GRANDPAS STEP HIGH

It was with much interest a few weeks back that Knox City watched a change come over one of its old and more valuable citizens that can be brought about by only one thing, and that thing has happened again but for the benefit of a different set of families.

And what a change Mable and her husband Wilson's 8 pound and 7 ounce wad of brand new humanity makes in the appearance of grandpas and grandpa Wilson.

This morning, Thursday and the new son is yet less than a day old. Grandfather Cloutz has discovered that the Clonts Hardware and Furniture stores together are hardly sufficient in size to hold his one self, while Grandfather Wilson is all over the post office at once. Serve with a smile may mean that he likes you this morning but it more probably means that his mind is hanging around the humble door of his new first and only grand child.

Mable and the baby are doing nicely but Chad is just walking circles around himself.

It is hoped that the young father and the two spry grandfathers will survive and retain those present youthful smiles.

Ed L. Turner of Abilene was here to see his brother Ozzie Turner Tuesday. He was enroute to Childress on a business trip but will remain with his brother most of the week after his return from Childress.

TEXAS STANDS CONVICTED FOR NEGLIGENCE IN HEALTH CONDITIONS

It is not new to those familiar with the reports issued from the White House Conference at Washington as to national health conditions, and figures published by the United States Bureau of Census that our State stands under an indictment for the crime of negligence in the matter of protecting the public health. It is an astounding fact that Texas, first in area, natural resources, agricultural and cattle raising, and fifth in population; enjoying enviable climate, and boasting of rugged ancestry, is recorded as having a higher death rate per capita from preventable diseases than in true of few other states and twice that averagely experienced by Nation as a whole.

Twice the number of our people, per capita, die each year of typhoid and other fevers, diphtheria and other communicable diseases, such as infantile diarrhea, dysentery, smallpox, and hydrophobia, than are sacrificed on the average in other states thus resulting in untold economic loss, and distressing depopulation, due as it would seem to short-sighted financial consideration or indifference to humanitarian appeals. A careful and somewhat exhaustive examination discovers the ready answer to the problem. Everywhere the results in health protection are in direct ratio to the support given departments of public health, and Texas is entitled to and must insist upon at least an average opportunity. New York, Delaware, Maryland, Alabama, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Florida, Maine, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Louisiana, Tennessee, Virginia and Vermont, appropriate from twelve to forty cents per capita for public health, while the Legislature of Texas limits its State Department of Health to the pitiful and insignificant sum of three cents per inhabitant for public health service which should more efficiently serve and save the lives of our people.

per capita than our legislature allows for the health service of Texas, and we trail our four neighboring states, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Arkansas, with discrediting dreddful results.

We do not complain of the provisions made in the interest of livestock and the fish and oyster industry, but it is intolerable that more money is appropriated for the care of horses, cows, pigs, and goats than for the protection of families from ravages preventable diseases, and that a larger appropriation is awarded the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission than is provided for the humanitarian purpose of safeguarding the lives of men, women, and children; and if this unthinkable situation is to continue the Board of Health must protest this crime of carelessness, and if possible arouse public sentiment and secure cooperation.

It is believed that if legislators, endowed as they are with intellectual honesty and patriotic purpose, can find convenience to join a consideration and discussion of the problems at issue at times and places conducive to thoughtful investigation and judicial judgement, practically impossible under the disturbing conditions of crowded sessions, a working agreement as to the merits of the case can be attained, and when newspapers and other agencies educate the waiting public upon the vital questions involved, our conscientious and competent lawmakers will be amply justified in doing what they must recognize as a public duty to be pleasingly performed.

To this end, a campaign of state wide educational publicity is to be opened at Dallas, City Hall, the afternoon of December 8, at 1:30 o'clock, and to this conference, called by the State Board of Health, newspaper editors, senators and representatives, and civic minded people generally, are cordially invited and earnestly requested to come. Surely such friends will readily react to this serious challenge, a challenge to the highest humanitarian impulses and the exercise of sound economic principles essential to the solution of the important issues, and lend their coveted advice and cooperation.

This cause is a good cause, and its right settlement becomes a common responsibility not to be neglected. Members of the medical profession, civic institutions, such as Parent Teachers Associations, Federal Clubs, Veterans Bureaus, Labor organizations, county and city governing bodies, school boards, teaching faculties, and the ministry, will be warmly welcomed for their comforting and helpful associations and wise counsel.

Time: 1:30 p. m., Saturday, December 8, 1934. Place: City Hall, Dallas.

Honorable James V. Alfred, Governor-elect, and Senator Walter F. Woodul, Lieutenant Governor-elect, have accepted invitations to be honor guests of the occasion, and the full Board of Health, the President of the State Medical Association, and other officers will be in attendance.

YOUR OWN NAME

Write your name on a piece of paper and look at it for five minutes. It is the most precious thing you have, it is connected with all you are and hope to be. Your name carries the life history of hundreds of men and women.

Your father gave it to you. He had his youth many temptations to change his name, but wore it ever like white plumage over his heart.

One day your father went and offered his name to a beautiful young woman. She blushed and hesitated, then her father and mother inquired the name he offered was a good one.

Finally your mother accepted your name, and she did not wear an engagement ring with half the assurance that she did your name.

Then, they gave that name to you. Your name was sung into your baby ears on the music of your mother's cradle song. It was taken to the crone of God on the white prayers of hopes of your sweet mother. It never faded.

Your father looked into your pudgy little face and breathed a sigh of relief as he thought, "Now I have given my name to a human soul."

More than all earthly possessions an untarnished name. Yet how silly a good name is lost. It is harder to regain than it is to find when the lost gold in sunken ships. How do you treat your name?

Is the local merchant glad when you see your name on his account book?

How does the banker feel when you lodge him to lend you some money? Will he have to discount your paper, because your name is not worth 100 per cent?

If the pastor of your little church wrote a line after the names of church members, what would be put after yours?

The Bible says: "A good name is better to be chosen than great riches."

If you and I in our poorest moments were given the choice of either anything else, we might take the one. But every man who has gotten me at the sacrifice of his good name has lived to regret his bargain.

Do you not know with your name will be given to another? It may be your own child or perhaps some other woman who will bear your name and name their child after you.

Do you not know that we shall name in Heaven and talk in the Lamb's Book of Life.

Do you not know as you do your name and your inner honor, for what we will think the other.

Is it a great and pleasing thing to and breathe a name that will stand?

Would it be our communication with you gone?

Do you not know over a book of good names that may have faded without a stain of desecration?

Do you and I have enough sense to do likewise.

Do you not know the exact age of me, but it's old enough to know.

Knox City, Texas—Nov. 30, 1934. The Knox City Greyhounds ended their 1934 football season with a big win over Munday, 19 and 12. The Greyhounds had a tough time with their defense, having four men out, but managed to outscore the Moguls and win.

Munday started off in a hurry and scored in the first quarter on a drive from midfield, a pass from the 5 yard line. Ralph Layne to Pruitt carried the ball over. The ball was fumbled on their try for point and recovered by a Greyhound, stopping the play. The Greyhounds scored in the second quarter on a pass from B. E. Bryan to George Hodges. A line plunge failed on the extra point and the score was tied, 6 and 6 at the half.

The Greyhounds scored again soon after the half starter when B. E. Bryan cut off left tackle, reversed the field and ran 55 yards for a touchdown. A pass, B. E. to Loyd Huntsman was good for the extra point, making the score, Knox City 13 Munday 6.

The Moguls scored in the last quarter on a plunge from the 1 yard line. They had brought the ball down the field with a good passing attack. A pass went over the end zone for their try for point and the Greyhounds were leading 13-12. The Greyhounds made their final score late in the 4th quarter. Loyd Huntsman plowed through the line and ran over the entire Munday secondary for 25 yards and a touchdown. The try for point was missed. This made the score Knox City 19 Munday 12. Munday came right up the field with some passes but the game ended with the ball in the Mogul's possession on the 25 yard line.

FOOTBALL IS PRESENTED TO THE STUDENT BODY

During assembly Monday morning each football boy gave a short talk concerning Friday's football results and our successful football season. Coach Wetzel presented the football, won from Munday to Captain John Elbert Smith and he, in turn, presented it to the student body.

The ball is to be placed on the trophy shelf with the names of the players and coaches, when the game was played and the score written on it.

We value this ball very much and it means much to the football boys for it stands for three months of hard work and training. We appreciate the boys efforts in winning it for us.

GIRLS BASKETBALL TEAM IS DEFEATED BY SUNSET

The girls basketball team gave a 30-14 victory, November 27, at the Sunset gym.

Knox Clay fought hard all through the game and held Sunset closely to check the last half. The game was played on a three divided court. The girls feel that they would have been more successful if they had played two-division but Sunset, upon request, refused to play them this way.

This game was a very unusual one for Reba Whorton for she played 14 minutes before fouling off.

Margaret Jarvis, Sunset forward, fainted during the last half but she was back in the game before the finish.

The girls beat Rochester girls in the O'Brien gym Friday night. The game was a hard fought one but the Greyhounds came through winning the game 13-5.

FOR THE LOVELORN

It was real fun to see the red frog stand on his hind legs and shout to the people that the machine was in good condition and there was no back payments due on it, and the sparrow laughed and laughed for she knew she had tacks in her craw when it began snowing like rain on a flat rock. It was a real joke on the fat boy for the dog wasn't hungry and the cat sat down on the eggs. When in from the north came the south wind and in a puff of squall shouted, "ain't the gray good?" and the emaciated little figure cringed against the wall and yelled to the elevator boy, "Fine thanks!"

Moral: I can't give you anything but love, Baby.

THE "WEAKER" SEX

A little Freshman girl was asked to explain the crossmarks on the inside of her notebook. She replied that they stood for the number of kisses she had been kissed by upper classmen. She explained further that the big ones stood for Seniors, the middle-sized ones for Juniors and the smaller ones for Sophomores. And when Miss Aote, she explained pointing to these little dots, stood for Freshmen. Every five Freshmen equal one dot.
