Final Plan Submitted On Election Precincts

A final submission to the Department of Justice concerning election precincts has now been completed and forwarded to Washington, according to Knox County Judge David N. Perdue. Judge Perdue stated, "The submission of Commissioner, Justice of the Peace and Constable and Election Precincts, under Section Five of the Voting Rights Act was prepared by the Bickerstaff, Heath and Smiley Law Firm of Austin. The document itself included 18 sections, many pages and was about an inch thick. Copies are available in my office for anyone to review."

Copies of all submitted changes are available at each newspaper office and City Hall in Munday and Knox City, as well as the County Judge's office.

"If anyone has a question or concern of the re-districting process, how, what or why it had to be prepared, we would invite you to come by my office to inspect the submission papers," said Judge Perdue.

Moguls Fall To Spur, 34-6 In Friday Night Storm

While the rains fell, the Spur Bulldogs chewed on the Munday Moguls Friday night to the tune of 34-6. It was the first district loss for the Moguls.

The 'Dogs allowed the Moguls only 65 yards rushing in 29 carries and 135 yards passing. Quarterback Mike Bunton completed seven of 19 passes.

Spur, on the other hand, rushed 57 times for 185 yards and completed nine of 12 passes.

Taking the opening kickoff, Spur marched down the field and, in 12 plays, scored the first touchdown of the game as Armendariz connected on a 24-yard pass to Chad Key. Hagens kicked the PAT.

In Munday's first possession, they fumbled on the 40-yard line and Spur recovered. But the strong Mogul defense stopped Spur, forcing them to punt.

Early in the second period the Moguls drove down to the Bulldog's four-yard-line, but came away empty-handed. Four plays later, Munday had the ball on Spur's 37-yard-line. Bunton threw to Daniel Serrato for 21 yards and picked up 12 on a keeper. Aaron Kiser carried for four before Kent Latham scored on a nine yard pass. The extra point attempt was no good, leaving Spur in the lead, 7-6.

Serrato picked off a Bulldog pass with time running out in the second period. Bunton hit Ronnie Whitfield for 24 yards and Spur was penalized 10 yards, putting the ball on the 11 with only three seconds left on the clock. Munday attempted a field goal, but it sailed to the right and was no good.

Early in the third period, the Bulldogs blocked a Mogul punt, putting the ball on Munday's 40-yard-line. Officials then stopped the game due to the weather. That 22 minute game delay by lightning was the only thing that slowed Spur the rest of the night.

The Bulldogs came back and put 27 unanswered points on the scoreboard. Jessie Armendariz scored twice on one-yard runs, with Ernest Fernandez and Ray Sanchez adding the other two scores on a 15-yard pass reception and a four-yard run.

The Moguls had the ball for 21 offensive plays in the second half.

Munday travels to Crowell this Friday night to take on the Wildcats in district play at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. David Neal and his wife, Jan, have agreed to serve as co-chairmen of the 1992 United Way Fund Drive in Munday. The organization will kickoff their annual fundraising drive on Monday, November 11.

Division chairmen for the various sections of the community are presently being recruited. These chairmen will in turn select neighborhood workers to scout their individual territories.

Twelve area agencies will benefit from this year's drive. "There are many worthy local organizations on this list. I urge the community to dig a little deeper to support them," Dr. Neal stated.

Designated to receive United Way funds are Munday Little League Baseball, Inc.; West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene; the Salvation Army; the American Red Cross; the City-County Library; the Knox County Aging Service; Texas Department of Human Resources and Child Welfare; the Headstream Memorial Center; Boy Scouts of America; NorCenTex Girl Scouts of America; Munday Emergency Medical Service volunteers and the Munday Chapter of D-FY-IT (Drug Free Youth In Texas).

Each of these organizations touches the life of someone in this community. It takes all Munday residents working together to provide the necessary funds to keep these worthwhile agencies working in our town. Give generously when a United Way volunteer approaches you.

If you are not familiar with the amendments, check page eight of the Courier for a summary before voting.

Vote Tuesday On 13 Amendments

Tuesday, November 5, is election day across Texas. On that day, you, as a qualified voter, will have the opportunity to vote on thirteen proposed constitutional amendments.

A list of the proposed amendments and the effect they would have if passed appeared in last week's issue of the Courier.

The voting precincts and polling places in Knox County are as follows: Precinct #1, Benjamin Memorial Building; Precinct #2, Truscott Community Center; Precinct #3, Gilliland School Building; Precinct #4, Vera Community Center; Precinct #6N, 6E, 6W and 8, Munday City Hall, and Precinct #7N and 7S, Knox County Aging Center in Knox City.

After January 1, 1992, the above voting precincts will be different, if the Department of Justice approves the county's submission for redistricting.

Any voters having questions concerning the constitutional amendment election may contact the Knox County Clerk's office in the Courthouse in Benjamin.

Marketing Survey To Be Conducted

If you are stopped on the streets of Munday someday in November by a young person with a clipboard asking a lot of questions about where you shop and why you buy certain types of items...don't be alarmed! It is all part of a marketing survey sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and conducted by students in a graduate level marketing class from Abilene Christian University.

The purpose of the survey is to help local business owners find more ways of filling their customers' needs and wants. Any chamber member business may request a free copy of the survey when completed.

Purple Cloud Band Advances To Area

The Munday High School Purple Cloud Band performed a record-breaking performance last Saturday afternoon in Wichita Falls. The band, under the field direction of drum majors Susan Whittemore and Amy Morgan, earned a first division rating, thus advancing to the Area Marching Contest this Saturday in Abilene.

This is the eighth consecutive first division earned by the Munday Band, which breaks the previous record (set last year) of seven consecutive wins. Only two other Class A bands at Saturday's contest, Paducah and Petrolia, advanced to Area.

Concerning Munday's performance at the Region competition Mr. Rodney Bennett, director of the Purple Cloud band, stated, "It was the single finest contest show a band under my direction has performed."

The Area Marching Contest will be held at Shotwell Stadium in Abilene. The stadium is located adjacent to the Taylor County Exposition Center off Judge Ely Boulevard. The proposed schedule for Class A bands Saturday morning is as follows:

|-------|---------------|
| 10:39 | Cross Plains |
| 10:52 | Roscoe |
| 11:05 | Sterling City |
| 11:18 | Irion County |
| 11:31 | Menard |
| 11:44 | Paducah |
| 11:57 | Petrolia |
| 12:10 | Munday |

Only two of these bands will advance to the State Contest November 11 in Austin. Travel to Abilene Saturday and support the Purple Cloud Band as they perform their "Tribute to Texas".

Munday Hosts Knox County Gifted And Talented Students

Gifted and talented students from all over Knox County gathered at Munday Elementary on Monday, October 28. Fifty students from Munday, Goree, Knox City and Benjamin, ranging in age from kindergarteners to eighth graders, participated in the one-day event.

They attended special classes taught by 20 different members of the Munday teaching staff. Subjects covered included math, science, social studies and English.

A luncheon was held for all participants, featuring Randy

McLelland, youth minister of the First Baptist Church in Haskell, as special guest speaker.

This is the first time such an event has been held in Munday. It was the brainchild of Kristi Bufkin, fifth grade teacher at Munday Elementary. Not only do the students get an opportunity to participate in these special classes and interact with other students, but local teachers also get in-service credit for the day. It is hoped that other schools in the county will alternately host the event in years to come.

High Risk Groups Should Guard Against The Flu

North Americans could be in for a repeat of the 1989-90 influenza season when 50,000 people died of flu-related illnesses.

The two influenza strains expected to dominate the 1991-92 season are A/Beijing and A/Taiwan, each named for the area where it was first observed.

"The 1990-91 season was predominantly influenza B, so we expect influenza A to be dominant for 1991-92," said Dr. Paul Glezen, chief epidemiologist at the Influenza Research Center at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Outbreaks of influenza A are frequently more severe than type B. The epidemic two years ago was the worst in 20 years.

A complicating factor, Glezen said, is that many elderly people, who comprise the major influenza high-risk group, were born or went through childhood prior to the emergence of the A (H3N2) strain, of which A/Beijing is a variant. As a result, they have not built up resistance through prior exposure.

Help is available, however, because the vaccine for the flu season protects against A/Beijing and A/Taiwan, as well as against B/Panama, another strain that could appear. But, despite the availability each year of an effective vaccine, thousands of people most at risk from flu complications fail to get vaccinated.

"The elderly are the single largest group of people who should get flu shots," Glezen said. "They are particularly susceptible to such serious flu complications as pneumonia."

The ideal time for flu shots is long before the appearance, usually in December, of the first cases. Glezen suggests being vaccinated before Thanksgiving at the latest. It takes two weeks for a flu shot to provide full protection.

The elderly are not the only ones who should guard against the flu. Other high-risk groups include people with heart disease; lung disease, including asthma and chronic bronchitis; diabetes; chronic kidney disease and chronic anemia, including sickle cell disease.

Also at high risk are people, such as health-care workers, likely to come into contact with those in the other high-risk groups.

Influenza usually strikes suddenly and produces fever, generalized muscle pain, weakness and a dry, hacking cough.

People younger than 21 should use only aspirin-free pain relievers. Aspirin has been associated with Reye's syndrome, a complication of flu and chicken pox that can cause vomiting, convulsions, brain damage and death in children.

Weinert Class Of '51 Enjoys 40th Reunion

The Weinert High School Class of 1951 celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their graduation with their first reunion. The group met October 18-19 at the Hampton Inn in San Antonio.

Thirteen attended the event, eight of whom were classmates. On Friday evening, the group enjoyed a meal and festivities at the Magic Time Machine. On Saturday morning, old annuals, pictures and picture albums were shared to span the years and bring everyone up to date.

It is hoped that as many '51 graduates as possible will attend the 1992 Weinert Homecoming, when a special class meeting will be held.

Computer Course Set For Farmers And Ranchers

Two computer short courses designed to help farmers and ranchers manage their cow-calf production and cash records will be held in the Extension Home-makers Building at the Jones County Fairgrounds in Anson, October 30-November 1. The program is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Both courses will be conducted by Stan Bevers, Extension Service economist and management specialist at Vernon.

The first course is a one-day program October 30 for farmers and ranchers wanting an easy, computerized cash record keeping system. The second course is a two-day workshop, October 31-November 1, to give cow-calf producers a working knowledge of computer software for information management.

The course cost of $100, for an individual or husband and wife team, includes materials and lunch each day. Deadline for registration is October 25. Participants may sign up by writing Bevers, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, P.O. Box 2159, Vernon, TX, 76384, or telephoning him at (817) 552-9941 or Jones County Extension Agent Nathan Anderson at (915) 823-2432.

Don't get tricked on taxes for treats

Candy is subject to state sales tax. That means you'll have to pay tax on chocolate bars, peanut butter cups and hard candies that you give out as Halloween treats. This includes all candy, whether sold in bulk or individually packaged.

Candy sold by the PTA at school fairs or by the church at church bazaars is not taxable. For example, sales tax should not be charged on pralines, peanut brittle, black licorice, candy corn or candied apples.

And speaking of candied apples, the tax situation gets a little sticky. Caramel is taxable. But the apples aren't.

Housing Assistance Available To Very-Low Income Families

The West Central Texas Council of Governments Housing Programs office is accepting applications for the Section 8 Certificate rental assistance program. This program is designed to offer expanded opportunities for rental assistance to very-low-income families by utilization of existing private housing units.

The program is tailored to meet the individual needs of families by offering them freedom of choice in locating suitable housing units that meet their individual needs. It is possible that these families could receive assistance in housing units that they presently occupy.

WCTCOG Housing Programs will offer the Section 8 Certificate program only in areas where no program currently exists. Occupants and applicants currently associated with other public housing that wish to be considered for this program must make a separate application. Applicants for this program will not lose their place on public housing waiting lists.

Anyone wishing to apply should contact Dana Wooten at the WCTCOG Housing Programs office, (915) 672-8544, between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, or should send a card requesting an application with your name, mailing address and phone number to Dana Wooten, WCTCOG, P.O. Some Beneficiaries Receive Windfall In Social Security

Should the U.S. Congress authorize billions of dollars out of the Social Security Trust Funds to pay higher benefits to beneficiaries born between 1917 and 1928? Attempts to answer this question have led to a great deal of misinformation and misunderstanding.

Although some people sincerely believe an injustice has been done, the fact is that people born between 1910 and 1916 are receiving an unintended "windfall" from Social Security. A "notch" in benefit rates was created when Congress took action to bring those rates back to their proper levels.

The situation arose about 20 years ago when Congress first provided for annual benefit increases that would ensure Social Security benefits kept pace with inflation. However, the method for computing the annual increases was incorrect, and benefits actually rose faster than the rate of inflation. These Social Security beneficiaries received an unintended windfall of benefits, and the mistake needed to be corrected.

In 1977, Congress corrected the situation, and the Social Security Administration (SSA) began to apply the new, corrected method to benefit computations for those born in 1917 or later. Congress decided not to reduce benefits for those born between 1910 and 1918 -- the group already receiving windfall benefits -- because they had been relying on the "higher" benefits they were receiving and a reduction in that amount could have resulted in financial hardship for them.

Because of the new, and correct, computation formula, it is true that some people receive Social Security benefits that are less than their neighbors or co-workers who had similar earnings but who were born a year or two earlier. However, the so-called "notch victim" is receiving the proper Social Security benefits, while the neighbor or co-worker is getting the unintended windfall.

Congress already acted fairly and reasonably in correcting the mistake in how Social Security benefits are computed. A number of legislative proposals have been introduced in this Congress addressing the "notch" issue; cost projections for these bills range from $25 billion to more than $800 billion over the next ten years.

At Your Service

by Dr. Larry Fitzgerald
Minister, Munday Church of Christ

Q: All my life, I've heard preachers say that we should want to go to Heaven. What is heaven like?

A: What is the most wonderful time that you can remember about your life? What event has given you the most joy? When were you the happiest? Take that feeling and multiply it by 1,000 times and you still do not have the concept of the happiness that awaits you in heaven.

Heaven is so wonderful that it defies our ability to describe it. Even the biblical writers, under the influence of the Holy Spirit, had to use poetic symbolism in an attempt to tell us some of what heaven is about.

The Bible describes Heaven as the ultimate inheritance (1 Peter 1:4); the greatest treasure (Matthew 6:20; 19:21; Luke 12:33; Mark 10:21); the greatest reward (Matthew 5:12; Luke 6:23); the most marvelous home (2 Corinthians 5:1; John 14:1-6); the best of kingdoms (2 Timothy 4:18; 2 Peter 1:11); a place where no one has any problems (Revelation 7:16-17; 21:4).

No one can tell you how wonderful heaven will be. It is beyond our ability to communicate. But I look forward to living where there is no sadness, only joy (Revelation 7:17; 21:4). Don't you? But you and I must be careful lest we fall short of the goal by disobedience of God's Word (Hebrews 4:11-12).

The joys of Heaven are available to all who obey Christ (Heb. 5:8ff).

If you have a question for Larry, write him c/o Box 211, Munday, TX. 76371.

Spooky Warning!

Halloween is that time when young boys and girls haunt the neighborhoods in search of trick or treat goodies. To help avoid the special hazards which this holiday poses, here are a number of safety suggestions:

Motorists should think safety. In the excitement of collecting treats, children may forget what they were taught about crossing streets. Kids could dash from between parked cars, accidentally trip on long costumes or cross against the light. Drive slowly in residential areas and honk your horn while driving down dimly lit streets to let children know you're coming.

Parents of the young hobgoblins should:

- Make sure costumes don't drag on the ground, causing the child to trip and fall.
- Wear shoes that fit well and feel comfortable - high heels, clown feet or heavy boots could cause a fall.
- Painting a child's face with makeup is preferable to wearing a mask, which obstructs vision.
- Make sure all costumes are easy to see, made of nonflammable material (especially wigs and masks) and allow easy movement.
- Use lots of reflective tape on both sides of the costume.
- Turn on your porch light to let children know they're welcome and remove obstacles, such as hoses, sprinklers and potted plants, from the front yard.
- Keep lighted Jack-o'-lanterns or candles away from steps or the front door where a child's costume could be ignited by the flame.
- Accompany your child or have a responsible older sibling escort him.
- If you cannot go with your child, instruct him to travel with a group and walk on sidewalks, not in the streets.
- Cross only at crosswalks and obey traffic signals.
- Start treating early so you can stop before dark.
- Don't allow children to eat any treats before reaching home.
- Once home, carefully inspect all treats. Throw away unwrapped or loosely wrapped items.
- Avoid houses where lights are off, don't ring the doorbell, and never enter any homes.

We hope you have a Happy and Safe Halloween Night!

Protect Your Lifestyle By Shopping At Home

Where is your favorite place to be on Christmas Day? Would you rather be at a restaurant in Wichita Falls, in the mall in Abilene, in a shopping center in Dallas...or at home in Munday?

If your answer is "home", then you agree with the majority of folks around here. Munday is a very special place to live. It offers a host of reasons that promote the warm, comfortable lifestyle you want for your family.

If you enjoy the kind of life that is rich in cultural heritage and spiritual values and offers a high quality environment...then Munday is the place for you. One way to maintain this high standard of "good country living" is to shop at home.

According to statistics, the average dollar changes hands seven times inside the community. That means that each dollar you spend will generate six more dollars before it leaves Munday. Everytime it changes hands, that dollar creates more tax rebates for the city, as well as keeping local merchants in business. If, on the other hand, you choose to spend that money elsewhere, it will work for some other community...not Munday. If enough people shop out-of-town, Munday will soon begin to show the signs of it. Some local businesses will suffer greatly, while others will simply cease to exist.

It is a well-known fact that Munday merchants cannot compete with some of the large discount stores in other cities. However, they do offer a wide variety of items...some of which you may not be aware. For example, you don't have to shop out-of-town for a good buy on a portable cassette player...you can find it in Munday. You don't have to shop out-of-town for office supplies, name brand clothes, top of the line shoes, etc., etc., etc.... you can find it all in Munday. A good rule of thumb is "look at home first". If you can't find it in Munday, then shop elsewhere.

To bypass your hometown when it comes to shopping is to endanger the very lifestyle that you value. Check with local merchants before assuming that "you can't get that in Munday".....you'll be glad you did!

Why I Oppose A Texas Lottery

(Written by Bishop Louis W. Schowebgerdt, Episcopal Leader of the Northwest Texas Conference of The United Methodist Church.)

Historically, United Methodists have always opposed any form of gambling. A meaningful life is built upon the inner values of honesty, love, good will, faith and justice. A democracy can never be sustained by people who want to trust only luck for their well-being.

Fifty percent of all persons who purchase lottery tickets are in the poverty income bracket. This means that the poor will actually become poorer and need more state aid.

When one counts the cost of supplying tickets, paying stores for selling the tickets, advertising and operating the game of chance, 65% of the income is spent before any cause can receive funding.

For example, in states where lottery earnings have been designated for education, most school systems have found it extremely difficult to adopt any increase in tax support. When surveys have been made as to why the community failed to support needed expenditures, a common reply was: "I already support an increase in school taxes when I buy a lottery ticket."

I believe that there are better ways to support good government than through a lottery. Let's not hurt the poor and undermine the moral foundation on which our democratic society is built.

I hope all will vote against the lottery.

Present were: W.R. Baker, Peggy McGaughey, Greg Clonts, Dolan Moore, Stephen Kuchler, Ronnie Webb, Dr. Tin Aung, John B. Martin and Glenda Moore. Absent were: Don Bunting, Benny Grill and Bernard Brown.

There was no one present for public comments.

Stephen Kuchler also presented the monthly Clinic Management Report. He reported on the monthly clinic staff meeting.

Mr. Kuchler presented a report on Physician Recruitment. No action was taken.

The board considered the minutes of the Budget Hearing held on August 22 and the regular meeting held on August 22. A motion was made by Greg Clonts, and seconded by Peggy McGaughey, to approve the minutes as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

The board reviewed the financial statement and accounts payable for the month of August, 1991. A motion was made by Peggy McGaughey, and seconded by Dolan Moore, to approve the financial statement and accounts payable. Motion carried unanimously.

Stephen Kuchler presented the administrator's report. He reported that the hospital had received notification that the Rural Health Care Transition Grants application had been approved for the period September 15, 1991, through September 14, 1992, in the amount of $50,000.00. Funding for the next two years is contingent upon satisfactory progress during the current year of the grant, available funding for the RHCTG program, and receipt of a continuation application by July 15, 1992.

Mr. Kuehler reported that Workmen's Compensation premiums had doubled for fiscal year ended 9-30-92. The rates for the previous years have been as follows: Fiscal year ended 9-30-91 - $24,300.00; FYE 9-30-92 - estimate of $48,078.00. The $48,078.00 represents 8% of total taxes. The board expressed concern at the increase in rates. Mr. Kuehler was instructed to pursue any alternatives available and report back to the board.

Mr. Kuehler gave a report on an unemployment claim he had appealed. He reported that he had an offer from someone who would purchase the non-working air conditioners.

Mr. Kuehler reported that Mason, Warner and Company of Lubbock would perform the audit on October 14, 1991. He distributed copies of a letter received which requested that letters be written to government officials concerning the proposed discontinuation of NHIC Disproportionate Share Funding. Discontinuation of funding would have a negative impact on the hospital.

A list of accounts to be written off and turned over for collection was reviewed by the board. A motion was made by Greg Clonts, and seconded by Peggy McGaughey, to approve the accounts for writing off.

Mr. Kuchler gave the Quality Assurance Report, which was accepted. Mr. Kuchler gave the Medical Staff report, which was accepted.

The Lord's Corner

by Dr. Pete Bradfield, pastor First Baptist Church

Judge a tree by its fruit; not by its leaves. Examine the contents, not the bottle. You can't judge a book by its cover.

Three ways of saying the same thing: The only thing worse than making a surface judgment is being the victim of one!

What do you do when you suffer from superficial evaluations by your friends, superiors, or fellow workers? Where can you turn when your actions or motives are misunderstood?

Turn to the one who experienced being misunderstood Himself - the "stone which the builders refused" who has today "become the head stone of the corner". Christ knew what it meant to be rejected unjustly condemned wrongfully crucified unmercifully. He knows what you are going through. That's why you can come to Him confidently to experience His presence, help and protection in times of misunderstanding.

See you next week, and remember: if men speak ill of you, live so that no one will believe them.

Goree Correspondent Retires After Many Years Of Service

Grace Smith, Goree News correspondent, has retired after approximately 19 years of service. This decision came on the heels of another timely decision ...moving from Goree to Munday.

Grace, who doesn't recall exactly what year she started working for the Courier, stated that she has enjoyed every minute of her reporting duties. When she began writing the Goree News, Aaron Edgar was publisher of the local paper.

According to Grace, not much has changed in the reporting business in the past twenty years. She did say that more people call in their news now than when she first started. Back then, she had to go out and "beat the bushes" to get the news. As people became acquainted with her as "Grace, the Reporter", more phone calls started pouring in with local news.

Grace reported that she doesn't know what to do with herself on Sunday afternoons now...since she's not on the phone gathering news. While Grace may miss the reporting, rest assured that many will miss her Sunday afternoon phone calls and her dedication to her job. Best wishes Grace, from all of us, upon your "retirement".

People have used petroleum for thousands of years. The Bible mentions that Noah used a solid form of petroleum, called pitch, in building the ark.

Farm and Ranch Report

By Donnie Peters

Prussic Acid Poisoning In Livestock

As cooler weather begins moving into the area, beef producers should avoid grazing of certain frost-damaged pastures and forages as this can lead to prussic acid poisoning in livestock.

Those plants causing the highest mortality in livestock when grazing after they have been frozen and wilted are Johnson and Sudan grasses and sorghum or hybrids of these.

The most dangerous time as far as the grazing of these plants is concerned is following frost when the plant material begins to wilt. Livestock should not be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely. This usually takes three or four days of good sunlight. New plant growth usually becomes nontoxic and can be grazed within 10 days to two weeks following a rain.

As far as the actual poisoning is concerned, the poison acts rapidly and can kill animals within minutes. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10 to 15 minutes after eating toxic material and can die in two to three minutes. Symptoms of prussic acid poisoning may include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Signs of colic may be present. Stupor (loss of sensibility), difficult breathing and frequent convulsions may result. Death is caused by suffocation since oxygen remains in the blood and is not exchanged to the tissues. This also causes the blood to appear bright red.

Here are some steps to prevent prussic acid poisoning in livestock:

1. Allow plant material affected by frost to dry thoroughly before grazing. This may require a week or more of good sunlight.
2. Feed animals hay or a supplement before turning them in on plants that may contain prussic acid. Animals that are not hungry will not be affected as seriously by toxic material since their intake will be limited.
3. Remove all animals from the pasture if one in the herd shows any signs of poisoning.
4. Call a veterinarian immediately if an animal appears to be poisoned. An antidote to treat affected animals is highly efficient if given early. This product is available from veterinarians.

5. Have suspect plant material checked by the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratories at College Station or Amarillo. Local veterinarians will be happy to submit samples.

The overall key to prevent prussic acid poisoning in livestock is to be aware of plant materials that may cause poisoning and then to keep cattle from grazing such plants until a safe period has passed.

Windbreak Seedlings Are Still Available

(Article courtesy of Cyndy Carver.)

Now is the time for farmers, as well as home owners, to take part in conserving the land that we and our children will cherish for years to come.

The Wichita-Brazos Soil and Water Conservation District still has windbreak trees for sale. Some of the pine trees have already sold out. If you want a windbreak and know what kind of trees that you would like to plant, please stop by the SCS office in Knox City and place your order before the ones you want sell out. If you don't know what type of tree you want, SWCD representatives will be glad to help you in deciding and designing your windbreak.

The Afghan pine and Arizona cypress are sold out and supplies of Ponderosa pine are low. All other trees available are in good supply.

Also available are wildlife packets on quail, pheasant, deer, turkey and squirrel. Each has four different kinds of trees in lots of 25, specifically geared towards the eating habits of that specific animal. A new item available is submatic irrigation tubing and systems.

If you have any questions or would like to place an order, come by the Soil Conservatin Service at 1101 East Main in Knox City or call (817) 658-3526.

Irrigation Efficiency Tests Save Water And Money

To get the most out of the money you spend on irrigation, consider testing the efficiency of your center pivot irrigation system. An irrigation efficiency test is similar to checking the miles per gallon of your car. The test tells you how productive the system is operating.

The first step in calculating the efficiency of an irrigation system is to determine the gallons per minute of the irrigation wells. Flow meters, or velocity gauges are generally used to determine the gallons per minute for irrigation efficiency tests. Velocity gauges measure the speed of water traveling through the pipe. Based on the size of the pipeline and the speed of the water, the gallons per minute can be determined.

An irrigation system is designed for a certain amount of water. Too much or not enough water delivered to the system will result in a distorted irrigation pattern and irregular crop growth.

After the GPM is determined, a series of catch gauges are placed along the length of the center pivot and water is caught in the gauges as the system passes over them. From this data, the pattern efficiency, application efficiency and system efficiency can be determined.

The pattern efficiency shows the uniformity of water applied to the field. The application efficiency compares the amount of water pumped through the system to the amount of water caught in the gauges. The system efficiency compares the amount of water pumped to the lowest 25% of the water caught in the field.

Amount of water pumped through the system, operating pressure, worn or plugged nozzles, system leaks, wind, humidity, and temperature are factors that will influence the efficiency of the irrigation system.

Areas of irregular crop growth under the pivot system would indicate too much water is being applied in some places and not enough water is being applied in others. An efficiency test could show how to correct this problem.

If you are interested in having an efficiency test conducted on your center pivot, contact Danny Lambersh at Soil Conservation Service - Seymour Aquifer Project (817) 864-3334.

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS For the November 5, 1991, Election John Hannah, Jr., Secretary of State

This November, Texans will have the opportunity to vote on 13 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution. To help you make informed decisions on these propositions, we present the following summaries of the proposed amendments. Below you will find the proposition as it will appear on the ballot followed by a brief description of the effect the proposition will have if it is passed.

Proposition 1:

"The constitutional amendment allowing home-rule cities with a population of 5,000 or less to amend their charters by popular vote."

Summary: A home-rule city is a city that is able to govern itself, generally through the actions of a city council or commission. To become a home-rule city, a city must have a population of at least 5,000, it must hold an election to become a home-rule city, and the measure must pass by a majority vote. Once a city becomes a home-rule city, it may adopt a charter, and this charter may be amended through an election every two years. However, under current law, if the population of a home-rule city falls below 5,000, the city is no longer allowed to amend its charter. If passed, this amendment would allow home-rule cities whose populations have fallen below 5,000 to continue to amend their charters through elections.

Proposition 2:

"The constitutional amendment mandating the repayment to the Department of Transportation of monies expended to assist the Texas Turnpike Authority in the construction, maintenance, and operation of turnpikes, toll roads, and toll bridges."

Summary: If passed, this amendment will allow the legislature to authorize the Texas Department of Transportation to spend money on turnpikes, toll roads, or toll bridges of the Texas Turnpike Authority. The Department of Transportation may use any available money that it has for this purpose. However, if the Department of Transportation uses money from the state highway fund, this money must be replaced by money collected by the Texas Turnpike Authority from tolls and turnpike revenue. Currently, the state is not allowed to use any public money to build or maintain toll roads or turnpikes.

Proposition 3:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to further implement and enhance the administration of the veterans' housing assistance and land programs and to expand the investment authority of the Veterans' Land Board."

Summary: If passed, this amendment would ease the restrictions on how the Veterans' Land Board can invest money from the Veterans' Land Fund and the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. The board may invest any money that is not to be used for the payment of principal and interest on bonds, the purchase of lands, or the payment of expenses. In addition, the board is no longer limited to investing this money in bonds or securities of the federal government.

Proposition 4:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of up to $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds for acquiring, constructing, or equipping new prisons or other punishment facilities to confine criminals, mental health and mental retardation institutions, and youth corrections institutions, for major repair or renovation of existing facilities of the institutions, and for the acquisition of, major repair to, or renovation of other facilities for use as state prisons or other punishment facilities."

Summary: If passed, this amendment will allow the state to issue up to $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds. The money from selling these bonds will be used to acquire, construct, or equip new prisons and substance abuse facilities, mental health and mental retardation institutions, and youth corrections institutions. This money will also be used to repair and renovate existing facilities. The bonds and interest on the bonds will be paid from the first money coming into the state treasury that is not set aside by the state constitution for other purposes.

Note: A general obligation bond is a bond that is repaid from the State's general revenue fund. Most of the money in this fund comes from state taxes and fees.

Proposition 5:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the exemption for ad valorem taxes of certain property in an enterprise zone."

Summary: This amendment deals with property owned by an individual or organization that does business in an enterprise zone. If passed, this amendment would allow a county, a junior college district, or a municipality to exempt certain personal property from ad valorem taxation. To be exempt from this tax, the following conditions must be met: (1) the property must be acquired or brought into the state in an enterprise zone to be forwarded outside the state; (2) the property must be assembled, stored, repaired, maintained, manufactured, processed, or fabricated in the enterprise zone; (3) the property must be transported outside the state within 175 days after being acquired or brought into an enterprise zone; and (4) the person who acquired or brought the property into an enterprise zone is in a qualified business.

The purpose of this amendment is to encourage economic development in enterprise zones. Because some personal property will not be taxed, it will be less costly to operate a business in an enterprise zone.

Notes: An ad valorem tax is a tax imposed on the value of property. An enterprise zone is an area that has substantial poverty, unemployment, and economic distress. A qualified business is a business that is actively engaged in a new business in the enterprise zone or is expanding a business that is already active in the enterprise zone. "Enterprise zones" and "qualified businesses" are designated by the Texas Department of Commerce.

Proposition 6:

"The constitutional amendment creating the Texas Ethics Commission and authorizing the commission to recommend the salary for members of the legislature and the lieutenant governor, subject to voter approval, and to set the per diem for those officials, subject to a limit."

Summary: If passed, this amendment will create a Texas Ethics Commission that is established by the Texas Constitution. The commission will consist of eight appointed members. These members will be selected by the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, and the Speaker of the House from lists of names submitted by legislators from each major political party. This commission can recommend the salary of the members of the legislature. It can also recommend that the salary of the Speaker of the House and the Lieutenant Governor be higher than the salary of the other members. If the commission recommends a change in salary, the voters of the state will be able to accept or reject the salary change at the next general election for state and county officers. If the voters approve the recommended salary, the salary will take effect on January 1st of the next odd-numbered year. If the voters reject the salary, the salaries would remain the same. In addition, the commission can set the per diem of the members of the legislature and of the Lieutenant Governor. This per diem could be raised or lowered every two years, as necessary. The commission will also have other powers and duties as provided by Senate Bill 1, 72nd Legislature, Regular Session (the ethics bill). Finally, this amendment provides that an increase in the Lieutenant Governor's salary will not disqualify a legislator from becoming Lieutenant Governor.

If this amendment does not pass, there will still be a Texas Ethics Commission that is established by statute. This commission could not set the per diem of the members of the legislature.

Note: A commission that is established by the Texas Constitution can only be repealed by the voters. A commission that is created by statute can be repealed by the legislature.

Proposition 7:

"The constitutional amendment to allow the board of trustees of a statewide public retirement system to invest the funds of the system in a manner that the board considers prudent."

Summary: If passed, this amendment will change the way in which the board of trustees of each statewide public retirement system can invest the system's funds. Currently, a board can only invest its retirement funds in securities (stocks, bonds, etc.). However, if this amendment passes, a board may invest its retirement funds in any way that it thinks is prudent.

Proposition 8:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the voters of this state to consider state debt questions in the form of ballot propositions that must clearly describe the amounts, purposes, and sources of payment of the debt only after approval of the propositions by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature."

Summary: This amendment deals with the way that voters will vote on legislative action that would create a debt for the State. Currently, all propositions that create state debt must be approved by two-thirds of each house of the legislature and by a majority of voters during a constitutional amendment election. When these propositions are passed, they actually become part of the state constitution.

If passed, this proposition would still require propositions that create debt to be approved by a two-thirds vote of the legislature and a majority of the voters. However, when these propositions are passed, they will not become part of the state constitution. Instead, they will be enacted by statute. In addition, when the proposition is placed on the ballot, it must clearly describe the purpose of the debt, the cost of the debt, and how the debt will be repaid. The amount of the debt in the proposition can not be exceeded or renewed unless the proposition says that the debt can be exceeded or renewed.

Note: Creating a debt for the State means spending money that the State does not currently have. Selling bonds is one way that State debt is created.

Proposition 9:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the commissioner of the General Land Office to issue patents for certain public free school fund land held in good faith under color of title for at least 50 years."

Summary: This amendment deals with lands that are technically owned by the state of Texas. In some cases, people have purchased or acquired this land from someone other than the State. While the State still technically owns this land, some people who purchased or acquired the land did not know that the land was owned by the state. From the time that these people purchased or acquired this land, they have believed that they are the legal owners.

If passed, this amendment will allow the Land Commissioner to give the legal title for this land (called public free school fund land) to certain people. A person is entitled to receive a legal title to this land if: (1) the land is surveyed public free school land; (2) the person could not gain the land's title under previous law; (3) when the person acquired the land, he or she did not know that the land was legally owned by the state and has believed that he or she has owned the land since January 1, 1941; (4) the person has a recorded deed on file in the county courthouse and has claimed the land for at least 50 years as of January 1, 1991; and (5) all taxes on the land, including any interest and penalties for late tax payments, have been paid for at least 50 years.

Note: Public free school fund land is owned by the State. Any revenue that this land generates (through sale, rent, etc.) is placed in the Permanent School Fund.

Proposition 10:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to exempt from ad valorem taxes certain property of a nonprofit corporation that supplies water or provides wastewater service."

Summary: This amendment deals with property owned by a nonprofit corporation that supplies water or provides wastewater services. If passed, this amendment will allow the legislature to exempt property that is owned by these corporations from ad valorem taxes. In order for this property to be exempted, the nonprofit corporation must meet the following conditions: (1) the corporation's bylaws must say that, if the corporation stops operating, any leftover assets must be transferred to an organization that provides water supply, wastewater service, or both; (2) the leftover assets must be property that can be used for water supply and wastewater services.

Note: An ad valorem tax is a tax imposed on the value of property.

Proposition 11:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing a state lottery."

Summary: If passed, this amendment will allow the State to operate lotteries. The State would also be able to contract with other organizations that would operate lotteries on the State's behalf.

Proposition 12:

"The constitutional amendment to increase from 20 percent to 50 percent the percentage of Texas water development bonds previously authorized by Texas voters that may be issued for economically distressed areas."

Summary: This amendment deals with reallocating a percentage of the $500 million of Texas water development bonds that were approved by Texas voters in 1989. These bonds were to be issued to fund water supply, water quality, and flood control projects. Currently, the board is limited to issuing 20% of the $500 million (or $100 million) of these bonds to provide water and wastewater facilities to economically distressed areas of the state. If passed, this amendment will allow the board to issue up to 50% of the $500 million (or $250 million) of these bonds for this purpose.

Proposition 13:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the issuance of general obligation bonds not to exceed $300,000,000 to continue existing programs to provide educational loans to students, with repayments of student loans applied toward retirement of the bonds."

Summary: If passed, this amendment will allow the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board to issue up to $300 million in general obligation bonds. The money from selling these bonds will be used to finance educational loans to students. In the past, all bonds in this program have been retired through repayments from student borrowers, not the taxpayer.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen

Watching Washington

Almost as disturbing as the wave of crime that threatens us is our failure to properly punish many of the lawbreakers.

More than 20,000 prison inmates are released early each year, not due to good behavior but because of prison overcrowding. A recent Department of Justice report shows that the surge in prison population translates into a national need for 800 new prison beds every week.

We need to put criminals behind bars where they belong but with our growing budget deficit we have to explore cost-effective and innovative alternatives to the conventional prison. That's why I initiated the drive for legislation to help make federal boot camps a part of our criminal justice system.

Modeled after military boot camps, these prisons require long hours, hard physical labor, and a great deal of discipline. They are designed for young, first-time offenders who committed serious but non-deadly crimes such as robbery or drug dealing.

Back in 1987 I requested a study from the General Accounting Office to see if the success of state-operated boot camp prisons could be applied on the federal level. Although the GAO concluded that state-run programs were too new to provide conclusive results, the findings were promising.

The report found that boot camps can help reduce prison overcrowding and operating costs because inmates work harder, for longer hours and fulfill their obligations sooner. For example, the average cost in a boot camp facility operated by Travis County, Texas is $19 a day an inmate while the average cost in a regular Texas state prison is $37 per inmate.

Boot camp prisons can help instill a sense of discipline in young offenders through a highly regimented schedule and military style drills. This training is supplemented by education, counseling and drug rehabilitation to help give them more respect for themselves and society.

Instead of sending first-time offenders to prison with hardened criminals, the boot camps help give them the discipline and self-respect they need to avoid a life of crime.

Reports show that boot camp prisons are often more effective in helping young offenders reform than conventional prisons. In Mississippi, for example, boot camp graduates have been found to be a third less likely to return to a life of crime than regular inmates.

The recent crime bill approved by the Senate includes $150 million to set up ten federal boot camp prisons. Each prison would be built on the site of a closed military base and would hold up to 300 inmates under the age of 25 for a three to four month program. Inmates must be first-time offenders who have committed drug crimes or have drug problems.

Creating federal boot camp prisons can be an important step toward helping young offenders turn their lives around and restoring the security and safety to which American citizens are entitled.

NOTICE TO CITY OF MUNDAY CUSTOMERS

Every month the City collects two water samples at separate points randomly selected to ensure that our customers are being provided with the quality of water that they deserve. Occasionally, during the process, a sample will be unintentionally contaminated by the collector. This was the case in June of this year. Upon notification from the Health Department of a "bad" sample, I contacted the Abilene office of the Health Department to determine our course of action. I was told to immediately take three samples in the area the "bad" sample had come from, one upstream - one at the same point as before - one downstream. This was done that same day and the samples driven to Abilene for testing. The results of all three samples were returned and NO coliform bacteria were found. We were relieved to learn that there was nothing wrong with our water and the sample collectors were instructed to be extremely careful when gathering the samples. All was well until August when we received a letter from the Health Department in Austin. They informed us that we were in violation of their rules because we did not take five samples following the "bad" sample in June. I wrote a letter to them indicating that we had acted on the information we had received from Abilene and that the follow-up samples had tested pure. They responded by demanding that they were in charge and that we would follow their orders or we would be subject to fines. Therefore, the following notice is one of the requirements that we have been ordered to complete:

NOTICE TO CITY OF MUNDAY CUSTOMERS

In June the City of Munday collected water samples for coliform analyses. Results of one sample indicated the presence of coliform bacteria. The City was directed to collect five routine monthly samples the following month. Five samples were not collected.

If you have any questions regarding this matter, you may contact City Hall at 422-4331.

*Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
Or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a floral piece,
If so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
As any friend could say;
Perhaps you were not there at all,
Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much whatever the part.
