Of Knox County Schools. . . . Workers Needed To Complete Quilt

The Quilt Committee of the Knox County Historical Commission is sending out a call for help! Workers are needed to finish blocks for the Knox County Schools quilt currently under construction. Mrs. Frances Cook of Gilliland is chairman of the project which will raise funds for the Knox County Museum.

The quilt will be displayed at events in Knox County such as the scheduled reunions at Knox City and Benjamin in June and needs to be finished in May.

Pre-cut quilt blocks featuring school houses from Knox County need to be put together, or "pieced". Also needed are seamstresses to embroider the school named at the bottom of the blocks. Volunteers are welcome to do either one or both jobs on a block.

Workers are needed for blocks for Johnson (near Gilliland), Dixon, Gilliland, Dutchman, Oxford, Red Creek, Blackburn, Washburn, Hood, Hefner, Hefner Negro School, Cartwright, McGee Ward, Chigger Hill (Old Goree), Goree, Johnson-Medlan, New Hope, Dunbar, Friendship, Rhineland, Maude, Munday, Lone Star (the county has had two schools by this name), Reeder and Orient schools.

Only 44 blocks will be included in the quilt, so many of the blocks may show two school names. The quilt, which will be predominantly blue with other colors for accent, will be an item many will covet since it will be a reminder of schools and days almost forgotten.

Anyone who sews or embroiders and would like help with the quilt, or anyone who just wants to know more about this project should contact Mrs. Cook at (817) 474-3310. Also, anyone with information concerning the schools can contact Lynn Fitzgerald locally at 422-4540.

May Is Memorial Month For County Heart Association

The American Heart Association, Knox County Division, has designated May as "Memorial Month". During the month, individuals, businesses and organizations may make gifts to the Heart Association to honor the memory of a loved one. A special card will then be mailed to a designated family member to let them know of the gift. In addition, a list of those memorialized will be printed in the newspaper the week of Memorial Day.

"This is an excellent opportunity for people to make a lasting gift to honor the memory of someone they loved. The American Heart Association has a long history of saving lives through research and public education, and we want the people of this community to have an opportunity to honor loved ones this Memorial Day," said Peggy Guinn, AHA President.

Last year, 26 people died in Knox County from cardiovascular disease. The American Heart Association devotes 35% of every dollar to research, 25% to public education and 18% to professional education and community service. The theme of this year's Memorial Month campaign is "A Gift From the Heart Lasts a Lifetime".

To make a gift in memory of a loved one, or for more information, please contact Jan Wilde, Memorial Chair for Munday, at 422-4650.

Nora Duke is doing pretty well these days and is staying by herself days.

Aaron Kuehler is home these days with a broken leg! Aaron had an accident on the playground last Monday. He was taken to Wichita Falls for surgery and returned home Tuesday. He's in a full leg cast and kind of uncomfortable, but he'll be o.k. Aaron is the nine-year-old son of Stephen and Sheila Kuehler.

School News

The school year is winding down with a flurry of activities as always. End of school parties and field trips have filled what's left of this year's school calendar.

On Friday, May 1, the first and second graders took a trip to Wichita Falls. They enjoyed a fun-filled tour of the museum, followed by hamburgers and fries at What-a-Burger. The day was topped off with two hours of roller skating at Skate Whirl, where the rink had been reserved for them.

Fourteen little voices that had been raised in song on the way to Wichita Falls were fairly silent on the way home, as most of them slept all the way to Goree. Accompanying the group were teacher aides, Jeanene Echols and Joyce Greenwood, and bus driver, Salano Fernandez. (The group's teacher, Lynann Stewart, was unable to attend due to injuries received by her husband, Brad, in an accident.)

Big Brothers/Sisters Picnic

A picnic for elementary kids and their 'adopted' brothers and sisters has been planned for May 15. (The brainchild of Kindergarten teacher, Molly Stout, the big brothers and sisters program is designed to allow small children to be closely associated with high school students.) The school wide picnic and track meet has been planned to bring the project to the year's end.

A special award will be presented at the Awards' Banquet for the high school girl and boy who have spent the most quality time with his/her little brother or sister.

Cellophane was invented in Switzerland in 1906.

Gillespie Church Ranks In Top Fifty In State

The Gillespie Baptist Church of Munday was among the top fifty out of 5,400 Texas Baptist congregations last year in per capita giving through the annual Mary Hill Davis Offering for State Missions.

The Munday church gave $18 per resident member through the special offering, which totaled $4,518,860 in 1991. It supports many programs designed to help reach the goals of "Mission Texas".

"More than half of the state's 17 million people are not affiliated with a church of any kind, and their percentage is steadily increasing," said James Semple, director of the Texas Baptist State Missions Commission.

"But Texas Baptists -- committed to turning the tide -- have adopted 'Mission Texas', a plan of praying, giving and putting feet to their faith," Semple said.

Major goals include starting 1,500 new churches in the state from 1990 to 1995, reaching more people with Jesus' gospel, developing believers, strengthening missions, ministering to persons and creating a climate for spiritual awakening.

Letter To The Editor

Thanks for sending the paper. I have a friend here that use to live at Munday, and she can hardly wait to get them. She is close to 90. Her daughter comes and gets them. I enjoy the paper also. I like to keep up with the weather as I have a farm there, so know when it rains, etc.

Thanks,

Dear Friends,

Enclosed is my check for $15.50 for another year of news from my hometown folks. I've been away from there for more than 30 years, but still love to keep in touch with homefolks. I really do miss the Goree news section. I hope we will be able to have that again soon. Thanks to all.

Best wishes,

Former Resident Is Dow Technical Writer In Houston

Tracee Herring, former Munday resident, is employed by Professional Applications Resources (PAR), a Houston-based Dow contractor, as a technical writer.

Tracee and her husband, Ray, moved to the Houston area from Munday in 1988. At that time, Tracee entered Brazosport College to improve her working skills, never guessing where that would lead her. Counselors and teachers encouraged her to earn an associate degree in word processing, which eventually lead to her current position.

During her second semester at the school, Tracee entered a co-op program, working for PAR as an assistant to the technical writer. She originally helped the writer in developing documentation. When that technical writer's contract ran out, Tracee was offered the position. Her job now involves writing manuals to teach operators in the chemical plant to use the software written by the computer programmers.

Tracee plans to attend UH/CLC this summer to pursue a BA in Media Studies with a specialty in technical writing.

The Herrings are the parents of two daughters, Kristen and Kippen. Tracee is the daughter of Charles Yost of Munday, and Ray's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Herring of Rhineland.

"JUST WATCHING THE CHICKS!" When Greg Blake and Leonardo Zepeda say they're watching the chicks, they don't mean girls. They mean chicks! The seventh grade students of Jacquita Welch took part in a science class project where the chicks were hatched from eggs.

TERMITE SEASON OCCURS IN SPRING

Subterranean termites are by far the most destructive of all wood-destroying insects. Termites strike five times as many homes as fire and do more economic damage than all tornadoes, hurricanes, and windstorms combined. They have the longest life-span of any household pests; under favorable conditions, individual termites may live up to 15 years, and colonies may exist in dwellings for considerably longer periods.

KNOX COUNTY KONNECTIONS

SO EASY TO PRESERVE....

Juicy ripe peaches, snapping fresh green beans, plump red tomatoes... It's so easy to preserve - why not save some of these foods from summer to enjoy later, when they aren't so easy to find? May is the time to start thinking about preserving so you will be prepared when produce is ready to harvest.

There are several methods of food preservation from which to choose. The main methods are canning, freezing and drying. All can help assure safe food for later, so choose the method that best suits your needs.

WHY PRESERVE FOOD?

Unless food is preserved in some manner, it begins to spoil soon after it is harvested. This spoilage is caused by microorganisms, physical damage, or by chemical changes.

IS IT ECONOMICAL TO PRESERVE?

Preserving food yourself means having an abundant supply of a variety of good foods when the fresh products aren't readily available; having specialties such as green tomato relish that can't always be purchased; and having the satisfaction of actually preserving foods yourself. However, preserving food at home may not save you money.

To determine whether food preservation will actually save you money, you must consider the cost of the food itself. Food given as a gift costs you no money. Growing your own food requires money for gardening equipment, fertilizers, pesticides, seeds and water - not to mention the time commitment.

Buying food to preserve can be expensive or inexpensive, depending on the source and availability. Grocery stores are usually the most expensive source of purchasing food. Farmer's Markets and pick-your-own farms offer good volume purchase prices when you purchase at the season's peak (quality is best then too).

Other factors that must be considered in determining the economical value of food preservation include cost of your time, electricity, gas, water, equipment (canners, freezer, etc....), utensils, containers and jars. The costs are different for each type of preservation.

If you plan to do any food preservation during the next several months I encourage you to contact me if you have any questions or problems. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has the most up to date information regarding food preservation. We also have available video tapes on various types of food preservation techniques (free loan) and free information bulletins.

IN SEARCH OF....

I am in search of home canned products that are improperly or not sealed, over or under processed, cloudy or have sediment in the jar, spoiled, product floating, too little liquid and etc.... If you have any canned goods with any of these characteristics, any you think might not be good, or any that are very old - I would like to have them to use in a display I am compiling. If you have any home canned items that you would like to contribute call me at 454-2651 and I will pick them up or you may leave them at you local Chamber of Commerce office or at the Extension Office in Benjamin. Thank you.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of every seven women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Guidelines For Screening Mammography Established by the American Cancer Society.

- 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram.
- 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor.
- 50 years of age and over - An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.
- Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.

V. A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $65.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, Visa, Mastercard and American Express.

The Lord's Corner

by Dr. Pete Bradfield, pastor
First Baptist Church

There is perhaps no greater challenge in the Christian life than living as though the Lord is coming back tomorrow, while planning as though He may not return for years.

No one knows the precise timing of Jesus' return; but everyone should know when that great day is drawing near, for unmistakable signs - like labor pains for an expectant mother - will herald its approach.

Today that event is one day closer than ever before in history. What is your attitude toward this great event: Idleness or industry? Watchfulness or withdrawal? Resignation or reenlistment? Apprehension or anticipation?

Work while you wait... there's no better way to pass the time as you anticipate the hope of Christ's return.

See you next week, and remember: the day of Christ's return is hidden so that every day we might be prepared for it.

What's an Energy Saving Plan Home?

It's a home that gives you extra comfort plus lower energy bills. So check out the features an ESP home can offer.

Attic Ventilation

Proper ventilation controls summer heat build up and moisture accumulation in winter. This adds life to the building and its components.

Insulation

Insulation in the ceiling and walls in the amount appropriate for this area and climate keeps ESP homes cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

Air Distribution System

Correctly sized air ducts and proper placement of supply and return air are important considerations for an ESP home.

Heating and Cooling Equipment

Equipment is properly sized to the structure for highest efficiency. WTU recommends the all-season electric heat pump that heats in the winter and cools in the summer for year-round savings. Call WTU for details.

Air Infiltration Control

Air infiltration control helps stop uncomfortable drafts with weatherstripping, caulking, and insulation.

Windows and Doors

Insulated or storm doors and windows greatly improve both efficiency and comfort by reducing heat gain and loss in both summer and winter.

"What Do You Mean I've Been Adopted!"

By Molly Stout and Keri Williams

"What do you mean I've been adopted?" asked one of the young students at Goree Elementary School.

"You've been adopted by one of the senior girls," the teacher replied.

A curious look crossed over the boy's face. "But why would she adopt me?" he asked.

"She wants you to be her little brother here at school."

The look on the boy's face changed from curiosity to excitement. "For real? Is she going to come live at my house and play Ninja Turtles with me?"

"No, she won't get to go home with you," the teacher began to explain. "She is going to be your big sister here at school."

Now the boy was confused. "Teacher, what does that mean?"

"That means she is going to be your special friend, and the two of you are going to get to do wonderful things together."

"What things?" he asked.

"Sometimes she may come and eat lunch with you in the lunch room, and you can eat lunch with her at her lunch time," she answered.

swered.

"Wow! What else can we do Teacher?"

"Sometimes she will come and get you and take you to one of her classes."

"You mean in the high school?" he asked. "Will I get to go to the science room? Do they really have dead things in jars? My brother said they had a dead frog in a jar. Is that true Teacher?"

"I don't know, but maybe you will get to find out. Sometimes she may come and visit you here in our room and maybe she will read us a story at story time," the teacher explained. "You will even be able to write letters back and forth to each other, everyday if you want."

"Oh boy! But why did she adopt me?" he wanted to know.

"We have a new program at Goree, and it is called Big Brothers and Big Sisters. All of the elementary children have been adopted by the junior high and high school students, and you are the one she picked," the teacher replied.

"Teacher, I'm going to like having a new big sister," the little boy said.

"I'm so glad," the teacher said. "I think your new big sister is really going to like you."

There has been a new program started at Goree School to get the older students involved with the younger students, and we call it Big Brothers and Sisters. A list was made of all the students from Pre-K to sixth grades for the seventh to twelfth grade students to choose from. The older students interested in participating chose anywhere from one to three little brothers and/or sisters.

Students send notes and pictures, sometimes attached with a small treat, back and forth to their little or big brother and sister. They have also visited each others classes, ate lunch together, played on the playground and have become "real buddies". The younger children now get to know the older students first hand and have someone to look up to. They also realize that the older students do care and are there for them as friends. Some of these students do not have brothers and sisters at home and get to experience what it is like to have them here at school.

We feel this program has been a real success and we hope to keep it going in the future.

Property Tax Protest and Appeal Procedures

The law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow these appeal procedures if you have a concern about:

- The value placed on your property
- Any exemptions that may apply to you
- The cancellation of an agricultural appraisal
- The taxable status of your property
- The local governments which should be taxing your property
- Any action taken by the appraisal district that adversely affected you

Informal Review

If you think that you have something wrong with the appraisal of your property, you may contact the Knox County Appraisal District. The telephone number is 454-3891. We will try to help you with these problems, but if we are unable to solve any questions that you have, you still have the right to file a protest with the Appraisal Review Board.

Review by the Appraisal Review Board

If you can't resolve your problem informally with the appraisal district staff, you may have your case heard by the appraisal review board (ARB).

The ARB is an independent board of citizens that reviews problems with appraisals or other concerns listed above. It has power to order the appraisal district to make the necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a notice of protest) before the deadline, the ARB will set your case for a hearing. You'll receive written notice of time, date and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make its decision based on the evidence presented. You can get a copy of a protest form from the appraisal district office at P.O. Box 47, Benjamin, Texas, 79505.

NOTE: You shouldn't try to contact ARB members outside of the hearing. The law requires ARB members to sign an affidavit saying that they haven't talked about your case before the ARB hears it.

Review by the District Court

After it decides your case, the ARB must send you a copy of its order by certified mail. If you're not satisfied with the decision, you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court, you must start the process by filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive the ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at $1,000,000 or more, you must file a notice of appeal with the chief appraiser within 15 days of the date you receive the ARB's order.

More Information

You can get more information by contacting your appraisal district at P.O. Box 47, Benjamin, Texas, 79505, phone (817) 454-3891. You can also get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district or from the State Comptroller's Property Tax Division at 4301 Westbank Drive, Building B, Suite 100, Austin, Texas 78746-6565.

Deadline for Filing Protests with the ARB

Usual Deadline

On or before May 31 (or 30 days after a notice of appraised value was mailed to you, whichever is later).

Late protests are allowed if you miss the usual deadline for good cause. Good cause is some reason beyond your control, like a medical emergency. The ARB decides whether you have good cause.

Late protests are due the day before the appraisal review board approves records for the year. Contact your appraisal district for more information.

Special Deadline

For change of use (the appraisal district informed you that you are losing agricultural appraisal because you changed the use of your land), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

For ARB changes (the ARB has informed you of a change that increases your tax liability and the change didn't result from a protest you filed), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

If you believe the appraisal district or ARB should have sent you a notice and did not, you may file a protest until the day before taxes become delinquent (usually February 1). The ARB decides whether it will hear your case based on evidence about whether a required notice was mailed to you.

FURROW DIKING CAN SAVE VALUABLE MOISTURE

As cotton planting is fast approaching and much of the dryland sorghum plots have been sowed, producers may be looking for ways to increase the possibilities of getting better stands or higher yield increases. This increased opportunity is furrow diking.

Furrow diking is a mechanical tillage operation that places mounds of soil at intervals across the furrow between beds to form small water basins. This makes rain water be trapped and not be able to run off fields, as rainfall rates often exceed soil infiltration rates.

Dikers may be run behind bed plows and other implements used for bedding and often works better when soil has been worked. It is important that dikes be left in the field or re-established should they be taken out for some reason.

What kind of yield increases should be expected? For each additional inch of moisture stored in the soil, yield increases of 30 pounds of lint or 250 pounds of grain sorghum may be expected.

In an interdisciplinary dryland cotton demonstration, an increase of 56 pounds of lint was attributed to the use of furrow diking.

With producers always looking for ways to increase yields to maximize profits, this is one management technique that deserves a serious look.

When Editors Err...

The following is a reprint from the Stonewall County Courier. There is a bit of truth in this article. We hope you enjoy it as much as we did.
"When Editors Err..."

And believe me, we do! Readers constantly write or point out the errors of our ways. Some folks enjoy finding mistakes, so we leave a few in each issue just to please them.

Well, that's not exactly the truth. Pesky typographical errors slip by all our check-points no matter what we do. Somebody, who must have been an editor, wrote:

The typographical error is a slippery thing and sly;
 You can hunt til you're dizzy, but it somehow will get by.
 Till the pages are on the presses it is strange how still it keeps:
 It shrinks down into a corner, and it never stirs or peeps --
 Too small for human eyes --

Till the ink is on the paper, when it grows to mountain size,
 The boss he stares with horror; then he grabs his hair and groans.
 The copyreader drops her head in her hands and moans.

The remainder of the issue may be clean as clean can be,
 But that typographical error is the only thing readers can see.

But not all the editor's errors are typos. Some occur because a writer gives us the wrong information. Reminds me of the man who was driving through the backwoods and came to a stream with no bridge. He asked a boy sitting on the bank if he could drive his car through the water. The boy assured him he could. A few feet into the stream, water covered the car motor and it died.

"I thought you said I could drive through this creek!" the man hollered to the boy.

"Well, I thought so, too," the boy replied. "I didn't know the water was so deep. It only comes halfway up on the ducks."

Regardless of who's at fault, when editors make mistakes, in bold black-and-white print for the world to see, it seems worse than other peoples' errors. To paraphrase:

- When a plumber makes a mistake, he charges double.
- When a lawyer makes a mistake, he retires the case.
- When a doctor makes a mistake, he buries it.
- When a politician makes a mistake, it becomes law.
- When a preacher makes a mistake, nobody knows the difference.
- When a professor makes a mistake, everybody laughs.
- But when an editor makes a mistake - good night!

Be Still And Know That I Am God

The silence of Scripture often speaks as eloquently as its words. On Mount Horeb, Elijah had fled from the noisy violence of his persecutors. The prophet is strained to catch the voice of God in the storm and noise of the wind, earthquake, and fire. But only in the strange calm that followed the sound and fury could Elijah detect the word God had for him. After the fire there was a gentle sound: a still, small voice.

Too often, we only know the uncreative, stony silence of indifference... or the selfish silence of non-involvement like Jesus' followers who turned their backs on Him as He walked alone to Calvary.

We need to learn another type of silence - the silence of listening.

We have grown so accustomed to the business of sight and sound, that we often do not appreciate the meaning of silence. We have even interpreted the silence of God to mean that God is absent, when in fact His silence might mean He is more present than ever.

This silence beyond words belongs to the humble believer who knows that faith's best defense lies in its openness to the Power of God and the word of God - wherever it might come and through whomever it might be conveyed.

Perhaps the deepest silence we can offer to God is the worship beyond words. The Apostle Paul commends prayers that are too deep to be put into words, which the Holy Spirit offers from our heart and which God completely understands.

He who uses the gift of silence knows that God is full of surprises; and he wants to be ready to receive what God will bestow. His mind is open to the truth, not petrified in old commitments. He is not beguiled by pomp and show, or by wind, earthquake and fire, but attunes himself to hear the sound of gentle silence. He knows that God will speak to him who listens in expectation.

We should be prepared to accept God's will for us.

"Be still and know that I am God." Psalm 46:10
