Hounds Rack Up No. 3

again kicked the PAT.

Top defenders of the Greyhounds were Robert Taylor, Rudy Hernandez, Don Swearinger, Cliff Ray, Ray Hernandez, Bo Johnson, Joe Huff, and Mark Howell.

Friday night the Greyhounds meet the Quanah Indians on the Greyhound field beginning at 8:00 p.m.

The First Baptist Church will host the after-game fellowship immediately following the game in the Fellowship Hall.

Other area scores Friday were Aspermont 25, Jayton 0; Rule 46, Munday 6; Haskell 26, Seymour 12; Memphis 6, Crowell 0; and Quanah 12, Clarendon 7.

Greyhounds Praised In Pre-Season Games

Coach Don Mullins' Knox City Greyhounds have recently been praised by sports editors in both the Abilene Reporter-News and the Wichita Falls Times and Record News.

The undefeated Hounds, who boast a 3-0 record, have scored a total of 109 points (36.3 per game average) and held opponents to only six points during the first three games. Archer City scored on the Greyhounds Friday night during a wet and rainy game with the final score ending 35-6 with the third Greyhound victory of the season. Previous games were the season's opener with Rochester and then the following week with Rule. The Hounds blanked both teams 34-0 and 40-0 respectively.

Charlie Flye, 5-9, 145-pound junior is "flying high" above all others in scoring among District 7-A players. He has scored 10 touchdowns and has one PAT tallying a total of 62 points for the KC Hounds. Flye also has averaged over 100 yards rushing in the three pre-season contests.

Knox City is also fortunate to have one of the finest quarterbacks in the area, senior Joey Swain, and also senior receivers Donald Swearinger and Eddie Johnson.

Juniors Al Bateman, Jerry Stamps, and Dale Bloxham are three exceptional backs which help spark the Greyhound defense.

According to Mullins, probably the top Greyhound player is senior Robert Taylor, who "has got to be one of the top linemen in North Texas. He's just unbelievable...he's the best lineman I've ever coached."

The district championship should probably be decided on October 25 when the Hounds take on the Crowell Wildcats here at Greyhound Stadium. This game has been dubbed as being one of the top Class A showdowns in the state.

District 7-A pre-season standings are Knox City and Aspermont tied with a 3-0 record followed by Crowell and Archer City sharing a 2-1 record; Haskell sports a 1-2 slate, and Munday is 0-3 for the season.

In tomorrow night's action Knox City will meet the Quanah Indians here at Greyhound Stadium with kickoff time set at 8:00 o'clock. Other 7-A games include Aspermont at Throckmorton, Crowell at Chillicothe, Goree at Paducah, Haskell at Stamford, and Rochester at Munday.

Ray Farabee Visits Here

Ray Farabee, Democratic nominee for the 30th district state senate post being vacated by Jack Hightower, campaigned in Knox City Tuesday afternoon.

The Wichita Falls businessman and attorney spent the afternoon visiting with citizens in the downtown area. He came to Knox City from Munday where he spoke to the noon Lions Club on Wills and Estate Planning.

In the late afternoon, Farabee made campaign swings through Rochester and O'Brien before returning to Knox County.

On Tuesday night, the League Ranch was the site of a meeting between Farabee and county judges and commissioners from the area. County officials from 20 of the 29 counties in the senatorial district were invited to participate in the informal give and take.

Knox County Judge Sam Clonts presided at the session.

Throughout his primary campaign Farabee has stressed his concern about over-regulation by state and federal government and urged that more problems be solved at the local level.

Following the Tuesday night meeting, Farabee stated that similar meetings would be held often if he were elected in the November 5 general election.

"I believe that a senator must have continuous, direct communication with officials at the local level in order to do the best job possible and find common sense answers to common problems," observed Farabee.

On Monday night the candidate attended the annual meeting and chili supper of the Throckmorton County Farm Bureau.

Next Tuesday he will attend the Democratic Rally in Haskell along with Governor Dolph Briscoe and other candidates for state and local office.

Sales Tax Check Reflects Increase

Sales in Knox City increased during April, May, and June, according to the increase reflected in the city sales tax check received here last week for the second quarter.

City secretary Mrs. Faye Railsback said the check, in the amount of $5,670.70, was $701.66 above the check received for the first quarter of this year, and $508.13 above the check received for the second quarter last year.

Clonts Elected Caucus Chairman

Knox County and the rural areas were well-represented at the State Democratic Convention held Tuesday, September 16, in Austin.

Judge Sam Clonts of Knox City was elected chairman of the 30th Senatorial District Caucus defeating L.H. McCullough of Wichita Falls Monday night prior to the opening of the convention.

Charles Stenholm of Stamford was named district Democratic committeeman and Mrs. James Snyder of Baird was re-elected as committeewoman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

M.L. Wiggins of Munday was elected to the platform committee.

Other delegates attending from Knox County included Bruce Campbell Jr., J.E. Reeves, and Wallace Moorhouse, with alternates Laura Clonts, Mary Margaret Campbell, Claud Richardson, Katherine Moorhouse, and Mrs. Reeves.

Fall Arrives With More Showers

Fall made its debut Monday bringing with it chilly temperatures and more rain-fall.

Rain began falling again late Sunday night, after two days of "dry" weather and up until press time, the Plant Materials Center, located four miles northwest of town, had received four inches making a total of 7.63 inches since Sunday, September 15.

The much needed moisture is too late for the cotton but just right to sow grains.

Monday's high of 56 degrees and Tuesday's 49 degrees tell us Fall is definitely here.

Chess Club To Meet

The Knox County Chess Club will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday night, October 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

'Naughty Nellie' Shows Up Here

An object, hidden away in a drawer in a home in Knox City for the past four years, may bring attention to our town.

Mrs. Weldon (Estelle) Skiles was spending a restful Sunday afternoon browsing through the papers when her attention was drawn to a story and picture in the Wichita Falls Times. Mrs. Skiles related that the picture captured her eye, and she kept trying to remember where she had seen a similar object.

then, all of a sudden, it came to her. In one of their household drawers, on the very bottom to be exact, she had hidden a small, but heavy, black object brought from her father's home in Virginia four years ago. She said she had hidden it because it was so repulsive looking, and she

'NAUGHTY NELLIE' wasn't sure why she had kept it, except it was very old looking.

State editor George Works related in his Sunday story that "Naughty Nellie", a bootjack, is the five pound, foot tall iron furniture whose utilitarian use defied definition until August of this year when a cousin of owner Mrs. Barbara Ledbetter of Graham, Texas, found a long-lost sister ensconced in a museum in Vermont.

Works wrote that another Naughty Nellie's existence became known through a recent newspaper article and the new-found sister is in Lime Springs, Iowa, where she was viewed in a small private museum by Sandra Davis of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Skiles since has learned from Mrs. Don Mullins that her father, H.A. Sherman of Haskell, has had one in his possession for a number of years, also.

This now makes five, and it is not certain just how many of these "sisters" are in existence.

An earlier newspaper article explained that Nellie dates from the Victorian era.

Local Artists Win At Haskell Fair

Several local women representing Knox City and the Civic Art Club entered the Haskell County Fair Art Show last week in Haskell.

Melanie Whitley won Best of Show in the Professional Art Division with her landscape "Picket Fence in the Snow" done in oil glazes on board. She also won first place in Still Life with "My Things."

Dean Johnston won first place in the portrait competition with a full length portrait of her grandson, Chance, titled "Growing."

Mary Hope Carr and Sue Clayton entered two paintings each in the Professional Competition.

Annette Hester entered one coat decoupage in the picture division.

The rally is scheduled to get underway promptly at 10:00 a.m. with speeches from State Rep. Bill Heatley; John White, Commissioner of Agriculture; Ray Farabee, candidate for State Senator; Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby; and many others. Following the Governor's address, a barbecue luncheon will be held catered by Clifford Teinert of Albany. Teinert won the recent Big Country Cowboy Cookoff held Labor Day in Old Abilene Town.

The Herman Marcus plant, which manufactures ladies' garments, will hold open house all afternoon following the barbecue and visitors are urged to view the modern facility.

The plant was opened in Haskell December 1973 and present plans call for the employment of 100 employees at the end of one year's operation.

Notice

Because of the rain earlier in the week, the Lions Club Carnival was not open Tuesday night. However, it will be open for business tonight (Thursday) instead. In order not to conflict with the Greypup and JV games already scheduled, the carnival will remain open later than the regular scheduled closing time.

Announcement:
The St. Paul Baptist Church is having a Mission Service on Friday night. Sis. Dorothy Alexander has asked the ladies to come. (The 5th Sunday Joint Mission Service will be held at the Munday Church Sunday evening.)

"Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over." Psalms 23:5.
David climbed to new heights as he tells of God's goodness and mercy to his children. It is God who provides a table of good things, a cup running over with an abundance of all that is necessary for our bodily needs. God also provides spiritual food for our souls to feast upon. The question is, are we accepting the blessings that he is providing with love and thanksgiving in our hearts, or are we taking part in sinful things to gratify our own passions? This ruins Christian influence and destroys peace of mind and health. We all know that if God does not bestow an abundance of temporal blessings upon us, it's our own fault if it isn't made up to us in spiritual blessings.
Sit close to Him at His table and enjoy streams of His blessings and love.

Coaches and Players Perform Better With Enthusiastic Fans

(Editor's Note: The following article was written by Ralph B. McKenzie of the Elgin, Illinois Courier-News, and because it is so applicable to high school football, we are using it in its entirety.)

I attended a high school football game the other evening. It might have been any one of several played on gridirons throughout the country. The aftereffects were undoubtedly the same.

Oh, it's a thrilling sight to see the teams come on the field, geared to the peak of enthusiasm, perfect specimens of youthful physical development going through their pre-game calisthenics.

Enthusiasm Great
It's great to see the local fans, parents and students "whooping it up" while the band, resplendent in their uniforms, goes through their formations and musical fanfares.

I must admit my enthusiasm was smothered somewhat when the color guard presented Old Glory. True, the teams perfectly disciplined, bared their heads and stood at attention, but of those hundreds of enthusiastic spectators, only a handful sang out the words of our National Anthem.

Awful Silence
At first I thought maybe it was the chilly night air and the dampness that brought on hoarseness. But I soon realized some had not lost their voices at all, in fact they were very willing to shout out above the cheerleaders chant and the student response.

But these spectators were not shouting encouragement to a bunch of boys who had sacrificed many after school coke-dates, had trained religiously to achieve physical fitness, had nursed sore muscles and sprains in therapy at the expense of late cold suppers and still believed the smell of sweaty shirts and mildew was more character-building than the essence of cologne and hair spray.

Ridiculing the Effort
No, they were shouting ridicule and criticism to a coaching staff that had devoted their education and their lifetime to the building of men.

True, many of these coaches, stars in their day, might have gone on to play professionally at high salaries, but they chose instead a comparatively low salaried position of teaching and coaching.

Grandstand 'Experts'
Sure, these grandstand quarterbacks could think of a better play that should have been called after one failed to give the necessary yardage. They complained because the team didn't pull off the offensive maneuvers they had apparently watched on the pro TV screen.

So I said to myself, "What did they come to see? What do they hope to accomplish?" They saw dozens of well-executed plays, lots of jarring tackles, hard blocking, deceptive running, sharp accurate passing, and, as a result, heard the resounding roar of several touchdowns.

Came To Find Fault
But that wasn't enough. No, our grandstand quarterbacks, many of whom never suited up when they attended school, came to find fault rather than shout encouragement.

This might have its place in the professional arenas where high salaried participants make their living, but not on a high school level where the entire staff is striving to eliminate dropouts, encourage scholastic achievement, and combat delinquency with proper discipline and programming.

I wondered how long it would be before the students themselves would decide to carry picket signs declining to attend certain teachers' classes if this public nuisance continues.

Players Lose Sight
I saw the shoulders of some of our athletes sag a little bit, when they heard a win-thirsty fan deride their coach whom they had learned to love and respect.

Maybe that's why only the bravest, most devoted, will continue to come out year after year, while their long-haired classmates turn to cars and girls or rove in gangs the long night through.

I Cheer for Them
My hat is off to the coach that can continue to put the emphasis on sportsmanship, desire, and the building of men rather than the mere won-lost ratio at the end of the season.

And I'll be there again to cheer the boys on, because win or lose, it doesn't matter, it's how they played the game.

FHA NEWS by Patti Counts

If you found an FHA sticker on your windshield a couple of weeks ago, it meant that your windshield had been washed by the FHA. This is simply our way of saying we're getting into action.

Another way of getting into action was to assist in registration at the Plant Materials Center Field Day. Those participating were Debbie Reese, Sarah McGaughey, Kary Kent, Sherry Jackson, Gayle Tankersley, Stacy Angle, Patti Counts, Pam Skiles, Vickie Berryman, Carolyn Orr, Melinda Hewitt, Cindy Albus, Lisa Elston, and Judy Morgan. We would like to thank these girls for doing such a good job representing our organization.

HOMEMAKING I NEWS by Angie Rios

This past week in Homemaking I a lady named Judy Lowe from the West Texas Utility Co. came. She showed us some electrical grooming appliances. Some of us got to use them if we wanted. She gave us some Guide Lines on buying electrical appliances such as: (1) Do you really need it? (2) How often will you use it? (3) Do you have storage space? (4) Is it manufactured by a reputable company? (5) What type of guarantee does it have? (6) Where can it be serviced during and after the guarantee? (7) Does it carry the UL approval? (8)

Price. We also had a fingernail manicure.

As the year goes along, you will find I omit many names and offices. Last week I listed Brenda Harris as a member of FTA but omitted her office of Treasurer. Sorry, Brenda!!

Notes From Nancy

BY NANCY FUHRKEN
Assistant County Extension Agent

What kind of food shopper are you? Do you fight your way through the store, having a miserable time-- or do you look forward to the shopping trip?

Good planning is the key to making food shopping a pleasant experience rather than a chore.

The shopper who thinks of it as a chore is usually the one who spends the longest time in the store and the most money on unneeded items.

The best aid to efficient grocery shopping is to make a list before you go. Arranging the list in the same order as the foods appear in the store is a real time and money saver.

If you know what you need and where to find it, you won't spend your shopping time looking on all the aisles for just a few items. You'll arrive home with the foods you need -- for the money you expected to spend.

Although a person's calorie needs decrease as he ages, he still must take in proper nutrients, Miss Nancy Fuhrken, County Extension Agent, notes.

To make sure he gets proper nutrients, an older person's diet should include foods from each of the Four Food Groups--in the recommended amounts.

For example, he needs two cups of milk or other milk group foods each day. Also two servings of meat or meat substitutes, four servings of the bread and cereal group.

For in-between meal snacks choose food from the daily Four Food quota, she advised.

Fresh fruit, cottage cheese, milk, crisp raw vegetables, yogurt, spiced hot tomato juice, or a slice of cheese on rye bread offer tasty, nutritious snacks--plus being convenient.

Packaged pastries and candies, in contrast, "eat up" calorie allowance quickly but furnish little nutritional benefit, Miss Fuhrken said.

So, for the best health during aging, cut out calories carefully, the agent emphasized.

The Four Food Groups should be basic to a person's eating plan.

Price Asks Crackdown On Food Stamp Abuse

The number of people on welfare in this nation was down at the end of 1973 for the first time in history. Some 10.8 million people were on welfare at the end of the year, down from the 11 million peak reached in March of last year. This was primarily due to the efforts by the Nixon Administration to encourage the states to crack down on welfare abuses.

That was a good start but plenty of abuse remains in the welfare system and in the food stamp program. I have received a number of complaints from people who have observed apparent food stamp abuses. It certainly looks improper when a person fills a grocery basket with non-essential, almost luxury items, pays with food stamps, then piles the purchases in a new expensive car and drives away. I would encourage anyone witnessing such an apparent violation to note the car's license number or to observe other identifying characteristics and to report the occurrence to the local food stamp distribution office.

Such actions by good citizens have often resulted in removal from welfare and food stamp roles of persons no longer eligible for assistance.

No one is opposed to offering a genuine helping hand to someone who needs it. But no taxpayer should be asked to support individuals who do not merit assistance.

Welfare and food stamp abuses are often difficult to track down. The cost of hiring enough employees to adequately check on every recipient is often prohibitive. But some improvements can and should be made.

Welfare should be specifically tied to an active job search on the part of unemployed persons capable of working. It should be designed so that real incentive exists to get off the welfare roles. Unfortunately, the current system too often encourages recipients to extend their dependency upon public assistance.

California Governor Ronald Reagan initiated a study of welfare and food stamp programs in his state last year and the findings are reported in a 70-page proposal made public Sept. 6. This document should be studied at the federal level and in all the other states as well. The California study found costly abuses particularly in the food stamp program.

The food stamp program has multiplied rapidly from 367,000 recipients in 1964 to some 13 million today. Part of this increase is because Congress has specifically provided food stamps for strikers, a

CONSERVE AND SAVE ON ELECTRIC COOKING

Today's modern electric range offers you a host of special features which assure uniform cooking results each time. You'll find that cooking electrically is clean, cool and economical.

For best results, use flat bottom utensils with tight fitting covers. Utensils of medium or heavy weight aluminum conduct heat faster, transfer heat evenly and respond quickly to temperature changes.

Match the utensil to the size of the unit. Use 8 inch units for large utensils. Use 6 inch units for small to average sized pans.

Use high setting for a quick start for any surface cooking, or to boil water quickly. When cooking temperature is reached, switch to a lower setting.

Do not pre-heat the oven for roasting or broiling, but do pre-heat the oven to the temperature given in the recipe for baking.

Select correct, measured heat. The accurate heat selector switch or oven thermostat enables you to select, exactly, the same correct temperature each time you use it.

For good heat distribution around the pans, when baking, they should not touch the sides of the oven or each other. Allow one inch clearance. Check for doneness at minimum baking time on recipe, don't keep opening oven door to peek.

Reports Required From SSI Recipients

The Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program administered by the Social Security Administration requires reports from recipients that are not required from people receiving only social security benefits, according to Kenneth R. King, manager of the Vernon Social Security Office. It is important that people receiving the SSI payments be aware of their obligations.

"For example," King said, "a person receiving social security may not have to report if he is working, unless he is disabled, if he does not expect to make over $2400 in a year. A person receiving Supplemental Security Income must report any work he or she does. Also, any other income that a social security beneficiary would not normally report -- such as prizes, gifts, increases in other pensions, interest payments, etc -- must be reported by those receiving SSI payments.

"There are other points to remember," King went on. "If a person moves, we have to know not only to send the checks to the proper address but also to see if there is a change in the living arrangements of the person receiving SSI. If a husband and a wife separate, or a person enters an institution, or a death occurs, the Social Security Office should be notified immediately so that the individual's eligibility can be redetermined."

First Citrus Starts Out From Valley

AUSTIN--Between 150-200 cartons of navel oranges were harvested and were on their way to market the first week of September, marking the first shipment of oranges from the Lower Rio Grande Valley for the 1974 season.

Grapefruit picking was expected to begin by mid-September, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

Although the U. S. Department of Agriculture has not released its estimate of the Valley crop, White said a reduction of 40 percent from last year is expected due to a December freeze.

Production loss will be felt mainly at plants that produce juices. Fresh shipments of citrus are expected to equal last year's. About 13 million cartons were produced in the valley in 1973.

ments of the person receiving SSI. If a husband and a wife separate, or a person enters an institution, or a death occurs, the Social Security Office should be notified immediately so that the individual's eligibility can be redetermined."

People receiving SSI payments should ask their Social Security Office for pamphlet number 73-11010--Your Claim for Supplemental Security Income. It will remind them of their obligations to report all items that may cause a change in payments. For further information, contact the Vernon Social Security office at 1701 Cumberland Street or phone 817 552-9346.

Quality High But Cotton Prices Low

AUSTIN--Though cotton quality and yields from the Lower Rio Grande Valley harvest have been high, prices on uncontracted cotton remain lower than most farmers are willing to accept, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Cotton is currently selling at 43-50 cents a pound and many growers appear to be holding back for better prices. About half the crop was contracted early in the Valley for an average of 65 cents.

Reports also indicate a sluggish market abroad where U. S. cotton is facing sharper competition this year. White said trading has been marked by a slowdown in demand and increased production and exportable supplies from other countries.

It is estimated that U.S. cotton exports could decline to between 5.2 and 4.7 million bales or lower compared with 6.2 million in 1973-74.

Cotton harvest has ended in the Valley and is in its final stages along the Coastal Bend. It has reached its peak in the Upper Coastal Bend and is progressing rapidly in Central Texas.

Stamps' Comments

Offensively we were slow at first and gained momentum in the second half. Grade-wise, Jerry Stamps led the offensive scoring with an 87% effort followed by Charlie Flye with 83%, Robert Taylor 83%, Jimmy Lynn 83%, Eddie Johnson 78%, Joey Swain 78%, and Cliff Ray with a 74% effort. This week's average on offense was 70% as compared to 64% last week against Rule.

Charlie Flye and Jerry Stamps led the backs in rushing and Don Swearnger caught the longest gain in the passing department.

Our grading system is such that every one isn't mentioned that plays; for instance, we only give out offensive grades to a player that plays a total of 10 offensive plays so in some instances a player could play nine offensive plays and not get an offensive grade. We are getting a lot of help in this department from players such as Rusty Grimsley, Randy Lewis, Donny Skiles, and Bruce Railsback. The same thing applies on the defensive score sheet. You have to play defense to score points and some of our players haven't played any defense.

Bruce Railsback was shaken up on one play, breaking his collar bone. We hate to lose Bruce, who will probably be out the rest of the season.

We meet a week by week improved Quannah team Friday night. They beat top ranked Clarendon last Friday and will gain some momentum from that victory. They aren't as experienced as they were last year but have some big people and a few quality players back from last year. Their type of game goes good in the mud, and if the farmers don't mind, we would like to see some sun this week to dry the Hounds out.

Windthorst Dumps 7th and 8th Grades

by Coach Jerry Lowrey
The Greypups took two defeats from Windthorst last Thursday. The 7th grade opened their season by losing 14-0. The Pups played real well for their first game of the year and will improve greatly as the season progresses.

The 8th grade team played a fine game, improving at least 100% over the Rule game.

Jimmy Rushing got the Pups off to an early lead by scoring in the first half giving the Pups a 6-0 lead. The Pups held this until late in the second half when Windthorst blocked a punt on the Pup's ten yard line and went in to score and then ran over the two point conversion. Windthorst then scored another TD late in the 4th quarter for their final margin of 14-6.

The Pups play Rule here Thursday (tonight) at 6:30 o'clock for one game only.

Luncheon Opens Year For Retired Teachers

The initial meeting of the Knox County Retired Teachers Association was held Tuesday, September 24, in the Community Center at 12 noon with a covered dish luncheon.

Hostesses were Mmes. Mary Bigham, Jewel Lea, and Sudia Cash.

Guest speaker for the program was Olsen Sweat, Assistant State Director of the Retired Teachers of Texas. He was accompanied by his wife and their home is in Colorado City.

Mr. Sweat's subject was legislation concerning the organization's members. He described plans and projects which are now before the state and national governments which might aid retired teachers.

He suggested that the R.T.A. try to enlist more people in the organization, not only retired teachers but others who are interested in education as associate members.

Mrs. Sudia Cash presided for the business. Year books were distributed and Mrs. Cash informed the group that they were subtitled Knox City School Dept. W.R. Baker, Mrs. Melanie Whitley, and Mrs. Mary Beth Smith for their help in compiling the year books. The county membership in now 35, with a goal of 50 for this year.

Community chairmen are Mmes. Ruth McCaughey, Benjamin; Betty Taylor, Goree; Thelma Jamison, Gilliland; Mary Vaughan, Knox City; Ina Cowan, Munday; Virginia Casey, Truscott; and Ila Moody, Weinert.

Some of the projects include Seeking better retirement for teachers; Cooperating with community on the Bi-Centennial observance; Visiting the shut-ins; Providing good reading material for the Hospital and Nursing Homes; Being interested in politics; and Visiting the Public Schools.

Special emphasis was placed on the October 22 program, when the guest speaker will be John C. Brown with the State Department of Public Safety. His subject will be "Self Protection for Women."

Everyone is invited to attend.

Knox City Graduate Pledges Sorority

Cindy Delata Anton has pledged Delta Zeta Social Sorority at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Miss Foster, a sophomore at WTSU, is the daughter of former residents, the Rev. and Mrs. B.J. Foster, now residing at Anton.

The average Texan consumes around 64 pounds of dressed pork annually, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has said.

Peanuts: Roast 'Em At Home

AUSTIN—Texas, second biggest peanut producer in the country, raises enough of the high-protein food to keep everyone supplied in afternoon snacks.

A 3½-ounce serving of peanuts contains more protein than the same amount of cooked hamburger, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Peanuts have long been a favorite addition to candy and other sweets. But Texas Department of Agriculture home economists suggest buying raw peanuts in the shell and making a family affair of preparing them right in the kitchen.

One simple old-fashioned recipe is for Roasted Peanuts. Place one or two layers of raw, shelled peanuts in a pie plate or other flat pan. Bake in a moderate oven, stirring occasionally until the red skins may be rubbed off with fingers. This will take 15-20 minutes. Do not let the peanuts get too brown. Roasting peanuts in the shell will take a little longer.

For Salted Peanuts, place raw shelled peanuts in a bowl and blanch them by pouring boiling water over them. Place peanuts in a small saucepan containing enough melted butter or peanut oil to cover partially. Place in the oven or on top of the stove and while stirring fry until peanuts turn cream colored. Remove with a small skimmer, taking up as little oil as possible. Drain and sprinkle lightly with salt.

TRY PEANUT PIE—Peanuts have always been a popular snack food. Now Texas Department of Agriculture home economists have devised a new way to eat the high-protein favorite—in a pie. For additional recipes write Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Tex. 78711.

TEXAS PEANUT PIE

2 Tbsp. flour
½ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup cold water
1 cup dark corn syrup

3 eggs
2 Tbsp. butter
1 cup salted peanuts
½ cup coconut
1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell

Combine flour, sugar and salt. Add water and syrup, blending well and boiling gently 3-5 minutes. Slowly pour mixture into slightly beaten eggs, stirring continuously. Add butter. Spread peanuts and coconut over bottom of pie shell. Pour filling into crust. Bake at 425 degrees 10 minutes. Reduce heat and bake at 350 degrees 20 minutes.

For additional recipes write Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Tex. 78711.

County Farmers To Complete Great Plains Conservation Work

Five Knox County farmers will complete their conservation work under the Great Plains Conservation Program this year according to Arche Lieb of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service at Knox City.

Lieb also reports that additional GPCP funds are now available for assisting producers establish conservation practices on their farm or ranch. Applications for assistance under the program can be made at the SCS office in Knox City, Lieb said.

Cost share assistance through the GPCP covers all phases of conservation work on the farm or ranch. Cost sharing ranges from 50% to 80% depending on the type of practice needed. Lieb said a contract can be prepared to complete the needed conservation work in from three to ten years depending on the type of operation and desires of the producer.

Some of the contracts expiring this year took as long as eight years to complete, Lieb explained. These completed contracts represent many acres of grassed waterways, farm ponds, miles and miles of parallel terraces, diversion terraces, brush control, grass plantings, and conservation cropping systems. The completed contract work will have a great impact on pollution abatement by controlling both wind and water erosion, he said.

Study Club Hears Clyde Woman Speak

The Knox City Study Club opened the year last Thursday with a program on Federation.

Mrs. John Berry of Clyde, president of Mesquite District, was guest speaker. She used as her theme for the year, "Friendship - The Golden Key," bringing out the thought that a real friend is one who knows all about you, yet loves you.

A question and answer session on Federation followed.

The special music was presented by Charlotte Griffith, soloist, who was accompanied by Mrs. E.Q. Warren.

A short business meeting was held, beginning with the salute to the flag. Each member answered roll call with what Federation means to me.

Mrs. Lena McGee, president, discussed the year-books.

Refreshments were served to 14 members and three visitors by hostesses Virginia Casey, Delia Kay, and Mrs. McGee.

Producers completing GPCP contracts this year are Claudell Bratcher, Wilfred Bellinghausen, Elvis Blake, George Montandon, and Kenneth Baker.

Producers recently applying for assistance through the GPCP are Juanita Burnett, N.L. Looney, Leon Speer, and O.D. Propps.

Farabee Protests Increase On Gasoline Tax

"A ten cent tax on each gallon of gasoline will not help solve the problem of inflation. It will increase inflation and put an additional burden on both consumers and producers," according to Ray Farabee, Democratic nominee for the Texas Senate from the 30th District.

Farabee communicated his views to U.S. Congressmen and other officials in Washington after learning that such a proposal was being considered.

The Wichita Falls businessman and attorney was very specific in pointing out the problems such a tax would create for the farmers and ranchers who already face inflated prices for all agricultural inputs. A tax increase on gasoline utilized in agricultural production would have to be passed on to the consumer in the form of increased food prices.

Farabee also pointed out the problems of people in this district that are living on fixed incomes and the devastating effect a ten cent a gallon gasoline tax would have on them.

"I urge the people of this district to send a card or letter to Congressman Omar Burleson or Congressman Bob Price and state their views on this matter. Farmers and ranchers should see that their feelings are also known to the Department of Agriculture," Farabee stated.

"A ten cent tax per gallon of gasoline would not be in the best interests of the citizens of the 30th District, Texas or the nation," concluded Farabee.

Farabee will address an Old-Time Political Rally sponsored by the Democratic Women of Wichita County this Thursday. Senator Jack Hightower, Democratic nominee for U.S. Congress from the 13th District, will also speak to the group.

COTTON BOOSTS CASH RECEIPTS-Texas ranked third in 1973 cash receipts for crops and livestock, more than doubling its receipts for cotton, feed crops, food grains and vegetables. According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, cotton production alone amounted to more than $914 million. Current reports indicate that this year's acreage for harvest will be down, mainly because of the High Plains drought. Grades of cotton harvested in the Lower Rio Grande Valley were reportedly higher than last year.

Reservoir Project Near Completion

With the completion of the dam creating Millers Creek Reservoir last week, and plenty of hard rain, four area towns could begin receiving water in October.

In approximately three weeks the construction of the reservoir's water treatment plant, the final project, will be finished and pumping can begin from the lake to Haskell, Goree, Munday, and Knox City.

About five or six inches of hard, fast rain will be needed before pumping can begin, according to Pete Beecher, general manager of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority. Pumping cannot begin until rainfall brings the level to 5,000 to 6,000 acre feet, he explained. "We certainly hope that we'll have enough rain by October to start pumping," he said.

Development of the reservoir, owned by the water authority, began in the fall of 1972. With the completion of the first of six work projects, the laying of 51 miles of supply line in December of that year. The dam, the next to last project, was finished Thursday of last week, and all that remains to be done is the treatment plant hook-up, testing of the automation system, and landscaping of the area, Beecher said.

The capacity of the man-made lake is 25,520 acre-feet, with $3,889,392 total cost of developing the reservoir, which is up about two percent from the original cost set two years ago.

The four member towns of the water authority now get their water from underground wells. Beecher said the underground water contains too many nitrates and mineral solids to be approved by the State Health Department.

The main purpose for creating the water authority and developing the reservoir is to provide the four towns with an adequate supply of approved water.

Precautions Needed When Canning Food

AUSTIN-Recent reports of botulism in home canned tomatoes, apparently caused by improper canning procedures have prompted Agriculture Commissioner John C. White to warn consumers to take proper care when canning food.

White said low acid vegetables such as corn, peas and green beans are also common botulism sources when home-canned.

According to widely scattered reports, jars and lids made specifically for canning have been difficult to find this year. Nevertheless, Texas Department of Agriculture home economists strongly advised against reusing lids and cracked or chipped odd-sized or shaped jars.

The commissioner said, "Home canning is an inexpensive way to provide high quality fruits and vegetables for the family. But foods should be carefully selected and processed to maintain the highest health standards."

He said the Texas Department of Agriculture has printed a booklet, "Freezing and Canning Texas Agricultural Products," which gives detailed information on safe home canning.

Department home economists recommend the following guidelines to guard against botulism.

Avoid shortcuts or experiments. Use only jars, cans and lids made especially for home canning.

Do not reuse sealing lids. Do not use overripe food and do not overpack food. Follow exactly the time and temperature specifications listed in instructions. Test the seal according to instructions. Do not use canned foods showing signs of spoilage. Watch for bulging lids, leaks, off-odors or mold.

Free copies of "Freezing and Canning Texas Agricultural Products" are available by writing Commissioner John C. White.

ADVICE ON BUYING A HOME

How do you go about finding a house you can really feel at home in?

First, you must decide the price range you can afford... and income is only one factor. Your debts, your savings, your equity (if any) in your present home—these are all to be reckoned with.

So is your lifestyle: if you're home-oriented, you may be willing to trim other expenses to spend more for a house.

Have you heard that your home shouldn't cost more than 2-1/2 times your annual income? That monthly carrying charges mustn't exceed one week's take-home pay? Like all rules-of-thumb, these are only estimates. You should work out your own guidelines, based on your financial situation. Figure out what you can spend for monthly housing costs. Then estimate what cash you have available for a down payment.

Down payment requirements range from very little (with a VA guaranteed mortgage) to more than 40 percent (for some older homes with conventional mortgages). Generally, a new home requires a lower down payment and is easier to get a mortgage for. It's also cheaper to maintain, a fact that should be considered when planning your housing budget.

What features you want inside your home will depend on many factors. You'll want to think about how long you are likely to stay there, how your family may change in that time, what new furnishings you may get.

As you look at homes, take notes on room sizes, interior and exterior materials, and special built-in features such as fireplaces and cabinets. Many model homes are beautifully decorated; check with the builder to get a clear understanding of what's included and what's "extra."

You should also ask the builder if he guarantees his work, and what is included in this warranty. Go ahead and be "nosey;" the builder's integrity is vitally important. Knock on doors of his previous buyers, and ask their opinions of him. Ask your local home builders' association about his reliability and professional standing.

When you close the sale for your new home, you will have to pay closing costs. These can range anywhere from five hundred to a couple of thousand dollars—and they are not included in the price of the house.

To learn more about the process of buying a house, get a copy of The Home Buyers Guide. This helpful booklet is available at your local home builder's association—or by sending 50 cents for postage and handling to NAHB, Home Buyers Guide, P.O. Box 38, Riverdale, Maryland 20840.

PLANT NOW FOR WINTER PASTURES

Pastures will be the lowest cost winter feed for livestock, and thus help reduce the need for expensive supplemental feeds. However, yields are dependent upon sufficient amounts of moisture during the growing season.

In order to have pastures available during December, January, and February, they must be grown in the fall. To take advantage of present moisture conditions, pastures need to be established as early as possible in September.

Sunlight and warmth are other essential growth requirements, besides moisture, for winter pastures. Late plantings of small grains result in spring pastures due to limited grazing conditions in late fall and winter. Planting should be done on well-prepared seedbed with good quality seed. To maximize production, a good fertility program also must be followed.

With early planting, producers should be alert for fall armyworms and be prepared to control them without delay.

Following the guidelines of early planting and good fertility will provide livestock producers with large quantities of high quality fall and winter pasture, and thus help reduce the need for expensive supplemental feeds. However, yields are dependent upon sufficient amounts of moisture during the growing season.

BEWARE OF "BARGAIN" PLANTS

With the fall planting season almost here, homeowners should be on the lookout for "bargain" plants, cautions a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Always look for quality when buying nursery stock, so it's best to deal with a reputable nurseryman. The initial cost of the plant may be only a fraction of the cost of material and labor needed to do the job properly.

VICKIE HEWITT

Covey, first in pecan pie.

This is the third consecutive year the O'Brien girls have had a Best of Show winner. In 1973 Debbie Del Hierro won Best of Show in Canned Goods with relish and in 1972 Gwen Adkisson won Best of Show in Baked Goods.

All these winners are in FHA and under the supervision of Mrs. Veeta Reid, homemaking teacher.

Here's a daily double bound to be a crowd pleaser... the Two Tiered Pizza. Why does pizza appeal to so many of us? Our favorite foods generally look, smell and, of course, taste good. Pizza fills these requirements. It's crusty and eye-appealing; satisfying because of the meat and cheese toppings; good smelling with the zing of spicy tomato sauce, onions and peppers.

Aha, we like pizzas, but are they good for us? Dr. Paul Lachance, noted nutritionist from Rutgers, believes they are. He says, "they're a good meal to balance nutritionally," and suggests that a pizza menu include milk, a salad or some fruit.

We've made this particular pizza doubly appealing with Chef Boy-ar-dee cheese pizza mix which provides enough dough for 2 crisp pizza layers. The layers are filled and topped with a rich frank mixture and tangy grated cheese. Serve it with a tossed green salad, plus plenty of cold milk, and you've got a winner.

DOUBLE DECKER SUPPER PIZZA

- 1 package (1 lb. 12 7/8 oz.) Chef Boy-ar-dee
- 2 Complete Cheese Pizzas
- 1 lb. franks, chopped
- 1 1/2 cups sliced onion rings
- 1 1/2 cups green pepper, chopped
- 2 tablespoons cooking oil

Prepare pizza according to package directions except do not add cheese. Bake each pizza 15 minutes. Saute franks, onions and peppers in cooking oil. Remove pizzas from oven; top with half of frank mixture and half of canned grated cheese. Remove other pizza from cookie sheet and place on top of garnished pizza. Add remaining frank mixture; top with cheese. Return to oven and bake 8 to 10 minutes. Cut in squares. Serves eight to ten.

TIMELY TIPS ON TOYS

By Dr. Virginia E. Pomeranz
Consultant For Creative Playthings

Children actually hate most action toys, although they are prominently displayed in stores, heavily advertised, and bought by millions of adults with excellent intentions.

Such toys are robots, programmed by manufacturers to do all the work. Children are forced to conform to the toy and cannot express their high level of creativity. Consequently, they resent the toy—and resentment becomes hatred.

Action toys wiggle and jiggle, light up, or make noises when a key is wound, a button is pushed, a lever is pressed, or a string is pulled. No further involvement is needed.

Adults are often fascinated by action toys. But adults are much more passive than children. They enjoy sitting back as spectators for many hours and having their recreation force-fed to them.

Perhaps the classic example of an action toy is the set of electric trains a father buys for his youngsters. Studies have shown that fathers are really buying the trains for themselves. Children aren't willing to sit back and watch the action. They must be part of it.

As a practicing pediatrician with toys in my waiting room, I recall one patient becoming angry with an action toy. It lit up after a button was pushed—and did nothing else.

After ten minutes, the child became furious, picked up the toy and smashed it. He yelled at the toy, calling it "stupid."

Children must be challenged, stimulated, and involved in everything they do. That's why they are "turned off" by things that are too easy to "turn on."

They don't separate work and play, as adults often do. They love to learn, and learning is fun. But there is neither learning nor fun when all a child needs to do is turn a key or press a button.

Youngsters must be able to do many different things with toys. They will often find ways to play with them which parents and manufacturers haven't considered—simply because children are more creative than adults.

Good toys have repetitive play value. They help children to mature because they must work to master the toys, and that mastery must be exhibited in a variety of play situations. That's why this type of toy can be used until the child outgrows it.

So whenever you're thinking about a toy for your favorite youngster, remember that it's not what the toy can do for the child. What's important is what the child can do with the toy.

O'Brien Loses Close Game

by Charlene Brothers

What was supposed to have been an easy victory for Highland, turned out to be a very close football game Friday night at the Highland football stadium. At the end of the first quarter, neither team had scored. During the second quarter Lalo Garcia scored the first touchdown, but O'Brien failed to make the extra point. Highland scored its first touchdown with a pass to halfback Tommy Lecroy, in the second quarter.

Lalo Garcia made the other two touchdowns for O'Brien with Keith Rowan kicking one extra point and the other try at the extra point failed. At the beginning of the fourth quarter, Highland was trailing 20-16, but with only four minutes left in the game, they scored with an 85-yard run. The try for extra point failed, making the score 22-20. O'Brien could not gain control of the ball again before the end of the game.

This was the first District 3-B game for both of the teams. Both teams did some very good ball playing. O'Brien had several very good plays at recovering the football, etc. Fans are looking forward to the next game and feel sure that the Bulldogs will come out winners.

O'Brien will meet Hermleigh at O'Brien Friday with game time set at 8:00 p.m.

Something I had forgotten to mention and I should have done so long ago. The Equalization Board of the City of O'Brien met sometime back for the purpose of checking the city taxes. There were some of the taxes raised a little and some of them lowered a little. Some of you will probably be down to see me about this, just remember that ALL I do is type up what the Equalization Board puts down on your rendition paper. So if your taxes are a little higher, you will know that now your property is on the same level as the other City property.

On Happenings

Herring, during the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. A.W. Blaine of Collinville visited in O'Brien and Rochester during the weekend and attended the funeral for Palo Speck in Rochester. (Mrs. Blaine was J.O.'s second grade teacher at O'Brien school way back when.)

There was a little mistake made in the weight of the burr cotton that John Grindstaff Sr. brought in for the first bale of cotton, that was pictured in last week's paper. It should have been 2320 pounds instead of 230 lbs. That would have been quite a turn out - 600+ pounds of lint from 230 pounds of burr cotton. I know we give you a very good turn out at O'Brien, but that is a little too good.
