Knox City Takes Game at Munday By Large Margin

Knox City defeated Munday easily on Monday's home park Sunday afternoon. It was an off day for the Munday lads, and while Melton pitched a very creditable brand of ball, for the almost 4 innings in which he performed for the locals, several errors on the part of his team-mates proved to be very expensive in the fourth frame, when he retired in favor of Jess Parker, who didn't fare any better, and the game was finished by Lloyd Bowden, who, while lacking in control, held them to one hit in the two final frames. Bobbie Edwards went all the way for Knox City and allowed only 7 hits.

Rhineland Hands Weinert Defeat By Score of 18-2

When the Weinert infield went "haywire" Sunday on the Rhineland diamond and made nine errors, Rhineland beat them to the tune of 18 to 2. In the battle Weinert used three pitchers and Rhineland used their old standby, August Loran, who allowed the Weinert team nine widely scattered hits. A. Loran and McGlothlin, who hit a long home-run, were the stars for Rhineland, while Taylor was the star for the Weinert team.

R. D. Rawls Will Demonstrate On Caponizing

To those interested in this line of work come to the High school building Saturday afternoon. I will put on demonstration and will assist you in getting your flock worked over.

I have three sets of tools and to those who attend and are interested I will be glad to lend tools required for caponizing. Those who have late hatched birds should be especially interested, with a good grain crop in sight more money can be realized than through the fat hen.

The Northern markets are calling for more and more of this kind of meat. If not interested in it from a commercial end, fix up a few of your late hatched birds for home use. The capon will grow faster and the meat is superior to that of the hatched hen.

R. D. Rawls, Instructor.

Summary: Two-base hits—Shaver, Keith, Berryhill (2), Edwards.

Three-base hits—McGraw, A. Wallace, Waltrip. Home runs—Denton and Edwards. Stolen bases—Henshaw (2), Shaver (2), Waltrip and Keith. Double plays—Henshaw to Scott to Bowley. Left on bases—Munday 9, Knox City 5.

Summary: Two-base hits—Bilbrey, Stratton, West, O. Martin, Smith. Three-base hits—Bilbrey.

Chapman, who underwent a major operation on Friday of last week, state that he is getting along nicely, however, for a couple of days first of the week his condition was very critical, and his many friends will be glad to know that he is now improving and that he will continue to do so.

L. E. Lovelless returned Sunday from Weatherford where he had been at the bedside of his brother-in-law, D. Toulfin, who is critically ill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Moore and A. C. Brock attended a sales meeting of Chevrolet dealers in Abilene on Monday evening.

Melon Growers Organize Here and Plan for '32

With a view of increasing the acreage in watermelons in the Munday country, a meeting was held Monday afternoon at which time a permanent organization was formed for the purpose of fostering the growing of melons on a commercial basis. The organization will be known as the Munday Melon Growers Association, and L. B. Patterson was elected president, G. W. Russell vice-president, and R. D. Rawls secretary-treasurer.

Goree Wins Over Sunset to Tune of 12-5 Sunday

Goree took an easy victory from Sunset Sunday with a count of 12 to 5. The game, however, was without any thrilling features that have marked several of the games this season. Both teams played fairly good ball, but seemed to be slow and without pep. Sunset marked up 12 clean hits off Stratton and Lambeth, but their efforts did them but little good. The Goree sluggers were credited with only 9 hits, but with several walks and 5 errors by the Sunset players were able to roll up their big score.

BIG FARMING
 The individual farmer faces the problem of changing his agricultural practices. The day of the one-acre farmer on a small scale is passing. Agriculture, like business, is facing the changes forced on it by large-scale operators. Recent happenings to wheat illustrate the trend. Prices have recently dropped to the lowest figure in the history of the Chicago Exchange, a period of over eighty years. The Department of Agriculture frankly states that "the present prospect points to another year of very low prices," caused mainly by the heavy surplus carried over. The individual farmer, depending mainly on wheat and operating on a comparatively small scale, cannot stand the low prices. He will be forced to change his habits or go out of business.
 There are some farmers, however, who can make money even at the low prices. These operate on a tremendous scale, using power and machinery to produce their crops at very low costs. In Texas there is Hickman Price, who this year harvested a 500,000-bushel crop from 25,000 acres. He used twenty-five combines, fifty tractors, two hundred and fifty workers, including five special messengers on motorcycles to carry reports and orders back and forth across the miles of wheat. Mr. Price believes that intensive cultivation and mechanical equipment should produce wheat at ten cents per bushel.
 Nor is he the only big wheat producer in operation. In Oklahoma two brothers operate a farm of 4,000 acres. In Kansas a large corporation, harvested 32,000 acres and several individuals in the State farmed 10,000 acres. In Nebraska James Jelinek plants 25,000 acres in winter wheat, using twenty tractors, fourteen combines and twelve tractors to harvest 620,000 bushels, which he stores in his private elevator.
 Cotton producers will face the same competition, both in this country and abroad. Large-scale operations are possible in the West and Russia this year has doubled her acreage in cotton. In these areas the use of machinery is possible, although no successful method to gather cotton with machinery has been perfected, as in the case of wheat. Mechanical power will overcome this handicap in all probability.
 The independent farmer may be forced by such competition to concentrate to live stock, truck, and such products as are not suitable to machinery.

A BANKER'S PROPHECY
 No one will across the Bank of England of being favorable to communism. His reputation for sound and conservative financing has extended over a long period. At the present time its head is Governor Montagu C. Norman, an able and wise executive. Within recent weeks the world has been thinking about a prediction Governor Norman made in a letter to the Governor of the Bank of France. Writing about the world's situation several months ago Governor Norman said: "Unless drastic measures are taken to save it, the capitalistic system throughout the civilized world will be wrecked within a year. I should like this prediction to be filed for further reference." Since this letter was written Germany has almost collapsed in the greatest economic crisis faced by any country since the conclusion of the World War. Now can there be any denial that "drastic measures" has already been taken and more are necessary if the present system in Germany is to survive. If it fails, it may affect other countries as well.
 Thoughtful people realize that the capitalistic system, as now working, is becoming antiquated and inadequate in the realization of its defects. There is a constant demand that the fruits of the capitalistic system be more widely distributed and that the workers share more permanently and securely in the profits of industry. Exactly how this can be provided for, in the face of the present financial structure of industry presents the problem, but unless it is solved, even with some sacrifices by those who now own the lion's share, there is the danger of just such a collapse as Banker Norman foresees.

THE PROBLEM OF WATER
 The recent White House Conference on Child Health and Protection makes a report about the time spent by women in cities and on the farms with household duties. This conference says that the average farm woman spend 171 hours each year and travels forty-two miles in carrying water for household purposes.
 The present economic situation does not enable many farmers to make improvements but we hope all who read this will bear in mind the convenience and saving which a proper water system will mean to the house wife.

Belongs to the Farmer

The small town belongs to the farmer. It exists mainly, if not entirely, to serve him. It is the place he goes for a loaf of bread or a loan at the bank. It is there, usually, that he attends a lodge meeting or a chicken pie supper. If the farmer never wanted a loaf of bread or a chicken pie supper there would not be any town. There might be a fueling station and a hot dog stand for the convenience of travelers, but it would not be a town. Time was, in the days of mud roads and plow horse travel that we were more or less bound to the small village nearby. Now we can take it or leave it. If we choose, we can truck our grain and stock to a city, and we can go to the city for our clothes, food and entertainment. We hold the power of life and death over the little local town. If we neglect it, it must surely starve to death, for it has no means of self-support. A few small towns have so died, but that most of them remain show we still want them. We may pretend to think lightly of that town but still we want a location for our churches, lodges and high schools. We still want a place close at hand where we can find a doctor, a druggist, a veterinarian, a hall of twine or a plowshare. The sort of merchants we find in our town are the sort we need with our patronage. If we make a policy of dealing only with the man who carries a goodly assortment of dependable articles he will stay in business and prosper, and as he prospers he will naturally offer better assortments and better service. So with the kind of lawyers, of doctors and dentists. In a city farmers may not have much influence on the character of business and professional men, but in the little town patronage is the controlling influence. The supplies. It is more than a first-venience for buying every-day little town is more than a consignment station in case of a broken leg or a broken binder. It is the community center where social life of the farm people finds its

Widow Millie Filled the Stocking

By Wm. L. Gaston

WIDOW MILLIE lived on a western farm and with the help of a hired man—a slow going man named Mike—nobody ever heard his last name—managed to grow good crops and maintain the appearance of thrift.

Five years before her husband, Wilson Macy, had died and she was left alone to carry on the work of the ranch. Mrs. Macy was an attractive young woman whose age would have been guessed somewhere in the early thirties. She was plump, good-natured and generally liked in the community. Somehow she came to know Widow Millie by the neighbors, who used the name as much to express kindly feelings as to distinguish her from other people.

Bob Ramsey and Jim Walden were both eligible widowers and each owned a quarter section of good land adjoining Widow Millie's land, one on the north and one on the east. Each seemed a trifle more than anxious to have everything go right on the widow's ranch and neither was backward in the proffer of advice or offers to help. To do this properly required a call and neither was averse to calling on the widow.

Tom Moulton was a bachelor—a timid, bashful bachelor who could blush better than he could talk, in the presence of ladies. He owned a good ranch and was one of the most thrifty farmers in the community. He was good looking and very obliging. He was well liked but so one believed that he could ever muster the courage to propose marriage to any woman. He often slipped over to the widow's farm, to see Mike, of course. He gave his farm advice to Mike. Sometimes he exchanged work with Mike and on these occasions there was an extra white cloth on the table and the biscuits had an extra stickiness. Tom liked the biscuits. Tom ate the biscuits but he could not think of a word to say when the conversation was directed to him.

On the night before Christmas both Bob and Jim called and Widow Millie proceeded to entertain both in the parlor. She managed conversation and kept it going in the general direction while the visitors digested and admired each other. Millie was sure that Tom was in the kitchen. She could hear the unified conversation of two slow-speaking men. Millie extended an invitation to both her visitors to come over the next day and have Christmas dinner with her. This was the signal for both to leave.

After their departure Millie went to the kitchen, but Tom had gone and Mike had retired. But hanging on the kitchen wall just over the stove was a pair of ladies' silk stockings. She looked at them in amazement. They were not hers.

and how could they have gotten there? Going closer she observed a piece of note paper protruding from one of them. She pulled it out hastily and excitedly read:

"Widow Millie: I have hung these stockings up here for you. I want you to fill them and wear them tomorrow. I have hung up a pair for myself at home. I will fill them and wear them over here tomorrow noon. The preacher and his wife will be with me. I fixed up everything else at the courthouse

Bob Anderson and Grady Thornton visited friends in Wichita Falls Sunday, and also attended the Wichita Falls-Houston double header ball game.

Miss Myrtle Conwell writes if I do not have to cook, you can cook better if you do not have to wash. This is an honest offer, from Tom.

It would be hard to describe the thoughts that raced through Millie's mind. At first she was indignant. She resented it as an impertinence. "He had his nerve," she said almost aloud, a dozen times, but she smiled when she thought that nerve was the very thing that Tom was supposed not to have. She liked Tom, and if he had come out boldly and proposed in the usual way she did not know what she would have done. She took up the note again, but she could only see the last line—this is an honest offer, from Tom." It smote her with its straightforwardness and simplicity. "He is honest," she said to herself. She decided first one thing, then another, but always came back to that last line—the honest offer. The last line won.

When Tom, the preacher and his wife arrived, Widow Millie had the stockings filled and dinner was well under way. The minister's wife finished it. Bob and Jim were in time for the ceremony, and of course they stayed for their Christmas dinner.

Miss Grace Nelson Gives Methods of Preserving Rinds

Grace Nelson, Home Dem. Agent

2 pounds watermelon rind, (prepared); 2 quarts sugar, 4 quarts water; 1 lemon sliced thin, juice of 1-2 lemon, 6 pieces root ginger.

Limewater Proportion 2 tablespoons lime, 2 quarts water.

The thick rind melon is preferred for preserves. Remove peel and any pink meat of the melon. Soak in limewater over night using proportions as given above. Next morning drain and allow rind to stand in fresh cold water for two hours. Drain and cut in small chips, drop in boiling water, cook very rapidly for ten minutes. Drain again and add gradually to the syrup (made by boiling together the 2 cups of sugar and 4 quarts of water). Add the lemon juice and root ginger. Cook until the rind is tender and transparent. About 15 minutes before it has finished cooking add the slices of lemon.

CANNING PEAS String, wash thoroughly, and cut into 1-1/4 inch lengths. Add enough boiling water to cover and boil for 5 minutes in an uncovered vessel. Remove and pack in number 2 or 3 cans immediately. The cans should be firmly packed. Add the bacon to each can, the size depending on the cans used. A cube of bacon one inch by one inch and 3-4 inch thick is sufficient for a No. 2 can. Cover with boiling water to within 1-2 inch of the top, add 3-4 teaspoon of salt to No. 2 cans and 1 teaspoon of salt to No. 3 cans. Seal and process immediately at 10 pounds pressure for 60 minutes for No. 2 cans and 1 hour and 15 minutes for No. 3 cans. Remove from cooker and drop in cold water.

Rev. Howell Is Pleased On Coast

The Times is in receipt of the following letter from the Rev. W. C. Howell, until recently pastor of the Methodist church here, and now pastor at Silsbee, Texas:

Well "Toi", the first copy of The Munday Times is here. Yes, I was glad to get it. It was like hearing from home. Thanks to Judge Billingsly for the kind words, and those who joined him in them.

Silsbee is reputed to have a population of four thousand. The scholastic enrollment is 1,388, but attendance at church is not as large as at Munday. We did not have more than forty in the morning service. I am sure that Bro. Crowe will enjoy the fine cooperative spirit at Munday in church attendance. The people here say that he is the best preacher they have had in years. I am sure the people of Munday will enjoy him, as they have been accustomed to good preaching.—Selah!

Fishing? Well I walked down town a while ago and there lay an alligator gar sprawled on the walk. He was eight feet long, thirty-six inches around, and it weighed 150 pounds. How's that Toi?

We went over to Beaumont and saw our first big ocean steamer, "The West Cathala." Boy, it was some big ship, and incidentally, we saw a big fish jump up out of the water. Hot? Well, yes but not so hot as I expected. The sea breeze in the late afternoon and night time is glorious. The deep tangled wild-woods, the gentle bowers of the great trees along the shore, the kindly spirit of the good people is proving very healing and helpful to us.

Heaven's blessings upon the dear friends of Munday.

From the spacious and exceedingly comfortable parsonage home at Silsbee, Texas.

Drivers of sixes never want less

because it takes six cylinders to give the smooth, silent power that makes driving really enjoyable

Drivers of sixes are spoiled for anything less. Drivers of sixes are sold on multiple cylinders. They would no more think of giving up "six" performance than any other real advancement of motoring. For them, the whole cylinder question has been settled.

Slip behind the wheel of a Chevrolet Six, and you'll know why these drivers feel as they do. Step on the starter, let the motor idle—and notice its silence. Throw in the clutch, shift into "low"—and feel that smoothness. Change into "second," hit a faster and faster clip, slip into "high," sweep along at top speed—then throttle down to barely a crawl. The smoothness and flexibility you always get are six-cylinder smoothness, six-cylinder flexibility. Annoying vibration is gone!

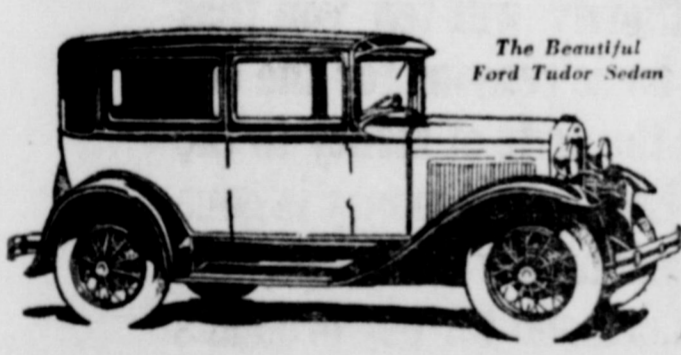

Over two million owners have tested and proved this six-cylinder Chevrolet engine. They have found that it costs less for gas and oil than any other. They have found that it actually reduces upkeep costs, by holding vibration to a minimum. They know a six is better in every way—and they would never be satisfied with less!

Twenty beautiful models, at prices ranging from $475 to $675. All prices f.o.b. Flint, Michigan, special equipment extra. Low delivered prices and more C. M. A. C. terms.

Any authority will tell you that one of the basic reasons for the depression is the drift of money to the North and East. This money is gone from the community for keeps, and there is no demand for our products because there is no money with which to buy. We can all help remedy this condition by trading at home, for a part of every dollar spent here will remain here. If it is sent to mail order houses it is gone, and there is no probability of any part of it ever returning to this community.

Dear Fatty -
Your letter received and I have not read it yet 'cause I can't make it out, but I was glad to hear from you.

Did you know that Fidelity Smith has a baby brother, but they don't know what his name is because they can't understand a word he says. I have a knife but I ain't much good at hasn't any blade and not much of a handle. Old man Barton had an accident last week. He stopped to tie his shoe.

When he was going through a revolving door. Are you getting any fatter? You ought to exercise more. Why don't you start collecting stamps. Dad says he speaks me because he loves me. That may be so but I can't return his love. Pinky P.S. - I have to go to the dentist to have a tooth pulled out. I think I'll just go out and pick a fight instead.
