Acts 17:11.

To study and see for yourself gives an indication you are sincerely trying to do what God says. In reading the Bible you will find many things stated as being there are not really there. You will also find there are three things to be considered before your understanding should be put into practice. These three things are extremely important in following Jesus.

1. Is there a direct commandment for such action?
2. Is there an example to follow?
3. Is any such action implied to be correct?

Throughout the New Testament there are several commandments. A commandment is simply a statement; do this or don't do that. And there are many examples throughout both Old and New Testaments. In fact, the New Testament states many things were written in the Old Testament for examples to us. The most confusing grounds and most easily misunderstood is what has been implied. The only way you can know for sure is to deny yourself and submitively study for the facts. Then find the boldness and courage to follow through on what you have learned.
