Search Successful In Finding Missing Man

by Joyce Beecher Greenwood

Last Friday as the unyielding Texas sun caused temperatures to hover near the century mark, a search party combed the rough, brushy banks of the Brazos River north of Goree for a retired farmer who had been reported missing by his wife.

F. M. (Felton) Lambeth, 78, of Goree left his farm house shortly before 9 a.m. on September 7 and drove down the country road to his mailbox to pick up his mail and "just look things over." As he inspected his fields that border the breaks along the Brazos River, his pickup truck became stuck in some freshly plowed ground. He was finally successful in driving it out of the sand, but his pickup became overheated during the process. He took an old bucket from the back and made his way down the steep embankment to the river to get water for the radiator. When he stopped over to fill the bucket, Lambeth's foot slipped and was buried over the ankle in the sticky mud at the river's edge.

Lambeth, who is a heart patient and wears a pacemaker, worked frantically to free his foot without toppling over into the river. When at last his foot was free, he found his legs were too weak to climb up the embankment through the Johnson grass and scrub cedars that grow there. After trying repeatedly to ascend the slope and sliding down toward the muddy water, he was able to grab onto the base of a little scrub cedar bush and keep himself from sliding into the water.

His wife, Faye, is accustomed to her husband's roaming the fields and pastures that have been their home for over 50 years and she was not really worried about him when he didn't return in the morning. When he didn't return by noon, however, she began to call neighbors to find out if anyone had seen him.

Deputy Sheriff Johnny Ivie was summoned as was the Goree Fire Department, along with a host of friends and neighbors, and for hours, searchers walked through the fields and pastures and along the banks of the river. The Lambeths' son and grandson arrived from Wichita Falls and brought friends with them to join in the search.

In the early part of the afternoon, his pickup truck was found and efforts increased as the group knew he was in trouble somewhere.

A private plane from Munday joined the search and circled the area where Mr. Lambeth lay partially hidden by the bush, but he was not sure the pilot saw him as he waved.

A little after four o'clock, two of the searchers, Dale Maxwell and an unidentified man, spotted him in the tall grass. They alerted Mike Echols and Junior Greenwood who were nearby and the men began to pick the grassburrs from his body and clothing and to bathe his face. One of the men carried a thermos full of iced tea and Mr. Lambeth reported "it sure tasted good after drinking that dirty river water."

"Mike and Junior picked me up," he laughed. "And I got hold of their shoulders and told them... if you boys get out of here, I'm going with you!"

Mr. Lambeth was transported to Seymour Hospital by Munday Ambulance where he was treated for dehydration and exhaustion and then released.

In a Sunday afternoon interview, Mr. Lambeth was still scratched and sore from his ordeal, but had been able to attend worship services at First United Methodist Church in Goree and sit on the pew that has for many years been designated "Felton's seat".

"I'm just lucky I had already filled that bucket with water," he said. "I drank from it and kept bathing my face with it as the day got hotter. I figured people were looking for me and I was just hoping they'd find me before dark."

"I'm just so thankful," Mr. Lambeth added, "that I'm still here."

Moguls Outdistance Haskell Indians In Season Opener

The Munday Moguls came from behind last Friday night to take a 64-19 win over the Haskell Indians in their first outing of the season.

The Moguls, plagued by fumbles, found themselves behind early in the game as Haskell made the first score. Johathan Dever of the Indians intercepted a Mogul pass at the 34 yard line and Jeremy Fuentes outran the Moguls on the Indians first play. Chad Gibson kicked the PAT to give Haskell an early 7-0 lead.

Munday took only six plays to come back and score with Bobby Dockins racing 24 yards around the right end to make it 7-6. The extra point try was wide.

Moments later, the Mogul defense was stunned again as Fuentes broke through the line for an 83 yard run before being stopped on the Munday six yard line. Three plays later, Haskell increased their lead as Rusty Stocks, Indian quarterback, scored from one yard out. The PAT attempt was blocked by the Moguls, leaving Haskell with a 13-6 lead.

Haskell stopped Munday's next drive on the two yard line. The Mogul defense came to life in the second quarter, allowing Haskell only 18 yards the entire quarter. Munday took the lead with 9:58 left in the second quarter. Dockins carried the ball for 57 yards to the three yard line and Perry Collier scored two plays later. Terry Collier ran for the two extra points and gave the Moguls a 14-13 lead.

Munday never looked back as they continued to run past Haskell. Dockins scored next on a 44 yard run with 6:24 left on the clock in the second quarter. Dockins then passed to Terry Collier for a 47 yard touchdown and Jay Kingston intercepted an Indian pass and returned it 29 yards for the final score of the first half. The Moguls led Haskell at halftime by a score of 34-13.

The second half began as the first half ended with Munday's defense in charge. The Moguls stopped Haskell with a minus three yards on their first possession. Tyler Thompson then ran 42 yards for his first touchdown of the season. Dockins ran the PAT, making it 42-13 in Munday's favor.

Next, Tony Hunter intercepted an Indian pass at the 18 yard line. Munday scored in four plays as Perry Collier got his second TD of the night on a one yard run. The PAT by Dockins built the Mogul lead to 49-13.

Munday's second team defense played most of the second half and gave up only six points as Haskell's Dever scored on a 42 yard run late in the final stages.

The Moguls' other touchdowns came on a 98 yard run by Dockins and a 34 yard run by Terry Collier that ended the first game of the year with a 64-19 victory.

Thursday night the Haskell JV came to Munday and handed the Mogul Junior Varsity a 0-12 loss.

This Friday night, Munday will host the Holliday Eagles at 8:00 p.m. Two years ago, Holliday upset the Moguls with a 20-19 win. Let's hope history will not repeat itself.

COACH'S COMMENTS

For the first game, I thought we executed really well. We had problems early defensively, but finally solved our problems. Jerry Branam played an outstanding defensive game with 16 tackles.

As the game progressed, we took over physically and were able to control the line of scrimmage. I was really proud of the way we adjusted after being in an adverse situation in the first quarter. We knew we had questions defensively, but I feel like we worked some of those out during the game.

Offensively, Bobby Dockins ran the option well. Their secondary took away the pitch men on the option, which enabled our quarterback to run free.

I thought the line did an outstanding job of blocking their stunts. This was the best blocking by our backs in a long time.

We really didn't get to run as many offensive plays as I had hoped because we kept scoring from a long way out. We made a lot of progress this game, especially with team aggressiveness. If we improve the rest of the year as much as we have so far, we will end up an outstanding football team.

Holliday has a young team, dominated by Sophomores, but beat us in '88 with exactly the same kind of team. So, we must be prepared to play another physical contest as they hit hard and are very aggressive. This should be an interesting match-up.

Preliminary Census Report Is Released

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said recently that his study of the U.S. Census Bureau's preliminary 1990 count shows that while Texas' overall population has grown since 1980, some regions of the state are growing faster than others and that suburban areas have outpaced the inner cities.

The Bureau has calculated that Texas has grown by 2.6 million, or 18.2%, since 1980, compared to a national growth rate of 8.5%, but the increase has been uneven.

Throughout Texas, suburban counties on the outskirts of metropolitan areas grew the fastest, while the rural areas showed either slow growth or declining populations by growing at just 6.1% overall.

With an 8.4% decline, Knox County showed a slightly smaller drop in population than surrounding counties. Knox County's 1990 preliminary census count is 4,883, as compared to 5,329 in 1980.

Most surrounding counties also showed a decline in population, with Foard County dropping the most at 18.4%, followed closely by King County at 16%, Haskell County at 12.1%, and Baylor County at 11.5%.

Football Buttons Being Ordered

Orders are now being taken for football pictures and buttons. Notes have been sent home with students and should be returned to Coach Edwards by Friday, September 14.

Counts Announces For Re-Election

State Representative David Counts, Democrat of Knox City, recently disclosed his intentions to seek reelection to the 78th District House seat that he now holds.

In making this announcement, Counts said, "Overall, the regular session and six special sessions were very successful. As a result of the Legislature's efforts, Texans will be safer, healthier, and better prepared to meet the many challenges of our changing state. Much of this included workers compensation reform, public school finance equity, health and human services, and the broadest state and local prison expansion and reform program in the history of Texas."

"We face greater and more serious challenges in the future. This election is going to determine who draws district lines that are going to be used for the next 10 years. District 78 is primarily a rural district. I am working to keep the district rural so we can still have a collective voice for rural Texans."

"It is my desire to see this state again become the economic hub of this nation, with our people working, excellent schools and colleges, with criminal activity at the lowest level in recent history," Counts stated. "I want to continue to work for the people of the 78th District in the 90's to meet these challenges," he concluded.

Remember the catchy little song from the 50's that began, "There's a pawn shop on the corner in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania...?" It was an upbeat kind of song about an establishment that is anything but happy and upbeat. A pawn shop is a sad place, full of broken dreams and broken promises, where people's treasures are displayed... a grim reminder that hopes and dreams are not always realized.

In my sheltered little growing-up world, I was blissfully unaware that such establishments even existed until Tommy and I had followed a seismograph rig that stopped in Hobbs, New Mexico, where the cold winds blew without ceasing and old cars rusted in yards in the part of town where we stayed. Daddy had held our farm for us after a crop failure had forced us to leave and find work, but it was almost the first of the year and he had written that he would go on our note for money to start a new crop. All we needed was to get home.

"Maybe I can hock my rifle," Tommy said. "Hock your rifle?" I asked. "That means I could borrow money on it and if I haven't paid it back by a certain time, the pawnbroker can sell it," he explained. "I knew how much the rifle meant to him and I knew he would never return to Hobbs to reclaim it so I hoped something else would turn up. And it did. He picked up a few days work on an oil rig and when he drew his pay, we loaded our few belongings and our baby into the old Buick and headed home.

Many years later, I went with Nell to a pawn shop in Wichita Falls where she was shopping for a shot gun. While she haggled with the pawnbroker (who never had a chance) over price, I inspected the cases filled with items of jewelry and the musical instruments that hung on the walls. I was filled with the most awful sense of loneliness. To me, those items represented someone's intense need and sadness. The musical instruments were mostly well-worn and on my mind's eye, I could imagine how pairs of hands must have clutched them lovingly for the last time as the owners exchanged them for half their worth. The monetary value, of course, could not have matched the pleasure of owning the guitars and trombones that lined the walls, but desperate situations require desperate measures.

Sadder still were the wedding rings that lay in display cases. One could only speculate about the moment of happiness when the ring was slipped onto the finger of someone with shining eyes who promised to "love and cherish always". But always sometimes does not mean forever and the wedding rings in the pawn shop represented the broken vows and broken dreams of a love that didn't quite make forever.

There were watches and bracelets from a more prosperous time, knives and guns, silverware and crystal, all items that are not necessary for survival, all exchanged for a fistful of dollars. Each item had its own story that went without the telling as it lay gathering dust. Perhaps someone was seriously ill and had to exchange his treasure for emergency help. Perhaps someone had lost his job and needed money to keep his family going until another one came along. And maybe some of the items represented the price of a bus ticket home.

In reviewing our lives, as everyone who attains the half-century mark is prone to do, I know why God allowed us so many desperate situations when we were young. When a young couple is far from home and among strangers, they learn to depend on each other. There is a certain bonding that arises from relying only on one for the other that sometimes doesn't happen when surrounded by the security of home and family.

And more important, we learned compassion. Someone who has never been down to his last can of soup on a bare pantry shelf or stood for hours in an employment line hoping the construction boss will give him a chance to prove his worth, cannot start to understand that particular sense of urgency and despair. To those who have never begun a journey in an old jalopy held together with baling wire and a silent prayer, a person is foolish to start such a journey. They can't know that sometimes his only hope lies in reaching the end of a road that leads back to the people who love him.

It would have been nice to have begun our lives together with a cute little house furnished with lovely things . . . all a gift from family. But we'd have missed the satisfaction of turning the old ramshackle house into a pretty livable place, even if it did take nine years to accomplish. And we'd have missed knowing the old couple in Fort Worth who said I reminded them of their daughter who had drowned in a boating accident, and John, the hardened ex-con in Dimmitt with the loving heart. We'd have missed the particular sense of achievement we felt when we paid our house rent and bought groceries and still had five dollars left over for a Saturday night movie and hamburgers.

Sometimes maybe we need to look at the world through someone else's eyes. Even if we've never been in a situation desperate enough to require parting with our treasures, we can feel compassion for people who have. Call it bad luck - call it poor management - call it anything, but the fact remains, many people sometimes find themselves in dire need of a helping hand or just a little understanding. This is evidenced in the display of someone else's treasures.

Special Fishing Tip

Don't forget that minimum length limit on nearly all Texas lakes is 10" on crappie. Game officials have already started citing fishermen for small crappie.

Fishing Tip

Q: Does dove hunting hurt fishing?

A: With the current crop of dove being so small in our area, the only real danger to fishing is frustrated hunters spending too much time getting birds when the crappie are biting so well. However, there is a real environmental danger to fish from lead shot. My favorite way to hunt dove is to shoot them as they fly in for water in the evening. Many hunters do this - spraying lead into the pond or lake. It has been proven that such lead poison has affected fish and can hurt those who consume fish after hunting season. It is recommended that if you hunt over water sources to use non-lead shot (such as steel). A second idea is to be sure and shoot away from the water (it makes it easier to retrieve birds, too). This isn't best because birds and weather still cause much of the lead to get into the water.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Darla Kaye Griffis and Lee Spencer Lane were united in marriage at 7:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 18, at First Baptist Church in Weinert. Rev. Donny Harbers, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Donald and Gracie Griffis of Weinert and Buddy and Peggy Lane of Haskell.

The candlelight service began with the lighting of the candles. The front of the church was decorated with a brass heart-shaped archway entwined with springer greenery, baby's-breath and white bows. On each side of the archway were brass candelabras with white tapers accented by springer greenery and lily-of-the-valley. The wooden rails around the piano and organ were decorated with votive candles and springer greenery. In each window were pedestal crystal holders with white tapers accented with greenery. Wooden stands with hurricane lamps holding votive candles and accented with lily-of-the-valley and white bows marked the pews. The unity candle and two side candles were placed atop a brass stand accented with lily-of-the-valley.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Sandy King, organist, Karen Harlan, pianist, and singers, Cindy Guess and Debra Herron. Vocal selections included Always, When I'm With You, Endless Love, You Are So Beautiful To Me and The Lord's Prayer.

Entering with her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose a traditional gown of white satin designed by Michele Piccone. Her dress was designed with a high neck band of small beaded Schiffli embroidered medallions edged with pearl drops and a silk illusion yoke of beaded latticework. The fitted bodice, embellished with Schiffli embroidered medallions, had a drop iridescent pearls and ribbons with pink fushian and purple stative.

The groom's mother wore a mauve moire taffeta tea length dress. It had a sweetheart neckline and puff sleeves containing sprinkled sequins. Her corsage was of mauve glad buds and purple iris accented with pearls.

Attending the bride as matrons of honor were her sisters, Derinda Larned of New Braunfels and Donna Waggoner of Red Oak. Bridesmaids were Lori Lane, sister of the groom of Lubbock, Dianne Reed of Haskell, Kelly Hutchinson of Kermit and Amy Walker of Abilene.

Their tea length dresses, in alternating colors of fushia and plum bridal satin, featured a sweetheart neckline which dipped to a deep V in the back with crisscross straps and elbow length puffed sleeves with barrel cuffs. The fitted bodice with dropped waistline came to a point in front. The full flared skirt was enhanced in back with a drape and cabbage rose in the dress fabric.

The attendants wore hair pieces of fushia and white roses accented with purple stative and carried cascading bouquets of pink lilies, white freesia, white roses and purple alstromice accented with purple streamers.

Les Lane of Haskell served his brother as bestman. Groomsmen were Joseph Toliver of Ballinger, Kirk Flip-pin of Lubbock, Keith Parrott of Acuff, Landon Pannell of Haskell and Scott Fields of Fredericksburg.

The candles were lit by Shannon King, cousin of the bride of Rochester. Ushers were Johny Larned of New Braunfels and Randy Waggoner of Red Oak, brothers-in-law of the bride, and Tracey Kitten of Slaton.

The groom wore a Robert Wagner white padova full dress tuxedo with tails and matching white striped formal trousers. The coat was traditional full dress styling with satin faced peak lapels, self top collar and high center vent. His accessories included a plum satin tie and cummerbund; a white pleated wing collar shirt and white formal shoes. He had a bouton-nier of purple stative iris and a fushia rosebud, accented with baby's breath.

All male attendants, including the bride's and groom's fathers, were attired in silver Dynasty tuxedos, waist in front and a basque waistline in back. The back keyhole bodice, trimmed with pearl drops and closed with small satin buttons down the back, featured a large satin candy-box bow sprinkled with pearls and sequins and a cluster of pearl drops from center of the bow. Renaissance sleeves with a large poof of beaded latticework and embroidered medallions held the slim satin sleeves closed at the wrist with small satin buttons and finished with traditional point, and lace medallions with pearls and sequins. The skirt and cathedral train was hemmed with wide scalloped Venice lace.

Her headband, designed with small lace hearts outlined and sprinkled with pearls, held a two tiered finger tip veil of silk illusion fashioned with a poof, finished with pencil edged hem, designed with sprays of lily-of-the-valley and pearl drops draped to the side.

The bride's bouquet was of pink lilies, purple stative iris, fushia rosebuds and a cascade of pearls, lavender lilacs and purple astromeria. Pagoda lace and iridescent ribbons accented the bouquet.

Honoring the tradition of something old, the bride wore her grandmother's gold wedding band; her dress was new; she borrowed her mother's purple silk lace handkerchief; her garter was blue and a sixpence was placed in her shoe by her father, compliments of The Personality Shoppe of Haskell.

The bride's mother wore a ruby satin dress designed by Michele Piccone. The molded basque bodice, with a waistline which dropped lower in the back, had 3/4 length sleeves with fullness on the shoulders. Pearl crests on the shoulders held three strands of pearls that swung in back and adorned the low-cut neckline. The full skirt swept to a high-low tea length. She wore a wrist corsage of white roses. Their coats were a one button, single breasted style with satin faced peak lapels, self top collar and center vent. Coordinating accessories included: matching silver formal trousers, white pleated wing collar shirts, alternating plum and fushia satin cummerbunds and ties, and grey formal shoes. Their boutonnières were similar to the groom's.

Brittany Alexander, cousin of the bride of Munday, and Clay Pickering, nephew of the groom of Lubbock, were ring bearers. Brittany carried a heart-shaped eyelet pillow trimmed with white eyelet lace and purple ribbons which held the groom's ring. Clay's square shaped pillow, in the same design, held the bride's ring.

Jenna Smith, cousin of the bride of Abilene, was flower girl. She carried a white satin basket with fushia and purple bows and streamers which held the petals.

Trisha Horan, cousin of the bride of Weinert, and Chad Pickering, nephew of the groom of Lubbock, handed out programs with book marks to guests. Deanna Smith, cousin of the bride of Abilene, handed out rice bags.

The little girls wore satin tea length dresses featuring round necklines with crisscross straps in back and puffed sleeves. The dropped waist bodice came to a V in front and was attached to a full gathered skirt with a large fabric bow in back. The dresses were in alternating colors of plum and fushia. Their hair pieces were like the bridesmaids.

Patricia Ann Horan, cousin of the bride of Weinert, registered wedding guests at a table covered with a white ruffled cloth accented with a purple overlay. A wooden base unity candle with a hurricane globe encrusted with the wedding invitation, the bride's book and a fushia plume pen set adorned the table.

The bride's parents hosted a reception following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church.

In the center of the bride's table was a three tiered white wedding cake with clusters of purple rosebuds on each tier and an overflowing fountain. The cake was adorned by side cakes with a connecting staircase leading to the second tier. The cake top held a porcelain bride and groom, accented with lavender netting and clusters of heart-shaped pearls. The bottom of the cake was decorated with springer greenery and baby's-breath. Mixed nuts, purple bell shaped mints and white linen napkins with scalloped edges and lavender foil imprinting also adorned the table.

The groom's table held a chocolate cake decorated with an English "L" and clusters of chocolate dipped strawberries were at each end of the cake. A two tiered fruit arrangement consisting of grapes, pineapples and strawberries was accented with springer greenery and baby's-breath. Silver trays contained glazed pecans and an assortment of cheese and crackers. Purple and fushia napkins with a silver imprinted "L" and a silver coffee server completed the setting.

Coverings on both tables consisted of a white ruffled liner and a white overlay of lace pleated at the top by pearl pins with the corners being scalloped. Appointments were of silver and cut crystal.

The bride's and groom's tables were joined in the center by a round punch table. The tablecloth consisted of a white ruffled liner with a white lace overlay accented with a purple satin overlay. The table was adorned with a silver punch bowl and cups containing lavender punch.

Setting off the grouping was a white lattice backdrop with silk greenery and bows made of purple netting.

Ursula Richards, Christine Brown and Melody Pusser, all of Lubbock, and Tammi Pannell of Haskell served at the bride's table. At the groom's table were Eugene Pickering, sister of the groom of Lubbock, and Mika Clay, cousin of the groom of Amarillo. Their corsages were of white gardenias, pink fushian and purple stative.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner for the wedding party at the Haskell National Bank Community Building.

Following the rehearsal dinner, the bride's parents hosted a pre-wedding dance and party honoring the couple at Irby Hall-Son's of Hermann Lodge.

A 1986 graduate of Weinert High School, the bride attended Western Texas College in Snyder and obtained a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Social Welfare from Texas Tech University. She is a member of Phi Theta Kappa National Honor Fraternity; Texas Tech Social Welfare Association and Golden Key National Honor Society. She was named most outstanding sociology student at Western Texas College and graduated Magna Cum Laude with a 3.8 GPA from Texas Tech.

The groom is a 1983 graduate of Haskell High School and attended Tarleton State University and Texas Tech University. He is a member of Haskell Lions Club, Haskell Amateur Radio Club and Haskell Volunteer Fire Department.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, New Mexico, the couple plans to make their home in the Austin area.

Pre-nuptial courtesies included: a bridal shower on Monday, July 30 in the fellowship hall of the Weinert First Baptist Church; an old-fashioned pounding and hamburger supper on Thursday, August 9 in the backyard at the home of Abe and Ruby Turner in Haskell; and a lingerie shower on Thursday, August 16 in the home of Mrs. Dianne Reed in Haskell.

Four Newcomers Join Munday Teaching Staff

The 1990-91 school year has begun with four new teachers joining the Munday school system. Mary Murphy and Kerri Urbanczyk at elementary, and Marilyn Bennett and Keith Rogers at high school are all welcome new additions to the teaching staff.

Teaching one of the kindergarten classes this year is Mary Murphy of Weinert. Mary grew up in the Weinert area and is a graduate of Weinert High School. She attended Hardin-Simmons University, receiving a Bachelor's degree in Elementary Education in 1972 and a Master's in Education in Special Education in 1980. Mary previously taught kindergarten in Rotan for one year, Special Education in Weinert for three years and Special Education in Weinert and Goree for one year. For the past fifteen years, she has taught first and second grades at Weinert.

Mary, who is beginning her twentieth year of teaching, resides in Weinert with her husband, Ed, and their children, Shanna, a 15 year-old junior at Munday High School, and Lane, eight, a third grade student.

Kerri Urbanczyk, a Munday native, is teaching the Pre-Kindergarten classes. Although this program is a newcomer to the local school, it is a format with which Kerri is well-acquainted. For the past three years, she has been the owner-director of Kid Stuff Pre-School in Munday. Prior to that, she taught home economics at Weinert for six years.

Kerri, an MHS graduate, earned a BS degree in Home Economics Education from Texas Tech University in 1981. In 1989, she received a Kindergarten Endorsement from Midwestern State University.

Kerri is married to Mike Urbanczyk and they are the parents of three sons. Brian, seven, is a second grader; Jeffrey, five, is in Kindergarten; and the youngest, Steven, is seven months old.

Marilyn Bennett is a new addition to the high school teaching staff. She joins her husband, Rodney Bennett, director of the Munday school band program, as an assistant director. In addition to these duties, Mrs. Bennett also teaches third grade music and eighth grade computer literacy.

Marilyn comes to Munday from Wichita Falls, where she was formerly employed by Midwestern State University as the Pre-Business Advisor. In this capacity, she advised approximately five-hundred freshmen and sophomore business majors. Prior to that, she was assistant band director at Dalhart for half a year and at Holliday for two years.

Marilyn is a 1977 graduate of Midwestern State University with a Bachelor's degree in Music Education. She received her Master's in Music Education from Midwestern in 1981.

She presently resides in Munday with her husband, Rodney, and son, Ronnie, 15, a sophomore at Munday High School.

Keith Rogers, formerly of Greenville, is another newcomer to the high school staff. He is a 1989 graduate of West Texas State University, where he received a BS degree in Education.

Keith is kept very busy with classroom duties, as he teaches chemistry, physics, physical science and health on the high school level and an eighth grade earth science class.

Having graduated from high school in Commerce, a fairly small school, Rogers seems quite comfortable in Munday's small town atmosphere.

Munday is indeed fortunate to have four such well-qualified and dedicated professionals joining their teaching staff. Also new to the school system are four assistant personnel: Betty Loftin, librarian, Stephania Lara, Special Education aide; Mary Myers, Pre-Kindergarten aide; and Brenda Hager, first grade aide. Welcome to all and best wishes for continued success.

Optimism is akin to faith; pessimism is akin to doubt. To which are you akin?

The story is told of a man who went into a restaurant with no money, figuring on paying for his meal with the pearl he hoped to find in the oyster he planned to order. That's an OPTIMIST! Then there was the man who refused to get married because he was sure he could never find a girl who deserved to be as happy as he would make her. That's a PESSIMIST!

Somewhere in between is the BIBLICIST, the person, who without denying the harsh realities of his present situation, can still focus all the promises and provisions of God on living above his circumstances.

How can you truly comfort a friend or family member who is hurting emotionally, physically, or spiritually today? Plan carefully what you will say...and won't say. Then pay that person a comforting visit.

See you next week and remember: a pessimist is a person who is seasick during the entire voyage of life.

Goree Beats Moran In Second Half Play

The Goree Wildcats overcame a 19-6 halftime deficit to defeat the Moran Bulldogs 61-55 at Moran Friday night. Moran took an early lead as Richie Edgar scored on a 46 yard run on the Bulldogs first possession. Edgar scored twice more in the second stanza as Moran built a 19-0 lead. Goree finally found the end zone with 16 seconds remaining in the first half, as Jay Hutchens connected with Sergio Nunez on a 15 yard pass.

The second half was an offensive showcase for both teams. Goree scored five times in the third quarter alone. Gary Dixon scored four of the touchdowns on runs of 41 yards, 58 yards, 35 yards, and on a kickoff return of 55 yards. Hutchens and Jessie Nunez also teamed up for a 22 yard scoring strike during the quarter. Moran's lone third quarter score came on a run by Edgars of 38 yards. The fourth quarter was also dominated by offense. Moran scored first on another run by Edgars to close the gap to 41-32. Hutchens then hit Scott Castillo on a 24 yard scoring pass to give the Wildcats a 47-32 lead. Moran's Jeffery Martinez threw a 44 yard touchdown pass to Steve Stephens to bring the Bulldogs back to within seven. Hutchens went to work again, this time finding Sergio Nunez open in the end zone from 3 yards out. Martinez threw two more touchdown passes for the Bulldogs in the last three minutes of the game. Goree's Castillo then added a score on a 2 yard plunge for the Wildcats to preserve the victory.

Dixon led the Wildcats with 230 rushing yards on 15 carries. Hutchens completed five of seven passes for 83 yards and four touchdowns. He also added three PAT kicks and one run. Goree hosts Lueders-Avoca at 7:30 p.m. Friday night in its home opener.

No Artificial Relationships

Now that you have purified yourselves by obeying the truth so that you have sincere love for your brothers, love one another deeply, from the heart. (1 Peter 1:22)

The fruit on the table looked delicious. The apples were a beautiful red and the bananas were a perfect yellow. But as I walked closer to the table, I could tell that the fruit was too perfect. Although it looked "good enough to eat", it was all artificial with a beautiful exterior that covered a tasteless, waxy interior.

Sometimes the relationships we have with people are artificial like the fruit. On the surface, everything looks nice. There appears to be caring and friendship. But underneath there is an emptiness which leaves us dissatisfied. The love seems to be fake and meaningless. There are no acts of compassion or giving which should mark a good friendship.

We could find many reasons why some relationships seem to be surface and empty. However, Peter gives us a basic clue to how to have relationships which are meaningful and loving. Love for one another must begin with our relationship with our Heavenly Father. Before we can love others as we should, we must establish a relationship of love and trust with Him.

How does Peter suggest that we establish this relationship? He tells us that we are to purify ourselves and obey the truth. We must be willing to admit our sin and receive forgiveness and then begin to "obey the truth". We are to establish our relationship of love with our Heavenly Father and do as He has instructed in the Bible. And then with a solid relationship of love with the Lord we can love others. We can care about their needs before our own because God is in control of our lives. We can give our time and energy to the needs of others in love because we belong first of all to Him.

Peter tells us we need sincere love, not fake. Let us love one another deeply. Let us continue to love those who come into our midst with this same deep love which I have already seen many times. And let us teach others how to love the Lord and one another so that the love which the Lord has given to us, we will give to others.

May the Lord bless you richly with His love. I look forward to seeing you on Sunday.

At Your Service

by Dr. Larry Fitzgerald
Minister, Munday Church of Christ

Q: I'm having trouble dealing with my divorce. What help does your church offer for people in my situation?

A: Divorce is one of the most traumatic things that can happen in a person's life. It causes severe emotional difficulty to all who are touched by the situation. From the beginning, God wanted two people to spend the rest of their lives together (Genesis 2:18ff). God himself is a witness to each marriage (Malachi 2:14) and God hates divorce (Malachi 2:16). Since your spouse left you for another sexual partner (as you mentioned in another place in your letter), you may remarry without sin (Matthew 19:9).

What you need now is the loving concern of God's family and support from those who have undergone similar trials. Sharing with members of the congregation is very important. Some who are divorced are embarrassed to return to church. Please don't be! I guarantee there is no one who attends any congregation who is "better than you" (read Romans 3:23; James 2:10). You need the encouragement of the family of God known as the church (Hebrews 10:25; Ephesians 2:16-22).

In addition to the support of the church of Jesus Christ, you also need counseling to help you deal with the stress and bad feelings you have acquired from the divorce. Most people do not require professional help, however. A good Christian friend who is willing to help you sort through your emotions can help in most cases. I am also available for confidential counseling at no cost what-so-ever. Should you require a professional, I can put you in touch with someone within your budget.

Counseling can mean many things. It can be a psychologist or psychiatrist or it can be just a good friend willing to listen to your feelings and fears. In my ministerial counseling, I simply function in this latter way - a friend listening to the cares of another friend. If I can help, let me know.

If you have a question for this column, write Dr. Fitzgerald c/o Box 211, Munday, TX 76371.

FARM AND RANCH

Proper Herbicide Application For Weed-Free Lawns In 1991

As September is upon us, homeowners may want to begin controlling weeds in lawns now to avoid the problems in 1991. I was visiting with Jesse Rios of Knox City a few weeks ago about the use of weed control on lawns.

The first step to having a good weed-free lawn is the use of pre-emerge herbicides. Time of application of pre-emerge herbicides is very important as herbicides must be activated before weeds may be controlled. Pre-emerge herbicides work only on weeds and weed seeds that have not germinated prior to application.

There are many products that are labeled as pre-emerge herbicides which include weed and feed products, E.C. Gro, Balan, Balan XL, Betasan and Dacthal.

The active ingredients in the herbicides may vary in strength, so be sure and consult the label for specific directions and use. On all products, materials must receive 1/4 to 1/2 inch of moisture to activate the herbicide.

Most herbicides will last about 45 days, but the Balan XL will last about 60 days. Use of products with fertilizers is discouraged during the winter months as lawns require very little nutrients during the dormant period. However, combination fertilizers and herbicides are good for the first application as fertilizer formulations are set to prepare lawns for winter.

If heavy rains are received during the period, re-application may be necessary to prevent weed growth.

If goosegrass and grassburs are a problem in lawns, homeowners should make herbicide application in March and May to prevent these hard to control grasses and help insure another beautiful and healthy lawn next summer.

LILLIE MAE JONES

Paintings Of Former Resident On Display

Lillie Mae Jones of Pottsboro has recently had a showing of her paintings on display at The Renaissance in Sherman.

One painting titled "Rural Delivery" depicts two leaning mailboxes, wooden posts splintering from hot summers and cold winters, waiting for a child's hand to retrieve a letter. The idea for the painting came from a photograph taken in Munday, where Lillie Mae was born in 1914.

Painting from photographs, on location, or by memory, Lillie Mae uses oils and water colors to convey her ideas. "It amazes me how water colors flow on the paper," she said. "There's nothing like skies in water colors. I love skies and sunsets."

She began painting in 1975 when living in Hobbs, New Mexico and first studied with artists at Clouderoft. Most recently she's studied with Leo Smith and Maoma Brotherton in Dallas and Missy Sophie in Sherman.

Finished paintings are matted and framed by her husband, Lee, who is also her "worst critic".

When not painting, Lillie Mae sews clothes from her own designs, plays bridge, and works in her flower garden. She also enjoys taking walks with her Terrier Bingo -- named after her favorite game.

From a normal deck of cards, it's possible to deal 2,598,960 different five-card hands.

Weinert News

By Mrs. Myrtle Phemister

The cool front was enjoyed by all, and the pleasant weather sent several out to the lake for fishing. Last of summer "butterflies" and "roses" dug out some of last year's togs to welcome the autumn weather in.

School children are in the routine of catching the bus, and doing homework, as fourteen of our children catch the Munday bus, and wave "good-bye" to their seventeen friends who go south to the Haskell schools. Congratulations to Tammy Kimmel who has accepted a job at the Haskell Hospital.

And to Brenda Hager who has accepted a position with the Munday faculty, and commutes each day with the children.

Birthday balloons will fly this week for Alton Sanders, E. S. McGuire, Bob Wood, Debra Mayfield, and in Arkansas for Edna Boykin. Happy birthday!

Many will be in attendance at the Westside Church of Christ in McKinney on Saturday, September 15, when Donnie Moeller and Beth Bacon will exchange wedding vows at 7:30 in the evening. They will make their home in Weinert. Congratulations!

The Weinert 4-H Club will meet on Wednesday afternoon with leaders Alice Yates and Mary Murphy with plans to paint the schoolyard playground equipment as their community project. They are due our commendations.

LaVerne and J. A. Mayfield returned this week from Dallas, where they spent several days "house-sitting" with their daughter Evelyn's home while she was away on a trip to Egypt and points in that area.

Rene Vojkufka was in Abilene on Tuesday for a visit with her granddaughter, Bob and Melanie Wood, Cory and Whitney, and to return Zachry home after a week's vacation in Weinert with his grandparents, Melvin and Wanda Vojkufka.

Cory is enrolled in the Wylie school system and is doing well. We miss the Woods family but wish them well in their new job and new community.

Many from our community were in attendance at the Democratic District 30 luncheon hosted in the Stamford Cliff House on Saturday, and later at the 12th annual Stenholm Fun-day at Ericksdahl.

Ann Richards, candidate for Governor, was present and made a very impressive speech about her qualifications for the office.

Other speakers included State Representative David Counts, Nikki Van Hightower, candidate for State Treasurer, several out-of-state congressmen, including Billy Tauzin of Louisiana, who recently returned from a visit with our troops in Saudi Arabia.

Hugh Palmer, opponent for Phil Gramm's seat, was also an energetic speaker on the forum.

Shirley and Wayne Offutt of Wichita Falls were in town to visit their parents on Saturday, Mildred Offutt and Eddie and Myrnie Sanders.

Tinka and Rex Herricks hosted a birthday dinner in their home on Monday, honoring Tinka's dad, Iverson Greer, of Snyder.

A welcome guest in the Herricks home over the weekend was their daughter, Tina, who is a freshman student at Vernon College.

Carolina and Corrina Jimenez, also of Vernon College, spent the weekend with their parents, Ruth and Gilbert Jimenez.

Joyce Hager was in Abilene on Tuesday to check on the health of her aunt who resides at Fort Phantom.

Audra and Bob Schindler of Abilene are spending a few days with her mother, Bertie Alexander, who became quite ill at worship services on Sunday. Bertie is also recovering from cataract surgery and received a good report on that.

Betty Sanders spent the weekend in Winters with her parents and reports the prognosis is very bad as her mother's condition worsens daily. Our prayers are for the whole family.

Included on our prayer list is Faye Brian who is undergoing extensive tests in Harris Hospital in Fort Worth.

We pray Helen and Buck Turnbow will receive a good report from their daughter, Jeanene Perry, who is being tested in the M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston.

Garland and Dorothy Kregor of San Antonio were in town for the weekend and for a visit with his father, Tom Kregor, who is a resident of Rice Springs Care Home in Haskell.

Faye and Ted Jetton have received word that their daughter, Jimmy and Claude Young, arrived safely at Pitkin, Colorado, where they have built a new retirement home for themselves and have plans to live there indefinitely. Pitkin is a small town, east of Gunnison, and the friendly folks made them welcome with help, food and friendship, much as Texans do!

Julian and Andrea Estrada will be working this weekend for the 34th annual Jamaica hosted in Haskell at the Civic Center.

HOMECOMING PLANS
The homecoming committee met on Tuesday night to discuss plans to make this year the most outstanding, with a parade, etc. to be long remembered.

Sandra Nichols, appointed chairman of the clean-up committee of the Weinert school, has called for everyone to mark their calendars for Saturday, September 22, and make plans to spend at least three hours each in cleaning the building in preparation for the homecoming on October 6.

President, Durwood Burton of Dallas, and vice-president, Alexia Rimmer of DeSoto, plan to be in Weinert to finalize plans on that weekend.

Cleaning tools, including mowers, edgers, rakes, trucks and especially muscles, are requested, as well as a cool, cloudy day!
Have a nice day!

Locals Complete Naval Training

Navy Seaman Recruits Rohn C. Kingston and Frank D. Skidmore have recently completed training at Recruit Training Command in Great Lakes, Illinois.

During the eight-week training cycle, they studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Their studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

Kingston, who joined the Navy in June, is a 1990 graduate of Munday High School. He is the son of Bill and Sammie Kingston of Munday.

Skidmore, the son of June Esquivel of Munday, also joined the Navy in June of 1990.

TAM 200, Mesa, Quantum 589 ... Are Top Wheat Varieties

As a wheat producer, a person is always looking for the best wheat to plant, however, in considering the best wheat, producers have to consider some important management decisions.

Some of these decisions are whether wheat will be grazed and cut, grazed out or just cut for grain production under dryland conditions. One result demonstration has been conducted in Knox County of the Rolling Plains on the B. M. Brown farm in Rhineland for the past four years to determine which wheat varieties best fit producers management decisions.

In the design of the demonstration plots are harvested for grain only, forage only and a combination of forage and grain.

When only grain was harvested on the field, TAM 200 has had the highest yield with a comparative average of 31.3 bushels per acre followed by TAM 201 and Thunderbird with yields of 29.1 and 27.5 bushels per acre, respectively.

When wheat was grazed then cut for grain, Quantum 589 had the highest grain yield of 20.2 bushels per acre followed by Siouxland and Mustang, each yielding 19.3 bushels per acre.

On the other hand, Mesa had the highest forage yield at 3,069 pounds of forage per acre on a dry basis followed by TAM 201 and TAM 200 with yields of 2,519 and 2,504 pounds.

When grain was harvested for forage only, Chisolm had the highest average of 5,386 pounds per acre on a dry basis followed by Lancota and Mesa, yielding 4,844 and 4,723 pounds per acre.

(Anyone wishing to see tables depicting all varieties tested and results by years may contact the Ag agent.

School Bus Law Is Emphasized

Vacation is over and it's time for back to school for most children. Unfortunately, this also means an increase in traffic accidents involving school children. "Most of these accidents are caused by drivers who fail to follow laws pertaining to passing a school bus and other safe operating procedures," according to Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

State law requires drivers on the same roadway as a school bus that has stopped to load or unload school children to stop and remain stopped until one of three things happen. The bus driver signals you to go on by or they turn off the flashing red lights, or the bus itself goes into motion. This law applies whether you are meeting the bus or whether you are going in the same direction as the bus. It also applies inside the city limits, as well as outside the city limits. The only exception to the law is that drivers on the other side of a divided highway (roadways separated by a physical median) are not required to stop. Motorists who fail to stop for a school bus could be fined up to $200.00.

Drivers should realize the dangers involved and do everything possible to prevent these needless injuries and deaths involving our school children.

The oldest stock exchange is said to be the one in Antwerp, Belgium, which claims to have been established in 1531.

LARRY SMITH, of Munday, (pictured at right) was recently elected to serve a two-year term as Chairman of the Rolling Plains Economic Program (R-PEP) committee. R-PEP is comprised of key leaders from 26 counties in the area. They meet together annually to discuss problems affecting people in the R-PEP area, identify resources, and plan programs to address the problems. Shown with Smith are Jane Rowan and Donnie Peters, Knox County Extension agents.

Household Products Can Damage Fabric Color

Consumers use a wide array of products in and around their homes every day. Many of these products contain ingredients that will cause color change or color loss if spilled on fabrics. Several products that are known to affect fabric color are commonly used.

Pesticides used to fight fleas and ticks contain organophosphate. Plant food and fertilizers also contain organophosphate. Red dyes are especially sensitive to this ingredient.

Tile cleaners and mildew removers contain strong acids or bases and often contain chlorine. Acids and bases alone may remove color and when combined with chlorine, the color loss is permanent.

Dandruff shampoo that contains sulfur compounds can change colors if spilled on fabrics. It gradually turns blue or green and the spot will darken with age.

Benzoyl peroxide is used in acne medication. It is not easily washed off the skin and wherever the skin touches fabric (pillow cases, upholstery, carpet and garments) it leaves a residue of chemicals. Even very low concentrations of benzoyl peroxide will remove color.

Other household products that may be sources of color removal or change are furniture polishes, oven cleaners, and pool chemicals. Often, spills from household products go unnoticed until age, heat or moisture triggers a color change. By then, it is too late.

Remember to use household products carefully and remove any spills as soon as they occur. If necessary, get a professional to clean the fabric before permanent damage is done.

Fresh, unpeeled peaches supply 40 percent fewer calories than apples, almost twice as much vitamin C and more vitamin A.

County Wheat Producers Exhibit Winning Entries

Other placing entries were exhibited by the following:

TAM 101: First, Felix Westmoreland of Gilliland, 61 lbs. test weight; and second, Glenn Herring of Munday, 61 lbs.

Triumph: First, D. S. Ellis of Truscott, 62 lbs.

Victory: First, J. M. Emerson of Knox City, 59 lbs.

Siouxland: First, Kenneth Carroll of Gilliland, 59 lbs.; second, Mrs. Clyde Beck of Vera, 59 lbs.; and third, Mrs. Clyde Beck, 59 lbs.

Chisolm: First, Don Bowman of Munday, 64 lbs.; fourth, Joe Barton of Benjamin, 61 lbs.; and fifth, Johnnie Cook of Gilliland, 61 lbs.

NK 812: Second, Hobert Farms of Goree, 60.5 lbs.; third, Clarence Brown of Munday, 60 lbs.; fourth, Tom West of Munday, 61.1 lbs.; and fifth, W. R. Moore of Munday, 58.8 lbs.

Mustang: Second, Claudell Bratcher of Vera, 59 lbs.

Pioneer 2157: Fifth, Ernest Beck of Vera, 60 lbs.

Back To College

Donna Welch is returning to West Texas State University this fall. She will be doing her student teaching in the Amarillo and Canyon school districts, and will graduate in December.

Donna taught chemistry, physics, and physical science at Munday High School last spring.

The first twenty-five cent pieces were minted by the U.S. government in 1796.

"We would like to say 'thank you' to the many friends and neighbors for all the kindness and words of comfort you have shown us in the loss of our beloved husband, father, brother and grandfather. A big thanks to the ladies of the Church of Christ for preparing and serving food, to the choir, the many beautiful flowers, food brought in and anyone we have overlooked who helped make our loss easier to bear.

Watching Washington

The people of Texas may not like hurricanes, but we do respect them. When we hear that a visitor like Alicia or Gilbert is coming to town we do as much as we can to prepare for its arrival.

Even though we've been battered and blown by some legendary hurricanes, such as Carla in 1961 and Gilbert in 1988, Texans have avoided even worse damage and injury over the years thanks to warnings from Air Force weather reconnaissance squadrons known as "Hurricane Hunters." These flights are the most reliable and effective means we have of detecting the intensity and position of approaching hurricanes. They provide information and measurements in ways that weather satellites cannot.

In spite of a congressional directive that I helped put together last year, Defense Secretary Richard Cheney tried again this summer to transfer the job of hurricane detection over to the Department of Commerce's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), an agency which has no pilots, no planes, no money and no experience to take over this vital responsibility. Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher has advised the Senate Commerce Committee, of which I am a member, that his department is in no position to assume that mission.

In the hopes of avoiding the $25 million a year that it costs to continue these flights, Secretary Cheney argued that the Hurricane Hunters did not fall under the responsibility of the Pentagon.

But that $25 million figure pales in comparison to the 318 lives and the $5 billion in property destroyed by Hurricane Gilbert in 1988. The losses could have been worse without the timely warnings from Hurricane Hunters. If Secretary Cheney had prevailed last year, Hurricane Hugo would have hit the East Coast just as the Air Force was closing down the flights, leaving coastal areas exposed without an adequate warning system.

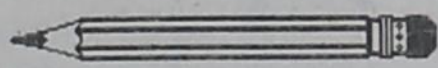

Residents on the Gulf and East coasts would have known less about where and when Gilbert and Hugo would strike but for the brave pilots who flew their planes into the eyes of those storms and back out again.

When you define national security as protecting American lives, you better believe that the Pentagon is fulfilling an essential role by providing the Hurricane Hunter flights.

That's why I helped stop Secretary Cheney when he tried this year for a second time to transfer these flights. For the next five years the Executive Branch will be making a careful study of alternatives to the Hurricane Hunter program. Meanwhile, I expect these important reconnaissance missions to continue keeping us informed of hurricane movements. Because the first step in protecting lives and property is giving hurricanes the respect they deserve.

When the winds whip down from angry skies this hurricane season, Hurricane Hunters will help insure that you and your property will be prepared.

Weinert Homecoming Scheduled For October 6

The Weinert Homecoming Committee had announced the homecoming activities will begin with a parade in downtown Weinert at 11:00 a.m. on Saturday, October 6. To eliminate any confusion, the definition of parade float means "anything that you are physically able to safely direct down a city street including bicycles, tricycles, joggers in costume, motorcycles of any kind, horses, pickups, cars, or buggies."

A variety of events have been scheduled for the day. Plans are shaping up for a pony express relay which will consist of four heats with no more than two racers to a heat. Trial relays will begin at 3:15 p.m., immediately following the afternoon business session.

Other activities planned include music, food, and games. The evening meal will be served at 5:30. Dress casually and be prepared to stay through the auction scheduled to begin at 7:00 p.m. Included in the auction will be various Weinert School memorabilia.

For more information or to sign up for any of the activities, call 864-2845, 673-8205, or (915) 773-2411. ***

Reminder

A calf management seminar will be held Thursday, September 13 (tonight) at 6:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Rhineland. This event is sponsored by the Knox County Extension Livestock and Range Committee. ***

Minimum Wage Changes

As of April 1, 1990, the minimum wage was increased to $3.80 per hour. It is scheduled to rise to $4.25 by April 1, 1991. Some conditions and restrictions exist. For example, employees under age 20 can be paid a minimum of $3.35 per hour during their first 90 day training period. At the end of this period, their pay must be raised to minimum wage. Workers who have questions regarding minimum wage, special conditions, or overtime pay may contact the nearest office of the U.S. Department of Labor for specific information. ***
