

Phillips, Wright, House and Branton Are Winners In Saturday's Primary On Face of Unofficial Tabulations

Melton and Reese in Run-off for Judgeship; Chamberlain and Propps for County Clerk and Sams and Coffman for Tax Assessor.

Notwithstanding the fact that Saturday's primary election held the interest of the citizenship almost one hundred per cent there were no disorders or disturbing factors at any place in Knox county insofar as we have been able to ascertain and the election went off very orderly, and many comments were heard on the streets as to the contrast of elections of years ago compared with those of today, and it is indeed much to the credit of the citizenship that the change has been so noticeable.

One of the most interesting campaigns in Knox County was that for the office of County Judge, in which five candidates were seeking the office, and final figures compiled from unofficial sources over the county indicate that J. W. Melton and A. B. Reese will go into the run-off primary in August. Melton took a decisive lead over the field by polling 1074 votes, with Reese second with 511 votes while O. W. Lee, present incumbent, ran third with 492 votes.

In the district clerk's race Roy Phillips of Munday defeated J. C. Patterson, present incumbent, by a decisive majority. Phillips receiving 1147 votes against Patterson's 915, according to unofficial returns.

In the race for County Clerk M. T. Chamberlain of Gore led the ticket in a four cornered race in which the present incumbent, Thos. F. Glover, was eliminated from the running, and the run-off will be between A. E. (Buck) Propps of Knox City and Mr. Chamberlain. Propps has held the office for three consecutive terms in past years.

For the office of Tax Collector, which is a new one in Knox County Miss Sarah Wright, who has been employed by the past and present sheriff to look after the collection of taxes, was a easy victor over R. C. Spinks of Vera. Miss Wright received the largest vote of any candidate in the county with an opponent, having received 1984 votes while her opponent received 425.

One of the few present officials to be retained was J. T. (Uncle Trav) House, who defeated his opponent, J. P. Kennedy, by a comfortable lead, having received 1614 votes as against 676.

In the tax assessor's race Earl Sams, present incumbent, took a big lead over his two opponents, John Rice of Munday and Lee Coffman of Gore. The latter two gentlemen ran so close together that it will likely take an official canvass of the ballots to determine which of them is entitled to enter the run-off with Mr. Sams. Unofficial returns gathered here show that Coffman received 659 votes and Rice 657, however, returns gathered in other points in the county show that Rice received a few more votes than did Coffman. Sams received 1122 votes.

The closest race in the county however was that between Mrs. Ethie Lee P'Pool for re-election to the office of county superintendent and Mrs. E. F. Branton of Knox City, and the unofficial count places Mrs. Branton in the lead by the narrow margin of 23 votes, she having received 1224 votes as against Mrs. P'Pool's 1201.

Every election has its upsets, and in Munday the interest of many centered in the little contest for Justice of the Peace, wherein R. M. Stevenson was a contestant against W. S. Bailey, present incumbent. Mr. Bailey failed to register with the democratic executive committee for a place on the ballot, and his name therefore was not printed on the ballot, but he made an active campaign for the honor just the same and succeeded in defeating his opponent by having his name written on the ballot. Bailey received 272 votes as against 212 for Stevenson.

D. C. Osborn won a decisive victory over his opponent, H. H. Langford, by receiving 616 votes as compared with 293 for Langford.

In Commissioner's Precinct No. 1—Knox City, Gillespie—Wm. Griffith was re-elected by a substantial majority for a second term over M. G. Nix. Griffith received 395 votes against 261 for Nix. Griffith received 359 votes at Knox City and 36 at Gillespie, while Nix received 113 votes at Gillespie and 148 at Knox City.

In Commissioner's Precinct No. 3 J. W. Chowning was re-elected by a small margin over Bryan Lowrey.

In a three-cornered race for commissioner in Precinct No. 2—Benjamin, Vera—O. L. Patterson led the ticket and will go into the run-off with W. C. Glenn, present incumbent.

Loftin and Oneal Will Enter Runoff For State Senator

In the four-cornered race for State Senator of the 23rd district the run-off will be between Reuben Loftin of Henrietta and Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls. Late reports from over the district indicate that Oneal is leading the ticket over the entire district with Loftin very close behind. Knox County gave Loftin a small lead over the other candidates, the vote in the county being: Loftin 711; Oneal 641; Backus 518; Daniels 215.

For Congress Marvin Jones 411; James O. Cade 33.

For Representative: George Moffett 331; O. D. Beauchamp 134.

Firemen Are Hosts To The Ladies of Auxiliary Monday

One of the most enjoyable occasions of many moons was that of Monday evening when the members of the Munday Fire Department entertained the auxiliary of that department down at the Broach lake with a chicken barbecue and watermelon feast.

The members of the department gathered at the lake late in the afternoon, where a committee of firemen together with Bro. Blue (colored) had barbecued a large flock of young springers to a rich golden brown over live coals, and if you have never eaten barbecued chicken as Blue barbecues them you've missed out on one of the real treats of a lifetime. Why, that colored boy can take a lowly hot dog and daub it over with a concoction of butter, vinegar, salt, pepper and other appetizing ingredients and make it taste perfectly aristocratic, in fact he demonstrated that fact Monday evening.

After all the firemen and their guests had enjoyed a feast of barbecued chicken and weinies garnished with potato chips, sweet pickles and other good things including delicious punch the boys brought out a large number of ice watermelons.

While they were waiting for the feast to be spread a number of the firemen together with their wives and kiddies enjoyed a swim in the cooling waters of the lake and the evening was in every respect a perfect one.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Pickard and son, Joe, Jr., of Dallas, are visiting in the home of Mrs. Pickard's sister, Mrs. F. S. Broach.

Lee Coffman of Gore was here Wednesday morning and stated that he would begin an active campaign for the office of tax assessor if the canvas of the executive committee Saturday revealed that he was entitled to enter the run-off.

Mr. Sterling's road bond plan is practical and can accomplish what he and his followers contend that it can accomplish, Mr. Sterling is indeed the Moses to lead us out of the wilderness into the promised land.

For many years it has been our contention that the burden of building highways should not be placed upon the agricultural lands of the state. It has never been right in theory for the farmers of Knox County to pay for highways through the county over which the commerce of the big cities might economically deliver and sell their wares.

TOI has been opposed to the highway bonds for the reason that we could not understand the necessity of them to accomplish the aim. We are open for conviction however, and we are sure that the rank and file of citizens of Texas are in the attitude. We want to know more about the proposition, and if we can be convinced that Mr. Sterling's plan can do what its advocates say it will then Mr. Sterling will have accomplished more for the people of Texas than has been accomplished in a generation.

If Mr. Sterling's plan is practical he will have lifted the mortgage from thousands of Texas farmers. He will have made right a wrong that was foisted upon the people by an antiquated system of taxation.

Indeed if Mr. Sterling can do the things that he and his advocates say that he can do with the state bond issue he has brought about a new lease of life to the farmers and business interests of the state and should restore the confidence of the people in their state government.

Let's keep an open mind and not allow prejudices to enter into our reasoning.

George Moffett Is Winner In Each County in District

George Moffett of Chillicothe was the winner over O. D. Beauchamp of Crowell by an overwhelming majority. Moffett having carried every county in the district except three. The totals show that Moffett received 4816 votes while Beauchamp received 1971. In Hardeman county Moffett received 2554 votes and Beauchamp 496. In Knox County Moffett received 1454 votes and Beauchamp 718. In Foard County Moffett received 738 votes and Beauchamp 704. In King county Moffett received 100 votes and Beauchamp 53.

Munday Lions Have Watermelon Feast Tuesday Evening

On Monday evening the members of the Lions Club, together with their families and a number of visiting Lions and ladies from Benjamin enjoyed a watermelon feast on the lawn at the West Texas Utilities offices. This little affair was planned to bring together the new members that have recently been taken into the club in the membership drive that has been under way during the past week.

Some sixty fine Parker County watermelons were taken from the ice vault and sliced and everyone ate to their heart's content.

The event was merely a get-together affair and no program was arranged, however, W. S. Dickerson, president of the club, announced the date for the inter-city meeting of the district on August 15, in Munday, at which meeting approximately 250 will be present and a most interesting and enjoyable program is being planned.

THINKING OUT LOUD

Life is just one thing after another. Just about the time we become reconciled to having lost a number of our favorite candidates in the battle of ballots we are face to face with another campaign. But campaigns are somewhat to the liking of us newspaper folks. In fact, the press is becoming more and more the ideal medium by which candidates may get their ideas before the people. Mr. Sterling, the Houston candidate for governor, has demonstrated this fact very forcibly in the recent campaign. Few Texans indeed knew who Mr. Sterling was a few weeks ago, except that he was appointed chairman of the highway commission by Governor Dan Moody. Being a newspaper publisher for the past few years, naturally Mr. Sterling depended largely upon newspaper publicity to introduce him to the people of Texas, and through this publicity he expressed his political viewpoints and achieved what those who are not sold on the idea of newspaper publicity would find impossible. The unknown Mr. Sterling entered the campaign only some six weeks ago against a field of candidates who have been before the public eye for many years. Against the veteran politician Earle B. Mayfield. Against the veteran of many campaigns, Barry Miller. Against the veteran politician Thos. B. Love. Against the stalwart young West Texan who had so much to commend him to the people of Texas, Clint Small. Against that old-time Democrat who has served his district in congress for twenty years and who had retired from that position without a single defeat, James Young. But the unknown Sterling won over them all, and he goes in to the melee with the Fergusones through the fact that he and his friends have used the newspapers of the state to introduce the man and the ideals for which he stands. He has made the road bond issue the big issue in the campaign,

Fellows We've Met

When a regular man, a hard rider on the trail of life, a chap who plays the game fair, with no lead in the dice, no notches in the carnis and no aces in the sleeves, cashes in and crosses the Great Divide, where all the hoof prints point one way, it is customary to place flowers in his lifeless hand and speak kind words that his ears cannot hear. We have vowed that if we have flowers for a fellow-traveler we will place them in his hands now and not on his bier later. Why flowers to a pile of clay? There's nobody home, he's gone. Every now and then when the weed is burning and the pipe is drawing right and in retrospect we glimpse the reminiscent trail, we expect to place in this page some flowers for fellows we've met. We scaped stirrups in the sacce brush of life, with Edgar Witt many years ago. We have not met his superior on the long trail of drifting years. In the lore of the cattle country he is a top hand, a gentleman on the manner born, reticent, modest as a woman, yet with the courage of his convictions on all occasions. The son of a country doctor, he has fought his way along in the world. As a lad he sold looks to finance himself in school. Scrupulous honesty and brutal frankness are characteristics of the man, a square shooter in the mangle games on the sand lots of a little town in Central Texas, a square shooter in the forum of a square courtwealth. He is a citizen who has done more for his fellows than he has done for himself. The flowers he has earned by loyalty to friends and duty have not been sent, nobody realizes this less than does Edgar Witt. His

WE CHOOSE MR. STERLING AS AGAINST FERGUSONS.

The Times heartily supported the candidacy of Clint Small for governor. We did so for several reasons, principal among which was our belief that Small was the best man in the race to eliminate the political hatred and prejudice in Texas.

We shall give our support to the candidacy of Ross Sterling of Houston. We know that from past experience that there can never be any harmony with the Fergusonism and something else. Some years ago it developed down to a choice as between Fergusonism and Ku Kluxism, and in that campaign the people chose the former as the lesser of the two evil influences.

not agree with him on the state bond issue, but that will require an amendment to the constitution and the people must eventually pass upon it before it could become effective. In the meantime Mr. Sterling and the advocates of the road bond issue may discuss it further with the people of Texas and we believe if it is best the people will understand it and vote for it, otherwise they will kill it with their ballots.

Mr. Sterling is a business man, and we have long felt the need of a business administration. He has not been associated with bitter political fights of the past and can bring about harmony in the legislative halls at Austin more easily than the Fergusonism could possibly do it. He is not in the campaign to punish political enemies, as are the Fergusonism, but we believe his aim to be that of rendering a service to the people of Texas, and upon this ground we shall give him our support.

THE GOVERNOR'S RACE

As was the prophecy of most all political prognosticators, the voters of Texas are again forced to choose between Fergusonism and something else. Some years ago it developed down to a choice as between Fergusonism and Ku Kluxism, and in that campaign the people chose the former as the lesser of the two evil influences.

There is something radically wrong with an election system that forces the vast majority of people every two years to cast their ballot for something that they do not want. According to the figures at hand on totals at this time there were 208,135 voters who wanted Fergusonism and 150,782 who wanted Sterling and his road bonds, while 558,208 sovereign voters of Texas did not want either of them, but this half of the entire voting strength of Texas must choose between the lesser of the two radical factions in choosing its governor.

Texas has a sufficient number of professional office seekers within her bounds to insure the perpetuation of this condition, and the only remedy that can possibly be offered is through an entire change of our primary system or a return to the old convention system. The latter was severely condemned by demagogue politicians in its day but it gave us such governors as Chas. A. Culberson, James Stephen Hogg, Tom Campbell and numerous others who ranked head and shoulders above the type of politicians who now manipulate their way to the governor's mansion.

President Hoover has announced his opposition to the Government operation of power plants, declaring for private leasing of the nation's power. This, says Arthur Brisbane, puts an end to the farmer's dream of cheap fertilizer from the great Muscle Shoals plant, which was built with the people's money, but cannot be operated in the interest of the people. At least, not so long as Mr. Hoover has any say in our government's affairs.

TO THE PEOPLE OF KNOX COUNTY

It is hard to find words to express my gratitude and appreciation to the people of Knox County for the loyal support given me on July 26th, and may I in no wise betray the confidence expressed thereby.

Respectfully, Sarah Wright

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX COUNTY

I wish to express my appreciation to the voters of Knox County for the large vote given me in the recent primary, and as it will be impossible for me to see all of the voters within the next four weeks, I wish to take this means of soliciting your support in the second primary to be held August 23rd, assuring you that anything you may do in my behalf will be very much appreciated.

Respectfully Submitted, Earl Sams, Tax Assessor, Knox County

The ambition of Thos. E. Love and other Texas politicians who hoped to make a permanent issue out of the campaign of two years ago was smashed into smithereens last Saturday. Had our election been held a year ago Mr. Love and others who made Tammany and Hooverism an issue would likely have fared much better than they did Saturday, but the popularity of Mr. Hoover has vanished in the South. Democrats who belied the party ticket two years ago can find very few accomplishments in Mr. Hoover's administration to which they can point with pride.

Organ Fast Becoming Our Favorite National Instrument

FRANK GALLAGHER

Frank Gallagher, Famous Organist, Lauds It On Career

Cleveland.—That organ music has improved more in the last twenty years than in all the previous two thousand is due entirely to Frank Gallagher, world famous organist here, authorities agree. "When I was a pianist at the old Fourteenth Street theatre in New York City in 1908," explains Mr. Gallagher, "the house played 'Cadenza' and pictures with illustrated songs. "As admission was only ten cents, the management could not be prevailed upon to hire an orchestra. The continual strum and tingle of the piano got on my nerves and I was at my wit's end that I could not induce the owner to put in additional instrumentation. Finally, one night I suggested the organ, never for one moment thinking that the owner would put in an additional instrument. The novelty of it appealed to him immediately, and in a few months

'SUN' HEATERS CUT DEATH RATE

Science Seeks to Duplicate Curative Rays Held Only by Sol.

New York.—Development of radiant heat by means of which science is seeking to duplicate the curative rays of the sun and make artificial solar light available in homes and offices is the subject of tests reported in the American Chemical Society by F. E. Vanderveer, chief chemist of the American Gas association laboratory.

An important reduction in the death rate and a rise in the average of health, especially in cities, through the medium of the ordinary portable room heater, are the possibilities disclosed in the report. These possibilities center in a use of the shorter infra-red ray, a quality in sunlight which has a definite stimulative effect and is produced to an extent by free energy usually employed for heating or cooking.

Measurements made in a series of tests with a heater indicate adjustments and construction changes which will greatly increase the volume of radiant energy, the report says. These point the way to research to determine how many rays other than infra-red, such as ultra-violet and visible, are given off by heaters, and how these should be developed to serve the cause of public health.

Rays' Value Recognized. The value of radiant energy, emitted by the sun, for prolonging human life and improving general health conditions, is becoming universally recognized, the report continues. Medical science has shown that people who have been deprived of the benefits of exposure to the sun, either by reason of adverse climatic conditions or because of being confined within doors, are much more susceptible to diseases of various kinds, such as tuberculosis, pneumonia, neurasthenia, etc.

Remarkable relief has been afforded children suffering from rickets and malnutrition by giving them sun baths and otherwise bringing them into more direct contact with the beneficial rays of the sun. The widespread interest in this is reflected by many of the city's prominent physicians who are prescribing sun baths and exposure to artificial ultra-violet rays in the treatment of certain diseases.

The health-giving rays of the sun cannot penetrate fog, smoke, dust, ordinary window glass, or solid objects of such material as is generally used for constructing houses and factories. In many large cities fog, smoke, or dust obstructs the sun's rays a great proportion of the time, particularly during the winter months, when the days are short and the inclination is to remain inside as much as possible.

Winter Death Rate High. Statistics show that during the winter months there are a great many more deaths than during the summer. Therefore, if this vital radiant energy is to be obtained, deaths decreased, and general health conditions improved, artificial radiant energy must be provided. While the "biologic" effect of the ultra-violet rays is widely known, it is not generally realized that visible energy and the shorter infra-red rays have a definite stimulative value, usually attributed to the power they possess of penetrating the outer layers of the skin. A higher intensity can be borne of incident energy of the visible or short infra-red, and this is thought to be due to the greater penetrativeness of the shorter rays. The energy emitted by the sun contains more visible and short infra-red energy than that emitted by a domestic fire, and this would appear to explain why it is possible to bear in comfort more sun energy than energy produced by an ordinary red-hot body. These considerations indicate a direction of possible improvement in the gas radiant heater which should tremendously increase its value for heating and health purposes.

Change Vacation Plan After Mistaken Arrest

Prague, Czechoslovakia.—A sorrowful girl by the name of Rothe stole 100,000 marks worth of jewelry from her employers in Berlin and escaped to Prague.

On the day she was said to have arrived here a wealthy Berlin couple, Hermann Rothe, jewelry florist, and his wife, also arrived. Police looking over their identification papers saw the name Rothe and arrested them as the errand girl Rothe and her accomplice. It took hours of explaining and a day-long exchange of telegrams between Prague and Berlin before freed and Frau Rothe were released. They left Czechoslovakia immediately though they had planned to spend their vacation there.

TO THE PEOPLE OF KNOX COUNTY

I wish to take this means of expressing my sincere appreciation for the loyal support given me in last Saturday's primary. I wish to express my thanks for every courtesy shown me by my opponents and the citizenship of the county during my campaign.

Unofficial returns show that I will be in the run-off, and therefore, I wish to ask that you give me your support and influence in the next primary. I am asking for your support strictly upon my qualifications for the office of County Clerk, and if elected, will do everything in my power to serve you efficiently. Sincerely, M. T. Chamberlain.

ONEAL EXPRESSES THANKS

I wish to thank the voters of Knox County for their generous support given in my race for State Senator in the recent Democratic primary election. The reports from the district show that I received a larger vote than any of the other Senatorial candidates in the race.

In the run-off primary I expect to make the race on the same high plan and with the same energy that I did in the first primary.

I desire to ask that the voters, whether they cast their ballots in the first primary for me or not, give me their votes on August 23rd. Ben G. Oneal

WEST TEXAS UTILITIES CO. Your Power Supply and Your Neighbor's The grouping of electric service requirements of a widespread area into one large electric system has brought about today's efficient power supply in small communities. Just as in the large city, mass production and mass distribution of electricity become possible. Greater efficiency in operation, and hence greater economy result. The transmission system of electric power supply is among the outstanding industrial developments of the past fifteen years. Supplanting isolated local plants, it has brought greater efficiency, greater dependability and wider distribution of electric energy to small towns and rural areas. With 2,700 miles of high tension transmission lines, the West Texas Utilities Company distributes economical energy to 115 prosperous cities, towns and communities in Texas, the "Land of Opportunity". Mr. and Mrs. Henry Craig have this week moved to Truscott, in order to be near their ranch property. Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Haney have moved into the Craig home.

M. T. Chamberlain of Goree was here Tuesday morning

M. T. Chamberlain of Goree was here Tuesday morning and was wearing a broad and expansive smile over the good vote he received in Monday, and over the fact that he led the ticket in the race for county clerk over his three opponents. He is planning an extensive campaign during the few weeks between now and the run-off primary in August.

Mrs. and Mrs. John P. Sammers and children of Trenton, Texas, have returned home after a two week's visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shedy. While they were here Mr. Shedy threshed wheat on his farm north of town and he states that the yield was quite satisfactory for wheat that had been sown.

N. S. Kilgore of Benjamin was here Wednesday morning

and stated that he had planned to leave within the next few days for north east Texas to campaign for the Fergusons. He stated that he planned to make about two speeches a day until the next election.

Mr. and Mrs. U. H. Akin of Onona, Texas, spent Wednesday night here in the home of her sister, Mrs. Ben I. Guion. They were enroute home from Arkansas where they carried Mr. Akin's mother to spend the summer.

METHODIST W. M. S. SOCIAL AND BUSINESS MEETING

Mmes. J. C. Campbell, F. O. Campbell and O. F. Greer were hostesses to the W. M. S. Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. C. Campbell.

The meeting opened with the song "Love is the Theme," followed with prayer by Mrs. G. R. Eiland.

After the business session a leaflet on "Social Evangelism in Korea" was presented by Mmes. John Lane and Oscar Spann. Mrs. W. H. Chapman gave the devotional, the subject being "The Supremacy of Love." A social hour was then enjoyed during which time delicious peach ice cream and cake were served.

We were glad to have as our guests during the afternoon Mrs. H. A. Pendleton and Miss Shelly Lee.

Heard & Smith Are Moving Into New Quarters this Week

The Heard & Smith Hardware is this week moving into the building formerly occupied by the E. B. Cash Grocery & Market owned by Mrs. Louise Ingram, and they plan to be straitened out in their new quarters by the latter part of the week. The business is now under the management of Mr. V. Greenfield, who recently came here from Post, Texas, and he plans to make some noticeable improvements in the business, and extend a cordial invitation to the public to visit the store in its new location.

ABILENE CHILD IS BURIED AT MUNDAY

Funeral services for Jonell Roddam, 18 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Roddam of 510 Cherry street was held at the graveside at the Munday cemetery Tuesday afternoon. The child died early Tuesday morning after an illness of two days.

Besides her parents the child is survived by one brother, three sisters, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Roddam of Wolf City and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Leggett of Abilene.

The Laughter Undertaking company was in charge of the local arrangements.—Abilene Morning News.

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX COUNTY

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to the voters of Knox County for the support given me in the recent primary, and I shall continue to conduct the affairs of the Treasurer's office in such manner that you will not feel that your confidence has been misplaced.

Respectfully,
UNCLE TRAY HOUSE.

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX COUNTY

I wish to thank the voters of Knox County for their support given me in the past primary for County Judge, and will appreciate your support in the coming primary and if elected to this office I assure you that I will give my best efforts to the office for the entire county.

JUNGLE PRISON DEN OF HORRORS

Writer Tells of Unheard of Brutalities Against Convicts in Guiana.

London.—Eight and a half months in the jungle prison camps of French Guiana, inland from Devil's Island, have returned W. E. A. Booth of Los Angeles to civilization, charging unheeded of brutalities and even murders of the most fiendish sort against the solitary prisoners of the camps.

Booth came out of the jungles wracked by tropical disease and has spent five months in a London hospital recovering from his ordeal. He asserts that stories of crime-trifling from the penal camps where crime is supposed to be punished and corrected drove him to an elaborate plan whereby he ingratiated himself with both soldiers and prisoners, and finally purposefully stranded himself there in order to see for himself.

Booth was under arrest and imprisoned for eight days in camp. Booth declares, and through his own experiences, observations and clandestine conversations with the prisoners he has learned a story, he asserts, which taxes belief.

Had Naval Scheme. In order to escape himself known and trusted among prison authorities, Booth declares, he became second mate on the coastwise liner Scorpion of the Columbian line out of New York, which touches at a number of South American ports carrying stores.

One of the ports is St. Laurent du Maroni, which is on the coast of French Guiana facing Devil's Island, 60 miles out in the sea. St. Laurent is the principal penal colony, locked into the edge of the jungle, and it is here that most of the prisoners are taken after a disciplinary period on the island.

Booth made three trips with the ship as second mate. Each time the boat called at St. Laurent, and when it stopped Booth went ashore, mingled with the soldiers, played the piano while they sang, and became so well known that he went wherever he wished unquestioned.

After the third trip Booth slipped out of New York as an ordinary seaman, he says, in order to make it easier to jump ship. After the cargo was unloaded he hid himself in the jungle, waiting for the ship to anchor, and as she sailed ran to the beach waving his arms and berating the luck which stranded him in a prison.

Bare Tree Murders. Then he became a member of the camp, and witnessed three murders, he says, before he managed to escape last August.

One of the most horrible tales Booth tells is of the death of a prisoner named Jean Brock. During the last trip he made to the island Booth says he stood on deck superintending part of the unloading of the convict. The heat in the hold was stifling, and one of the prisoners covered with sweat and bare to the waist finally found it unbearable and collapsed.

Brock leaped out of the hold and ran for water. One of the guards began leading him with a whip and Brock scurried back into the hold under the slings of the ship which cut his bare shoulders.

When the prisoners were called up at the end of the day the soldier again began leading Brock with his whip. Suddenly, Booth narrates, the convict grasped a wire sling used in hoisting cargo, and whimpering under the pain of the lash, raised savage blows on the soldier's head with the wire.

Convict Left to Die. Before the guards could overpower Brock the soldier lay unconscious and three days later he died.

Booth meantime had become a member of the colony and waited with every one else for the expected execution of the convict.

For five days Brock was locked in his underground cell and the soldiers in the camp stood guard. On the sixth day Brock was brought up and placed in line with the prisoners cutting a road through the jungle, and to every one's amazement was marched away.

That evening as the men returned Brock was missing and Booth said the cover of the other convicts were white with fear. No one spoke but during the night Booth learned Brock's fate. The following day he went to see.

WHAT'S COMING NEXT?

In answer to a letter requesting a check for a past due account a merchant not so far from Munday sent the following letter to his creditor:

I wish to inform you that the present shattered condition of my bank account makes it impossible for me to send you a check in response to your request.

My present financial condition is due to the effects of federal laws, state laws, county laws, corporation laws, by-laws, brother-in-laws, mother-in-laws, and out-laws, that have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public.

Through these various laws, I have been held down, held up, walked on, sat on, flattened and squeezed until I do not know where I am, what I am or why I am.

These laws compel me to pay a merchant's tax, capital stock tax, excess tax, income tax, real estate tax, property tax, auto tax, gas tax, water tax, light tax, cigar tax, school tax, syntax and carpet tax.

In addition to these taxes I am requested and required to contribute to every society and organization that the inventive mind of man can organize.

To the society of St. John the Baptist, the Women's Relief, Navy League, the Children's Home, the Policemen's Benefit, the Dorcas Society, the Y. M. C. A., the Boy Scouts, the Gold Diggers' Home, also every hospital and charitable institution in town.

The Red Cross, the Black Cross, the White Cross, the Purple Cross, the Double Cross.

The Government has so governed my business that I do not know who owns it. I am suspected, expected, inspected, disrespected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, commanded and compelled until all I know is that I am supposed to provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race.

And because I refuse to donate and steal money to give away, I am cussed, and discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied to, lied about, held up, held down and robbed, until I am nearly ruined, so the only reason I am clinging to life is to see what the hell is coming next."

Hear With Teeth by New Mechanical Device

Ithaca, N. Y.—A mechanical device whereby those who cannot hear with their ears may "listen" with their teeth was demonstrated here recently by Prof. Frederick Bedell of the department of physics at Cornell university, inventor of the device.

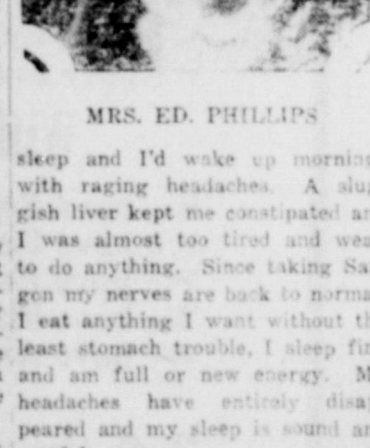

Guests of the demonstration appeared to slip music through slender straws, the straws being slender pieces of wood, sharpened at one end, which was placed in contact with a vibrating mechanism. The other end was held in the teeth of the listener.

Professor Bedell's device consists of a vibrating element surrounded by a sheet of rubber and attached to a wire which can be plugged into the sound reproducing in any motion picture house or connected with the radio at home.

The mechanism is only a little larger than a baseball and can be carried easily in an ordinary handbag or fastened to the back of a seat in a theater.

The inventor demonstrated that music almost inaudible to the ears of a normal person can be distinctly heard through the teeth.

Nerves On Edge All of the Time

MRS. ED. PHILLIPS

"For over a year my nerves were on edge all the time. The lightest foods nearly always disagreed with me, I never had a good night's sleep and I'd wake up mornings with raging headaches. A sluggish liver kept me constipated and I was almost too tired and weak to do anything. Since taking Sargon my nerves are back to normal. I eat anything I want without the least stomach trouble, I sleep fine and am full on new energy. My headaches have entirely disappeared and my sleep is sound and restful.

"Sargon pills toned up my liver and ended my constipation without upsetting me in the least."—Mrs. Ed Phillips, 2513 Market Street, Fort Worth, Texas.

Neneady Expresses Thanks
I wish to express my sincere thanks for the vote given me in the election last Saturday, and to say that I feel no remorse at the defeat at the polls, for I realized all along that I was working under a serious handicap. That because of the fact that my opponent was a most worthy gentleman and a pioneer citizen, and possibly because of the fact that I entered the campaign a rank beginner, I feel that I received a very complimentary vote under the circumstances and I hold a great gratitude in my heart for all the people of the county. I have enjoyed meeting the people and have been received with courtesy in all parts of the county, and have no regrets. I have made many friends—and no enemies. J. P. KENNEDY.

Fire in Stove Balks Eavesdropping Pupils

Zurich.—According to the Thurgauer Zeitung, the high school boys of the little town of Habelschwendi are to be credited with a fine achievement in "applied physics." In order to listen in at the proceedings of the masters' board and thus get to know their friends and enemies, they fixed up a microphone in a disused stove and connected the wire up the chimney to the attic. The meeting they were most interested in was the one at which their promenade to the upper forms were settled. Unfortunately a few days before that date the central heating apparatus of the school went wrong and the stove had to be heated. This led to the discovery of their "broad casting" outfit.

Make Plans to Restore Pres. McKinley's Home

Canton, Ohio.—Plans are being made to restore the home of President William McKinley here. The house where McKinley made his "front porch" campaign in 1896 has stood in disrepair since 1896 and a massive frame structure will be reconstructed and its presidential furnishings restored, and a museum will be built from the home in a direct line to the McKinley memorial a mile away when plans are carried through.

Hen Builds Nest in Coffin Bottom

Hickory Flat, Miss.—There are some utterly impossible chickens here. An old hen, who should have learned better after all these years of cackling, constructed a nest in the coffin and coiled round it in an undertaking establishment. The hen, apparently ignorant of the fact that quiet is desired in those quarters, struts daily about the room. Recently, however, the nest was destroyed when an underserving attendant moved a casket into the room. The hen failed to leave her forwarding address.

VERA ITEMS

There was a good size crowd at Sunday School for the time of year. There was preaching at the Methodist Church Sunday morning and Sunday evening, however there will not be preaching the next preaching day, which is the second Sunday in August, because our pastor will be away in a revival.

The Baptist meeting was put off until Sunday night, August 3rd, because the preacher can not get here.

There was good attendance at the Young People's meetings. We are counting on the young people because in a few years they are to take the older ones places. We insist that they cooperate in their work for the Savior. The older people are invited to attend, and to help the younger ones in any way possible.

The election was a great help to the Leaguers of Vera, for we sold ice cream and made $12.15. I am sure that the election did not end as everyone wanted it to, but it is impossible to please everybody.

The Associational E. Y. P. U. met at Seymour July 26th. There was a large crowd that went from here.

To The People of Knox County

I sincerely and truly appreciate the large vote given me in last Saturday's election. Having spent my lifetime in this section of Texas, it will be my aim to justify to the fullest extent, the confidence placed in me by the people of Knox County and the 114th District. I expect to use every effort to further the interests of the people of this district. In doing this I believe that common sense and good sound judgement are the best guides and I hope to use them both freely.
