Streams In Desert Places

By Ozelle Stephens

Each day as we close our books are we checking upon ourselves — on our thinking — on our words? Are we becoming proverbially stricken in our spiritual intellect? Are we exchanging thoughts with others that we have received from Bible reading? Are we speaking words concerning the things of the Lord? Or are our petty differences and the gossip we hear more important than the Bible concepts of christian living and service, or of being tolerant and understanding with every one? In obeying the words of Jesus to love and bless those that persecute brings floods of greater blessings and the higher the spirit of God lifts you. Thinking on the wonderful things of God and giving Him praise will help you to close your daily books with happiness and victory in your soul.
