CEMETERY ASSOCIATION NAMES OFFICERS

Times Begins New Year

The Munday Times is observing its birthday. With this week's issue we ring out the old year—our thirty-fourth—and begin a new one. And just as we all begin the New Year with hopes and ambitions, every one of the Times force begins the new year for this paper with hopes and ambitions for the future.

We hope to have a part in developing and building a greater Munday and Knox county. We want to give you the news as it happens from week to week and create among you the spirit of fellowship and good will that will make you feel The Times is a part of you and your community.

The Times has been edited by good men in the past, men who have been honest and sincere, but none of these men have been more honest and sincere in wanting to give the people of this territory a good newspaper than is the present ownership.

This week's issue also marks the end of the second year of ownership for the present publisher, Grady Roberts. Two years ago, the task of giving Knox citizens a readable paper was a difficult procedure, but new equipment and new typefaces have been added to the shop, old equipment repaired, the plant remodeled, and various other steps taken to give Munday the type of newspaper the town deserves.

A greater effort is now being made to give subscribers of The Times as much local news as possible. Some news of state importance is printed with each issue, but the present management realizes that the primary purpose of a weekly newspaper is to give correct and adequate "word pictures" of happenings in and around your home town and community, and that in this way the Munday Times best serves the community.

Every member of The Times force is interested in printing the best paper possible, and asks the cooperation of all its readers in realizing this purpose. We always welcome local news items, stories of community happenings, visits of friends and relatives, marriages, births, and many other items in which your friends and neighbors are interested.

And so we enter the threshold of a new year for The Times ready to do our dead level best to give you, our subscribers and advertisers, a paper that will be a credit to the town and community. To this end we solicit your hearty cooperation and good will.

Kamal Waheed Buys Local Piggly Wiggly Grocery

Munday people are greeting a new groceryman this week, in the person of Kamal Waheed, who purchased the stock, fixtures, the franchise and good will of the Piggly Wiggly grocery in Munday.

This business deal was consummated last week, and Brutus Hanks, who operated the store for the past few months, invoiced all stock over to the new owners the first of this week.

Kamal Waheed is owner of the Piggly Wiggly, as a result of the purchase last week. His brother, Sied Waheed, will be manager of the business, it was announced.

The Waheed brothers are no strangers in Munday. Sied Waheed has lived here for some nine years, having operated the Economy Dry Goods Store here during that time. He and Kamal operated a grocery store in Wichita Falls for a time, and the stock of the Wichita Falls store has been added to the local Piggly Wiggly stock. Sied Waheed is moving his family back to Munday to make their home.

In this week's issue of The Times the Waheed Brothers have an ad, listing special prices for this week and soliciting the patronage of Knox county people. They will maintain a large stock of groceries and are anxious to serve the grocery needs of people of this trade territory.

The fast-talking B. Hanks, who has made lots of friends here with "his line," his wife and little son plan to go to Midland for a while—and then they'll obey the urge to go to California and visit the San Francisco World's Fair before settling down into business again.

Dr. H. B. Douglas Moves Into Newly Repaired Office

Repair work on the office rooms above Eiland Drug Store was completed this week by Eiland Bros., owners, and Dr. Hollis B. Douglas, dentist, has moved his office into the newly repaired rooms.

These rooms furnish Dr. Douglas additional office space, and his office is much more attractive than in the other rooms. Dr. Douglas completed moving his fixtures into the new rooms the first of this week.

The rooms formerly occupied by Dr. Douglas will be used as additional office rooms by Dr. D. C. Eiland.

Farmers Union To Name Officers Next Saturday

Members of the local organization of Farmers Union will meet next Saturday for the election of officers, it was announced by J. E. Edwards, secretary. The meeting will be held at the Union Hall, over Moore Chevrolet, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Edwards urges all members to be present and cast their vote in this annual election.

HAVE A SAFE "FOURTH"

Through the National Conservation Bureau, accident prevention division of the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives, leading stock casualty insurance companies have swung strong in support of the national movement to curb the bad reputation of Independence Day and the whole month of July as heavy accident breeders.

The National Conservation Bureau has joined with thirty other national organizations which have pledged individually and collectively to give full and active support to the National Safety Councils campaign this year. A similar drive was conducted last year, and as a result the July toll of motor vehicle fatalities dropped 20 per cent, and other accidental deaths approximately 14 per cent, compared with the previous July.

Overly exuberant Fourth of July celebrants, the trek of millions to beaches and swimming holes, and the lure of breezy highways, all conspire to make July a month of tragic accidents.

Lucky Fisherman—Rupert Williams And W. R. Moore, Jr. Get Lots of Them

Two of the most successful fishermen to invade the waters of Lake Kemp this year are Rupert Williams and W. R. Moore, Jr. Both are college boys, but we doubt if they had a course in fishing at A. & M. Anyway, they returned Tuesday with plenty of evidence.

They went to the west end waters of Lake Kemp last Saturday and fished with both rod and reel and trot lines.

P. V. Williams, Worth Gafford and possibly others raided their camp Monday night and got all the fish they wanted to eat. When the boys came in Tuesday they brought lots of them home. They estimated they caught around 100 in all, most of which were cat.

Some of the larger ones weighed five pounds or better, and one of these roasted just right is what the senior W. R. Moore waded in to Wednesday for his noon-day meal!

Maybe some of these old-time fishermen should take lessons from Rupert and W. R.!

Singers To Meet Sunday at Goree

Singers of Knox county and this area will meet next Sunday at Goree, Texas, according to an announcement made this week by J. B. Justice.

A large crowd is expected, with noted singers from a wide area in attendance. The public is cordially invited to come and enjoy this singing.

Lions Officer—

Hal L. Dyer of Seymour was named this week as deputy district governor, District 2-E, Lions International, for Region 4, comprising Groups VI and VII. The Munday Lions Club is one of the five in Group VI, the others being Olney, Knox City, Haskell and Seymour.

Dyer's appointment was made by District Governor-Elect W. H. LaRoque of Cisco.

Dyer was recently elected president of the Seymour Lions club for the coming year, and will be installed at ceremonies Thursday night, to which Munday Lions have been invited.

Sheedy Shows Cotton Bloom Here Monday

W. H. Sheedy was in town early Monday morning, exhibiting a large stalk of cotton on which was a pretty, white bloom.

Mr. Sheedy said the cotton came from his place, one and one-half miles north of Munday. He has 50 acres planted to cotton on his farm and he said the field was just full of blooms. In addition to the bloom, the stalk of cotton also had several large, well-formed squares.

The cotton is of the Cache variety, and Mr. Sheedy is sold on this variety of cotton as a producer for this section.

Dr. J. S. Pierce Is Preacher For Two Services Sunday

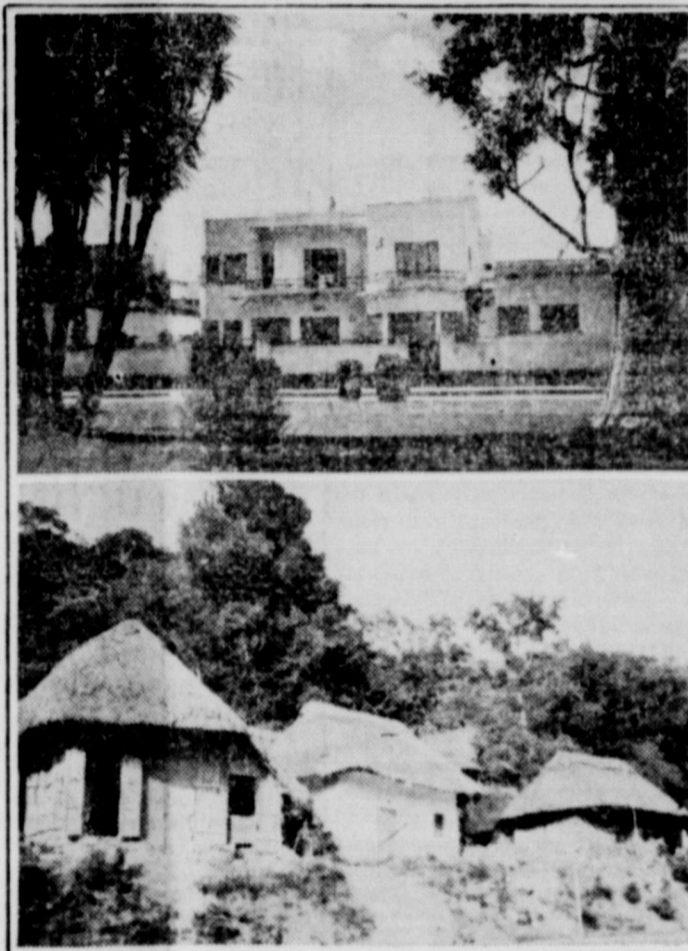

Dr. J. Stuart Pierce of Fort Worth preached two sermons here last Sunday. Services were held at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, with Dr. Pierce filling the pulpit.

Dr. Pierce also preached at the Methodist church at the evening service Sunday, delivering a very interesting and forceful message. He was here in the interest of the local Presbyterian church.

While in Munday, Dr. Pierce was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Braly.

Rev. H. A. Longino and D. E. Holder, Sr., spent from Monday until Thursday of last week fishing at Lake Brownwood.

Scenes Of Historic Mexico

Denton.—Mexico City, one of the most modern cities in the world, in the past five years has built block after block of dazzling white, ultra-modern homes like the one shown in the upper picture, according to Ronald Williams, of the North Texas College art staff, who is conducting the Mexico Tour being sponsored by the Denton Teachers College art department July 16-23. Streamlined and modern as a huge Hollywood studio, Mexico City stands in striking contrast to typical houses of rural Indians shown in the lower photograph. The former are built of stone, steel, glass and concrete, and reflect the latest trends in European architecture: the latter are of bamboo, adobe, and straw—the same size, shape and materials used by the Aztecs and Mayas more than 1,000 years ago.

The Teachers College students making the tour this year will visit both modern and the older colonial homes, as well as beautiful Mexican gardens and native villages.

The 39-day tour will cover 4,389 miles in visiting 11 states of the Republic of Mexico.

Munday Lions Club Installs New Officers At Picnic Tuesday Night

Strange Man, In Bare Feet, With Long Hair, Here

Has Inscription "The Cross is Mark of the Beast," on Lapel

A rather odd traveler visited Munday on Tuesday of this week and attracted quite a lot of attention with his long hair and beard and bare feet. On the lapel of his coat he wore a badge with the inscription, "The Cross is the Mark of the Beast."

He is Elimelech Lerner, a native of Russia, who was brought to this country when five years old. That was 59 years ago, and he was reared in New Jersey as an atheist. In California about 14 years ago he found the Lord, and now he rejoices over his complete emancipation from both the nature and power of sin.

He left California over three years ago, and intends to spend the rest of his days traveling and spreading the good news, especially warning against the fake Christ who he says is due to come to Jerusalem soon and will succeed in deceiving the multitudes and then will demand that everyone permit a cross to be imprinted on the hand or forehead. When one permits the cross to be imprinted on the hand or forehead, according to his theory, that person is doomed for Hell.

Lerner stopped here only briefly and asked the crowd, gathered around him on the city hall lawn, to ask him Biblical questions which he would attempt to answer. He was enroute to Oklahoma City.

Mrs. H. A. Pendleton who recently underwent an operation at the Wichita Falls Clinic Hospital, returned to her home in Munday the later part of last week.

Laymen's Day Service Planned At M.E. Church

E.M. Connell of Anson To Speak Here

Laymen's Day will be observed at the Munday Methodist church next Sunday morning, according to announcement made this week by Rev. H. A. Longino, pastor.

E. M. Connell, superintendent of schools at Anson, will speak at the eleven o'clock service. Mr. Connell is lay leader of the Anson Methodist church and one of the outstanding church leaders. He is expected to have an interesting message for all who attend the Sunday morning services.

All members of the local church are urged to hear this visiting speaker. Others are cordially invited to attend the service.

Grady Roberts And Wife Return Home Tuesday

Representative Grady Roberts and Mrs. Roberts returned home last Tuesday morning from Austin, following the close of the 163-day session of the Texas Legislature on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are greeting friends in Munday and over the district this week.

Representative Roberts established quite a record in the house by being present at every roll call. He was the only one of 150 house members who was present for every roll call and who voted on every legislative question to come up in the house.

LONGEST SESSION QUITS ON LONGEST DAY

The longest legislative session in Texas history also had another "longest record."

It ended on the longest day of the year—June 21, according to the almanacs.

This day also seemed the longest to many a legislator who was forced to stay in the legislative halls hours past the usual time for lunch.

Free Cotton Classing To Be Sought Here

Farmers Are Urged To Give Acres Planted To One Variety

Those in the territory who are interested in the growing of one-variety cotton are still making an effort to secure a free cotton classification service for Munday and territory. This classification would come under the Smith-Duxey Act.

Recently the Farmers Union Cooperative Gin mailed out post cards to farmers in an effort to determine the number of acres planted to one-variety cotton this year. It is necessary that this information be ready when application is made for the classing service.

Wallace Reid, manager of the local gin, urges all farmers to get this information to him within the near future.

"We urgently request that you either mail in the cards or come by the gin office and leave us this information," Mr. Reid said.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Rosser of Dallas spent the week end here, visiting in the home of Mr. Rosser's sister, Mrs. Dave Eiland.

Mrs. Louise Ingram visited in Fort Worth and Dallas the first of this week and also visited her son and daughter, Preston and Louise, who are in school at Denton.

Plans Are Made For Improvement Of Cemetery

MAY GET PROJECT

Miss Maud Isbell Is President; Others Are Elected

At a meeting of the Johnson Cemetery Association, held at the Mahan Funeral Home last Tuesday night, new officers for the year were elected and other plans were made for improving and maintaining the local cemetery.

Miss Maud Isbell, who has been a tireless worker for improving the cemetery grounds, was elected president of the association. Mrs. W. V. Tiner was elected treasurer, and Miss Shelly Lee, secretary.

Trustees for the new year are W. A. Baker, J. K. Johnson and W. R. Moore.

George Isbell, Buel Bowden and E. H. Bauman were named on a committee to do special collecting for the cemetery fund. It was pointed out that additional funds were needed immediately if work at the cemetery which has been started is to be continued. It was planned to use a caretaker during all of the summer, but this may not be possible unless additional funds are received.

An effort is also being made to secure a WPA project for building a rock fence around the grounds and improving the cemetery in other ways. J. A. Caughran was selected to confer with M. F. Billingsley, city attorney, on the possibility of deeding the cemetery to the City of Munday so that application may be rushed to officials for securing this WPA project to further the cemetery work.

Vincent Lane Best Golfer Of Local Tourney

Defends Title Against Dr. J. H. Bass In Finals Sunday

Vincent Lane, Munday's champion golfer of 1938, successfully defended his title last Sunday when he defeated Dr. J. Horace Bass 1 up in the city tournament. Finals were played Sunday afternoon.

Making the foursome with Lane and Dr. Bass were Boyde Carley and Dr. E. M. Roberts, who were playing the first flight consolation finals. Carley won this match, 5-4.

Lane's ability to get those long drives from the tee accounted largely for his victory in the championship finals. Some few spectators were out to see him defend his championship, but most of those on the course were interested in matches of their own.

Jim Goode won the second flight championship by defeating Rupert Williams, 1 up.

Winner of the second flight consolation match was Buel Bowden, who defeated Dan Billingsley, 4-2.

Sunday matches were finals in the city tournament, and local golfers are preparing to entertain the tri-county tournament here on Sunday, July 9th.

5-Year Sentence Given in Robbery Trial Last Week

Wayne Blackburn of Vera, standing trial under a charge of robbery with firearms, was given a 5-year prison sentence by a district court jury at Benjamin last week. The jury was selected from a special venire of almost 100 men.

Blackburn appealed his case, it was reported, and was released on bond.

This term of district court was brought to a close with the trial of cases on the docket last week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Chamberlain and family of Benjamin were visitors here Tuesday. Mrs. Chamberlain and children visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Caughran, while Mr. Chamberlain attended the livestock sale.

"What a Man Does For Himself Dies With Him—
What He Does For His Community Lives On and On"—

CAUSE AND EFFECT

The charge that "capital is on strike," has been trotted out in Washington again to help raise a din of complaint that investors, and not administration policies, are responsible for the continuation of the depression.

Many New Deal spokesmen have joined in the din-making, saying that if the money now in banks could be forced into circulation, recovery would be a certainty. True, this is idle capital, and if it was in circulation, many jobs would be created and many pay envelopes filled. But why is this money—accumulated by the savings of the average citizen—stagnant in banks? There is a reason, and it is as simple as adding two and two.

No investor, large or small, puts his money into anything unless there is a fair chance of profit. If the investor can see no prospect for a profit, or, in fact, lacks any assurance that the money will even be returned without profit, then this investor is likely to put that money in his sock, or under his mattress, and wait until there is a better risk. In this case, the banks have been entrusted with the savings of the average citizen, and because the banks cannot find reasonable prospects for profit in investment, the banks are keeping the savings in "their sock" so to speak.

But why is there so little chance for profit from an investment? That reason is just as simple. It is because business enterprises are so heavily burdened with taxes and expenses arising from complicated government requirement that nothing is left for profits to the investors who risk their savings.

If some of the deterrents can be removed, and some assurance given that there is a reasonable chance for profit, then investment will be stimulated and recovery will indeed seem more in prospect. That is a job for these din-makers.

THE INVISIBLE COLLECTOR

The old adage gloomily opines that "nothing is certain except death and taxes." Many persons have questioned the second certainty, pretending that they pay no taxes because they own no property and pay no income tax.

Actually, though, about the only individuals who have escaped that second "certainty" are those who have run afoul of the first—death.

And it seems strange indeed that, in the face of all facts to the contrary, any American is able to deceive himself into thinking he avoids taxes, for everywhere the individual citizen goes, in invisible tax collector is as close on his heels as his own shadow. In fact, out of every dollar gathered in by government, almost 60 cents is in the form of hidden taxes, mainly paid by people with small incomes.

Mr. Average Citizen pays the money out a few cents at a time, as an added charge on virtually everything he buys, seldom realizing how rapidly the total mounts up into dollars and keeps him from buying more of the good things of life that he would like to.

Since taxes are mostly invisible today, it is hard to make them a burning issue in public affairs. But with their burden constantly mounting, the average American is beginning to reach the stage where he wishes devoutly that not only would the collector become a little more "invisible," but some of the taxes themselves would also do the "vanishing act."

LINCOLN'S GRAMMAR

An intimate memento of Abraham Lincoln and his youthful sweetheart, Ann Rutledge, was recently received by the Library of Congress, where it will be preserved with other relics of our first martyred president. It is the Kirkham's Grammar which Lincoln and Ann studied in New Salem, Ill., 100 years ago.

Textbooks were scarce in those days and Lincoln obtained the grammar second-hand from its former owner, walking a dozen miles to secure it. This was in 1831, when he was clerking in a New Salem store and boarding with Ann's parents. When he had mastered its contents he gave the book to Ann, writing on the title page, "Ann M. Rutledge is now learning grammar."

It is said that Abraham and Ann became engaged on July 4, 1833, shortly before Lincoln's election to the state legislature. Ann was stricken with malarial fever and died August 5, 1835, and intimate friends of Lincoln declared he never recovered from his grief for the only woman he ever truly loved.

The book was preserved by the Rutledge family finally coming into the possession of William Rutledge of Milton, Mont., a nephew of Ann. From him it was borrowed by Miss Jane Hamand for the public library of Decatur, Ill. Not long ago, with Mr. Rutledge's consent, she presented it to the Congressional Library. There it may now be seen in the case which also contains Lincoln's Bible in which he inscribed his family records in his own hand.

Maybe the reason that the United States has never been ruled by a dictator is because there is not enough royal blood to fill the office.

Wonder why the shoe manufacturers don't put zippers on men's shoes. Seems to us that the males have been tied down about long enough.

SPENDING DRUNK MUST END

In a recent address, Senator Pat Harrison made this very apt observation on present day government fiscal policy: "I received a postal card the other day and penciled on it was this wholesome expression: 'You can no more spend yourself into prosperity than you can drink yourself sober.' That fellow had something. While I have never been so unfortunate as to visit one of the Keeley institutions, I am told that the practice to effect the cure is to make the patient sick at first by too much drink and then to continue the treatment by a gradual tapering off to sobriety. We have experienced in Washington an excess of the initial treatment. The time is ripe for tapering off."

Certainly the theory that it is possible to spend a nation into prosperity has been thoroughly exploded by now. We have tried it for seven years, and basic conditions are about as bad now as they were at the worst of the depression, and unemployment about as high. And the hard facts, gathered from generations of experience, demonstrate conclusively that a debt-ridden and tax-ridden nation is likewise a depression-ridden nation.

Senator Byrd of Virginia, another Congressional advocate of economy and fiscal sanity, recently said, "We have never enjoyed prosperity or substantial business expansion when the total tax collections—local, state and national—exceeded 12 per cent of the national income." Today something over 20 per cent of our national income is being collected in taxes. And 30 per cent of our national income is being spent on government, the difference being represented by deficits which are added to our all-time-high public debt.

We can have economy when the people really want it—when selfish sectional interests which demand more and more money for their pet projects see the folly of their ways. The nation is heading for tax delirium tremens unless it tapers off soon.

THE RIGHT TO BITE

It is a tradition of long standing that one bite does not condemn the dog that does the biting. This canine privilege of trying his teeth many almost be considered imbedded in the common law.

Its standing has been confirmed again by the Senate of New York State. That body turned down a bill that would make dog owners liable for damages if the dog should bite but once.

It is no compliment to the canine race to speak of a "dog's life." Yet some men may envy dogs their privileges. Sometimes it seems too bad that a man may not be allowed one bite, possibly at the tax collector's ankles, before he is accused of criminal or unsocial tendencies. But in this matter, by ruling of tradition and the New York Senate, the dogs have the best of it.

LIFE INSURANCE IS SCREWY!

"Life insurance is screwy," writes an insurance authority. "You have to buy it when you don't need it because when you do need it, you can't get it. It is designed to take care of the major hazards of life; i.e., either you will not live long enough or you will live too long."

It's easy to postpone buying life insurance—anyone can have a lot more fun with money than paying premiums. But there's no fun in waking up some morning with the knowledge that it's too late to obtain adequate insurance protection—and to have to face a dependent old age.

Around 200 Texas cotton improvement groups are expected to take advantage of the free classing and market news services of the USDA Bureau of Agricultural Economics in 1939.

In Oklahoma about 175,000 farms will participate in the AAA program, compared with 65,000 in 1938 and 100,000 in 1937. There are 213,000 farms in the State.

Realizing the futility of a one-crop system that depletes the soil and lowers farm income, Drew county, Arkansas, farmers are rapidly turning to the production of lespedeza to feed their increasing numbers of livestock.

TILL DEBT DUE US PART

Gems Of Thought

ASPIRATION
Oh, that men would seek immortal moments.—William Blake.

Let each man think of himself as an act of God. His mind a thought, his life the breath of God; And let each try, by great thoughts and good deeds, To show the most of Heaven he hath in him.—P. J. Bailey.

Who that has felt the loss of human peace has not gained stronger desires for spiritual joy? The aspiration after heavenly good comes even before we discover what belongs to wisdom and love.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Everything good in man leans on what is higher.—Emerson.

It is my duty to have loved the highest; It surely was my profit had I known; It would have been my pleasure had I seen. We needs must love the highest when we see it.—Tennyson.

KEY RECOVERY POINTS OUTLINED BY DUPONT

Pittsburgh.—Four key points in a program to establish a "want-free" America based on restored and increased industrial activity, were listed here by Lamont du Pont, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.

The four points are:
1. Lower costs of all materials that enter into living.
2. Maintenance of high wages.
3. Improvement of the quality and usefulness of all existing goods and development of wholly new goods through scientific research and invention.

4. Creation of new tools, equipment and facilities—"new capital added to that which we now have in order to provide full employment not only to the present generation but also to increasing future generations."

"Simple and tried in its essentials, this program has been evolved out of a century and a half of experience," Mr. du Pont observed. "It is the product of democracy. It places the bulk of responsibility for social betterment squarely on the shoulders of free enterprise where it belongs. There should be no hesitancy among us today in accepting that responsibility, asking only a fair opportunity to work, a fair opportunity to earn a profit measured by the service performed and a fair opportunity to grow."

SHIRT COSTS LESS HERE

To earn enough to buy a shirt with attached collar, a Swedish worker must work three times as long as an American; a Frenchman five and a half times as long; a German nine times as long and an Italian 17 times as long.

Gently, he pushed her quivering shoulders back against the chair. She raised beseeching eyes in which faint hope and fear were struggling. From her parted lips, the breath came in short, wrenching gasps. Reassuringly he smiled at her.
Bzzzzz, went the dentist's drill.

About 1,800,000 needy old people are now getting cash allowances under the Federal-State old-age assistance program, in which all the States are taking part under the Social Security Act. This assistance is given them on the basis of their individual need, and is unrelated to old-age insurance benefits.

average age of 4-H Club members last year were enrolled in the organization, Williamson said. Members learn to do by doing. Under supervision of voluntary local leaders and county extension agents, they acquire first hand farm and home skill as part of their club work.

Clubs in Texas are sponsored cooperatively by Texas A. & M. College and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Membership is made up principally of youths between the ages of 10 and 21.

"The large number of boys and girls who have received club training, and the positions of leadership they are assuming in their communities, are pointing the way to rural abundance in the quarter century ahead," Williamson asserted.

Ferguson Still Wears Suit Woven At Texas Tech

Lubbock, Texas.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson is still wearing the suit woven at Texas Technological College seven years ago and presented to him by the late President Bradford Knapp.

A letter to President Clifford B. Jones from Homer D. Wade of Dallas, executive secretary of the Texas cooperative council, recounts the following incident:

"Upon my last visit to Austin I happened to meet Hon. James E. Ferguson. I commented upon his appearance and apparent good health. The former governor replied, 'You are responsible for my good appearance because it was you who promoted the idea that resulted in this splendid suit of clothes I am wearing.'"

He then recalled the Texas Club banquet in 1932, at which Doctor Knapp presented him with a suit and Mrs. Ferguson with a coat spun at Texas Tech from Texas-grown cotton. The suit still looks "very wearable and serviceable," according to Mr. Wade.

TRIUMPH FOR OUR NAVY

It was a big feat for the United States Navy, when by what seemed a miracle of skill and science, it pulled 33 men out of the sunken submarine Squalus, while a few days later only four out of 103 were saved when the British submarine Thetis sank. The American triumph seems greater when it appeared that the Thetis sank in only 130 feet of water, while the Squalus was 240 feet beneath the waves.

The English are ordinary wonderful seamen. Their feats in navigation and in naval history have been supposed to be unsurpassed. But in the rescue of men from the bottom of the sea, our people provide in this case more resourceful and better organized to cope with a situation of extreme difficulty.

Such an exploit gives our people great confidence of what the men of our navy could do, if our navy emergency called on them to save the country. Our men think fast, they have a tradition of surmounting all obstacles.

Benjamin Franklin was the first person to use a lightning rod. He installed one on his house in 1752.

CARS REQUIRE COTTON

Every automobile contains 55 pounds of cotton, and enough additional cotton has been used during manufacture to bring the total consumption per car to nearly 100 pounds. This is one proof of the interdependence of industry and agriculture.

Miss Elizabeth Shannon Writes of Interesting Trip to Mexico City

Editor's Note: The following letter was written to her parents by Miss Elizabeth Shannon, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. J. S. Shannon, who is on a trip into Mexico with a group of college students. It was submitted to The Times for publication and will be of interest to our many readers:

Hotel Onario,
Mexico City, Mex. D.F.
May 24, 1939.

Dearest Folk,

I'm going to try to tell you a little of what we have been seeing. We have been here one day, and I already feel that my trip has been worth while—at least this one day has.

The climate here in the city is very pleasant, though it is chilly especially at night. You see, Mexico City is about 8,000 feet above sea level. In case you don't remember much of Mexico's surface topography, maybe you will become more familiar with it from these descriptions: One range of mountains begins in the southern part of the country. At about one hundred miles south of Mexico City they divide, one range running north-east, the other north-west. Mexico City is in the fork.

We had to cross the eastern range of mountains after leaving Tomazunchale. In one case, we climbed 3000 feet in 10 miles, and, of course, had a lot of curving to do, since we were climbing so far—and I got car sick.

The country is beautiful. We crossed the Tropic of Cancer Tuesday, and of course the vegetation is all tropical—banana trees, orchids blooming by the roadside; feature parrots flying across the road and calling. After we began climbing the vegetation changed to oak and pine forests. From the sides of the mountains the country below looked as though a patchwork quilt had been thrown over the mountains. Little patches of hill sides—almost perpendicular have been cultivated.

The greatest thrill of the trip so far, I believe, was my first view of the mountain, Ixtaciuatl, and the volcano Popocatepetl. The guidebook we were using told us where to look for our first view, but at that time it was cloudy. We kept our eyes in that direction, however, and soon the clouds broke, leaving just a hole in them. There were the snow-covered tops of the two mountains, their bases hidden by clouds, and looking like islands floating in the sky. "Popo" is more than 17,000 feet high and is second highest on the continent. There is a legend about these mountains. Ixtaciuatl was an Aztec princess in love with the Aztec prince, Popocatepetl. After he went to war to win her hand, it was rumored that he was killed in battle, and Ixtaciuatl died of a broken heart. But Popocatepetl was not dead, and when he returned, finding her dead, he built a pyramid and placed her upon it. Then he built another nearby and took his place there, holding her funeral torch—thus the volcano. The Aztecs worshipped these mountains as gods. They are in sight from the city, though a long distance off.

Today we went to Puebla, a town near by, noted for its titles. On the way we went through Chalula, the "City of Churches." In this little town are 365 churches. Three of them are open now. The Aztecs once had 365 temples there, and when the Spaniards tried to Christianize the Aztecs, they promised that if they would tear down their temples to the various gods, they (the Spaniards) would build back a church for each temple. And they did.

Our day was full of visiting interesting things, but the most interesting of all was the Hidden Nunnery. In about 1850 the government abolished all convents and nunneries and closed down many churches. But in Puebla a convent or nunnery was hidden in what appeared to be an apartment house, vacant except for four families. If you could see these houses, you would see how it would be possible. The nuns of this convent lived and worked there in perfect secrecy until 1934, unknown to all but the four families and their descendants, who were their only facilities of contact with the outside world. The government finally discovered there was a convent in Puebla, but they could not locate it. Eventually suspicion fell upon this house and it was searched several times, but nothing was found as evidence. Then, one day one of the families, in order to disarm their suspicion, invited an officer to eat with them, and he accepted the invitation. During the meal a vase of flowers, leaning against the wall was shoved aside, and the officer noticed a button in the wall. He pressed it to see what would happen. The wall, behind some shelves of dishes, began to move, and a door was opened by the Mother Superior. The bell was a signal, you see, between the nuns and the families. The officer entered the room and found an entire convent of countless numbers of rooms with some fifty nuns in it. They were locked in that night, but thirty-two escaped by a trap door. The others were given 24 hours to leave Mexico. Also the families were forced to leave.

When I come home, I'll give you the details of this convent, for I cannot adequately describe it by writing. Too, I'll tell you more in detail about everything I see during the next two weeks.

Lots of love,
ELIZABETH

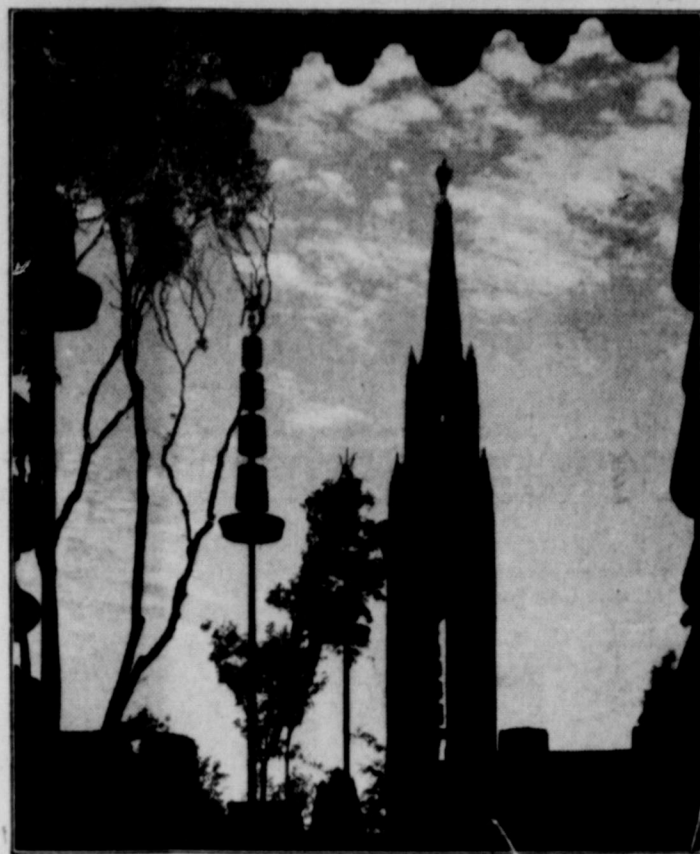

Raymond Heath and two sons of New Orleans, La., visited their mother and grandmother, Mrs. J. O. Heath, here last week.

Miss Mary Davis of Ada, Okla., is here this week, visiting in the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Hollis B. Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Palmer returned home last week from Grand Saline, Texas, where they had been visiting with Mrs. Palmer's parents.

After waiting 39 years for her husband, who deserted her in 1911 and hasn't communicated with her since, Mrs. Mary Hill of Oklahoma City has filed suit for divorce.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Over-Production

In a land of plenty and much stored away, many people go hungry in our country today.

We have an over-production of corn and wheat; yet, many of our people can't buy enough to eat.

We have too many hogs and cattle in the stockyard, but our people don't have money to buy meat and lard.

There's "King Cotton" I liked to have forgot. There's more of it raised than any of the lot.

We see it growing on every farm, but the people can't buy enough of it to keep themselves warm.

We have had famines, storms and much destruction, but we never before had over-production.

I don't think it's over-production at all that has put us against the wall.

One of the things that do so much harm is that so many people have been forced off the farm.

In the good old days when there was land to rent, there was lots of money made—which was also spent.

To buy the products raised on the farm to keep the people fed, clothed and warm.

Now we see the fertile land cultivated—a thousand acres by one man. Usually his needs are very small, he sometimes has no family at all.

At a very low cost he can hire three men who can do the work of ten. With a tractor geared in high he can lay a large crop by.

The machine age may be all right, but it has left many of us in a tight. Brought prosperity to a few, but has left millions with nothing to do.

If I had the power I would use this plan—I would not allow more than 160 acres to be worked by a man. I would put a tax away up high that would make it useless for him to try.

I would put the poor people back on the farm, and they would soon be able to buy the cotton goods and corn. Over-production would fade like a dream, and prosperity would again be seen.

88 Lives Saved In Texas During First of Year

Eighty-eight lives were saved in Texas during the first five months of this year, Brady Gentry, chairman of the State Highway Commission, said today in announcing that motor vehicle fatalities for the period of January 1 to May 31, 1939 as compared to the same period in 1938 showed a reduction of 13.44 per cent.

The toll of lives taken by traffic accidents the first five months of this year was 567, whereas for the first five months of last year the number was 655.

Cities of over 2,500 population had 21 less traffic deaths, a reduction of 12.28 per cent, Mr. Gentry said, and towns of under 2,500 population had a reduction of 12.50 per cent, a saving of 5 lives.

Deaths on the highway system were reduced by 72, or 18.80 per cent. On the county roads there was a fatality increase of 10, or 16.39 per cent.

Of the total traffic fatalities during the first five months of the

Texas Drivers Licenses Good 3 More Years

The Public Safety Department has extended Texas private automobile drivers licenses to April 1, 1942, it was announced last week.

Normally, licenses now held by drivers in Texas would have expired last April but state police anticipated a possible change in the licensing law by the Legislature which adjourned last week and had extended them indefinitely. The Legislature failed to modify the law, and Chief Fred Hickman of the highway patrol announced that present holders of licenses may continue to use their permits until 1942.

Because some Texans driving in other States have had their licenses questioned, Texas state police have invited those contemplating travel in other States to apply at patrol district headquarters where letters attesting the validity of permits, despite the April 1, 1939, expiration date, will be issued drivers.

Exceptions to the automatic extension are drivers whose licenses show two coupons missing, indicating convictions for serious traffic violations. They are subject to examination before extension is granted. First time applicants for permit are subject to driving and physical tests in accordance with the present law.

FEW SIMPLE RULES TO MAKE SWIMMING SAFE

The season for swimming and other water sports need not be marred by tragedies if simple precautions are observed, safety specialists of the National Conservation Bureau point out. They list the following rules for safety in the water:

1. Swim only at places protected by a guard.
2. Never swim alone.
3. Cooperate with guards by staying within safety lines.
4. Stay out of deep water unless you are sure of your swimming ability.
5. Do not go into the water immediately after eating. Parents are urged to have their children learn to swim under a competent instructor.

86,400 "GRADUATES"

College Station.—The Texas A. & M. Farmers' Short Course has drawn an attendance in excess of 86,400 persons since its beginning in 1911.

H. H. Williamson, director of the Extension Service, estimated that the current session would add from 5,000 to 6,000 to this number.

The first Short Course was held in January, 1911. It lasted two weeks and was called the "Farmers' Short and Winter Course." Only 15 men attended and they were housed in tents.

In 1912 a winter short course for farmers was again held, but in 1913 the time was changed to July and each year since then the A. & M. College has instructed Short Course visitors during July.

Since 1923 the Extension Service has had the responsibility of the direction of the Short Course. Farm women and club boys and girls began to attend the sessions in increasing numbers and today more juniors and homemakers attend than do men.

The 1939 Short Course, as in 1938, will be held in two sections—the first July 5, 6 and 7 for 4-H club members, the second July 12, 13, and 14 for adults. Reservations for rooms are made through county agricultural and home demonstration agents.

Henry Atkinson, Jr., of Haskell was here Sunday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Atkinson.

Mrs. Perdue of Abilene visited here with her son Terrell Perdue, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Arnold and son of Knox City visited with friends here last Sunday.

G. R. Eiland and Leland Hannah were business visitors in Wichita Falls last Friday.

Arnold Langford, Thena Mae Hutchens Marry at Stamford

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Arnold Langford and Miss Thena Mae Hutchens. The ceremony was performed at Stamford on June 14 by Rev. P. D. O'Brien, Baptist pastor and former pastor at Munday.

Mrs. Langford is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rado Hutchens, who reside near Goree. She was valedictorian of the 1939 graduating class at Goree, and one of the leaders in school and class activities.

Mr. Langford is a son of Mrs. Cora Phillips of this city and is well known in the county.

The young couple plan to make their home in Knox county, near Munday.

Amigos Sunday School Class Has Party on Tuesday

Tuesday evening of this week, the Amigos class of the Baptist Sunday school had a social in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. Horace Bass, with Messdames Hallmark, Barnard and Bass as co-hostesses.

A color scheme of yellow, green and white was carried out in house decorations, with daisies, gladioli and sinias. Eighty-four was enjoyed throughout the evening.

A brief business period followed the games, and class officers were elected as follows:

Teacher, Dr. J. Horace Bass; assistant teacher, J. C. Elliott; president, Wallace Reid; secretary, treasurer, Mrs. Juanita Jones; membership chairman, Mrs. M. L. Barnard; social chairman, Mrs. J. H. Bass.

A refreshment plate of iced fruit, punch, sandwiches and cookies were served to Mr. and Mrs. Riley B. Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. Boel Bowden, Mr. and Mrs. Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Hughes, Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Douglas, Mrs. Ima Reese, Mrs. Juanita Jones, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hallmark, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Barnard and Dr. and Mrs. Bass.

Miss Wynette Farmer of Knox City is visiting Miss Mary Moore this week.

W. R. Moore and L. W. Hobert were business visitors in Crowell last Friday.

Former Munday Boy Is Married At Fort Worth, Texas

Relatives and friends in Munday have received announcement of the marriage of Mr. James R. Nelson to Miss Marguerite Hiner of Fort Worth. The wedding ceremony was performed on Sunday, June 25, at the First Christian Church in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Nelson is the daughter of Mrs. Nettie Hiner of Fort Worth, and has been teaching in the Pampa Public Schools.

Mr. Nelson is a member of one of Munday's oldest pioneer families, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nelson, Sr., of Munday. He attended high school here and was employed in various business concerns here before leaving Munday. He is a pharmacist at Pampa.

The couple are making their home at 509 North Frost, Pampa, Texas.

Sandra Ruth Jones Is Given Birthday Party on Friday

Sandra Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Jones of Sonora, celebrated her third birthday on Friday, June 23, from 3 to 6 p.m., at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jones.

Both her grandmothers and a number of little friends and relatives were present for the occasion.

All sang "Happy Birthday to You" as she blew out the three lighted candles which were placed on a large pink cake. After taking kodak pictures, the little honoree cut the cake and it was served with ice cream and lollipops.

Sandra Ruth received many useful and beautiful gifts from her many friends.

Methodist Young People Attend Picnic Tuesday

The Methodist Young People's Sunday School class, together with the Epworth League, enjoyed a picnic last Tuesday night at the golf course.

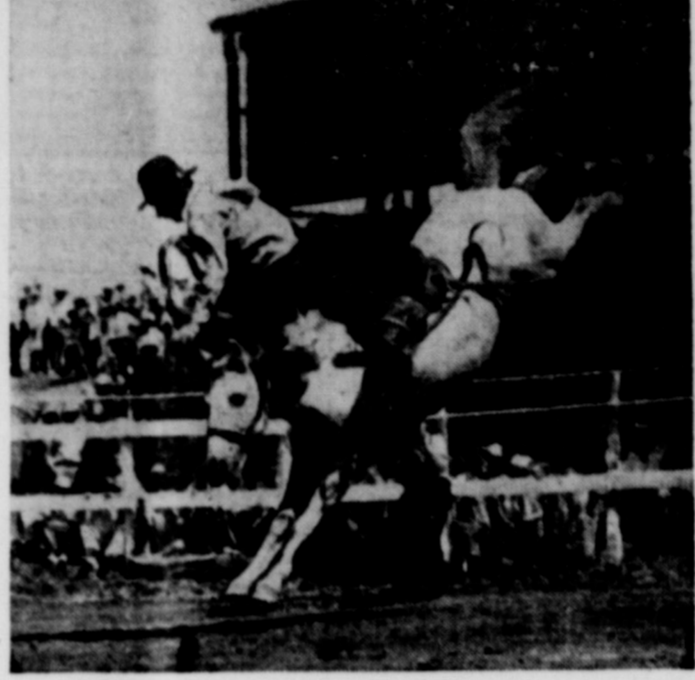

After playing many games, refreshments consisting of sandwiches, lemonade, and cookies were served to the following: Lenore Longino, Jean Williams, Shirley Nell Kethley, Wilma June Burnison, W. B. Thompson, Zell Spann, Ann Atkinson, Levena Counts, Patsy Ruth Mitchell, Dan Billingsley, Henry Dingus, Dixie Atkinson, Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Stone, and a visitor, Miss Betty Briggs, a guest of Ann Atkinson.

Tenderfeet Mingle With Cowboys Around Chuck Wagon

Several West Texas ranches will take their chuck wagons to Stamford for the Texas Cowboy Reunion on July 3, 4 and 5. The cowboys eat at the wagon, compete in the rodeo and take in other Reunion attractions. Sometimes visitors are fortunate enough to get an invitation to a chuck wagon, which was the case in the above picture, made at the Reunion last year.

The bronc-riding contest in the Reunion rodeo provides thrills for the grandstands but frequently means spills for the riders as was the case with the cowboy at the right.

With Santa Fe—

J. A. GILLIES

The appointment of H. B. Lautz as general manager of the Santa Fe System's Eastern Lines, with headquarters at Topeka, and that of John A. Gillies as general manager of the Santa Fe Western Lines to succeed Lautz at Amarillo was announced today by W. K. Etter, vice president in charge of operations. Lautz succeeds Frank A. Lehman, who is retiring of his own volition after more than 50 years of loyal and faithful service. The appointments are effective July 1.

Lautz, born August 2, 1876, in Pekin, Ill., has spent his entire career of 49 years with the Santa Fe. He was educated in public schools of Topeka, Kan., and entered employ of the Santa Fe September 8, 1890, as office boy for the railway in Topeka. Since that time he has been stenographer, transportation clerk, clerk in the president's office, assistant chief clerk to the general manager in Topeka, chief clerk, assistant to the general manager and in 1916 was appointed superintendent of the middle division at Newton, Kansas.

He was named assistant general manager of the Northern District, Western Lines, with headquarters at La Junta, Colo., and in 1932 was appointed general manager with headquarters in Amarillo.

Munday Girl On Honor Roll, TSCW For Semester

Ranking scholastically with the upper eight per cent of a student body of 2800, Miss Sylvia Clair Barnes of Munday won a place on the honor roll at Texas State College for Women for her record during the last semester of the regular session, according to an announcement from Dean E. V. White's office this week. Requirements for honor standing were raised this year to an A average.

Miss Barnes, who received a congratulatory letter from the dean, was a junior last year, doing her major work in the department of Business Administration.

Mrs. J. B. Reneau Hostess to Home Demonstration Club

The Munday Home Demonstration Club met on Friday, June 23, in the home of Mrs. John Reneau. Twenty members answered the roll call.

Work was begun on the club's English course, Mrs. Wallace Reid as teacher. Club pals were also revealed, and new names were drawn for the following three months.

At the close of a very enjoyable meeting, a refreshment plate of pineapple ice cream and angel food cake was served.

Munday Band To Be In Parade At Cowboy Reunion

Announcement was made Thursday that the Munday High School Band would appear in the parade at Stamford on Tuesday, July 4. Many bands from this section will be in the parade featuring the annual Texas Cowboy Reunion.

The local band has some thirty members, each of whom has shown rapid progress this year the band work.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST

J. Cleo Scott, Minister

Regular Sunday morning Bible study begins promptly at 10 o'clock. The morning sermon subject will be "Our Stewardship."

Young people's Bible class will be at 7:30. We have a large group not meeting. Why not come and study with us? Regular night service will be at 8:15. The sermon subject will be "The Safe Course to Pursue."

Ladies' Bible class Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. We are studying Romans: 4.

The meeting of the Church of Christ at Goree is now in progress. Bro. Frank Traylor of Rotan is doing the preaching and Bro. Easy is conducting the song service.

Bro. H. A. Wrye will give a lecture on the Jordan River Saturday night, July 8th. The public is cordially invited to attend.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Just two weeks from Sunday our summer revival meeting begins. Let's make our plans for vacations, either before or after that time. Rev. Dick O'Brien of Stamford is to do the preaching. The night services will be held outside where it will be cool, and we will have plenty of room.

Last Sunday the Sunday School attendance peaked up to over 200 again. The lesson for Sunday is concerning Solomon's wise choice. David said to him, "Be thou strong therefore, and show thyself a man." Again he said to his son, "Know thou the God of thy father, and serve Him with a perfect heart and a willing hand." It is good in the life of anyone to make the right choice, and then it is a better thing to have the spiritual fortitude and courage to carry out in life the decision made. One of the chief businesses of the church is to continuously help us to fortify our good choices and resolutions. We will be happy to have you in the services next Sunday. Let's be careful, if somebody is skylighting us in order to get the direction that we point them in the right way.

Pioneer Circle Meets Thursday With Mrs. Zeissel

Members of the Pioneer Circle met in the home of Mrs. Mary Zeissel on Thursday, June 22. A very enjoyable hour was spent in chatting and meeting old friends.

A prize was presented to Verna Nelson for being the oldest Knox county pioneer lady present.

Refreshments of fruit drinks and cake were served. Present were Verna Nelson, Kittie Redwine, Hettie Rogers, Nan Dingus, Emily Carden, Bobbie Lane, Jessie Beecher, Lou Simpson, Nancie Edwards, Algia Huddleston, Annie Peyson, Bessie Davis, Annie Russell, the hostess and two visitors.

The next meeting will be with Kittie Redwine on July 6th.

CHURCH PEOPLE EXPRESS THEIR THANKS TO MRS. BUNTS

We are writing a card of thanks to Mrs. Bunts, who is a resident of this city, to thank her for letting us have her lot on which to hold our meeting. We are holding a revival there now and want to invite her down. Everyone else is invited. Let's all come together and let the Lord have His way and have an old-time revival. May God bless you in our prayer.

The Pentecost Hologues Vance Favor of the highway department at Benjamin was a visitor in the city last Tuesday.

County Commissioner Ed Jones of Goree was a business visitor in the city Tuesday.

Miss Maude Isbell was a visitor in Dallas the first of this week.

Opening Day Parade to Highlight Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford

Graying cowhands who pioneered the development of the west, sun-browned cowboys just in from the spring roundups on Texas ranches, eager tenderfeet from all over Texas and likely half the rest of the states of the Union are making preparations to be in Stamford Monday for the opening of the Tenth Annual Texas Cowboy Reunion.

And Stamford, after weeks of preparation, is ready to receive the crowds, which based upon previous attendance records, will likely number 65,000 to 70,000 for the three days, July 3, 4 and 5. The Reunion is rated as the largest gathering of cowboys in the world.

One of the highlights of the opening day will be the grand parade, which gets under way at 11 a. m. In the procession will be several hundred cowboys, cowgirl sponsors and other horseback riders, chuck wagons, an old stage coach, seven bands from neighboring towns, decorated floats and individual entertainers. The procession will be headed by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and other distinguished visitors, expected to include Paul Whiteman, Judge Jas. V. Allred, Lieutenant Governor Coke Stevenson and Amon G. Carter.

Beginning with the matinee at 8 o'clock Monday morning, three performances of the cowboy rodeo will be held each day. Afternoon show is at 2 o'clock and night performances at 8. Some 300 cowboys will likely compete in the contests in riding and roping and the special cutting-horse contest and calf-roping for oldtime cowboys. Fifty or more girls will compete in the cowgirls sponsors' contest. Prizes amounting to $2,600 are offered.

Square dances will be held each night at the new Roundup building, which is just being completed. Sponsors' dances will be held at the sponsors' pavilion above the exhibit hall every night. The annual old fiddlers' contest will be held at the cowboy bunkhouse at 8:30 a. m. July 5 and is free entertainment.

Miss Shelly Lee is visiting relatives in Peaster, Texas, this week.

W. R. Moore and Tom Haney were business visitors in Wichita Falls last Monday.

Sheriff Louis Cartwright was a business visitor in the city Tuesday.

New Tire Is Introduced In Centennial

Goodyear Announced G-100 on One Hundredth Anniversary

Important event in the rubber industry is the observance, this year, of the one hundredth anniversary of the discovery of vulcanization by Charles Goodyear. This year also marks the fiftieth anniversary of the manufacture of the first pneumatic tire, and the fortieth anniversary of The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., world's largest manufacturer.

"The centennial observance of the discovery of vulcanization is not only important to the rubber industry, but to motorists," declared Cecil Cooper, local Goodyear dealer. "Reason for this statement is that Goodyear has now made available a brand new tire that is outstanding in plus value."

"The new tire has been named the 'G-100,' exceptionally appropriate in view of its announcement during the centennial year. Representing 40 years of experience in tire design and manufacture by the world's largest rubber company, the G-100 with its All-Weather tread embodies many new improvements. Chief among the new features of the tire are its new center traction non-skid design, in which the diamond blocks long associated with Goodyear tires are more closely nested; 11 per cent more rubber has been placed in contact with the road; improved to give up to 33 per cent more mileage by actual road tests; two-way tread compression and twin cord breakers; more durable cords in each ply for still greater protection against blowouts, punctures and bruises; four riding ribs for quiet, easy roll and even tread wear; high-taper shoulders, giving modern appearance.

"In our estimation, the G-100 is well worthy of its introduction during the centennial year of rubber manufacturing," Mr. Cooper concluded.

W. R. More, Jr., and Rupert Williams spent the first of this week fishing at Lake Kemp.

"Small, But Nice" Is Term Given To Tuesday's Sale

"Small, but nice," is the term which those in charge of the weekly livestock auction sale used in describing the sale last Tuesday.

Due to the fact that farmers are still busy in their fields, the sale did not run as high as others have done, but consignors were exceptionally well pleased with prices received for their livestock. The sale, as usual, was confined mostly to cattle, although three horses and some hogs were sold.

Between 25 and 30 consignors brought stock for the sale. These included N. F. Welch, Wayne Dolan, Grady Hudson and Charles Moorhouse of Benning; Luther Highnote of Haskell; Lloyd Bradley and Clyde Patton of Goree; J. E. Youngblood of Knox City; C. W. Miller of Seymour; Fred L. McDaniels of Dundee; Joe Jenkins of Weinert; T. B. Hertel, Mrs. E. P. Meers, C. R. Elliott, Nolan Phillips and C. P. Baker of Munday.

Buyers who purchased livestock at the sale were: Perry Woods of Seymour; Charles Ready of Oklahoma; Charles Railsback of Goree; J. P. Hester and C. A. Hull of Knox City; C. H. Browning of Munday; Charlie Brothers of Shamrock; Wichita Packing Co., of Wichita Falls; Lewis McAlpin of Granite, Okla.; W. M. Trimmer of Rochester and Jack Fuqua of Stamford.

Mrs. E. S. Briggs, Raymond Briggs and children, Betty and Edward, of Rockwall and Terrell, Texas, visited here the first of this week with Mrs. Briggs' brother and sister, M. F. Billingsley and Mrs. W. H. Atkinson. On their return they were accompanied by Dallas by Mrs. W. M. Huskinson and son, Billy, who are returning to their home in Leland, Miss., after several weeks visit in the Atkinson home.

tion. For persons who possess this unusual sensitiveness to the pollens of certain plants, weeds, grasses, and trees serums have been developed to counteract it.

"Before this type of treatment can be effective it is essential that the particular pollen causing the disturbance be discovered. Guesswork plays no part in this investigation. The physician will make simple and painless tests with extracts of pollens that are suspected of causing the trouble. By way of a needle prick a minute portion of each of the pollens under suspicion is placed under the skin. And that extract which generates a slight local reaction points to the offender. Inoculation of that type of serum is then administered.

The potency of this treatment depends upon its use prior to the pollen season. Immunity must be established early. Bodily reactions to this type of therapy are slow. In fact, several months, involving several treatments at intervals, are required.

While this preventive is not effective in all cases, the percentage of successes has been sufficiently high for every hay fever sufferer to give it a fair chance. In some patients, the result while not totally satisfactory, has undeniably reduced the suffering.

Also recommended for diminution of suffering is cutting of weeds from localities where hay-fever sufferers frequent. Vernal lots are a potent source of the weeds and should be included in preventive measures against the disease.

Auto Sales For May Go Upward

Austin, Tex.—Automobile agencies sold 50.7 per cent more new passenger cars in Texas during May than in May last year, and commercial car sales climbed almost as much, The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research announced today.

Reports to the Bureau from fourteen representative Texas counties showed registrations of new automobiles totaling 1.1 per cent over April of this year, while new commercial motor vehicle registrations dropped 5.9 per cent.

Commercial car sales for May were 46.7 per cent over May, 1938.

Weekly Health Letter!

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M.D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin, Texas.—"It will not be many weeks until a large number of Texans will be sneezing, wheezing and in other ways evidencing that they are victims of so-called hay fever. Many of these persons, either because of ignorance or carelessness, will endure their affliction, bolstered only by the distant hope of the 'Fall Frost' which will mark the end of their ordeal for this year. On the face of it, these allergies have a rather hard row to hoe. However, for many of them, this situation could be altered most favorably," prophesies the Texas State Health Department.

"Indeed, science has developed a successful method of combating many forms of this seasonal afflic-

"A Good Man for a Big Job," is Title Given Brady P. Gentry, New Chairman Of the Texas Highway Commission

Austin, Tex.—A "good man for a big job," is the descriptive term Charles E. Smons applies to Brady P. Gentry, new chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, in an article in the June issue of Texas Parade.

The selection of Mr. Gentry, Tyler attorney, was approved by the Senate of Texas after three previous appointees of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel had been rejected. The importance with which the highway commission chairmanship is regarded may be judged from the chain of events which caused a delay of more than three months in his selection.

"It is no small tribute," writes Mr. Smons, "to the character and standing of Mr. Gentry that he was unanimously approved by the Senate under such circumstances. Mr. Gentry's past experience indicates that his tenure on the commission will be one of successful in obtaining a man to fill the position."

Mr. Gentry's past experience indicates that his tenure on the commission will be one of successful in obtaining a man to fill the position. He is a lawyer of considerable experience and has the judicial temperament necessary to carry on the vital work of building a system of state highways that is so necessary to insure progress in Texas. He knows something of road building, also, having served eight years as Smith County judge and in these days of rapidly expanding highway transportation it is necessary that a county judge be familiar with the theory and practices of road construction and financing.

"In conducting his first hearing as highway commission chairman, Mr. Gentry demonstrated the value of his past experience. In his former capacity as judge of Smith County, he made many appearances before the highway commission to discuss road construction problems. In these appearances he stood before the commission in the interests of his home county. He presented his problems clearly, fairly and concisely and with an appreciation of the multitude of problems faced by the commission and the many demands made on the State for highway construction. On the other side of the railing at his first session as presiding officer of the commission, he showed the same fairness and consideration for the county delegations appearing before him.

"Mr. Gentry took the oath of office May 19 in the governor's public reception room. Shortly afterward he addressed department heads and employees in the Austin headquarters office. In a brief, dignified talk he stated that it was not his intention to 'rock the boat' but that it was his ambition to keep the Texas Highway Department on the high plane it now enjoys—as one of the best in the United States. He commended employees for the fine conscientiousness they have exhibited in their work.

"Mr. Gentry was born on a Van Zandt county farm and is 43 years old. He was educated in the public school and was admitted to the bar when 21 years old. He served with the American Army during the World War in the infantry and retired with the rank of captain. After the war, he re-entered the practice of law in Tyler and was elected Smith county attorney. Retiring from that position, he moved to Colorado to enter business. He returned to Smith county and in 1930 was elected county judge, an office he held four consecutive terms. He voluntarily retired to become a candidate for Congress in the 1938 primary elections. He lost the Democratic nomination after a hot run-off race with Lindsey Beckworth, the nation's youngest member of Congress.

"While county judge, Mr. Gentry was instrumental in providing Smith county with a fine system of lateral roads and co-operated fully with the Highway Department in the construction of important arterial highways, not only in Smith county but throughout his immediate area in East Texas. His work in improving the financial standing of Smith county during his tenure of office was outstanding. When he took office in 1931, Smith county had a tax rate of $1.40 per $100 valuation. When Judge Gentry retired, the tax rate had been reduced to 70 cents. In recognition of this outstanding achievement, Smith county was awarded second place by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce in grading the management of public affairs, first place going to Washington county.

"Texas, as Mr. Gentry already has learned in his brief service with the State, already is 14 years behind in the construction of its state highways. The combined efforts of all will be necessary if Texas is to achieve the ambition of attaining a highway system that will stand as a monument to its engineers, contractors, public administrators, and, above all, to the taxpayers who so cheerfully dig deeply into their pockets to provide the wherewithal in the form of heavy imposts."

No New Pensions May Be Paid For Several Months

W. A. Little, director of the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission, stated recently that no investigations would be made of applicants for Old Age Assistance under the new law until a ruling had been secured from the Attorney General's Department, which opinion would serve in formulating policies and procedure of investigation under the liberalized act. Even after the opinion has been secured, it will be necessary for investigational instructions to be perfected and workers advised of their use. This will likely require another week or ten days after the Attorney General's Department has officially acted.

Little further stated that registrations had reached about 30,000 for the State as a whole, and it was an admitted fact that under the most favorable circumstances, several months would be required to complete records of investigation and to certify recipients for whatever prorata shares of available money might be at hand from month to month. In the meantime, a new plan will be submitted to the Social Security Board at Washington, and their final decision as to the approval or disapproval of the plan awaited.

Oil Seizure In Mexico Affects Tourist Trade

Austin, June 26.—The adverse effect which seizure by the Mexican government of $400,000,000 worth of American and British oil properties in Mexico has had upon tourist traffic into Mexico—one of the Southern Republic's most profitable businesses—is seen in a compilation of tourist figures issued by the Mexican government's publicity service.

The figures, just received here, show that the all-time peak of American tourist travel in Mexico was reached shortly after completion of the Monterey-Mexico City highway, 1937. The official figures on tourist volume from all nations to Mexico for the years 1935-38 are as follows: 1935, 75,432; 1936, 92,092; 1937, 130,637; 1938, 88,496.

Effects Immediate

The expropriation of the oil properties occurred in March 1938, and the effect upon tourist trade was immediately visible. The decline has been steady since that time, as compared with the pre-expropriation years. In 1938, there were 31,446 tourists during January, February and March, while during the same period in 1939, he figure dropped to 24,997. Mexican authorities estimate that 95 per cent of the total tourist volume is made up of Americans, entering by airplane, highway and rail, through the Southwestern United States. Best estimates of the total decline in tourist business since seizure of the oil properties range from 43 to 50 per cent.

Significance of the tourist business to a large group of Mexican business enterprises, including railroads, air lines, hotels, restaurants, tourist goods dealers and retailers generally, is seen in the estimates that the visit of the average American tourist is 14 days in Mexico, and expenditures average $10 per day. Thus, a conservative estimate of foreign tourist expenditures in Mexico for 1937 would reach nearly $19,000,000 and by 1938 this rich inflow of foreign money had dropped nearly one-half.

Americans Are Nervous

Mexican hotel and transportation interests, hard hit by the situation, are bitterly complaining at policies of the Cardenas government, Mexico travelers returning to Texas report, and are desperately seeking some method of reviving interest of Americans in Mexican travel. A private organization, financed by railway, banking and allied Mexican interests, has plans under way to carry on a publicity campaign in the United States in an effort to offset the tourist depression.

Competition of the world fairs in the United States is believed to have affected adversely the Mexican tourist volume from this country, but the fear that their property and even their lives may not be safe in a nation which seizes the property of foreign nations, without compensation, is believed by observers here to be the greatest deterrent factor in keeping Americans out of Mexico. The seizure of the American oil properties, and the blunt refusal of the Mexican government to make any settlement with the owners or the American government for the confiscated properties, had led many American travelers to wonder whether their private personal property, such as baggage and motor cars, might not be jeopardized if taken into Mexico.

"Angels With Dirty Faces" Brings Cagney and O'Brien to Roxy Theatre

A Powerful Story Of Human Conflict In the Slums

"DEAD END" KIDS, HUMPHREY BOGART AND ANN SHERIDAN IN CAST

A picture destined to stir and whip cinema-goers with its powerful reality as have few films before is "Angels With Dirty Faces," the Warner Bros. melodrama starring James Cagney and Pat O'Brien, which opens at the Roxy Theatre on Sunday and Monday.

No ordinary filmfare, according to those who have seen previews of the picture, is this gripping story of two boys from the slums, who, through a strange quirk of fate, grow up at opposite ends of the social order to a conclusion as thrilling and human as ever produced for the screen.

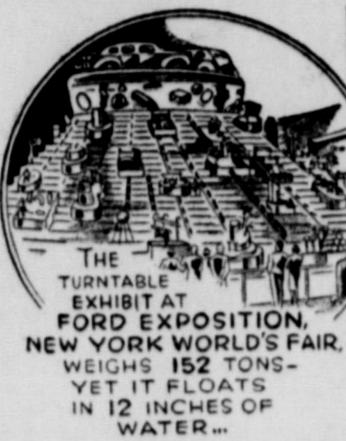

The great cast assembled to play the roles in the film show at once the care which went into the production. Besides Cagney and O'Brien, the six "Dead End" kids play dirty-faced angels of the slums as only they can. Humphrey Bogart and George Bancroft, take roles as crooked lawyer and politician, respectively, while Ann Sheridan provides the love interest with more than ordinary appeal.

Scene after scene of "Angels With Dirty Faces" are of the ilk that stamp themselves unforgettable on the mind—and will provide table talk for Monday for weeks to come. The climactic scene which shows Cagney walking the "last mile" is probably one of the greatest of all time in motion picture history. The ending itself, which, for obvious reasons, should remain undisclosed, takes its place with such powerhouses as those of "Public Enemy," "I Am a Fugitive," and "They Won't Forget."

James Cagney's role is made-to-order for him. A breezy, tough, cocky ruffian who grows up to be a big-shot gangster is Cagney's forte, and that the role will bring him again to the top spot in male cinema ranks goes without saying.

Pat O'Brien as the soft-spoken yet two-fisted priest, gives an amazing performance, restrained yet powerful enough to balance the strong characterization by Cagney.

Package Loan Library Gets Many Requests

Austin, Texas.—One of the State's busiest "information desks" is the Package Loan Library at The University of Texas. The day's mail brings such requests as these:

... A lawyer wants to quote in a speech one of Edgar Guest's poems. He remembers only a few lines, quotes them and asks for the poem.

... A garden club president asks how to judge flower shows.

... A high school journalism teacher wants information on teaching journalism.

... An East Texas farmer writes for the latest developments in mule raising.

Behind the information desk is Miss Le Noir Dimmitt, whose "packages" cover information on approximately 10,000 subjects. Her service is available mainly to the State's 65 per cent population who have access to no public library.

From 25 to 100 requests pour in daily seeking information on every conceivable subject, she says.

"Only this week a farmer near Bishop wrote Governor O'Daniel praising his radio talks and asking for more material on the sales tax, teachers retirement fund and homestead exemption law," Miss Dimmitt relates. "His requests came right on through to us."

THE COTTON FIBER

Research in cotton fibers in recent years have proven some interesting facts. In the Bureau's Cotton Fiber and Spinning Laboratories headed by Dr. Robert W. Webb the research worker studies and works with individual cotton fibers and small lots of cotton fiber. The machines of the cotton mills are not adapted to the study of the individual fibers. The instruments used in cotton fiber research look right into them and in fact all over them.

In the development of the official Cotton Standards a great deal of dependence has been placed on the Bureau's fiber research. Certain important elements of quality or lack of quality depend upon characteristics of the cotton fibers. By this research work it is possible to determine or measure most of the characteristics of grade, staple, and preparation; however, there are certain fiber properties which cotton men commonly lump together under the term "character." There are no standards of character which makes all the more difficult the various types of work which have to do with classing cotton and handling cotton reports.

The industry is becoming more exacting about the raw materials they are using. A pound of cotton is made up of about 90 million cotton fibers and the individual characteristics of these fibers play an important part in the spinning and manufacturing value. Research workers are seeking to develop ways and means of measuring fiber length, fiber strength, and other factors that make a good or poor bale of cotton from the standpoint of the manufacturer.

The Bureau catalogues all these different characteristics for future reference in the selection of desirable points sought for in varieties of cotton. Spinning tests prove the value in terms of manufacturing and use value.

These permanent records form a source of information for private agencies and agricultural colleges and experiment stations.

The mills know what they want, the Bureau has the facts, and seed breeders know what they can do with the seed, if given time. Great improvement in varieties have been made because these known facts, made possible by research and practice, have been used.

It has been determined by spinning Sea Island fibers cut into short lengths that a fine fibered cotton makes an extremely strong yarn. A short fine fibered cotton was found in Arizona. While breeders have increased the length of this cotton from 13-16 to 11-8 and still retained the fine fibered characteristic that made its spinning quality so desirable, other characteristics are not entirely satisfactory at the present time for its release as a commercial variety.

The two spinning laboratories for the Bureau are located at Clemson College, South Carolina, and Texas A. & M. College, College Station, Texas. The physical and chemical tests for cotton fibers and the color and X-ray tests are made in the Fibers Research Laboratories in Washington, D.C.

The spinner, the breeder, and the grower have a common source of information and facilities for producing better cotton and better cotton products.

"Let's Be Alive On The Fifth" Slogan For July Fourth

Austin, Tex., June 26.—"Let's Be Alive on the Fifth," was the slogan urged today by the Texas Safety Association to safety councils, luncheon clubs, safety groups, and newspapers for combating the annual fourth of July accidents.

"The Glorious Fourth has proved a Fatal Fourth for hundreds of Texans in the past several years," the Association said in a letter to the various groups. "Let's Be Alive on the Fifth" should be made the slogan throughout this week in order that casualty lists from drownings, firework and traffic may be reduced to a minimum for this year's Fourth of July celebrations.

The Association urged the cooperation of all agencies in cautioning the public of the dangers of the holiday celebrations.

A. L. Smith was a business visitor in Dallas the first of this week. Mrs. S. A. Bowden and Mrs. Ina Reese were visitors in Haskell last Monday morning.

From the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission

Austin, Texas.—Fish rescue work, of which much is done each year by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, has started. State Game Warden Sam Turner of Waco reports the rescue of 21,000 fish from an old channel of the Bosque River. A large party of Waco sportsmen cooperated in the rescue work. All the members of the Finny tribe saved were placed in the Basque below the Lake Waco dam.

Receding water following heavy rains and streams, lakes and bar pits drying up during the summer months stand millions of fish. During the fiscal year of 1937-38 game department employees rescued a total of 2,842,79 fish and placed them in rivers, streams and lakes of which there was no danger of going dry. The fish rescued totaled nearly as many as were produced in the state fish hatcheries during the same period, 3,068,705 crappie, cat, bass and bream being propagated by the hatcheries and used to stock waters of the state.

How'd you like to catch a six-foot forty-eight pound alligator on your trotline? That is just what a party of four Belton fishermen did on the Lamapas river in Bell county south of Belton recently, State Game Warden K. S. Hull reports.

The alligator, far from its natural habitat, which in Texas is deep East Texas, became tangled in the fishermen's lines and had drowned when the four anglers pulled it from the water.

Gators are occasionally found in Central and North Texas, but they are not native and have generally escaped from pens.

Due to cooperation obtained by State Game Warden F. O. Lytton the Valley section of Texas will have thousands of whitewing doves this year. The warden found employees of a huge ranch operating a brush machine with the intention of pushing down 2,000 acres of brush. Warden Lytton persuaded the landowners to wait a month before destroying the brush, in which thousands of whitewings were nesting. They will now have ample time to raise the young before their habitat is destroyed. Early reports from several sections of Texas to the game department are to the effect that quail and dove are prospering. Should conditions during the remainder of the rearing season continue good, nimrods should have some excellent sport this year.

The trapping of antelope, as carried on by the game department in the trans-pecos region two months ago is being hailed by big game experts in a large number of states as the most successful project of its kind ever attempted. More trapping will be done this fall after the young antelope have attained some size, it is announced by Will J. Tucker, executive secretary.

Antelope, strange as it seems, will not leap a fence higher than four feet. As a result, many ranches in West Texas have become overpopulated with the fleet-footed animals, while other sections have none. The antelope trapped were transported to ranges as far distant as 100 miles, thus stocking new territory and relieving some ranch owners of having their range overpopulated and having the animals undernourished.

However, the plains region is the natural habitat of the antelope and they will not thrive in wooded areas. Therefore, no attempt will be made by the game department to stock any areas other than those on the plains. But, should antelope continue to increase in numbers as they have done in the last few years there is a possibility of an open season on them not so many years from now.

A dry land tortoise branded "R. E. Roney, Oct. 13, 1914," was found near Winkler, Texas, recently by Jake Barker. Upon contacting Mr. Roney he found that Roney had branded the turtle 25 years ago and had freed it less than a mile from where it was found. The turtle was liberated again.

Self-Importance
A railroad foreman had been drawn on a federal grand jury, and didn't want to serve. When his name was called he asked the judge to excuse him. "We are very busy at the shops," he said, "and I ought to be there."

"So you are one of those men who think the place couldn't get along without you," remarked the judge.

"No, your honor," remarked the shop man, "I know it could get along without me, but I don't want it to be found out."

"Excused," said the judge.

Cotton Council Ready to Start Research Work

Memphis, Tenn., June 29—Moving forward with coordination of the cotton industry's efforts toward increased consumption, the National Cotton Council announced today an agreement under which the Cotton Research Foundation will become the research division of the Council.

President Oscar Johnson of the Cotton Council and President Everett K. Cook of the Research Foundation said in a joint statement that the new affiliation would become effective on July 1.

Operating through multiple fellowships in the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, the Foundation will continue its present exploratory program and in addition will handle all matters of scientific research arising out of activities of the national Council.

"This very practical arrangement," said Mr. Johnson, "has the double advantage of coordinating the efforts of the two organizations and of providing the Cotton Council immediately with a scientific research division which under any other plan would have required considerable time for organization and development."

"It is a major step toward efficient coordination of the effort of the cotton industry as it proceeds with its new and aggressive program for increased consumption of cotton and cottonseed products."

Organized in Memphis three years ago, the Research Foundation has under way or completed 25 projects looking toward new uses of cotton and seed products. New uses and processes which already have passed laboratory tests are being further developed for final commercial production.

Already on the market is a sweeping compound composed mainly of cottonseed hull bran which has been found to have superior cleaning properties. Most recent laboratory announcement is a white paper embodying cottonseed hull fiber.

In addition to its work in the Pittsburgh laboratories of the Mellon Institute the Foundation has projects under way at the University of North Carolina, the Texas Technological College, the University of Tennessee, and the University of Pittsburgh. Further expansion of research projects is to be undertaken in colleges and universities where suitable projects are proposed and to the extent that available funds make possible. In addition to funds which will be provided by the five primary raw cotton interests comprising the National Cotton Council, the Foundation will request support from other interests whose welfare is closely linked with cotton economy.

Commenting on the new affiliation, President Everett Cook of the Foundation said he was convinced that "through such a combination of effort, both organizations will be able to increase the effectiveness of their work in behalf of the cotton industry. We are happy indeed to join forces with the Council in its vital program."

Rhineland Wins From Munday 5-4

Rhineland scored two runs in the eighth inning Sunday to nose out Munday 5-4. The Boomers were trailing by two runs until the sixth. With runners in second and third Louis Kuhler lined a two base hit to right field, scoring both runners to tie up the ball game. Munday then shoved over a tally in their half of the eighth, but Rhineland came back to score two runs to win the ball game.

After Rein Kuhler scored the tying run on C. Wilde's base hit, Alphonse Kuhler beat out an infield hit, which scored Wilde for the game winning tally. No one was out when the winning run was scored.

Munday out-hit Rhineland 12-6, but were unable to hit when runners were in scoring position.

Ratiff hurled a neat game for Munday and with good support he probably would have ruined Rhineland's perfect record for the season.

Rhineland will play two games next Sunday. They will meet Benjamin at Benjamin in the first game, starting at 3 o'clock, then journey over to Vera and play them in the second game.

Rhineland has scheduled a game for the 4th of July at Rhineland. They will play the Knox County All Stars. Manager Donnell Ratiff will choose the players from Goree, Munday, Vera, Benjamin and Weinert. This game will probably be the best game of the entire season, and it will be called at 1 o'clock.

Freedom From Insect Annoyance Science's New Gift To Gardeners

THE mosquito, bane of enthusiastic gardeners, has lost his sting. Now the family's favorite flowers and shrubs may be cultivated from Spring to Fall without annoyance from insect pests.

After four years of continuous research, a group of scientists at Rutgers University have perfected a repellent that really works. It not only prevents insects from biting, but even keeps them at a distance.

Under a fellowship grant and other assistance provided by the National Carbon Company, the Rutgers savants began their quest in 1935. Their first move was to subject all the insect pests now on the market—some fifty of them—to rigid laboratory and field tests to determine how good, or bad, they were.

Both the commercial repellents and the new chemical compounds were tested by applying them to one arm and leg of a field worker, leaving the other arm and leg unprotected. Standing in mosquito bogs, this worker counted the number of bites he received on the unprotected arm and leg before he got the first bite on the protected side.

It was in the midst of these experiments that they picked up an important chemical clue. They found that compounds with good repellent qualities followed a certain organic pattern. Thereupon the search was concentrated among this type of chemicals.

Then came elimination tests. Selected chemicals were judged on the basis of poisonous qualities, odor, greasiness. Other tests were applied to determine their effects upon skin.

The result of all this painstaking maneuvering is an insect repellent with as proud a scientific pedigree as any substance known. It definitely works, the Rutgers men aver, defying mosquitoes, gnats, black flies, sand flies, deer flies, and similar insects. Best of all, it keeps these pests away for longer periods than any other repellent yet found.

By R. W. Fairchild, pointed to the provision of the bill which provided that if its terms should be held in contravention of the anti-trust laws, the entire act should be held null and void and of no force and effect.

This presented a "novel and peculiar" situation of the legislature writing a law to relieve certain types of contracts from the prohibitions contained in the anti-trust laws, and at the same time stating that the relief should be null and void if it is effective to accomplish its purpose, the opinion said.

Price-Fixing Illegal

"Even a casual reading of the provisions of the anti-trust statutes discloses that they were designed to prevent fixing of prices by the combined efforts of two or more individuals," the opinion continues. The bill proposed to legalize contracts between manufacturer and retailer, under which the retailer was bound to maintain a fixed resale price.

The fair trades bill, sponsored by Representative R. L. Reader and Senator Franklin Spears of San Antonio, was modeled after similar measures in effect in many states. Retail druggists and merchants advocated it. A filibuster in the senate against the bill prevented consideration of much other legislation caught behind the fair trades bill.

Mann Rules Fair Trade Act To Be Illegal

O'Daniel May Veto It After Decision By Att'y General

A bill around which waged one of the hottest fights of the 46th Legislature may receive the Governor's veto as a result of a ruling by Attorney General Gerald Mann this week. This is the Fair Trade Bill, which is termed a price fixing measure, and Mann ruled that it "clearly contravenes the state's anti-trust laws."

Veto by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel is expected, since he has heretofore vetoed measures which Mann held invalid.

Lever Speaker For A. & M. Annual Short Course

College Station.—A. F. Lever, former congressman from South Carolina and the joint author of the Smith-Lever Act which established the Extension Service, will be one of the featured speakers at the Texas A. & M. Farmer's Short Course scheduled this year for July 12, 13, and 14.

Lever's appearance will be of special significance, since the Smith-Lever Act was signed by President Woodrow Wilson on May 8, 1914—25 years ago. He will speak at the general assembly meeting Friday morning, July 14, on the subject of "The History and Personalities Connected with the Passing of the Smith-Lever Act."

Other noted speakers will include P. F. Hill, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Joseph Perkins, president of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, of Eastland; and H. S. Hilburn, editor of the Plainview Herald. Walter Jenkins of Houston will again lead the group singing.

H. H. Williamson, director of the Extension Service, said the Short Course "was being given back to the farm people" as farmers, ranchmen, and farm women have prominent parts on the program.

Included in the rural representatives who will speak are Arnold Ferguson of Spearman; Mrs. T. C. Byas of Bertram; Ella Calfee of Itasca; G. L. Florence of Gilmer; Mrs. J. M. Gillespie of Edna; R. A. Graham of Greenville; Peter Harton of Danevang; Mrs. W. G. Kennedy of Muleshoe; J. R. McCrary of Colvert; Ethel McKinney of Cameron; I. L. Mackey of Longview; L. T. Mahugh of Plainview; H. H. Nixon of Harrold; Mrs. Alvin Peterson of Olivia; Joe Snodgrass of Dilley, and T. P. Walton of Groveton.

Colors of 1940 License Plates Are Announced

Austin, Tex., June 23, 1939—Julian Montgomery, State Highway Engineer, today announced that the State Highway Commission had approved the colors to be used in the 1940 motor vehicle license plates as follows: Passenger, purple on white; commercial, orange on black; farm truck, black on yellow; tractor, trailer, dealer, motor bus, motorcycle, sidecar; gold on blue.

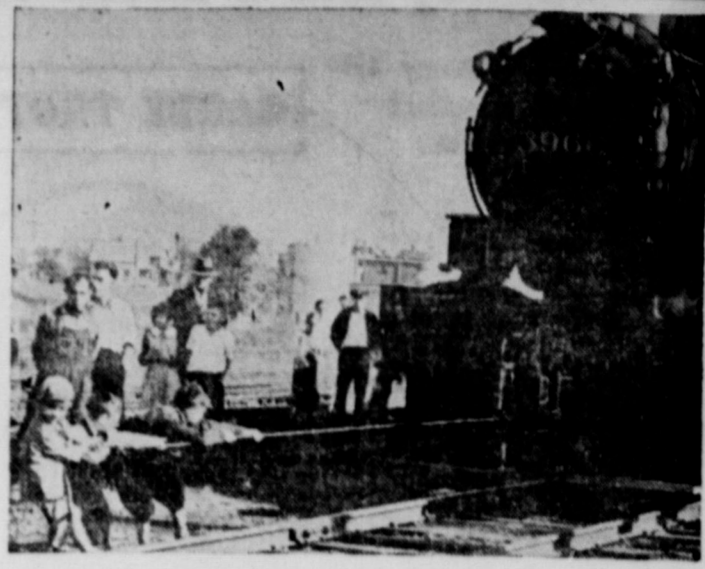

The 1940 plates will be manufactured by the Texas Prison System, and will be placed on sale by county tax collectors on March 1, 1940.

AUTOMOBILE RUN ON "LIQUID COAL" POWER

Chicago, Ill.—An automobile was operated on "liquid coal" here recently, pointing to a possible new industry in the near future and the existence of a new fuel hitherto untapped.

"We have about a year's research to do before 'liquid coal' will be ready for the market," Dr. Francis W. Godwin, the inventor, declared.

The product is expected to compare roughly in price and performance with fuels now on the market, according to its sponsors.

Frank Traylor To Hold Revival At Goree Church

Evangelist Frank Traylor of Roman, Texas, is holding a revival meeting at the community tabernacle at Goree, it was announced Wednesday by elders of the Church of Christ. The meeting began Tuesday, June 27, and services are being held at 8:30 p.m.

Bro. Traylor is a very able gospel preacher, and the elders insist on all who can and will come and hear his messages. The meeting will close on Sunday, July 9.
