Arts, Crafts, Hobby Show This Weekend

All Knox City and area residents are reminded of the Arts, Crafts and Hobby Show set for Saturday and Sunday, June 18 and 19, in the Kindergarten building on the Munday highway.

The show will be open Saturday from 10:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. and on Sunday from 1:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. Seven sections including art, china painting. handwork, crafts, foods, collections and miscellaneous will be judged in three divisions of children, youth and adults on Friday of this week.

Fresh vegetables are to be brought to the building between the hours of eight and ten Saturday morning. They will then be judged and open for viewing Saturday afternoon.

Jamboree To Be At City Park

This month's Jamboree brings with it a move to the outdoors in the City Park due to the warm weather. It is scheduled to begin Saturday at 8:00 p.m., according to Jamboree president, Alton Hester.

A special attraction at the Jamboree will be The Westernaires, a band from W ...hita Falls.

In addition to the KC Jamboree Band, musicians from Sagerton, Rochester, and Gilliland have also indicated that they will be on hand.

Everyone should make plans now to attend this month's outdoor Jamboree and enjoy an evening of good entertainment. There is no admission charge and a concession stand will also be available as noted by their ad in this week's News.

Jamboree officials ask that those who plan to attend to

The show building will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Thursday and from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. on Friday. No entries will be accepted after this time. Sue Arnold is chairman of this event and will be assisted by Jan Watson. Bill Baker will be responsible for the vegetable division and A.A. Cox will head the antique division.

My family has a friend in the O'Brien area that is the best thing to us, she is always bringing something for us. Things like fruit cobblers, jelly, etc..lf anyone enjoys sweets it is my family. I will not mention any names, but the person will know who I'm talking about, and we want to say a big thank you for everything you have done. You know friends like this are kinda hard to come by these davs.

How is the weather treating you, as for me it is about to get the best of me. I can stand the cold weather better than the hot, and boy, oh, boy it has been hot here in O'Brien. We need a rain, I was pretty sure back when it was raining so much someone would start hollaring for rain before the summer was gone. I believe most everyone has their wheat out, so we could use some rain, maybe it would cool things up for a while.

Well, the fat is in the fire as far as the dogs are concerned here in O'Brien and I hope everyone will cooperate with

Local's Kin Dies May 28

Funeral services for William Olen (Shine) Reynolds of Modesto, California, and brother of Roy Reynolds of Knox City, were held May 30 at 3:00 p.m. in the Salas Brothers Chapel. Burial followed in Lakewood Memorial Park. Mr. Reynolds, 69, died May 28 after a lengthy illness. Born September 15, 1907 in Knox City, he had been a resident of Modesto for 50 years. He was a retired salesman for Sears Roebuck and Company and was a member of the Baptist Church. While in Knox City, he was employed by Lee Smith at the Texas Theatre. Survivors include his wife, Esther A. Reynolds of Modesto; two daughters, Barbara Oletta of Modesto and Betty Brincefield of Fort Hood; three sisters, Selah Autrey and Millie Rea, both of Modesto, and Ruth Dodson of Olney; one brother, Roy Reynolds of Knox City; and eight grandchildren.

Mr. Reynolds was unable to attend his brother's funeral.

The wheat harvest is over. everytime I look out the office window I see a combine and all the equipment that goes with it going down the road. They are on the move back to the north, until maize harvesting time and I suppose they will be coming back this way again. With so many coming from outside our area it really cuts down on the length of the time it takes to get all the wheat around here out. This makes it good for the farmer that is trying to get his crop out, but cuts down on the profits some of the local combine owners make. Some have said they do not mind the outsiders coming in, because they get through and can park their machines

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Austin-Unless you are in business for yourself, you probably haven't had the opportunity to visit personalwith any of the more than 2.000 employees of the State Comptroller's Office.

And that's unfortunate because I believe we have the most talented, dedicated and hardest working public employees in state government. Where do we get our employees and how are they selected?

I must get a dozen letters a week from job hunters asking those questions. I want to tell you a little about our recruitment program, which has become a model for other agencies. Although we are one of the larger agencies in state government with 2,000-plus employees, our turnover rate is among the lowest-which means we don't have a lot of openings. And the competition for the vacancies is keen. When a Clerk position opened recently in one of our audit offices, we had 270 applicants for the job.

The rash of applicationsmore than 10,400 have been filed with our Personnel Office since Jan. 1, 1976-has been a mixed blessing for the Department. On the positive side, it's meant that we have a large reservoir of talent from which to choose, allowing us to select highly qualified and motivated personnel. But it has placed a heavy responsibili'y on our Personnel Department, which processes and screens the applicants.

It's no secret that many Texans feel that who you know is more important than what you know in landing a state job. We are doing everything in our power to prove that cynical myth wrong. I think we are succeeding. After taking office in January, 1975, 1 ordered all vacancies to be publicly posted across the state - to give as many people as possible an equal shot at the jobs. Those vacancies are now posted in 300 locations. In an average month, some 230 applications are funneled to Personnel from our audit and enforcement offices across Texas. Another 300 job seekers apply directly to our Austin Office.

At the close of a posting, a list is compiled of all those applying directly for the job in question, as well as the names of applicants in the files meeting the necessary qualifications. The list is sent to the division director for review. In many cases, the director personally interviews several of the most qualified applicants before making a choice. The name of the applicant chosen by the director is then sent to our Equal Employment Opportunity Section for review This is a very important step, for EEO is the key element in our program to insure equal employment opportunities for all.

Working voluntarily with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, we have been the pace-setter in breaking down the barriers of racial prejudice in state

Before January, 1975, only a handful of minorities held jobs in this department. In the past two years we have placed special emphasis on the upward mobility and hiring of minorities.

Although still short of our als, we have made significant headway in equal employment opportunities in the past 28 months. And going to do an even better job in the future.

I am proud of our recruit-ment efforts, and I think all Texans should be. The better our people, the better job we can do for our employers, the taxpayers of Texas.

Total value of last year's crop was 84 per cent over the 1975 crop, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. A total of 3,307,000 bales were produced last year.

"All indications point toward an even bigger crop the state this year,' Brown said. "There is little indication so far that foreign demand will lessen and prices should remain good, despite the increased acreage."

The average price per pound of lint in 1976 for Texas upland cotton was 62.4 cents, over a third higher than 1975. American Pima sold for an average of $1.18 a pound. Cottonseed prices moved up to $99 a ton, above the $89,80-mark set the previous year.

Every spring and summer, some homeowners are troubled with flea infestations around the yard and in the home. The adult flea is a blood sucker and a potential disease carrier. The female flea lays her white eggs loosely on hairs, in feathers, or in the habitat of the nest. These readily fall off the host onto the ground, floors, bedding or furniture. Homes may easily become infested when animal pets are present in the house. The immature flea is white and wormlike (about 1/16 inch), and feeds on particles of dead animal and vegetable matter lodged in Managing Metrics Though some American consumers automatically wince at the thought of changing ounces to grams or quarts to liters, many are finding that the liquor industry's change to the metric system is making it easier for them to shop. Instead of the confusing array of 38 different sizes sold under the old system, will be bottled in six liquor standard metric sizes. For example, the old quart or 32ounce bottle will be replaced by a liter holding 33.8 ounces. The fifth, which is 25.6 fluid ounces, will give way to a 750 milliliter bottle equivalent to 25.4 ounces. The law allows a period of grace to the end of 1979 (1978 for wines) to convert fully to the metric system. and most distillers will switch over gradually as they use up supplies and place orders for new bottles.
