TENNIS MEET TO BE HELD HERE ON SATURDAY

San Angelo's Boxing Team To Be Here Monday

High Class Boxers To Be Pitted Against Local Boys

Cecil Cooper, scoutmaster, announced Wednesday that the San Angelo boxing team will be here next Monday night for what promises to be the most interesting and exciting matches held at the local gym.

Word comes from San Angelo that some ten or twelve good boxers will come to Munday to be matched against local boys, and good bouts will be staged again here on Monday night.

It was announced last Monday night that matches would be with the Holiday boxers, but these were refused by local fight promoters when Holiday demanded a percentage of the gate receipts. Local promoters wish to continue their matches according to golden gloves rules.

So it's San Angelo next Monday night folks. Be there and see the boys in action!

Inducted into office last week, possibly for life, was a vivacious, firm-jawed young man who, in his 40 years of life, has served as a fighting district attorney, a trust-busting Attorney-General, and a scrapping Governor of Texas.

For former Governor James V. Allred last week took his oath of office as Federal Judge for the Southern Texas district. The oath was administered by Federal District Clerk C. L. Masterson in the presence of Mrs. Allred, his secretary Mrs. Alma Albert, and his father, Rene Allred, Sr. Also watching was a Federal District Judge T. M. Kennerly who will serve with him in the southern district.

Named by President Roosevelt to the Judgeship, Allred can serve for life if he so desires.

After taking his oath of office, the new judge went quickly to Laredo to hold court, disposing quickly of nearly four-score cases involving violation of the immigration laws. In several cases Allred assessed prison terms.

Merick McGaughey, county superintendent of Knox county, has announced that trustee elections will be held on Saturday, April 1, in all of the common and independent school districts of the county. The elections will be for the purpose of filling such vacancies as will occur in the school boards this year.

In some of the 13 common school districts, only one trustee will be elected, while in the larger ones two will be named. Two trustees will be elected in the independent districts, McGaughey said.

A county trustee, who will be a member of the county school board, will be named in districts Two and Three, and one trustee-at-large will be elected. All common school districts vote on the county trustees, it was said.

Moguls To Begin Spring Football Training Monday; 30 To Turn Out

Next Monday will begin a stiff five week's football season for the 1939 Mogul football squad.

An interesting program has been laid out, Coach Billy Cooper said. Captains will be elected, and if they work during spring training is satisfactory they will be the 1939 captains; otherwise, captains will be appointed for each game.

There will be a regulation game for each Friday night, weather permitting. The two captains will choose sides for one game, the second game will be between the first string playing with the second string backfield and the first string backfield behind the second string line. The third game will be between the two teams chosen as first and second teams. The fourth week will be a demonstration to the public of the different offensive formations, the different defenses, and any questions will be answered by the coaches. Line play maneuvers will be clarified and hidden ball plays explained.

A squad of about 30 boys will report. All are green, but are fair-sized boys, and are expected to show much improvement before next fall. No position is secure. Any boy has a chance to make any position on the team, and any one might get the first call.

"The position of fullback, quarterback and ends have a large number of candidates, any of whom may get the starting assignment," Coach Billy Cooper said. "For quarterback the outstanding candidates are: Jack Pippin, last season's regular quarter; Ned Albert, Forest Yancy, B team quarter of 1938; and Raymond Carden. For fullback there are no regulars from last season, and a large number will be tried out. Some candidates are: Marvin McCarty, Clifford Pippin, Red Stevens, Hollis Welborn, Bob Barton, Grady Beck, Joe McGraw. For ends there are several outstanding boys: John Broach, O. V. Milstead, Ralph Tidwell, Lamoine Blacklock, Bud Phillips, Joe Dean Clough. Grady Beck and Red Stevens may also be tried at ends."

Gold footballs will be given the boys who go through the spring session without missing a single practice. Royal purple coveralls trimmed in gold will be given the man who has the best attitude, the one who is selected as the best lineman and the best back.

L. M. Palmer and John Ingram will assist Coach Cooper with this spring's and next fall's work.

Billions For Amusements

Two and a quarter billions are spent each year by U.S. citizens on commercial amusements, such as movies, theatres, clubs, radios, etc. L. M. Palmer and John Ingram will assist Coach Cooper with this spring's and next fall's work.

They saved the best until the last on Monday night, when Seymour boxers came to Munday to tangle it with local boys on the weekly fight card. Each of the two fighters in the final bout courageously found his face "full of fists" during the three rounds, but Floyd Nunley, 135-pound Munday boy, won the judges favor over George Shawver, 136, of Seymour.

A large crowd again trooped to the school gymnasium to witness the bouts, which are proving to be the outstanding entertainment of the week. Again the gate receipts ran near the $100 mark.

They stated that would be very risky to do this, as the regulations specifically prohibit the harvesting of seed from conservation areas; and, if indulged in penalties would be applied.

"Peppy" Sale Held Tuesday At Auction Barn

Again farmers and ranchmen brought in livestock for the weekly auction sale to make the auction last Tuesday one of the best held here in recent weeks.

"It was a real peppy sale," observers reported at the close of Tuesday's activities. "I have never seen livestock sell so fast—and bring such consistently high prices," many of them said.

Many cattle were sold through the auction ring and all at prices which are causing the Munday sales to gain in popularity over this section. A good many hogs were also sold at auction.

The auction barn is a busy place each Tuesday, and Knox county people are finding the auction sales to be a good means of disposing of their surplus livestock at good prices.

Local Fighters Lose Majority Of Bouts Monday

They saved the best until the last on Monday night, when Seymour boxers came to Munday to tangle it with local boys on the weekly fight card. Each of the two fighters in the final bout courageously found his face "full of fists" during the three rounds, but Floyd Nunley, 135-pound Munday boy, won the judges favor over George Shawver, 136, of Seymour.

A large crowd again trooped to the school gymnasium to witness the bouts, which are proving to be the outstanding entertainment of the week. Again the gate receipts ran near the $100 mark.

The schedule started with Ray Mack Golden of Seymour, 70, winning over Bonner Barton, 70, when Barton's seconds threw in the towel to signify his fighter had enough. Charles Massey, 78-pound Munday boy, lost the judges' decision to Jim Al Coffman, 82, in three rounds of fast action.

Dale Thompson, 91, of Seymour, won over Milton Thompson, 91, of Munday, in another "rain of fists" to each other's face.

Raymond Carden defended Munday in what started out to be an exciting one by knocking out Billy Golden in the first round. Carden weighed in at 97 and Golden at 105.

Lewis Warren, 128, and John Fin Robinson, 130, of Seymour, gave fans a real fight throughout the three rounds, with both fighters getting so tired they almost had to have help to keep on their feet. Robinson was declared winner.

Troy Denham, 137, staged a successful comeback to hold his superiority in the ring by knocking out Ed McNeill, 139, in the first round.

Virgil Roe, 153-pound Seymour boy, won the decision over Forrest Yancy, in the three rounds of fast fighting.

"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"—

LEST WE REGRET

These paragraphs from "Lest We Regret" a booklet just issued by The Travelers Insurance Company, speak an editorial language of their own:

"Three years ago, 32.6 per cent of all persons killed because of some driver's lawlessness met death because of excessive speed. Two years ago, the figures rose to 36.8 per cent. Last year it jumped again to 39.6 per cent. Deaths dropped sharply in 1938, but the percentage caused by speed went up . . . Is it any wonder that we stress speed as one cause which must be cured before this problem will ever be solved?"

"Next time your club meets, or you have a family reunion, list the names of 20 of those present. Look well upon those happy faces, for at the present rate one out of that 20 will be killed or injured in an automobile accident within the next five years. You can beat the law of averages by being ABOVE THE AVERAGE in your walking and driving habits."

"The time will come when driving after drinking will be placed in the same category with carrying concealed weapons, incendiaries and other misdemeanors about which there is absolutely no question in the public or official mind. It will come through legislation, improved court procedure and the development of adequate test methods. Enlightened persons . . . will work to see that drinking and driving are forever separated."

SPRING IS CLEAN-UP TIME

April showers and May flowers aren't far away. That means spring cleaning time.

And spring cleaning shouldn't mean just shaking out the rugs, washing the curtains, and dusting that little-used spare bedroom. It should mean a definite, planned program of putting property in apple-pie order, not only to improve its value and appearance, but to help prevent that dread destroyer that strikes when we least expect it—fire.

Trash-filled outbuildings are perfect incubators for fire from a carelessly dropped match or cigarette. Check over fireplaces and chimneys—from now on such incidental heating units will be used more and central systems less. As warm, sunny days come, be especially careful to keep grass cut and fields free of debris. Never burn trash where there is a wind, and have water handy in case matters get beyond control.

Above all, go through the house from cellar to attic on an inclusive junk-disposing program. Those old newspapers and magazines you've put carefully away and will never look at again—that broken furniture that belongs to the worst period of design—those odds and ends of "gay nineties" clothing—that jumble of worthless, inflammable knickknacks in the hall closets: Get rid of them all. Give them to a charitable organization or the junkman. And you'll materially reduce the chance of a fire hitting your home.

A number of progressive communities carry on general spring clean-ups each year as a civic function. Parkings are tended and beautified, fences repaired, and old firetraps are torn down. Fire departments and other municipal bureaus cooperate and direct the drives. The result is a more attractive and safer town—and a town whose residents may feel proud of it. Every community which doesn't do that now should think it over—and start the idea going around. It pays dividends in dollars as well as less tangible values.

THE IRONY OF IT!

The very backbone of Americanism is the inalienable right of self-expression of the individual—the citizen's right to free speech. Under other "isms" there is no such right. In fact, in foreign lands where Communism, Fascism or Nazism have replaced other forms of government, free speech has been the first right taken from the citizen.

It is ironic, then, that in America's largest city recently, members of an organization advocating Nazism for the United States should exercise this right of free speech to agitate an overthrow of the Constitutional right that makes that speech free and uncensored. And to see to it that this organization was not molested in its exercise of that right 1,500 policemen guarded the meeting against any interference.

That is the American way.

Picture a meeting in one of the dictator countries (if your imagination will stretch that far) with speakers extolling the virtues and benefits of Americanism! No doubt the 1,500 policemen would appear—but for a different purpose. The best that the participants could expect would be imprisonment, and the leaders would indeed be fortunate to escape a firing squad.

That is the un-American way.

A constituent has written one of the Congressman a puzzling letter, to wit: "Please send me at once a list of everything that has not been invented."

A FARM WIFE'S COMPLAINT

A Michigan farm wife has given the Congressman of her district something to think about. She complains in a letter, which has been printed in the Congressional Record, that the government policy of indiscriminate relief spending has boomeranged. That should be something for everybody to think about.

Here is her letter, in part:

"I know one family case very well, and it is indicative of thousands of families throughout the land. This family worked for my family three generations ago. Today every one of that family except one boy is one some kind of relief and now the third generation is marrying and bringing children into the world as fast as possible in order to get their share of this good thing while it lasts.

"You cannot get one of them now to work on the farms. They don't like the farm. They would rather work for Uncle Sam and that is just what they are doing.

"The farmers around here cannot get adequate help any more, and if these people do work they want a wage higher than can be afforded on the farm and leave anything for the owner's work or investment. Most of the old-time farm labor, the class who always earned their living working on the farms, is now on some form of relief."

There is nothing esoteric in this farm wife's economics, nor does she submit a maze of charts and figures to argue her case. It is a simple, sound argument that some people won't work for a living so long as they can live without working.

NO MORE TAXES?

Pronouncements by Federal officials that business can be assured it need have no fear of new taxes this year has given rise to some pertinent questions on this subject.

Businessmen are not alone in asking the question either, for Congressmen are puzzled, too. Also, it presents a neat jigsaw for the country as a whole because it raises the question of whether price tags are to be further inflated with hidden taxes.

The question quite naturally asked by the businessmen is found behind those two words "this year." The question, "But how about next year and the year after and so on?" After all, confidence for business to move forward is measured by industrial expansion and capital investment and it is based not on the immediate future, but on a long range outlook. A businessman doesn't build a $5,000,000 factory for one year's business.

Here is the puzzle for the Congressmen: In his January 5 message, the President asked for new taxes to raise $422,000,000 for armament expansion and increased farm parity payments. Now the theme is "no more taxes" but the expansion program is still asked for.

If all this isn't enough to make the country puzzle conscious (or unconscious) there is still the question of what to do about the ever-mounting National debt. It now stands at $40,000,000,000. Congressmen and every body else know there must be a day of reckoning when that debt must be paid. The question is: "When will that day come?"

The Federal deficit for the years 1931-1939 amounts to more than total government expenditures for the 125 years, 1789-1913.

Nine out of ten of the top executives in the American steel industry have worked their way up from the ranks of the company in which they started their careers.

There are more people making machines today than were engaged in all manufacturing 100 years ago.

If you smoke one pack of cigarettes a day, the Federal tax alone amounts to almost $22 a year.

The cornerstones of the Capitol at Austin was laid in March 2, 1885, the 49th anniversary of Texas Independence. It was of Texas granite and weighed 16,000 pounds.

THE X I T BRAND

The cattle brand of the Capital Land Syndicate 3,000,000-acre ranch in Texas was not only a trademark, but also an advertisement denoting the size of the ranch. Covering land in ten counties, the ranch brand was X I T, which stood for "Ten in Texas."

HE HAS SUCH TAKING WAYS

THINGS ONE REMEMBERS

by R. M. Hofer

In spite of wars and threats of wars, dictators and threats of dictators, taxes and unemployment, spring is nearly here. It will do you good to get out in the open and see how insignificant are the vanities of men and politicians who are powerless to check the turn of the seasons, create the food that the world must eat, control the coming of the new leaves, the grass, the calves, the lambs and the pigs. How much more important is the work of a good farmer than all the bombast of the mightiest dictators of the mouthings of the noisiest politicians.

New Soviet laws, according to press reports, decree tardiness a cause for dismissal without appeal, and there are not enough alarm clocks to go around in Russia. The Portland Oregonian says: "Until they show us something better—and they haven't yet—we'll take alarm clocks and capitalism every time."

The nation listened with great interest to Mr. Hopkins' recovery talk in which he pointed out that government must be fair with, and encourage the private electric industry and the railroads if they are to expand and employ more labor. The next day, according to newspaper dispatches, a congressional committee approved a $17,200,000 TVA appropriation for continuance of construction of a dam at Gilbertville, Kentucky, and to start construction of a new dam at Knoxville. That kind of political "encouragement" continues to destroy confidence and jobs in this nation, and undermines Secretary Hopkins' recovery ideas.

THOSE BAD BRAKES!

Nearly one-half of the vehicles tested from mechanical defects by highway patrolmen in the last two months were faulty, the state safety department announced today.

In that period the patrolmen, operating two complete safety clinics in various parts of the state, examined 40,206 vehicles, of which 19,377 were found to be unsafe. The tests, patrolmen said, are voluntary on the part of motorists.

NO NEED FOR WORRY!

Frank Siddons, University of Texas student employed as part-time watchman at state police headquarters, can guarantee the safety of the laboratory skeleton.

Last night Siddons flashed his light unexpectedly on a skeleton hanging in the crime detection laboratory. Recovering composure the watchman read this warning sign attached to one of the ribs, "Please Do Not Disturb."

This morning laboratory employees found this note signed by the watchman: "Please Do Not Worry."

A Friend Indeed

Grayce: "He told me I was the most beautiful and intelligent girl he had ever met."

Alyce: "And you would trust yourself for life to a man who would deceive you like that right at the beginning of your engagement?"

Question of Tone

"What's the matter, Jenkins," snapped a shoe store manager, "Can't you serve this customer?"

"No, sir," replied the assistant. "He's trying to find two shoes which squeak in the same key."

A policeman, making his rounds in the early morning, found an inebriated gentleman standing in a horse trough and waving his handkerchief over his head.

Officer: Hey! What are you doing there?"

Drunk: "Save the women and children first. I can swim!"

The Texas Flag
 The Description and Rules for Use
 Note: This material was taken from the "Texas Flag" written by Wylie A. Parker, principal of the Forest Avenue High School, Dallas, Texas. The rules were adopted by the regular session of the forty-third legislature.

The Texas Flag is an emblem of four sides, and four angles of 90 degrees each. It is a rectangle having its width equal to two-thirds of its length. The flag is divided into three equivalent parts, called bars or stripes, one stripe being blood red, one white and the other azure blue. These stripes are rectangles, also, and they are exact duplicates of one another in every respect. The width of each stripe is equal to one-half of its length, or one-third of the flag, while the length of each stripe is equal to the width of the flag, or two-thirds of the length of the Emblem.

One end of the flag is blue, and it is called the flag's "right." This stripe is a perpendicular bar next to the staff or the halyard, and it is attached by means of a heading made of strong and very durable material. The remaining two-thirds of the flag is made up of two horizontal bars of equal width, one being white and the other red, and this end of the Emblem is called the flag's "left." Each of the stripes is perpendicular to the blue stripe, and when the flag is displayed on a flag-pole or staff, or flat on a plane surface, the white stripe should always be at the top of the flag, with the red stripe directly underneath it. Thus, each stripe of the Texas Flag touches each of the other stripes, which signifies that the three colors are mutually dependent upon one another in imparting the lessons of the Flag: bravery, loyalty, and purity.

It's the Biggest Pipe in the World!

Tom Howard, famous comedian, owns the biggest pipe in the world among his collection of 846 pipes. It's seven feet long. He's shown here smoking it while his partner, George Shelton, uses oversize matches to light it. Howard and Shelton are heard on CBS Monday nights as stars of the "Monday Minstrels."

In the center of the blue stripe is a white star of five points. One point of this star is always at the top, and in vertical line drawn from one end of the blue stripe to the other, and midway between its sides. This line is the vertical axis of the blue stripe, and it is perpendicular to the horizontal axis at the central point of the stripe. The two lowest points of the star are in a line parallel to the horizontal axis, and the distance from the topmost point of the star to the line through these two points is equal to approximately one-third of the length of the blue stripe, or one-third of the width of the flag. The center of the star is at the point of intersection of the horizontal axis with the vertical axis, or at the central point of the blue stripe.

The other two points of the star are above the horizontal axis, and near the sides of the blue stripe.

The Texas flag should not be fastened in such a manner that it can be torn easily.

When the Texas flag is flown from a flagpole or staff, the white stripe should be at the top of the flag, except in cases of distress, and the red stripe should be directly underneath it.

The Texas flag should be on the marching left when it is carried in a procession in which the flag of the United States of America is unfurled.

The Texas flag should be on the left of the United States of America, and its staff should be behind the staff of the national colors, when the two are displayed against a wall from the crossed staffs.

When the Texas flag is flown from the same halyard as the flag of the U.S. of America is flown, it must be flown underneath our national colors.

When the Texas flag is flown on a flagpole adjacent to the flag pole on which the flag of the U.S. of America is flown, it must be displayed at the left of the United States flag.

When the Texas flag is flown from a window sill, balcony, or front of a building, and flat against the wall, it should be on a staff, and the blue field should be at the observer's left.

When the Texas flag and the flag of the U.S. of America are displayed at the same time, they should be flown on separate flagpoles of equal height, and the flags should be approximately the same size.

When the Texas flag and the flag of the U.S. of America are displayed on a speaker's platform at the same time, the Texas flag should be on the left side of the speaker, while our national colors are on the right side of the speaker.

The Texas flag should never be used to cover a platform or speaker's desk, nor to drape over the front of a speaker's platform.

When the Texas flag is displayed flat on the wall of a platform, it should be above the speaker, and the blue field must always be at the flag's right.

When the Texas flag is displayed on a float in a parade, it should be fastened firmly to the chassis of the car, or clamped firmly to the radiator cap.

The Texas flag should not be allowed to touch the ground or floor, nor to trail in water. Neither should it be used as a covering for the ceiling, nor be used as any portion of a costume or athletic uniform. It should not be draped over the hood, top sides, or back of any vehicle, or a railroad train, boat or aeroplane. It should not be embroidered upon cushions or handkerchiefs, nor printed on paper napkins or boxes. The Texas flag should not be used in any form of advertising.

When the Texas flag is in such condition of repair that it is no longer a suitable emblem for displaying, it should be totally destroyed by fire.

Value of a College Education To The Business Woman

Note: In English IV, the Seniors were asked to write and demonstrate an interview. In this case Traphene Wren played the part of a successful business woman and Dorothy Garrett interviewed her on the "Value of a College Education to the Business Woman."

Dorothy: Miss Wren, since you have your college degree from the State University and since you are a successful business woman, which is something many women of the modern day are accomplishing with such ease, I should like to ask you a few questions on the relationship of a college education to business. I do hope you will not mind giving me your attention for a few minutes.

Miss Wren: Miss Garrett, you have selected a subject upon which I am deeply interested. I shall be glad to give you all the information possible.

Dorothy: Thank you. The first thing I should like to ask you is this: What do you credit your success as a business woman to?

Miss Wren: My college life has helped me more than anything else. Without that I doubt if I could have succeeded in this business world of today.

Dorothy: To go further, just what did you learn in college that was so helpful? What did you get there that is hard to find elsewhere?

Miss Wren: One of the foremost things that I learned, of course, was an intelligent understanding of material found in books. Naturally, the deeper we go into our studies, the more able we are to cope with any situation that may arise in our business career, of course it depends a great deal on the line of work that you intend specializing in. During the five years that I have been buyer for this large department store, I have been sent many different places, and each time I have encountered all sorts of people, but to prove to you what college life can do, I have been able to get along with these various people. As you well know, life in the schoolroom and on the campus is much the same as in business life. I have reference to the meeting of different people. Here is my idea: in the school you meet all types of people, learn their ways, dispositions, and habits, and all of this prepares you to face the difficulties after entering the business world. While I am an important factor I would like to say that English plays a great part. People notice your diction and few people succeed with bad grammar.

Dorothy: All this is very interesting, Miss Wren. Are there any minor points that you would like to bring out?

Miss Wren: Yes, one especially. That is personal appearance. Many people know how to dress; but do they know the art of making ones self more attractive and neat? That is something the majority of girls will have in college. Like English, one's personal appearance is noticed by all she comes in contact with.

Dorothy: Miss Wren I have often wondered why some people cannot succeed after they receive a degree and start out to make a living. Will you give me your opinion on that?

Miss Wren: Some people skim through college with never a serious thought. They are interested only in having a good time and concerned only with skimming by.

Dorothy: I deeply appreciate your giving me this time and I can readily see why you are so successful.

Miss Wren: I have enjoyed talking to you, and if I can ever again help you in the future, I shall be glad to do so.

Dorothy: Thank you.

Seniors On Parade
 J. E. Hunter was born on May 5, 1921, three and one-half miles south of the Sunset High School. J.E. must have made a permanent settlement at his home when he was born, for he has resided at the same location all his life.

J.E. led a quiet, reserved life until he became six years of age. That is the wonderful age when the life of an American child begins its career in school. J.E. was no exception to this grand American custom. He also started to school. He started to Gillespie and had advanced to the third grade when Sunset High school became an institution of learning. Sunset has almost made a finished product of the raw J. E. Hunter.

The Hunter boy has always figured in athletic events. In grammar school he played baseball for two years and basketball for one year on the Junior team. In high school he has played basketball for two years with the Senior team.

"Johnny" E. plans to enter John Tarleton Junior College next fall. Favorites of Hunter are:

Saying: "If you can't take me as I am, don't try to take me at all."
 Song: "It Makes No Difference Now."
 Sport: Basketball.
 Girl: Short and pretty.

Grade School News

The third grade pupils have been studying and writing poems for the past week and following are some of the poems the various pupils have written:

SPRING
 Spring is here, spring is here
 Lots of joy and cheer
 Flowers are blooming everywhere
 Bees are buzzing in the air.
 —Robert Ray Cheek

SPRING
 Spring is here,
 It brings cheer.
 For it is the rayest season
 Of all the year.
 —Anna Sue Waldron

MARCH
 The stormy March has come at last.
 And everything is blowing past.
 The weeds go whirling,
 As the wind goes twirling.
 —John Bess Cogburn

The sixth grade students composed the following poems:
 MARCH WIND
 The March Wind is growling,
 When it is growling,
 The long, long day
 Everywhere and everywhere.
 It blows off our hats,
 And scares the cats.
 It blows away our houses,
 And everyone it arouses.
 —Billy Bob Burton

SPRING
 Spring is here, spring is here
 With all its joys, and good cheer
 Birds are flying here and there
 Bees are buzzing everywhere.
 —Sibyl Fay Beauchamp

Last week we failed to mention the grammar school junior baseball boys, and Mr. Walling has charge of them. The baseball boys are planning to get their team started as soon as other county meet events are over. On account of the sand, a game was called off Monday.

Junior Baseball Girls
 The baseball girls seem to be improving. In a game this week they beat the boys, 2-4. They are planning to match a game with Munday soon.

Society Reporter Finds 'No Trespassing' Sign In Many High Homes

DESPITE her inexhaustible supply of white gloves, Inez Callaway Robb, society reporter (blue-blooded in her own right), has been given the old heave-ho from prominent homes often enough to have made her a cynic. But her sense of humor and her small-town conviction that no one could snub an American born on the right side of the tracks and get away with it, invariably saved her tranquility of mind. And if these preventative ever happened to fail, she would call upon that sure-fire, soul-satisfying bromide: "I've been thrown out of better places than this."

There was, for instance, Miss Robb relates in the April Cosmopolitan, the late Mrs. Graham Fair Van-

Wilkie Guinn And Marjory Warren Are Married At Graham

Wilkie S. Guinn and Miss Marjory Warren were married Saturday, March 4, at the home of Rev. Warren, minister of the Church of Christ at Graham. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bolander and little daughter Leota Faye of Graham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Warren of Seymour. She attended Seymour High School and was employed by the Modern Cleaners of that city at the time of her marriage. She had lived in Seymour for five years, and was a member of the younger social set.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Guinn, Sr., of Munday. He has been reared in this city and has been connected with his father at the Guinn Tin Shop for several years. At present he is employed by the Guinn Hardware Co.

The young couple have established a home here and the people of Munday join in best wishes for them.

Munday Student Has Role In Stunt Program at TSCW

Denton, Tex.—Tapping feet and scrambling for rehearsal space indicate to students at Texas State College for Women that time for All-College Stunts, in which Miss Wanda June Williams has a major role, is near at hand.

Miss Williams is participating in the Sophomore part of the Stunt Night program. This musical comedy extravaganza is put on annually by the four classes at the college to raise funds for dances, parties, and other activities. Each class competes with the others for the loving cup awarded by President L. H. Hubbard for the best presentation.

Miss Williams, working toward a degree in the field of speech, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Williams.

Jesse James Was What His Lawless Times Made Him

What sort of man would Jesse James have been if he had been born in a different era?

The question is raised by Darryl F. Zanuck's magnificent Technicolor production, "Jesse James," currently starring Tyrone Power, Henry Fonda, Nancy Kelly and Randolph Scott at the Roxy Theatre, March 19-20, which forcibly brings home the fact that the world's most daring desperado was a product of his times.

For Jesse James lived in a day when a spirit of lawlessness was abroad in the land.

After the Civil War, the heart and mind of America turned toward the winning of the West. The symbol of this era was the building of the transcontinental railroads. But the advance of the "Iron Horse" brought sorrow as well as prosperity in its wake. For to many of the hardy pioneers of the West it meant the confiscation of their lands and property.

As a matter of fact, it was their part in the struggle of the Missouri farm people to save their homes from this unscrupulous seizure by the railroads, that turned young Jesse James and his equally notorious brother, Frank, to the life of outlawry which colored their whole era and endowed the decade which saw their most daring deeds with the title, the "Serious Seventies."

While our day is likely to look upon Jesse as a ruthless desperado, the people of his own times regarded him with a more indulgent eye. Displaying a remarkable amount of tact for that rough-and-ready era, the mountaineers in the Missouri Ozarks where he flourished went to dignify his career by terming it "horse and pistol work."

Perhaps the best evidence of their attitudes is contained in the epitaph on the monument erected over his grave, the unveiling of which forms a scene in this Darryl F. Zanuck production. It read:

In loving remembrance
JESSE W. JAMES
died April 3, 1882
aged 34 years, 6 months, 28 days murdered by a traitor and coward whose name is not worthy to appear here

The anonymous reference is, of course, to the treacherous Bob Ford, a member of Jesse James' own band, who betrayed the bandit to the law and shot him down in cold blood to collect the price upon his head.

Fishing Season Closes March 1st

Funny Tribe To Rest: Laws Give Them Protection

Bass, Crappie Protected; Special Laws Should be Consulted

The two-month closed season on Texas fishing went into effect on March 1, with variations.

The general state law provides a close-if season on bass and crappie during the months of March and April, and prohibits the use of artificial bait or seines or nets during that period.

In 24 counties, however, fishermen may not catch bass or crappie until June 1. These counties are Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Gray Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lipscomb, Moore, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher and Wheeler. All fishing is prohibited in these counties during March, April and May.

There are many other variations. Sportsmen are advised by Will J. Tucker, game department executive, to consult game wardens of their districts regarding fishing laws that apply only in their sections.

In those counties closed only to bass and crappie, other fish may be caught during the "closed" season, except where prohibited by special county laws.

In Archer, Baylor and Wichita counties a closed season on bass, perch, bream, crappie, and catfish in the Wichita river, Lake Kemp and Diversion lake went into effect February 1 and will extend to May 1.

Bandera county's closed season on all fishing went into effect January 1 and will extend to May 1. Medina Lake, however, was open to fishermen in January. Its closed season went into effect February 1 and extends until May 1.

Bexar county's special law closes its waters to bass, perch, crappie and catfish anglers from Feb. 1 to May 1.

In Blanco, Gillespie, Kendall, Llano and Mason counties, a Jan. 1 to May 1 closed season is in effect except on suckers, buffalo, carp, shad and gar, which may be taken with a wire rope or gill. A fisherman may not possess other fish while using these devices.

The same rough fish may be taken in the same manner and with the same restrictions in Bosque, Denton, DeWitt, Fannin, Fisher, Hardin, Chambers, Jefferson, Mitchell, Nolan, Orange, and Parker counties.

Comal county's closed season on bass, perch, crappie and catfish went into effect Feb. 1 and will extend to May 1. Edwards, Kerr, Kimble, Menard, Real and Sutton closed their waters to all fishing for four months beginning Jan. 1.

Lake Waco, and the Bosque rivers and their tributaries in Erath, McLennan, Bosque, and Hamilton counties are closed to bass, crappie, perch, channel catfish and opeluusas catfish until May 1. The closure was effective Feb. 1.

Gonzales county's three-month closed season on bass, crappie, perch, calico bass, and bream went into effect Feb. 1. Anglers however, are allowed to take rough fish with wire ropes or gigs. Catfish were removed from the protected list in Gonzales county by the current legislature, effective Feb. 15.

Guadalupe county's three-month closed season on bass, perch, crappie, and catfish went into effect on February 1.

A three-month closed season on all fishing went into effect Feb. 1 in Jones, Hays, Jim Wells, Live Oak, San Patricio, and Shackelford counties.

Medina county waters are closed to bass, crappie, perch and catfish angling until May 1. The closure took effect February 1.

Travis county closed its waters for three months to bass and crappie fishing on February 1.

In Upshur county it is unlawful to take suckers with a trammel net during February, March and April in Gin Lake and Glade creeks.

In Young county a three-month closed season on bass, crappie, and bream went into effect February 1. A bill closing Caddo Lake and all fresh waters in Harrison and Marion counties to game fishing from Feb. 15 to April 15 was passed by the current legislature, signed by the governor, and became effective February 15. Striped bass were not included on the protected list.

Mrs. and Mrs. E. W. Harrell were visitors in Anson last Sunday afternoon.

Golden-Krust Bread is Munday's own! Call for it by name.

Miss Marie and Billie Swain visited with relatives in Midland several days last week.

County Tax-Assessor Collector E. B. Sams of Benjamin was in the city Tuesday on official business.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Duprist of Paducah spent last Sunday here with Mrs. Duprist's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Terry, and with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cabanes. Mr. Duprist is with the West Texas Utilities Co., at Paducah.

Piano, Voice Pupils To Give Recital Tues.

The piano and voice pupils of Mrs. H. A. Longino will be presented in a public recital at the Methodist church on Tuesday evening, March 21, at 7:30 o'clock.

This program will also feature the Munday Choral Club and the high school chorus, under the direction of Miss Mildred Kennedy. Everyone is cordially invited to attend this recital and choral program.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Coates were visitors in Spur last Sunday.

We are very glad to have J. W. Wills back with us after a week's illness.

In Health we have a new book on Safety. The name of it is "Safely On We Go." We find it quite interesting.

We want to invite all our mothers to P.T.A. We have won two dollars and we would like to win another so as to have plenty of "pop" when we go on our spring picnic.

In Geography we had to make a Products map of Africa. They were very nice. We all made good grades.

In the Classroom Mr. Palmer (questioning the class after lesson in preservation of food): "Lois, tell me one way of preserving meat."
 Lois: "Putting it on ice."
 Mr. Palmer: "What do we call that?"
 Lois: "Isolation."
 We are very sorry that Laverne Haney and James Henson were absent in Monday of this week.

7A News

We are working very hard to win the County Meet this year. Grammar School volleyball girls are looking forward to the volleyball tournament to be held at Gore on Saturday afternoon, March 25.

We are very sorry about John Gaines injuring his arm. Better luck next time.

We are sorry to lose Coy Dickens, who is moving to East Texas. We wish her lots of happiness in her new school.

Believe it or not—the 7th grade made 100 per cent in Health Class a few days back and now folks WE are among the select group. It is our ambition and goal now to get a 100 per cent in attendance and brushing our teeth on a Monday morning. That would be SOMETHING. We can at least try it.

Bond Issue To End Deficit And Help Pensions

Austin, March 16.—Existence of a deficit of $17,000,000 in the state general fund constitutes a shadow across the payment of adequate old age assistance, it was contended by those favoring Senator Clint Small's bill to issue bonds to wipe out the deficit.

RIGHT OUT OF THE AIR

By EARLE FERRIS

A TYPICAL day in the life of Mary Margaret McBride, the CBS commentator, includes a visit to an art gallery, an interview with a girl feature writer, three tea dates, a dinner in her honor and at least one hundred notes to listeners.

George Washington raised silver foxes in his spare time, Abraham Lincoln first studied law as a hobby, and Benjamin Franklin's hobby was electricity, points out Dave "Hobby Lobby" Elman.

Wishome Betty Field, above, of the Broadway stage, takes the role of "Mary Aldrich" in the popular "Aldrich Family" sketches on the Kate Smith Hour on Thursdays on Columbia.

Tom Howard, above, radio's most argumentative comedian, and his sidekick, George Shelton, are now the stars of the Monday night Minstrel Show over CBS at 8:30 p. m., E. S. T.

Actresses on the Screen Guild Show on CBS, Sundays, are making a "chain" sweater. Joan Crawford started it, Loretta Young followed and passed it on to Bette Davis. Future guest stars will complete it.

Most recent daytime dramatic serial newcomer to CBS is "The Life and Love of Dr. Susan" which presents the challenging theme of a woman doctor in a small town.

Frankie Masters, pictured above, well known radio maestro, has completed a vacation in Florida and takes his orchestra to a New Orleans hotel soon.

Kay Francis, above, is booked for a Monday night Radio Theatre date over CBS this winter. Miss Francis has been on the air twice before this performance, but Radio Theatre will be her first full-length radio play.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

To Knox County Housewives: Do you want to be forced to pay 10c more on every box of face powder you buy?
 10c more on every tube of tooth paste?
 1 1-2c to 2c more on every cake of soap?
 14c more on liquid shampoo?
 9c more on Gillette Safety Razor blades?
 10c more on Vick's Nose Drops?
 —and a like advance on every article you buy to eat, wear or use?

This bill is known as House Bill No. 231, and Senate Bill No. 40, commonly called "Fair Trade Practice Act." A companion bill, House Bill No. 160, known as "Anti-Discrimination Bill," compels our merchants to advance prices on every unbranded article we buy.

You may be told that the "Fair Trade Practice Act" has been passed in 44 states, but you may fail to hear that 27 of these states are trying to repeal this law.

You may also hear that 12 states have passed the anti-discrimination Act, but you may not hear that 7 of these states are fighting to repeal this bill.

These bills will pass in Austin within the next 10 days, if the housewives of Texas do not awaken, and protest to our Legislators.

If the Fair Trade Practice Act is passed, it is estimated that out of state manufacturers will take from the people of Texas between 60 and 70 million dollars annually.

Think what our state could do toward Old Age Assistance, or other worthy causes, with 60 or 70 million dollars yearly.

If the housewives of Texas will write to our Representatives and Senators, these bills will not pass. Times is passing swiftly, so act promptly; write to Representative Gray Roberts and Senator George Moffett, c/o the Capitol.

Santa Fe Lines Cease Work For Bledsoe Rites

As a mark of respect to Samuel T. Bledsoe, late president of the Santa Fe Railway, all activity over the far flung Santa Fe system ceased momentarily last Friday afternoon during the funeral services in Chicago.

An order by W. K. Etter, operating vice-president of the Santa Fe directed that all trains pause briefly as the funeral services started. Workers in shops and offices from Chicago to the Pacific Coast and from Denver to the Gulf thus paid mute respect to their former leader.

Santa Fe officers and life-long associates of Mr. Bledsoe were active pallbearers. They were E. J. Engel, W. K. Etter, Paul P. Hastings, E. E. McInnis, Charles E. Woods, C. E. Betts, N. W. Willard, and M. L. Lyle.

THE HIGHWAY USER'S TAX DOLLAR VITAL QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

- Q. How much did highway users pay, the State in taxes for 1937?
A. $2,114,460
- Q. How much did they pay in 1938?
A. $2,381,204
- Q. How much was spent by the State Highway Department in building and maintaining roads in the years 1937 and 1938?
A. $1,799-$2,114,460
- Q. If the highway users paid over $2,000,000 more taxes in 1938 than in 1937 and about $2,000,000 less was spent on roads, what's the answer?
A. Relief to counties and road districts
- Q. How were they relieved?
A. Under the 1937 Bond Assumption Act, Counties and Bond Districts were relieved of some $12,000,000 principal debt with payments to be made from gas tax.
- Q. Did the counties get any further relief?
A. Yes the counties were further relieved beginning that year and having to pay any part of construction costs on state roads which had been costing them around $20,000,000 per year.
- Q. How much of the highway user tax money is now going to construction and maintenance of a state system of roads?
A. Less than 4%.

- Q. How much is going to counties?
A. 17% for their road bonds for which they pay an amounting to the State and 17% paid in relief of old water taxes on road easements in the counties.
- Q. Where does 17% other 17% go?
A. 17% goes to the Federal Highway Fund, then returning County ad valorem taxpayers and 2% in the cost of collection and administration.
- Q. 17% of the Highway User Tax dollar that is really used to relieve the ad valorem taxpayer, is that right?
A. Yes.
- Q. How much of all Travel in Texas is on County Road?
A. Less than 1%.
- Q. How many miles of road are there on the State System?
A. About 23,000 miles.
- Q. At the present rate, how long will it take to modernize and surface the state system?
A. About 12 years.
- Q. Does that estimate take into account obsolescence or need for extensions?
A. No.
- Q. Shouldn't more than 4% of the tax money paid by motorists go into the construction and maintenance of a modern system of roads?
A. Yes, if Texas is going to have a road system in need of such a primary state.
- Q. What does the county bond assumption plan pending in the Legislature propose?
A. To propose that the State assume $20,000,000 outstanding indebtedness on county local roads which are not a part of the state highway system.
- Q. Has the State ever assumed any county road debts?
A. No, but the State is contemplating this, in the amount of approximately $12,000,000 on roads that were taken over the state highway system.
- Q. Where does the State get the money to provide this compensation?
A. From its 17% of the 1/2 dollar state gasoline tax.
- Q. Do the counties now contribute to state highways?
A. Only the right-of-way.
- Q. Would the passage of the county bond assumption bill relieve the average ad valorem taxpayer?
A. No. The average ad valorem taxpayer also is the average gasoline taxpayer. Therefore, only the large property owner stands a chance in benefit and then only if the counties were to raise their own bonds.
- Q. Who would benefit from state assumption of these debts from the counties?
A. The smart bond manipulators and a few near-bankrupt counties.
- Q. Would the passage of this legislation establish a dangerous precedent?
A. Yes, it would be the opening wedge to saddle all local debts on the State.
- Q. If the State does not assume the counties' debts, could State aid construction be speeded up?
A. Yes, because 4% of the state gasoline tax now produces more than enough to pay the indebtedness on state highways and the money would speed road construction.
- Q. Would that benefit the counties as well as the State?
A. The State could build some of the roads the counties are clamoring for more quickly and thus create employment as well as increased property values.

Senior Class News
 In English IV we are studying literature and leaving our grammar for a while.
 We were studying essays and, as usual, Angeline did not like them, but Monday morning we were amazed to hear her say she liked the essay, "Sir Roger at Church," which was rather comical.

We all were wondering what happened to Alma's and Josephine's tongue. Somebody said that they think they had them out in the sandstorm Saturday, which made them unusually sharp early Monday morning.

Form Your Own Opinion

 And as empty as a Senior's mind?

 Why Bertha gets out of writing punishments?
 Where Wilma got her Mexican ring?

Why a habit is like a cable. We weave a thread of it every day and at last we can not break it.
 Why does Teresia get angry during economics class?
 Why Josephine has toothless tennis slippers? (Is it because they got

 Why does Mr. Hoffman say the Juniors and Seniors chase pleasures?
 Why do Lucille's batteries never run down?

Juniors
 Just to prove that we really like Geometry, we are publishing this poem, which we recently discovered, entitled:

Our Favorite Study
 G is for the groans we utter
 E is for the energy we use
 O is for the ordeal we meet daily.

M is for the mind we must use
 E means eyes we use with all our might
 T is tale that we go through each night
 R the reason required with every step
 Y the yawns when we lose all our pep.

Something we have been wondering about for quite a while is where Margaret finds all those bright sayings she has been telling us for the past week.

Just by way of information... Jean tells us she gave the Juniors and Seniors such a sermon their hair stood straight up when she finished. But say, when did this take place? Some of us missed it.

Mr. Hoffman is a lie detector for the stories he tells himself. Especially when he tries to convince us something which is not the truth is the truth. A bit of advice, Mr. Hoffman, "Look the other way."

Around R.H.S. Dot is known as "Sleeping Beauty or Snow White." The Juniors are a complete loss to find a story to tell every week, for our supply is just about gone.

Any stories submitted to our class will be greatly appreciated. If you make a contribution you are invited to attend our class and listen to your story. However, we will not guarantee that you will be able to recognize it.

Our German teacher says some of the Juniors simply murdered our German poetry last week. You figure out whether it was a compliment or a criticism.

Sophomore Report
 The sophs have been having some trouble with their algebra. When we started to work fractions, we thought they were going to be easy. We all made good grades until last Monday when the bottom fell out. It was truly blue Monday.

We are now reading dramas in literature. The class seems to be enjoying reading them, especially during class where we can read aloud.

When we came to school Monday morning, Geneva, Catherine, and Willie Mae were talking about the good times they had Sunday night. Tell us what it is all about, and maybe we can join you and have some fun, too.

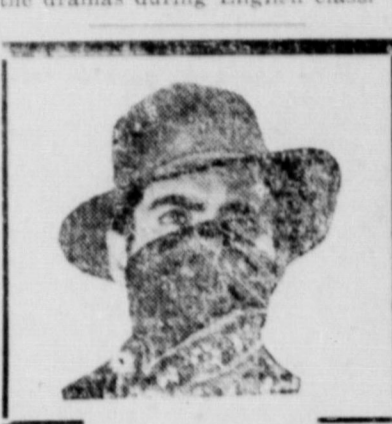

Florine was asked why her neck was sore. She claims her tonsils hurt, but we think we know what is wrong with her neck even if she will not tell us. It's Monday morning, you know.

What Do You Know

Some odd and amazing facts concerning the world's most notorious outlaw and his times were turned up by the 20th Century-Fox research staff while gathering material for Darryl F. Zanuck's production, "Jesse James," Technicolor epic, which stars Tyrone Power, Henry Fonda, Nancy Kelly, and Randolph Scott at the Roxy Theatre, March 19-20.

Here are a few of the things you probably "never knew 'til now" about the man who invented train robberies:

Jesse James and his brother Frank were such daring desperadoes they gave an entire decade in our nation's history the title of the "Serious Seventies."

Without exception, Jesse and Frank James pursued the longest continuous course of banditry in this country—35 years. Jesse's began in 1866 and ended with his death in 1882.

Jesse James tried to give himself up at the close of the Civil War and receive a full pardon, which was offered all border raiders; but when he rode into camp to surrender, a Union soldier from Wisconsin took deliberate aim and shot Jesse through the right lung. Jesse escaped and then seriously set about a career of lawlessness.

Jesse James gained as much notoriety through the alliteration of his name as for his exploits.

Jesse James and his brother Frank invented bank robbery. They also were the first to hold up a train. Passengers were so curious about this new "experience" they calmly asked the outlaws to explain in detail what they were about.

There was no lawlessness in the James family before or since Jesse and Frank's escapades in the "Serious Seventies." In fact, Jo James, daughter of Jesse's only son, is a valued employee in a Los Angeles bank!

The first daylight bank robbery was in 1866 at Liberty, Missouri, within six or seven miles of the James boys' home. The first train holdup was that of the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific Railroad on July 21, 1875 at Adair, Iowa.

In the midst of his outlaw career Jesse James, he has remained until this day as a strange, explainable mixture of good and bad, took time out to join the Baptist church during a revival meeting at Kearney, Missouri. He had secretly attended every meeting of the revival.

The James boys had so many friends throughout the Missouri hills that they never referred to the brothers as outlaws, but spoke of them as doing "horse and revolver work."

As a gesture of friendship Jesse James presented a pearl-handled .45 pistol to Bob Ford, a member of the James gang. A week later Ford shot Jesse through the back of the head with the gift-pistol to collect $10,000 reward the state of Missouri offered for James' death. Ford only collected a small amount of the reward and later was killed in Creed, Colorado.

Although the famed outlaws took some $200,000 in all their robberies, raids and holdups, 20th Century-Fox more than repaid the debt to Missouri when the film company spent $500,000 in the Ozarks while filming location sequences on "Jesse James."

Jesse James had a great sense of humor, was very religious and seldom used "cuss" words.

Frank James gave himself up shortly after Jesse's death. He was tried and acquitted and died a peaceful death from natural causes.

Make Hitler Harmless, Says H. G. Wells

In Great Britain when they want to foresee the future they immediately page the major prophet, H. G. Wells.
 In America they watch for one of Dr. Gallup's uncannily accurate polls on the public pulse.

The editors of the February issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine have done both, and present sensational stories from both men.
 "The immediate future of the hundreds of millions of people hangs upon the unchecked impulses of a mere handful of men," writes H. G. Wells. "You could be rendered harmless and put away as soon as possible."

The famous British author points to the open record of Hitler, his published speeches, his role in the program going on at the moment, his delusions of grandeur and contagious form of homicidal mania.

"Possibly they may fall out with one another," writes Wells. "Possibly some daring group may take the risk of a second 'blood bath,' if and when these three go."

In sharp contrast, is the opinion of Dr. George Gallup, who, as Director of American Institute of Public Opinion, has access to vast supplies of information, available to very few men in the nation.

"The American nation is changing," says Dr. Gallup. "We—the American people—are moving toward the right, toward a more conservative viewpoint in national politics. The November election with its Republican gains, highlighted the trend. Actually, it was revealed long before then, for the Institute's studies began to detect it in 1937 directly after the sit-down strikes and the President's Supreme Court proposal.

Barring some emergency like war, the pendulum may continue to swing toward the right next year because the public is no longer in a mood for experimentation to the same degree that it was when the New Deal came to power.

"What we are witnessing, and will witness, is a public desire for 'leveling off' in the tempo of change brought about by the New Deal, a desire for consolidating the gains after a period of rapid social adjustment.

"The public acclaimed and supported many of the reforms of the New Deal, watched the administration win blanket powers from Congress, and according to the latest survey, is still for President Roosevelt by a fair-sized majority. But it wants to see the legislative power re-assorted. For example, while a third of the voters say they would have supported all of Roosevelt's measures if they had been sitting in Congress, two thirds say they would have opposed many of these measures. An equally large majority, more than seven in every ten, think Congress should no longer give the President lump sums of money to spend as he wishes for relief and recovery. They want Congress to exercise greater control over how it is spent."

and mine. You and yours can help us make the record of Texas for 1939 an outstanding accomplishment in safety and accident prevention. We proved in 1938 that it can be done and that safety pays."

Austin, Tex.—Texas could have owned 1,313 additional miles of modern two-lane highways or 446 additional grade crossing separations with the money which her 1938 traffic accidents cost her, Julian Montgomery, State Highway Engineer, revealed in an article on "The Economics of Safety" in the March issue of Texas Parade. Although 1938 saw a reduction in Texas' traffic accidents, the total is still staggering.

"Every 5.3 hours ticked off by clock last year," writes Mr. Montgomery, "recorded a death on Texas highways, streets and roads."

"As we complete the statistical data of accidents in Texas for the past year, we take cognizance of this and other startling facts as being the responsibility of you and me and all other Texans.

"It behooves us as citizens to take a retrospective view of what happened upon the highways, roads and streets of our state during the year of 1938 in comparison with the previous year.

"The motor vehicle miles in Texas during the year 1938 were 14,400,197,403 as compared with 13,959,580,185 in 1937. This was an increase of 8.28 per cent in 1938.

"During 1938, 1,610 persons died and 14,239 were injured as a result of motor vehicle accidents as compared to 2,043 fatalities and 16,183 personal injuries in 1937. Fatalities were reduced by 433 or 21.19 per cent, personal injuries were lowered 1,944, representing 12.01 per cent decrease.

"In 1937, there were 16.5 persons out of every 50,000 of the citizens of this state who died as a result of motor vehicle accidents. In other words, one person was killed every 4.4 hours of every one of the 365 days of the calendar year of 1937.

"In 1938, 12.75 persons out of every 50,000 persons died as a result of motor vehicle accidents. One person was fatally injured every 5.3 hours.

"In 1937, there were 130.5 persons out of every 50,000 injured in motor vehicle accidents as compared to 113 in 1938.

"Property damage in towns and cities and on highways and other roads totaled 173,800 in 1937 as compared to 108,305 in 1938, a reduction of 65,585 or a 37.7 per cent decrease.

"The economic loss attributed to these traffic accidents presents staggering figures for the two years. In 1937 the amount totaled $64,053,025 but in 1938 was reduced to $44,625,790, a decrease of 30.33 per cent.

"While much has been accomplished during 1938 by the fire co-operation of interested agencies and the public, there is yet much to be done. After all, it is our individual responsibility—yours

Bronze Bust of John N. Garner Is Presented Tech

President Clifford B. Jones of Texas Technological College has invited Mr. and Mrs. Amon G. Lubbock of Fort Worth to come to Lubbock for a formal presentation of the bronze bust of Vice-President John N. Garner which Mr. and Mrs. Carter presented to the college.

Plans for the presentation ceremony will be completed when Mr. Carter sets the date for his trip to Lubbock.

Having served as first chairman on the board of directors of Texas Technological College, Mr. Carter presented the bronze bust of Vice-President Garner to the college as a token of his friendship for the college and as a tribute to the vice-president of the United States.

Miss Maxie Dingus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dingus, visited friends and relatives here last week-end. She returned to Fort Worth Sunday afternoon.

Cost Of Traffic Accidents In 1938 Would Have Built 1,313 Miles Road

One Death Recorded Every 5.3 Hours in Texas Last Year

Austin, Tex.—Texas could have owned 1,313 additional miles of modern two-lane highways or 446 additional grade crossing separations with the money which her 1938 traffic accidents cost her, Julian Montgomery, State Highway Engineer, revealed in an article on "The Economics of Safety" in the March issue of Texas Parade.

Although 1938 saw a reduction in Texas' traffic accidents, the total is still staggering. "Every 5.3 hours ticked off by clock last year," writes Mr. Montgomery, "recorded a death on Texas highways, streets and roads."

"As we complete the statistical data of accidents in Texas for the past year, we take cognizance of this and other startling facts as being the responsibility of you and me and all other Texans.

"It behooves us as citizens to take a retrospective view of what happened upon the highways, roads and streets of our state during the year of 1938 in comparison with the previous year.

"The motor vehicle miles in Texas during the year 1938 were 14,400,197,403 as compared with 13,959,580,185 in 1937. This was an increase of 8.28 per cent in 1938.

"During 1938, 1,610 persons died and 14,239 were injured as a result of motor vehicle accidents as compared to 2,043 fatalities and 16,183 personal injuries in 1937. Fatalities were reduced by 433 or 21.19 per cent, personal injuries were lowered 1,944, representing 12.01 per cent decrease.

"In 1937, there were 16.5 persons out of every 50,000 of the citizens of this state who died as a result of motor vehicle accidents. In other words, one person was killed every 4.4 hours of every one of the 365 days of the calendar year of 1937.

"In 1938, 12.75 persons out of every 50,000 persons died as a result of motor vehicle accidents. One person was fatally injured every 5.3 hours.

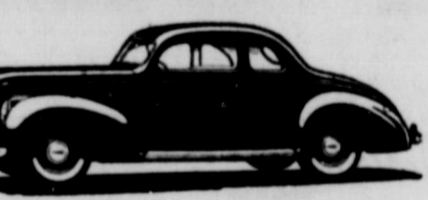

"In 1937, there were 130.5 persons out of every 50,000 injured in motor vehicle accidents as compared to 113 in 1938.

"Property damage in towns and cities and on highways and other roads totaled 173,800 in 1937 as compared to 108,305 in 1938, a reduction of 65,585 or a 37.7 per cent decrease.

"The economic loss attributed to these traffic accidents presents staggering figures for the two years. In 1937 the amount totaled $64,053,025 but in 1938 was reduced to $44,625,790, a decrease of 30.33 per cent.

"While much has been accomplished during 1938 by the fire co-operation of interested agencies and the public, there is yet much to be done. After all, it is our individual responsibility—yours

I Had A Dream the Other Night

You may have wondered when you saw "Topper," but I'm still mixed up over the dream I had. It seemed that the entire Senior class was getting ready to take their trip for which they have been planning. (Suggestions have been offered concerning New York, Hollywood and the World's Fair . . . ahem!) Anyway, there we were with our bags all packed, and we hadn't the faintest idea whether we were headed for the South Sea Islands or Goree until Wilman ran up to the bus and said we were going to a Dude Ranch. Of all places! We all boarded a huge bus and after insuring our lives—for a quarter—from a man who looked so much like Mr. Cobb that I thought uncomfortably of Law, we were on our way!

The bus driver had a face that resembled the dog that has been chased from the study hall so often. Someone on the bus began acting his lines in "Bashful Bobby," and the next thing I knew we were in an airplane. (Yes, this is only a dream.) Miss Couch was standing by the pilot giving the speech which the First Lady made at Abilene. While I was trying to figure out just how much she knew about the White House, we landed near what I had imagined a Dude Ranch looked like.

Ann slung her tennis racket over her shoulder and plodded toward the rambling ranch house. The butler, who let us in, was Leslie, and the lad who carried our bags was the image of Mr. Cooper. The maid turned out to be Maxine. Winston grabbed a guitar and soon had half a dozen girls gathered around him. Dorothy was the cook, and Marie stole the jewels belonging to Mrs. Cooper, and Dr. Bass was the detective. Soon we had left the ranch with its ten rallon hats, and gleaming spurs. (You know how dreams are—here today, gone tomorrow!) While flying

SPOTS AND SPORTS OF INFINITE VARIETY

LONG the lush of spring will be upon us and winter's children will begin their annual study of road maps and vacation booklets, eager to be off and away at the first crack of summer.

Sea or shore, mountain or plain, America has everything for the vacationist: the best hotels, the finest highways, the cleanest beaches, the longest hiking trails, the most elaborate system of parks and playgrounds. Only America could supply an endless variety of pleasure lands; only America would organize two World's Fairs for the same season.

Larry Nixon, author of last year's hit travel book, "Vagabond Voyaging," unfolds in the April Cosmopolitan a preview of summer spots and sports. Across the country from coast to coast he takes his travel-minded readers, high-lighting each state that has some stellar attraction to offer. Every section is inviting. Nixon finds that, in comparing one section with another, all the standard vacation activities can be found, no matter where you turn, where you decide to head, or what your favorite sport might be.

America's a land of superlatives, certainly in vacation possibilities—and from every standpoint the country gives more for the vacation dollar.

Security Card Aids To Obtain Work Quickly

Too frequently when a man applies for a job, he is inconvenienced because he has either lost or misplaced his social security account number, said Roscoe L. Surles, manager of the Wichita Falls office of the Social Security Board.

Many employers have adopted the custom of not considering an applicant for work unless he can produce his social security account number and thus avoid inconvenience to both employer and employee when the time comes for preparing wage reports, Surles said.

For this reason, it is important that the account number card be kept in a safe place where it can be located on short notice," Surles continued. "However, when by accident the card is lost or destroyed, and there is no record of the original number, the individual should apply at once for a duplicate, for which there is no charge. Prompt action is always advisable, since a duplicate cannot be secured as readily as the original.

To obtain a duplicate, Surles said, the worker makes application on Form SS-5, filling it out exactly as he did in applying for his original number, making sure that the data are the same as before, and adding a statement that a duplicate is requested. That is all that is necessary. In some instances, it has been reported that some individuals have been charging a fee for aiding workers to secure duplicate numbers. It is not necessary for an applicant to buy such services, Surles said, since the procedure for obtaining a duplicate is quite simple. After forms have been completed for this purpose, they should be mailed to the Social Security Board at 206 Post Office Building, and a duplicate account number will be prepared and mailed to the individual.

FSA Loans Are Not Limited To Small Farmers

The Farm Security Administration is now making loans to some of the most able farmers in the county and is not limited, as it once was, to the farmer who has been on relief, it was made known today by Howard M. Williamson, FSA's County Supervisor.

"Let me say right here that Farm Security Administration loans are made only to those who are unable to obtain adequate financing from any other source," the supervisor said. "The borrower who can get the financing which he needs from a bank or from any other private financial institution is not eligible for an FSA loan. But there are some types of loan which even fairly large farmers and ranchmen can obtain only from FSA."

Farm Security has made many loans this year to farmers or to ranchmen who were in need of more capital to buy livestock or to rent more acreage. In these cases, the operator was always hard-pressed, and many times had to meet with their creditors and get their debts adjusted. Farm Security will not lend to a man who is in such a hard situation that he has no prospect of paying off old debts as well as new. If the old debts are too heavy, FSA hopes to work out an agreement with creditors by which the debts are scaled down.

"Many of these borrowers are fairly large operators, and the loans sometimes run to several thousand dollars," the supervisor said. He also pointed out another type of farmer served by FSA, who can get all the money he wants at the bank for his individual operations. But he may occasionally need to use big-scale equipment for a few days, or a pure-bred sire, and yet have too little need of it to own one himself. He is eligible for one of the cooperative enterprises which FSA is financing.

Only ten per cent of farmers in this state have taken advantage of these opportunities offered by FSA to date, said the supervisor. Those who cannot get adequate financing from any other source were invited by him to call at the Farm Security Administration office.

New 1939 Model Frigidaires To Be Shown Here

Utilities Co. To Hold Premier Showing On Next Tuesday

The general public is urged to attend the premier showing of 1939 model Frigidaires at the West Texas Utilities Company, opening Tuesday, March 21st, and lasting through the day, according to W. R. Cabaness, local manager, who said the display rooms had been arranged to take care of hundreds of visitors.

"The new 'Cold-Wall' model, designed to save women the necessity of covering up dishes of food, will be a feature of the show, he announced. "In comparison with past showing of new models," he declared, "we feel that this will be the most important since electric refrigerators first were placed on the market. Special attention is directed to the new Cold Wall Frigidaire, which offers the most modern development in electric refrigeration since they were introduced more than a quarter of a century ago."

The lower half of the cabinet in the new model is partitioned by a solid glass shelf and concealed coils in the wall maintain low temperatures without the aid of circulating air which heretofore has forced women to cover food.

Many other new refinements have been added to all 1939 models, Mr. Cabaness said, tending to increase efficiency and economy.

Taxes For Pensions Cause Furrowed Brows Among Our Texas Legislators

Sales Tax, Net Income Tax; How To Raise The Money?

Austin, March 15.—With anti-sales tax leaders claiming 56 House votes against that form of levy, following a caucus last week-end, the Texas legislature prepared to plunge this week into what promises to be a memorable floor battle over what form of taxes, if any, will be submitted to the people this fall or late summer to raise $40,000,000 of new social security revenue.

Debate on the proposed constitutional amendment, approved by the House committees on taxation and revenue and on constitutional amendments, was scheduled to begin on the floor Tuesday. The amendment, an omnibus measure, would raise an estimated $35,000,000 of new revenue by imposing a 2 1/2 per cent sales tax on retail purchases and public utility bills, to be paid by the purchaser and collected by the seller; plus a 25 per cent increase in present levies on oil, gas and sulphur; plus a tax on amusement admissions of 50 cents and over.

Push Income Tax
Those opposing the sales tax feature will seek, by floor amendments, to substitute a net income tax with the same exemptions provided by the Federal income tax law, and a graduated income tax schedule ranging from one to three per cent for individuals, and a flat 3 per cent for corporations. It is estimated that this would raise about $20,000,000—the same sum estimated as the yield from the proposed sales tax for which it would be substituted, leaving a balance of $13,000,000 to come from the increased natural resources levies and amusements impost.

The anti-sales tax group named a committee including G. C. Morris, of Greenville; Alfred Derrien of Marlin; Bryan Bradbury of Abilene; DeWitt Hale of Farmersville; John Kerr, Jr., of LaGrange; and John M. Mohrman of Waco, to draft several amendments which will be offered in the effort to kill the sales tax feature of the omnibus amendment.

Meanwhile, with the session half gone, the Senate is sitting quietly on the sidelines, insofar as taxation is concerned, awaiting House action. Many senators believe that the bitter struggle in prospect between sales taxers and antisales taxers in the lower house may result in a complete stymie, with no taxation measure getting through the House.

Senate May Take Charge
Some Senators hope that the Senate then will be in a strategic position, by offering amendments or submitting to some House revenue measure, for the upper body to take charge of the situation during the closing hours of the session and thus write the State's tax policy for the next two years, at least, despite the Constitutional provision granting the tax origination option to the House. What the Senate would do under these circumstances is problematical. There is a strong sales tax sentiopposition to price-fixing.

He's been against all types since the day he took his oath of office. "This legislature is too friendly toward schemes to regulate business and legislate competition out of existence," Mays said. "That is unsound lawmaking. I've never seen a case of price-fixing or competition-controlling laws that have worked out as their sponsors hoped. Two years from now, merchants who are howling the loudest for these laws will be back up here either asking to get these repealed or for some even sillier and more harmful legislation. It's a bad step in the wrong direction. The public is entitled to more consideration. I'm glad to hear that so many consumers are now writing to their legislators and protesting against both the Fair Trade and Anti-Discrimination Laws. Neither one will help anybody who lives in Texas."

They'll Debate--

Connally and Bridges To Participate In Discussion

United States Senators Tom Connally of Texas and H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire will participate in a joint discussion on "What Shall Be Our National Defense Policy?" featuring America's Town Meeting of the Air to be broadcast from New York by WJZ and the NBC Blue Network from 8:30-9:30 p.m. (Texas time) Thursday evening, March 16th.

Senator Connally took a leading part in the recent debate on the National Defense bill on the floor of the Senate and in the forthcoming radio discussion will uphold the Administration's point of view, while Senator Bridges, Republican, will oppose such views.

How Would People Vote
House members, on the other hand, seem to be generally in accord with the amended O'Daniel program of $30 total income for all over 65.

In an off political year, with normal poll tax payments down, and the aged holding exemption certificates, sentiment here generally inclines to the belief that almost any tax program planned to raise more money for the aged, would carry in a referendum effectuated by means of a constitutional amendment submission. They point out there are 275,000 persons over 65 in Texas. If each of these voted, and controlled only one other vote, they point out it would roll up a vote of 550,000 for bigger pensions regardless of the tax method, which is sufficient to carry an election even in a record-breaking poll tax payment year.

Rep. Abe Mays Is Opposed To Price Fixing

Austin.—Price-fixing, if it becomes an effective law in Texas either through the Fair Trade law or the Anti-Discrimination law, will raise living costs to every man, woman and child in every town in Texas, according to Rep. Abe Mays of Atlanta.

Rep. Mays is spokesman of a small group of members of the Texas House outspokenly opposed to price-fixing in any form. About an equal number in the House are outspokenly in favor of price-fixing.

"We think the independent merchant needs protection and we feel these laws will give it to him," say proponents of the bill.

"In a small merchant myself," Mays said in a speech the other day, "I know this much about these laws. First, they will raise the price and those sponsoring them know it and don't give a hang about the consumer. Second, the laws really won't help the independent merchants. Manufacturers, most of whom live out of Texas, will derive from $60,000,000 to $90,000,000 added profits from Texas consumers."

It is to these neutrals that the public must appeal for protection. Many of them have promised their merchants back home they will support the laws. They gave these promises without much investigation of the laws. Now they are beginning to hear from the consumers back home—and they are realizing that if prices go up, they, the House members who vote for the laws, will be blamed.

"We'll be blamed by the merchants if the laws don't pass—and blamed by the public if they do," said one of the neutrals.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown of the Vera community are parents of a daughter, born last Friday. Both mother and baby are doing nicely.
